Council defuses McDowell's complaints

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

A controversy between a Hereford city commissioner and the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce leadership over use of hotel/motel taxes was defused Monday evening when the commissioner agreed to a proposal that representatives of the two groups "sit down" and study the matter.

A zoning change request, though, drew opposition from residents of the neighborhood and a lengthy discussion before the commission voted to overturn the planning and zoning board's denial and grant a variance for placement of a mobile home.

The commission's meeting room was packed with citizens and spectators stood in the hallway outside the doors.

Interests of the 70, or more, persons in attendance appeared to be divided among several topics on the evening's agenda. The public hearing on the proposed 1993 budget, though, drew limited response except for a request from Kids, Inc., for $2,000 in funding previously eliminated from the budget.

Foremost seemed to be the issue raised last week by Commissioner James McDowell about the use of the hotel/motel tax revenue turned over to the chamber of commerce.

Mayor Tom LeGate said McDowell asked for the agenda item and requested McDowell to explain his position.

The commissioner questioned City Attorney Terry Langehennig about the state law related to collection of hotel/motel taxes and asked, "Is there to be accountability?"

Langehennig acknowledged that the entity receiving the revenue is to provide a budget in accordance with terms of a contract between the two.

Commissioner Wayne Winget asked the attorney if the money could be spent for administrative fees and Langehennig replied, "It can be used for day-to-day expenses only if incurred in promoting tourism activities."

The president of the chamber of commerce, Charles Greenawalt, read a statement explaining the chamber's Chamber President Charles Greenawalt said the motel tax controversy could have been settled with a phone call.

position and said the controversy could have been resolved with "a simple phone call."

Greenawalt said the chamber has presented quarterly reports to the city since 1981. Funds have been kept in a separate account to promote tourism and other activities that promote the city.

The chamber president added, "To say the chamber has not been accountable is a gross untruth."

After Greenawalt completed his statement, Mayor LeGate suggested representatives of the city and chamber meet to resolve any issues.

McDowell said, "Something we've forgotten is these are tax dollars. I think it's important for the community to know where the money is going."

McDowell backed off from his declared intention to make a motion for the city to suspend funding to the chamber until a complete accounting of money could be made.

Turning to Mayor LeGate, McDowell said, "Tom, I think your recommendation is good."

The mayor announced that City Manager Chester Nolen and Commissioner Roger Eades would represent the city in discussions with chamber representatives.

A public hearing on a requested zoning change turned down by the zoning board drew extensive comments from Norman Edwards, who lives in the area of 921 S. McKinley.

The variance requested was a change from residential to mobile home designation. Speaking for the change, requested by Adan Quintana and Erlinda Quintana Cabanas, was a daughter, Rachel Hernandez, who said she wants to move her mobile home to the site.

Edwards listed complaints about "junk cars" and said he feared that more than one mobile home could be placed on the lot.

The city manager said the space available would permit only one mobile home on the lot.

The property in question is at the edge of the Hereford city limits and it was determined that the junk cars Edwards mentioned were outside the city limits.

Protests on rezoning were refuted when junk cars were found to be outside the city limits.

After hearing from another resident of the area also in opposition to the variance, George Boggs, the commission voted unanimously to overturn the zoning board's recommendation and permit the zoning change so Mrs. Hernandez could move her trailer to the site.

Two other recommendations from the zoning board were upheld by the commission, turning down a request for retail designation at 105 Avenue F and agreeing to a variance, from residential to business, at 739 and 741 Avenue K.

During the budget public hearing portion of the meeting, the city manager reported that three items still must be resolved before the budget is finished. Airport support, repair of tennis courts and a decision on a new swimming pool remain, Nolen said.

Renee Zinser, speaking for Kids, Inc., asked that the commission reconsider an earlier decision to take out funding for the youth organization. Mayor LeGate said the decision was made after a budget indicated no need for a city contribution.

The representative said funding is needed to continue the program which grew last year to a total of 38 teams and participation of 478 youth.

Commissioners, by consensus, reinserted the $2,000 contribution into the new budget.

The 1993 budget must be finished and adopted at the first meeting in May.

City okays golf course bid

An irrigation system for the front nine of the John Pitman Municipal Golf Courses will be installed, despite the overrun on expected costs.

During the Monday evening meeting of the Hereford City Commission, the low bid of Axon, Inc., was accepted. Action on the project was delayed last month after the bid exceeded the budget allocation of $130,000.

A report on feasibility of installing an incinerator system for disposing of solid waste was presented during the meeting by Larry Stone of NRS Consulting Engineers.

City Manager Chester Nolen reported that the golf course irrigation bid of $159,665 may be reduced by about $2,500 but other changes would materially affect the efficiency of the system.

Commissioners voted unanimously to award the bid to Axon and authorize transfer of approximately $32,000 from water department revenue to general operations to cover the overrun.

Mayor Tom LeGate observed that the estimates made more than a year ago were "no exact science" but amounted to "good opinions." He said a pump station included in the bid was not in the original estimate.

Commissioner James McDowell, who made the motion to award the bid, also said that "we told golfers we'd raise the fees and install the watering system. We're living up to our end of the bargain now."

The disposal of solid waste and laws that become effective next year prompted the commission earlier this year to commission the feasibility study by the engineering firm.

Stone said the city has three options for solid waste disposal: continued use of the present landfill, use of a regional solid waste facility or incineration with energy recovery.

The most cost efficient of the three could be incineration if certain elements were in place, he said. Initial cost of the incinerator and related expenses would be $3.4 million.

With sale of the steam and revenue derived if a medical waste disposal contract could be obtained, Stone said, the annual operating expense of incineration would be about $178,000.

He estimated expense in continued use of the landfill at $410,000 annually and cost of use of a regional facility could be in the $255,000 range on a yearly basis.

Stone emphasized the need for cities to plan, now, on waste disposal in the future because of federal and state laws that become effective in 1993.

His report was received for study by the commission.

In other business Monday evening, the commission:

-- Heard a report from Eugene Condarco who is working with other residents of Norton and Knight streets on a paving project. He said all but two owners had been contacted and those contacted had agreed to the assessment program.

-- Accepted a proposal from Brown, Graham and Company for an audit of city business at a fee of $10,200, an increase from $9,700 paid in previous years.

City Manager Chester Nolen reported that additional work must be done by the accounting firm because of requirements associated with a federal grant received for airport improvements.

--Spent about 30 minutes in executive session to discuss personnel for city boards.

Appointed in open session were Wayne Phillips, building code board of adjustments and appeals; Frank Murillo, board of adjustment for plumbing; Joe Soliz Sr., board of electric examiners, and LaJean Henry, board of adjustment.

-- Adopted a resolution for the city to join a Resource Conservation and Development unit, approved at a meeting last month.

Zoning change opponent

Standing at the back of the Hereford City Commission room, Mrs. Norman Edwards explains her opposition to a zoning change requested for property at 921 S. McKinley. A crowd of citizens packed the chamber and spilled into a hallway as commissioners discussed a number of issues.

Vote is a referendum on Clinton candidacy

NEW YORK (AP) - Voters in New York, Kansas and Wisconsin deliver their verdicts today on whether Bill Clinton's march to the nomination continues apace or stumbles over questions about his integrity.

The Republican side held far less drama; President Bush is picking up 100 New York delegates by default but faced challenger Patrick Buchanan in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Kansas - and was the big favorite everywhere.

Minnesota Democrats held a preferential vote but awarded no convention delegates.

New York was the key in a topsy-turvy Democratic race that has seen Arkansas Gov. Clinton repeatedly slowed by controversy.

The candidates concentrated intently on New York, and Clinton and lone challenger Jerry Brown got down-and-dirty in a city known for pointed-elbow politics.

Clinton focused his fire on Brown's flat tax proposal, saying it would punish the poor, increase the deficit and endanger Social Security.

Brown called Clinton a "prince of sleaze" and distributed flyers questioning his rival's commitment to civil rights and Israel.

It was in New York that Clinton finally heard the questions that compelled him to acknowledge that he had tried marijuana in college and did, after all, receive a draft notice in 1969 before promising to join an ROTC program in Arkansas.

His carefully worded answers prompted new questions about Clinton's integrity.

Clinton hoped a New York victory would give him a psychological lock on the Democratic presidential nomination.

But with a volatile electorate and nagging doubts about Clinton reflected in poll after poll, few were willing to write off Brown's chances of scoring the big-state upset that would cement the former California governor as a serious challenger and damage Clinton.

In all, the day offered 362 Democratic delegates, 244 of them from New York.

Serving up a salute to agriculture

Employees of Hereford State Bank served hundreds of hamburgers, soft drinks and chips at the bank's annual salute to agriculture Saturday. Displays of new cars, pickups and farm equipment were featured around the bank.

Yeltsin, parliament bickering

MOSCOW (AP) - President Boris N. Yeltsin today reminded Russian lawmakers that they opened the way to free-market reforms and insisted that they not jeopardize the country's transformation by trying to dilute his powers.

"We have no right to play political games in this arena," Yeltsin said in a speech he had not wanted to make. "Breeding antagonism is the ultimate irresponsibility."

Yeltsin had wanted Deputy Prime Minister Yegor Gaidar to deliver the speech. But his opponents in the 1,046-member Congress of People's Deputies on Monday won a straw vote forcing him to deliver an economic report.

The opposition clearly sought to associate Yeltsin with the hardships the reforms have bred. Prices have skyrocketed and production plummeted.

Yeltsin is in no danger of losing the presidency but could be pushed into surrendering his post as prime minister and thoroughly revamping the Cabinet.

Legislative session expected in May

Richards tests water on school plan before call

AUSTIN (AP) - Lawmakers may head back to Austin next month to try again to write a school funding law.

Gov. Ann Richards said Monday that she's considering the first or second week of May for a special session on school finance.

Richards said some of her staff began meeting with members of the Legislature this week to brief them about her school funding proposal, which press secretary Bill Cryer said may be made public on Thursday.

"So far, everything looks very good. I can't expect to get 100 percent agreement, but I think there is an amazing unanimity feeling," Richards said.

"I'll know after we've made a survey of the House membership and of the Senate membership where we think we are in terms of votes. But I feel pretty good about it," she said.

The Texas Supreme Court in January threw out the third school finance plan since 1989 and gave the Legislature until June 1993 to write another one.

Richards declined to discuss details of her proposal, saying that she hasn't yet finalized it.

Her staff in recent weeks has indicated that she was considering a plan to remove businesses from local school property tax rolls and put them into a statewide tax pool. That money then would be distributed to all schools.

Richards said she will meet this week with education groups, teachers and school administrators to explain her plan and gather reaction to it.

The governor said she didn't want to summon lawmakers to Austin for a session unless "I feel like we're in some shape to be successful in passage."

If not, she said, "We'll go back to the drawing board." But for now, she said, "I'm feeling very affirmative and I feel like the session is going to come off."

Richards said her proposal will include a provision on improvements in student performance - so-called "quality" issues - in addition to equalizing school funding.

"The one component that I'm going to insist on is that I'm not going to get involved in another school funding plan that doesn't provide quality. I want a measurement in that system that is able to say to taxpayers

"This is what you're spending your money for and here's what you're getting for it," she said.

Richards said one reason she wants a May special session is to give lawmakers a chance to put on the November ballot portions of her plan that would require a constitutional amendment.

"That gives you plenty of time for the public to become acquainted with the proposal; it gives you plenty of time for passage in the Legislature," she said.

For example, House Speaker Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth, recently proposed consolidating the state's more than 1,000 independent school districts into 188 county or multi-county districts.

Scouts hold successful Scout-A-Rama Saturday

Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers from throughout the area were in Hereford on Saturday for the Scout-A-Rama at Sugarland Mall. Displays featured many Scouting activities. In the district Pinewood Derby race, top finishers were (from left) Kevin Jesko, first; Drew Dennison, third; and Brandon Clouse, second. The Kwahadi Dancers also performed.

Governor says prison release, if done, will be 'well-managed'

AUSTIN (AP) - If Texas prison officials decide to use state law to allow the early release of about 2,900 inmates over the next two months, the process will be "well-managed," Gov. Ann Richards says.

The action is being contemplated by the Texas Board of Criminal Justice to help relieve county jails with a backlog of about 14,000 inmates sentenced to state prison.

The board is scheduled to decide Friday, after postponing the decision in March.

"We discussed previously, if they were to invoke the act, that it did not by any means mean wholesale releases. It did not mean bringing so many people out into the community that they could not be absorbed. It meant an opportunity for a systematic release," Richards said Monday.

Richards said she didn't know whether the board would invoke the Prison Management Act. But she added, "Frankly, if they do, it will be in a well-managed fashion."

Board Chairman Selden Hale of Amarillo told the Austin

American-Statesman that political pressures could make board members vote against invoking the Prison Management Act.

The act is meant to avoid a shutdown of state prisons, triggered when the inmate population exceeds a court-established limit of 95 percent of capacity.

At that point, prison officials inform the attorney general that they no longer can accept inmates from county jails. The prison population last week was at 94.4 percent of capacity.

The act allows the criminal justice board to selectively release inmates, choosing non-violent prisoners first and ensuring that they are supervised by parole officers after release. Their departure makes room for violent convicts backlogged in county jails.

Inmates convicted of certain violent or drug-related crimes aren't eligible for release under the act. Neither are inmates whose sentences are longer than 10 years, or who have exhibited violent behavior while behind bars.

Parole officials also are prohibited from approving any inmate deemed a likely threat to public safety.

But a number of people are worried that those released will just violate the law again.

"The Prison Management Act should be repealed. If they're only releasing non-violent offenders, why is it that people who have only been out of jail three days commit heinous crimes?" asked Richard Collins, spokesman for Associated Texans Against Crime.

Prison board members stress that all the inmates who would be released early already have been approved for parole.

"All we're doing is advancing that parole date, in some cases by weeks and in some cases by months," Hale said.

There are 48,377 state inmates in prison, in addition to those in county jails awaiting transfer.

In the past seven months, the state has released an average of 588 inmates a week. To keep up with the prisoners coming from county jails, it would need to release 750 a week.

Serbs angry over recognition; proclaim state within republic

SARAJEVO, Yugoslavia (AP) - Angered by the European Community's decision to recognize Bosnia-Herzegovina's independence, Serbs proclaimed their own state within the republic today.

Two more people died in sporadic overnight violence despite a curfew in the republic's capital, Sarajevo.

On Monday, Serb snipers fired from hotel windows in the capital as thousands of peace protesters marched by, killing five people.

In neighboring Croatia, three people were reported killed overnight in ethnic violence.

At least 16 people died in three days of ethnic fighting in Sarajevo alone and more than 100 were killed throughout Bosnia since last Wednesday.

Serbs, about a third of the republic's population of 4.3 million, oppose Bosnia's independence from Yugoslavia and been fighting the republic's two other ethnic groups, Muslims and Croats.

Muslims and Croats voted to secede from Yugoslavia in a March referendum that was boycotted by the Serbs.

Despite the violence, European Community foreign ministers, meeting in Luxembourg, on Monday officially recognized Bosnia's independence.

Hours after the EC decision, Serbs in Banja Luka, a northwestern Bosnian town close to rebel Serb areas in neighboring Croatia, proclaimed their own state within Bosnia.

It was not clear what territory Bosnia's Serbs would claim.

The Serbs said they would join Serbia and Montenegro in a new smaller Yugoslavia.

Of the six former Yugoslav republics, only long-dominant Serbia and Montenegro want to remain part of a federation. The EC is considering Macedonia's request for recognition, and has recognized Slovenia and Croatia.

Two Serbs on the republic's seven-member presidency resigned to protest the EC decision to recognize Bosnia, the Belgrade-based Tanjug news agency reported today.

Three people were killed and eight wounded in an artillery attack on the eastern Croatian city Osijek that lasted until midnight, local defense officials reported.

They said thousands of shells fell on Osijek during the day.

Asimov love led to writing 500 books

NEW YORK (AP) - Be it science fact or science fiction, literature or limericks, Isaac Asimov loved to put words on paper. So much so that nearly 500 books bear his name.

"That's what he lived for," said his editor, Jennifer Brehl. "He always had more than one project going at once, because if he got stuck on one, or started feeling stale, he'd swing around and turn to the other."

Asimov died Monday of heart and kidney failure at age 72.

"Isaac had a real genius for taking any subject on Earth and writing about it so clearly that you could understand the fundamentals," said Ben Bova of Naples, Fla., president of the Science Fiction Writers of America.

"He left all of us in the dust, not just with the breadth of his knowledge, but the genius to really break any subject down. If you could read English, you could understand any subject Isaac wrote about."

"When he wrote about science, it was like listening to music," said Martin Caidin of Gainesville, Fla., author of "Cyborg" and numerous other sci-fi and science fact books. "If they build a mountain and hall of fame, he'll be on the top with Ray Bradbury, Arthur Clarke and Robert Heinlein."

The most popular of Asimov's novels and stories were excursions into a future in which Earth is forgotten by a humanity that spreads through the stars, ruled by a galactic "Foundation" and served by benign robots.

In "I Robot" in 1950, Asimov laid down the literary laws by which robots must abide, the most important of which was that robots may not harm people or stand by and let people get hurt.

Trained in biochemistry, Asimov was one of the most widely read popularizers of science fact, as well as a prolific writer on subjects that amused or interested him, including humor and opera.

"I heard that he was the only author in the world that had at least one book in each of the major classifications of the old Dewey decimal system," the old library cataloging system, said Martin Greenberg of Green Bay, Wis., an anthologist who worked with Asimov.

In his last entry in Who's Who, Asimov credited himself with 467 books, and listed 249 titles. Greenberg said 480 was more like it, with several books awaiting publication.

The next issue of Fantasy and Science Fiction, the magazine to which Asimov contributed 399 science columns since 1958, will have a one-page goodbye he wrote when he realized he was dying, publisher Ed Ferman said.

Who is that "woman"?

During the Women's Division's quarterly meeting held Friday evening at the Deaf Smith County Museum, a humorous skit was performed by, from left, Sonya Torbert, Donna West and "a lovely young woman" portrayed by Greg Buckley. On the business agenda, the organization's annual membership drive, currently being conducted, was discussed and five Women's Division committees were honored. Certificates were given to the following committees: decorations, budget and finance, newcomer, fine arts, and the welcome committee.

Committee members honored

Five committees of the Women's Division were honored during the organization's quarterly meeting Friday evening at the Deaf Smith County Museum. Among the members given special certificates were those on the welcome committee. Committee members present were, from left, Chairman Betty Taylor, Vesta Mae Nunley, Mary Herring (seated), Karla Vasek and Kyla McDowell. Also, serving on the committee are Sue Cosper, Joan Coupe, LaJean Henry, Nadine Hill, Betty Lady, Helen Langley, Arvella Lauderback, Mary Beth Messer, Susan Robbins, Madelina Rosson, Rhea Jo Scott, Georgia Sparks, and Debbie Tardy.

Women's Division honors five committees at meeting

Five committees were honored and presented with certificates when the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Women's Division met Friday evening in the Deaf Smith County Museum.

The business meeting was conducted by President Rita Bell. She and her board of directors hosted the meeting and served the group a selection of cakes, pecan mini-pies, punch and coffee.

Donna Brockman, museum director, welcomed the group and told about several aspects of the museum. She said 6,500 people came through the museum during its last fiscal year. Visitors represented many parts of the world. Two of the visitors were women from the Smithsonian Institute who praised the local museum in its efforts to preserve the past.

The museum recently celebrated its 25th anniversary with a special open house. Among the displays from the event are dresses from 1967-70 and hats from the late 1960s. Historical Society members change the displays on a regular basis.

"It's your museum, supported by the county. Everyone is welcome to tour the facilities," Brockman said. She told the group that ABC television from New York recently came to the museum to research cowboys. She also noted that the E.B. Black House is an annex to the museum and the gardens are very beautiful this spring.

Bell called for committee reports from the chairmen. Kim Buckley, chairman of the membership committee, gave an outstanding report using a humorous skit. The scene for the skit was "Bozo's Boutique" where Sonya Torbert, beautician, and Donna West were having a gossip session. Discussed was the rumor that a Wal-Mart's may be located at the County Bull Barn in Hereford. A patron, Greg Buckley attired as a woman, enters the boutique to have a complete makeover. Ten hours later the patron, now a beautiful blonde (Kim Buckley), walks out.

Buckley reported that the Women's Division member who signs up the most new members during the annual membership drive, currently being conducted, will be named "Queen For a Day." The contest will run until the next quarterly meeting this summer.

Linda Daniel, chairman of the 20th Annual Miss Hereford Scholarship Pageant scheduled June 6, gave a report. The theme of this year's pageant is "One Moment In Time." During the event, former pageant winners will be given special recognition. Deadline to return pageant entry forms is 4:30 p.m. Friday. The forms need to be taken to the Chamber of Commerce office at 701 N. Main.

The newcomer's committee report was given by Lacy Mueggenborg, chairman. She told the women that her committee is currently preparing packets to be distributed to newcomers. Local merchants are invited to donate coupons or items for the packets.

Kim Rogers, chairman of the Little Miss Pageant set April 25, said anyone is welcome to assist with the event. This year's theme is "Spring Fever."

It was reported that there were 37 donors at the recent blood drive which was sponsored by the Women's Division.

Tommie Savage, decoration chairman, said her committee had furnished decorations for the Annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet.

Fine Arts Committee Chairman Pat Graham said that Marguerite Newell will be the artist of the month for May.

Sonya Torbert, chairman of the beauty spot of the month, announced that three locations have been chosen for April: The Shirley Garrison home, 1704 Plains; the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Z.A. McCaslin, 103 Rio Vista Drive; and Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative, E. First St.

The five committees honored and presented with certificates were decorations, budget and finance, newcomer, fine arts, and the welcome committee.

Brenda Bell was welcomed as a new member. Guests included Lori Pactzold, Melinda Whitfill, Charlotte Collier and Lisa Klett.

Betty Owen gave the invocation. Anyone interested in joining the Women's Division may contact a member or the Chamber of Commerce office for additional information.

Word to wise about weather

The Old Farmer's Almanac has been the harvester's guidebook for 200 years now, yet its advice has often been taken with a grain of salt by the average homeowner.

The almanac's weather forecasts, however, have been surprisingly accurate over the years, and are well worth heeding.

According to the newest general weather forecast by the almanac, which is celebrating its 20th anniversary this year, homeowners may be paying more in heating and cooling bills to offset extreme weather conditions.

Beginning in April and continuing throughout the summer, the weather should be unusually warm. This could lead to extremely high energy bills from air conditioning use.

One of the best ways to ensure you're not spending more than you need to keep your home comfortable is to check your home's insulation levels. In older homes, both the attic and sidewalls may account for the bulk of energy loss, so you'll have to reinsulate with a blown-in insulation. Though, this requires the special equipment and professional skills of an insulation contractor, the investment will pay for itself over time.

Hints from Heloise

STUBBORN WRISTWATCH

Dear Heloise: I can't wind my wristwatch. The stem is too small and I have arthritis in my fingers.

I have found that a spring-type clothespin will firmly grip the stem (you may have to try several; not all will do it), then use the pin like a crank. Gently though, so you'll know when to stop winding. — H. S., Marlin, Texas

MATCHING SOCKS

Dear Heloise: After a 20-year fix,

I've finally cured my washing machine's addiction to socks. I rubber band one or two pairs together (twist band tightly two or three times) and they go through the wash and dry cycle just fine.

Besides being able to reuse the rubber bands several times, they came from the newspaper in the first place. Now that's recycling!— Claire Knippling, Rapid City, S.D.

Boys' track team victorious at Levelland

By JAY PEDEEN
Sports Editor

A point and a half separated the top three boys' teams at the Levelland Invitational Saturday, and Hereford came out on top of that spread.

Hereford earned 118 1/2 points to Big Spring's 118 and Frenship's 117, winning the boys' field. The Hereford girls' team was at the same meet and finished sixth.

The boys' win came a week after they competed at the San Angelo

Relays and only placed in a few events.

"Our boys did a great job of working hard in practice, and it all paid off at Levelland," Coach Ron Young said. "We learned that not only are first, second and third place important, but also fourth, fifth and sixth are very important, even though no medals are awarded for the last three places."

Several Whitefaces had personal-best performances. Leo Brown won the 110-meter high hurdles with a time of 14.66. Steven Blea threw the shot 50-4 3/4, good for win. Cody High placed third in the 400 with a 51.77. Shawn Fogo was fourth in the 200 with a 22.49. Petey Colvin set two personal marks: a 22.18 in the 200 for second place and a 10.74 in the 100 for third.

The 400-meter relay team of Colvin, Fogo, High and Brown finished second. Its time of 43.19 was the second-best time in District 1-4A this year.

The 1,600 relay team of Fogo, Brown, High and Michael Ramirez was second in 3:29.24. The distance medley relay team of Mark Kuper, Ramirez, Pedro Dominguez and Dale Walker was third in 11:44.35. Brown also won the long jump with a leap of 20-7. He was second in the triple jump with a 42-9.

In the 1,600 run, Walker finished third in 5:03.29, and Dominguez was fifth in 5:05.1. Colvin was fifth in the high jump at 5-8.

Hereford got three sixth-place finishes: Monroe Timberlake in the discus (128-6); Michael Ramirez in the 800 run (2:08.40); and Kuper, who tied for sixth in the 300 hurdles at 44.2.

"The Levelland Invitational was a total team effort by the JV and the varsity," Young said. "The overall improvement is a credit to track assistant coaches Stan Carter, Bill Bridge, Joe Cabezuela and Charlie Garza. Because of their hard work and dedication we'll continue to improve and be in contention for the district title."

The district meet is April 16-17 at Randall.

The girls' team was hurt by the absence of two top performers, but many of the other team members came up with personal bests to help the team salvage sixth place.

Odessa Permian won with 121 points, followed by Frenship with 105 and Levelland with 100. Hereford's 78 points was only six behind Big Spring in fourth and three behind Estacado in fifth. Trailing Hereford was Snyder with 61 and Midland High with 19.

Jeannie Barrientez and April Roddy--consistent winners in hurdles and discus, respectively--were out with nagging injuries. Coach Martha Emerson said they'd "be back Saturday or at least in time for district next week."

The team got personal bests from five individuals, and the 400-meter and 800-meter relay teams had their best times of the year.

The team's lone win was in the discus, where Shantel Cornelius had a personal-best throw of 112-2. Brandy Dunn had two personal bests: a 16-5 long jump for third place and a 32-4 1/4 triple jump for fourth. Other personal bests were by Angie Jowell with a 15-5 1/2, third-place long jump, and Robin Chandler, who was sixth in the 200 meters with a time of 27.87 seconds.

The 800-meter relay team of Krista West, Laura Rangel, Chandler and Dunn finished fourth in 1:52.0. The 400 relay team of Minerva Salazar, Jowell, West and Rangel came in fifth in 52.1. Both times were Hereford's best this year.

Herd bats arrive late in Dumas

The Herd's district-opening baseball game in Dumas started like a Major League team was playing a team of Little Leaguers, then at the end of three innings, the teams traded uniforms.

Dumas scored nine runs in the first inning and led 15-0 at the end of three. In the final four innings, though, Hereford outscored the Demons 13-3.

"We just started pounding the ball, basically," Herd coach T.R. Sartor said of the fourth-inning awakening. Of the first three innings, he said: "We got off to a poor start. They pounded our pitching, and we didn't field the ball well to help the pitching."

Richard Rodriguez started on the mound for the Herd. He won't want to remember his pitching line: one and two-thirds inning, 12 runs (all earned), 11 hits, two strikeouts and two walks.

Andy Kalka relieved and went two and two-thirds, giving up five runs, four earned. He retired the Demons in order in the fourth but gave up a pair of runs in the fifth. That brought on Sammy Casarez, the third left-hander of the day. He struck out five, but not before allowing a sixth inning run.

Dumas' starting pitcher, C.P. Newton, retired the first six Whitefaces he saw.

The Herd launched its comeback in the fourth with leadoff singles by Ruben Ramos and Andy Kalka. It was almost short-circuited when Jake Head grounded to second and into a double play, Thomas had to face another six Whitefaces before he got another out.

Russ Watts singled and brought Ramos home from third. Rodriguez and Chris Brummett walked, loading the bases to set up Kyle Hansen's two-run single. Rene Cano brought Brummett home with another single. That made it 15-4.

Ramos also started off the fifth inning with a single, and Kalka was hit by a pitch. Head's single brought Ramos home, and Watts' single plated Kalka and Head. Rodriguez walked, and Hansen singled Watts home. After a Cano single, Fonzie Enriquez grounded out to second, and Rodriguez came home on the throw to first. Finally, Kalka drove Hansen home with a single. That cut the Demons' lead to 15-10, but Dumas got two in the bottom of the fifth to make it 17-10.

Hereford got only one hit in the sixth--a Rodriguez single--then Dumas got a run in the bottom of the inning to make it 18-10. Hereford needed eight runs to keep the game going. They didn't do it, but they made the Demons sweat.

The top of Hereford's order produced three hits. Cano singled and came home on Jerry Rincon's triple. Rincon scored on a balk. Ramos singled, and Head and Watts walked to load the bases. Rodriguez launched a drive which was caught at the fence by Dumas' left fielder. It missed "by an eyelash" being a grand slam, Sartor said. It turned out to be a sacrifice fly as Ramos scored.

Holguin pinch-hit for Brummett and walked, then Dumas' right fielder Freddy Gallegos made a nice play to snag Hansen's flare hit for the final out.

Hereford is now 3-12-2 and 0-1 in District 1-4A. Dumas improves to 9-4 and 1-0. Hereford plays Borger (8-6, 0-1) today at 4:30 at Whiteface Field.

Hereford's junior varsity beat up Dumas' JV 18-1 Monday at Whiteface Field. Ray Hastings pitched all five innings of the 10-run rule shortened game. He also batted in six runs on two triples and a double.

On Saturday, the Hereford freshmen were blitzed in a doubleheader 13-3 and 17-1. Jason Tatarovich, one of two non-freshmen of the team, scored once in each game.

Golfers play better Saturday

The Hereford golf teams bounced back from a mediocre Friday to a good Saturday.

The girls shot a 350 Saturday at Pampa Country Club after totaling 392 Friday at Phillips Country Club. Saturday's performance moved them to within four strokes of second-place Pampa.

Hereford's total after three rounds is 1,103. Borger leads District 1-4A at 1,078, and Pampa is second at 1,099. Hereford's junior varsity is fourth with a 1,144 total.

Hereford's boys finished in second in the consolation tournament portion of the Amarillo Relays. Hereford totaled 315, second only to Coronado's 308.

Hereford was followed by Lubbock High at 323; Randall at 324; Shamrock at 328; Booker at 331; River Road at 333; Plainview at 335; Dumas at 342 and Hart at 383.

Blue Devils earn championship repeat

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - One by one, Duke's players felt the sting of coach Mike Krzyzewski's tongue-lashing at halftime, his voice booming, his face flushed with anger, his eyes boring into each of them as he paced the locker room.

This wasn't a "win-one-for-the-Gipper" speech, or a reminder of the stakes involved, the place in history Duke would earn as the first NCAA men's basketball champion to repeat since UCLA in 1973.

The 71-51 victory over Michigan Monday night was still 20 minutes of court time away, the young Wolverines were up by one, and if it weren't for this scene of Coach K ripping into his listless Blue Devils, the score at the end might have been very different.

Bobby Hurley, Duke's point guard, showed his leadership by yelling at his teammates before Coach K even got a chance.

"Anyone who doesn't want to give 100 percent for the last 20 minutes, and try to win a national championship, just stay in the locker room and don't come out," Hurley shouted.

Thomas Hill joined in, trying to snap the team out of its sleep-walking funk as the players slumped by their lockers.

"We felt if we did that, Coach would feed off what we were saying and get to Christian (Laettner) a little bit more," Hurley said.

Coach K, who has taken six Duke teams to the Final Four in seven years, didn't need any prodding. He expanded on the theme, criticizing the team as a whole and each of the players, except Hurley, individually. When he got to Laettner, he tore into him for standing still too much, for looking lifeless in the worst half of his All-American, four-time Final Four career: seven turnovers, 2 for 8 shooting from the floor and only two rebounds.

"He told me I was playing poorly and letting the team down," Laettner said.

Krzyzewski couched his criticism of Laettner with a few words of comfort, saying he realized that Laettner was being double-teamed, sometimes triple-teamed, but couldn't let himself get frustrated.

"I talked to him softly, harshly, emotionally, every way I knew how," said Krzyzewski, who repeated several times to Laettner, "keep moving."

That's exactly what Laettner and the rest of the fired-up Blue Devils did when they got back on the court.

And they stopped making "stupid mistakes," as Hill called them, committing only two turnovers in the second half after a dozen in the first half.

Laettner took a clever over-the-shoulder pass from Hurley, the MVP of the Final Four, and drove for a layup to put Duke ahead 32-31. Juwan Howard scored on a short jumper to give Michigan the lead again, but that would be its last of the game.

Laettner popped a 3-pointer from the top of the key and the Duke fans roared as if they filled all 50,000 seats in the Metrodome.

Twelve minutes later, though, it was still a close game, Michigan trailing only 48-45 after Jalen Rose, playing with four fouls, drove for a layup off a brilliant outlet pass from diving, tripped-up forward Chris Webber.

Krzyzewski called his first timeout of the half with 6:51 left.

"When he called timeout, I noticed all the Duke players slap their hands on the floor," said James Voskuil, Michigan's junior forward who couldn't repeat the rescue job he did for the Fab Five freshmen in the semifinals. "I felt, hey, they were jacked up, ready to go and play good pressure defense. I knew we weren't as jacked as they were. We just didn't have enough fight, I guess."

Laettner took over from there, laying in another shot to make him 4 for 5 in the half, then grabbing a tough rebound in the middle of a pack on defense to start a break. Grant Hill finished up the break with a reverse layup, and Laettner scored two more points on free throws to give him 14 in the half, 19 in the game, and put Duke ahead 54-45 as Webber picked up his fourth foul.

Coach K leaped onto the court when Michigan called a timeout at 6:24. His face red, his fists clenched, he hugged the players he had screamed at not long before.

By the time Grant Hill capped a 23-6 streak and ended the scoring with a thunderous reverse dunk on a pass from Hurley, Duke (34-2) tied the second largest margin of victory in an NCAA final.

Only UNLV's 1990 romp over Duke, 103-73, was more one-sided.

"This has been the most gratifying year I've ever had as a coach, culminating with this win," Krzyzewski said.

Michigan's freshmen (25-9) looked stunned.

"We had a great season," Webber said. "There will never be a freshman class that will do that again. The experience helps, but I did not play the game for experience. I played to win."

Toronto, Texas open with wins

By The Associated Press
The new American League season had a very familiar look.

Jack Morris was back on the mound tossing shutout baseball and Nolan Ryan pitched for Texas, adding some more history to his records.

In Detroit, the 36-year-old Morris made his debut with Toronto and pitched eight scoreless innings against the Tigers before Cecil Fielder and Rob Deer homered in the ninth. Morris ended up with a five-hitter and a 4-2 victory.

In Seattle, Ryan started but was not involved in the decision as Texas survived a slugfest in the Kingdome by scoring nine runs in the eighth inning for a 12-10 victory.

When Ryan took the mound, it marked the start of his 26th major league season, tying the record of catcher Deacon McGuire and pitcher Tommy John. It was Ryan's ninth career start on opening day, and at 45 years, two months, he was the fourth oldest ever to start an opener. The record is held by Jack Quinn, who started Brooklyn's opener in 1931 at 47 years, 10 months.

The big hit for the Rangers in the eighth was a three-run pinch homer by Geno Petralli off loser Mike Schooler, putting Texas ahead 9-8.

In the other opening day games in the AL, it was Baltimore 2, Cleveland 0; Minnesota 4, Milwaukee 2; and Oakland 5, Kansas City 3. In the National League, it was New York 4, St. Louis 2; San Francisco 8, Los Angeles 1; San Diego 4, Cincinnati 3; and Pittsburgh 2, Montreal 0.

TRACK

The 1,600 relay team would have finished well if not for an incident where Mindy Salazar was tripped and fell.

"I feel that we were well on our way to the best 1,600 relay time of the year and a top three finish, but our second runner (Salazar) was tripped," Emerson said.

The fall occurred when Salazar moved in front of a Frenship runner, the runner moved up and their legs tangled. Emerson said it wasn't Salazar's fault: "She did not cut in too close."

Salazar went down hard but finished her lap, and Hereford finished fifth in 4:29.01. The other runners were Jowell, Rangel and Minerva Salazar. Ironically, Frenship won the race.

Ricka Williams was second in the 1,600 run in 5:58.59 and third in the 3,200 in 13:12.17. Jowell and Rachel Alaniz were fifth and sixth in the 300 hurdles, in 52.4 and 52.54, respectively.

Finally, the distance medley relay team of West, Mindy Salazar, Renee Banner and Ricka Williams was second in 14:30.70.

Both junior varsity teams had good meets. The girls won with 182 points to Estacado's 153. The boys were second with 109 to Levelland's 159. Hereford's JV boys were just ahead of Frenship's 107 and Big Spring's 106.

Netters win dual match in Pampa

The Hereford tennis team took 10 out of 14 matches from Pampa in a dual match Saturday in Pampa.

Hereford coach Natalie Sims said it was a good match and good preparation for the district tournament April 16-17.

"We sure wanted to play them before district," Sims said.

Hereford's girls won six of the matches. In singles, Teresa Baker and Michelle Berend each won two: Baker beat Leigh Ellen Osborne 6-4, 6-2 and Laura Williams 6-2, 6-1; and Berend beat Williams, 6-0, 6-1 and Osborne, 6-0, 6-3.

In doubles, Bri Reinauer and Robyn Sublett teamed to beat Sharon Smith and Kim Martin 6-2, 6-1. Smith and Martin turned around and lost to Hereford's Emily Fuston and Sherry Fuston, 6-3, 6-0.

Two Hereford girls lost--both to Meredith Horton. Horton beat Gabriela Gamez, 6-2, 6-0; and beat Kara Sandoval, 6-4, 7-5.

The Hereford boys won two out of three in both singles and doubles. In singles, Donny Perales won both; beating Michael Sy 6-3, 7-5, and Joe Welborn 6-3, 2-6, 6-4. Hereford's Richard Drager fell to Ryan Osborne, 6-0, 6-1.

In doubles, the team of Jamie Kapka and Torey Sellers won both their matches; beating Osborne/Welborn, 6-4, 6-2, and J.R. Horton/Allen, 6-1, 7-5. Hereford's Bobby Perales and Chris Lyles fell to Horton/Allen, 6-3, 6-1.

The junior varsity teams also played Saturday. Pampa won 13 of the 22 matches played.

Where You Buy The Best For Less, Everyday!

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Last week a co-worker complained about a physician's incompetence. "My arm still hurts," he said. "Some doctor! I'd have done better if I had gone to the vet."

This is a common remark. On behalf of veterinarians everywhere, will you please shatter a few myths?

Veterinarians are NOT second-rate doctors who didn't make it in "real" medical school. Animal medicine was their first choice. They spend at least as much time in school and serving as interns as most physicians. Their training is equally rigorous, and their knowledge just as extensive.

Human patients are able to describe their symptoms, aches and pains. A vet must be compassionate, gentle and caring enough to deal with creatures who can't tell them where it hurts. In addition to this, they must have sufficient tact, empathy and poise to deal with distraught pet owners who are often as apprehensive about their animals as some parents are about their children.

The last time I had a cat spayed it cost me less than my annual physical, yet most people complain about the high cost of veterinary medicine as though vets somehow have less of a right than "real doctors" to cover salaries, office rent, medical supplies, insurance and other expenses.

Please print this letter, Ann. Veterinarians need someone to help educate the public.--In the Know in Baton Rouge, La.

DEAR BATON ROUGE: Here's your letter with an extra bow from me for the splendid job vets do. Thanks for the opportunity to give a boost to this often-underappreciated profession.

Gem of the Day: Inflation is worse than we thought. Three years ago my friend died and left $15,000 to her cat. Today the cat is broke.

Feeling pressured to have sex? How well-informed are you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet "Sex and the Teenager." NENA VEAZEY

Veazey honored by association

Nena Veazey has been selected as the Texas recipient of the Sam Kirk Educator of the Year Award. The Learning Disabilities Association gives this award in recognition of teaching excellence and other outstanding achievements which have contributed significantly to the field of learning disabilities.

As the Texas recipient, Veazey was the state's nominee for the Learning Disabilities Association nominee for the National Sam Kirk Award. Her picture was displayed, along with other recipients from other states, at the LDA national conference in Atlanta and her name was listed in the program as the Texas LDA Educator of the Year.

Veazey has been an employee of the Hereford Independent School District for 16 years. She is currently the director of intermediate instruction and has served as director of special education for the previous four years.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Chevy Chase, who got his break on "Saturday Night Live" in the 1970s, is returning to television.

The 48-year-old comedian will produce and star in a late-night comedy-talk show beginning next year on Fox Broadcasting, the network announced Monday.

"I plan on approaching this much the way Lorne Michaels and I approached 'Saturday Night Live,' by working with the funniest writer-performers I can find," Chase said.

Bride-elect honored

A bridal shower was held for Gina Renee Heinrich March 28 at the E.B. Black House. The honoree is the April 25 bride-elect of Keith Allen Kalka. Greeting guests with Miss Heinrich were her mother, Jeanette Heinrich, and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Bernadette Kalka, at right.

Gina Renee Heinrich honored with shower

Gina Renee Heinrich, April 25 bride-elect of Keith Allen Kalka, was honored with a bridal shower March 28 at the E.B. Black House.

The honoree greeted guests with her mother, Jeanette Heinrich, and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Bernadette Kalka.

Guests were invited to register by Patricia Heinrich.

Susie Kalka and Gayla Heinrich served refreshments of fresh fruit, sausage balls, fruit breads, miniature blueberry muffins, coffee and punch.

A white antique lace cloth covered the table which was centered with mauve and pink flowers arranged in a crystal bowl. Further decorating the table were silver and crystal appointments and emerald green accents.

The honoree was presented with a brass floor lamp with a silk shade by the hostesses: Connie Backus, Dolores Foster, Mildred Betzen, Alice Hund, Jo Ann Jesko, Betty Kriegshauser, Sylvia Paetzold, Evelyn Wells, Christine Marnell, Ann Meyer, Hilda Perales, Evelyn Walterscheid, Renee Kuper and Marian Yosten.

Bay View Club meets for spring luncheon

Members of Bay View Study Club and their guests met at the E.B. Black House Tuesday for the annual spring luncheon staged by the Deaf Smith County Historical Society.

Seated at quartet tables, which were centered by flower arrangements gathered from the Black House gardens, ladies in attendance were served a gourmet meal prepared by the society members.

Ruth McBride, club president, narrated a style show featuring the designer clothes of the late Maarki Hutto. Historical models, including Mary Kaye McQuigg, Lisa Albiar and Peggy Hyer, wore the evening attire which has been donated to the museum by Dr. Aaron Hutton.

Piano selections were presented by Betty Kriegshauser, society member, during the luncheon and style show. Guests were greeted in the Black House foyer by Donna Brockman, museum director, and Jeri Bezner of the society.

Guests attending included Margaret Ann Durham, Vel Simpson, Faye Holt, Virginia Wood, Kathi Lee of Canyon, Rita Bell, Johnnie Turrentine, Betty Barrett, Wilma Nobles, Violet Reinauer, Betty Olson and Nancy Denison.

The next meeting of Bay View will be a closing tea May 7 in the home of Helen Eades, 6405 Grantham in Amarillo.

Garden Beautiful Club elects officers for 1992-93

Officers for the 1992-93 club year were elected when members of Garden Beautiful Club met Friday in the home of Nadine Hill with Helen Spinks serving as co-hostess.

Serving as president will be Jerrye Jackson; first vice president, Vada Axe; second vice president, Bessie Story; third vice president, Helen Spinks; secretary, Audine Dettman; treasurer, Marguerite Cole; and reporter, Dottie Darden.

President Jean Dowell opened the meeting with "Good Morning Prayer" and extended appreciation to the hostesses.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved and the treasurer's report was given.

Members voted as their closing meeting to have a salad luncheon at 11:30 p.m. May 1 in the home of Mary Herring. It will be catered by Something Special. New officers will be installed during the business session.

Jackson introduced Patricia

Robinson who gave the program on floral arrangements entitled "Creative Designs."

Refreshments were served to Vada Axe, Louise Axe, Cole, Darden, Dettman, Dowell, Jackson, Dorothy Noland, Story, Inez Witherspoon, Winnie Wiseman and Margaret Young.

NEW YORK (AP) - Marist College honored former CBS News President Fred Friendly, "60 Minutes" executive producer Don Hewitt and radio anchorman Dallas Townsend with the Lowell Thomas Award for contributions to broadcasting.

Friendly was responsible for groundbreaking public affairs series such as "See It Now" with Edward R. Murrow and "CBS Reports" documentaries.

Hewitt has been with CBS for 43 years, producing and directing most of the network's major news programs.

CLASSIFIED ADS

Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

| TIMES | RATE | MIN |
|-----------------|------|-------|
| 1 day per word | 15 | 3.00 |
| 2 days per word | 26 | 5.20 |
| 3 days per word | 37 | 7.40 |
| 4 days per word | 48 | 9.60 |
| 5 days per word | 59 | 11.80 |

If you run ads in five consecutive issues with NO changes, you get the same ad in the Reach 4 More free. The regular charge for that ad would be $4.00.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines—those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing; all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch; $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALIS

Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS

Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

Dress for success

Landing a job in today's highly competitive market can be easier if the woman heeds some expert advice. Surprisingly, wearing the right clothing and accessories can really make a difference when you're trying to make a good impression on a job interview.

-Dress the part. Attire can quickly tell a story about your work habits, your personality and self-image. A tailored suit is always suitable. Add discreet accessories—a handkerchief, lapel pin and small earrings. A one-piece dress is appropriate in some locales, accessorized with silk scarf, plain gold-tone earrings and matching necklace.

-Wear eyeglasses are a strategic maneuver. Applicants who wear eye glasses instantly project a "to-be-reckoned-with" image, a confident attitude, a higher I.Q., maybe meriting a higher salary. Eyewear conveys authority, accomplishment and presence. A metal/plastic combination projects a non-nonsense, yet feminine look.

-The less makeup the better. Keep away from dark eyeliner, heavy mascara or too much eyeshadow. The world "shadow" means just that—a hint of color. Checkbones require no more than a light dusting of blush.

-Don't overdo your hairdo. Short cropped hair or long hair pulled into a modern upsweep is appropriate. If hair is naturally curly, be sure it's trimmed and shaped.

HHS students honored

Superior ratings received

Residential beauty spots

The Women's Division beauty spot of the month committee has selected the residential beauty spots for April. In top photo is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Garrison at 1704 Plains and in bottom photo is the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Z.A. McCaslin, 103 Rio Vista Drive.

Most animals of the desert have small bodies. Their size helps them escape from the desert heat. Some animals dig into the ground while others find shade under brush or rocks.

One play could run you clear of home buying interference.

Financing, Down Payments, Price negotiations. Inspections. All obstacles that could block you from buying a home.

But one move could get you right through that red tape. A call to an experienced real estate agent.

An expert agent can coach you smoothly through the entire home buying process. From using the sophisticated multiple listing service to find the home that fits your needs and your budget. To tackling financing options. Setting up and monitoring inspections. Negotiating price. And even maneuvering you through closing.

So when you need a skilled teammate, get someone who really knows the housing field--a real estate agent.

Read The Hereford Brand for more information about qualified agents. Every day, the real estate classifieds list many properties and agents. And on Sundays the housing section examines the latest market trends and home buying opportunities.

Getting the right coaching now could mean the difference between confusion and closing.

THERE'S MORE Hereford IN THE BRAND.
