High school work proceeding

Larry Gallop, left, of G&W Plumbing of Amarillo, solders two pieces of copper tubing together that will be used in the new heating/air conditioning system being installed this summer in Hereford High School. At right, John London of Folsom Electric of Amarillo pulls electric wiring through conduits for new lights to be installed in the high school. The two jobs are proceeding and Superintendent Charles W. Greenawalt said contractors have assured the district that the classrooms will be useable by the time school starts Aug. 18. The new system will not be up and running, however, until October, and the job will not be complete in the classrooms when school starts. However, classes will be moved as needed to make room for workers to continue their job.

Clinton: 'Our plan or no plan,' are the two choices

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Clinton's television appeal to "meet our great responsibilities" set the tone for a furious final push to embolden congressional Democrats who may be wavering on his economic plan.

Clinton, heading to Capitol Hill today to personally lobby House Democrats, on Tuesday night spoke little of the months of deal-making and compromising that produced a bill claiming $496 billion in deficit reduction.

Instead, he told voters Congress' decision was simple.

"Now there are only two choices. Our plan or no plan," he said.

"Our nation is in economic danger," Clinton said in a TV address to the nation. "We cannot afford not to act. I need your help. I need for you to tell the peoples' representatives to get on with the peoples' business."

"I don't like taxes any more than you do," Clinton said. But he said his plan was fair, would place the burden of higher taxes on the wealthy and help create at least 8 million jobs. The average family would pay less than a dime a day in new taxes - all of it from a 4.3 cent-a-gallon increase in the federal gas tax, Clinton said.

To ensure the money goes to deficit reduction, Clinton said he would sign an executive order today specifying just that. He also was to sign an order requiring the president and Congress to set specific non-binding targets to control spending in federal entitlement programs.

Senate Republican leader Bob Dole of Kansas, in his party's official response to the speech, also asked people to call the Capitol.

"The president's plan calls for more taxes, more spending and higher taxes," Dole said. If it is defeated, Republicans would work with the Democrats on "a better plan, a plan that truly moves America in the right direction."

While their speeches were to the nation, their targets were the handful of Democratic senators whose wavering has left the fate of the package uncertain.

The original Senate version passed only after Vice President Al Gore cast a vote to break a 49-49 tie.

Six Democrats - Richard Shelby of Alabama, Sam Nunn of Georgia, Dennis DeConcini of Arizona, Richard Bryan of Nevada, Frank Lautenberg of New Jersey and Bennett Johnston of Louisiana - voted against the original Senate version of the plan.

Last weekend, Sen. David Boren, D-Okla., announced he was switching his vote to no. There was and will be no Republican support.

An NBC News poll released three hours after Clinton's speech said 53 percent found it convincing and 36 percent unconvincing. But only 36 percent of the 831 adults surveyed saw the speech. And 45 percent said they were opposed to the plan, compared with 39 percent a week ago.

A CNN-USA Today-Gallup telephone poll of 672 adults Tuesday night said 33 percent thought Congress should approve the budget, while 44 percent disapproved and 23 percent had no opinion. Sixty-eight percent thought middle-income Americans would pay the most taxes under Clinton's plan.

Both polls had margins of error of 4 percentage points.

Work crews attempt to save historic town

PRAIRIE DU ROCHER, Ill. (AP) - Work crews dynamited one levee and furiously shored up another today in a desperate bid to save this historic town by fighting water with water.

Scores of volunteers formed a human chain to heap sandbags on the levee closest to Prairie du Rocher. Among those answering an urgent plea for help were a half-dozen striking coal miners who came straight from the picket line.

"If we had something like this happen to us, I'd hope somebody would help me. It just seemed like the right thing to do," said Brent Pien, a Marine from nearby Redbud who was home on emergency leave from Parris Island, S.C., for the funeral of his grandfather and stayed on to join the sandbaggers.

The last 25 residents of the town of 600 fled to higher ground late Tuesday when the floodwaters pressing against Prairie du Rocher's last line of defense rose faster than expected.

But National Guardsmen and volunteers worked into the night in on-and-off rain to save this 18th century village, waging what may be one of the last battles of the great Midwestern flood.

"This is our last hope. If it doesn't work, we're going to lose our town," said Ron Ingles, an auxiliary police officer.

With the town in the path of billions of gallons of muddy Mississippi floodwaters flowing south, the Army Corps of Engineers decided earlier this week to try something it had never been done before: It intentionally broke a levee outside town and flooded tens of thousands of acres of prime farmland, a dozen or more houses and a restored French fort on Tuesday.

The idea was to create a wall of water that would crash into the encroaching floodwaters and reduce the strain on the levee closest to town.

Early today, National Guardsmen and volunteers tore away more of the outer levee. An explosion echoed through the night as work crews used dynamite to widen the breach.

Ginsburg to assume place as second woman Justice

WASHINGTON (AP) - Ruth Bader Ginsburg, a longtime advocate of women's rights, will help decide the first major case on that score to come before the Supreme Court in years - whether jurors can be excluded solely on the basis of gender.

Ginsburg is to be sworn in next Tuesday, a week after the Senate overwhelmingly confirmed her as the high court's 107th justice. She becomes the second woman to serve on the court, joining Justice Sandra Day O'Connor, who was chosen by President Reagan in 1981.

President Clinton predicted she will move the court "not left or right but forward." Ginsburg, a 60-year-old federal appellate judge, promised, "I'll do the very best I can in this job."

In replacing retired Justice Byron R. White, she will become the first justice named by a Democratic president since President Lyndon Johnson nominated Thurgood Marshall in 1967.

Ginsburg won several significant Supreme Court rulings during the 1970s as the leader of the American Civil Liberties Union Women's Rights Project.

HISD proposes salary hikes, construction projects in new budget without raising taxes

By GARRY WESNER
Managing Editor

The Hereford Independent School District should be able to adjust employee salaries, give a 4 percent pay raise and fund ongoing construction projects for the coming year -- all without raising taxes.

The district's board of trustees on Tuesday discussed the fiscal year 1993-94 budget during their regular meeting, hearing from Superintendent Charles W. Greenawalt the news.

Greenawalt said the Texas Association of School Boards performed a compensation study of the school district earlier this year.

That study -- which was presented for first reading Tuesday along with a policy authorizing Greenawalt to implement a new district pay scale -- recommended a 4 to 5 percent pay raise this year.

In addition, it sets salary levels based on the job requirements and skill needs of a position, then automatically allows for annual cost-of-living increases.

Greenawalt said the primary goal of adjusting salaries and pay grades is to make the pay schedule more equitable to all teachers.

In addition, it is designed to make the district more competitive in the area of teacher recruitment.

The ultimate goal there, he said, is to raise the salary for a starting teacher to $20,000 a year by fiscal year 1994-95.

During the 1992-93 year, starting teachers made $18,600 here. If approved as written, the 1993-94 budget will raise that level to $19,200.

The salary adjustments under the new compensation plan, Greenawalt said, would cost the district $500,838 more this year than was budgeted for salaries last year.

Under preliminary budget figures made available at the board meeting, the district is proposing $13,733,273 for payroll costs within the general fund budget.

Greenawalt said this does not include special fund revenues such as federally-funded programs. Those out-of-district dollars are budgeted so far to include nearly $2 million more in salaries.

In addition, it does not include the more than $4 million the district anticipates having in its fund balance reserves.

Preliminary projections call for a total district budget for 1993-94 of $21,171,452, of which $17,866,625 would be funded through the general fund and $3,304,827 through special revenue funds.

Figures presented by business office director Bobby Moudy show that the district budgeted $17,613,414 revenue for this fiscal year, but is estimated to receive only $15,860,697 by the end of August.

Expenditures for the year are estimated to be $21,447 less than revenue.

The district is estimating it will receive $17,917,297 for the general fund in 1993-94, with a projected general fund surplus at the end of the year of more than $50,000.

No action was taken on the budget at the meeting.

A budget workshop will be held at 7 p.m. Aug. 17 to continue discussions on the budget.

A new budget needs to be in place by Aug. 31.

Purchase of Smith building studied Board adopts policy on student conduct

By GARRY WESNER
Managing Editor

The Hereford Independent School District board of trustees have adopted a set of guidelines that parents and teachers can use if they have complaints against employees.

The guidelines were adopted during the regular school board meeting on Tuesday after Superintendent Charles W. Greenawalt explained that the document was part of a settlement of a lawsuit filed by West Texas Rural Legal Aid against the district.

Within the new guidelines -- which will be included in all student codes of conduct this school year -- three steps are outlined in case of a complaint.

First, "a student or parent who has a complaint shall request a conference with the supervisor within ten (10) calendar days of the time the student knew, or should have known, of the event or series of events causing the complaint. The supervisor shall schedule and hold a conference with the student or parent within five (5) days of receipt of the request," the policy says.

If that meeting does not satisfy the student or his parents, the guidelines say, then they have another 10 days to request a conference with the superintendent or his designee.

That request must be accompanied by a written complaint that includes a statement of the complaint and any evidence to support it, plus the solution sought, the student's or parent's signature and the date of the conference with the supervisor.

Finally, if the parent or child is still not satisfied, they may bring the matter to the school board, which will hold an executive (closed) session to discuss the complaint.

The parent or teacher has the right to request that the hearing be held in open session.

The new guidelines were adopted on a unanimous motion by the board.

In other action Tuesday, board members considered the following:

-- They adopted changes in the District Leadership Team, including changing about half the members in an effort aimed at rotating the group every two years.

-- Members heard a proposal from Corky Lockmiller, assistant superintendent for special programs, about a language lab for the foreign language classes at HHS.

Lockmiller said a new language lab is on the market that is portable, which would allow all foreign language teachers to use it in their rooms, provided they have a suitable antenna installed ahead of time.

The cost of the system is about $18,000.

Greenawalt informed board members that district architect Larry Harvey of Lubbock has estimated it will cost between $250,000 and $287,000 to install a new roof on Shirley Intermediate School.

If approved by the board, the roof would be similar to the standing seam steel roof being installed on part of the Stanton Educational Services Center.

Greenawalt also announced that a budget workshop will be held on Aug. 17 at 7 p.m. to continue budget discussions.

Prior to that meeting, trustees will meet at 6 p.m. at the former Smith's grocery store at 15th and U.S. 385 for a tour of the facility with Harvey.

Greenawalt said the district has discussed purchasing the building for some time and the time has come to get serious about the proposal.

Harvey will look at the building regarding possible alterations needed.

The board will hold a closed session to discuss the proposal following their budget hearing.

The board discussed its personnel report, including the hiring of 22 new teachers and the resignations of 13 teachers who are leaving the district.

The report also included the transfer of Don Summersgill to be the new band director at HHS. He replaces James MacLuskey, who has moved to College Station to be band director at A&M Consolidated High School.

Greenawalt noted that, of the 40 teachers hired this summer by the district, all but six will live in Hereford, adding that the district has given priority to hiring instructors who will live in the community.

Attending Tuesday's meeting were: board president Ron Weishaar, Raul Valdez, Steve Wright, Mike Zeazy and James Marsh. Absent were Raymond Schlabs and Joe Flood.

Rain pounds West Texas

By The Associated Press

Parts of West Texas awoke to a wet morning today as heavy rains hit the western part of the South Plains, with strong thunderstorms also pounding the Lubbock area.

Most of the rain was headed to the southeast, with skies cloudy to mostly cloudy across the entire region.

The chance for rain and thunderstorms will last through Thursday, with partly to mostly cloudy skies in the dry areas. The likeliest spot for rain is in the Panhandle.

Highs today will range from the upper 70s in the Panhandle to the mid- and upper-90s in the far west and Big Bend. Lows tonight will generally be in the 60s and 70s.

The northern part of South Texas was stuck with morning clouds that blew in from the western and central parts of the state.

Temperatures at 4 a.m. ranged from 74 degrees at Corpus Christi to 82 at both Del Rio and Palacios.

The forecast calls for partly cloudy skies through Thursday with a chance for showers or thunderstorms across the Hill Country today.

High temperatures were expected to range from near 90 on the Gulf of Mexico coast to the low 100s on the Rio Grande Plains. Lows tonight will be in the 70s.

North Texas is beginning to get used to the lack of clear skies as mostly cloudy conditions settled in last night, with scattered showers and thunderstorms even sprinkling the Red River region.

The clouds and showers were brought on by a stationary front over Central Oklahoma.

Temperatures again will remain in double-digits, with partly cloudy skies and chances for with scattered thunderstorms keeping the highs in the 90s and lows in the 70s through Thursday night.

Man's probation revoked by court

Probation of a Hereford man was revoked Tuesday by Judge David Wesley Gulley who sentenced the defendant to five years in prison.

Rudolfo Rocha was convicted of carrying a prohibited weapon in October 1991, given a six-year probation sentence and fined $1,000.

In the 222nd District Court session Tuesday, Rocha was cited for probation violations. He was ordered to serve the prison term and pay the remainder of the fine.

County inmate alleges assault by prisoners

An investigation is ongoing at the Deaf Smith County Jail into allegations by an inmate that he was assaulted by fellow inmates.

The Amarillo Daily News reported in its Wednesday edition that an inmate filed a complaint last Friday saying he was raped in the jail last month.

District Attorney Roland Saul said Wednesday morning that Jail Administrator David Castillo is investigating the matter.

"I can't ethically tell you about any cases," Saul said. "But he added that the report published in the Amarillo newspaper contained some 'inaccuracies' about the case.

The Amarillo paper had indicated that a doctor's examination revealed evidence of anal sex.

"The sexual assault exam showed no trauma," Saul said. "The allegation now from the inmate was that there was an attempted, I guess, sexual assault," Saul said.

The inmate -- who was arrested May 3 and charged with four counts of theft over $750/under $20,000 -- had alleged that three inmates assaulted him.

Castillo said the inmate was moved to a private cell on Friday.

Hutchison outspent senate opponent

Campaign report shows almost two to one ratio

WASHINGTON (AP) - Kay Bailey Hutchison's campaign committee spent almost twice as much money as her opponent in last June's U.S. Senate race, according to the latest campaign finance records.

Mrs. Hutchison outspent and outperformed rival Bob Krueger, the Democrat she pounded in the June 5 special election, by a ratio of $1 to 54 cents, the report shows.

In all, Mrs. Hutchison spent about $6.6 million to make her the first Texas woman senator, according to the records made public Tuesday.

Since the start of the year, the Texas Republican has raised $7,238,478 and spent $6,519,349.

Mrs. Hutchison, who faces re-election next year, had $865,814 in cash on hand as of June 30 and $141,215 in debts and obligations.

Krueger's latest campaign finance report shows that since the start of the year, he raised $3,939,098 and spent $4,220,748. His committee reported debts and obligations of $113,110 for the period ending June 30.

The reports don't reflect the $1.4 million that the Democratic and Republican parties each spent on behalf of Krueger and Mrs. Hutchison. The party money, called coordinated campaign expenditures, can't be funneled directly to the candidates but is spent on their behalf.

For the most recent filing period, which reflects the period from May 17 to June 30, Mrs. Hutchison raised $3,184,620 to Krueger's $515,537. She spent $2,849,642 in that period to his $1,178,655.

Of Mrs. Hutchison's $7.2 million in total contributions since the beginning of the year, $1,114,611 - or 15.3 percent - came from political action committees. Krueger reported 22 percent of his $3,939,098 in contributions, or $882,774, came from PACs.

Texas' other senator, Republican Phil Gramm, is well on his way toward building a war chest for his all-but-declared presidential run in 1996, which comes the same year his Senate term is up.

For the six-month period ending June 30, Gramm's two campaign committees reported $6,221,258 in cash on hand. In that time span, Gramm raised $275,516 in contributions and reported $187,089 in campaign committee expenditures. He reported few PAC contributions, with the $10,775 in money received from PACs accounting for 4 percent of his contribution totals.

Taped confession by defendant tells chilling story about murder

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) - It was a chilling account of blood and money, even by Texas courtroom standards.

Trembling, the young defendant buried his head in his arms and wept. His family and fiance looked on in grim silence. Jurors followed the saga via typewritten transcripts.

Across the aisle, glaring at the accused, sat the target of a bizarre murder-for-hire scheme purportedly engineered by his own adopted daughter.

And adding to the Hollywood scenario was a cowboy cop and a camera crew from Court TV, quietly taping the drama for delayed showing to a national audience.

Such was the scene Tuesday in the capital murder trial of Jeffrey Dillingham, 20, a bright, polite honor student accused of bludgeoning and slashing a wealthy Fort Worth couple.

All were riveted on a 37-minute tape-recorded horror story.

It was Dillingham's account, delivered in a soft monotone, of the bloody assault on Jack and Caren Koslow in the early morning hours of March 12, 1992.

"I hit Mr. Koslow in the back of the head, on the neck, with a pry bar," Dillingham says early on. "...Mrs. Koslow started screaming, and then I hit Mrs. Koslow some more...."

"I saw him slit Mrs. Koslow's throat, but I turned around and I didn't see exactly what he did to Mr. Koslow."

Mrs. Koslow, 40, a member of a prominent Texas oil family, was killed. Her husband, 49, an ex-banker, was severely beaten and slashed. But he survived.

The state maintains the Koslows were targets in a plot conceived by Jack Koslow's 18-year-old daughter Kristi and carried out by Dillingham and a longtime friend, Brian Salter, also 20.

Trial dates for Miss Koslow and Salter, her boyfriend, have not been set.

Tuesday's dramatics focused on the statement Dillingham gave Curt Brannan, a silver-haired, mustachioed homicide detective who showed up in court wearing Western boots, hat and suit.

Disaster area offers little seasonal work

Migrant and seasonal farmworkers who usually travel to northern and midwestern states to harvest crops are in for a very disappointing season, according to Texas Employment Commission officials.

"We have been notified by employment security officials in states along the Mississippi (River) that migrant farmworkers are advised not to travel to the states declared disaster areas unless they have a definite offer of employment," said TEC Chairman Eddie Cavazos. "Unfortunately, severe flooding has curtailed crops in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Illinois, South Dakota, Iowa, North Dakota and Missouri."

Workers may be eligible for disaster unemployment assistance under Presidential Disaster Declarations in those states, but the claimants must be able to identify an employer in the affected state where a job would have been available or where they have been employed in previous years.

Interstate claims can be filed in Texas for processing in the disaster-affected state.

For be eligible for DUA, individuals are required to meet at least one of the following criteria:

-- Worked or was scheduled to work in the disaster area, but because of the disaster no longer had a job, a place to work in the area, or could not get to their place of work because of disaster damage;

-- was prevented from working by an injury or illness resulting from the disaster;

-- became the head of a household and needs employment because the head of the household died as a result of the disaster.

Claimants should present their Social Security card, the name and address of their last employer, documents verifying income prior to the disaster and any documents indicating work eligibility status.

"Since most of these claims will be interstate regular unemployment insurance or interstate disaster unemployment assistance, Texas will make every effort to speed the application process for these workers and will transmit these claims as expeditiously as possible to the other states for consideration," said Cavazos.

"Brian did the alarm code while I ran upstairs and kicked in the door," Dillingham said in the statement taken nearly two weeks after the fatal attack. "Mrs. Koslow was lying in bed. Mr. Koslow was going for the closet."

Dillingham told how he ordered them to lie face down on the floor but did nothing until instructed by Salter. "Do it," he quoted Salter as saying.

"Brian handed me the pry bar and I walked over there and I hit Mr. Koslow and I hit Mrs. Koslow."

Medical examiners said Mrs. Koslow was struck 27 times and that it was a blow to the larynx that killed her. Only an accidental gunshot saved Koslow, police theorize.

"What happened when you hit her....in the throat," Brannan asked.

"She just, like, quit screaming. She was awake and everything, but she like quit doing, you know, resisting and fighting and stuff. She just kinda laid down...."

At the counsel table, Dillingham buried his head on his arms, his body wracked several times by sobs.

And the tape rolled on.

"Brian found Mr. Koslow's buck knife in the closet...I don't remember if the gun went off before Brian cut their throats or afterwards...It had to be afterward, 'cause when the gun went off by accident, I freaked out."

Dillingham revealed that the attack on the Koslows was supposed to have occurred two weeks earlier but that it kept getting postponed.

"Kristi was burned," he said, and nagging Salter.

"Get it done. Get it over with," Dillingham quoted Kristi as telling Salter.

He said Salter told him Kristi expected to inherit as much as $12 million after her parents' death, and that, "I was supposed to get $1 million from the deal."

Although Kristi would have benefited from the Koslows' death, her father testified previously her inheritance was nowhere near that figure.

Federal indictment names four from Tulia

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - The U.S. Attorney's Office unsealed a 13-count federal indictment Tuesday against seven Texans associated with the group "We the People."

Prosecutors accuse them of filing false liens against judges and attorneys in retaliation for foreclosing on their property.

Tulia residents Jerry Don Herndon, 56; Bettie Lu Herndon, 56; Jackie Dee Loring, 61; and William Mason Bivins, 55, are accused of conspiracy to obstruct justice and conspiracy to impede an officer of the United States.

Other Texans indicted were Daniel McDaniel, 53; Julia McDaniel, 51; and Murrell Dwayne Foster, 61. The McDaniels are from Cameron, which is in Central Texas, but they own land near Tulia. Foster is from De Kalb, which is in Northeast Texas.

Federal documents say the defendants belong to We the People, a loosely organized group that says the United States went bankrupt in 1938 and that debts are null and void. The Colorado-based group is headed by Roy Edward Schwasinger of Nebraska.

Schwasinger was named in the indictment, along with Colorado residents Darrell W. Sturgess, 52; J.B. Foster, age unavailable; and Leanna Louise Hoyt, 52. Sturgess, Foster and Hoyt are three of Schwasinger's principal assistants, according to the indictment.

A federal grand jury in Amarillo returned the indictment on July 28, but it wasn't unsealed until Tuesday. Federal prosecutor Bill Mateja declined to comment Tuesday on the reason it had been sealed.

The Texas residents named in the indictment had been charged in U.S. District Court on June 29 in connection with the filing of false financial statements naming U.S. Bankruptcy Judge John Akard and U.S. District Judge Sam Cummings as debtors of the defendants.

The statements purport that the judges owe the defendants millions of dollars and claimed liens against substantially all of the judges' property.

It's almost time for school

Summer vacation for school children is almost at an end and if you haven't already shopped for school clothes, now is the time to purchase some great fashions from local stores. Tracy Schulze is modeling an ensemble from the Pants Cage designed by Cambridge Country Store. The short denim wrap skirt trimmed in suede goes perfectly with the "feed sack" print T-shirt. Fashions such as these and much more will be shown during the Women's Division's Style Show planned from noon until 1 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 12, at the Hereford Country Club. The public is invited to attend. Tickets are priced at $8 per person and are available at the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce office, 701 N. Main St., and at participating stores. Serving will begin at 11:30 a.m. Reservations are not necessary.

More than sun can damage your face

If a golden glow is your goal this summer, hopefully, you will achieve a tan slowly, sensibly and by always using products with SPF protectors. Protection is more critical than ever; NASA reports that ozone levels this summer are as much as 15 percent below normal across the U.S.

Less obvious dangers to the face must also be considered, according to Susan Nettesheim, senior scientist for the Pond's Institute, the consumer research and product development arm of Pond's skincare products. "Problems for skin in the summer include extra dryness or oiliness, heightened sensitivity and breakouts," Ms. Nettesheim says.

"Summer skin is far more sensitive to assaults from the climate - or from products that are too harsh," she continues. "We all know that facial lines can result from photoaging, but facial lines can be exaggerated by harsh cleansing products. On the other hand, moisturizers that are too heavy can leave the skin feeling uncomfortably greasy and actually aggravate breakouts," she points out.

Leading skincare experts offer these tips for facing summer in a healthy manner.

-AVOID CLEANSERS WITH IRRITANTS. Soap or deodorants are especially irritating to skin that has been exposed to the sun. Because skin is more sensitive, it needs gentler products.

-CLEANSE THOROUGHLY BUT GENTLY. Grime is a big irritant for city dwellers in the summer. Perspiration that holds dirt on the face is a problem everywhere. A gentle but thorough cleansing in mornings, at bedtime and after outdoor activity is recommended. Pond's Foaming Cleanser & Toner in One is an idea choice.

-RINSE SKIN THOROUGHLY. After cleansing, be sure to rinse thoroughly with tepid water. Hot water can overdry skin. In a nationwide survey of 3,800 women, researchers at the Pond's Institute discovered that many women stopped rinsing their face after three or four splashes of water. Once you think you're finished, splash twice more to remove the last traces of residue.

-USE LOW-ALCOHOL ASTRINGENT. For a fresh feeling or extra cleansing of makeup and dirt, use astringent, but choose one which has a low-alcohol formula. Astringents that contain large amounts of alcohol can irritate summertime skin that is already aggravated by other elements.

-CLEANSE AND TONE TO COMBAT OILINESS. Contrary to popular belief, the oil glands do not produce more oil during summer. The reason for the oilier appearance is actually the result of the overproduction of sweat and the resulting mixture of oil and sweat which forms a thick film over the face.

-MOISTURE SKIN DAILY. The skin can become dried out over the summer, especially in areas of the country with low humidity. Exposure to the sun or chlorine can also lead to dryness. A light moisturizer with built-in sun protection like Pond's Nourishing Moisturizer with Sunscreen SPF 15 is ideal.

Infant care has to be learned from the bottom up.

Foundation accepting gifts for fund to help hospital, health care here

The Deaf Smith Health Care Foundation is off to a great start and already accepting and acknowledging memorial gifts, according to Dr. Nadir Khuri, chairman of the board of directors.

The foundation is a non-profit corporation which will build and maintain an endowment fund for Deaf Smith General Hospital and general health care in the area.

"Anyone who wishes to make a gift to the foundation in memory or in honor of someone can simply mail a check to Deaf Smith Health Care Foundation, P.O. Box 1858, Hereford, TX., 79045. "We will see that the gift is acknowledged and the proper person is notified of the gift," Dr. Khuri said.

The foundation board plans the first major drive for funds in October. "We're very excited about how the event is coming together and hope to have this special event be a major fund raiser for the foundation," Khuri said.

He added, however, that the foundation realizes that many people are interested throughout the year in contributing to a worthy cause as a memorial to a loved one, "and the foundation encourages people to do that any time."

Gifts to the foundation are a positive way of remembering a person or celebrating a new arrival. "I think it would be very special, for example, for grandparents to make a gift to the foundation in honor of the birth of a new grandchild," Khuri said.

The foundation was established to give financial stability to the hospital by providing the fiscal underpinning to purchase medical equipment and technology; provide educational opportunities for employees, staff, and patients; and continue physician recruitment and retention.

The group set an initial goal of $200,000 to be raised over a two-year period. The endowment is funded by gifts, memorials and bequests from individuals, corporations, and organizations who are concerned about the future of health care in the community.

RADNOR, Pa. (AP) - Mary-Kate and Ashley Olsen, the twins who share a role on ABC's "Full House," act just like any other 7-year-old girls: They're shy around strangers, giggle, and like ice cream and ponies.

But there's one big difference. They've signed TV, recording and music-video deals worth at least $10 million, TV Guide reports in its Aug. 7 issue.

Cornelius' experience at Festival was far more valuable than gold

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

Hereford's Shantel Cornelius didn't come away from last week's U.S. Olympic Sports Festival with a gold medal, but she did come away with a sense of awe and a sense of coming closer to her goal of someday making the Olympic team.

Cornelius, who is in Austin preparing for her sophomore year as a scholarship volleyball player at the University of Texas, played for the West team in the Festival volleyball competition. Her team won only one match--though they were all close--in round robin play, and the team lost in the Bronze medal match.

She didn't seem too disappointed that she didn't get a medal.

"It was disappointing, but the overall experience was worth everything," she said.

The overall experience included the opening ceremonies, which are similar to the Olympic opening ceremonies and were held in San

SHANTEL CORNELIUS

Antonio's newly opened domed stadium, the Alamodome.

She said walking into "the Alamodome with 60,000 people screaming" was an impressive experience, and made her feel like she Cornelius' ultimate dream is to be on that Olympic team. The Festival let her see some of steps that could take her to that goal, she said. The Festival made her feel that playing in the Olympics is a little less of a dream and a little more of a possibility.

"It's motivated me to keep pressing harder toward my ultimate goal, which is the Olympics," she said. "(The Festival experience) helps you keep going, to see your goal is within reach."

For now, though, she'll concentrate on her college career. With 16 players on the Longhorn squad--many of them older--she doesn't expect to start this year, but she does hope to contribute in some way to what could be a very successful year. UT is ranked first in the South region and fourth in the nation.

"We only lost one starter (from last season)," she said. "It'll be a disappointing season if we're not in the Final Four."

had hit the big time. "(I thought) everything I'd been working for seemed like it was taking place."

Her team had 12 players, most of whom had never met any of the others. They only had a week of practice, and that made it hard to play in an organized manner. Cornelius got to play much of the time, but it was in a new position.

"I was fortunate. I got to play a lot," she said. "But my role was very different than what it's been. I was more of a defensive specialist. I played back row a lot."

When she got on the court, the awe of the opening ceremonies gave way to competitive focus.

"You're thinking, 'Perform!' not, 'Omigosh, look where I am!'" she said.

Medal or no, she gained a lot from the whole experience. She said she got to "hang out" with great players, some of which will play for the United States in the 1996 Olympics, which will be held in Atlanta.

Sharks fall in 3rd pool game, start consolation play today

Lake Erie Bronze used three-pointers to take an early lead over Hereford's West Texas Sharks, then used physical play to enforce that lead. The Lake Erie team won 50-41 on Tuesday, knocking the Sharks out of contention in the national 11-under boys AAU basketball tournament being played in Cocoa, Fla.

Burl Miller, coach of the Sharks, said the team of mostly Hereford boys was caught at a disadvantage by the rough play allowed in the tournament. He called it "a sobering experience."

"It was belly-button to belly-button," he said. "When you're on the inside and you go up for a layup, body-checking is fine. You don't blame it on the refs, because all three of them were the same."

He said the Lake Erie team took an early lead by hitting outside shots. The Sharks crawled back to within three points in the fourth quarter, but that was as close as they got.

Slade Hodges led the Sharks with 14 points. Cole Campbell scored 13 points, and Cody Hodges added eight.

The Sharks--seven Hereford boys and two Amarillo boys--won their first game in pool play but lost the next two. Wins in two of the games would have put them in the championship bracket, but with only one win, they'll play in a consolation tournament. They were to start consolation play this afternoon against a team from Charleston, W.Va.

Winning Music

HAMILTON, N.Y. (AP) - Music can be inspiring, even for a basketball team.

Witness the case of the men's squad at Colgate. In the 1992-93 season, the team took the floor at home in Reid Center and listened to a recording of Whitney Houston singing the national anthem in six consecutive games. Six victories resulted.

But when a sound engineer mistakenly played a rendition sung by the school's vocal group, the Swinging Gates, Colgate was beaten by Manhattan College.

Mets' Coleman charged with felony

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Prosecutors decided to level a felony charge against New York Mets outfielder Vince Coleman because of the explosive power of a large firecracker he tossed outside Dodger Stadium.

Coleman on Tuesday was charged with unlawful possession of an explosive device, a felony carrying a maximum penalty of three years in state prison. He is expected to surrender next week.

Three people were injured July 24 when the explosive was thrown from a jeep as autograph-seekers waited outside the players' parking lot after a game.

Arson investigators said Coleman threw something similar to an M-100 - an explosive equivalent to a quarter-stick of dynamite and packed with between 200 and 300 grains of gunpowder. A normal firecracker contains just a few grains of explosive powder.

Bill Hodgman, the district attorney's central operations director, said prosecutors chose to file a felony charge rather than a misdemeanor because of the strength of the explosive and the injuries. An attorney for Coleman, 31, said the player does not wish to contest the charge and wants to reach a financial settlement with the injured parties.

"I take full responsibility for a very childish act for which I am suffering greatly. It was never my intent to hurt anyone. My main concern is for those injured," Coleman said in a statement released by attorney Robert Shapiro.

In Montreal on Tuesday night, Coleman left the team. Gerry Hunsicker, the Mets vice president of baseball operations, said Coleman would not be back until next week.

"He is very stressed by the situation," Shapiro said. "He hasn't been able to sleep and he is very, very concerned for those who have been hurt and for himself."

Fire battalion chief Dean Cathey said his department carried out the investigation and talked to about 24 witnesses.

Each year, Cathey said, his department spends $500,000 "to discourage people from doing what this person (Coleman) is alleged to have done. This year alone, we've had absolutely zero fire loss and no injuries as a result of the direct use of fireworks - until this."

Shapiro said he had relayed a request by Coleman to speak to each of the alleged victims, and that in each case he was referred to attorneys.

Coleman and teammate Bobby Bonilla were in a Jeep driven by Eric Davis of the Los Angeles Dodgers when the incident happened. Hodgman said the district attorney's office was not pursuing charges against Davis or Bonilla.

The explosion injured Amanda Santos, 2, who suffered second-degree burns to her cheek and damage to an eye and finger. Marshall Savoy, 11, suffered a bruised leg. Cindy Mayhew, 33, of Covina was treated for an ear injury.

Coleman sent an autographed T-shirt to Mayhew, an autographed baseball to Santos and an autographed bat to Savoy, Shapiro said.

The Savoy family's attorney, James McKiernan, praised the district attorney for its "fortitude" in pursuing this matter.

"This felony count suddenly changes this from simply a firecracker incident to one involving serious risk of harm to individuals," he said.

McKiernan said he will file a lawsuit on behalf of the boy, alleging intentional infliction of emotional harm.

Darrell York, the attorney for the Santos girl, didn't return a phone call Tuesday. York said last week that Amanda's parents plan to file a lawsuit.

Mayhew's attorney, Joe Borges, said the filing "supports our legal plans" that include a possible lawsuit. He said his client was undergoing therapy for partial hearing loss and was too frightened to speak to Coleman.

Blazers steal Dudley from Nets

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) - Portland is the latest NBA team to use a one-year escape clause as an incentive to get a player to sign a multi-year contract.

Free agent Chris Dudley signed a seven-year contract with the Trail Blazers on Tuesday. The pact includes a provision that allows the 6-foot-11 center to opt out of the deal next year. Under his new contract, Dudley would receive $800,000 for next season, with the amount increasing each year to a total of $11 million.

Henderson pays off in first game with Jays

By The Associated Press

After Toronto acquired Rickey Henderson on Saturday night, the New York Yankees insisted they could still win the AL East. They better start winning ball games before they worry about division titles.

With Henderson making his debut, the Blue Jays defeated New York 8-6 Tuesday night at Yankee Stadium, stretching their lead to three games over the Yankees and the Boston Red Sox.

"We've beaten those guys. We feel we're as good as they are," Yankees manager Buck Showalter said.

With two outs and two on in the ninth, Danny Tartabull doubled off the left-center field wall. Just a few feet higher and the Yankees would have tied the game.

Instead, Al Leiter got the next batter, Paul O'Neill, to ground out and end the game.

Henderson sparked his new team with his bat, arm and legs. He went 1-for-4 with two walks and scored twice. He threw out a runner from left field to cut short what could've been a big inning for the Yankees and later hustled on the bases to keep a key inning alive for the A's.

"That's the way Rickey Henderson plays," he said. "I think I play the whole game - defense, offense, running the bases, playing the field."

Devon White, moved down a spot from the leadoff slot to make room for Henderson, singled home the go-ahead run in the eighth inning as Toronto won its fourth in a row and ninth in 10 games.

The score was tied at 4 in the eighth when Pat Borders led off with a double against Bobby Munoz (2-2) and Henderson singled to center. White bounced a single past the drawn-in infield that scored pinch runner Willie Canate and, after a two-out walk to John Olerud by Paul Assenmacher, Molitor hit a two-run single off Steve Farr. Fernandez followed with his second double of the game.

Pat Hentgen (13-5) gave up 12 hits and four runs in eight innings. Leiter was Toronto's fourth pitcher in the final inning.

White Sox 11, Rangers 6

Frank Thomas hit a three-run homer to highlight a seven-run second inning and visiting Chicago had 18 hits.

Kirk McCaskill (3-7) shut the Rangers down on three hits over the first five innings before Texas broke through with a four-run sixth.

Charlie Leibbrandt (9-8) suffered his fourth consecutive defeat in his shortest outing of the season - 1 1-3 innings.

Twins 6, Red Sox 1

Willie Banks battled out of several jams and Kirby Puckett hit a three-run homer for host Minnesota.

Banks (8-7) left runners in scoring position in five consecutive innings from the second through the sixth. John Dopson (7-6) took the loss.

Orioles 13, Brewers 8

The first four Baltimore batters in the sixth inning walked and scored as the host Orioles rallied from a 4-0 deficit by scoring eight straight runs.

David Segui tied a club record by scoring four runs and Baltimore broke a 5-all tie in the sixth with four runs on two hits.

Ricky Bones (6-8) has lost five straight starts since July 8.

Todd Frohwrth (5-4) pitched 2-2-3 innings of hitless relief for the victory.

Indians 9, Tigers 4

The rain was the only thing capable of stopping Cleveland's Kenny Lofton. In a game shortened to seven innings, Lofton reached base four times - two walks, a triple and a forceout - and scored each time. He stole three bases.

Wayne Kirby homered and tripled for three RBIs, and Albie Lopez (3-1) gave up three runs and three hits in six-plus innings for the host Indians.

Sean Bergman (1-3) lasted 4 2-3 innings, yielding six runs and five hits.

Angels 3, Royals 2

Pinch-hitter Greg Myers hit a two-run homer in the eighth inning off newly-acquired Stan Belinda for host California.

Belinda (0-1), who was traded from Pittsburgh on Saturday, failed to protect a 2-1 lead for starter Hipolito Pichardo. Belinda allowed a leadoff double to Ty Van Burkleo, his first major league hit. Myers, batting for Ron Tingley, drove a 2-2 pitch for his sixth homer, and first with men on base.

Mark Langston (11-5) allowed seven hits and both runs over eight innings. Mike Butcher pitched a perfect ninth for his fourth save.

Mariners 5, Athletics 4

Seattle's Randy Johnson was stuck on 10 wins for 33 days. It took his catcher and a fellow pitcher to get him No. 11.

Dave Valle's one-out single in the ninth drove in pinch-runner Erik Hanson with the winning run as visiting Seattle broke a three-game losing streak.

Johnson (11-7) ended his own three-game losing streak by striking out 12 in eight innings. Ted Power pitched the ninth for his second save.

Edgar Martinez led off the Seattle ninth with a single to center off Edwin Nunez (3-6). Martinez was then replaced by Hanson, a pitcher. Mike Blowers sacrificed Hanson to second and Valle singled to left scoring Hanson.

Reds come from behind to beat Rockies

By The Associated Press

The team with the most losses in baseball took its toughest loss of the season.

The Colorado Rockies were in position to snap their franchise-record eight-game losing streak against the Cincinnati Reds on Tuesday night, only to have the bullpen let a rare victory get away.

Dante Bichette's two-run, two-out homer in the ninth off Rob Dibble gave the Rockies a 4-3 lead. It was short-lived, however, as the Reds tied it in the bottom of the ninth and then won it 5-4 without a hit in the 10th.

"This is probably the toughest of the year," Bichette said. "I don't think I've seen this team this down this year. It was like we'd changed our luck there for a minute. We can't seem to catch a break."

The loss was the expansion Rockies' ninth in a row. They are 3-16 since the All-Star break and, at 36-70, have the worst record in the major leagues.

Bichette's homer, his 16th, was just the third allowed by Dibble this season.

"That was a good feeling," Bichette said. "That was definitely a pick-me-up. We've been through some tough times, and it looked like our luck had changed."

With Dibble coming on with a 3-2 lead it looked like a wrap for the Reds, but he blew his fifth save in 20 opportunities.

Then, in the bottom of the ninth, pinch-hitter Jack Daugherty doubled off Darren Holmes and Hal Morris singled off Gary Wayne to tie it 4-4.

The deciding 10th was ugly even by Rockies bullpen standards.

Curtis Leskanic (1-5) walked Jacob Brumfield on four pitches to open the inning. After a sacrifice, he intentionally walked Reggie Sanders. A wild pitch moved the runners along and a sac fly by Joe Oliver scored Brumfield.

Jerry Spradlin (1-0) pitched a perfect 10th for his first major-league victory.

Astros 6, Dodgers 1

Mark Portugal (10-4) won his fourth straight in the Astrodome and improved to 7-1 there this season. He and Xavier Hernandez combined on a five-hitter. Luis Gonzalez tied a Houston club record with three doubles and Eddie Taubensee had a two-run homer. Kevin Gross (7-10) took the loss.

Giants 12, Padres 7

Will Clark had six RBIs, one short of his career-high, as the visiting Giants rallied. Clark had a three-run homer and two-run triple, but it was Robby Thompson's infield double in the seventh that turned out to be the key hit. With two outs, Thompson popped up, but the ball fell between pitcher Trevor Hoffman and catcher Brad Ausmus, the first of five straight San Francisco hits as the Giants overcame a 7-5 deficit. Dave Burba (9-2), who relieved Bud Black in the fifth, gave up a three-run homer to Phil Clark but got the victory.

Marlins 1, Cardinals 0

Charlie Hough (6-11) allowed six hits over eight innings and Bryan Harvey closed for his 32nd save as the Marlins won on the road. Benito Santiago's ninth homer of the season in the second inning was the game's only run. Donovan Osborne (9-5) left the game in the sixth when he was hit on the side of the left knee by a one-hop smash. Preliminary X-rays were negative.

Phillies 5, Braves 3

Pete Incaviglia homered for the fourth time in three games as the visiting Phillies won their fourth straight. Incaviglia hit his 17th homer of the season in the second off Steve Avery (11-4) and Terry Mulholland (11-8) made it stand up by scattering eight hits in seven innings. Mitch Williams pitched the ninth for his 30th save.

Expos 3, Mets 1

Left-hander Jeff Fassero (7-1) solidified his spot in starting rotation, allowing seven hits over 7 1-3 innings. It was just his fifth career start, but he is now 2-0 with an 0.91 ERA in that role. The Expos scored all their runs with two outs in the bottom of the first off Frank Tanana (5-11).

Pirates 7, Cubs 3

The Pirates snapped a three-game losing streak and Zane Smith won for the first time since July 11, 1992. Smith (1-4) missed the first half of this season rehabbing from arthroscopic surgery on his left shoulder. He allowed eight hits and struck out three in seven innings. The visiting Pirates had eight doubles among their 10 hits off Greg Hibbard (8-8).

Baylor picks Ellis as athletic director

WACO, Texas (AP) - Richard P. "Dick" Ellis was named athletic director at Baylor University on Tuesday and said he had two immediate goals: a winning Bears sports program and financial solvency.

"There are troubled waters ahead in athletics and I accept the challenge," said Ellis who succeeded Grant Teaff.

Teaff resigned effective Aug. 31 to become executive director of the American Football Coaches Association.

Ellis, 48, will move from deputy athletic director into his new position on Sept. 1.

Ellis said "I want to make Baylor athletics the best in the world. Rightly or wrongly our window to the nation is through our athletic program."

Ellis noted that Baylor was the largest Baptist university in the nation and oldest in Texas and said "I think we can mix religion, education and athletics. I think we can have a positive impact on people's lives."

Ellis, who was associate athletic director, was brought to Baylor when Teaff accepted the athletic directorship in 1992.

"I believe Dr. Ellis will help us receive excellence in athletics while helping us maintain integrity, ethics and good sportsmanship," Baylor President Herbert Reynolds said.

Extension News

You see a fuzzy white mold on your cheese -- what do you do with it? You see a black fuzzy mold on your ham -- what do you do with it? You see a suspicious fuzzy mold inside a home-canned product -- what do you do with it?

Are molds dangerous to your health? Some molds cause allergic reactions and respiratory problems. And a few molds can produce poisonous substances called mycotoxins that can make you sick. According to the USDA's Meat and Poultry Food Safety Hotline, you can't always tell if the mold is dangerous to your health. Some mold toxins are powerful in small amounts, others aren't. You can't always scrape away or cut the mold off food.

It's important to understand that mold is a type of fungus that has "roots" that penetrate the food, a stalk that rises above the food, and spores that form at the ends of the stalks, giving the fuzzy growth. When a food shows mold you can see, you can bet that the roots have invaded and are under the surface. In some cases, the toxins produced by the mold are present throughout the food.

Following are guidelines for handling moldy food and to reduce the chance of mold growth in foods in your kitchen.

General guidelines are that you can save hard or firm foods that have only a minor mold problem. On hard cheeses, cut off at least an inch around and below the mold growth.

Don't let the knife touch the mold. However, if you notice mold growth on any cheese, sour cream or yogurt, discard them.

Other foods that molds invade are cured and smoked meats. Cut the mold off these, following the one-inch rule, if it is only a small spot. In all cases, keep the knife out of the mold and keep everything clean and sanitized in your refrigerator. Mold spores spread. Discard moldy bacon, frankfurters, lunch meats or opened canned ham. Be wary of and discard any country dry-cured ham that has brown or black mold. Discard any moldy chicken. Beware of moldy vegetables and fruits. Cut out moldy spots of firm items, but discard any products that have a soft texture and into which mold roots could have easily penetrated.

Discard any moldy bakery products, corn, nuts dried peas and beans and peanut butter. Pastry products are porous in texture and could support root growth; others may support growth of molds that produce harmful mycotoxins.

Any home-canned products with mold growth are suspect and should be discarded.

Finally, be an informed consumer. Don't buy any products, including fresh produce, with any mold growth, and inform grocery managers of any suspect food.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Build beauty from the inside out

The day of the diet traditionally begins when women first bring their warm-weather wardrobes out of winter storage. Visions of how they spent their teenage summers in tank tops and swimsuits motivate most women to replace steaming mugs of hot chocolate with diet sodas and mineral water.

An endless summer of fad diets that promise quick weight loss doesn't always provide the balance of vitamins, minerals and nutrients that will help your body stay beautiful for years to come. Although many women are willing to risk fad diets in exchange for losing a few pounds, the road to a beautiful body involves many factors, including exercise and dedication to a well-balanced diet.

A well-balanced diet is important not only this summer, but for the rest of your life. What you eat can affect your health, including your chances of developing osteoporosis in later years. Osteoporosis, a bone-thinning disease that can lead to fractures, affects more than 25 million Americans, including one in three postmenopausal women.

Calcium is the most essential mineral for osteoporosis prevention. Recent calcium studies support the recommendation of the 1984 Consensus Conference on osteoporosis that post menopausal women should consume 1,500 milligrams of calcium daily to help maintain a calcium balance in their bodies.

Tracking the amount of calcium in your diet is easy. If you write down fat grams, start recording calcium as well. Many products list the mg of calcium on the food label, along with the number of fat grams. An 8-ounce glass of skim milk contains 86 calories, 1 gram of fat and 302 milligrams of calcium.

Green, leafy vegetables, such as spinach and swiss chard, are also high in calcium. However, be careful about relying on these vegetables for calcium because they are also high in oxalic acid, or oxalates. The oxalic acid interacts with the calcium in the vegetables to create calcium oxalate, which your body cannot digest. Therefore, the calcium in vegetables high in oxalates is largely unavailable.

The problem many women face is balancing caloric and calcium intake. Although many lowfat dairy foods are available, three out of four women still do not meet the U.S. RDA standard requirements for calcium intake. For some women, lactose intolerance keeps dairy products off their menus.

If the amount of calcium you consume and your body absorbs is insufficient to offset normal calcium losses, your body will withdraw calcium from stores within your bones. Calcium supplements can help you meet the U.S. RDA requirements for calcium. By taking calcium supplements with meals, you can be sure you are getting an adequate amount of calcium.

At all ages, studies show that women consume less calcium than males. Optimal calcium intake is important to both men and women at all stages of life, but especially to women. Track your calcium intake. If you are not meeting the U.S. RDA of 1,000 mg for premenopausal women and 1,500 mg for postmenopausal women and pregnant and lactating women, seek out a calcium supplement. At your next appointment, discuss your calcium needs and osteoporosis risk with your doctor.

LONDON (AP) - A photographer says Princess Diana berated him for taking pictures of her and her sons as they left a movie theater after watching "Jurassic Park."

Diana left the princes, William and Harry, sprinted 10 yards to Keith Butler and shouted, "You make my life hell!" the free-lance photographer said Monday.

The outburst followed a newspaper guessing game about banker William van Straubensee, who accompanied the princess to a weekend party in Scotland. Newspaper photos showed Diana playing tennis while van Straubensee watched from the sidelines.

Van Straubensee's family denied any romantic link. Diana and Prince Charles are separated and lead independent lives.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Willie Nelson is on the road again after getting a $150 parking ticket.

While appearing at an Agriculture Department forum on Monday, the country star left his bus, Honeysuckle Rose II, blocking a fire hydrant - a $50 violation.

The bus was also left idling, another $50 violation, and in a right-of-way for city buses, also $50.

Nelson's hits include "On the Road Again" and "Always On My Mind."

In February, he settled a $17 million tax dispute with the Internal Revenue Service by paying $9 million.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: I have several cast-iron skillets that were my mother's years ago. I have one that has a hard crust on the outside and some on the inside too.

What can I use to get it off? I have used steel scratchers and abrasive cleaners and it won't come off. — May Cornell, Loganport, Ind.

An accumulation of old grease is probably the culprit. If you have a self-cleaning oven, clean your cast-iron skillet and your oven at the same time, following the appliance directions.

Or, you can use a steel wire brush to remove the burnt-on gunk.

If neither method helps, then get out the barbecue grill. Start a small fire and let the flames die down a bit. Then put the skillet directly into the coals. Let them burn out completely and leave the skillet in the coals to cool for several hours. Once it is completely cool, remove it from the grill.

Wash the skillet with hot soapy water and a sponge or dishcloth, rinse well and dry.

Now it's ready to be seasoned. Rub or spray a generous amount of unsalted vegetable shortening or non-stick vegetable spray over the inside and outside of the skillet. Place it on a cookie sheet and put it in a 300 F oven for one hour, then turn it off. Wait several more hours and remove the cooled skillet from the oven. Wipe out any remaining oil with a clean cloth.

Once it has been seasoned, you won't have to do it again if it's properly cared for. So, never use abrasive cleansers or steel wool to clean it, and don't put it in the dishwasher because doing so will remove every last bit of seasoning.

And, if you are stacking cast-iron items on top of one another, put a paper towel or coffee filter in between them to keep condensation from forming and causing rust. — Heloise

CHOPPING ONION

Dear Heloise: I was always nipping my fingers when chopping onions. One day it occurred to me that a good way to hold the onion would be to stick one of those corn-cob holders in it. It worked great! — Mary Lovett, Stratford, Texas

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) - Garth Brooks has a new look, new songs and a new outlook at the beginning of his world tour.

"I really feel like my wedding day," he said Friday at a news conference.

Brooks opened his 1993 tour Friday with the first of two sold-out concerts at the 97th annual Cheyenne Frontier Days celebration.

Brooks said he lost 40 pounds since his last tour in the fall. After those concerts, he said he might never tour again.

His family, including 1-year-old daughter, Taylor, is traveling with him in a plush bus. Brooks said his decision whether to eventually quit touring is up to his family.

"I have now secondly become a musician," he said. "I have now first become a father and have always been a husband."

Brooks plans to release a new album this fall, adding to five multimillion-sellers.

PIGEON FORGE, Tenn. (AP) - Tanya Tucker canceled two performances at the Dollywood theme park because of exhaustion.

Her father and manager, Beau Tucker, said the singer has been working nonstop for the past few weeks.

"Her only two days off from performing recently were spent flying to Los Angeles to film the video for her upcoming single," Tucker said in a statement.

Ms. Tucker was to continue her tour after resuming shows Saturday at the park owned by Dolly Parton.

She is known for such hits as "Some Kind of Trouble" and "Two Sparrows in a Hurricane."

MEXICO CITY (AP) - Madonna and Michael Jackson are dueling for the hearts and ears of music-hungry Mexicans.

Fans snapped up all 50,000 tickets Friday in just six hours for Madonna's Nov. 10 concert at an outdoor speedway. As a result, promoters added a Nov. 12 show.

While fans were making plans to see the Material Girl, Jackson promoters on Friday announced shows Oct. 29-30 also in Mexico City. Those tickets have not yet gone on sale.

Madonna will bring her own stage, complete with 700 lights. Not to be outdone, Jackson promises 10,000 lights and fireworks at Aztec Stadium, the huge volcano-shaped arena he will play.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: Just how accurate is the Pap test? My doctor has recommended that I have a Pap test every year. I'm 35 years old. I don't mind that because I surely don't want to miss the start of a cancer, but I have read that the Pap test is often inaccurate. What can I do to be sure my test will be accurate? I have never been told of any special procedures I should do before having the test. Should I douche or not?

DEAR READER: There is no way you can be absolutely certain that any laboratory test is accurate, including the study of cells obtained for a Pap test. If all factors for the test are ideal, it should be 95 percent accurate. The number of important changes that occur and may lead to cervical cancer that are missed is shockingly high. That is a good reason to have frequent tests.

The problem begins with obtaining a proper specimen, and what you do to prepare before the test is important. No, you should not douche for at least 24 hours before the test and should not put anything in the vagina. Sexual intercourse should also be avoided for the 24-hour period before the test. And for menstruating women it is best of have the test about five days after the last menstrual period.

Then the person who takes the sample must take it from the right location to get cells from the most important areas. Finally, the laboratory has to process the slide correctly.

I have discussed the preparation for a Pap test and the test itself along with its significance in Special Report 108, Pap Test and Early Cervical Cancer, which I'm sending you. Others who want this report can send $3 with a stamped (52 cents), self-addressed, No. 10 envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/108, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077-5537.

Ultimately you have to rely on your doctor to be using a good laboratory, but you might want to ask him if the lab he uses is accredited by a professional organization.

DEAR DR. LAMB: Do you know if there is any medication or a shot you can take before going to Mexico that would prevent you from getting Montezuma's revenge? When my husband and I went to Mexico last summer we both had a bout of it. We had heard that eating yogurt for several days before leaving would prevent it. We ate it for weeks and it didn't help.

We are thinking of going there again but we don't want to get sick. My husband said he had read about a shot you can take that will prevent it, but he can't remember what it was.

DEAR READER: Most of those cases of diarrhea are caused by the E coli bacteria. There are several strains of E coli and we all commonly have these bacteria in the colon. But the strain we have in the United States and most industrialized nations does not cause this reaction. The strain in Mexico and many other countries does. It is a food- and water-borne infection. Yogurt has absolutely no antibacterial action and will not help in any way to prevent this cause of diarrhea.

Some people do take doxycycline (Vibramycin), which is an antibiotic. That will prevent it. Not everyone tolerates long-term use of this antibiotic. And there is some concern about getting an infection with a different bacteria that may be masked by its actions. Nevertheless, for short durations, it is not a bad choice. There is an injection to help protect against getting viral hepatitis A, but this problem is far less common. Of course, avoiding impure water and food that is possibly contaminated is wise.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I went to the doctor for a checkup and several days later the nurse called and said my cholesterol was 244. I ask her what I should do about it and she said to stay away from dairy products. I asked if there was anything else I could do and she asked my age. I told her I am 74 and she said I didn't have anything to worry about.

Now I am wondering if she meant at my age "what is the use of worrying." Doesn't cholesterol bother the aged? I know cholesterol can lead to a stroke and this I can do without.

DEAR READER: A person's cholesterol level is important at any age. A number of years ago, there was a tendency to think that after you were older it was no longer important. But later studies showed the contrary.

Your total cholesterol level is high, but not so high as to require heroic measures. Also, your HDL cholesterol, the type found in fatty-cholesterol particles that protect against deposits in arteries, is important in deciding how significant your total cholesterol is.

While a high cholesterol may contribute some to the risk of a stroke, it is not a major risk factor. It is a very important risk factor in relation to heart attacks.

Just because a person's total cholesterol is high does not mean they need to avoid all dairy products. If a person needs to eliminate saturated fat, they should avoid whole milk and butter, as well as other sources of saturated fat and cholesterol. But skim milk with 2 percent non-fat solids added is almost cholesterol- and saturated-fat-free. It remains a good source for the calcium you need and good-quality protein.

You could benefit from some dietary modifications, so I'm sending you a copy of Special Report 117, Control Cholesterol with Diet. Others who want this report can send $3 with a stamped (52 cents), self-addressed, No. 10 envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/117, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077-5537.

Of the various diet modifications recommended, avoiding being overweight is probably the most important. And if your health permits, a regular, sensible exercise program is a big help.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077-5537. Although Dr. Lamb cannot reply to all letters personally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.

Budget stretching ideas

The purpose of insurance is to restore things to the way they were before the claim occurred. The fraud artists want to go beyond that - by making a profit.

There are two types of insurance fraud. "Professional" fraud is usually committed by career criminals, often in league with others who can help create or compound the "incident" that leads to claims.

Examples include staged auto accidents aimed at producing (usually phony) injury claims; auto theft-related fraud, such as insuring cars that exist only on paper, then reporting them stolen; and arson-for-profit.

"Amateur" fraud is committed by ordinary insurance policyholders who may sincerely believe they're doing nothing wrong.

An Insurance Research Council survey showed 23 percent of Americans believe there's nothing wrong with padding an auto insurance claim to cover collision deductibles. And 20 percent think it's OK to inflate claims to make up for premiums paid in years when they had no claims.

These folks don't seem to understand that they - and you - end up paying for their dishonesty with higher insurance premiums.

The National Insurance Crime Bureau is spearheading the fight against fraud. If you suspect fraud, call its toll-free fraud hot-line at 1-800-TEL-NICB.

NORFOLK, Neb. (AP) - Country stars introducing their acts with exploding bales of hay, flying pigs, spaceships and swinging ropes? Johnny Cash can remember the days when the sound of a snare drum was a pretty big gimmick.

Cash, during a benefit concert Saturday, recalled his recording of "I Walk the Line" in the 1950s.

He said drums were not allowed in studios, so he improvised by placing paper behind the strings along the top frets to imitate a snare drum.

More than 4,000 people attended the benefit, which raised money for the Orphan Grain Train ministry. The ministry has sent food, clothes and medical supplies to Eastern Europe and to disaster victims in the United States.

CODY, Wyo. (AP) - Prince Albert of Monaco will visit the Buffalo Bill Historical Center to celebrate the 80th anniversary of his great-grandfather's hunting trip with the Western showman.

Peter Hassrick, the center's director, said Monday the prince will visit in late August. He said plans are still tentative.

On Aug. 23, 1913, Prince Albert's great-grandfather, also named Prince Albert, went hunting with Buffalo Bill near Cody.

The elder Prince Albert took part in the carving of a sign in a tree that read "Camp Monaco, 1913." The sign is still visible.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What do you think of a woman who insists that her husband be present in the delivery room, even though he doesn't want to be there?

I made it perfectly clear at the beginning of this pregnancy that being in the delivery room was something I definitely did NOT want to do. My wife seemed to accept this at the time, but now she has changed her mind and insists that I be present.

I say if a man feels strongly about this, his wife should respect his wishes. I'm aware, Ann, that some men wouldn't miss it for the world, but it's just not for me.

I resent being pressured and am angry that my wife is going back on her word. And what about the medical staff being hindered by a husband who is there under protest? Shouldn't they be consulted?

I can't be the only guy in the world who feels this way. What do your male readers say? Please ask them. Sign this letter - I'll Be in the Waiting Room in California

Dear Waiting Room: You sound like a man who is afraid he might pass out if he has to watch the birth of a child. I can understand your apprehension, but your wife is the one who has been carrying this load for nine months. You should make every effort to help her in any way you can.

You did not make it clear whether you want to sit out the entire event, labor and all, in the waiting room--or if it is just the delivery you don't want to witness. If it's the actual birth you don't want to see, I say, OK, you're excused. You'd probably faint and get in the way. But I do believe you should make the effort to be at your wife's side during labor. Not only will it give her the support she needs, it will give you a good idea of what a woman goes through to give birth. Too many men don't have a clue.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been dating "Mark," age 22, for about two years. He doesn't drink or smoke, has never hit me and rarely even raises his voice. So what's my problem?

On Mark's 11th birthday, his father gave him a German shepherd puppy, "Ben." Last week, the vet told Mark that Ben had cancer. Rather than let Ben suffer, Mark told the vet to put him to sleep. Mark held Ben while the vet gave him the shot, and he rocked him gently until he died. When we got home, Mark cried openly and has been very quiet for the past several days.

My father insists that any man who would get that emotional over an animal has mental problems. Ann, Ben was Mark's best friend for 11 years and I don't think his behavior is unusual. Is my father being too critical, or could Mark really have a problem? Should I be concerned?--Ruckersville, Va.

DEAR VA.: Your father has probably never had a pet and does not understand Mark's strong emotional attachment to Ben.

Mark's response to the death of his "best friend" and his lingering sadness are not abnormal. Sometimes it takes months to get over the grief. I suggest that you get him a puppy to fill the hole in his heart. Don't discuss it--just surprise him. I'll bet a dog biscuit to a doughnut, he will be thrilled.

Gem of the Day: Love your friends, practice on your enemies.
