Boy dies in shooting

An eight-year-old Hereford boy was killed Wednesday in what police believe was an accidental shooting.

Carey Wade Eatherly, the son of Mike and Yvonne Horton of Hereford, was discovered in an alley between Avenues I and J at about 11:30 p.m. on Wednesday. He had suffered a single gunshot wound to the upper body. Police are not sure what time the shooting occurred.

The boy was found after a lengthy search through the neighborhood and after police questioned several people who lived near where the boy was found. Police reports said the boy was last seen when he arrived home on Wednesday afternoon at about 3:30 p.m. from Aikman Elementary School.

When the boy was reported missing on Wednesday evening, police were told that the boy was last seen going to a neighbor's house to visit a friend.

No official ruling has been made on the death, pending further investigation and an autopsy that was scheduled to be performed today.

Services are pending at Gililand-Watson Funeral Home in Hereford.

Gramm denies Reese closing

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm says any plans to close military bases around the country would not affect Reese Air Force Base as long as defense spending is not curbed.

Gramm, R-Texas, said Wednesday he was "categorically promising" that Reese, located 6 miles west of Lubbock, would not be closed.

An Armed Services Committee member, Gramm was stumping in Lubbock Wednesday for the Bush-Quayle ticket at local Republican headquarters.

After a report questioned whether the base would stay open, Gramm said he contacted Air Force and Defense Department officials during the past three days.

"Reese will not be closed," Gramm said. "On the basis of what we're doing today, we're going to have to train more pilots."

Reese handles undergraduate pilot training in the Air Training Command's 64th Flying Training Wing.

In its upcoming Monday issue, U.S. News & World Report published a list of military bases under the heading "Targets for a hit list," saying governmental officials would like to close 20 to 30 military bases and were focusing on those listed by the magazine.

The magazine's list included Reese and Cannon Air Force Base near Clovis, N.M.

After Congress passed a base-closing bill last week, the commission to recommend closing outdated and unnecessary military bases was formed as a non-partisan committee by Secretary of Defense Frank Carlucci.

Defense Department officials said Wednesday the panel was still working to establish uniform criteria, and is not expected to finish before the end of the year.

Reports of Reese's closing were "very, far-fetched speculation," said Rep. Larry Combest, R-Lubbock.

"Reese is not on any short list or on any long list (for closings)," Combest told the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal from his Washington residence.

U.S. Sen. Pete Domenici, R-New Mexico, has no reason to believe that Cannon Air Force Base is on any official list, adding that no one knows which bases will be on the list, a spokesman said.

"It's possible it could be on the list. It's something the commission will take up," said the spokesman. "We have no reason to believe at this time that it is on the list — or should be on the list."

Gramm said closing Reese would cost the Lubbock economy $125 million per year.

"It would be an economic disaster," he said.

But Defense Department officials said, despite the published reports of targeted bases, the commission has made no recommendations and there is no official list.

Clyde resigns assistant post

By ANDREA HOOTEN
Staff Writer

David Clyde, assistant district attorney for the 222nd district, resigned Tuesday after charges of Class C misdemeanor assault were filed against him in the Randall County Justice of the Peace Court early Tuesday.

District Attorney Roland Saul of Hereford said he accepted Clyde's resignation because it would be best for the office.

"It's unfortunate because he's been an asset to the community," said Saul, "but we prosecute people for doing that kind of thing and we represent the Department of Human Services and child protective cases. It would just be really touchy to have someone working here who had done (assault) himself."

Clyde posted a $200 personal recognizance bond on Tuesday and is pleading not guilty. The charge is punishable by fine only.

"I don't have any comment on the incident," said Clyde, "but I do feel I'll be vindicated. I resigned because it puts Mr. Saul in an untenable situation. We prosecute people who assault and I didn't want Mr. Saul in a bad situation. I do think Mr. Saul will give me an outstanding reference because I did have the integrity to resign. I put it all out front and let the chips fall where they may."

Clyde plans to represent himself when the case comes to justice of the peace court in Randall County after the docket hearing Nov. 10.

Thousands flee from storm path

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — Thousands fled the Caribbean coast as Hurricane Joan closed in on Central America today with heavy rains and 115 mph winds, threatening to unleash a torrent of flash floods and mud slides.

The storm was moving west after leaving 35 people dead or missing in Colombia and thousands homeless.

Gilbert Clark, meteorologist at the National Hurricane Center in Coral Gables, Fla., said the damage could be severe in the mountainous regions of Central America.

"Unfortunately, they are getting a lot of rain ahead of this storm, which is going to affect the area and cause a lot of mud slides and flash flood in the mountains," he said. "The biggest threat to life will be from flash floods and mud slides."

Max Mayfield, another forecaster at the hurricane center, said the portion of the Caribbean where the hurricane is bound has never experienced a storm of such magnitude.

At 3 a.m. EDT today, Joan was centered near latitude 11.2 north and longitude 79.8 west, about 160 miles southeast of San Andres or 265 miles east-southeast of Bluefields, Nicaragua. It was moving west at about 5 mph with maximum sustained winds of 115 mph.

The Colombian islands of San Andres, Albuquerque and Providencia were under a hurricane warning, and a watch was posted for the Caribbean coasts of Nicaragua and Costa Rica.

At least 12,000 people fled Puerto Limon, Costa Rica's main Caribbean port, and other northeast coastal towns, said Johnny Alfaro, national emergency committee director in Puerto Limon.

"We're sure of one thing: Hurricane Joan will provoke many floods along the Atlantic coast and to a lesser degree on the Pacific coast," Alfaro said.

Duke claims distortion

By DONNA CASSATA
Associated Press Writer

Michael Dukakis accused the Republicans of distorting his record on crime while front-runner George Bush renewed the charge that his Democratic rival lacks any foreign policy experience as the two White House contenders traded attacks and counterattacks.

The Democratic presidential nominee, criticized by some in his party for his weak response to the GOP charges, angrily answered his Republican accusers on Wednesday when presented with a brochure attacking him as soft on crime.

"Friends, this is garbage," Dukakis said as he held up the mailing for a crowd in Southern Illinois. "This is political garbage."

The GOP brochure, which was sent to voters in the state, suggested that convicted mass-murderer John Wayne Gacy would "be eligible for weekend passes" under Massachusetts' prison furlough program.

Later, in Palmyra, Mo., Dukakis told the crowd, "I've never seen such a pack of lies in my life."

While Dukakis sought to set his record straight, Bush continued to level his foreign affairs attacks on his opponent.

The vice president charged that Dukakis has "an unrealistic view of America's role" in the world, and told students at the University of Michigan that he and the Massachusetts governor were "light years apart" on foreign policy.

Bush was expected to raise the issue of Dukakis' crime record today when the GOP nominee travels to New Jersey and the New York City borough of Queens, where he was picking up an endorsement from a law enforcement union.

Dukakis was traveling to Connecticut where the latest statewide poll showed Bush holding a 10-point lead.

The Dukakis campaign, shaken earlier in the week by a NBC News-Wall Street Journal poll showing Bush ahead by 17 points, received better news on Wednesday from two new surveys.

An ABC News-Washington Post poll gave Bush a seven-point lead while a Harris poll showed the GOP nominee leading by nine points — considerably less than the earlier survey.

The ABC-Post poll, conducted Oct. 12 through Tuesday, questioned 1,195 likely voters and had a margin of error of about three percentage points either way. The Harris poll of 1,356 likely voters was done Friday through Monday and had a margin of error of three points.

Meanwhile, Dukakis used most of his campaign time for counterattacks.

"My positions are being distorted on a number of these issues. That seems to be what the Bush campaign is all about," Dukakis told reporters.

The Gacy brochure suggested that the man convicted and sentenced to death in 1980 for murdering 33 young men and boys would be eligible for a weekend pass in Massachusetts. The second brochure by the Illinois Republican Party said in bold print, "All the Murderers and Rapists and Drug Pushers and Child Molesters in Massachusetts Vote for Michael Dukakis."

"This isn't worthy of a presidential campaign," Dukakis told voters in Illinois.

Aides to the governor said that Gacy would not be eligible for a pass under the Massachusetts furlough program.

Milner out-raising Sarpalius

By JENNIFER DIXON
Associated Press Writer

While Democrat Bill Sarpalius may trail his Republican opponent in fund-raising in the race for the 13th District congressional seat, his campaign manager says money isn't everything.

"Bill has always said: 'I'll always be outspent, but I'll never be outworked,'" says Randall Rainer, who is managing the state senator's bid for the sprawling, 37-county Panhandle district.

Republican Larry Milner, who was president of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce until he decided to make the race, is outpacing Sarpalius in campaign fund-raising and spending, according to reports filed with the Federal Election Commission.

The FEC reports show Milner raised $135,490 between July 1 and Sept. 30, while Sarpalius' campaign brought in $95,805. For the same period, Milner spent $125,418 to the $91,020 in campaign spending by Sarpalius.

Milner had $28,684 cash on hand at the end of September and Sarpalius had $22,237. Both campaigns had debts and outstanding expenses — $37,894 for Milner, $20,876 for Sarpalius — at the close of the reporting period.

Since the first of the year, Milner has raised $311,076 and spent $292,393, while Sarpalius has raised $177,828 and spent $186,952.

Rep. Beau Boulter, an Amarillo Republican who won the seat from a Democrat in 1984, decided not to seek re-election so he could challenge Democratic Sen. Lloyd Bentsen's bid for a fourth term.

The race for the only open congressional seat in Texas has been targeted by the national Republican and Democratic parties, and officials of both campaigns say they're expecting a down-to-the-wire fight.

Sarpalius is stressing his record of service in the Texas Senate, where he was chairman of the Agriculture Committee for all eight years of his tenure, while Milner is touting his pro-business and conservative positions in the rural district.

Milner's campaign chairman, Jeff Schmidt, said Republican polls show the candidates in statistical dead heat, while Sarpalius' campaign said Democratic polls put him out front by as many as 15 points.

Factors at play include the strength of Republican presidential nominee George Bush in the conservative district, as well as a hometown preference for Boulter in the Senate race, Rainer said.

Sarpalius, however, has a history of getting crossover votes and has an advantage from representing 22 of the district's 37 counties in the state Senate.

Babbling Brooks

By JOHN BROOKS

We've had about two cool days since Fall fell, which means Christmas is just around the corner. Right.

I was first rankled when I saw, a couple of weeks ago, the TV commercial pushing one of these special album deals of "Your All-Time Christmas Favorites."

They might be YOUR all-time Christmas favorites, but not mine. No where did I see a listing for "Grandma Got Run Over By A Reindeer," Alvin and The Chipmunks singing "The Christmas Song," The Singing Dogs doing some of their greatest hits (they do a mean "Jingle Bells") or my all-time favorite by John Denver, "Please, Daddy, Don't Get Drunk This Christmas."

Now the dang Christmas catalogs have hit us, and it's not even Halloween.

I can remember when the Christmas stuff didn't start until just after Thanksgiving. There was nothing in the stores indicating Santa Claus was even alive until after the turkey's wishbone was fought over between me, my sister, and our four cousins and my youngest uncle.

It was worth looking forward to, going to the store the day after Thanksgiving to see all of the Christmas stuff. There were no clues before the Friday after the fourth Thursday in November.

Even after we moved out here, I can remember how we'd load up and go to Amarillo on Friday or Saturday after Thanksgiving and go to Toyland at Sears. I loved that huge model train they had set up down there.

Now, you can go to durn near any store anywhere and right there next to all the Halloween masks are the tree ornaments.

At this rate of calendar creep, we'll be seeing Pre-Christmas sales on Labor Day Weekend by 1995, but by the year 2054, the cycle will be complete and we won't have a Pre-Christmas Sale at all.

You can just take your family down to the store, tell them they can spend $50 each, and that's it for Christmas.

Even with all of this Christmas stuff out, does anyone actually buy any of their Christmas this early? I doubt that Santa's even started making half of the stuff in these catalogs. Backorder this, backorder that.

I suppose that's the best way for Santa to interface with everyone. If he gets a few samples out in the stores and we have to backorder everything else, then Santa doesn't have inventory and overhead overload creating a negative cash-flow situation.

Of course, if Santa had a negative cash-flow situation that remained unmitigated through dispensation of inventory, it would be hot enough at the North Pole to melt the ice so those whales could get out on their own.

And the more Santa can interface on our Christmas needs, the more time he will have to personally interface with children between now and Christmas.

Icebreaker going for gray whales

Whales coaxed to open water

BARROW, Alaska (AP) — A huge icebreaking barge began its journey to rescue three trapped whales as scientists worried that plunging temperatures and polar bears would threaten the mammals they have named Bonnet, Crossbeak and Bone.

At dawn, a National Guard helicopter rigged to tow the 185-ton "hover-berge" was to resume the 230-mile trip along the desolate Arctic coast from Prudhoe Bay. It moved about five miles Wednesday through sand bars, mud and shallow water.

Eskimo whalers using chain saws in sub-zero temperatures cut holes in the thick Arctic Ocean ice to help the California gray whales breathe. The 24- to 30-foot-long mammals, whose species is endangered, became trapped in the ice two weeks ago while migrating south.

The tired whales can survive for several more weeks despite being battered and bleeding from grating against jagged ice, said John Lien, professor of animal behavior at Memorial University in Canada.

"They can bleed a barrel and still be fine," said Lien, who has helped free whales from ice for 20 years. "We're talking about a big animal here, between five to 20 tons."

The whales also may have to contend with polar bears. Reporters flying by helicopter Wednesday spotted five prowling the ice a few miles from the whales.

"There are polar bears that are certainly going to be attracted to this," said Ron Morris of the National Marine and Fisheries Service. "If they're going to take the whales, we're not going to stop them."

He said polar bears hunt at night, when biologists are usually the only people near the breathing holes, 18 miles northeast of this Eskimo village.

The whales were named by biologists so the mammals' respiration could be monitored when they surfaced. One was dubbed "Bone" because so much of its snout has been scraped away by the ice. Eskimos have given them their own names: Siku (Ice), Putu (Icehole) and Kanik (Snowflake).

A National Weather Service ice analysis showed no open water in the whales' vicinity. But a lead, or pathway, through the ice had been spotted about five miles from the whales, said Jim Brooks, acting director of the fisheries service in Alaska.

"There are open water leads throughout the Chukchi Sea and Beaufort Sea, out for a long ways. The ice is always moving. It's very dynamic," he said.

First Abilene reports growth

ABILENE -- First Abilene Bankshares, Inc., reported consolidated earnings of $1,332,809 for the third quarter of 1988, an increase of 16.8 percent over the same period a year ago.

For the nine months ending Sept. 30, 1988, the company reported earnings of $3,836,680 or an increase of 5.1 percent over the same reporting period in 1987. Earnings per share amounted to 62 cents for the quarter ending Sept. 30, up from 52 cents for the same quarter a year ago. Earnings per share for the nine months was $1.78 compared to $1.66 for the same period last year.

In comparing the reporting periods, Kenneth T. Murphy, chairman and chief executive officer, stated that improved interest margins were principally responsible for the improved earnings. Reduced provisions for loan losses also contributed to improved earnings in the current periods.

The Abilene-based holding company is the parent company of Hereford State Bank as well as First National Bank and Bank of Commerce of Abilene, First National Bank of Sweetwater, and Eastland National Bank.

FDA approves speed-up of drugs to market

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration is hoping to speed therapies for AIDS and other life-threatening diseases to market by formally encouraging pharmaceutical companies to work with the agency in the earliest stages of drug development.

In announcing publication of the new regulations in the Federal Register on Wednesday, FDA Commissioner Frank E. Young acknowledged that they essentially "codify" what the agency already is doing.

The Federal Register notice itself says that "although the (new) program is important, it builds upon managerial and regulatory options available under existing practices and procedures."

Young said the new mechanism — which essentially allows a drug company to bypass final-stage drug testing — was similar to that used in approval last year of AZT, still the only recognized drug for treatment of AIDS.

He said at a news conference that the agency is not weakening the safety and efficacy standards its uses in moving a drug from experimental to broad use, but wants to compress the time needed to reach a conclusion on those standards.

"This is the agency's best attempt to change its image from being unipire — just calling safe or out — to being more involved, like the catcher calling signals," said Young.

Another analogy he used was that of a college professor giving students a clear idea of what was being looked for in an essay test question rather than leaving them to try to guess the key points the teacher wanted addressed.

Translated to the drug approval process, Young said, the idea was to let drug companies know in early stages of testing which scientific questions the agency considered most crucial to address in follow-up testing.

The move will not satisfy many AIDS activists who, in effect, want the FDA to scuttle its historic role and sign off on safety and effectiveness of potential AIDS drugs before the agency has satisfied itself those criteria have been met.

Without such FDA sanction, physicians not participating in approved experiments — with all the attendant red tape and reporting requirements — are reluctant to use experimental therapies on their patients even though the drugs sometimes are available from foreign sources. The doctors could face severe liability problems if such treatments backfire.

Another underlying issue is that health insurance normally does not pay for experimental drug treatment, but often does once the FDA approves a drug.

Hundreds of demonstrators temporarily shut down the FDA headquarters building in nearby Rockville, Md., last week to demand more access to experimental drugs for AIDS treatment.

However, the protest appears to have had no direct bearing on Wednesday's announcement since it invokes the same FDA policy Young had outlined for demonstration leaders in a meeting several days before the protest.

Young also traveled to Boston earlier this year to defend the FDA position at an international conference of gay and lesbian groups active in pushing for more experimental AIDS treatment.

The timing of Wednesday's announcement, three weeks before the election, was another question.

Young insisted that the timing of the announcement — which referred to Vice President George Bush as having spearheaded the administration's task force on regulatory reform — was not politically motivated.

"This is the time in the continuity of all the things we have been doing to come forth with this," he said in response to a question. "We've been working on this a long time, so I reject that."

Jean McGuire, executive director of the AIDS Action Council, had distributed statements in advance of Young's news conference charging, "The rationale for timing the announcement at this point is transparent at best."

She called the announcement "politically opportunistic and potentially misleading."

Clements says furlough plan not same as Dukakis' plan

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements said the Texas furlough program that allowed murderers to temporarily leave prisons is not like the Massachusetts program for which Republicans have harshly criticized Democrat Michael Dukakis.

"There's a vast, vast difference between the two programs," said Clements, a Republican who co-chairs GOP presidential candidate George Bush's Texas campaign. The governor also said Wednesday that he was not responsible for the Texas program, blaming it instead on "bureaucracy" in the state Department of Corrections.

"We've stopped it, we're reviewing it, and we're going to change it," he vowed.

Clements said that "this business of letting these murderers out for whatever the reason, and like Dukakis did in Massachusetts let this person out who in our system here in Texas would have been on death row ... to commit additional crimes and so forth — we're not going to tolerate that."

Convicted murderer Willie Horton was furloughed under the Massachusetts program. He did not return to prison and later was convicted of raping a woman and assaulting her fiancé.

Robert Hinkle, a press secretary for the Dukakis campaign, noted that convicted murderers have been furloughed in Texas. About 5,000 felons, including 517 convicted of murder or voluntary manslaughter, have been furloughed in Texas since 1987, according to news reports.

"Murder is, obviously, murder," Hinkle said.

Clements would not discuss a prison-related bill he signed into law last year that included a reference to the furlough program. Furloughs are provided for under a 1977 law that was amended in 1979 to include discretionary furloughs for reasons determined to be appropriate by TDC, the governor's office said.

The program is "under the control and under the jurisdiction of TDC," Clements said. "That's what the legislation says. I don't have any direct control over it. I did not know what was going on. I don't share any responsibility for it," Clements said.

"The point is that the intent of the Legislature was aborted in my opinion by TDC, in the bureaucracy ... It does have a sort of a generalization in it, and that's what TDC hung their hat on," the governor said.

Cronkite says presidential campaign one of worst

AUSTIN (AP) — Veteran journalist Walter Cronkite, in a stinging criticism of the 1988 presidential campaign, said television ads should be longer and feature only the candidates so they could not hide from criticism made of their opponent.

"If they want to deal in a kind of below-the-belt, dirty campaign, they're going to have their face hanging out there saying it ... I think it would purify the process considerably," Cronkite told a news conference at the University of Texas at Austin, where he has been teaching a three-day seminar for students.

He said two-minute long commercials would not allow campaigns to package their candidates "like soap."

Cronkite also proposed that interested groups — such as those representing voters and consumers, and "think tanks" — work together to "put on a massive public information campaign" and create a demand for at least six presidential debates of two to three hours each for the future.

Although political parties likely would object to the idea, Cronkite said, negotiations should begin before the next administration takes office. Cronkite called the proposal a "crash program right on the heels of the disappointment of the American people expressed everywhere."

"The people generally across the entire spectrum of political belief are unhappy with the way this campaign has gone," he said.

Cronkite said this year's campaign is one of the worst he has seen.

"I don't recall anything quite like this year. It's been, I think, a most unfortunate year for the American people, for our democracy," he said.

Issues — such as the deficit, education, foreign policy and defense — have not been adequately debated and discussed by Democratic presidential candidate Michael Dukakis and Republican George Bush, Cronkite said.

"It means that the winning candidate will go into office next January without a clear mandate," he said. "We won't know, really, what we did elect, because no clear policy and program has been placed before the American people."

Honorary degree conferred on McElroy

Rev. Stephen R. McElroy, pastor of First United Methodist Church of Hereford, was awarded a doctor of divinity degree by McMurry College on Oct. 13.

Chili supper scheduled Saturday

The public is invited to a chili supper from 5:30-8:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 22, in the Odd Fellow Hall, 205 E. 8th St.

The annual fundraiser will be sponsored by Hereford Rebekah Lodge No. 228. The menu will consist of chili, pie and drinks.

Tickets are priced at $3 for adult and $1.50 for children under 10 years of age.

Poet Robert Frost was born in 1873 in San Francisco.

Radford Auditorium at McMurry College in Abilene was the site of the ceremony, held in conjunction with the Carleton-Willson Lecture II. Dr. Thomas K. Kim, president of the college, presided. Bishop Louis W. Showengerdt, Bishop of the Northwest Texas and New Mexico Conferences of the United Methodist Church, gave the invocation. Dr. Bervin O. Caswell, retired Methodist minister, gave the lecture.

Honorary degrees also were awarded to Rev. William W. Hutchinson of Odessa and Rev. David Keith Wiseman of Amarillo.

In presenting the degree to McElroy, a citation was read by Dr. David Hamblin, pastor of St. Paul United Methodist Church in Abilene. He noted that McElroy has been an active Rotarian for 10 years and cited his efforts in helping reopen a primarily Hispanic Methodist Church in Hereford.

"Dr. McElroy's Christian service to others began with his volunteering to teach a Sunday School class of teenage boys at Abilene State School," said Dr. Hamblin. "He also served a summer internship at First United Methodist Church in Avoca and was a student pastor in Avoca while he was a McMurry student."

After receiving his bachelor of arts degree from McMurry in 1973, Dr. McElroy entered Asbury Theological Seminary where he earned a master of Divinity degree in 1976.

After one year as an associate pastor of Aldersgate UMC in Abilene, he held pastorates in Crowell and Slaton before being assigned to his present church in Hereford, where he has been since June 11, 1986.

In the Northwest Texas Annual Conference, Dr. McElroy's areas of service include Council on Finance and Administration, Board of Ordained Ministry, trustee of King's Manor Methodist Home, Sears Memorial Methodist Retirement Center, Wesley Foundation at West Texas State University and Texas Tech, and the Conference Council on ministries. He also has served on the Committee on the Ministry in both the Lubbock and Amarillo Districts and on the Council on Ministries in the Seymour District.

Dr. McElroy and his wife, Toni, whom he met at McMurry are the parents of two children, Carrie, 14; and Andrew, 10.

Herd ready for Randall

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Randall High School's football team is 1-6 in 1988. Hereford is 4-1-1. Don't let either one of the records fool you.

Randall is an improving football team. Hereford is a team that can't relax against anyone. A loss or a tie this Friday at 7:30 p.m. at Kimbrough Memorial Stadium, or any other Friday night for the rest of the football season, and Hereford can count on being busy on Nov. 12 putting up the football gear for another year.

Besides, Randall is as close as the Whitefaces will get to playing their old arch-rival Canyon, which dropped down to 3A when the school split to form Randall High School along with Canyon High School.

"I think there's enough Canyon-Hereford blood on both sides to make this a highly-contested football game," said Hereford head football coach Don Cumpton.

Randall's football program is not so young that it doesn't already have a couple shoulda's. Randall shoulda won its first-ever game against Tulia, but lost, 6-3. Randall shoulda won against Borger, but a late turnover led to a Bulldog field goal and a 21-19 loss.

The next week, Randall recorded its first-ever varsity football gotcha with a win against Dumas. Despite a shellackya put on the Raiders last week by Estacado, the Raiders are improving.

"You can see how they've improved every week," Cumpton said. "I saw them play against Frenship, and they had a bunch of mistakes early and it got out of hand on them. Plus, they had only played two games and they were still trying to find themselves.

"They got off to a bad start last week, too. When you're a young football team and you get into a deal like that where you make a couple of mistakes early, it really snowballs on you.

Hereford at Randall

WHEN, WHERE: Friday, 7:30 p.m., Kimbrough Stadium, Canyon.

HISTORY: First year of Randall High School.

LOOKS FAMILIAR: The Randall Raiders wear silver and black and have a shield on the side of their helmets. The LA Raiders have a skull and crossbones on their shields, the Randall Raiders have a pirate and swords.

LOOKS FAMILIAR, PART TWO: Randall running back Chris Roberts is the nephew of Dennis Gentry of the Chicago Bears.

CUMPTON'S KEYS TO THE GAME: 1. Stop Chris Roberts and the improving Raiders passing game. 2. Hereford must continue to improve in all phases of the game.

BEST REASON FOR GOING: Canyon has a Braum's.

"But they're executing now, a lot better than they were early in the year, and they're throwing the ball some. Robin Byrd is their quarterback. He was on Canyon's baseball team last year, and he's a good athlete."

The power of their offense is running back Chris Roberts, a 5-8, 160-lb. junior. He played on the Canyon junior varsity last year and showed flashes of brilliance.

"He's a player," said Cumpton. "He can be a very good player. He's had a couple of games over 200 yards rushing. He's a power man inside and a fast man outside."

Their defense is led by a familiar name: M.C. Calhoun, a stalwart of the Canyon defense last season. "Calhoun is as good a linebacker as we've seen in the district," Cumpton said. "They cover him up and try to keep him free so he can move to the football."

Cumpton's taking this game very seriously, despite the mismatched records.

"Our goal is to improve every game," Cumpton said. "I don't care who you're playing or at what point in the season, you need to try to improve every time out there.

"Last week's game gave us a lot of momentum, and if we take that and improve in some areas, it will make us a better football team. If we do that, we'll be okay.

"We've added some new wrinkles on offense that helped us do some other things that keep our opponents off balance. Our offensive line did an outstanding job last week against a great Dunbar defense. I thought we controlled the line of scrimmage, and that's something we have to do every game."

Hereford will be without defensive tackle Billy Burnam this week. Burnam is suffering from a strained knee, "so we'll hold him out this week and hope he's ready against Frenship," Cumpton said. "I think everyone else will be all right."

Tennis team wins district

The Hereford High School varsity tennis team completed its regular season undefeated last weekend with two wins at Lubbock and won the District 1-4A chamionship. The team will play in the Region 1 tennis tournament Oct. 27-29 in Lubbock.

LA outnumbered, but winning anyway

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers may be outnumbered, but the Oakland Athletics are almost out of the World Series. The A's had their ace, Dave Stewart, pitching to get even Wednesday night.

But it was Jay Howell, the maligned man of post-season, who got even, and the Dodgers took a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven Series with a 4-3 victory over the A's.

“With all our injuries, we're going into tomorrow's game with Orel Hershiser and a chance to win it all,” said Dodgers rookie Tim Lincecum, who got the victory with 2 1/3 innings of relief help from Howell.

Missing both Kirk Gibson and Mike Marshall, the Dodgers' No. 3 and 4 hitters, Manager Tom Lasorda told his players they'd have to manufacture runs. They did, and the A's helped with two errors and a passed ball that added up to two unearned runs against Stewart.

Already without Gibson, the Dodgers also had to start Game 4 without Marshall, who aggravated a chronic back problem the night before.

Lasorda also learned that he would be without left-handed pitcher John Tudor for the rest of the Series. Tudor strained a ligament in his elbow Tuesday night and might need surgery.

And then, in the fourth inning, catcher Mike Scioscia twisted his knee sliding into second base. He had to leave, leaving the Dodgers with just one catcher, Rick Dempsey.

Both Marshall and Scioscia could be ready tonight, when the Dodgers send Hershiser to the mound in Game 5 against the A's Storm Davis in a rematch of Game 2 — a three-hit shutout by Hershiser.

Marshall came off the bench to play defense in the ninth inning Wednesday night, indicating he could be ready. Scioscia said his knee had bothered him for two or three weeks, and the Dodgers made plans to appeal for another catcher on the roster.

Rocked in Game 3 for Mark McGwire's game-winning homer in the ninth inning, Howell came back the next night to retire McGwire and end a two-off, nine-out threat in the seventh inning.

With a runner on base and one out in the ninth, Howell struck out Jose Canseco and got Dave Parker to foul out for the save.

Without Gibson and Marshall, Lasorda started nine players who had a total of 36 homers during the season — six fewer than Canseco alone. Two of the Dodgers — Marshall's replacement Mike Davis and shortstop Alfredo Griffin — hit less than .200.

The Dodgers got two of their runs in the first inning with the help of a walk, an error and a passed ball.

Steve Sax led off with a walk, and one out later he went to third on a hit-and-run single by Mickey Hatcher. A passed ball by A's catcher Terry Steinbach allowed Sax to score while Hatcher went to second.

Hatcher went to third when A's second baseman Glenn Hubbard booted Davis' grounder for an error, and he scored on John Shelby's grounder.

The A's came back with one in the first off Belcher. Luis Polonia led off with a single, went to second on a passed ball by Scioscia, took third on a grounder to the right side by Dave Henderson, and scored on Canseco's grounder.

The Dodgers made it 3-1 in the third. Franklin Stubbs doubled with one out. With two away, Davis hit a soft liner that hit off the side of the glove of A's shortstop Walt Weiss, and Stubbs scored from second when the ball dribbled into left field.

The A's made it 3-2 in the sixth on Carney Lansford's RBI single, breaking an 0-for-12 string, and the Dodgers chased Stewart as they scored their fourth run in the seventh.

With one out, Griffin walked, and he went to third on a bouncing single to center by Sax. That brought on Greg Cadaret, who gave up an RBI grounder to pinch-hitter Tracy Woodson on a hit-and-run that kept the Dodgers out of a double play.

The A's chased Belcher in the seventh. With one out, Weiss singled and went to second on a hit-and-run grounder. Henderson, who had four hits, doubled, scoring Weiss and bringing on Howell. Howell walked Canseco, and when Parker reached on an error by Griffin at shortstop to load the bases, McGwire came up.

“It wasn't the position I wanted to be in, of course, but I thought I made a good pitch,” Howell said. “It was a fastball away and it had something on it. Fortunately, he popped up.”

Howell becomes rallying call

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The name Jay Howell has become a rallying call for these battered band of Dodgers. Something like “Remember the Maine.” Howell, a generally obscure reliever prior to a few weeks ago, has gained national notoriety for the nasty things said about him and his sticky glove.

In Game 4 of the World Series on Wednesday night, Howell ended the weeks of disaster and derision with 2 1/3 innings of two-hit relief as Los Angeles beat Oakland 4-3 to take a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven Series.

“I just try to keep good work habits,” Howell said. “I don't carry around a lot of negative pressure. It's just dead wood and I don't care to use that.”

Howell was the losing pitcher in Game 3 when Mark McGwire hit a home run with one out in the bottom of the ninth.

“He's our star reliever and we wanted to get him right back out there,” Dodgers manager Tommy Lasorda said. “We would not be in the Fall Classic if not for Jay Howell.”

To get the Dodgers riled up, just say Jay Howell.

Three regulars, Kirk Gibson, Mike Marshall and Mike Scioscia, are hurting and so is the Dodgers' attack. But they're finding ways to win, all kinds of ways.

Sweeney only a slide away

IRVING, Texas (AP) — The next time Steve Pelluer doesn't learn how to slide, Kevin "Too Short" Sweeney's will get his first shot in a regular season, non-strike NFL game.

You could say Sweeney is just a concussion away from the controls of the Dallas Cowboys.

“Kevin may get in there pretty quick if Pelluer doesn't learn how to slide,” Dallas coach Tom Landry said. “Kevin would make things interesting. The players all like him.”

On the third play of a 17-7 loss to the Chicago Bears on Sunday, Pelluer sustained a concussion. He spent the rest of the game relearning his name on the sidelines while Danny White played.

Ligament damage White suffered to his knee will keep him out of action at least a month. Sweeney was promoted to second string.

Pelluer has been knocked out of three games this year, one in pre-season, with concussions.

Sweeney, the hero of replacement games for Dallas last year, started and won two games for the “rhinestone” Cowboys, hitting 14 of 28 passes for 291 yards and four touchdowns.

Cigarette Smoking Costs Texans More Than $3 Billion Yearly

The updated figures are in. It's one of those stories nobody wants to talk about over the breakfast table. It's about death and dying; what smoking costs us Texans in a year's time. Smoking costs Texas—its citizens and taxpayers—an estimated $3.3 billion per year, says Ron Todd, coordinator of the Office of Smoking and Health at the Texas Health Department.

That's $1,036 for every smoker age 18 or over.

It's $198 per year for every man, woman and child in the Lone Star State. For every pack of cigarettes sold, Texas taxpayers pay a $1.78 bounty in health care costs and lost productivity due to illnesses caused by cigarette smoking.

"And this is only cigarettes. It does not include medical costs related to cigars, pipes or smokeless tobacco," said Todd, who recently completed a statistical analysis, "Annual Cost of Cigarette Smoking in Texas" funded by the Texas Cancer Council.

Cigarette smoking kills Texans at the rate of 16,697 per year, according to the report. That's something equivalent to eradicating the population of four towns about the size of Bastrop.

One of the four federally required warnings on the side of your favorite brand of cigarettes states that "smoking causes lung cancer, heart disease, emphysema, and may complicate pregnancy." What it does not tell you is that it causes 30 percent of all deaths from heart disease, the leading killer in both the state and the nation.

Cancer, "the Big C" as John Wayne called it, and smoking are no strangers. One-third of all cancer deaths in the nation are caused by cigarette smoking, including 85 percent of all lung cancer deaths, the leading cancer killer of both men and women.

A traditional argument is that while smoking may be a bad habit, it produces tax revenue. But it doesn't bring in enough. The costs associated for medical treatment and lost time is more than six times greater than the revenue generated by cigarette sales.

The Texas costs attributable to deaths, lost productivity, and medical treatment were analyzed in three broad categories, explained Todd.

"Direct health care costs" include $1,314,085,731 spent per year for prevention, diagnosis and treatment of smoking-related diseases and medical conditions.

"Indirect mortality costs" now add up to $1,079,162,215 yearly. This is an estimate of how much income and productivity is lost when individuals die prematurely from smoking-related illnesses.

"Indirect morbidity costs" include $616,978,157 in lost income and productivity when individuals are disabled by smoking-diseases or injury.

The three categories total $3,314,226,103 per year in costs attributable to cigarette smoking in Texas, Todd said.

Copies of the report—or other information on smoking cessation programs, smoking ordinances, worksite programs, current research, smoking and pregnancy are available by calling a toll-free number, 1-800-345-8647.

Names in the News

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Kim Basinger says she had few regrets about abandoning her career as a model, which she says "devastated" her at times. "As much money as I made, modeling hurt me a lot," said Basinger, who later rose to fame in such movies as "The Natural" and "9½ Weeks." "I had too much personality inside me to become that android."

John Smith was elected president of the Jamestown colony council in Virginia in 1608.

In an interview in November's Self magazine, the blonde beauty suggests she was anything but cover-girl material growing up in Athens, Ga.

"I had a strange prettiness that was not accepted," she said. "I was too tall and so uncomfortable around the more boisterous and outspoken girls that my palms were always sweating."

She said she kept her sanity by promising herself, "I'll get outta here. I'll get outta here. I'll get outta here." I talked myself into my own little cult."

Revitalize breakfast by using new recipes

By News USA - Tired of the same old things from breakfast? Looking for some new recipes for a weekend brunch? Brighten your mornings with a little fresh inspiration!

Transform whole wheat toast into an elegant breakfast entree, topped with sauteed apple slices simmered in maple syrup and spiced with cinnamon.

Make a vegetable frittata for a leisurely breakfast or brunch. It takes just minutes to prepare for baking, and offers satisfying eating with just 154 calories per serving.

Add sweetness to your mornings with a sweet potato and raisin quick bread. Whether served plain or toasted, it's great for breakfast or snacks.

Look to your produce department for a fresh change-of-pace to morning meals, says the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association.

CINNAMON APPLE TOAST

3 medium all-purpose or cooking apples
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons pure maple syrup
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
¾ teaspoon ground cinnamon
4 slices whole-wheat bread, toasted
1 tablespoon sugar

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Peel, core, and thinly slice apples. In a medium non-stick skillet, melt butter or margarine over medium heat. Add the apples, syrup, lemon juice and cinnamon. Cook about 5 minutes or until apples are soft. Drain and reserve the cooking liquid. Allow apples to cool a few minutes. Place toasted bread on a lightly buttered baking sheet. Divide apples equally, overlapping the slices in a spiral design. Sprinkle apples with sugar. Bake about 5 minutes or until the apples are hot and bread is crisp. Drizzle the reserved liquid over the apples and serve immediately. Serves 4.

ZUCCHINI AND SCALLION FRITTATA

2 cups unpeeled, diced zucchini
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
½ cup soft whole wheat bread crumbs
¾ cup milk
¾ cup chopped scallions
6 eggs, beaten
¾ cup grated Parmesan Cheese salt and pepper (to taste)
garnish with cherry tomato wedges

Sprinkle zucchini with salt and drain for 15 minutes; pat dry. Preheat oven to 350 F. Melt butter or margarine in a medium skillet. Add zucchini and saute over medium heat 3 minutes. In a large bowl, combine bread crumbs and milk; let stand 5 minutes. Stir in cooked zucchini, scallions, and eggs; season with salt and pepper. Pour mixture into a buttered 9-inch pie plate; sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Bake 25 minutes or until set. Cut into wedges. Garnish with tomato. Serves 6.

SWEET POTATO AND RAISIN BREAD

1 cup all-purpose flour
½ cup whole-wheat flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
½ teaspoon ground allspice
1 egg

½ cup packed brown sugar
½ cup milk
¼ cup vegetable oil
1 cup peeled, grated fresh sweet potato, packed
½ cup raisins.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. In medium bowl, sift together flours, baking powder, baking soda and spices. In a large bowl, beat egg and sugar until light and fluffy. Gradually add milk and oil; continue beating for 1 minutes. Stir in sweet potato and raisins. Add the dry ingredients and stir until just blended. Pour into a greased 8x4-inch loaf pan. Bake 50-60 minutes. Let stand for 10 minutes before removing and cooling on a rack. Makes one loaf.

Use versatile apples in holiday recipes

Recognized as National Apple Month, October kicks off the holiday season—Halloween, Thanksgiving, Christmas, Hanukkah and New Year's.

The season can be celebrated with the versatile apple. On a stick, in the stuffing, sliced for hors d'oeuvres, or tossed in a quiche, the apple makes a truly tasteful—and colorful—addition to the holiday table.

HALLOWEEN

Nutty Chocolate Apples
8 to 10 medium apples
8 to 10 wooden skewers
1 (12 oz.) package semi-sweet chocolate morsels
2 tsp. shortening
1 cup chopped peanuts

Wash apples and dry thoroughly. Remove stems and "blossoms"; insert sticks. Set aside. Melt chocolate chips and shortening in top of double boiler over simmering water or in a heavy 1½ quart saucepan over low heat; stir until smooth. Remove from heat.

Dip each apple into the chocolate mixture, holding by the stick. Tilt the pan if necessary to entirely coat apples. Hold apples over pan a few moments to allow excess coating to drip off. Quickly sprinkle with chopped peanuts. Place apples on wax paper-covered cookie sheet and refrigerate until firm. Makes 8 to 10 apples. Recipe can be halved.

THANKSGIVING

Apple Cranberry Stuffing
2 cups chopped tart apples
2 cups raw cranberries
½ cup sliced celery
2 tsp. minced parsley
½ cup butter or margarine
Hot water
½ cup sugar
12 cups soft bread crumbs
2 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
1 tsp. poultry seasoning

Place cranberries in food processor fitted with metal blade. Pulse on and off until cranberries are chopped. Combine with apples, celery and parsley. Melt butter; add apple mixture; cook gently 5 minutes. Add sugar; stir to dissolve. Remove from heat. Add crumbs and seasonings; mix well. Add enough hot water to moisten to desired degree. Makes enough stuffing for 10-to-12 pound turkey.

CHRISTMAS/HANUKKAH

Holiday Apple Hors D'Oeuvre
2 each red, green and yellow apples
8 ounces cream cheese, softened
¼ cup light brown sugar, packed
4 tsp. lemon juice
½ tsp. grated lemon peel
½ tsp. ground nutmeg
½ tsp. ground cinnamon
Lemon juice

Combine cream cheese, brown sugar, lemon juice and peel and spices. Beat until fluffy and spoon into serving bowl. (Mixture can be made 1 day ahead and refrigerated tightly covered. Bring to room temperature before serving.) Core and thinly slice apples; coat with lemon juice to prevent browning. Arrange apple slices attractively on platter with dip in center. Makes about 1 cup dip (about 15 hors d'oeuvre servings.)

NEW YEAR'S BRUNCH

Apple-Cheddar Egg Scramble
2 eggs
1 tsp. honey
½ cup grated unpeeled apples
2 tsp. butter
¼ cup cubed cheddar cheese

Lightly beat eggs with honey in a small bowl. Stir in the grated apples. Heat butter in a skillet and when butter foams, add the egg mixture and cheese cubes. Stir a few times until eggs are cooked about 3 minutes. Serves 1 to 2.

New Arrivals

Dewey and Susan De Loe of Hereford are the parents of a daughter, Devin Austin, born Oct. 15 in High Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo. She weighed 9 lbs. 9 oz.

Grandparents include former Hereford residents, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Grimsley of Soper, Okla.

Explaining procedures

Rex Lee, Director of Emergency Medical Services, explains the procedures followed by paramedics to Beverly Harder, county extension agent, (at right) and Lisa Formby, R.N. The paramedics will explain emergency care and cardiac strips to participants at Health Fair '88 from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Oct. 25 at the Hereford Community Center. The public is encouraged to attend the fair which is being sponsored by Deaf Smith General Hospital and the Family Living Committee of the Deaf Smith Extension Service.

Developmental screening for youth set at Health Fair

Region 16 Educational Center will be a first time participant at Health Fair '88 on Tuesday, Oct. 25, at the Community Center.

A screening tool to determine developmental delay of children from birth to 3 years of age will be available. The screening explores five developmental areas—gross and fine motor, language, self-help skills and social skills.

If further assistance is needed after the screening, information will be provided.

Any person questioning the normal development of a child should plan to have this screening performed. The screening will take approximately 15 minutes and accompanying the child should be an adult knowledgeable of the child's behavior.

Area residents will be able to benefit from this free screening and many others directed at all age groups. Further information on this screening or others to be performed at the Health Fair may be obtained by calling the county Extension office at 364-3573.

Health Fair '88 is sponsored by the Family Living Committee of the Deaf Smith County Extension Service and Deaf Smith General Hospital.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion, handicap, or national origin.

Pakistan subject of program given to La Plata Study Club

Clara Brown served as hostess when members of La Plata Study Club met in her home Tuesday evening.

Consistent with the club's international theme for the year, an informative program on Pakistan was presented by Nisar Chand, who is originally from that country. He gave the geographic history of the country as well as religious and scholastic backgrounds. Following the presentation, the speaker answered several questions posed by club members.

During the business session conducted by President Yvonne Simpson, members voted to contribute kitchen towels to the Hereford Satellite Work Training Center.

Cherry dessert and spiced tea were served by hostess, Brown and Mozelle Neill, to Peggie Fox, Mildred Fuhrmann, Lois Matchett, Dorothy Mercer, Dorothea Prowell, Rose Mary Shook, Simpson, Lola Smalts, Suzanne Stevens and Betty Taylor.

Cafeteria employees hear public health supervisor

Food Service Personnel of Hereford Independent School District met Monday evening in the Hereford High School cafeteria for a business meeting and covered dish supper.

Following the meal, President Christine Evans spoke briefly and then introduced the speaker, Bob Kennedy of Canyon, area supervisor of the Texas Department of Public Health.

Kennedy stressed the importance of serving safe food and how to keep food safe: proper purchasing, storing, preparation, serving, keeping equipment and work area clean and following proper sanitary hygiene habits. He presented the film "Food Borne Diseases." Salmonella, the most common food borne illness, is found in raw poultry, meats, eggs and other foods. The training course ended with a question and answer session.

Trudie Gray, cafeteria supervisor, expressed her appreciation to all present and dismissed the 70 employees present.

Hereford Junior High School and Hereford High School cafeteria employees served as hostesses.

The group's next meeting will be the annual Christmas party for all cafeteria employees and their guests. Serving as hostesses will be cafeteria employees for Aikman Primary and Bluebonnet Intermediate Schools.

Hints from Heloise

LETTER WRITING

Dear Heloise: I now have several young nephews and grandchildren. We write frequently and send books to the children themselves.

The geographical distance between us is great, as with so many families now. We find that attaching a small picture of ourselves at the end of the letter, or inside the book, really helps the children know who it is from, and keeps us in a closer relationship.

We have sometimes sent reprints made on a copy machine. The children's parents have also appreciated this personal touch. — Enid Morrison Bell, Winslow, Ill.

Every little bit helps! Even a copy of a picture made on the copy machine is something to look at. — Heloise

ASK DR. LAMB
DEAR DR. LAMB: I have considerable thinning of my hair about three or four years ago my doctor prescribed Inderal for me. When I noticed my hair getting thinner and thinner he said that this was a side effect for some people and he put me on other medicines. He said that by stopping the Inderal my hair should grow back. It has not. It is so thin on top of my head that if it continues, I'm afraid I'll get bald. My doctor has me on Dyazide and Isordil for blood pressure and angina. Since my hair is still getting thinner do you think there is anything in either of these that will cause it? I had two operations last year - both were total knee implants. You say surgery may be a factor, but my hair loss started before the surgery. Will Minoxidil or Loniten help restore my hair to normal?
DEAR READER: Your history suggests that your loss of hair is not because of your medications or your surgery. A few people do have hair loss from Inderal, but it is uncommon and should not persist after the medicine is stopped.
Many women lose hair as they get older, and it is the same thing that causes male pattern baldness. But their hair just gets thin, sometimes very thin, rather than a total loss that occurs early in many men. It is a hormonal problem. Each hair follicle processes sex hormones and some follicles have the ability to form a type of testosterone that causes its hair shaft to become small and rudimentary.
You should see a dermatologist. The treatment of this type of hair loss (androgenic alopecia) in women does offer more options than in men. In both, Minoxidil or Loniten has been used with some success. But in women, you can also use estrogen products and antiandrogen (anti-male hormone) preparations. Dr. Wilma Bergfeld, dermatologist at the Cleveland (Ohio) Clinic, has recommended such products as Enovid-E and Ovulen and also topical progesterones in solution. She also has recommended spironolactone (Aldactone).
Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713. Although Dr. Lamb cannot reply to all letters personally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My daughter is not quite 21, and already the mother of two children, one born blind. Her husband is a violent and sadistic animal.

His idea of "playing" is to grab Hazel's hair, snap her head back, twist her arm behind her back and bring her to his knees. He once dunked her head repeatedly in the sink and held it under water so long that she had to be rescued by a neighbor.

Several months ago this brute pushed Hazel through a metal trailer door and over a porch railing on the concrete five feet below. When she tried to crawl up the porch steps, he kicked her in the face with his heavy work boots. She had given birth just five days before.

He has forced this girl to sit for a whole day and look at him, not allowing her to look away, while he poked her face with his finger and hit the top of her head repeatedly with the flat of his hand. He has scarred her face, torn her clothing and broken most of all the furniture. I cannot begin to describe the verbal abuse that she has taken in private and public.

Hazel has refused to leave her husband for reasons unknown to me, so there is nothing I can do. I have spoken to my grandson's preschool teacher and a woman at child and youth services. Hazel has told them that things are "just fine" at home. They believe her.

I've been told I am too "involved" and that I should back off. I love my grandchildren and don't feel that I can just wait for a tragedy to happen. They need help and I need some kind of guidance.

Thank you for any advice you can give me.—Distracted Grandmother in Pennsylvania

DEAR GRANDMOTHER: You cannot rescue someone who does not wish to be saved. I'm afraid your daughter is severely disturbed and probably won't seek help until that maniac husband of hers comes within inches of killing her.

Are there no witnesses who will testify to the brutality of this animal? What about the neighbors? If they refuse to help I fear there is little you can do until (or if) he starts in on the kids. Then, if you have evidence, you can prosecute to the full extent of the law. What a tragic situation!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was surprised to see the letter asking about the meaning of the phrase, "Feed it to Sweeney." This story might be of interest to your readers.

An American soldier was a prisoner of war in European enemy territory. The POWs had permission to write to their families but were advised that strict censorship would prevail and any letter that hinted at negative comment about their treatment would not be forwarded.

One soldier wrote, in effect, that they were treated with consideration, had comfortable quarters and excellent food. He concluded, "I cannot emphasize enough how well we are treated. I want you to tell this to all our friends, but I particularly want you to tell it to Sweeney."

Obviously the censor-interpretor was untutored in American idioms. The soldier's letter was received at home.—Jan Martin, Santa Rosa, Calif.

DEAR JAN: Thanks for a fascinating letter that is sure to revive some great war stories. Any more out there?

Cattlegirls convene

The Hereford Cattlegirls held their meeting Oct. 18 at the Caison House over the lunch hour.

The 17 members present were Pam Wagner, Cathy Bunch, Robin Johnson, Brenda Johnson, Rachel Hunter, Freda Cordray, Peaches Reinauer, Eleanor Gibson, Linda Gilbert, Linda Barney, Linda Fitzgerald, Karen Keeling, Dee Anne Trotter, Joan Coupe, Lori Hall, Renee Heflin, and Charmayne Klett. A special program was presented by Beverly Harder about fat in contemporary diets. The Health Fair set for Oct. 25 will also be discussed.

The next Hereford Cattlegirls' meeting will be held Nov. 15 at the Hereford Country Club. An 11:45-1 p.m. luncheon will be served.

On Sept. 10, 1813, an American naval force under Commodore Oliver H. Perry defeated the British in the Battle of Lake Erie during the War of 1812. Reporting on the victory, Perry messaged: "We have met the enemy and they are ours."

Betty Crocker's Tips

Q The results from my cookie recipe vary from crisp one time to chewy the next time. What's causing this? M.W. Boyden, IA

A It's difficult to make a blanket statement. Cookie texture depends on the proportions of sugar, eggs and flour. Soft, chewy cookies tend to have more eggs and sugar while crisp cookies have more sugar and shortening. Note your consistency in measuring and watch baking time carefully. Longer baking times will make cookies more crisp.

Q How long does canned apple pie filling keep? A.J. Alma, WI

A Canned pie filling can be stored, unopened, for a year.

Q Why do my cream puffs fall after baking? D.R., Lake City, MN

A Underbaking. Larger cream puffs may require as much as 10 minutes more baking time. Watch them closely and remove from oven only when they are firm to the touch and golden brown.

Do you have a question? Write Dear Betty Crocker, Box 1113, Dept. Betty, Minneapolis, MN 55440.

TIP OF THE WEEK: Store potatoes in well-ventilated, dark, dry place at 45 to 50 degrees F for up to two months.

PREVENTING ROBBERIES

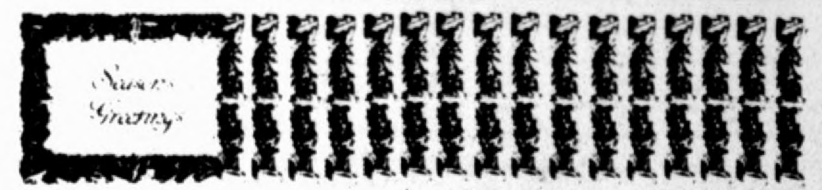

NEW YORK (AP)—Thousands of homes are broken into every summer and many of the robberies could have been prevented.

Crime consultant Ray Johnson gives some beat-the-thief tips in Family Circle magazine:

— Make your house look lived-in: Stop all deliveries. Ask a neighbor to pick up the mail, and use timers to turn your lights on and off.

— Don't give a burglar privacy: Light property with flood lights, trim hedges so windows can be seen from the street and install a loud alarm system.
