Winds, Dust Hurt State Wheat Crop

Deterioration In Texas Crops Reports For Past Month

AUSTIN, April 15.—High winds, dust storms, and scarcity of rainfall resulted in great deterioration of the winter wheat crop in Texas during March. The reported condition on April 1 was 51 per cent of normal, compared with 41 per cent a year ago, and 80 per cent the 10-year average (1923-1932). It is expected that the abandonment of acreage in the plains area will be very heavy. Indications on April 1 point to a probable production in Texas of 19,057,000 bushels, compared with 10,010,000 bushels produced a year ago, 25,749,000 bushels in 1934, and 41,053,000 bushels the 5-year average (1928-1932) production.

For the United States, the April 1 condition of winter wheat was reported at 68.5 per cent of normal, compared with 69.8 per cent a year ago, and 78.5 per cent the 10-year average (1923-1932) on April 1. The forecast production of winter wheat for 1936 is 493,166,000 bushels, compared with 433,447,000 bushels last year, and 618,186,000 bushels the 5-year average (1928-1932). Conditions on April 1 indicate that about 21 per cent of the sown acreage of winter wheat in the United States will be abandoned. The 10-year average (1923-1932) percentage abandoned was 12.6 per cent.

The foregoing figures make no allowance for possible diversion of winter wheat acreages to other uses because of the soil conservation program of the agricultural adjustment administration.

On April 1 the condition of Texas peaches was reported at 74 per cent. This reported condition does not take into account probable damage to the crop from freezing weather after April 1. The April 1 condition a year ago was 72 per cent, and the 5-year average (1924-1932) was 62 per cent.

Texas farm pasture conditions on April 1 were reported at 95 per cent of normal, compared with 61 per cent a year ago, and 78 per cent the 5-year average.

Stocks of corn on Texas farms on April 1 were 34 per cent of the 1935 production for grain, or 35,629,000 bushels; compared with 20 per cent, or 8,764,000 bushels a year ago; and 29 per cent, or 23,454,000 bushels the 5-year average (1928-1932).

Stocks on Texas farms on April 1 were 37 per cent of last year's production, or 14,470,000 bushels; compared with 15 per cent, or 4,570,000 bushels a year ago; and 21 per cent, or 8,205,000 bushels the 5-year average.

Hull Calls On Americas To Uphold Peace

Wants Western Nations To Set Example For Rest Of The World

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Secretary Hull called upon the people of all the 21 American nations last night to "support the efforts of their governments to banish forever the scourge of war from their hemisphere."

In a speech commemorating Pan-American day, Hull, as chairman of the governing board of the Pan-American union, proclaimed the forthcoming all-American peace conference at Buenos Aires as a promising opportunity to set an example to the world of friendly cooperation and enlightened internationalism.

The secretary of state contrasted disturbed conditions abroad to what he termed the conciliatory atmosphere pervading the nations of the new world.

"It is only necessary to take a cursory glance at the situation prevailing throughout the world to be convinced that the republics of the western hemisphere are living under fortunate circumstances," he said.

"In marked contrast with the atmosphere of insecurity, uncertainty and fear, today prevalent in so many sections of the world, the picture presented by the American republics is one that may well fill us with pride and inspire us to further effort."

"Misgivings that at one time existed have been allayed and the maintenance of peace is becoming an increased extent the cornerstone of relations between the American republics."

"As the deadline for signing special residential irrigation contracts near Wednesday morning, 51 water clients had signed contracts which offer them a saving of $3.70 on 30,000 gallons per month until September 30. The rate is $3.50 per 10,000 gallons. Patrons outside the city limits have been allowed to sign at $4.25 per 10,000 gallons.

J. F. Greer, landlord, stands to lose money on his cotton subsidy payment and his renter, Alva Porch, will do well to break even on his.

Together, their payment amounted to 11 cents, the smallest payment on record at the county agent's office. M. Weaver, adjustment assistant, had to execute a trust agreement covering the payment which brought Greer three cents and Porch 8 cents. The payment represented the difference in price Porch received for one bale of cotton and 13 cents. Some payments now being distributed go as high as 98.

M. Weaver, Collinsworth, is visiting here a few days with his son, M. Weaver, county adjustment assistant.

Work A Month Late In Some Parts Of State

Big Part Of This State 50 To 75 Pct. Deficient In Moisture

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 15.—Drouth in Texas and Oklahoma and excessive rain in the east today is hampering planting and threatening to become a major factor in the federal government's 1936 cotton crop curtailment program.

Six of the 10 chief cotton growing states reported planting from one to four weeks behind schedule. Texas and Oklahoma were afflicted with persistent drouth, retarding planting as much as a month. The central and southwest portions are about three weeks behind. Planting time in the north is starting, but little work is being done.

The area from San Antonio northward, comprising three-quarters of the cotton land in the biggest staple state, is 50 to 75 percent deficient in moisture. The Carolinas, Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee are harassed by rains, retarding planting three weeks in some sections. Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi are nearly normal.

No Cotton Yet Planted In Howard Co. Fields

Drouth is staving off planting of cotton in Howard county, although many farmers would ordinarily plant until the first week in May.

So far as could be learned Wednesday not a single field has been planted to cotton. Even in the areas near town where light showers fell a month ago the moisture is insufficient for planting.

A few farmers have planted small patches to stock peas and corn and a large amount of garden truck is already up.

With average weather conditions, cotton planted in the early part of June will make in this county. There have been years when cotton planted on July 4 has made a heavy yield.

Moral Values Topic Of Talk

Reformation Needed To Halt Crime, Speaker Tells Club

Greatest values are moral values, Rev. R. L. Flowers, Methodist evangelist, told the Lions club Wednesday at the regular weekly luncheon. He added that the solution of the mounting crime wave was not in more laws or enforcement, but in moral reformation and training.

He quoted George Washington and Woodrow Wilson to the effect that morals and religion are vitally linked and that morals without religion will decay.

Flowers contended that if the crime problem is to be solved, those who would solve it must go to the very source. They must train up boys while they are young to have a sense of moral responsibility, he declared.

Burlie Falton and Groville Malone entertained club members with violin and guitar music. They were encored after their first selection. Ralph Houston was a guest for the day.

PICTURE OF MRS. ROOSEVELT WITH NEGROES DISTRIBUTED IN ANTI-NEW DEAL CAMPAIGN

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(AP)—Vance Muse of Houston, Tex., testified today before the senate lobby committee that he had circulated pictures in the South of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt in the company of two negro escorts.

Muse is general manager of the Southern Committee to Uphold the Constitution, an anti-new deal group which includes Gov. Eugene Talmadge of Georgia. Muse said he received the pictures from Alton Sheppard of Houston.

10,000 Photos Distributed

In Houston, Sheppard said the testimony was correct, adding: "I am fighting the negro movement—I am fighting any step which would forward social equality for negroes."

He said 10,000 copies of the picture had been distributed in the South.

The committee inquiry revealed yesterday that the Farmers Independence Council was financed largely by American Liberty League supporters and industrialists after solicitation of several presidential aspirants brought only one gift of $10 or $15.

Stanley F. Morse, tall "Harvard farmer" and a founder of the council, said the funds were obtained from these sources because "if we had to depend on the farmers' contributions, it would take us 15 years to get started."

$5,000 From DuPont

The single contribution by a presidential candidate came from Henry Breckenridge, democratic opponent of President Roosevelt. Breckenridge gave $10 or $15, Morse said. He testified he approached Col. Frank Knox, republican aspirant, but "got very little sympathy."

Morse said he received $5,000 from Lamont Du Pont, a Liberty League contributor. He shared office space with the league in Chicago and Washington.

A contribution of $500 was received from Winthrop Aldrich, chairman of the Chase National Bank, $1,000 from Alfred P. Sloan, General Motors Co., president, and $100 from Elias H. Strawn, American Liberty League member.

Many contributors were listed at Wall street and other New York financial district addresses. "Do you happen to know," Chairman Hugo L. Black asked, "whether there are any farms around there?"

"I think not," grinned Morse. "I think I should say that we didn't care where the money came from so long as there were no strings attached to it."

Trucks carrying the load were to arrive here late Wednesday afternoon when a corps of high school boys will set up 150 cots in the high school gymnasium and 350 at the CCC barracks. Girl players will be housed at the high school while boys will be quartered at the CCC camp.

Announcement by Cisco, Blanket and Margaret that they would enter the contest brought the total number listed Wednesday to 28. Of the total number participating, approximately 600 will require quartering in the school barracks, and private homes.

Six bands are due to arrive here Thursday evening and the others Friday morning, Dan Conley, director of the local high school band, said Wednesday.

Contests will start Friday at 8 a. m. and will continue through the noon hour. Friday at 8 p. m. the marching contest, one of the most spectacular parts of the two-day affair, will be staged at the high school stadium.

Saturday at 8 p. m. the contests will be resumed and at 8 p. m. the massed concert with more than 200 musicians will be presented from the municipal auditorium, scene of all contests.

Invaders Now Have Road To The Capital

ROME, April 15. (AP)—The days of the Ethiopian empire are numbered, an Italian news agency commented today as the government officially announced: "Our troops entered Dessye this morning."

From Dessye, former stronghold of Emperor Haile Selassie's northern forces, a good automobile road runs into Addis Ababa, 170 miles northeast, opening the heart of Ethiopia to the fascist invaders.

Mussolini's army captured large quantities of war materials in the 125-mile drive to Dessye.

CONFERENCES

British, French and Belgian army general staffs today began conferences in London to decide measures of mutual protection in event of a European war.

A fascist delegation arrived in Geneva uninvited for parleys on the African war, leaving the league of nations uncertain in its efforts for peace. Ethiopia has authorized an immediate armistice but Premier Mussolini had made no move in this direction.

Laval Wants Penalties Against Italy Lifted

PARIS, April 15. (UP)—Continued French negotiations with Germany to consolidate peace, and lifting of penalties against Italy for its war on Ethiopia, were urged by Pierre Laval, former premier and foreign minister in his first declaration since his overthrow in January.

Urging that the government do all it could to reach an understanding with Germany, Laval warned against "systematic refusal to negotiate."

He urged that Italy be permitted to return to the European community through cancellation of penalties, and vigorously criticized British insistence on treating the German and Italian treaty violations as different matters.

"Without an accord between Paris and Berlin there can be no effective guaranty of peace for Europe," Laval said in his declaration to the United Press.

"I did everything I could to keep the flames of the French-Italian-British agreement for cooperation, made at Stresa a year ago, alive. The moment has come to relight it."

"With league sanctions lifted and a just, honorable peace concluded with Ethiopia, we can envisage the destiny of Europe with more confidence."

Knox Favored Over Borah In Illinois Preferential Vote

Demo Party Piles Up Record Poll In State Primary

CHICAGO, April 15. (AP)—Frank Knox today stood apparently victorious over Sen. William E. Borah of Idaho, for republican nominee in one of this state's most dramatic primaries.

The Chicago publisher led Borah by 77,000 votes, the vote from 4,437 of the state's 2,248 precincts being 281,022 against 204,860 for Borah.

Borah, however, was stronger in 101 downstate counties. The Knox strength was concentrated in Chicago (Cook county).

Governor Henry Horner, sweeping the downstate vote, led Dr. Herman Bundesen, supported by Chicago's Mayor Edward Kelly, by 12,000 votes.

Demo Gains

Democrats were jubilant as the party gathered a million and a half votes, greatest democratic poll in the state's history and representing a 28 per cent gain since 1934. Party leaders contended this meant the people are wishing to show a preference for Roosevelt.

The primary was the first man-to-man test of popularity between prominent presidential possibilities, although Knox's strength elsewhere could not be gauged from the "favorite son" vote he received in his own state.

Despite early reports of violence in some of the river wards, the election generally was orderly.

Stirring Race

The stirring race between Horner and Bundesen for the democratic nomination for governor received considerable impetus from party vote. Horner had been denied endorsement by Mayor Edward J. Kelly and National Committeeman Patrick Nash of the powerful Chicago machine.

A close to three to one lead established by C. Wayland Brooks, former Cook county prosecutor in his own balliwick, sent his colors to the front in the republican gubernatorial nomination. Brooks' closest contender was former Governor Len Small but even in the comparatively few downstate precincts counted, the Chicagoan still held a lead, though it was still very much a race in that area. Far behind these two came former Attorney General Oscar Carstrom and the other four in the field.

Brooks, a veteran of two previous statewide campaigns which failed to bring him victory in the face of democratic landlards in 1932 and 1934, ran as a foe of the new deal and as a spokesman for that section of the republican party which aimed its attack at the administration in Washington.

Jane Withers And Jackie Searl In Picture At Queen

A story of young folks in love and younger ones in trouble, in the distinctive style of Booth Tarkington, plays at the Queen theatre Wednesday and Thursday in "Gentle Julia", a comedy-romance featuring Jane Withers.

Teaming Jane with Jackie Searl, her partner in "Ginger", the picture brings the quaint charm of a town in the early 1800's to the screen in a story of a little hellion who played Cupid in her off moments.

Jane and Jackie are cousins, members of the town's best family, perpetually engaged in a feud, with Jane getting slightly the better of it. Her only other diversion is interfering in the erratic romances of her pretty aunt, Marsha Hunt.

When George Meeker, a fellow from the city, begin to monopolize all of Miss Hunt's time, Jane takes a hand in the proceedings to help Tom Brown, an admirer of Miss Hunt. She and Tom plot a bunch of crazy tricks that sometimes succeed and sometimes mean trouble. The picture is brought to a happy conclusion when Jane discredits the city fellow.

Two other junior players, Jackie Hughes and Eddie Buzard, are in the cast.

The American Federation of Labor have been at odds. Recently the quarrel has become acute.

One faction wants all workers in each big industry organized into one big union. The other wants individual unions based on occupation.

Those who want to organize by industry alone include George L. Berry, head of the printing pressmen; John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers; and Sidney Hillman, president of the clothing workers. A principal in the other group is Daniel J. Tobin, head of the teamsters.

Berry was chairman of the democratic national committee's labor division in 1932. Tobin held the same position in 1932. For some months it has appeared that Tobin, not Berry, would have the job in 1936.

In this situation, Hillman came to Berry with a problem. Hillman is a member of the socialist party, and so are many members of his union. How could these socialists be lined up for Roosevelt without the necessity for joining the democratic party?

The two of them put their heads together. The league resulted. They called Lewis, a republican, by telephone. He approved the idea.

Now where does this leave everyone concerned? If Roosevelt is selected, will credit for his labor support go to Berry, Lewis and Hillman, instead of Tobin? And if so, will that faction have first say at the White House about labor policy and labor legislation?

Will the league tail wag the A. F. of L. dog, not only in matters of politics, but with respect to the internal affairs of organized labor as well?

Berry's friends deny that the league was formed as a nucleus for a labor party in 1940. Yet in these troubled times, it is impossible for anyone to be sure what may come of such group movements as this. Certainly it is interesting to consider the three possibilities—that the league actually will succeed in harmonizing labor support behind the president, that it will succeed in nothing and will go the way of many another "non-partisan" political venture, or finally that it will lead to one grand and costly political row in the ranks of organized labor.

City Boys, Like Town Lads, Ask Chance To Make Good, Says Girl Who Directs Activities Of 5,000

MISS MABEL VERA SONES, director of the Lincoln Park Boys Club in Chicago, examines an airplane model submitted for her approval by George Rouss, one of the 5,000 boys guided by her.

CHICAGO, April 15. (UP)—Five thousand Chicago boys living in a crowded tenement neighborhood are looking to a young woman for leadership—and liking it.

The youths, ranging in ages from six to 20, are members of the Lincoln park branch, of the Chicago Boys' Clubs, Inc. The girl is 28-year-old Mabel Vera Sones, who was born and raised on an Iowa farm.

"The boys themselves really haven't given me a moment's worry," she says. "Of course, the job has its problems, but the boys here have treated me with unusual respect and gone out of their way to cooperate."

Before coming here Miss Sones did similar work in Dubuque, Ia., and although the two cities are unlike in size or environment she says she finds Chicago boys very much like small town youngsters.

Their problems are somewhat different and their viewpoints are not alike, but in the end they're all working toward the same end—a chance to make good," she says.

The Chicago Boys' Clubs, Inc., is a philanthropic organization with branches in all sections of the city. The Lincoln Park club, the biggest, is located in a rambling brick building housing everything from a swimming pool to a Boy Scout club room.

After school the club serves as the recreational and educational center of the neighborhood. Miss Sones has organized an orchestra and with the aid of teachers supplied by the WPA is offering classes in music. There is instruction in wood work, printing, dramatics, radio building, art and even tap dancing.

While the club is principally for boys its advantages also have been made available to girls and, Miss Sones estimates that from 250 to 300 participate in its activities.

Labor's Feud May Be Aired In Campaign

New Organization Backing Roosevelt Regarded As Significant

By BYRON PRICE (Chief of Bureau, Washington) For reasons well hidden under the surface, the launching of the pro-Roosevelt "labor's non-partisan league" has aspects and possibilities usually lacking in similar ventures.

It always has been a disputed point whether the "labor vote" can be lined up with any semblance of solidarity for any democratic or republican presidential candidate at any time.

Some leaders have felt, however, that if ever such a thing were possible, it would be in a year like 1936, when class distinctions are much emphasized and party lines badly tangled.

Therefore, the advent of the new league was certain to attract wide attention. It is the beginning of a cohesive political action, at last, on the part of labor. The question cannot be answered at this writing, but one generally overlooked fact presents itself:

While outwardly the league is dedicated to harmonizing labor support behind the president, certain elements exist which hint, instead at a possible transference to the political theater of organized labor's big family feud.

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—Not all chance encounters take place in the Cafe de la Paix in Paris, which has a reputation similar to that of the corner of 42nd street and Broadway...

That's where this unusual meeting took place, and I wonder if you wouldn't like to hear about it? Lolling in the chair, General Theodore A. Lodiensky was waiting to be shaved when a familiar fellow bent over him...

"That was a bloody business," recalled the general. "I saw you fellows, garbed in red pants, flowing towards us like a wild wave. I never saw so many red pants in my life."

When one considers her celebrated parents—the late Florens Ziegfeld and Billie Burke—it seems only natural that Patricia Ziegfeld should become famous too. And she has.

WASHINGTON—Despite all the alleged mystery about airplane crashes, those on the inside know that the not very much mystery about them...

Cutting Mystery: This was one cause of the crash in Missouri that killed Senator Bronson Cutting. The radio is followed by the pilot was 15 miles off...

Arkansas Mystery: Insiders also know there was no real mystery about the plane which crashed in the swamps of Arkansas last winter, killing 17 people.

Bomb Mystery: Also there was the mysterious crash in the mountains of New York 18 months ago, when there were reports of a passenger carrying a package supposed to contain nitroglycerine or some other high explosive.

Beam Experimentation: The new radio beam, which probably caused the accident at Uniontown, is an attempt to remedy the defects of the old beam.

Pan-American Airways, which has one of the best a-cident records, use a radio compass instead of a radio beam. Safest system, however, is to use both.

Future Veterans: When this has been urged on commercial aviation companies, some of them have complained that it is too expensive. Apparently life is cheaper than equipment.

Chapter 12
BITTER TRUTH
"Haven't you any money?" asked Iris.

"It would take what we both have for all that, and to carry me things get better—this is a bad time for architecture anyhow. But that isn't the point; Sigrid won't marry me till I cut out working for Phina. But I owe it to Phina, much as I hate being a man-milliner."

His shoulders sagged a little. There seemed nothing to do but to slip her hand in his and say, "I'm sorry."

"But what about you?" he demanded more briskly. "Who's this Black that seems to be running everything? You engaged?"

"Goodness, no!" Iris answered again. "Just a boarder. As for even being interested in each other, we began with a terrible row. He's a splendid friend, though!" she added. "He's been wonderful to Uncle Will. We don't know much about him, except that Uncle Will says he knows enough about human nature to know he's never done anything very wrong."

Owen was a little white as he entered the house; but he was smiling flippantly. "For unworldliness, you should all get large leather medals."

On the stairs they met the doctor coming out. "Oh, has anything happened?" Iris demanded; the doctor did not come to that economical household unless something was very wrong indeed.

The doctor spoke to her cheerily. "Only a touch of neuritis, a hang-over from your uncle's hurt leg. And a bit nervous excitement, I understand." He looked keenly at Owen, unmistakably a Lanning.

"Yes, my brother Owen."

Nazis Retarding Higher Learning; Noted Universities In Eclipse As Party Honor Ranked Over Degree

BERLIN, April 15 (UP)—Higher learning is sharply on the decline in Nazi Germany. Where 267,207 students attended universities in 1932, only 182,995 were enrolled during the academic year 1934-35.

Observers cite four reasons to account for this: first, a change in the German conception of the value of higher education; second, complete elimination of Jews from university life; third, restrictions on the freedom of a university's entrance caused by the political demands of Nazi allegiance; and last, discouragement by the Nazis of higher learning for women.

The German outlook toward university study has undergone a profound change through the Nazi philosophy of life, observers agree. Prior to 1933 a German's social position hinged upon his holding a university degree of some kind. Today the only criterion for social success appears to be good standing in the Nazi party, or at least good relationship with the party.

This difference is illustrated by remarks made in a recent speech by Dr. Robert Ley, the leader of the Labor Front. He said, "We do not believe that one can become a leader only through knowledge. Character is incomparably more important. We need healthy people who steadfastly believe in national-socialism, for the basic principle of a sound mind in a sound body will last forever."

Elimination of Jews from university life has been gradual but nonetheless complete. In 1933 what is now considered a liberal law was passed restricting the percentage of Jews in the universities to the percentage of Jews in the population. Soon, however, service in the Nazi labor corps became a qualification for admittance to a university, and no Jews are permitted to serve in that organization. Finally, the German Students League adopted a resolution requiring every university candidate to prove his "Aryan" descent.

The freedom of university life has been noticeably lessened by the demand of Nazi organizations on their members. The majority of students belong to some party organization such as the Storm Troops, the Chauffeurs Corps, or the Students League. These are admittedly taxing on the free time of their members.

Prior to 1933 a German's social position hinged upon his holding a university degree of some kind. Today the only criterion for social success appears to be good standing in the Nazi party, or at least good relationship with the party.

New Viewpoint Explained This difference is illustrated by remarks made in a recent speech by Dr. Robert Ley, the leader of the Labor Front. He said, "We do not believe that one can become a leader only through knowledge. Character is incomparably more important. We need healthy people who steadfastly believe in national-socialism, for the basic principle of a sound mind in a sound body will last forever."

Elimination of Jews from university life has been gradual but nonetheless complete. In 1933 what is now considered a liberal law was passed restricting the percentage of Jews in the universities to the percentage of Jews in the population. Soon, however, service in the Nazi labor corps became a qualification for admittance to a university, and no Jews are permitted to serve in that organization. Finally, the German Students League adopted a resolution requiring every university candidate to prove his "Aryan" descent.

The freedom of university life has been noticeably lessened by the demand of Nazi organizations on their members. The majority of students belong to some party organization such as the Storm Troops, the Chauffeurs Corps, or the Students League. These are admittedly taxing on the free time of their members.

This is to be contrasted with the so-called "academic freedom" formerly associated with the German University. According to The German Economist, the freedom of action permitted after years of rigid action in the schools appealed to thousands as a "highly desirable type of life."

Today the demands of politics give the student less free time than the bank clerk or the young business man. Consequently, the "romanticism" of a carefree university existence rapidly has disappeared, taking with it the eagerness of many to pursue this type of study, especially in the face of hard times.

Nazi propaganda stresses that "the woman's place is in the home." The officially sponsored League for Large Families continually stresses that the primary duty of German womanhood is to bear healthy children. Thus higher education for women is no longer deemed important, with a resultant falling off in university attendance.

Fewer Women Enroll This is shown by the difference in women's enrollment between the winter and summer semesters of the academic year 1933-34, or 13,915 in the former and 11,807 in the latter. In the following year the trend still was downward, although not markedly so.

Today, then, few students attend the universities unless they desire to learn a definite profession such as law or medicine. And fewer seem to desire to do this every year, especially as regards law. The congestion in that field, coupled with noticeably fewer law suits, have reduced considerably the lucrativeness of that practice.

Further, the fact that education no longer plays a social role has discouraged entrance into the higher professions. In certain occupations, such as engineering, the point is being reached where the number of men is not sufficiently large to fill potential vacancies in the 1940's. This condition is deplored by The German Economist, which points out that ordinary business is drawing an excessive number of recruits to the detriment of certain professions.

French Scientist Tells The World Of New Sun Ray

PARIS (UP)—The discovery of a new ray in the sun's rays, hitherto unknown, is claimed by a French astronomer, Bernard Lyot.

The ray—or it may even be a series of rays—is held to indicate that there is something perhaps chemical element, which so far has escaped the attention of observers. M. Lyot, who has been analyzing the sun's light for the last year at the observatory on the Pic du Midi mountain in the Pyrenees, described his discovery in a report to the French Academy of Sciences.

He used a special apparatus, a coronagraph, which he said permitted exploration of the sun's rays at all times and not, as previously only during eclipses. The coronagraph divides the rays into the hands of the spectrum and it was while examining the rays, M. Lyot said, that he came across the new ray.

PROJECTS APPROVED BY ARMY ENGINEER

WASHINGTON, April 15 (UP)—The board of army engineers today recommended construction of 200 new flood control projects costing $85,000,000 of new water projects in pending flood control legislation.

The reports were placed before the senate commerce committee now engaged in putting together flood control bill for submission to the senate.

The bill is still in tentative form. With the additions approved by the engineers it would total $400,000,000, new construction, survey and cost of land and damage reimbursement.

Noise Survey Fiasco SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—The city's efforts to find a demarcation line between necessary and unnecessary noise demonstrate that at times San Francisco street noises ran as high as a decibel which is comparable to the noise made by a steel rivet 35 feet away. Lack of funds made it impossible to find the demarcation.

FUNDS FOR DISASTER RELIEF ARE VOTED

WASHINGTON, April 15 (UP)—The house yesterday adopted the conference report on the disaster relief bill providing $50,000,000 in reconstruction finance corporation rehabilitation loans.

The senate had adopted the report previously and the measure now goes to the White House for signature.

The RPC has announced plans for making its funds available so that its machinery will go into action soon after the bill has become law. The loans will be used for both flood and tornado relief.

"Would it be all right if I went out to the farm to see my folks and didn't get back to school until this afternoon?" the boy asked.

"Yes, that will be all right," the superintendent said.

"What worried everybody most was 'how will Lloyd take it?'"

"The superintendent felt that he's committed a crime or disgraced himself," Bibber said.

"This could put the old damper on him if it gets under his skin. He didn't mean any harm. He's a fine boy. My boy was in the county. How else could they get any dope on years if they didn't read what someone else wrote? They never have been to Europe."

Operetta To Be Staged Next Week

Centennial Celebration Is Free At Municipal Auditorium

Last minute preparations for the staging of the operetta, "The Rose Window of San Jose," indicate that the Centennial play is going to be one of the most attractive performances of its kind ever staged in Big Spring.

The operetta will be given next Tuesday evening at the Municipal auditorium. No charge will be made. The Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority is sponsoring it and has asked the aid of the community in making it a community project. Most of those whom they have asked have responded generously.

Many between-acts numbers that have been arranged for will be announced later. A large number of musical organizations of Big Spring and Blackwelder's chorus from Forsan will furnish the music. The cast of men and women that will play the various roles are:

Frank Morgan, J. M. Maddrey, J. C. Milburn, Bill Lewis, Misses Camille Koberg and Virginia Lois Ogden, Edith Gay, Howard Thomas and Freddie Atkins.

Indict Pair For Attempt At Extortion

Men To Be Tried On April 27th On Charges In Angelo Case

FORT WORTH, April 15.—Mailing of threatening letters demanding $1,000 was charged in indictments returned yesterday against J. F. Williams and Roy Lee White by the United States grand jury. It was alleged the pair attempted to extort money from John D. Jones, San Angelo theater man.

"This is to let you know we have selected you for our next one to collect $1,000 from. We are going to blow up one or more of your places unless you pay this money," a letter posted March 5 declared, according to the indictment. "We may decide to hurt you or your family."

Jones was directed by the letter to obtain the money in ten dollar bills, to have it on his person and to insert an advertisement in a San Angelo newspaper that a purse containing money and papers had been found in the theater, then to await instructions, the indictment recited.

Another letter was posted according to the indictment on March 9 and another two days later which asserted "You may think you are going to get by without paying us. Well you may do just that but you won't know a thing about it for we are in the mood to tear you to pieces."

Still another letter, the indictment declared, was mailed on March 13, directing Jones to sit in a car in front of a grocery and wait for instructions—"Make it snappy; we are in a hurry; aim to get money today or never."

United States Attorney Clyde O. Eastus announced that the government will be ready for trial at San Angelo on April 27 on the extortion case.

Need Of Revival To Be Emphasized In Sermon Tonight

"A Revival or Revolution, Which?" will be the subject of Evangelist R. L. Flowers for tonight's service of the First Methodist church revival. "The Wesley revival saved England from a bloody revolution," said Rev. Flowers in announcing the subject. "If America does not experience a religious awakening, as sure as we live today there will be heartache in this country the like of which we have never seen."

In discussing the causes of crime in his message Tuesday night, Rev. Flowers said that from the preacher's viewpoint some of the causes of crime are: the terrorfulness of sin, disregard of Bible authority in human lives, the world war, broken homes, indifference toward the church. He said "the criminals are not coming from the Sunday school folk. Criminals are being recruited from the children who have not had the influence of the church. Criminals are made between the ages of 8 and 12 years of age."

"Criminals must be punished, we are all agreed, but the cure of the crime problem lies in making it harder for the children to go wrong and easier for them to go right. Therefore the church can meet this challenge if we will but do it."

"Every decent citizen believes in morality, yet the basis of morality is religion. When the two are divorced, morality decays. For 25 years the people of this country have been indifferent to religion and now our morals are rotting. The church is failing to be a training institution because of the neglect of her people to the great cause she represents."

Rev. Flowers preached Wednesday morning on the subject, "The Source of the Church's Power."

SHORTEST WILL HAS ONLY EIGHT WORDS

DALLAS, April 15. (UP)—A new record for brevity in wills has been set by a document on file in the Dallas county probate court today. The will was filed by an attorney for Mrs. Victoria E. Riley, who died at Galveston last May 13. Written on a piece of pink paper 3 inches long and 3 inches wide, it consisted of only eight words: "Everything I leave behind is my mother's Victoria." Mrs. Riley's mother is Mrs. Edna Beaupres of Dallas.

Until this document was filed, court attaches gave first place for uniqueness to a will that was written on the margin of a hymn book.
