Wheat damaged around Dawn: Newton

By REED PARSELL Managing Editor

Considerable damage to wheat east of Hereford was caused by Sunday evening's hail storm, according to Dennis Newton, Deaf Smith County extension agent for agriculture.

Serious damage to corn and maize crops was seen in the Dawn area by Sam Hagaman and Al Lee, employed by the U.S. Soil Conservation Service. "It looked like the wheat may have been thrashed pretty good, too," added Hagaman. He claimed heaviest damage occurred in a 10-square-mile area approximately five or six miles northeast of Dawn.

Newton said he also inspected some county farms May be grain sorghum problems

Monday, discovering hail may have caused about 50 percent of Carl Kleuskens' wheat crop to have been destroyed.

Recently-planted grain sorghum, the extension agent said, will probably have problems with emergence due to the heavy rains in the eastern part of the county. J.E. Mc-Cabe, who lives two miles east of Dawn, said approximately 51/2 inches of precipitation descended Sunday night, three inches of that before sundown.

"Corn is a tough old crop and it ought to come out without many problems," commented. Newton Vegetables, he thought, also should not suffer too much due to the hail.

Calvin Jones, agriculture manager at the Holly Sugar Corporation plant, said damage to area sugar beet crops was "slight to moderate." Benefits from the moisture, he claimed, probably outweigh any damage done to the beets.

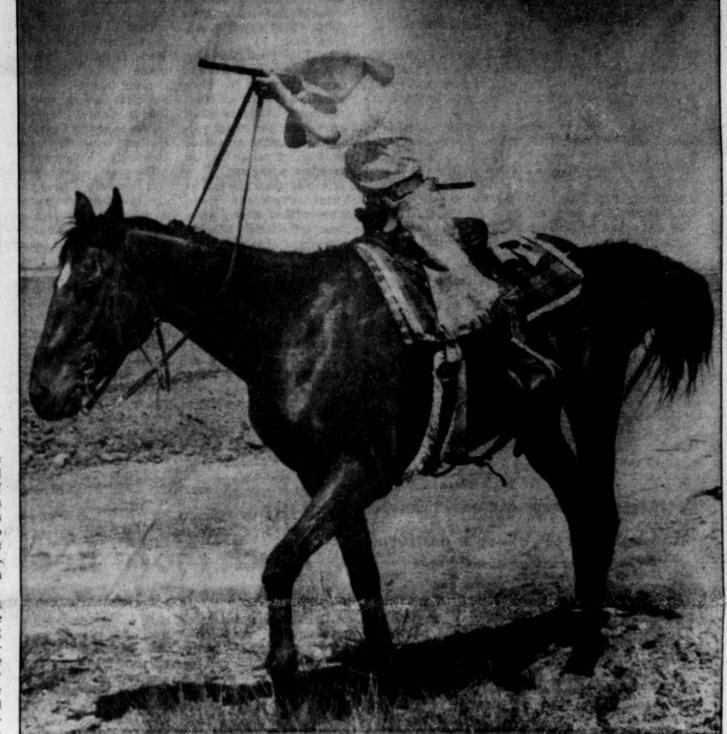

Rain amounts varied greatly throughout the county, with only one-tenth of an inch recorded at Walcott, according to Bobby Hammock, road and bridge foreman for Precinct 3

Ten miles from the New border, Mexico

curred Sunday evening, according to Flora Homfeld. Her son Jerry Homfeld, who farms a few miles east of her and husband Clint Homfeld, received about a quarter inch Grady Pridmore of Adrian said his area received .6 inches of moisture, "very little" of it coming in the form of hail. A slightly smaller amount - .4 inches - fell on Summerfield, according to Chris Carter of Summerfield Fertilizer.

Precipitation in Hereford was listed at 1.53 inches, though great variation reportedly occurred within city limits. One man said the northeast part of town received up to three inches Sunday.

Bull Barn drink rules unchanged

By KIM THOGMARTIN Staff Writer

County fathers Monday chose not to change a policy prohibiting drinking at Deaf Smith County Bull Barn after discussing the issue with County Building Supervisor Jack Nunley.

Commissioners also held a public hearing on the proposed 1984-85 budget and heard a request for revenue sharing funds from representatives of the Cowgirl Hall of Fame.

Nunley, who also serves as manager of the Bull Barn, appeared at the meeting to announce that drinking has been taking place during dances and other events held there. He reminded the court that a contract to be signed by the sponsor of Bull Barn events forbids the use of alcohol or other drugs "on the Bull Barn premises."

Nunley cites recent abuses

Nunley said there is also a city ordinance prohibiting drinking in public places, but Bull Barn events are staffed by sheriff's reserve deputies who do not normally enforce city laws.

Commissioners discussed the possibility of withholding part or all of the $1,500 deposit required by the county in cases where drinking County Criminal District attorney Roland Saul, who also serves as county attorney, said that would be difficult to

Saul said the only way to withhold deposit money would be to prove breach of contract, which would also mean proving that the person who signed the contract allowed the drinking to take place. Commissioners agreed there "are no teeth in the policy" because it does not hold out threat of punishment, but decided to leave it as written for the time being.

They did take action on a request from Namey that sheriff's reserves who work at Bull Barn events be given per night per officer. One officer is required for every 125 persons attending an event at the facility.

County Auditor Alex Schroeter told commissioners during the budget hearing that a tax rate hike of several cents per $100 valuation would be necessary "just to pay the bills next year." He predicted a raise to "53 to 54 cents" as compared with the current 47.5 cent tax rate.

Schroeter passed out the newest copies of the proposed $3.7 million budget, which if approved will go into effect in October. The budget includes the allocation of $225,000 to go toward retiring jail bonds necessary for upcoming construction and renovation

Schroeter said the county also expects to receive $384,490 in revenue sharing ged for such projects as the senior citizens and family services programs, the museum county library and law library. County transportation costs are also to be pro-

Tuesday's Local Roundup

Firemen answer many calls

Hereford Volunteer firemen began a routine weekend by responding to a smoke scare on Friday afternoon. A car was thought to be on fire in the 400 Block of Main, but Fire Marshall Jay Spain said it turned out to be spilled oil burning off the engine.

Later that day the force battled a cotton burr fire at a local feedyard. Some cattle feed was lost in that blaze, Spain reported.

The rescue squad was called to a car wreck at 703 Knight at 8:54 p.m. Friday, with one person taken to the

The department responded to a call at 2:44 a.m. Saturday which turned out to be a false alarm. The volunteers had been sent by the caller to South Main Street. Sunday, firemen battled a grass fire during the morning hours and were called to another traffic mishap in the late afternoon. Spain said two persons were taken to the hospital following a wreck near the railroad overpass on Tornado alerts were sounded early Sunday evening after a funnel cloud was sighted, and the department stayed on "cloud watch" until midnight. The fire marshall said he sent four units out in the county to watch for twisters. There were no reports of tornadoes touching down in the area.

Young Farmers to gather

Hereford Young Farmers have scheduled a meeting today at 8 p.m. in the Hereford High School agriculture building.

According to Jim Steiert, who is in charge of publicity for the organization, the possibility of moving the annual stock show to evenings will be considered. Such a change for the January event might be necessary, he said, due to recommendations by a state select committee on educa-

Steiert felt "it is a very strong possibility" implementation of some of the committee's proposals will prohibit having the stock show during daylight hours. Anyone who is interested in helping plan a revised stock show, he said, is encouraged to attend tonight's gathering.

Lake board meeting here

Hereford Community Center is to tonight host the regular monthly meeting of the Buffalo Lake Water District board of directors.

The 7:30 p.m. session is to begin with establishment of a committee to formulate recommendations for changes to the lake's general management plan. Then reports are to be given by the Bureau of Reclamation, Fish and Wildlife Service and district treasurer.

After discussion of establishing a bank account, a call for an election to approve an operating and maintenance tax for the district is to be considered.

The meeting is slated to conclude with a discussion of the proposed budget, answers to correspondence and questions from the public.

Man escapes shotgun blasts

Three shotgun blasts Friday night at Henry Diaz, 643 W. Second St., resulted in approximately $500 damage to his parked 1978 Ford, Hereford police reported this morning. The incident occurred on the east side of the Fullwood apartments, located at the corner of Lee Avenue and Third Street. Diaz was not injured. Gracey Brown of Summerfield told police her purse, containing $30 cash and two rings worth a combined $450, was taken between 2:30 and 4 p.m. Friday. It was lifted from her pickup parked at the M.E. Moss parking lot. A 1984 Chevrolet pickup's tailgate, worth $474.15, was taken sometime between Tuesday and Friday from Stevens Chevrolet, 615 N. 25 Mile Ave.

Sometime Friday night, a cassette stereo was stolen from a 1975 Chevrolet owned by Madonna French, 505 S. 25 Mile Ave. The equipment's value was placed at $230, police said. Damage to the dash totaled $75.

Six hundred dollars worth of tools, along with a $50 tool box, were ripped off from Route 1's Frank Frische sometime Sunday night. The equipment was in the back of his 1979 GMC pickup, which was parked at 706 Cherokee.

Meanwhile, there were four accidents since Friday, one of which involved minor injuries to four people. Among the incidents were four minor thefts and family disturbances. Four people were arrested for driving while intoxicated and one for sniffing paint.

OVERNIGHT LOW: 66 (normal: 61 record: 48 (1903)) OUTLOOK: Less than a 20 percent chance of rain tonight, with a low in the lower 60s. Southerly winds are to be 15 to 20 miles per hour and gusty. Proposal to cut flow involved

House debates illegal alien hiring

By SUSANNE M. SCHAFER Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP)

The House, trying to curb the influx of foreigners sneaking across America's borders in search of work, turned today to the question of whether hiring an illegal alien should be against the law.

At the heart of an immigration control bill before the House is a proposal designed to cut the flow of illegal aliens. For the first time, it would subject employers who hire undocumented workers to penalties - fines or even imprisonment.

Foes of the legislation, primarily Hispanics, argue this will lead to wholesale job discrimination against anyone who looks foreign because employers would be fearful of the sanctions.

The opponents suffered a 291-111 defeat Monday in their attempt to prevent the chamber from even considering the bill, and said they would try to remove the penalties provision from the measure.

As an alternative, they have suggested amendments to beef up enforcement of the labor laws that deal with the minimum wage, maximum hours, child labor and safety and health standards.

"I thought we would do better, frankly," said Rep. Robert Garcia, D-N.Y., chairman of the 11-member Hispanic Caucus, after the vote against pulling the bill from the floor.

He said he and his Hispanic colleagues planned a sectionby-section attempt to modify the bill and expected debate to last the entire week.

Under existing law, it is not illegal to hire an undocumented worker and proponents of the bill see that as the magnet that has drawn the estimated 3 million to 6 million illegal aliens to this

Under the bill, an employer who knowingly hires an illegal alien would be subject first to a warning and thereafter a fine of $1,000 per employee for the first offense, $2,000 for the second. Subsequent violations could mean a penalty of $3,000 or a year in jail or both.

Organized labor supports the penalties, as does the administration.

"The House acted in the public interest," Attorney General William French Smith said after the vote. "This step is to be applauded by all who favor effective,

Testimony ends in smuggling trial

By SYDNEY RUBIN Associated Press Writer

LAREDO, Texas (AP) - A federal prosecutor says a Utah woman was the American link in a scheme to smuggle Mexican babies into the United States for adoption, but a defense attorney claims the woman is merely a "scapegoat."

Nelda Karen Colwell, 39, of Layton, Utah, faces a threecount indictment of conspiracy and aiding and abetting in the smuggling of babies born to impoverished Mexican women.

Assistant U.S. Attorney David Almaraz on Monday said Mrs. Colwell was the American link in a baby smuggling operation in which three Laredo women played key roles dating back to February 1983.

Mrs. Colwell's attorney, George Handy of Ogden, Utah, has said his client is a 'scapegoat" - an unfortunate victim of an ambitious prosecutor and Mrs. Martinez-Lopez who is desperately trying to save her own skin.

Handy has called Mrs. Colwell "a very good person" whose only crimes are a love of children and a desire to help people find children to behalf, Handy said. But in his opening statement, Almaraz painted Mrs.

Colwell as a woman who became "so obsessed with trying to find babies" that she violated the law

Almaraz said prior to making connections in Nuevo Laredo, Mrs. Colwell had been in other areas of Mexico arranging the adoption of babies through Mexican attorneys. However, lengthy waiting periods imposed by the Immigration and Naturalization Service while processing papers caused Mrs. Colwell to begin "taking shortcuts," Almaraz said.

Almaraz has said the indictments stem from two instances in which Mexican mothers gave birth in a Nuevo Laredo clinic to children who were then smuggled into laredo by Mrs. Martinez-Lopez and Ms. Rios-Rivera.

Poisoning death investigation starts

SAVOY, Texas (AP) - An initial investigation into the nursing home death of an elderly woman who died after drinking cleaning fluid — thought to be cranberry juice — shows "no evidence now of criminal activity," officials

Dorie Emerson, 83, died Saturday, less than 24 hours after she was spoon-fed two glasses of cleaning solvent with dinner Friday night at the nursing home in Savoy, 65 miles north of Dallas, officials said.

"This may be an accident, or an intent on somebody's part to do bodily harm on an individual," said Bob Elrod, a Texas Department of Health official in Austin monitoring the investigation.

Lebanon's Parliament talking peace

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - Prime Minister Rashid Karami's coalition government went before Parliament for a crucial vote of confidence today following 12 hours of shelling that police said killed 84 people and wounded 216 in and around the capital.

Fifty-three of Parliament's 90 members showed up for the 11 a.m. session in the no man's land between Christian east and Moslem west Beirut.

The legislators planned to take a roll call vote on the government's plan for ending the nine-year civil war if speakers finish their addresses. Otherwise, the vote would be taken on Wednesday.

Christian and Moslem militia commands accused each other of igniting the bombardment of residential neighborhoods - the heaviest in four months - in an effort to block a vote of confidence on the plan, which is needed to formally install Karami's six-week-old govern-

Pope begins six-day visit

By KEVIN COSTELLOE Associated Press Writer

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) - Pope John Paul II arrived today to start a six-day visit to Switzerland, the first major pastoral mission to the Alpine nation since 1418.

The pope, on his 22nd journey abroad during his four-and-a-half year reign, arrived at 8:45 a.m. aboard a special flight at Zurich's Kloten airport.

A delegation led by Bishop Heinrich Schwery, president of the Swiss Bishops' Conference, entered the plane to welcome him and a Swiss military band played the pontifical Mass.

As John Paul descended from the plane under a bright sun, he knelt in his white cassock to kiss the soil of his host country. Organizers had left a small part of the redcarpeted tarmac uncovered for this act, which he has turned into a tradition.

He was then greeted by Swiss President Leon Schlumpf and other government and church officials, conversing alternately in German and French with

In a brief welcoming address, Schlumpf said the visit was both a religious and diplomatic event, noting that the pope is a head of state.

In his reply, the pope described his visit as "another station on my pilgrimage" to meet with his flock. He also said he was looking forward to meeting with the representatives of other churches, separated brothers."

He said Switzerland was "particularly linked" to the Holy See because of the Swiss Guards who have acted as protectors of the papacy since the 16th century.

The pope had intended to visit Switzerland three years ago, but the trip was postponed when he was shot and wounded by would-be assassin Mehmet Ali Agca on May 13, 1981, in St. Peter's Square.

The Swiss appear to be taking no chances with John Paul's safety. Dogs will search buildings for explosives before he enters, planes will not be permitted to fly below 7,500 feet in the areas he is touring, soldiers will reinforce local police units and metal detectors will screen visitors at all the outdoor sites.

The Swiss trip, named 'Open to the Spirit of Christ," will focus attention on the

"The pope comes to a country where the division of faith makes itself felt to a specially painful degree," the Swiss Council of Bishops said in a pastoral letter last week.

"Pope John Paul II is aware of this burden of the past. All the more is the unity of Christians at his heart.... But he has never concealed that there remain great obstacles on this road," the bishops said.

John Paul visited Geneva for one day in 1982, at the invitation of the U.N. International Labor Organization. Pope Paul VI had made a similar visit in 1969.

But the last major papal tour of Switzerland occurred in 1418, when Pope Martin V came through the country on his way home from the Council of Constance in Germany, which ended the schism over the issue of papal succession.

The Swiss federal government broke off normal diplomatic relations with the Vatican in 1873. A papal nunzio has been accredited in Bern since 1920 but Switzerland has no ambassador to the Holy See.

Roman Catholic immigration over the last three decades has wiped out the one-time Protestant majority. Figures from 1980 showed 3 million Catholics and 2.8 million Protestants in Switzerland.

COMMISSION

tional Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center, presented two options to the commissioners in his request for a portion of the revenue sharing funds.

Allen, a Republican candidate for the Commission, told the court the HOF considers itself "one of the up and coming museums in the Panhandle and even in the nation." He said more than 1,500 people visited the shrine last year, 1,200 of them from outside of Deaf Smith County.

"We are running low on funds," Allen explained. "We are in need of the county's help."

Allen said when the Hall of Fame was given the 23-acre property where it now sits, the gift included the assumption of an $80,000 existing mortgage on the land and house. He said it is difficult for the hall to make the $800 a month payment and still come up with operating costs. To help retire the debt, Allen asked the court to consider allocating $55,000 in revenue sharing funds to the hall, which he said the board would put with $15,000 of its own to pay off the $70,000 note. The $15,000 he said, is money left from a grant given the Hall of Fame two years ago by the Harrington Foun-

"If you cannot see your way clear to do that, then we respectfully ask for $10,000 to help us defray expenses, Allen said.

Linda Minchew, volunteer who works at the facility located on Avenue B near 15th Street, appeared with Allen to read a petition signed by at least 200 local residents. The petition described the potential of the musem in its plea to the court for revenue sharing monies.

Allen said he thought asking for the $55,000 made better financial sense. "To continue to come up here and ask you for $10,000 every year, and have $7,500 go to interest, is to me a waste of good money," he suggested.

Commissioners told Allen they would give the request their consideration.

Bill Holt, supervisor of Children's Protective Services in Amarillo, asked for time on the agenda to present the plight of the Department of Human Resources office in Hereford.

Holt said the two local staff workers are currently responsible for child welfare cases in Deaf Smith, Parmer and Oldham counties and that the heavy work load has created a need for a third

Holt said he would propose the hiring of a "roving worker," to be based in Amarillo and work in Hereford, Dumas and Parmer County. He explained that the State of Texas would pay most of the salary of such a person if the county could come up with the rest of the $24,124 needed to create the position.

"I've been juggling workers for a year now," Holt told the court. "It's getting to be a very desperate situation." Holt said the two workers are handling emergency situations and crisis intervention, but do not have time for a lot of the regular services that the office wants to be able to pro-

Problems involving child welfare have increased in Deaf Smith County during the past few years, Holt announced, and he said, "The increase in sexual abuse over the last five years has alarmed us."

Darrell Kennemer, an equipment dealer from Earth, told commissioners about a hydraulic road grading implement now available, while Motorola radio control system for the sheriff's office was explained by a reprsentative from West Texas Rural Telephone.

Commissioners agreed to advertise for bids for the radio system, which will be needed by the time the jail renovation is complete.

The court approved two requests to cross a county road with a natural gas pipeline. It also gave County Clerk David Ruland permission to attend educational workshops later this month and again in August.

Commissioners are to meet at 2 p.m. Thursday to open bids for general construction

Dear editor:

The Ogallala Symposium II was held in Lubbock this past week. As a matter of general information, I am enclosing the statement which I presented at the symposium:

"That the placing of the world's most dangerous waste through the most important aquifer in the U.S. would even be considered is a tragic commentary. Fathers (about one-half biological and one-half stepfathers) represent the most frequent offenders. The most common pattern is the oldest daughter being abuse by a father, and in 40 percent of the cases where there are other subsequent children, daughters are also abused. Children are vulnerable targets for sexual abuse because of the natural authority that adults command over them. Because of this authority, force is rarely necessary to gain the child's cooperation. In most cases, the offender does not physically injure the child, outside of the sexual assault.

For these reasons, the children, who are usually quite young, often have ambivalent feelings toward the offender. Two-thirds of the children victimized are pretens at the time of the disclosure of abuse; almost one-quarter are younger than six. Even infants are assaulted. Children are usually afraid to tell anyone what is going on. They fear they will get into trouble, be

NBA Celts never lose seventh game

BOSTON (AP) - The Boston Celtics have played 104 games this season. The Los Angeles Lakers have played 102. None of that counts anymore.

The National Basketball Association season that began more than seven months ago in mid-fall ends tonight in a late-spring heat wave with the only game that

"One game. We play all eles' Michael Cooper. "So throw the ball up and let's go for it."

Boston, which never has lost a seventh game of a championship series in six appearances, is host for the winner-take-all finale against Los Angeles, which never has won a seventh game of a championship series in four attempts.

Some Celtics didn't think there'd even be a seventh

"We really felt we could finish it today," said Boston's Larry Bird after the Lakers stayed alive by winning Sunday's sixth game, 119-108, in Los Angeles to even the series, 3-3.

"I thought I'd be playing blackjack tonight in Vegas,' Celtics' forward Cedric Maxwell said after the loss. "I had all the arrangements made." The Lakers spoiled those

Tonight, they'll try to become only the fifth team to win an NBA championship series after trailing 3-2 and only the second finalist to knock off Boston, which is 7-0 against the Lakers. "Everything is there to be had," said Laker Coach Pat Riley. "We have a chance to do something that no one else has done - win a world championship in Boston.

14-1 in title rounds, including

'We're going to win this one for Red Auerbach," Riley said of the Celtic president and general manager.

Throughout the series, Los Angeles has relied on missed Celtic shots and its own defensive rebounds to fuel its devastating fastbreak. Boston has done well when it has shot accurately from outside and dominated the offensive boards.

The Celtics, who had the year to get here," says Los NBA's best regular-season record, have been nearly unbeatable at home. They are 44-9 this season, including 11-1 in the playoffs, on the famed parquet floor beneath the NBA record of 14 championship banners. They are 2-1 here in this final series.

> However, nine of the last 11 NBA crowns have been won on the road, including the 1980 title by the Lakers over Philadelphia and the 1981 championship by the Celtics over Houston.

The Lakers, who had the NBA's second-best record this year, won their eighth title, second most in the league, in 1982. But they were swept in four consecutive games by the 76ers in last year's finals.

"We could play in Nome, Alaska," Cooper said. "We could play in the Sahara Desert. It doesn't matter. No matter if it's raining or snowing. It may have been a factor in Game 5, but that kind of stuff isn't a factor in a Game

In high humidity and a courtside temperature of 97 degrees, the Celtics burned the Lakers, 121-103, last Friday night for their second consecutive victory and a 3-2 series lead.

Padres steal game, 5-4

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

The San Diego Padres stole a game from the Atlanta Braves, thanks to a rare steal by Kevin McReynolds.

"I don't run much. I like to pick my spots - but this looked like a good spot to run in," the 205-pound outfielder said after scoring the winning run following a two-out, gametying hit and a stolen base in the ninth inning.

McReynolds scored on Bobby Brown's single to give the Padres to a 5-4 victory Monday night over the Braves.

Padres Manager Dick Williams admitted that the sight of McReynolds taking off for second base was "a complete surprise to all of us on the bench. But that was the key play of the game."

The Padres have won four games in a row and 14 of their last 17 to move 21/2 games ahead of the runner-up Braves in the National League West.

In other NL action, it was Montreal 2, Chicago 1; New York 3, Pittsburgh 1; St. Louis 6, Philadelphia 4; San Francisco 8, Los Angeles 4, and Houston 3, Cincinnati 2 in 14 innings.

With San Diego trailing 4-3, Graig Nettles opened the Padre ninth with a walk off Pete Falcone, who was replaced by Steve Bedrosian, 4-3. Luis Salazar pinch-ran for Nettles and moved to seco,d when Terry Kennedy grounded out following a strikeout by Steve Garvey.

McReynolds singled home Salazar to tie the game, then stole second to set up Brown's game-winning hit after being told by first base coach Jack Krol that Bedrosian did not

Since that night in 1982, Holmes has fought Randy Tex" Cobb, Lucien Rodriguez, Scott Frank, Tim to fight John Tate? That the Holmes fight, they booed itherspoon

Cooney has fought nobody. All that is about to change. Cooney, after riding a roller coaster of emotions into a deep depression that nearly ended his boxing career, is ready to return to the ring. He has a July 20 date at the Reunion Arena in Dallas against Phillip Brown, a fight that will be televised by HBO. Despite his inactivity, Cooney remains an easily recognizable figure with the public. He towers over ordinary citizens and his flattened nose is the calling card of his profession.

"Maybe all those people didn't give up on me and understand that I was having problems and went through some difficulties in life," he said.

Those difficulties really began before the Holmes fight. Cooney had always been a knockout fighter and there were serious questions about his durability. Some championship fights do, after all, last 15 rounds.

So he went in against Holmes determined to prove he could go the distance. Everytime he watches a tape of the bout, he shudders over that strategy.

"It wasn't me fighting," he said. "It was a sparring match. I wasn't aggressive. I was more or less programmed in my mind to see that I could go the distance from hearing it so much. It got instilled in my mind. All I wanted to do was make sure I could go 15 rounds.

'I hurt him a few times but I said, 'Well, hold on, I got 10 more rounds to go or five more rounds to go.' I know I didn't go for it when I hurt him. I stepped back."

Cooney remembers one particular punch that might have changed boxing history.

"I had him dead. I hit him a body punch that must have touched his backbone in the first round. I felt it. I had him hurt real bad. "Then, I backed up. I didn't fight my fight. That wasn't me. I was so concerned with going the distance. I kept jabbing, jabbing, jabbing. Everytime I hurt him, I back-

Henderson, 31, who was sentenced Monday by Superior Court Judge Ernest L. Kelly, pleaded no contest to the charges in April.

A 16-year-old paraplegic testified that Henderson met her and a 17-year-old companion in a liquor store on Nov. 2, 1983, then took them to his apartment, where he assaulted them.

He later gave the girls $500 to either leave the state or change their testimony, prosecutors said.

Another New Business

Cowboy Country Club, an indoor arena, will be built west of Hereford and groundbreaking ceremonies were held Friday for the facility. Hereford Hustlers welcomed the new business with a ribbon-cutting ceremony. Others at the site included Mayor Wes Fisher, Larry Cohorn, representing the owners, Kim and Melanie Gripp; and Plains Builders' representatives Chuck Stanley and Larry Rogers. The 55,000-square-foot arena is the largest of its kind in more than a 100-mile radius. It is scheduled for completion in September.

Former resident plans career in ophthalmology

Rebecca Kathleen Morgan has received a doctor of medicine (M.D.) degree from The University of Texas Health Science Center at San Angelo.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myron E. Morgan, former residents of Hereford who now reside in Plainview. She is a graduate of Hereford High School.

After earning a bachelor of science in medical technology from West Texas State University, she pursued several research projects involving the structure and function of blood platelets, publishing a number of papers in that area of research.

While attending medical school, she was one of only

Judy King participates in workshop

NORMAN, Okla. - Judy King, daughter of Howard and Billie Birdwell of Hereford, is one of 25 science teachers currently participating in a month-long workshop at the University of Oklahoma.

The workshop is intended to show participants how to teach science as a "quest for knowledge." It is sponsored by OU's College of Education and its Science Education Center, with funding from the National Science Foundation.

Participants will explore ways of helping students "experience" science as a process of obtaining knowledge, said Edmund A. Marek, an OU assistant professor of science education and one of the workshop's directors. By understanding science as a quest for knowledge, teachers can help students build their own knowledge about the natural world, he

During the workshop, teachers will devise a curriculum that leads students to think of science as a search for knowledge.

Each of the participating teachers will receive a $500 stipend, and can earn five hours of graduate academic

Sen. Henry Clay's famous compromise in 1850 admitted California as the 31st state, with slavery forbidden; made Utah and New Mexico territories without a decision of slavery; made the Fugitive Slave Law more harsh, and ended the District of Columbia slave clusion of the clinic. Areas to be covered during the clinic are supply and demand of sitting, baby sitting techniques, child development principles for infants to young children age 7, activities for kids, nutrition for children, and parental responsibilities.

The C1347 plan is available in three additional exteriors--one showing Spanish influence, the other two, delightfully different interpretations of contemporary

This home has strong passive solar possibilities if it faces north. Almost all the windows face south and it has a large, open area for air movement in a connection pattern.

Inside the double doors there is an attractive entry and hallway combination, distinctively separated from the living room by a shallow step and a touch of interesting wrought iron railing. Although it doesn't need it, the living room gets an additional touch of distinction from the charming fireplace-a unit which, incidentally, is lavishly equipped with easy maintenance features.
