Parading around

Miss Hereford 1993 Dusty Saul rides in the back of this convertible during Saturday's Jubilee Parade. She was near the front of the annual parade, which featured numerous floats, including ones from the HHS classes of 1963 and 1973. Also in the parade were children, clowns and more. See additional photos, Pages 2, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 12.

Hereford turns out to enjoy weekend Jubilee activities

It was a time to sit back, relax and watch the world go by.

It was a time to get out and play, go for the gusto and try to score the winning run.

It was a time to walk around in the warm summer sun, eating what you wanted and enjoying the company of others.

More than anything else, it was the Town and Country Jubilee, which wrapped up its 1993 run Saturday with a parade and Jubilee Junction in Dameron Park.

Saturday dawned early for the participants in the Greg Black Memorial 10K, 2 mile fun run and 2 mile walk, which were held at the YMCA. Races began at 8 a.m.

At 10:30 a.m., the focus shifted to the Jubilee Parade, which started at Hereford High School and ended downtown.

Visitors lined the city streets along the parade route watching 51 entries pass on foot, float or other vehicle.

The parade was sponsored by the Whiteface Kiwanis Club.

Awards were given out for top entries in a number of categories.

Overall winner was Hereford State Bank. The bank also captured first place in the Commercial Division.

The following are parade winners: Overall -- Hereford State Bank.

Best Theme -- 4-H Club, first; Panhandle Community Services, second; and Deaf Smith General Hospital, third.

Open Division -- DSGH, first; Panhandle Community Services, second; and Pickens Family Reunion, third.

Service Club -- 4-H Club, first; Pilot Club, second; and Satellite Center, third; and Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Khiva Shrine, honorable mention.

Religious Division -- St. Anthony's, first; Nazarene Church, second; and Immanuel Lutheran, third.

Commercial -- Hereford State Bank, first; First National Bank, second; Holly Sugar, third; and XIT Cellular and Dairy Queen, honorable mention.

Hereford police reported no problems at the Jubilee Junction in Dameron Park.

Reports released Monday showed only one arrested, that of a 49-year-old male who was arrested at the park for public intoxication.

Park activities were varied, including three dunking booths, a country and western music concert, a church-sponsored puppet show and much more.

For the children, there was a petting zoo and "find-the-pennies" sandbox.

Avenue Baptist Church offered a puppet show and drawing for a family Bible.

The Hereford Lions Club, Noon Kiwanis Club and many other service organizations sponsored food booths and games booths to raise money for local charitable causes.

Food fanciers could choose from barbecue, hamburgers, sausage-on-a-stick, snow cones, soft drinks, nachos, cotton candy, candy apples, popcorn, Mexican food and much more.

Also featured during the Jubilee was the Jubilee of Arts, held Friday and Saturday in the Hereford Community Center, and the Hereford Senior Citizens' quilt show.

Sporting events included a home run hitting contest and the Jubilee Softball Classic.

Assessment okayed by city commission for Lafayette Street

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

An assessment program for paving a block on Lafayette Street was approved by the Hereford City Commission Monday evening although supporters of the project were warned that the cost may rise from original estimates if all property owners do not participate.

And, at least one owner, Seletta Gholson, made her position clear -- she will not execute a lien for $3,200 on the property for the pavement.

In other business during the meeting, the commission authorized a public hearing on a proposal to sell a piece of land and to advertise for bids for the sale; upheld the planning and zoning board's denial of a zoning change asked by the Church of the Nazarene; authorized placement of four-way stop signs in two locations; approved a proposal from a bond counsel firm, and accepted the audit for the last fiscal year.

The paving issue on Lafayette Street has been simmering for several months. The city is not contributing financially to the project but must authorize an assessment program.

The Rev. Warren McKibben, pastor of the United Pentecostal Church, told the commission that paving the street would "benefit the community." He said six of nine property owners have agreed to the assessment program.

"Two owners said they would like to have it but couldn't pay and one doesn't want it," said McKibben.

Mayor Bob Josseland responded to McKibben's plea for the work to be done by observing that "we don't want to force this down someone's throat."

He explained that liens could be filed against the property by the contractor and the liens would be paid off if the property is sold.

Seletta Gholson told the commission that she owns "one-fourth of the block" and asked "how can I be assessed?"

City Attorney Terry Langehennig advised her that she would have to execute a lien for the assessment to be made.

Commissioner Roger Eades reminded property owners that "there is the possibility the assessment for you will be bigger if some don't participate."

The city will not permit paving of portions of a street, the delegation was informed.

Commissioners, on motion by Eades and second by Wayne Winget, voted unanimously to allow the project to be implemented.

The commission took the necessary steps toward sale of a triangular-shaped property adjacent to Deaf Smith General Hospital.

Research recently turned up a deed restriction placed on the property when it was given to the city in 1917 by the Western Union Land Company for a park. The deed provides that if the land should cease to be a park, it would revert to the donor.

An opinion from the Texas Attorney General's office, however, cleared the way for the transfer.

A second hurdle was a Texas Parks and Wildlife requirement that any land designated for parks must be sold through the bid process.

The city must publish intentions to sell through newspapers and ask for bids. In early discussions on the property transfer, the city had considered selling the property, just less than an acre, to the hospital district for $1. TP&W, though, stipulates that park land must be sold for fair market value.

Commissioner Dennis Hicks objected to the proposed sale, observing that "I can't have a clear conscience because the property was given to the city with the idea that it would be a park."

Hicks said he is aware of Deaf Smith General Hospital's need for expansion, "but not with park land."

On a motion by Commissioner Carey Black, seconded by Eades, Commissioners Wayne Winget, Silvana Juarez, Black and Eades voted in favor of fulfilling requirements for the sale. Hicks voted against the motion.

Installation of four-way stop signs at the intersections of Plains and Hickory and Avenue F and 16th was authorized. The traffic control signs were recommended by Police Chief David Wagner.

No one associated with the Church of the Nazarene appeared before the commission to discuss the zoning change turned down by the P&Z board. The church had asked for a mobile home designation on the property. Hicks (See COMMISSION, Page 2)

Nancy Griego appointed to city commission seat

A resident of Hereford since infancy, Nancy Griego, was appointed Monday night to the City Commission to fill an unexpired term.

The appointment was made in open session of the commission, after an executive session of about 14 minutes.

After the commission action was taken unanimously, Mayor Bob Josseland noted that at least two other citizens had expressed interest in the post. He commended Eugene Condarco and Juan Jackson for their interest.

Condarco congratulated Griego and said he expects to continue his interest, even to running for office in the future. Jackson told the commission that "you made a fine choice."

Griego will serve in Place 2 until next May, completing the term of Irene Cantu who resigned the position in a letter dated July 20. Cantu cited "personal reasons" for the resignation.

The new commissioner will take the oath of office at the next regular commission meeting on Aug. 16.

Employed by Deaf Smith General Hospital for some 15 years, Griego is quality management coordinator for the hospital.

She began her career at DSGH as a vocational nursing student. After earning the license in vocational nursing, she continued her education by obtaining an associate degree in nursing from Amarillo College. She was awarded a bachelor's degree in nursing from West Texas A&M University in May.

An Army Reservist, Griego was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1987 and has advanced to first lieutenant. She is on the promotion list for next March, earning a captain's bars.

She attended St. Anthony's School and was graduated from Hereford High School in 1974. Her parents, Joe and Sara Griego, also are Hereford residents.

Griego is the mother of two children, Bridget, 16, and 12-year-old Jeremiah Beltran.

In approaching her new post, the commissioner-designate said she wants to focus on the "quality of service to our community."

Demos poised to push Clinton's budget plan through Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) - Democrats say they are poised to muscle President Clinton's $496 billion deficit-reduction plan through Congress this week as they apply final touches to a bill that's been six months in the making.

Congressional Democratic leaders agreed Monday to reduce the number of elderly Americans who would be hit by a higher Social Security tax and to slow the growth of Medicare.

Those deals were aimed at sealing the votes Democrats will need to approve Clinton's primary legislative goal of the year.

With only minor details of the budget package still unresolved, party leaders said the way was clear for a House vote on Thursday, followed by the Senate on Friday - the day Congress hopes to leave for a month-long summer recess.

"We're not bringing it up to have the bill defeated; we're bringing it up to pass the bill," said House Speaker Thomas Foley, D-Wash. "So we believe we have the votes."

Clinton planned a nationally televised speech tonight to try to solidify public support. But nervous Democrats knew they would have to labor to get the measure through Congress. They blessed initial versions of the bill by just 219-213 in the House and 50-49 in the Senate, thanks to Vice President Al Gore's tie-breaking vote.

Republicans who unanimously opposed the early packages were ready to do so again. And Sen. David Boren, D-Okla., the maverick conservative who supported the package in June, has declared that this time he will vote "no" - meaning that at least one of the six Democratic senators who opposed the plan would have to be converted.

A half-year after Clinton unveiled his economic-recovery plan in a dramatic speech to Congress, last-minute changes were being made by the hour as Democrats struggled to pick up votes. The lower Social Security tax increase was aimed at luring Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., whose state has many retirees. A tax credit for some restaurants was included in hopes of gaining support from Sen. Richard Bryan, D-Nev., who was protecting his state's tourism interests.

Democrats said the measure would impose $242 billion in tax increases over the next five years - more than three-fourths of which would be paid by families and businesses earning more than $200,000 annually.

A 4.3-cent-a-gallon increase in the 14.1-cent federal gasoline tax was the only item that would directly hit most middle-class families - at an average annual cost of $21.28 per car, according to federal figures.

The rest of the deficit reduction - $254 billion - would come from slowing the growth of Medicare, cutting the Pentagon's budget and other spending reductions.

Winning parade entry

The Hereford State Bank float captured top honors in Saturday's Jubilee Parade. The float won the overall prize, as well as first place in the commercial division. Other winners in the commercial division were First National Bank, second, and Holly Sugar, third. The parade wound its way from Hereford High School through downtown. Following the parade was the annual Jubilee Junction celebration at Dameron Park.

Progressive Reunion held recently at Community Center

Joe Hershey and Helen Watts were hosts for the 33rd Annual Progressive Reunion held Sunday, July 18, at the Hereford Community Center.

Following the registration, special guests, Finis and Jeanie Cavender of Abilene, were introduced. They sang several musical selections including "West Texas Style" and "Let It Be Me."

A memorial service was conducted by Dorothy Lundry honoring deceased residents, Calvin Edwards, Herb Bippus and Loyd Russell.

Former Progressive Community resident, Catherine Russell, gave a reading on three short subjects. Also, song books were distributed. Eunice Boyer played several songs and Cecil and Eunice Boyer sang two specials, "He Touched Me" and "Heaven Sounds Sweeter All the Time."

President Joe Hershey conducted a brief business meeting and those present voted to have a pot luck dinner at next year's reunion. Also, Hershey was elected to serve another year as president and Helen Watts was re-elected as secretary.

The remainder of the afternoon was spent visiting and the host couple served refreshments.

Pioneer lifestyle reviewed for club

Pioneer Study Club recently met for lunch at Furr's Cafeteria in Amarillo and then reconvened at the home of Fern Sigle for their meeting and program.

The business meeting was conducted by President Rosemary Thomas.

The Federation report told of the progress women have made in the last 20 years. "We now have battered women and children shelters, Rape Crisis Centers and displaced homemaker group programs."

A thank you letter was read from King's Manor Methodist Home for the club's donation toward the newly installed security system. Other letters of appreciation were read from Taylor Sublett, Denia Durbin and Robert E. Bolton for the clubs sponsorship of the Hugh O'Brian Leadership Conference in Amarillo.

Legislative report on gun control was given by Billee Johnson.

Maria Escamilla reported on the recent plant sale at the Sugarland Mall and the work in Mother's Park.

Billee Johnson introduced the guest speaker, Beulah Lee Rutherford Carter, the daughter of Pioneer charter member Mrs. J.T. Rutherford.

Beulah Lee told of the early years of hard work and struggles her family and the early settlers endured as they established their ranches and farms in Deaf Smith County. She emphasized the lack of contact with other people for weeks at a time due to distance, availability of transportation, and weather hazards.

The speaker told about how the women would store brooms and gunnysacks in the attics to fight prairie fires; one of which burned off most of the Rutherford's grass and burned almost to Canyon. Since there was no school, governess were secured for the children; one was Roxie Witherspoon (Mrs. L.N. Fertsch) and another Vida Orr (Mrs. Jno Jacobsen). The Rutherfords were instrumental in establishing the Files School. Sam

Bratton, later judge of U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Albuquerque, taught at the school and boarded at the ranch.

Plans were made to build a home in Hereford but in 1907, while taking cattle and sheep to market in Kansas City, Mo., Mr. Rutherford contracted pneumonia. He lived only a week after his return. Mrs. Rutherford leased the ranch and moved to town where Beulah Lee was born, just three months after her father's death.

Mrs. Rutherford (Miss Hattie as she was affectionately known) was an active lifetime member of the Methodist Church and Missionary Society. During WWI, she headed the Red Cross knitting department and sewed each week for the Red Cross in WWII. She was also a charter member of the Mothers' Club (Pioneer Club) which built Mothers' Park at 10th and Main.

Chocolate and cherry cakes with tea and coffee were served to guest Beulah Lee Carter, Mary Jane Burrus, Nell Culpepper, Maria Escamilla, Catherine Gripp, Oleta Hoffman, Billee Johnson, Gladys Miller, Fern Sigle and Rosemary Thomas.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Readers: In a recent column, I mentioned a list of items that could be included in a first-aid kit. One of the suggestions was aspirin, and it has been brought to my attention that physicians recommend giving acetaminophen instead of aspirin to children under 19.

According to the National Reye's Syndrome Foundation, the U.S. Surgeon General, the Food and Drug Administration and the Centers for Disease Control, recent studies have shown that aspirin or medicine containing aspirin should not be taken by anyone under 19 years of age during fever-causing or viral illnesses.

The chance of developing Reye's Syndrome, which affects the liver and brain, could be increased by taking aspirin. This disease can affect anyone, though infants and young adults are usually more at risk. As with all medications, even over-the-counter drugs, you should consult your physician or pharmacist before taking anything.

For more information about Reye's Syndrome, write to National Reye's Syndrome Foundation, PO Box 829S, Bryan OH 43506, or call the National Reye's Syndrome Foundation at 1-800-233-7393. — Heloise

BUBBLE MIXTURE

Dear Heloise: My daughter is 4 years old and she loves playing with bubbles, but she complains about them burning her eyes or she ends up spilling the solution. So rather than buying more, I just take baby shampoo (that doesn't burn eyes), put it in the bottle and fill it with water. A little shake and we have new bubbles. — Debbie Young, Farmington, Ill.

Send a money- or time-saving hint to Heloise, PO Box 795000, San Antonio TX 78279-5000 or fax it to 210-HELOISE. I can't answer your letter personally but will use the best hints received in my column.

West Texas Sharks stand 1-1 in pool play in Florida

The West Texas Sharks had one win and one loss with one game remaining in pool play Tuesday morning.

The Sharks are a team of mostly Hereford boys who are playing in the national 11-under AAU basketball tournament.

The Sharks, seeded No. 32 out of 62 teams, won their first game on Sunday, beating the 29th seeded Massachusetts Bulls 45-35. Cole Campbell led the Sharks with 13 points, Cody Hodges added 10 and James Miller chipped in five.

The Sharks went up against the

No. 2 team Monday and fell 50-35. Sharks' coach Burl Miller said the No. 2 team, the Atlanta Celtics, were very quick, and they effectively used a physical pressure defense.

"The team we played had the pick from a city of about a million people," Miller said. "They had 15 boys on the bench, and the talent did not drop off any when they substituted."

The Sharks were to play a third pool-play game today. A win in that game would put the Sharks into the championship bracket.

Camp for young golfers starting up

Dave Kaesheimer, the pro golfer at Pitman Municipal Golf Course, will conduct a golf camp this week for young golfers aged 5-8.

The camp will be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, from 9-10 a.m.

each day.

The cost is $15 per camper. Those interested can sign up by calling the Pitman pro shop at 364-2782 tonight, or by signing up early Wednesday before it starts.

Match Play tourney needs players

Registration continues this week for the annual City Match Play Golf Tournament, which begins Saturday.

Golf pro Dave Kaesheimer reported that more entrants are needed for flights other than the championship group. The city tourney had three flights last year.

Entry fee is $40 per golfer in the double elimination tourney, which will be flighted according to handicaps. Matches will be scheduled over several weeks to determine winners of each flight.

Dr. Rick Roden won the championship last year, edging Don Leverett, Jerry Stevens and Ron Weishaar in the process. Robert Jones won the first flight, and Leo Hollowell took second-flight honors.

James Salinas, 10-time winner, did not enter last year.

Cubs, Pirates tangle in baseball's latest brawl

By DICK BRINSTER
AP Sports Writer

There were seven home runs, six ejections, a few well-timed brushback pitches and a bench-clearing brawl.

Welcome to Wrigley Field, where one of the targets - Chicago's Mark Grace - was actually gracious enough to say he fully expected to be hit.

Grace realized Pittsburgh's Blas Minor would retaliate after the Cubs plunked Carlos Garcia for homering in his first two at-bats Monday.

"That's the way the game is played," Grace said. "I told the pitcher 'I'll stand here until you hit me.'"

Minor (6-5) missed, but his effort gave birth to a brawl in the sixth inning of the Cubs' 12-10 victory. Bob Scanlan (3-5) - who hit Garcia in the top of the inning - Minor and Pittsburgh's Al Martin were ejected.

End of story, right? Wrong.

An inning later, Pittsburgh's Lloyd McLendon homered. Jose Bautista then hit Lonnie Smith.

Pirates manager Jim Leyland thought an ejection was called for. For arguing that point with home plate umpire Charlie Reliford, Leyland became ejectee No. 4.

"Everyone knew Scanlan threw at Garcia and the players took care of that," when Minor threw at, but missed Grace, Leyland said. "OK, let's play. But they got away with one when Bautista hit Lonnie. Bautista has pinpoint control."

Cardinals 5, Marlins 3
Brian Jordan and Rod Brewer supplied the offense for Bob Tewksbury.

Jordan had a triple and a double and scored two runs, and Brewer drove in two.

Tewksbury (11-7) allowed two runs on 12 hits with two walks and one strikeout in seven innings for St. Louis. Tewksbury, who allowed just seven bases on balls in his first 20 starts, has walked five in his last two games.

Mets 4, Expos 3
Bret Saberhagen outpitched Ken Hill to win his fourth straight decision, and Tim Bogar drove in three runs for visiting New York.

Saberhagen (7-7) allowed three hits in eight innings, giving way to John Franco, who got his eighth save. After allowing a first-inning leadoff triple to Delino DeShields, Saberhagen set down 15 of the next 16 batters.

Reds 6, Rockies 2
Colorado lost their franchise-record eighth straight game as Cincinnati rode Tim Lincecum's complete game and Joe Oliver's three-run homer.

Pugh (7-10) limited the Rockies to nine singles - three by Dante Bichette - before Vinny Castilla hit a two-run homer with two outs in the ninth. Pugh didn't walk a batter until the ninth, and struck out six.

Blue Jays' White shines in last game as leadoff hitter

By MICHAEL FLAM
Associated Press Writer

Devon White made his last game as Toronto's full-time leadoff man a memorable one.

White, who will yield the No. 1 spot in the lineup to Rickey Henderson tonight, hit a two-run homer as the Blue Jays defeated New York 4-0 Monday night at Yankee Stadium.

The victory gave Toronto a two-game lead over both New York and Boston and dropped the Yankees into third place, one percentage point behind the idle Red Sox. The Blue Jays have won eight of nine games.

Jim Abbott (8-9) was working on a two-hitter when Pat Borders opened the sixth with a bunt single. Willie Canate sacrificed Borders to second and then White hit Abbott's first pitch against the left field foul pole for his 12th homer of the season.

Orioles 7, Brewers 5
Jeff Tackett, a late-inning replacement for injured catcher Chris Hoiles, singled home the go-ahead run in the seventh inning as host Baltimore rallied from a 5-3 deficit.

Two other seldom-used players, Sherman Obando and Jack Voigt, homered for the Orioles, who were close to dropping their sixth game in the last seven before scoring three runs in the seventh.

Mark Williamson (6-2) allowed two hits in 2-3 innings in relief and Gregg Olson worked the ninth to earn his 27th save.

Rangers 9, White Sox 8
Six walks and three hit batsmen put Texas in position to win. It was the final pitch, a wild one, that gave the Rangers the victory over Chicago.

Pinch-runner Manuel Lee capped a hitless ninth-inning rally by scoring on a wild pitch by Donn Pall as Texas stopped the White Sox' six-game winning streak.

Chicago is 4 1/2 games ahead of Kansas City in the AL West and 5 1/2 in front of third-place Texas, which scored five runs in the sixth inning with the help of just one hit.

In the ninth, Jeff Schwarz (2-2) walked Julio Franco, and Lee came in to pinch run. Scott Radinsky relieved and walked pinch-hitter John Russell. Pall replaced Radinsky and got Dean Palmer on a ground out to first base, moving the runners up.

Pall's 1-1 pitch to Doug Strange got away from Mike LaValiere, and Lee beat the catcher's throw to Pall at the plate.

Tom Henke (5-3) got the win despite giving up the tying run in the ninth.

The race is on
Runners sprint for position at the beginning of the Greg Black Memorial 10-K Run, held Saturday in front of the Hereford

YMCA. More than 130 persons competed in the annual event. For complete results, see Page 5.

Johnson angry at Pokes' poor effort

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Winning football games is Jimmy Johnson's life and he can't even stomach the sloppy loss of a meaningless exhibition game in August.

Johnson is already jittery about his defending Super Bowl champions although the first regular season game is still a month away.

The Minnesota Vikings inflicted a 13-7 defeat on the sore and tired Dallas Cowboys Sunday night and Johnson acted like someone had stolen his $7,500 Super Bowl ring.

"It would be very easy to say we'll be fine when the season starts," said a red-faced Johnson. "We need a sense of urgency on this team. It will be difficult to correct in next week's practices (in London) but it WILL be corrected when we get back to Austin."

The Cowboys leave for London on Tuesday for next Sunday's "American Bowl" game against the Detroit Lions.

What Johnson wants to correct is five turnovers, three lost fumbles and two interceptions that kept the Cowboys from mounting any serious offense. However, the Cowboys will get only two days of hard work in London.

Johnson didn't make any excuses for his dog-tired team which had three days of scrimmages against the Los Angeles Raiders and a scrimmage with the Houston Oilers just before they played the Vikings.

"I saw a team that has a lot of holes to fill," Johnson said. "I don't want to be an alarmist but everybody seems to be extremely happy to wear their Super Bowl rings. There's 27 teams out there waiting to take those rings."

recovering from back surgery, Johnson's outburst seemed to be overkill this early in the season.

"This is the first game of the pre-season and we've already got people panicking," said linebacker Ken Norton.

Rookie wide receiver Kevin Williams said Johnson was white-hot in the dressing room after the game.

"The coach was at least a level two on a three-point scale," Williams said.

Hugh Millen had a bad night as Aikman's replacement. He served up two interceptions and was sacked three times.

Millen, who came to the Cowboys as a free agent from New England, seemed to have problems whenever the Vikings blitzed.

"Sometimes I didn't make the right decisions," said Millen. "I was a little rusty."

Offensive coordinator Norv Turner said Millen "made some good throws but he took us inside the 30 two times and we didn't score and he's got to do that."

The Cowboys lost one of their up-and-coming defensive stars when safety Darren Woodson suffered a fracture of his right forearm.

Woodson could be lost for at least two months. Veteran James Washington, who lost the starting strong safety job to Woodson in training camp, moves back to first string.

"I'm very disappointed," Woodson said. "That's a lot of hard work down the drain."

Did the Cowboys miss Smith? On 20 rushes by Derrick Lassic, Mike Beasley, Daryl Johnston and Jason Garrett the Cowboys got a grand total of 50 yards.

"It was as ugly a game as we've played in a long time," said Johnson.

Orioles sold for $173 million

NEW YORK (AP) - The Baltimore Orioles, popular with fans who have been jamming into Camden Yards in record numbers, are also very attractive to big-time investors.

A group led by Baltimore lawyer Peter Angelos and Cincinnati businessman William DeWitt was declared the winning bidder Monday when it offered a record $173 million for the Orioles.

The bid set a record price for a sports franchise, surpassing the $140 million paid for the NFL's Dallas Cowboys in 1989. It also shattered baseball's record of $106 million paid last year for the Seattle Mariners.

Angelos said he was "prepared to pay a premium" for the team. However, he said, "I didn't think it would go this high."

Camden Yards, which opened in April 1992, played host to this year's All-Star Game in July and has been widely praised as one of baseball's premier ballparks. In its first year, attendance at Camden Yards was a team record 3,567,819, an average of 44,598 a game.

Rockets trade for Blazers' Elie, release Floyd

HOUSTON (AP) - Houston Rockets owner Les Alexander is wasting no time in upgrading Hakeem Olajuwon's supporting cast.

The Rockets, whose new owner said a "significant" trade was pending when he officially took over the team last Friday, on Monday acquired guard Mario Elie from the Portland Trail Blazers in exchange for a second-round draft pick in 1995.

Houston general manager Steve Patterson said Elie will add depth to the Rockets' bench.

"He gives us some flexibility," Patterson said. "He's a defensive stopper and he really improved his 3-point shooting last year."

The Rockets also released 11-year veteran guard Eric "Sleepy" Floyd Monday to create room under the NBA salary cap.

He averaged 11.5 points and 5.4 assists in six seasons with Houston. Last season, in 52 games, he averaged 6.6 points and 2.5 assists. His career scoring average is 14.2 points.

West Diesel wins Jubilee Classic

The West Diesel Service softball team came out of the losers' bracket and won two straight games over the Hot Shots to take the championship of the Fourth Annual Hereford Jubilee Softball Classic.

The championship was determined Sunday at the Church of the Nazarene softball field. The tournament was played Friday, Saturday and Sunday using the Nazarene field and St. Anthony's field.

West Diesel denied the Hot Shots a perfect tournament by outscoring them 18-12 in the first championship game of the double-elimination tournament. In the second and final game, West Diesel took a 4-3 lead in the fifth, scored three runs in the sixth and two in the seventh to stay ahead of Hot Shot rallies, and took a 9-6 win.

The Blue Sage A's finished third in the tournament.

In Saturday's home run hitting contest, Jackie Mercer hit four home runs in five swings to take the title.

Early in the competition, Pat Mercer—Jackie's brother and the defending champion—and Ralph Martinez each hit three home runs. Jackie's four-homer performance was his third try and came minutes before a playoff between Pat Mercer and Martinez was to start.

Jubilee Classic champs

Going, going, gone.

Jackie Mercer, the winner of the home run hitting contest, watches another fly out of the yard.

Lady Knights get 2nd in Clovis

There was an attempt to organize a women's softball tournament during the Jubilee, but not enough teams wanted to come to Hereford, Lupe Ramirez said.

So, the Lady Knights, a Hereford team coached by Ramirez, went to Clovis, N.M., and placed second in the World Hispanic Qualifier tournament.

The Lady Knights made it all the way through the losers' bracket, only to lose 8-7 in the championship game to the Shadows of Clovis.

The Lady Knights' shortstop, Michelle Brock, got the Gold Glove award as the tournament's outstanding defensive player.

The Lady Knights are sponsored by Gerald Gamboa.

JH spikers should sign up Thursday

Girls entering the seventh and eighth grades who want to play volleyball this year at Hereford Junior High should come to the junior high between 4 and 7 p.m. Thursday.

Each girl needs to attend with a parent, because there are forms that need to be signed, said girls' athletic director Brenda Reeh. Equipment and lockers also will be issued.

Seventh grade girls should bring their completed physical forms, Reeh said.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Some time ago, I read a letter in your column from a woman who was overworked and took her frustrations out on her children. She asked you to print a prayer she'd read in a magazine. It was very moving. Would you consider running it again?--Monaca, Pa.

DEAR MONACA: Thanks for asking. It's one of my all-time favorites. Here is the letter and the prayer. P.S. The author, Marjorie Holmes, has a lovely new book out called "Second Wife Second Life." The publisher is Doubleday.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This morning, burdened with too much work to fit into one day and very tired from the day before, I took out my frustration on my children. This evening, I picked up a magazine and saw this Mother's Prayer, by Marjorie Holmes. It really got to me. Please print it in your column. There are so many mothers who need to see it. Thank you, Ann.--Alpena, Mich., Mom

DEAR MICHIGAN MOM: A great many mothers are going to see themselves today. This beautiful poem is sure to help them.

A Mother's Prayer

Oh God, I was so cross to the children today! Forgive me. I was discouraged and tired--and took it out on them. Forgive my bad temper, my impatience and, most of all, my yelling. I am so ashamed as I think of it. I want to kneel down by each of their beds, wake them up and ask them to forgive me. But I can't. They wouldn't understand. I must go on living with the memory of this awful day, my unjust tirades. Hours later, I can still see the fear in their eyes as they scurried around, trying to appease me--thinking my anger and maniacal raving was their fault.

Oh God, the pathetic helplessness of children. Their innocence before the awful monster--the enraged adult. And how forgiving they are--hugging me so fervently at bedtime, kissing me good night. All I can do is straighten a cover, touch a small head burrowed in a pillow and hope with all my heart that they will forgive me.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: From time to time, you have printed letters from readers about transplanting organs. Please print one more letter to remind people that the need is enormous and there is no gift as great as this one.

In December, our daughter received a kidney transplant after being on dialysis for over two years. Only one who has experienced the thrill, the relief and the gratitude for this medical miracle can appreciate what this has meant to us.

We are so deeply indebted to a family we will never know. They turned their sad loss into tremendous joy for the organ recipients and their families.

What better way is there to immortalize a loved one than by giving new life to others? There are many people waiting for this medical miracle. Signing a donor card and making your wishes known to others is so each, and it is a gift beyond measure.--Grateful Parent in New York

DEAR NEW YORK: Thank you for writing. A donor registration card can be obtained by writing to The Living Bank, P.O. Box 6725, Houston, Texas 77265. Carrying one of these cards in your wallet can make a world of difference. Write for one today.

Bride-elect honored

Funk feted with shower

Brandee Funk, bride-elect of Larry Backus, was honored with a bridal shower recently in the home of Kay Cotten, 118 Oak St.

Assisting the honoree was her sister, Stacy Funk.

Guests were served refreshments of sausage balls, fresh fruit, tea ring sweet breads and punch.

The table was covered with a white cloth, burgundy underlay and crocheted ecru overlay. It was centered with a large bouquet in the honoree's chosen colors of burgundy and mauve. Crystal appointments were used.

The honoree was presented a jam hutch from the hostesses: Ann Lueb, Sue Sims, Kay Cotten, Susie Polle, Karla Vasek, Kitty Gault, Betty Kalka, Eileen Alley, Suzy Fangman, Mary Johnson, Christine Marnell, Theresa Artho, Nadine Berend, Elaine Gerber, Pat Sinnacher, Joan Straffuss, Crystal Backus, Carolyn Baxter, Sylvia Paetzold, Charlene Sanders, Mary Lou Venhaus and Judith Rae Andrews.

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) - Marty Stuart, who left this burg for country-music fame, has not been forgotten by his hometown fans.

"He never high-hats anybody," said Martha Moore, 39, a Philadelphia bookkeeper decked out in a Stuart T-shirt at the Neshoba County Fair. "He's not forgotten where he's come from."

Stuart played Saturday night at the 104-year-old fair in Philadelphia.

Signs papered most cabins and telephone poles to greet Stuart, who attended Philadelphia Elementary School.

Nashville, Tenn., is home now, but Stuart is building a house in Neshoba County.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - No one had to twist Janine Turner's arm to get her to appear in the video for Billy Dean's new song, "I'm Not Built That Way."

"I'm a Texas girl who loves country music, and I'm a big fan of Billy's," Turner said. "And besides, he is by far the most handsome guy in country music today."

The video, filmed at the Cowtown Coliseum in Fort Worth, Texas, has Turner playing a photographer being wooed by musician Dean in a rodeo setting, according to a news release issued last week by Dean's spokesman.

"Look out, sucker!"

There's nothing like liquid string to stir up a little fun. Lisa Beavers, 13, aims to "kill" at the Jubilee Junction festivities held Saturday afternoon in Dameron Park. The annual event drew a record crowd.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) - U.S. Chief Justice William H. Rehnquist was named "Swedish-American of the Year" despite being labeled "un-Swedish" because of his record on capital punishment.

Rehnquist, whose grandparents were Swedish, on Sunday received the "Vasa Order of America," a plaque given annually to prominent Americans of Swedish descent by the private, 35,000-member Vasa Order.

Rehnquist has authored majority opinions saying death penalty convictions in state courts cannot be appealed at federal level. Sweden banned capital punishment in 1921 and long has opposed it elsewhere.

DETROIT (AP) - Basketball star John Salley was married at a wedding some fans said was fit for a prince.

"To me this was the Charles and Diana of Detroit," said Anthony Stokes, 36, who watched the wedding across the street from the Blessed Sacrament Cathedral. "This is royalty at its finest."

About 700 guests attended the wedding Saturday and about 300 more gathered outside the church.

Salley, a former Detroit Pistons player who now stars for the Miami Heat, married Natasha Duff, 23, a model from Detroit. The two met in 1991.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I have been taking 325 mg of aspirin daily for 10 years to prevent a heart attack. This has also lessened the frequency of 20-minute visual disturbances which accompany apparent migraine headaches. Because of frequent nosebleeds, my doctor advised discontinuing the aspirin for three weeks. The nosebleeds were reduced to a trace on my facial tissues, but my migraine headaches with the visual disturbances have increased to an alarming frequency.

Are the two alternatives equally undesirable or would the visual disturbances indicate the risk of a stroke? Which would likely be more life-threatening than a nosebleed? Help me make a wise choice. I'm 77 years old.

DEAR READER: Daily aspirin can lessen or eliminate migraine attacks. Your visual disturbances are probably part of the migraines. You might have them treated with sumatriptan, a new medicine recently approved for that purpose by the FDA. That won't help you in preventing heart attacks and strokes.

The other idea would be to see an ear, nose and throat specialist and find out if there is a local condition in your nose that can be treated to prevent nosebleeds. Cauterizing a bleeding area may stop that and allow you to use a baby aspirin every other day.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077-5537. Although Dr. Lamb cannot reply to all letters personally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.

Dr. Walker began seeing patients in Hereford August 2. His training and background include extensive experience in family practice (including OB), emergency medicine, sports medicine, and industrial/occupational health.

A native of Idaho where he garnered honors as an "all-state" football player, Dr. Walker began his training in the United States Army where he first trained as a basic medical specialist. He continued taking specialized medical training, including a three-year stint on the European campus of the University of Maryland in Frankfurt, West Germany, where he completed an associates degree in pre-med studies, before going on for his advanced degrees.

As a physician in the Army, Dr. Walker was able to practice sports medicine, industrial medicine, and family practice. He dealt with the types of injuries soldiers in training might receive and healed injuries from accidents on the job, such as might occur in civilian life. His practice also included caring for the soldiers' dependents, so he delivered babies, cared for newborns and young children, and doctored the whole range of illnesses a family might encounter.

He and his wife Janet have eight children, five of whom live with them.
