Violent hailstorm hits Hereford area

Crop damage undetermined

A hard, dense hailstorm with frequent lightning blasts whipped through Hereford and parts of western Deaf Smith County Tuesday night leaving a trail of shredded trees, damaged crops, and broken windows.

Marble to ping-pong ball sized hailstones grated leaves and popped off small limbs in town, coating the ground with white and green. Toward Westway, roads were so covered with the hailstones ground by traffic that it looked like a snowstorm had hit.

Parts of Easter had light flooding, however, residents just west of Dawn reported no precipitation.

Utilities out

Southwestern Public Service had a number of brief power outages as a result of the large hail, according to SPS manager Troy Waddell.

"We had isolated outages in various parts of town, probably affecting 50 to 60 customers," said Waddell.

He said a number of skylights and windows were broken in his neighborhood in northwest Hereford. Also, a number of people were reporting dents in cars that were outside.

20-mile strip

Waddell said he visited with John Fuston, ASCS manager, this morning, and the worst crop damage seemed to be in an area starting near Bootleg and stretching to south and east of Hereford. The hardest hit area was about five or six miles wide and 15 to 20 miles in length.

After a decent winter and good subsoil moisture and the crops all looking so good, it's a shame this had to happen," said Waddell.

Bootleg reported a half-inch of rain and small bits of hail. Southwest of Bootleg saw barely a sprinkle. But south of there may be some of the worst damage of the storm.

Damage unknown

David Webster of the Soil Conservation Service in Hereford said it will take a few days to determine the full extent of the damage, since many turnrows are impassable.

Webster guessed at 25 to 30 percent of the crops may be lost in some areas.

Fuston said some damage may be severe, but had not checked any fields at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Westway hit hard

Don Douglas at Westway said his rain gauge showed .8 of an inch of rain and the ground was covered with hailstones. Two windows in his home were knocked out on the north side, as were windows in many homes in that area.

Hailing in house

Mrs. Miles Caudle, who lives about four miles southwest of Hereford, reported all the windows on the north side of her farmhouse broken, plus two more on the east side. Her kitchen and living room were showered with hail and glass as intense wind blew through the house.

Sugar beets

Charles Schlabs said he thinks his sugar beets are pretty much gone. He also had some windows broken out of his barn, but no damage to his home.

Cal Jones, agriculture manager at Holly Sugar, said that 2,500 to 3,000 acres in the trade area has suffered damages. That acreage represents about five percent of the total crop in this area.

He said some of the bigger beet plants may be defoliated but will come back. Some of the smaller plants may have suffered more. He reported that Easter and northwest Hereford is where most of the damage is.

"We had a good start, we still do," he said, adding that the moisture will do the crops good.

Wheat damage

Since many farmers were unable to drive to wheat fields along the strip, an evaluation was not available on the damage to that crop. Webster said the dryland wheat could use a little thinning out and noted that the moisture would be good.

Vegetables

Mayor Wes Fisher, associated with Barrett Fisher Co., reported that some potatoes south of Hereford were damaged by the hail. "Fortunately, we have our crops scattered out," said Fisher. He had heard that crops in the Easter and Dimmitt areas were heavily damaged.

Automobile dealers

Local car dealers reported chrome and metal damage to cars parked on their lots.

Earl Stagner said 32 or 33 new and used cars were parked outside at Stagner Orsborn, most of them damaged. "After the insurance adjuster comes, we'll probably have a hail sale," he said.

Steve Stevens said he noticed only chrome damage this morning, but it was difficult to tell because the cars were still wet. He said he did not find any broken windows.

City golf course

Damage to the Municipal Golf Course was extensive, according to Golf Pro Mike Horton. He said the largest holes were made in the front nine greens, with some damage to the back nine.

The first nine holes will be closed for a week or so for repairs, Horton said. After repairs, the course will be rough for a month or so, he added.

Sheriff's office flooded

Mopping up water was all part of the job this morning for Deaf Smith County Sheriff's deputies.

The jailer's office was flooded, and a bathroom ceiling caved in after rain and hail invaded parts of the jail under construction.

Outgoing telephone service was also out for a while, a sheriff's department spokesman said.

Prisoners at the jail were not disturbed by the flooding.

Insurance agencies

Telephones were ringing off the walls at local insurance agencies (See HAIL STORM, Page 2)

Storm Damages

Hail slammed through an east window of the Miles Caudle home about four miles southwest of Hereford sprinkling glass and hailstones into the house. All of the Caudles' north windows were broken and several on the east side. At right, the hollyhocks which were destroyed will hardly be as disheartening as what crop damage might be done to the Caudle farm.

Reagan says Soviets plan to strike first

STRASBOURG, France (AP) — President Reagan marked the 40th anniversary of the end of World War II in Europe today by asserting that the Soviet Union is undermining the world's nuclear stability by developing a mobile, land-based missile "clearly designed to strike first."

In remarks prepared for delivery to the European Parliament in commemoration of V-E Day, Reagan hailed "the liberation of Europe from tyrants who had seized this continent and plunged it into a terrible war."

While warning of a dangerous new turn in a Soviet nuclear buildup, the president also sent Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev an anniversary message asking him to join in working to "overcome the differences between us" and make progress toward world peace and "eliminating nuclear weapons from the face of the earth."

Robert McFarlane, the White House national security affairs adviser, did not say whether the Soviets had sent any response to Reagan's message, which was sent Tuesday. The text of the message was released by the U.S. Embassy in Moscow.

McFarlane briefed reporters early today, before Reagan ended a two-day visit to Madrid. The president and Spanish Prime Minister Felipe Gonzalez were reported to have made little headway in resolving disputes over U.S. policy in Nicaragua and the future of U.S.-leased military bases in Spain.

After about four hours in France, Reagan was flying to Lisbon, Portugal, for the wrapup of a 10-day European tour that began in West Germany on May 1 for a seven-nation economic summit meeting. Reagan is to return to Washington on Friday.

In his Strasbourg speech, broadcast live in Europe and the United States, Reagan offered a mixture of reminiscences about World War II, praise for democracy and freedom, harsh criticism of the Soviet Union's military intentions and proposals for getting along with the Soviets.

Nowhere in his prepared remarks did the president mention that the United States and the Soviet Union were wartime allies.

As for the present, Reagan said the Soviets do not "share our view of what constitutes a stable nuclear balance."

"It has chosen instead to build nuclear forces clearly designed to strike first and thus to disarm their adversary," the president said.

The president, meanwhile, repackaged a variety of previous proposals for lessening tensions between the superpowers. McFarlane said the purpose was to "signal to the Soviet Union...that we can turn a new page here, and enter a period of reduced tension and enter a more favorable climate."

Reagan told the parliament, a purely consultative body of elected

No-pass, no-play hearings set

By The Associated Press

Two Texas judges have handed down more temporary setbacks to the state's controversial no-pass, no-play rule and scheduled hearings to consider making them permanent.

State District Judge Eugene Chambers extended a temporary restraining order against the rule in three Harris County school districts and set a hearing on the matter for May 15.

He extended the ban for the Spring Branch, Alief and Cypress-Fairbanks independent school districts after a Monday hearing.

TUESDAY'S HIGH: (normal: 77 record: 97 in 1962)

OVERNIGHT LOW: 52 (normal: 49 record: 33 in 1976)

PRECIPITATION: .49 at the KPAN studios. Tuesday night's hailstorm lasted 20 minutes, according to KPAN.

OUTLOOK: Partly cloudy and mild this evening, low upper 50s. Partly cloudy and warmer Thursday, high upper 80s.

Meanwhile in Odessa, officials said Tuesday that a 16-year-old Permian High School student will suit up for spring football drills after a court slapped a temporary restraining order on school administrators.

The rule, which bars students from extracurricular activities if they flunk one or more classes, is part of the package of education reforms approved by the Legislature last summer.

Anthony Sheppard, attorney for the Spring Branch and Alief school districts, has attacked the rule on constitutional grounds. He says it denies students protections guaranteed in the U.S. Constitution of due process and equal protection.

One provision which Sheppard questions allows high school prin-

Juvenile arrested

A juvenile was arrested Tuesday for the alleged theft of a satellite dish, Hereford Police reported this morning. The dish had been dismantled and hauled away from the rooftop of the Hereford Grain office.

Police also investigated reports of harrasing telephone calls, the burglary of a habitation which resulted in the theft of $16 in change, and a minor theft from a local restaurant.

Officers helped resolve a domestic quarrel over food stamps, and took a statement from a man accused of burglary of a motor vehicle.

Stone Road

Hailstones covered most of the ground near Westway, making the road look snowcovered. Westway and Easter were the hardest-hit areas of a hailstorm which blasted the county Tuesday night.

Coke to make shuttle trip

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — A special can reportedly developed at a cost of more than a quarter-million dollars may permit Coca-Cola to be carried into orbit aboard the space shuttle next July.

According to a Coca-Cola Co. announcement on Tuesday, the company has developed a special steel can that will allow astronauts for the first time to drink carbonated drinks while in the weightlessness of orbit.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration confirmed that discussions with Coca-Cola have been under way and that a test flight is under study, but Johnson Space Center spokesman Jack Riley said no agreement has been reached.

A statement from NASA said the earliest flight under consideration for the soft drink is the Spacelab 2 mission on space shuttle Challenger. The mission is a seven-day flight with a crew of seven, with launch scheduled for July 15.

Vigilantes beat two Cubans

GRANBURY, Texas (AP) — Two men, treated at a Granbury hospital after five self-proclaimed vigilantes beat them and dropped them off on a country road in front of a sheriff's home, have been taken into custody, police said.

The pair were jailed pending the filing of formal charges today, said Granbury Police Chief D.F. Steele. Police had investigated an anonymous caller's allegation of a sexual assault on a 12-year-old girl, a police dispatcher said.

"Based on our investigation, the two subjects are currently in custody pending the filing of charges of sexual assault on a minor," said Steele.

He said that police were also seeking information in the men's beating.

"We have identification on a couple of the men involved in the beating," said Steele. "But any successful arrest and prosecution depends on the cooperation of the two men (victims)." ...

"They didn't display a heckuva lot of interest in a police investigation of the assault," he said. "They said they'd handle it themselves."

Five assailants allegedly burst into the men's mobile home about 11:30 p.m. Sunday near the Lake Granbury marina, where the two resident aliens from Cuba worked, police reports said.

The pair told officers that the men dragged them, bound hand and foot, to a nearby boat ramp and beat them repeatedly with fists and a pistol butt.

Mayor must help gays

NEW YORK (AP) — The mayor has the authority and obligation to bar discrimination against homosexuals in hiring by companies that do business with the city, a state appeals court ruled Tuesday.

The 3-1 decision by the Appellate Division of State Supreme Court overturned a ruling last October by Justice Alvin Klein.

In a case brought by several religious charities, Klein had ruled that Mayor Edward Koch had usurped the legislative function of City Council with an executive order requiring agencies and firms having city contracts to sign an agreement that they would not discriminate against homosexuals in hiring.

The charities, which included the Salvation Army, Agudath Israel of America, and several Catholic organizations, refused to sign the agreement and sued the city.

The religious groups operate dozens of social service agencies, ranging from adoption services to senior citizen centers, under contract with the city.

The groups argued that while they did not discriminate against homosexuals, signing the contracts would constitute an approval of homosexuality, and their religious teaching is that homosexuality is morally wrong. They said they would relinquish their more than $80 million worth of city contracts rather than sign a document contrary to their principles.

Murder suspect under strict bond

BELLINGHAM, Wash. (AP) — Under terms of $1 million bail, a man accused of slaying eight people on an Alaska fishing boat must be in the presence of a family member or one of his lawyers 24 hours a day, his mother said.

John Kenneth Peel, 24, returned home Monday to await trial on charges of murdering the family and crew of the boat's owner in Craig, Alaska, in 1982. The property bond was posted by family and friends.

His mother, Marilyn, said bail conditions prohibit her son from leaving Whatcom County, 80 miles north of Seattle. Trial is scheduled for January.

Mohammad Aziz up for parole

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A parole date of June 24 was set for one of the three men convicted of the 1965 assassination of black activist Malcolm X, an official of the state Parole Board said.

A three-member hearing panel took the action Monday in the case of Muhammad Abdul Aziz, who has served a few months more than his minimum 20-year sentence, Edward Elwin, executive director of the board, said Tuesday.

Aziz, 46, has maintained that he was not involved in the gunning down of Malcolm X in February 1965 during a meeting with his supporters in Harlem. His two codefendants are serving 20-year-to-life sentences.

Religious groups suing Reagan

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Religious groups are suing the Reagan administration to prevent deportation of refugees like "Juan Peres," a Salvadoran doctor who fled his country after being arrested and tortured for giving medical aid to peasants.

Perez, who uses a fictitious name, was with a coalition of religious groups Tuesday that sued to block federal prosecution of church sanctuary workers and bar deportations of refugees to El Salvador and Guatemala.

"They deport us back to the same death squads and the same army that we fled from in the first place, and many people who have been deported end up dead," Perez said in Spanish through an interpreter.

The suit, filed by the Center for Constitutional Rights and the National Lawyers Guild on behalf of 80 religious organizations, requests a court order granting "temporary refuge" to "persons fleeing war, persecution and widespread human rights violations in Guatemala and El Salvador."

Unocal, Pickens in court fight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A final Delaware chancery court ruling on whether Unocal Corp. may exclude Texas oilman T. Boone Pickens Jr. from a lucrative stock buyback offer is likely to be crucial in Pickens' attempt to control Unocal and may affect future takeover bids.

The Delaware judge, Vice Chancellor Carolyn Berger, was to hear a second round of arguments today. But officials of Unocal and a Pickens-led investor group said a ruling isn't expected until late this week or possibly as late as Monday — the day of Unocal's postponed annual meeting.

At issue is Unocal's attempt to keep the Pickens group, Mesa Partners II, from cashing in on the company's offer to repurchase 50 million of its 173.9 million shares for $72 each, or a total of $3.6 billion.

Aftermath

Swirling streams of water ran down a white-blanketed Main Street shortly after Tuesday evening's hailstorm that caused damage to automobiles, roofs, windows and crops.

Europeans remember V-E Day

Forty years after it ended, Europeans recalled the agony of World War II today — with pomp honoring President Reagan in France, tributes to veterans in the Soviet Union, modest ceremonies in Britain and mixed feelings among the Germans.

Late on May 8, 1945, Nazi Germany surrendered, ending the war that began with the invasion of Poland on Sept. 1, 1939.

Parades, religious services and other memorials were planned throughout Europe.

Strasbourg, France, a city on the border with West Germany that has been in the middle of several wars between the two countries, greeted the anniversary in a festive mood, preparing for Reagan's arrival.

Store windows were decked with American and French flags and a U.S. flag flew from the main flagpole at city hall.

Forty years after the war, heavy two-way traffic flows across the Rhine River bridge linking Strasbourg with West Germany. Shoppers and workers cross the border daily, and the ancient city is popular with German tourists.

Reagan was to deliver a speech to the European Parliament, the legislative branch of the Common Market. His national security adviser, Robert McFarlane, said Tuesday night the topic of the speech would be a somber — a new missile developed by the Soviet Union, a World War II ally, which could alter the East-West military balance.

In Germany, a pollster said a "silent majority" of the West Germans see nothing worth commemorating in public.

In a survey by the Allensbach Institute for Polling, 58 percent of the 2,000 people polled nationwide voiced surprise at the lengthy debate at home and abroad over how to commemorate the anniversary. The debate started months ago, as politicians argued whether it was primarily a day of liberation or a day of defeat for the Germans.

Today's ceremonies in Bonn include a speech by West German President Richard von Weizsaecker in Parliament and an ecumenical service in Cologne Cathedral. French commemoration of the anniversary started Tuesday when Premier Laurent Fabius visited the schoolroom in Reims in eastern France where the Germans first signed their unconditional surrender May 7, 1945. They signed again in Berlin late the next day.

In a message to the Soviet Union, President Francois Mitterrand of France hailed "the brotherhood of arms" which united the two nations in wartime.

In Moscow, delegations from the Soviet-led Warsaw Pact allies and other Communist nations arrived Tuesday for victory day celebrations scheduled for Thursday, the anniversary of the date news of Germany's surrender first reached the Soviet Union.

Celebrations of the victory that cost the Soviet Union 20 million lives will include a Red Square parade of wartime veterans, battle standards and vintage armor and artillery.

Army Gen. Pyotr Lushev, commander of the Moscow military garrison who will lead the marching columns, said on television Tuesday night they will include wartime Red Army heroes and other veterans, many of whom marched in the first victory parade of 1945.

Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher of Britain released the text of a letter from Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev on Tuesday in which Gorbachev said the Soviets want to cooperate with Britain to prevent another world war.

Queen Elizabeth II, her husband Prince Philip, other members of the royal family, were attending a service at London's Westminster Abbey.

The British domestic news agency Press Association said that at the request of Mrs. Thatcher, the service would not be a formal state occasion with all customary trappings of pomp and circumstance.

The news agency said Mrs. Thatcher was "concerned that the spirit of reconciliation with Germany must be uppermost in people's minds."

In Norway, which the Nazis occupied, 82-year-old King Olav attended a ceremony Tuesday at Lillehammer, where the Germans capitulated.

principals to waive the rule for students in accelerated or honors classes.

"It is unconstitutional to endow an official with the unbridled power to make a decision like that. For whatever reason, a principal can waive the rule. He becomes judge, jury and executive," Sheppard said.

In Odessa, Ricky Cronk, along with five other underclassmen, was declared ineligible for spring practice at the school known for its football prowess because he failed a class during the last six-week grading period, Permian Principal Charles Broughton said Tuesday.

But Cronk, who Broughton said failed introductory algebra, will participate in practices this week after State District Judge Joe Connally Monday issued a temporary restraining order against Ector County Independent School District.

Another hearing is scheduled Friday.

Connally's order was the second issued in less than a week regarding a Permian sophomore football player who has failed a class, and is one of several court actions taken by parents and others across Texas who oppose the

On Thursday, Connally issued a temporary restraining order allowing 16-year-old Terry Bryant to participate in the Permian High School spring drills.

Meanwhile, the state school board chairman said in a speech Monday in Odessa that Texas should help local school districts saddled with lawsuits over the state-mandated reforms.

Bill Holm, Ector County Independent School District superintendent, said such litigation is a financial burden.

"We're going to have to spend who knows how much money defending the school district," Holms said, asking State School Board Chairman Jon Brumley if the state should not be responsible for defending a state-enacted rule.

"I think (we) should," Brumley said.

Brumley said when he returns to Austin, he will talk to other state education officials about whether state Attorney General Jim Mattox should defend cases such as those in Odessa.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Hereford Representatives,

I just wanted to send a short note expressing my appreciation for the way the people of your city extend their hospitality to the teen-agers and sponsors of the Church of the Nazarene from all over West Texas when they descend upon your city in March for their annual Youth-A-Rama at Hereford 1st Church.

The event this past March was outstanding, and Ted Taylor told us of the many people involved in putting it together. My personal experience includes fine motor service, restaurant service, service stations, the use of the junior and senior high schools for sporting events, catering for the "Hawaiian Luau," additional seating from other churches, etc., etc.

Thank you very much for your fine city. I'm confident that God will bless you for your efforts.

Sincerely,

Mark Carter

Auction set for weekend

The Texas State Treasury, for the first time in history, will auction off more than 11,000 items from a collection of more than 4,000 unclaimed safe deposit boxes May 11 and 12.

It is believed to be the largest such auction ever held in the United States. Proceeds of the auction will go to the Texas Foundation School Fund, which helps pay for public education in the state.

"This is a true double-value sale for Texans," said State Treasurer Ann Richards. "Texas taxpayers will get the value of the merchandise they buy and their children will get the value of more money for education."

The safe deposit boxes came to the state under the Unclaimed Property Law. That law requires that safe deposit boxes be turned over to the State Treasury if the owners of the boxes have failed to pay rent on the boxes and have not contacted the bank holding the boxes for seven years.

The safe deposit boxes came pouring into the State Treasury two years ago after the Legislature clarified the Unclaimed Property Law to include unclaimed safe deposit boxes.

HAILSTORM

this morning. Jeryl Baker of Lone Star Agency said he had received 19 calls by 8:30 a.m., "and we're not even open for business yet."

Baker said most reports were of roof and automobile damage, with one Greenwood Street resident reporting he "could see daylight."

Baker said the company has one local adjuster, and he had placed a call to Wichita Falls for additional adjusters.

M.D. Gentry of State Farm Insurance said he planned to set up "assembly line" automobile adjusting, with customers bringing their vehicles to the office to be inspected. He said that would be a lot quicker than having the adjusters driving around to each residence.

Gentry said he expected the company's adjusters from Amarillo to be joined by adjusters from Dallas and other cities to handle all the claims. He said his calls so far have been mostly for automobile and roof damage claims.

In some cases damage may be severe enough to warrant "totaling" the automobile, Gentry guessed.

Hail ranging from the size of peas to the size of baseballs peppered down as the thunderstorms roared across sections of the Concho Valley, High Plains and western sections of North Texas.

Baseball size hail was reported in Hale County, northwest of Lubbock. Ping pong ball size hail was reported in a severe thunderstorm that moved across Lubbock just after midnight.

Hail and high winds caused some damage, but no injuries at Lubbock, the National Weather Service said. Some glass was broken in an apartment complex at Lubbock and there was other damage.

Column run again

DEAR READERS: Recently a woman wrote to me about urinary incontinence. I suggested that she ask her pharmacist about various products that would protect her from embarrassment and I told her to contact a support group.

I have been bombarded with letters from women who asked why I didn't recommend the Kegel exercises. "Can it be," wrote Mrs. J.B. from Boston, "that you don't know about them?"

Of course I know about them, but I've printed them so many times I was sure that everyone else knew about them, too. That was a mistake. So now I shamelessly wipe the mold off an ancient column and run it again. Here it is:

designed to strengthen the pubococcygeus muscle. (This is the muscle that rims the vagina.) To firm up the p.c. muscle, do this: When you urinate, try to stop — in midstream, so to speak. Then start again. Then stop. Then start again. Then stop. The muscle that controls the starting and stopping (the p.c.) will be strengthened by this exercise. Do the squeezing in and relaxing out procedure 18 times (squeeze hard), three times a day. As I said, it will not only help with incontinence, but it may enhance your sex life.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'd like to comment on your reply to the Alton, Ill., reader. You said, "If you want to catch a trout, don't fish in a herring barrel."

I believe it is a mistake to assume that the possibilities of meeting a suitable mate in a bar are zero. Remember, too, Ann, that many a herring can be found in offices, churches, adult-education classes and on cruises.

I took a part-time weekend job tending bar in a cocktail lounge because I was the sole supporter of three children. My ex-husband refused to come up with a cent, which made him the herring—and we did NOT meet in a bar—but that's another letter.

My very first night on the job I met the greatest man in the world. He came in with a business associate and I knew at once he was special. The following night he showed up alone and we became acquainted. Eighteen months later we were married. That was 10 years ago. He helped me raise my children and has been as fine a husband as any woman could hope for. He sends me roses "because I love you" and my children adore him. So eat your words, Ann.—MRS. TROUT IN OKLA.

DEAR MRS. TROUT: Gulp. Gulp. Gulp. Thanks for a lovely "fish" story.

If you have more than one greyhound or more than one fox, you have a leash.

Saint Vincent and the Grenadines might sound like a rock group, but it's really a nation of 134,000 people on a group of islands in the Caribbean. Columbus landed in St. Vincent in 1498, and Britain and France both claimed the islands in the 17th and 18th centuries. The 1783 Treaty of Versailles ceded them to Britain.

High Blood Pressure Month being observed by AHA

Although health awareness should be a year-round concern, the American Heart Association in Texas is urging residents to consider a special health matter in May—high blood pressure.

High blood pressure—or hypertension, as it is sometimes called—is a major cause of heart attack and stroke. It significantly reduces life expectancy, and the higher the blood pressure, the greater the reduction in length of life.

In terms of dollars, high blood pressure costs over $8 billion a year, half in medical care spending and half in lost work output due to disability. It is no wonder that companies throughout Texas are joining in the battle to control high blood pressure among their employees.

High blood pressure occurs when the smallest arteries of the body become narrowed and the heart must pump harder to force the blood through. Blood pressure levels change from minute to minute with exercise, tension, smoking and sleeping. This is why several readings are needed to determine high blood pressure.

Indeed, there is good news on the treatment front. During the past five years, research has shown that many cases of mild high blood pressure can be treated without drugs through changes in lifestyle—by weight reduction coupled with a regular exercise routine, less sodium (salt) in the diet, and less alcohol, for example. And if medication is required for more severe cases, these same "non-drug" treatments often make total control more effective.

Drug therapy to treat high blood pressure has become more sophisticated as new drugs and new methods of using existing drugs have evolved. Staying with a long-term program of control involving drugs can be difficult because of the expense and occasional side effects of the drugs and the lack of symptoms. The person simply doesn't feel sick.

The complexity of this treatment makes communication between doctor and patient a critical factor in control of the high blood pressure condition.

"If we can get across just one message this year," Atkins concluded, "it should be this: If you're under treatment for high blood pressure, stick with it. People with high blood pressure can live as long and healthily as a normal person. High blood pressure can't be cured, but it can be controlled."

For more information on high blood pressure, contact your local office of the American Heart Association, listed in the White Pages of your telephone directory.

Pro baseball is filled with history lessons

LUBBOCK—Baseball is a game, but it teaches valuable history lessons, as reported by two Texas Tech University professors.

James W. Harper and Joseph E. King teach a baseball history course, "A Mirror on America," each spring when the major league baseball season begins.

"Baseball is so intertwined with the nation's social, cultural and even political fabric during the past century that developments in the sport certainly parallel and sometimes even foreshadow major events in the nation's history," King said.

King and Harper note that in the late 19th and early 20th centuries, professional baseball was organizing along its current lines at the same time big business was strengthening its national clout through trusts, corporate agreements to reduce competition.

"Professional baseball is a classic trust, though it was exempted by the Supreme Court from anti-trust laws in 1922," King explains.

Harper notes that until the 1950s, major league baseball teams were concentrated in the northeast, like the nation's population was.

The major leagues then expanded to the West Coast when the Dodgers moved from Brooklyn to Los Angeles. Other teams moved to the south in the next decade.

"The migration of the franchises mirrors the shift in demographics toward the Sunbelt," Harper said.

King declares that baseball's gradual move toward desegregation is probably the best example of the sport as a mirror of society.

"The Black Sox scandal of 1919 was a harbinger of the political scandals of the next decade. Baseball's survival during the Great Depression and World War II reflects to a great degree how the nation managed its problems during that time," King said.

Baseball is a useful vehicle for teaching history, Harper said, because it is a timeless game, originating before the nation's industrial revolution but surviving, and even thriving, under the changes wrought by industrialization.

"The ball park, with its green, almost garden-like field, was a refuge from the squalor of the industrial city," King said.

Harper notes that although baseball is a team sport, it thrives on individuality.

"You can identify the players. They are not covered up with equipment," Harper said.

King adds, "Baseball players have to perform as individuals on a team. They can't hide. There's no way a lousy shortstop, for instance, can cover his flaws. He's still got to bat and field alone."

He notes that Jim Thorpe, one of the greatest athletes ever produced in the U.S., failed in baseball because he could not hit the curve ball.

Baseball is the only sport without a time limit in a fast-paced society, Harper said, adding, "It's one of the few activities in society that does not force you to hurry up."

About the development of the game, King said, "Maybe it's just coincidental, but the bases are run counterclockwise even though bases were run clockwise in some of the game's early variations."

Promotions in baseball date back into the 1900s. One promoter, Christopher Von Der Ahe of St. Louis, put Siouz Chief Sitting Bull on the mound to attract a crowd, Harper said.

"What could be more American than baseball and Indians? Baseball touches so much in this nation that its study, much more than just sports trivia, can show us much about ourselves," Harper summarizes.

Felony charges grow out of 'fish story'

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — An apparent winner of a bass tournament was disqualified over the weekend, becoming the first person ever known to be arrested in Louisiana on felony charges growing out of a fish story, state officials say.

At a tournament near Ferriday, Ala. W. Anding of Baton Rouge was arrested and charged with theft by fraud. Authorities said his 15.1-pound string of bass included fish that were caught earlier.

An official of the Louisiana Bass Casters Association got a report that five bass were staked out on the lake prior to the tournament.

He checked and found four fish in a wire basket tied off to a cypress tree, and another one on a stringer attached to it, said Emmett Bonner, an agent with the Louisiana department of Wildlife and Fisheries.

The night before the tournament, officials went out on Lake St. John and marked the bass by cutting the tip off the second spine on the dorsal fin of each fish, then returned them to the water, Bonner said.

Bonner said he and another LDWF official contacted Concordia District Attorney John Johnson.

"He advised us to proceed, and said that if an arrest was made, to charge the individual with theft by fraud," the agent said.

At the weigh-in, Anding submitted six fish with a total weight of 15.10 pounds, including a marked 4.31-pounder that was the third

The first national bowling championship was held in 1901. The American Bowling Congress held its first national championships that year for five-man teams.

Denver ousts Utah

Lakers eliminate Portland in playoffs

By KEN PETERS

AP Sports Writer
INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers and Earvin "Magic" Johnson have made believers of the Portland Trail Blazers.

"I still think they are the best," Portland Coach Jack Ramsay said Tuesday night after the Lakers defeated the Trail Blazers 139-120 to win their National Basketball Association series four games to one.

"This is a stronger Laker team than the one that won the league championship in '82," Ramsay added.

"I can't imagine anybody being better than Magic," said the Trail Blazers' Darnell Valentine. "He's the best, the consummate player."

Johnson, taking charge of the game, scored 34 points and had 19 assists and nine rebounds as the Lakers advanced to the Western Conference finals against Denver.

The Nuggets also won their series against the Utah Jazz in five games, capped by Tuesday night's 116-104 victory in Denver.

While no starting date for the best-of-seven Denver-Los Angeles series has been announced, it is expected to begin Saturday afternoon at the Lakers' Forum.

In an Eastern Conference matchup tonight, the Detroit Pistons are at Boston in a best-of-five semifinal that's tied 2-2.

The Lakers' triumph over Portland came on the heels of Los Angeles' first loss in seven playoff games, a 115-107 setback Sunday in Portland.

In that contest, the Trail Blazers' trapping defense had forced 28 Laker turnovers, with Johnson scoring 31 points but also giving up the ball frequently.

"I'd been sort of staying out of it, getting the other players involved," Johnson said of the Lakers' offense. "But I talked with Coach Riley and he told me to get more involved.

"I got involved; I got the points, but I also got the assists. I still kept everybody else involved," said Johnson, who suffered a mildly bruised thigh muscle in the third period but continued to play.

"We really wanted to end the series," he said.

Nuggets 116, Jazz 104

All-Star forwards Alex English and Calvin Natt led the way as Denver bombed Utah 43-23 in the first quarter and coasted to victory in the fifth and final game of their series.

Natt scored 11 of his 21 points in the first five minutes of the game to boost the Nuggets into an 18-8 lead. English hit for 12 of his 30 points in the opening period.

Late in the second period, English's fast-break basket made it 69-39. Utah, which got 22 points from guard Rickey Green, whittled the lead to eight points with 2½ minutes left in the game, but never seriously threatened.

Keith Kitchens named athletic director at Shallowater High

Keith Kitchens, one of the best all-around athletes ever to represent Hereford High, has been named athletic director and head football coach at Shallowater High School. He had been head basketball coach there for seven seasons.

Kitchens replaces Monte Sides, who left the Shallowater staff for a job at Boswell High School near Fort Worth. Sides will go to work for Mike Wartes, another Hereford product and the new athletic director and head football coach at Boswell.

A 30-year-old graduate of Texas Tech, where he was a standout basketball player, Kitchens compiled a 147-54 record with his cage teams at Shallowater. He is now in the unique position of looking for someone to replace himself.

Kitchens, a 1973 graduate of HHS, was a standout performer in four sports, making all-district in each at least one time during his high school career. He was named to several super teams in the area, and was chosen to play in the Texas High School Coaches All-Star basketball game his senior year.

He led the 1971 football team to the quarterfinals as the Herd quarterback. As a junior, he went to the regionals in the intermediate hurdles. As a senior, he injured a foot and switched from track to golf and wound up as one of the top golfers in the district.

When he graduated from high school, Kitchens had scholarship offers to play football, basketball or golf at a number of universities. He chose to play basketball at Texas Tech and became what Coach Gerald Myers calls one of the best passing guards ever to play for the Raiders.

He is married to the former Joni Charest of Hereford. They have two children. Keith's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Cuby Kitchens, and Joni's parents are Melvin Charest and Jo Charest, all of Hereford.

After Yankees lose to Twins, 8-6

Martin gripes about Minnesota ballpark

By BEN WALKER AP Sports Writer
As far as Manager Billy Martin and the New York Yankees are concerned, the Minnesota Twins can take their Metrodome and go home. "It's a little league ballpark," Martin said. "What a joke." What frustrated Martin most was not that his Yankees lost to the Minnesota Twins 8-6 Tuesday night. What peeved him was how his team lost.

"We went out there last night and hit balls up to the ceiling, but that didn't work," Martin said. The Yankees lost several flyballs in the Metrodome's white ceiling and lights and misjudged a few others in falling to the Twins.

"It's like a magic trick," said Yankees shortstop Bobby Meacham, who lost track of a couple of balls that fell for hits. "I said I wasn't going to take my eye off it. I didn't and it still disappeared on me."

In other American League games, Boston beat California 6-4, Toronto routed Oakland 10-1, Chicago halted Cleveland 7-4, Milwaukee dined Seattle 5-2, Baltimore tripped Kansas City 4-2 and Detroit shelled Texas 10-1.

Minnesota Manager Billy Gardner said he understood other teams' complaints about the Metrodome, but "was not too sorry."

"We have to live with it everyday," he said.

Tigers 10, Rangers 1
The World Series champion Detroit Tigers looked ferocious in clawing host Texas.

The Tigers flexed some of their world championship muscles in a 10-1 romp over the Rangers Tuesday night, showing the mix of strong pitching and powerful hitting that gave them their World Series victory in 1984.

Four Detroit players hit home runs Tuesday night and six Tigers had at least two hits apiece in leading the Tigers to their largest margin of victory of the season. Jack Morris, 4-3, went seven innings for the Tigers and stuck out six to pick up the win.

Manager Sparky Anderson said it was nice to see the Tigers hitting the ball again.

"We haven't been going so good for the last couple of weeks, so we were due for a lot of hits," said Anderson, after his team bombed five Ranger pitchers. "We haven't had anybody on base to get aggressive with anybody. Tonight we were just hitting."

"When we are hitting we are hard to beat. We have to hit. Our pitching is good." Kirk Gibson broke out of a 2-for-31 slump in his last eight games with four hits, driving in three runs and scoring three times. Larry Herndon and Nelson Simmons homered on consecutive pitches in the fourth inning, while Lance Parrish and Lou Whitaker also hit home runs.

The Tigers took a 1-0 lead in the third when Gibson walked, stole second and scored on a single by Parrish.

Herndon and Simmons made the score 3-0 with their solo homers in the fourth.

In the fifth inning, Gibson singled and advanced to second on a throwing error by pitcher Dave Schmidt then scored on Herndon's single to center to make the score 4-0.

Detroit increased the lead to 8-0 in the sixth when Gibson hit a two-run double off Dave Stewart and Parrish followed with a two-run homer, his third.

Whitaker led off the eighth with his third homer, and Alan Trammell then doubled and Gibson followed with a run-scoring single.

The Rangers scored their only run in the sixth when Buddy Bell, who made his eighth error of the season in the second inning, hit his second homer of the year.

Red Sox 6, Angels 4
Tony Armas cracked his seventh home run of the season and also singled to drive in three runs as Boston won in Fenway Park.

Jim Rice stroked three straight singles and Mike Easler knocked in two runs with a single and a sacrifice fly.

Blue Jays 10, A's 1

Ernie Whitt drilled a two-run homer and George Bell fueled Toronto's six-run sixth inning with a two-run single.

Dave Stieb, 2-3, went seven innings for the victory. Loser Don Sutton, 2-3, was knocked out in the sixth.

White Sox 7, Indians 4

Ron Kittle snapped out of his slump with a home run while Chicago starter Floyd Bannister and relievers Tom Seaver and Bob James combined to strike out 14 Cleveland batters.

Kittle had struck out six straight times before launching his first home run of the season, a solo shot in the second inning. Greg Walker clubbed a two-run homer in the fifth to break a 4-4 tie in Cleveland.

Brewers 5, Mariners 2
Ben Oglivie homered and drove in three runs to support the five-hit pitching of Moose Haas.

Oglivie's two-run homer gave host Milwaukee a 5-1 lead in the sixth. Oglivie also had an RBI single in the second.

Haas, 2-2, struck out seven during his second complete game of the season.

Orioles 4, Royals 2
Baltimore rookies Ken Dixon and Larry Sheets were too much for the Royals in Kansas City.

Dixon, 3-0, became the only AL rookie pitcher to win his third game. He allowed just four hits over eight innings.

The loss was the fifth straight for Kansas City. Baltimore has won 10 of its last 12 games.

Pittsburgh hitting, pitching on ups, downs

By The Associated Press
When the Pittsburgh Pirates opened the season with good pitching but little hitting, Manager Chuck Tanner figured things had to change. He was right.

"Now we're hitting fairly well and the pitching hasn't been good," Tanner lamented after the Pirates dropped a 5-3 decision to the San Francisco Giants in a game matching the National League's two worst teams. The Pirates fell to 8-16, last in the NL East, while the victory pulled the Giants, 10-15, within 1 1/2 games of fifth place in the West.

In other games Tuesday, Gary Carter drilled a grand-slam home run in the eighth inning to propel the New York Mets to a 5-3 triumph over the Atlanta Braves; Terry Kennedy drove in four runs with two singles to lead the San Diego Padres to a 12-2 thumping of the St. Louis Cardinals; and Dave Lopes drove in two runs and scored another as the Chicago Cubs tripped the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-2.

Also, Mario Soto won his fifth game with seven innings of four-hit ball as the Cincinnati Reds stopped the Philadelphia Phillies 2-0, and Bob Knepper and Bill Dawley threw a combined five-hitter as the Houston Astros stopped the Montreal Expos in a game plagued by a lengthy rain delay and frigid temperatures.

Mets 5, Braves 3
Pinch-hitter Mookie Wilson started the Mets' winning rally by drawing a leadoff walk from Atlanta reliever Zane Smith, 2-2. Wally Backman, attempting to sacrifice, was safe at first as Wilson went to second on a throwing error by Smith. Howard Johnson, whose homer in the seventh had tied the game 1-1, sacrificed the runners ahead.

In came Atlanta relief ace Bruce Sutter, who loaded the bases by intentionally walking Keith Hernandez. That set the stage for Carter, who wasn't even sure he would play because of rib, ankle and knee injuries.

"Sometimes when you hurt in so many places, you just have to concentrate on the ball," said Carter, who put one of Sutter's famous split-finger fastballs into the left-field seats.

Padres 12, Cardinals 2
Kevin McReynolds had a two-run single and Carmelo Martinez a two-run double in the first inning as San Diego scored early and often against St. Louis starter Bob Forsch, 2-2. Kennedy singled in two runs in the fourth and capped a three-run uprising with another two-run single in the sixth.

Dave Dravecky, 1-2, won his first game after suffering shutout losses in his first two decisions.

Cubs 4, Dodgers 2
Lopes, a former Dodger, tied the game 1-1 with a sacrifice fly in the second inning, walked and scored a run in the fifth and singled in an insurance run in the sixth as the Cubs kept pace with the Mets atop the NL East. Dick Ruthven, 1-1, got the win with relief help from Ray Fenton and Lee Smith, who earned his seventh save. Tom Brennan, 1-1, was the loser.

Reds 2, Phillies 0
Soto, 5-2, and relievers John Franco and Ted Power combined on a five-hitter, but player-manager Pete Rose said third baseman Nick Esasky deserved a share of the credit.

"If it hadn't been for Esasky's great play, we'd still be playing," Rose said.

The Phillies had the potential tying runs on base when Mike Schmidt lashed what looked like a sure double down the third-base line. Esasky flagged down the drive to prevent a score, and Soto pitched out of the inning by getting a force at the plate and then making Glenn Wilson one of his six strikeout victims.

Astros 3, Expos 1
Bob Knepper, 3-0, worked 5 1/3 innings before a one-hour, 46-minute rain delay interrupted the action, and Dawley took care of things for the Astros when the weather cleared. Temperatures plunged to 44 degrees late in the game and the accompanying wind pushed the chill factor below freezing at Montreal.

Accent on Health

Tooth and gum disease may be just about the last thing on the mind of a woman who is pregnant. But according to the Texas Department of Health, mothers-to-be should pay special attention to dental care for a variety of reasons.

First, pregnancy itself poses some potential problems for the woman's dental health. Gingivitis, for example, is a gum disease common among pregnant women. Symptoms of the disease are enlarged, discolored gums that bleed easily. It is caused by poor dental care.

Second, certain drugs, if taken during pregnancy, may adversely affect the development of the baby's teeth. So may a nutritionally deficient diet.

Finally, if the pregnant woman experiences dental problems, her diet and general health may suffer and jeopardize the health of her unborn child.

While these may not be life-threatening problems, they can substantially lower the quality of life for mother and child alike. Dr. Carlos Lozano, Chief of the Texas Department of Health's Bureau of Dental Health, said, "Poor dental health can prevent children or adults from eating a well-balanced, pleasing variety of foods—not to mention detracting from their physical appearance and self-esteem."

To avoid these problems, Dr.

Lozano advised pregnant women to make dental health a part of their prenatal care regimen. This aspect of prenatal care should include proper brushing and flossing, a diet rich in minerals and vitamins, and regular visits to the dentist, he said.

"Be sure to tell your dentist you are pregnant—even if it is a routine visit," Dr. Lozano said. "The dentist will take some special precautions to ensure the health of your baby, and he can advise you about simple, inexpensive modifications in your diet and dental hygiene that could mean a big difference later on in life for you and your son or daughter," he explained.

Precautions a dentist may take with pregnant patients include postponing X-rays and avoiding any medications with possible adverse impacts on unborn children. The dentist also can teach future parents about normal tooth development in infants and young children, and he can tell them how to care for their baby's gums and first teeth.

The Texas Department of Health is initiating a statewide campaign to promote prenatal care for all pregnant women in the state. In conjunction with the campaign, Governor Mark White has proclaimed May to be "Mother Care Is Baby Care" month in Texas.

Says relations expert

Stepmothering not easy

None of the roles in a "blended" family resulting from remarriage is easy—but being a stepmother may be the most difficult of all, says family relations expert Diane T. Welch.

"Research aimed at assessing the adjustments and effectiveness of stepmothers indicates they don't fare as well as stepfathers," explains Welch, a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service specialist.

The studies tend to show that part-time and full-time stepmothers have more feelings of anxiety, depression or anger regarding family relationships, and indicate more interpersonal conflict within the family and more conflicts related to roles, finances, relatives and the community, she says.

Stepmothers appear to have better relationships with children under 13 than with teenagers, Welch says, although they may still have difficulty establishing an appropriate role.

If the mother is still psychologically alive and the child's mourning is incomplete, then the stepmother's identification as a "friend" seems to have advantages. If the child's mourning is complete, then the "primary mother" role seems to fit the situation best. But taking on the role of "other mother" seems least effective, says the specialist.

Most stepmothers desire emotional support from their husbands and seek appreciation from the stepchildren. They may also seek recognition from the natural mother for their role in step-parenting.

"Role adjustments could be easier for stepfathers than stepmothers because they may not be as possessive in their love, and may not spend as much time with their stepchildren," Welch maintains. "However, research findings also suggest that in general, mothering is more difficult than fathering."

Texas Most Wanted Fugitive

AMARILLO, Texas — James Randy Jones is known to acquaintances as "Big Bird."

Possibly he got the nickname after he flew the coop at the Potter County correctional facility in Amarillo in September, 1984.

More likely he received the appellation as a result of his size — 6 foot-4, 220 pounds.

Now Texas law enforcement officials would like to clip Jones' wings. This week he has made the Texas Most Wanted List. A $1,000 reward is being offered for information leading to the capture of Jones, who is wanted on federal warrants charging him with 15 counts of possession of forged and altered money orders as well as escape.

In addition to his imposing size, Jones has a number of highly identifiable tattoos on his body—including tattoos of three teardrops under his left eye and more tattoos running from the wrists to the shoulders of both arms.

Jones, who was born September 26, 1957, uses a variety of aliases, including Jimmy J. Jones and Larry Berry.

The blonde-haired, blue-eyed Mississippi native ran afoul of the federal government for his alleged propensity to alter money orders.

Investigators say Jones would purchase $1.00 postal money orders, then alter them to read $51.00 or more.

Jones was apprehended and then compounded his legal problems by escaping from the Potter County correctional facility on September 24, 1984.

He hasn't been seen since.

Anyone with information concerning Jones' whereabouts is asked to call Texas Crime Stoppers toll-free at 1-800-252-8477, or their local Crime Stoppers program. In all cases, callers may remain anonymous.

Texas Most Wanted is a cooperative program between the Texas Crime Stoppers Advisory Council and the Department of Public Safety. It is designed to generate information on the location of persons wanted for major crimes committed in Texas.

Cash rewards are offered on a regular basis by the Texas Crime Stoppers Advisory Council and the 127 local Crime Stoppers programs throughout the state for information leading to the arrests and grand jury indictments of major crime offenders and the capture of wanted felons.

Sewing is profitable

Working at a computer terminal may be the newest home-based business, but an old one — sewing for profit — is making a comeback.

Custom dressmaking has been a profession since the early 1700's. Into the 1910's and 20's, many skilled dressmakers operated shops, where they employed others and trained apprentices. But custom sewing gradually faded as the ready-to-wear industry developed.

Ironically, it's working women who are now expanding the market for custom sewn clothes. "An increasing number of women don't have the time to sew, but appreciate the quality, fit and distinctive nature of home sewn garments," says Alma Fonseca, a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service clothing specialist.

At the same time, custom sewing offers an employment option for some women with young children or other responsibilities at home. These home based entrepreneurs can add to the family income without leaving their homes.

The popularity of craft items, ranging from baby quilts to wall decorations, and the availability of craft shows, consignment shops and mail-order outlets through which to sell them, have also encouraged home sewing for profit, she says.

Many home sewers have the ability to fit, tailor, work on special fabrics or help clients plan wardrobes to enhance their coloring or figure. Others specialize in specific needs, such as bridal wear, tailored suits for the professional woman, western wear and children's wear, Fonseca explains.

"Starting a home-sewing business requires entrepreneurial skills that not everyone has," says the specialist. Self-confidence, originality, task-and result-orientation are all important.

She reminds potential home sewers that they may want to learn more about timesaving shortcuts, quick tailoring techniques, seam finishes, pants alterations and women's pattern alterations, before starting a business.

Extension courses or programs on custom sewing and starting a home business are available in many locations, Fonseca notes. There are also several organizations and publications geared to custom sewers and home-based entrepreneurs.

For information about resources for home sewers in your community, she advises contacting the home economist at your county Extension office.

Response gets applause

All I said was, "Not all judges have gone soft." I mentioned that a Third District judge in Idaho had sentenced a child molester to 10 years.

And in passing sentence Judge Dennis Goff said, "If you had touched one of my children...I would have cut off every appendage you have!"

A dozen years ago a statement like that from a jurist would have unleashed an avalanche of demand for impeachment.

Not this time. This time the response is unanimous applause.

Americans are not going to take it anymore. The most recent Gallup Poll reveals that three-of-four agree that "taking the law into one's own hands sometimes is justified."

Our Department of Justice reports that serious crime in the United States has declined each of the past three years, yet, despite that statistical improvement, each year one-in-three households is the victim of serious crime.

And what should be more humiliating, the Eisenhower Foundation study reveals that our nation's crime rate—compared to others of the industrialized democracies—is "astronomical."

Police services are curtailed by budget cuts and hamstringed by court-imposed restraints.

Courts are constrained by an awareness that prisons are overcrowded, inadequately supervised, that imprisonment of any duration may now constitute "cruel and inhuman treatment."

So murderers, robbers and rapists escape confinement altogether or are too soon out.

So Americans of all age, all races and all income levels have to lock themselves behind barred windows and bolted doors while the animals take over the zoo.

The newest high-rise apartments are more like "prisons" for their occupants—with elaborate security devices, electronic surveillance, infrared motion detectors, panic buttons, round-the-clock guards.

We are arming our cars and arming ourselves; half of all American households now have guns.

The Second Amendment Foundation says that, "300,000 Americans a year use handguns to defend themselves against criminals; not because they want to but because they have to."

And heinous sex crimes against underprotected children inevitably create a climate of overprotection for others. Society will suffer the impact of these years of fear for generations.

Today in History

Today is Wednesday, May 8, the 128th day of 1985. There are 237 days left in the year. This is "V-E" Day.

Today's highlight in history: On May 8, 1945, President Harry S. Truman announced in a radio address that World War II had ended in Europe.

On this date: In 1541, the Spanish explorer Hernando de Soto discovered the Mississippi River.

In 1846, the first major battle of the Mexican War was fought at Palo Alto, Texas, resulting in victory for Gen. Zachary Taylor's forces.

In 1884, the 33rd President of the United States, Harry S. Truman, was born near Lamar, Mo.

In 1886, Atlanta pharmacist John Styth Pemberton invented a syrup for a beverage. The drink became known as Coca-Cola.

In 1958, Vice President Richard M. Nixon was shoved, stoned, booted and spat upon by anti-American protesters in Lima, Peru.

In 1973, militant Indians who had held the South Dakota hamlet of Wounded Knee for ten weeks surrendered.

Ten years ago: The former president of the International Olympic Committee, Avery Brundage, died in West Germany at the age of 87.

Five years ago: Philippine opposition leader Benigno Aquino was released after 7½ years of detention and allowed to fly to the United States for medical treatment.

One year ago: The Soviet Union announced it would not participate in the 984 Los Angeles Summer Olympics, charging the United States did not intend to ensure athletes' security.

Residential Beauty Spot

The Robert Veigel home of 511 Roosevelt has been selected as the residential beauty spot for May. The home was chosen by the beautification committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Women's Division.

Dimmitt librarian to speak

Brick Autrey, librarian from the Dimmitt Library, will be the guest speaker during the Deaf Smith County Genealogical Society meeting planned at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Deaf Smith County Library.

His topic will be "Railroads Coming Into Texas Before and After the Civil War." He will describe how migration into Texas was effected by where and when the railroads were built.

Autrey is an authority on migration trails and patterns used by the American settlers as they moved further and further west.

The public is invited to attend.

Our drinking neighbor always welcomes the arrival of May. It's the fifth month.

Think about it: Does your spouse see you off to work every morning out of loving care, or to make sure you're out from underfoot?

Old dogs can't be taught new tricks mostly because they've wised up about such nonsense since their puppy days.
