Men's wife-seeking sign generates flood of mail

HOUSTON (AP) - Two of four single men trying to find wives by posting their plea on a giant billboard are dropping out of the venture because they have too many responses.

The sign that went up July 16 along one of Houston's busiest freeways was plain and to the point: "4 Middle Class White males, 32-39, Seek Wives, Kids OK."

But after getting more than 300 responses, two of the four men have decided to drop out.

The four, who had coughed up $2,500 to rent the 48-foot billboard for a month, divided the mail equally this weekend.

John and Ed want to catch up on their reading and follow up on some of the women who have written them. The other two are Bill, who came up with the idea, and Mike.

The men have asked that their last names not be used.

Since the response has been so good, Bill has decided to share the wealth with other single men. Bill says they can send letters to the same address that appears on the billboard.

"They will be screened," he said. "Just mail them in a colored envelope so we can separate them from the women."

Several of Bill's letters have included photos of beautiful women. In another letter, four prospective wives wrote as one, announcing their intentions to snare Bill and his buddies in a clean sweep.

"I'm getting a mother writing for her daughter, and a daughter writing for her mother," Bill said. "I've got accountants and attorneys sending me mail."

Bill and his friends also received a catalog from a broker specializing in mail-order brides.

So far, Bill said he has only called one woman who responded to the billboard.

"She was shocked that I called; she couldn't believe it," he said.

Hereford State Bank listed deposits of $64.3 million, a loan total of $31.5 million and assets of $71.3 million. Deposits had increased about $5.1 million over a year ago, while loans dropped by $1.7 million.

The way was cleared Tuesday for Deaf Smith Baby Jane to be settled permanently with adoptive parents. The infant, now more than four months old, was found March 18 in an animal clinic incinerator just outside the Hereford city limits.

Judge David Wesley Gulley, at the conclusion of a hearing in 222nd District Court, ruled the rights of the parents of the baby would be terminated and conservatorship placed with the Texas Department of Protective and Regulatory Services, of March 18.

The infant appeared to be about two hours old when discovered by workers at the clinic. Investigators found no evidence at the incinerator that could help them locate parents.

After examination and treatment at Deaf Smith General Hospital, the infant was transferred to the neonatal unit at Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo. She was treated for about 11 days before the TDP&RS placed her in a foster home.

Represented by the Deaf Smith County criminal district attorney's office, TDP&RS petitioned for rights of the parents of the baby to be terminated. Since neither parent was known to authorities, notice was published in The Brand that the state had filed a petition to terminate rights.

In accordance with state law, hearings were held at two-week intervals until the statutory period provided for appearance by the parents had expired and until a court ruling could be issued.

With the conclusion of the legal process to terminate parental rights, the state agency may place the infant in an adoptive home.

Danny Jackson of Amarillo, supervisor of children's protective services with TDP&RS, said after the hearing Tuesday that the baby will be monitored in the prospective adoptive home for six months before adoption is final.

The foster parents who have cared for Baby Jane since her release from Northwest Texas Hospital are eligible to adopt her, Jackson said.

During the proceedings Tuesday attorneys appointed by Judge Gulley to represent the interests of the unknown mother and unknown father argued that the Deaf Smith County sheriff's department is continuing an investigation and a decision on the TDP&RS petition should not be made now.

Jerry Smith, appointed to represent the unknown father, and R.C. Hoelscher, the unknown mother, asked the court to allow more time so the investigation may be concluded.

Deputy Coby Lassiter testified that no information leading to identification of either parent had been turned up. He said the Potter-Randall special crimes unit had located a woman that he wished to interview.

However, he was unable to conduct the interview prior to the hearing Tuesday.

Smith argued that "diligence has not been exercised" in the investigation and Hoelscher said there had been no evidence to support termination of the unknown mother's rights.

Jim English, assistant district attorney, in his closing arguments called attention to the citation by publication issued to the unknown parents and observed that the "parents have thrown away this baby, like a piece of trash."

The petition filed by the state called for termination of all rights of the parents and the right of the child to inherit from either parent, if identity becomes known.

Larry Canada, appointed to represent the interests of the baby, asked that the possibility of inheritance not be terminated.

In his ruling, Judge Gulley observed that the investigation by the sheriff's department is a criminal matter while termination of parental rights is a civil issue.

"The criminal investigation may go on for a long time," he said. "A domestic issue may not be held in abeyance because of criminal investigation."

"I respect the efforts of Mr. Hoelscher and Mr. Smith, but I think the evidence is clear," Judge Gulley continued.

"I will sign an order today to terminate the rights of the parents," he said.

And, Judge Gulley said he believes that "it is in the best interests of the baby to terminate rights of inheritance, so there will be no lingering on the past."

New information may be brought to the court before a 30-day waiting period expires.

Russian bankers touring plant, meeting city leaders

Two Russian bankers were scheduled to visit Hereford today to tour the Colville & Wilson potato processing facility and have an informal meeting with community leaders.

Mike Carr, executive vice president of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, said the two are part of a 250-member group of Russian bankers who are touring the U.S. to learn more about the banking system.

The Democrats said consideration of the trade pact would be "difficult and divisive" and could harm the health care reform effort. "It will detract from our efforts to build a broad coalition of support for health care reform," the 103 House members and seven senators wrote.

Only two Texans - Democrats Henry B. Gonzalez of San Antonio and Craig Washington of Houston - were among the signers.

Jack Colville, chairman of the board of Colville & Wilson, invited the two--Elena Kiyakina and Lyudmila Istomina--to fly to Hereford from Altus, OK., where the National Bank of Commerce has been hosting the bankers.

Colville said he thought "it would be interesting for the Russians to see how potatoes are washed, sized, graded and packed, and to learn more about the Texas Panhandle." He said the two women will also have a barbecue dinner and attend "TEXAS," the outdoor musical in Palo Duro Canyon.

Carr said a reception will be held at the chamber office during the afternoon so that the bankers can visit with some community leaders. The bankers are in the area as part of a three-week Russian-American Bankers Forum to learn more about the American banking system.

Float builders

Mary Jane Ramirez, left, and Christina Ramirez work to wire paper towel flowers to a float being constructed for the Town and Country Jubilee Parade by Panhandle Community Services. Employees are spending their evenings in a warehouse getting the float ready for Saturday's parade. It will have a theme of "Continuing the Growth of Our Community," with "PCS; Helping People Help Themselves" on the side. Riding the float will be representatives of the new businesses to open in Hereford recently. Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce executive vice president Mike Carr said there are still spaces available in the parade. Local industries and businesses are encouraged to be represented in the parade, either by a float or a motor vehicle of some sort. Sign-ups will be accepted at the chamber office.

Hereford man named to board

Robert Meyer, 33, of Hereford has been appointed by the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District Board of Directors to serve as Precinct Four District Director until 1996.

Precinct Four consists of the portions of Armstrong, Deaf Smith, Potter and Randall counties within the water district.

Meyer fills the unexpired term of James C. Conkwright, who resigned from the board last month after moving from Hereford to Lubbock.

According to Section 52.110 of the Texas Water Code, a vacancy in the office of director of an underground water conservation district shall be filled for the remainder of the unexpired term by appointment of the Board. Meyer's appointment as Precinct Four District Director was made July 22 during a special meeting of the Water District board.

Meyer is a Hereford High School graduate. He attended West Texas State University, where he majored in Agricultural Economics. He has been farming for 13 years. He is married and has two sons.

"Being a landowner and renter of about 2,000 acres of irrigated land, I know the importance of water first-hand. I understand how agriculture is the main life line for my hometown, my county and the area," said Meyer. "With water being one of the main foundations of our area economy, it is of great importance that it be available and used wisely in the future. With this in mind, I look forward to representing the water conservation needs of the residents of District Directors' Precinct Four."

Peacetime expansion of Pantex is studied

DALLAS (AP) - Over the past 40 years, the Pantex Nuclear Weapons Plant near Amarillo built and took apart bombs under highly secretive conditions.

Researchers charged with assisting the plant revamp its operations during peacetime say they're excited to learn about nuclear weapons technology as it becomes declassified, said Mason Somerville, dean of engineering at Texas Tech University.

"How much is going to be made available is not known," Somerville said. "The universities are well-positioned to take that technology and run with it."

Researchers from the University of Texas, Texas A&M University, Texas Tech University, Texas State Technical College and Amarillo College met Tuesday at the Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport to discuss helping Pantex expand its operations and become a sizable, peacetime employer.

Also participating were representatives from the Department of Energy and Mason & Hanger-Silas Mason Co., the contractor that operates Pantex.

Several grass-roots groups of farmers and citizens are concerned about expansion because of unanswered questions regarding plutonium storage.

The academicians' initial priority will be reducing the "chemical and mildly radioactive contaminated byproducts" that result from assembling and disassembling bombs, said Dale Klein, a nuclear engineer and associate dean at the University of Texas in Austin.

The experts did not specify what chemicals or radioactive products have been released into the environment.

Formation of advisory board asked

AMARILLO -- In response to several stakeholder's requests to form a Pantex advisory board, the Office of the Governor, the Department of Energy and the Environmental Protection Agency have announced that a public workshop will be held on Aug. 2.

The objective of the workshop will be to begin to solicit input from community members regarding what steps should be taken to form an advisory board and who should take those steps.

The session will be held from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. in the Radisson Inn-Amarillo Airport. There will be a dinner break for a meal on your own.

The workshop will include a briefing on the February 1993 Interim Report of the Federal Facilities Environmental Restoration Dialogue Committee, an effort chartered by the EPA and facilitated by The Keystone Center.

Members of that committee developed a model for a site-specific advisory board. Three members will be on hand to present and discuss the SSAB model.

In addition, the governor's office, DOE and EPA will seek input from community members on issues relating to formation of a Pantex advisory group.

Participants may review the interim report prior to the meeting. Copies are available in the Panhandle City Hall, (806) 537-3517; from STAND, (806) 358-2622; the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, (806) 373-7800; and at DOE Pantex, (806) 477-3120.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I cannot believe the inconsideration and just plain stupidity of some of the people who come into my pet store. First of all, if you were in a stranger's home, would you just go and pick up his dog or cat? We have had some puppies dropped on their heads by young children whose parents let them hold the dogs without our assistance.

Secondly, we are not a baby-sitting service. I have heard too many times, "You stay here in this nice pet store while I go shopping." Kids need supervision around pets. We should not be expected to follow kids around, making sure they don't hit the fish tanks or roughhouse near the snake cages.

And last but not least, people's common sense seems to go right out the window when they walk through our doors. If you see a bird with a beak that can snap a broomstick in half, you do not stick your finger in the cage just to see what will happen.

So, please, Ann, tell all those inconsiderate, unthinking people to use common sense when they go into a pet store. The mentality of the average person never ceases to amaze me.—Pet Peeved in Edmonton, Alberta

DEARED IN ALBERTA: Thank you for zeroing in on a topic that not many people think about—unless they work in a pet store. You did all pet-store employees a big favor today.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 16-year-old girl who is in serious trouble. No, I am not pregnant, it's my hair.

I was asked to be in my sister's wedding next month and wanted to look outstanding, so I decided to change my hair color from natural blonde to a striking brunette.

I couldn't afford to go to the beauty salon, so I bought some stuff in the drugstore and did the job myself. Well, Ann, my hair turned bright blue. I immediately called my girlfriend over (she has been touching up her hair for quite some time), and "Sue" suggested that I use a double dose of remover and strip my hair completely. It sounded sensible, so I tried it.

Now, my hair is pink. But that's not all. My scalp is a mess, and I look like a rabbit. Next week, I'm going to the beauty salon and spend a month's allowance to get myself back to normal. Please tell your readers not to mess around with hair dye unless they know what they are doing.—Learned The Hard Way in Tallahassee

DEAR TALLAHASSEE: You told 'em, and the voice of experience is the loudest.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been married for 22 years to a man who has been a wonderful father to our three children, treats my mother, who lives with us, like a queen, runs errands without complaint and neither smokes nor drinks.

So what's the problem? Whenever a big-bosomed woman walks by, his eyes almost fall out of his head. He stares shamelessly, even though I've told him it embarrasses me.

This has been going on for years, and nothing I say makes any difference. Any suggestions?—Beet Face in Toronto

DEAR FACE: Yes. Give up. This man is going to gawk as long as he has a pulse. Since all he does is look, I don't think you have a lot to complain about.

Drugs are everywhere. They're easy to get, easy to use and even easier to get hooked on. If you have questions about drugs, you need Ann Landers' booklet, "The Lowdown on Dope." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Lowdown, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Hints from Heloise

Q. I would like to know how I can get a bumper sticker and the sticky glue underneath it off my bumper.—I.M., Mesquite, Texas

A. It takes heat, so put the tea kettle on! Pour boiling water over the bumper sticker to soften the adhesive back. Carefully lift one corner of the sticker and slowly begin to peel it away. If the sticker is stubborn, just pour on more boiling water and continue peeling it until it is removed. This should remove the bumper sticker without leaving a sticky residue, but if there is some, use prewash spray to soften it and scrub with a plastic scrubbie. Good luck! —Heloise

The Deaf Smith County 4-H shooting sports team outpointed teams from three other counties at the 12th Annual Deaf Smith County 4-H Invitational Trap Shoot July 24 at the Hereford Gun Club.

Deaf Smith's Cameron Betzen was second in the senior (ages 15-19) division, breaking 94-of-100 targets and finishing behind Castro County's Brian Simpson's 95. Deaf Smith's Don Metcalf was fourth with an 86.

Betzen and Martin Carnahan teamed up to finish second in two-man competition, breaking 180-of-200 targets. Castro County's Simpson and Cory Mays won with a score of

In the sub-junior division (ages 9-12), Chris Hendershot of Deaf Smith captured second by hitting 35-of-50 targets and beating Castro's Matthew Kern in a shootoff. Hale County's Cody Webb won the event with a score of 40, while Deaf Smith's Zachary Vasek was fourth with a 33.

Vasek and Cory Marsh were edged out in two-man competition by Hale's Webb and Shay Price, 68-63. Deaf Smith's Daniel Carnahan and Harrison Hoffman won a shootoff for third place.

In the junior division (ages 13-14), Deaf Smith's Kip Smith and Jeremy Schumacher placed third with a score of 99, and Peter Clark and Bobby Sims were fourth with an 86. A Hale County pair won with a 124.

The team competed in Lubbock on Aug. 17, and Betzen, Metcalf and Martin Carnahan won the senior three-man competition by beating a Castro County team in a shootoff.

Several members of the Deaf Smith team will be competing in the state 4-H trap and skeet shoot Aug. 4-7 at the Waco Gun Club in Waco.

The 4-H shooting sports program is conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and is open to all youth ages 9-19.

Celts' Lewis collapses, dies

By JOSE MARTINEZ
Associated Press Write
WALTHAM, Mass. (AP) - Reggie Lewis, the Boston Celtics star who agonized for the past three months over a heart ailment that threatened not only his career, but also his life, died after collapsing at the team's practice facility. He was 27.

Lewis, the team captain respected as much for his quiet and gentlemanly way as for his scoring ability, was shooting baskets and gearing up for a pickup game at Brandeis University on Tuesday afternoon when he fell to the gym floor.

Within hours, he was dead, leaving behind a grief-stricken basketball community that was expecting a comeback, as well as a divided group of medical specialists whose worst forecasts came true in an instant.

"Reggie's infectious smile and joyous love of basketball were always evident to all of us who were fortunate to have seen him play," said Celtics president Red Auerbach, who is recovering from heart bypass surgery. "Those of us who knew him well knew a warm, kind, gentle and generous man."

Paramedics found Lewis in "complete cardiac arrest," said Waltham-Weston Hospital emergency room physician Dr. Mary Anne McGinn. He was admitted in critical condition at 5:41 p.m.

For the next hour and 50 minutes, doctors worked in vain to revive Lewis. He was pronounced dead at 7:30 p.m. and his body was to be turned over to a state medical examiner.

Lewis first collapsed April 29 during a playoff game against Charlotte. According to the original diagnosis, Lewis had a career-threatening heart disorder.

The 6-foot-7 swingman sought a second opinion, however, and was told by Dr. Gilbert Mudge of Brigham and Women's Hospital that he had a nerve ailment that confused his heart. He was told he might be able to resume his career.

Lewis had said he would be under close medical supervision when he resumed workouts, but that apparently wasn't the case Tuesday.

His death raised several questions: Was Lewis cleared to play basketball of any kind? Was he taking medica-

McGriff's two round-trippers tumble Rockies

By The Associated Press

Fred McGriff and the Atlanta Braves are doing their very best to keep up with the San Francisco Giants in the NL West.

McGriff hit two home runs, including an inside-the-park shot, and drove in four runs as the Braves beat the Colorado Rockies 10-5 Tuesday night at Mile High Stadium. The Braves are 9-0 against the Rockies this season, averaging 8.1 runs a game.

Since being acquired from San Diego, McGriff has six homers in 35 at-bats and the Braves have won seven of eight. Atlanta, despite the streak, is eight games behind San Francisco in the NL West.

"McGriff has meant a lot to the club," manager Bobby Cox said. "He really added that energy in our batting order. He's hitting and it's really rubbed off on the other hitters. He's taken a lot of pressure off every player trying to do it all by themselves."

Since McGriff's arrival, Atlanta has scored 81 runs in eight games. "I got off to a bad start in San Diego," said McGriff, who has 24 homers. "Then I started to swing the bat. I'd be getting the same hits in San Diego."

John Smoltz (9-8) pitched four-hit ball over eight innings for the victory.

Rockies starter Armando Reynoso (7-6) worked 4 2-3 innings, allowing eight four runs and eight hits.

Astros 6, Reds 5

Kevin Bass' three-run homer off Tom Browning powered Houston past Cincinnati at the Astrodome. Browning (7-6) pitched only 2 1-3 innings and allowed six runs and eight hits.

Winner Brian Williams (4-3) allowed five runs and seven hits in 5 2-3 innings. Doug Jones got the final three outs for his 21st save.

Giants 3, Dodgers 2

John Burkett became the NL's first 15-game winner with eight innings of three-hit ball in pitching San Francisco past Los Angeles at Candlestick Park. Burkett (15-4) held the Dodgers hitless for five innings.

Burkett gave up no walks and fanned six. Rod Beck pitched the ninth for his 29th save.

The Giants reached starter Kevin Gross (7-9) for three runs and eight hits in the first four innings, but twice left the bases loaded.

Phillies 10, Cardinals 7

John Kruk went 5-for-5 and drove in three runs as Philadelphia started its key series against St. Louis by beating the Cardinals at Veterans Stadium.

Reliever Roger Mason (2-7) earned the victory with 2-3 innings. Mitch Williams got the last three outs for his 27th save.

St. Louis starter Joe Magrane (8-9) lasted just one-plus inning, allowing five hits and five runs.

Padres 8, Cubs 0

Andy Benes pitched a five-hitter and Tony Gwynn had five hits and drove in three runs, leading San Diego over Chicago at Wrigley Field.

It was the second shutout and fourth complete game of the season for Benes (11-7), who struck out eight and walked none.

Loser Mike Harkney (7-5) gave up five runs and 10 hits in three-plus innings.

Mets 4, Marlins 3

Jeff Kent's second home run of the game leading off the seventh inning lifted New York over Florida at Shea Stadium.

Dwight Gooden (10-10) pitched seven innings for the victory, giving up three runs and five hits.

Kent, who has 12 home runs, also hit a three-run shot in the fourth off loser Pat Rapp (1-3). Rapp pitched 7 2-3 innings, allowing four runs on six hits.

Expos 8, Pirates 6

Pinch-hitter Lou Frazier singled in the tiebreaking run in a two-run eighth inning off rookie Joel Johnston (0-1) as Montreal beat Pittsburgh at Three Rivers Stadium after blowing a 4-0 lead.

Tim Scott (3-1) got the victory with two scoreless innings of relief, and John Weteland finished for his 22nd save in 26 opportunities.

Jays beat O's despite bad relief pitching

By HANK KURZ Jr. Associated Press Writer

It was billed as a clash of bitter AL East rivals with a simmering subplot hatched at the All-Star game.

It turned out to be something a bit more timid; a game where the brouhaha was quelled beforehand and the caliber of play was not up to October standards.

First, the Mike Mussina-Cito Gaston feud died.

The Orioles' starter apologized for voluntarily warming up during the All-Star game, and the Toronto manager spent all day denying any bad blood existed.

Then, Toronto went out and secured a 6-5 victory on Pat Borders' hustling infield hit in the eighth inning.

The so-called Gaston-Mussina feud came about when the Toronto manager neglected to use Mussina in the All Star game at Camden Yards. Baltimore fans took it as a slight, but it later became known that Mussina warmed up in the ninth inning without Gaston's approval.

The Blue Jays led 3-2 in the eighth when closer Duane Ward came on to face Cal Ripken with two on and two out. Ward, who had 26 saves in 30 chances, gave up a three-run homer, Ripken's 15th of the season.

In the bottom of the eighth, Baltimore manager Johnny Oates called on Greg Olson, who also had 26 saves in 30 chances, after John Olerud - 2-for-3, 403 - singled of Jim Poole (1-1) to load the bases with one out.

Olson fanned Tony Fernandez for the second out, but Ed Sprague followed with a double down the left field line that tied the game.

Borders then hit a sharp grounder to shortstop. Ripken made a diving stab, but his throw was too late to get Borders, who slid head-first into the bag as Olerud scored the game-winning run. Ward (2-2) ended up a thankful winner.

Elsewhere Tuesday, Seattle beat Minnesota 10-8; Chicago rallied past Cleveland 7-4; Texas edged Kansas

City 1-0; New York beat Detroit 5-2; Milwaukee topped Boston 3-2; and California routed Oakland 15-8.

Rangers 1, Royals 0

Texas' only hit was Rafael Palmeiro's home run in the seventh inning, which broke up Kevin Appier's no-hit bid and made Kenny Rogers (8-6) the winner.

Appier (11-5), who struck out a career-high 11 in his third complete game, had retired 16 straight when Palmeiro hit a 1-0 pitch for his 21st homer.

Mariners 10, Twins 8

Ken Griffey Jr. extended his home run streak to seven games - one shy of the major-league record shared by Dale Long and Don Mattingly - with a 441-foot grand slam, and Seattle held on after visiting Minnesota rallied from 7-0 and 8-3 deficits.

Griffey's fifth career slam highlighted a seven-run second, but it was Tino Martinez's sixth-inning single off George Tzamis (1-2) that won it for Rich DeLucia (3-5).

White Sox 7, Indians 4

Frank Thomas went 4-for-4 with two homers and five RBIs, and Jack McDowell (16-6) became baseball's first 16-game winner.

Thomas, 11-for-18 (.611) with four homers and nine RBIs in his last five games, hit a solo homer off Jeff Mutis (2-4) in the sixth and a three-run shot an inning later to rally the White Sox from a 4-2 deficit.

Angels 15, Athletics 8

Tim Salmon homered twice and drove in four runs and Chad Curtis had four hits and four RBIs.

The Angels also got a three-run homer and three runs from Eduardo Perez, Tony Perez's son, in his major league debut.

Bobby Witt (8-8) lasted one-third of an inning. Joe Grahe (3-1) won, and Ken Patterson got his first save.

Rangers put Hulse on DL

DALLAS (AP) - Texas Rangers outfielder David Hulse has been placed on the 15-day disabled list with a pulled left hamstring, the club announced Tuesday. The move is retroactive to July 26.

Hulse hurt his hamstring July 22 and had started just one game since. He is batting .283 with 17 RBI and 20 stolen bases in 84 games. He is tied for the major league lead with 10 triples.

Outfielder Butch Davis was recalled from the Rangers AAA team in Oklahoma City to replace Hulse on the roster. Davis was sent to Oklahoma City Monday when Donald Harris was recalled. He is eligible to return to the Rangers because he is replacing a disabled player.

Davis had been with the Rangers all year until Monday, hitting .232 with two home runs and 12 RBI in 41 games.

San Marcos woos Raiders

AUSTIN (AP) - San Marcos and state officials are stepping up efforts to convince the Los Angeles Raiders to train in central Texas.

Austin businessman Chuck Taylor on Tuesday delivered a video tape to the Raiders that details what city and state officials deem are the advantages of moving training camp to San Marcos.

The eight-minute tape, produced by the Texas Department of Commerce, shows the facilities and includes pitches by San Marcos Mayor Kathy Morris, Southwest Texas State President Jerome Supple and SWT football coach Jim Bob Helduser.

Taylor and Darren Rudloff, product development coordinator for the tourism division of the Texas Department of Commerce, presented the video to Raiders Business Manager John Novak, whom he met on a visit to practice Monday.

Novak said he would watch the tape and discuss it with Davis.

Illuminating ways to decorate

A wonderful way to brighten a wedding reception: decorate with candles, say experts at the National Candle Association who offer these suggestions to help create a romantic and memorable atmosphere:

-Try three or more different size tapers in a direct line down the center of reception tables. Space them two inches apart and in a progressive height sequence.

-Create a "scent-sation": use candles that perfume the air with the fragrance of flowers, food or your favorite cologne.

-A shallow bowl with a column candle placed in the center and surrounded by fruit provides a lovely, colorful centerpiece.

-A large piece of wood--two inch thickness--can be drilled with 12 holes and fitted with metal inserts to hold a dozen slim taper candles for an exciting contemporary look. Inexpensive wood can be easily stained to complement your table setting. Floral greens may be added to provide the finishing touch.

-For attractive "placemats," put floating candles in small brandy snifters with a ribbon and guest name tied to the stem.

Use your imagination when decorating with candles and you can add a special glow to your wedding day.

The earliest adhesive stamps were those used for local delivery by the City Dispatch Post established in New York City, February 15 1842.

Weekend activities planned

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I am currently recovering from my second bout of pneumonia in the last five years. I'm 67 years of age. My diagnosis was mycoplasma pneumonia. After my previous attack of pneumonia in 1987, on medical advice, I took the lifetime pneumonia vaccine as a preventive measure. My lifestyle is active. I walk two miles daily, play tennis two days a week and golf one day.

I would be interested in any recommendations you might make for those of us who face the insults to our systems which pneumonia seems to present: special diets, amounts of physical activity, rest, medications or other. I have never smoked.

DEAR READER: Many different illnesses are called pneumonia. It is not one disease. Any time the lungs are inflamed it is pneumonia. That can be tuberculous pneumonia, viral pneumonia (from any number of viral diseases including those of childhood viral diseases) or any of the bacterial infections that can involve the lungs.

You have just recovered from pneumonia caused by a small bacteria, mycoplasma, which responds to tetracycline. It is usually a milder form of pneumonia than pneumococcal pneumonia. Your immunization against pneumonia has no effect in preventing this type of pneumonia.

You were immunized against pneumococcal pneumonia. That bacteria is normally found in 10 to 60 percent of the throats of normal people. When their resistance is down so the number can't be controlled, or killed by the lung's protective mechanisms, they may infect the lungs. This one form of pneumonia causes 25,000 to 30,000 deaths in the United States each year. That is good reason to be immunized against it. But the vaccination will not protect you against other forms of pneumonia. And despite what the often-quoted Physicians' Desk Reference says, the immunization may not last more than about five years.

To give you a better understanding of pneumonia, I am sending you Special Issue 34-08, Colds, Flu and Pneumonia. Others who want this issue can send $3 with a stamped (52 cents), self-addressed, No. 10 envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/34-08, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077-5537.

There are no good rules of how to protect yourself other than being immunized against pneumococcal pneumonia and maintaining good general health. Pneumococcal pneumonia is not usually contagious, passed from one person to the next, as are many other respiratory infections.

DEAR DR. LAMB: My brother and his wife insist there is calcium in coffee. Is there? I think just caffeine and nothing else.

DEAR READER: Technically it does, but it is so little you might as well forget about it. An ounce of regular and freeze-dried coffee that makes 14 cups of beverage contains only 51 mg of calcium or 1.2 mg a brewed cup. Unless you make coffee with distilled water, there is likely to be more calcium in the water than from the coffee itself.

Also, coffee actually decreases the absorption of iron, calcium and zinc. Thus drinking coffee is not going to help one's calcium balance.

Investigators from the departments of Nutrition and Internal Medicine, University of California at Davis, studied pregnant women in Costa Rica and found women who drank more than two cups of coffee a day were likely to have an anemia. The cord blood from the baby was also lower in iron.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I am uncomfortable with the trend of my cholesterol, HDL and LDL readings. Two years ago, tests showed the following: total cholesterol, 174; triglycerides, 79; LDL, 118 and HDL, 43. Now they are: total cholesterol, 171; triglycerides, 111; LDL, 113 and HDL, 36. The HDL and LDL seem to be going the wrong way.

I watch my diet and do light exercise on the weekends. Please offer some advice on how to reverse the trend. My doctor seems to think that since the readings are within the normals I am doing fine. Am I?

I am a 44-year-old male, 6 feet tall and weigh 172 pounds. I take Capoten for hypertension and have for six years. My blood pressure is under control.

DEAR READER: You certainly do not have anything to be alarmed about. Frankly, there is no significant difference in your values of two years ago and now. Minor variations are often simply differences in laboratory procedures or normal variations. You don't need to worry about such minor changes. Your LDL, which is the "bad" cholesterol level, is actually lower.

It is true that if your HDL, which is "good" cholesterol, is low that your risk of coronary artery disease and heart attacks is increased. This is a measure of the fatty-cholesterol particles that pick up cholesterol from your arteries and clear them of deposits. But 40 is usually considered normal. If you were to have any improvement it should be to raise your HDL level.

How do you do that? Exercise is one of the best physiological methods to do this. I note you do light exercise on weekends, but perhaps you could significantly increase your exercise program. A low-fat, low-cholesterol diet also seems to help. If you have any excess body fat, eliminating it helps both high blood pressure and cholesterol levels. Beyond that, I would not do anything heroic to change your levels. It is true that niacin will help raise HDL levels, but this should be done only under a doctor's supervision.

...selves directly through school district contracts.

Rodriguez says he intends to explain his intent to Morales. "I don't think anyone will be knocked off a board just because they work with a company that does business with a district."

A spokesperson for the Texas Association of School Boards said only one trustee has resigned so far because of the new law. That trustee served in Eagle Pass and worked at his family-owned hardware store, which sold supplies to the school district.

KBH Phone Logs Altered?

Kay Bailey Hutchison's state treasury staff in May 1992 gave the Travis County district attorney phone records that had been altered, hiding the existence of a state telephone used for political purposes, the Houston Chronicle reported last week.

The newspaper reported that the altered page blanked out records of five calls made on a state-owned telephone line that is now part of a grand jury investigation.

The five calls include a call to Republican U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm's office and a call to Hutchison's Dallas political fundraiser, the Chronicle reported. Hutchison, now a U.S. Senator, was state treasurer at the time.

Dave Beckwith, a spokesman for Hutchison, said Hutchison paid for the telephone line "out of an abundance of caution" to keep any private business from being conducted on state telephone lines.

AUSTIN — Texas school officials were advised last week to wait until Attorney General Dan Morales issues an interpretation of a new ethics law that some fear may force the resignations of about 2,000 school board trustees. Sen. Bill Ratliff, R-Mount Pleasant, chairman of the Senate Education Committee, requested a legal opinion on whether school trustees fall under the provision of the law. The law is now being interpreted by school district attorneys to apply to nearly all trustees who work for, hold at least 10 percent stock in or own a business that contracts with the district. Some attorneys say it also applies to trustees whose spouses have similar ties to a district contractor. Rep. Ciro Rodriguez, D-San Antonio, who added the controversial language to the bill, said it was intended only to prevent abuse by trustees who were enriching themselves directly through school district contracts.

Septic tank additive firms facing charges

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) - Dennis P. Dumas of East Stroudsburg, Pa., said his family endured verbal harassment for four months after returning an unwanted 20-pound shipment of septic tank additive.

The Dumas family had only wanted the free 30-day sample of the product, which "digests the wastes" in a septic tank.

The family and the New Jersey state Division of Consumer Affairs say the company that unloaded the septic tank additive, Enviro-Safety, and two other companies are guilty of a nationwide swindle in which they sent consumers large amounts of septic-tank additive and then badgered and threatened them to pay for the product that was never ordered.

"I really believe there is a conscious business decision to shake people down," Dumas said. "One guy said, 'I'll call you to 2010. We want the money.'"

Another said, "My name is Leroy, I'm 6-2, 220, and I'll be out at your house to pick up the money. What time do you want me there?" Dumas recalled.

The three New Jersey companies were accused Tuesday of unlawful business and collection practices and the division of Consumer Affairs is seeking fines and consumer restitution.

"This is one of the most vicious cases of harassment we have seen in the 22-year history of this agency," said Emma Byrne, director of the state Division of Consumer Affairs.

The agency has received 1,046 complaints, from all 50 states, about the three companies, all based in Bergen County, in northern New Jersey. The most complaints come from Missouri, with 181, followed by 80 from Washington, 70 from Michigan, 60 from Texas, 48 each from New York and Virginia, and 47 from Ohio.

Charged were: Enviro-Safety, Edgewater, in connection with its product, "Enviro-Safety."

Saaca Industries, Edgewater, for its product, "Saniflo." A woman answering a reporter's call said, "The person you need to speak to is not in. We have no comment."

Septic Safety, Palisades Park, for "Septic Safety." The company plans to contest the charges, said Sean Carney, secretary-treasurer. He said only nine complaints were filed against Septic Safety, and that it is a legitimate business tarnished by Enviro-Safety, which has the bulk of complaints.

Beckwith said Hutchison did not have to provide District Attorney Ronnie Earle with records of the telephone line last year because he was interested only in the activities of David Criss, who was suspected of using a state computer on Hutchison's behalf.

Criss, who was Hutchison's director of policy and planning, resigned and reimbursed the state $550 after it was disclosed he had stored on a state computer some Hutchison political records. The six-year son of Housing and Urban Development Secretary Henry Cisneros. The operation created a four-chambered heart that was expected to perform normally, the lead surgeon at Children's Hospital of Philadelphia, said in a statement. "John Paul's heart function and circulation are effective and stable," Dr. William Norwood said. "He is responding nicely to the surgery."

"Ann at 60" Fund-raiser

Gov. Ann Richards hopes to "send a powerful message" to would-be challengers with a fund-raiser expected to raise $5 million for her re-election campaign.

The event at Austin's City Coliseum on Sept. 10 is being billed as "Ann at 60." Richards' 60th birthday is Sept. 1.

Singers Willie Nelson, Lyle Lovett, Nanci Griffith and Don Henderson will provide entertainment for the event.

Other Highlights

The State Board of Insurance last week gave preliminary approval to an anti-discrimination rule after hearing a report that showed low-income and minority consumers pay higher rates for insurance even if they are a lower risk. The board voted 2-0 for the measure and scheduled an Aug. 30 final vote on the rule.

There are no cat or dog traps available at the shelter this week.

Those interested in getting a cat or dog trap can have their names placed on a waiting list.

The public is invited out to the shelter to see its newly remodeled facilities.

Pet owners are reminded that animals need lots of clean, fresh water during the summer months. Pets can suffer heat-related injuries just like people.

Information about animals or to find out about adopting them is available by calling the Hereford Animal Control Authority at 364-2323.

The Newspaper BIBLE WOULD IT MAKE A BELIEVER OF YOU?
One day as these men were worshiping and fasting the Holy Spirit said, "Dedicate Barnabas and Saul for a special job I have for them." So after more fasting and prayer, the men laid their hands on them -- and sent them on their way.
Directed by the Holy Spirit they went to Seleucia and then sailed for Cyprus. There, in the town of Salamis, they went to the Jewish synagogue and preached. (John Mark went with them as their assistant.)
Afterwards they preached from town to town across the entire island until finally they reached Paphos where they met a Jewish sorcerer, a fake prophet named Bar-Jesus. He had attached himself to the governor, Sergius Paulus, a man of considerable insight and understanding. The governor invited Barnabas and Saul to visit him, for he wanted to hear their message from God. But the sorcerer, Elymas (his name in Greek), interfered and urged the governor to pay no attention to what Saul and Barnabas said, trying to keep him from trusting the Lord.
Then Saul (who is also called Paul) filled with the Holy Spirit, glared angrily at the sorcerer and said, "You son of the Devil, full of every sort of trickery and villainy, enemy of all that is good, will you never end your opposition of the Lord? And now God has laid His hand of punishment upon you, and you will be stricken awhile with blindness." Instantly mist and darkness fell upon him, and he began wandering around begging for someone to take his hand and lead him.
When the governor saw what happened he believed and was astonished at the power of God's message.

Proper use of repellents can prevent bug bites

They're camouflaged under leaves in dense woods. They're hovering around lakes and ponds. They're even hiding in your back yard. Whether you like it or not, they're here: ticks, mosquitoes, flies and other pesky insects that are prepared to ruin summer fun.

With the proper use of insect repellents, you can lessen the irritation of insects and make your summer more enjoyable and healthy. Here are some tips from the nation's insect repellent manufacturers on how and why to safely use insect repellents.

Common summer pests like mosquitos, ticks and flies can cause more serious problems than the annoying, itching bites most people experience. They can also carry diseases including Lyme disease, encephalitis, Rocky Mountain spotted fever and other serious illness. And while scratching an insect biter may make it feel better, it can also cause an open sore than can become infected. Insect repellents containing DEET help to prevent bites from insects and ticks that may carry these

Teach your kids driving safety

The "death zone"—when a teenager is statistically most likely to be killed in a car—is between 9p.m. and 3a.m. on a summer Saturday night. More than half of all teenage automobile deaths occur at night, and 59 percent on weekends.

"Parents should take heed during summer months," says Farmers Insurance Executive Vice President William H. Braddock, whose company has launched a national education program targeting youthful drivers.

According to the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety, nearly 1,800 teenagers die on U.S. roadways during summer alone.

Braddock, who was instrumental in launching Farmers' Youth Education and Safety (Y.E.S.) program, urges parents to discuss safety issues with their teens, and to discourage unnecessary driving during the Saturday night "death zone."

"Don't be complacent because your son or daughter is a good driver and never drinks," cautions Braddock. "Many teen fatalities are passengers, not drivers."

What can parents do? Braddock offers the following tips for parents in dealing with their teens:

-Set the example. Our adult attitudes toward driving are often much too casual. Let your teen know by the way you drive that it is an important activity deserving full attention and respect.

-Insist on seat belts. It's the single most important safety precaution any driver can take.

-Restrict nighttime driving. Forty percent of all teenage driving deaths occur between 9 p.m. and 3 a.m.

-Be strict on drinking and driving. Impress on your teens that underage drinking is illegal. If they encounter problems, make sure they have a safe alternative.

-Use available resources. Remember, parents are not alone. Driver education programs are important. School, health care and traffic safety officials are glad to help and student organizations such as Students Against Drunk Driving are excellent. Your insurance company can also assist. For Y.E.S. program, the company's agents visit families in their homes or at the office to offer counseling through video and workbook to newly licensed teen drivers.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Blake Edwards, director and co-writer of the "Pink Panther" movies, has been selected for one of Hollywood's most prestigious awards for writing and directing.

The Writers Guild of America and the Directors Guild of America will give Edwards the Preston Sturges Award at a ceremony Oct. 24.

"He is one of those rare creative minds who holds true to his unique talent and to the... great era of visual comedies of Chaplin, Keaton and Harold Lloyd," WGA President Del Reisman said Monday.

Edwards' film credits during his 40-year career include "Breakfast at Tiffany's," "The Great Race," "10," "S.O.B." and "Victor-Victoria."

Various forms and concentrations of insect repellent products are available. Consumers should select the product best suited for their activity and location. Aerosol and pump spray products are generally preferred for treating clothing, as well as for skin applications. Liquid, cream, lotion and stick products may be used for more precise skin application. Lower concentration DEET products are appropriate for most situations where insect exposure is minimal. Higher concentration products give increased protection which may be particularly useful in highly infested areas or to those individuals more prone to insect bites.

In addition, some species of insects and ticks are more difficult to repel and may require a higher concentration product for effectiveness. Higher concentrations also provide longer-lasting protection for lengthy exposure periods where reapplication may be inconvenient or impractical.

According to Dr. Durland Fish, associate professor of community and preventive medicine at the New York Medical College and director of the Lyme Disease Center, "Since application of an effective insect repellent is essential to minimize the possibility of acquiring bites from the deer tick. The scientific literature documents that DEET is the most effective insect repellent approved for skin application."

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) regulates insect repellents. The agency registers products it has determined are effective and pose no adverse health risks to people when used as directed according to label instructions. The EPA recommends the following precautions when using insect repellents:

-Apply only to exposed skin and/or clothing as directed on the product label.

-Do not use under clothing.

-Never use repellents over cuts, wounds, or irritated skin.

-Do not apply to eyes and mouth or to the hands of young children.

-Use just enough repellent to cover exposed skin and/or clothing. Frequent reapplication and saturation is unnecessary for effectiveness.

-After returning indoors, wash treated skin with soap and water or bathe. This is particularly important when repellents are used repeatedly in a day or on consecutive days.

-If you suspect you or your child are reacting to an insect repellent, wash treated skin and then call your local poison control center. If you go to the doctor, take the insect repellent with you.

The EPA also recommends that consumers: use only those products bearing an EPA-approved label, read the entire product label before using the repellent, follow product directions carefully and always keep the container out of reach of small children.

DEET was developed and patented by the U.S. Army in 1956 and was registered for use by the general public in 1957. DEET is the most widely distributed personal insect repellent ingredient in the world, used by an estimated 200 million people each year. The manufacturers of DEET and many companies which market DEET products have collaborated to conduct studies to determine the safety of DEET. To date, 22 health-effect studies, both short-term and long-term, have shown that there is no health risk anticipated with the normal use of DEET products. The adverse health effects from DEET products are generally limited to eye irritation from inadvertent exposure to the eyes and infrequent skin reactions from sensitive individuals.

A five-year compilation from the American Association of Poison Control Centers has shown that there are very few serious incidents involving DEET products. The study showed that there was no correlation between the number or severity of incidents and the concentration of DEET in products.

Melon Rings With Strawberries

1 pint fresh strawberries 1 medium fresh cantaloupe or honeydew melon

Rinse strawberries, but do not hull. Set aside to drain. Cut melon crosswise into 1-inch-thick rings. Remove seeds. Place slices on individual plates. With a knife, carefully cut around the slice 1/4-inch from the rind; do not remove rind. Slice pulp to make bite-size pieces, leaving rind intact.

Arrange five or six strawberries in the center of each melon slice.

Makes 5 servings.

Tips on swimming pool safety

Dive into summer—but do it safely, say the experts at the National Swimming Pool Safety Committee (NSPSC).

-Do know the depth of the water is sufficient for your dive. Many recreational swimmers are seriously injured each year as a result of diving into shallow areas of lakes, ponds, streams or swimming pools.

-Do plan your dive path. Make sure there are at least 20 feet of clear water ahead.

-Do be sure there are no submerged or floating obstacles, such as other swimmers, rocks, or branches, etc.

-Do remember to steer your body upwards as you dive. Keep your head up and your arms extended over your head. Steer up with your hands once you enter the water.

-Do keep your dives simple.

-Do take diving lessons from a qualified instructor.

-Do not's

-Do not dive into the shallow end of a pool or into shallow water.

-Do not dive into an above ground pool.

-Do not drink and dive. Statistically, more than 50 percent of all diving accidents involve alcohol.
