Two hijackers die, hostages rescued

By ORLANDO CUALES Associated Press Writer

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao (AP) — Security officers stormed a hijacked Venezuelan jetliner early today, killing the two hijackers and rescuing the 79 people aboard who had been held hostage for 36 hours, officials said.

Venezuelan and U.S. anti-terrorist specialists assisted in the operation. But a Pentagon spokesman in Washington, Navy Lt. Tom Yeager, said that although U.S. "technical advisers" were sent to help, no Americans participated directly in the assault.

Details of the lightning-fast attack, carried out at 1:50 a.m. EDT, were sketchy and witnesses, and government officials offered conflicting information. Several passengers suffered minor injuries in scrambling from the Venezuelan Aeropostal DC-9, which was hijacked Sunday after leaving Venezuela.

The hijackers had threatened to blow up the plane unless they received a helicopter, millions in cash and if possible, weapons.

"The operation was carried out under the direction of the government of the Netherlands Antilles. All the security personnel from the friendly nations helped in the planning," said Don Martina, Prime Minister of the Netherlands Antilles, a largely self-governing, six-island Dutch territory. He declined to give further details.

Witnesses said the rescuers moved in from the front and rear end of the plane. The hijackers apparently allowed the left front door to be opened after the wife of one of the gunmen appealed to her husband over a radio to free a woman passenger who reportedly suffered a miscarriage.

Venezuelan jet under seige for 36 hours

When the door opened, the security men charged in.

Government authorities said that one woman passenger suffered a back injury in a fall and that she was one of several passengers taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital for treatment. None of the 74 passengers and five crew members was seriously injured, they said.

A policeman who took part in the assault injured his hand. Officials first said he was shot, then that he was hurt falling.

The plane had been hijacked Sunday afternoon after it left Caracas, the Venezuelan capital, for a flight to Curacao, but the gunmen forced it to land on two other Caribbean islands — Trinidad and Aruba — before it arrived here Monday morning.

Most of the passengers were from Curacao. Four of those aboard were American — Nancy and Marcel Perret-Gentil of Manhattan, Kan., and their two sons, Michael and Marcel Jr.

Officials said the hijackers were a former Haitian army captain opposed to Haiti's President-for-Life Jean-Claude Duvalier and a man with a passport from the Dominican Republic.

Gerald Lasten, a Curacao spokesman, said the 74 passengers and five crew members were safe although some had sustained minor injuries in escaping from the aircraft. A first aid center was set up at the airport, and some of the passengers were treated there.

Unloading Onions

Even though the harvest of early onions is said to be a bit below average this year, the vegetables are still coming in by the truckload to local packing sheds. Conveyor belts move these white onions into the receiving shed, where workers stand ready to sack them for shipping.

Local Roundup

Two men elected to TEC posts

Two local men were named to positions with the Association of Texas Electric Cooperatives during its annual meeting last week in San Antonio.

Eldred Brown, a farmer in the Walcott area, was re-elected chairman of the Rural Friends political action group. Hereford City Attorney Earnest Langley was named to the board of directors of the attorney's section of TEC.

Brown is a long-time member of the Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative board of directors. He has long been active in Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service activities and with the Walcott Volunteer Fire Department.

Rural Friends consists of rural electric leaders and other people from throughout Texas who are involved in education on political issues of concern to rural areas. Brown was first elected to chair Rural Friends at last year's caucus.

Langley's interest in the statewide TEC attorney's group is through DSEC, for which he has served as legal counsel since 1952.

A graduate of the University of Texas law school, Langley has previously served on the TEC attorneys' board as its president. He has also been president of the local chamber of commerce, Lion's Club and Campfire Girls Council board.

Free immunizations offered

Free immunizations against several childhood diseases are to be offered this month at the Deaf Smith County Public Health Clinic, situated at 902 E. Fourth St.

The shots are to be administered from 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3:45 p.m. every Tuesday and Thursday in August. They are to help give protection against diphtheria, lock jaw (tetanus), measles, mumps, polio, rubella and whooping cough (pertussis).

Other Panhandle towns served by the Texas Department of Health program include Canadian, Dimmitt, Memphis, Pampa, Perryton, Tulia and Shamrock.

Cheese, butter distribution slated

Free distribution of surplus cheese and butter is to be conducted Thursday from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. at Deaf Smith County Bull Barn. All with questions about eligibility may phone Deaf Smith County Community Action Agency at 364-5631.

Band practice to start Monday

Hereford High School band director Johnny Martinez has announced summer band practice is to commence Monday.

The musical group is to meet each Monday, Tuesday and Thursday night, he said, from 6 to 9:30 p.m. in the HHS band hall. Instruments will be needed at the first practice, Martinez reminded.

MONDAY'S HIGH: 90 (normal high this date: 91 record: 105 (1944))

OVERNIGHT LOW: 62 (normal: 66 record: 54 (1971))

OUTLOOK: Thirty percent chance of showers tonight, which should have a low in the lower 60s. Wednesday is expected to be partly cloudy and boast a high near 90. There will be a 20 percent chance of precipitation.

Some members of the Hereford Police Department feels its public image could be better, and Lieutenant Ted Langgood has decided to do something about it.

Starting with the businessmen who belong to local civic organizations, Langgood is using his spare time to talk about the HPD to residents of the city. "We want to see Hereford's opinion of the police department go up," Langgood told the Rotary Club Monday. "We feel like it's a little low right now."

About $2,600 worth of items reported taken

By REED PARSELL Managing Editor

Almost $2,600 worth of lawn equipment and other miscellaneous items were stolen recently from Virginia Wallace of 214 Ave. C, Hereford police reported this morning.

Wallace told police she did not know who committed the crime, which occurred sometime between last Tuesday and 11:55 Monday morning.

The stolen merchandise included an International riding lawn mower worth an estimated $1,200. A lawn boy (valued at $490), gas-powered lawn edger ($240), three antique telephones ($200 combined) and a 10-speed bicycle ($170) were also taken.

Completing the loot list were a $120 paint compressor, a $100 bed and mattress, a fertilizer spreader worth $40 and a $25 red wagon.

Everything was taken from a storage shed in the southeast corner of Wallace's backyard, according to the police report. A $3 (approximate) hinge was broken to achieve entry, with the $7 (ditto) padlock thrown away and not found.

Local law enforcement officers are also investigating the theft of two color televisions from Mary Garcia, 508 Union St. When reporting the incident at 1:10 p.m. Monday, Garcia said it must have happened since 10 a.m. Sunday.

The lifted sets were valued at $339 and $400. There are two suspects in the case.

Hereford Police Department

Langgood said his community awareness program will begin with local business owners, who are often the victims of crimes such as theft and vandalism.

"Our officers will be going into the stores, introducing themselves to the owners," he explained. "A lot of them don't even know who we are."

Langgood asked Rotarians to describe what they considered serious law enforcement problems in the community.

"Kids roaming the streets at night," was a quick answer.

"I think we have a bigger problem with drugs than people realize," another member remarked.

One man asked if the availability of alcohol in the city has contributed to increased arrests for alcohol related offenses. Langgood said there has been an increase in arrests — but it is too early to tell if the county going wet April 7 is to blame.

Langgood said local officers have stepped up their enforcement of driving while intoxicated and public intoxication violations, which has resulted in more arrests. "We have some top quality officers who are watching for these violations," he added.

The lieutenant also pointed out more arrests mean fewer alcohol-related accidents and injuries, so in that sense the increased arrests is a positive trend.

Hereford's record for clearing (solving) crimes is far above the national average, Langgood told Rotarians during the noon luncheon meeting. Of the arrests made in 1983, 47 percent were cleared. The national average is just 20 percent. Of the $337,000 in property stolen from Hereford residents last year, $183,485 was recovered. That figure, Langgood claimed, is also well above the national average.

Throwing out some more statistics, Langgood told the group 61,969 calls were responded to in 1983, an average of 169 per day. Hereford Police cars traveled 275,000 miles last year.

Officer Randy Williams, who has almost single-handedly instituted the Neighborhood Crime Watch program in the city, reported to Rotarians on the effects of the program among blocks that have elected to take part.

He explained that simply securing the home is a major deterrent to the burglar, because "most burglars are lazy." Williams explained that most burglaries are committed by someone who simply walks in and out of an unlocked front or back door.

Home thefts have gone down significantly in neighborhoods where the program has been adopted. Williams said locked doors and windows play a major role in the reduction.

Texas Tech graduate takes over sports post

Dennis Ball, 22

Dennis Ball, a native of Spur and Texas Tech University journalism graduate, has been named sports editor of The Hereford Brand.

Ball, who assumed duties Monday, served briefly on the sports staff of The Lubbock Avalanche Journal and as a feature editor for The Texas Spur. At Tech, he was co-editor in 1983 of La Ventanna, the university yearbook, and has served as a student assistant in the Tech Publications Office.

In 1980-81, Ball was a scholarship student on the University Daily at Texas Tech. The 23-year-old journalist earned a bachelor's degree earlier this month with a major in news-editorial journalism, and a minor in Spanish.

His wife, Lisa, also graduated from Tech. They were married in May.

The couple attended a Baptist church in Lubbock. Dennis enjoys golf and playing the piano.

Democratic officials back ticket

AUSTIN (AP) — Democratic presidential nominee Walter Mondale and vice presidential candidate Geraldine Ferraro are coming to town Wednesday, and one campaigner said their trip means politics are heating up.

"I like it when politics heat up," said former Texas Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong, who helped run Jimmy Carter's campaign in Texas in 1976. "It's going to be hot in Austin Wednesday afternoon. This ticket is hot, and it's going to get hotter."

Mondale and Ms. Ferraro will fly from Jackson, Miss., to Austin on Wednesday as the second stop on their campaign in the South. A rally is scheduled on the Capitol steps.

The candidates will spend Wednesday night in Houston. They will tour Houston Community College on Thursday, and go to San Antonio for a downtown rally at noon.

President Reagan and Vice President George Bush campaigned in Austin last Wednesday, attracting 20,000 to a lakeside rally, but a Texas co-chairman for Mondale-Ferraro said their visit was planned "without regard to the Reagan-Bush rally."

Proposed AT&T cut opposed

AUSTIN (AP) — An AT&T request to cut long distance rates has sparked opposition from competitors skeptical about a rate decrease for a company that has an increase request pending.

AT&T Communications wants Public Utility Commission approval for a "Reach Out Texas" program that would allow one hour of weekend and nighttime intrastate long distance calls for $14 a month. The plan also would offer evening rates 13 percent below current levels.

William O'Neal, an AT&T district manager, told PUC Hearing Examiner Deborah Miller on Monday that Reach Out Texas is an "everybody wins situation" because customers will get a rate cut and AT&T will bring in about $6 million due to increased calling.

AT&T wants to start the program Wednesday. Ms. Miller did not rule Monday.

Opponents complained that Reach Out Texas would set rates below cost, making it possible that rates for other AT&T services would have to be raised to make up the losses. AT&T has a $301 million rate hike case pending, but has put that case on hold.

Nurse-dispatcher to appeal firing

DALLAS (AP) — Nurse-dispatcher Billye Myrick, who delayed sending an ambulance to a dying woman, says she'll appeal Monday's decision from a city trial board that upheld her firing.

"I'm a good nurse," she declared after the Civil Service trial board handed down its decision. "I can't sit here and take what they've done."

The trial board hearing was the nurse's last chance to appeal her dismissal on the city level.

Fire Chief Dodd Miller, who fired Mrs. Myrick on March 16, said Monday that the nurse's next step would be in state district court. He offered no further comment.

Mrs. Myrick lost her job as an ambulance dispatcher after delaying aid to a 60-year-old woman who later died. She told the trial board she delayed sending an ambulance because she thought Lillian Boff was hyperventilating and not dying.

On Jan. 5, Larry Boff called the Dallas Fire Department seeking an ambulance for Mrs. Boff, his stepmother.

Mrs. Myrick asked to speak to the woman, but Boff said his stepmother — who suffered from a heart ailment — was incoherent and unable to come to the telephone.

Economic health dip forecast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's forecasting gauge for national economic health dropped a sharp 0.9 percent in June, the first decline in nearly two years, the Commerce Department reported today.

The dropoff, if not subsequently revised upward, would snap the longest string of advances for the Index of Leading Economic Indicators since the end of World War II.

In two recent months, however, the government has initially reported declines in the index only to revise those estimates upward after more complete data became available.

A 1.1 percent drop reported in March was revised to show a 0.3 percent increase.

Last month, the government reported the May index was down 0.1 percent. In today's report, however, that was revised to a 0.4 percent increase.

Information on business and consumer borrowing, which was not available originally, led to the upward revision in the May calculation, the department said.

Defense compromise talks fail

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attempts to fashion a compromise defense budget have all but collapsed, with Senate Republicans refusing to bend further on House attempts to firmly attach arms-control strings to the MX nuclear missile and space weapons.

The House-Senate conference committee assigned to iron out differences on the Pentagon's nearly $300 billion spending authorization for fiscal 1985 broke up over the impasse late Monday, with no indication when work might resume.

With time running out on the election-year Congress, the deadlock heightened prospects that the regular appropriations process will be scuttled as far as the Pentagon is concerned this year.

That would mean resorting to a so-called continuing resolution — fixing general spending levels on the basis of the current budget. That could imperil dozens of proposed new programs, ranging from weapons to education benefits.

Attack by rebels kills dozens

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Leftist rebels attacked civil guards at a cluster of farms, reportedly killing 66 people in one of their bloodiest offensives in western El Salvador since the civil war began in 1979.

Civilian sources said the death toll from Monday's attacks included 63 civil defense guards at the farms. The civil guards are farmers armed and trained by the regular army to defend their cooperatives from rebel incursions.

A military spokesman put the death toll at 40, including an unarmed mother and daughter riding with other peasants in a truck ambushed by guerrillas during coordinated attacks in La Libertad province. He said four peasants in the truck were wounded.

Other casualties, mostly civil guards, occurred when rebels attacked guardposts at El Jocote, Las Flores and Ranchos Quemados, three land reform cooperatives 22 miles northwest of San Salvador, said military sources in San Juan Opico, near the fighting.

The military spokesman in San Salvador, who spoke on condition of anonymity, also said at least 19 civilians and soldiers were hurt.

HOUSTON (AP) — Doctors at Texas Children's Hospital gave an experimental drug to a 12-year-old girl who contracted the nation's first human case of rabies this year, but did not expect her to awaken from a coma.

The girl, whose name was not released, was in critical condition late Monday and kept on life support equipment. She has been receiving ribavirin, an experimental anti-viral agent "effective in the test tube" against the rabies virus, said Dr. Ralph Feigin, the hospital's physician in chief.

"We do not believe this will alter her course, but there is no other treatment," Feigin said. "Since the diagnosis was only established Saturday, it is most unlikely this patient will survive. There have never been recorded cases of recovery from rabies other than in a very small number of individuals who have actually been immunized prior to or immediately subsequent to the time they had a known exposure to the disease."

The girl first was hospitalized July 11 after complaining of a sore throat and headache, Feigin said. She was transferred to Texas Children's Hospital on July 16.

"The patient deteriorated quite quickly," he said.

Feigin said it was not until Saturday that physicians were able to determine for certain that the girl had rabies.

Doctors had difficulty diagnosing the rabies because the patient did not show typical symptoms, Feigin said. Physicians first believed she was suffering from encephalitis and then from herpes simplex.

"Sometime in the remote past, she may have come in contact with a bat or some other animal that might have bitten," he said. "But at the time she was lucid, she denied such exposure." He said tests would continue to isolate the rabies virus to "give us a clue of the source. Right now there are no clues."

Doctors believe hers is the first human case of rabies since an incident in Michigan in March 1983.

Health officials in the Houston area have confirmed scattered cases of rabies in bats and skunks. Feigin said the history of rabies shows the illness is slow to develop and could take as little as seven days or as long as 18 months to show up.

The girl's pediatrician, Dr. Dixie Swanson, said the youngster's parents were "understandably devastated." She would disclose no other information about the family.

Feigin would say only that there were other children in the family and that the family had no pets.

"While medical miracles have been known to occur in this building, we don't anticipate one for this child," Ms. Swanson said.

Dr. James Haughton, director of the Houston Department of Health, used the rabies incident to renew his plea that animal owners in the city have their pets vaccinated.

The city's animal population is estimated at 700,000, with less than 2 percent of those licensed and less than 20 percent immunized, he said.

"We have a large reservoir of unprotected animals in this city just waiting for a disaster to take place," he said.

Haughton said three animal control officers were patrolling the girl's neighborhood in northwest Houston to see if any sick animals were running loose. One of the officers was armed and would shoot an ill animal rather than try to capture it, he said.

"We're not going to take any chances with an animal that looks sick," Haughton said. "We do not know how this child got this infection. Whatever animal source is involved is probably out there somewhere."

Agreement made difficult

Governors consider big federal deficit

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — As the nation's governors grapple with ways to cut the federal deficit, Democratic Gov. Mario Cuomo of New York is charging President Reagan with ducking "the truth" of a tax hike next year.

Democratic and Republican governors talked of bipartisan solutions to the estimated $170 billion annual flood of federal red ink at the National Governors' Association meeting, but presidential politics made agreement difficult for the final session today.

A draft resolution calling on Reagan to announce his deficit-cutting plan before the election circulated among the Democratic state executives.

"The resolution concentrates on asking both presidential candidates to be clear and specific on their plans and to make then known in time for the American people to make a judgment," said Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton.

One draft of the resolution — which might go only to the Democratic governors and not the full group — complimented Walter F. Mondale on his announced policies and said Reagan is "unwilling or unable to put America's financial house in order."

Republican governors talked of a deficit resolution, but reached no consensus Monday.

Reagan was to speak to the governors briefly at lunchtime, talking by telephone hookup from his ranch in California. Mondale will not be attending the meeting, although there was a brief flurry of activity late Monday as the governors tried to entice him here one more time.

The governors were scheduled to adopt a number of policy statements today, including one supporting comparable worth and a comprehensive jobs plank.

But it was taxes and the federal deficit that held the governors' attention.

Republican Gov. Richard Snelling of Vermont pushed his "Proposition 1" group, a bipartisan effort to get a balanced budget by 1989.

"Both parties have contributed to the deficit," he said. "I'm disappointed in both candidates so far."

Cuomo, here only briefly on Monday, attacked Reagan and the Republicans.

He said Democratic presidential candidate Walter F. Mondale is right in saying a tax increase will come next year, whoever is in the White House.

Pollution fighters try to contain oil mishap

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — Pollution fighters gathered to begin a cleanup as crude oil from a grounded tanker spread into the Gulf of Mexico today, and a state official said they would try to contain the spill before it reached two nearby wildlife preserves.

The 690-foot British tanker Alvenus, with a cargo of 14.7 million gallons of oil, was en route from Venezuela to Lake Charles when it ran aground along a dredged ship channel Monday and became stuck in about 30 feet of water, the Coast Guard said.

"I think there's no question that all the responsible Republicans agree that there needs to be a tax increase," said Cuomo. And he said Reagan's claim to look to spending cuts for the solution is just not plausible.

The impact opened a 115-foot-long seam up one side of the ship, across its deck and down the other side from which oil was seeping, said Lt. Kathleen Donohoe, a Coast Guard spokeswoman. The crack did not appear to go below the waterline, she said.

The Coast Guard said the extent of the spill probably wouldn't be known until after daylight.

"We're sending up helicopters first thing in the morning," said Lt. David Jones at Coast Guard headquarters in Port Arthur, Texas.

Coast Guard spokesman Mark Kennedy said there was potential for environmental disaster and officials were "treating it as if it is a spill of the highest magnitude."

But Alan Ensminger, chief of the refuge division of the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, said, "If we have to have a spill, it couldn't happen in a better place."

The ship was about 10 miles offshore from Calcasieu Pass, and about 40 miles south of Lake Charles, where it was heading when the accident occurred. The Calcasieu Pass connects the Gulf of Mexico with Lake Charles, a major petroleum refining port.

Workshop set to introduce women to political process

"Making a Difference; Women in Electoral Politics" will be the topic of a special emphasis, non-partisan workshop scheduled Aug. 18 in St. John's Methodist Church in Lubbock.

Sponsored nation-wide by the Women's Division of the United Methodist Church Global Ministries Board, the workshop is designed to introduce women to the political process and to encourage their participation as candidates.

Overall chair of the Lubbock area event, Donna Armpriester Echols of Friona said, "This project is an effort led by United Methodists to introduce 10,000 women to the idea of political involvement and to identify 400 potential candidates through 60 one-day workshops on political skills throughout the U.S."

She added that sponsors will personally follow-up on the potential candidates to encourage them to get in-depth campaign techniques training and to provide partial scholarships to 250 potential candidates for in-depth campaign techniques workshops.

"The end goal is to have a minimum of 250 women nationwide trained to run for local and state offices by 1986."

Troyce Hanna of Hereford, a member of the Northwest Texas Conference Mission Team of United Methodist Women, emphasized that the workshop is not just for Methodist women. "It is for anyone interested in any kind of political activity, either as a candidate or a support person," she said.

A highlight of the local workshop will be a panel of elected women sharing their experiences in moving into and up in political roles.

The Lubbock area panel will feature former Lubbock City Council member Carolyn Jordan and Kathryn Goddard, a member of the Friona School Board. The workshop trainer will be Katie L. Dixon, Salt Lake County Recorder. She is the only elected woman official in Salt Lake County, which contains more than half of the population of the state of Utah.

Trainers and Materials for all the workshops are being furnished by the National Women's Education Fund, a national training and information service for women and public leadership.

Dixon, who is currently running for her third term as County Recorder, won her second campaign by the widest margin of any elected official in the state.

She was honored in 1980 by the Utah Chapter of the National Women's Political Caucus for her continued support and encouragement to women in the political arena, and has worked at all levels of her political party.

A graduate of Utah State University, she is also active in the National Association of Counties and is first vice president of the National Association of County Recorders and Clerks.

Jordan was the first woman ever elected to the City Council in Lubbock, serving two successive terms. She made an unsuccessful race for state representative in 1980, then returned to private law practice.

A graduate of Stanford University and the Texas Tech Law School, she is a member of local, state and national bar associations, the Chamber of Commerce, League of Women Voters and the American Association of University Women.

Jordan was the city's representative to the South Plains Association of Governments, and served two terms as its president.

Goddard is a graduate of Southern Methodist University, and has been active in church and community affairs in Friona for several years. She served 11 years as director for Camp New Dawn, a Methodist camp for handicapped children.

Echols, the Workshop chair, is a minister's wife and has worked on local, district and conference levels of United Methodist Women. She is coordinator of Christian Social Involvements for UMW and has worked at all levels of local churches.

She has done college work at McMurry, Texas Tech, Western Texas and West Texas State University. Echols points out that barely 10 percent of all elected offices in the U.S. are held by women, and believes two things must happen to increase this representation for women.

"We must increase the pool of potential candidates significantly; that is, reach out and identify active women in the communities, churches and organizations," she said.

"Also, support systems must be developed, tapping those women who do not want to enter public leadership but who can choose to support women candidates by managing a campaign."

A one-hour theological session preceding the workshop will be optional for those interested in worship and the theological grounding for action in politics.

An additional, lunch-hour feature will be Pat Berry, Political Awareness Coordinator of Mesa Petroleum Company in Amarillo, speaking on "Corporate America Believes Women Should Be Politically Involved."

Cost of the workshop is $25, and reservations, which include lunch, are due by Aug. 11. Additional information is available from Helen Releford, Lubbock (806)-792-0367 or Ruth Lauer, Lubbock (806)-795-3283.

Sign-in at the Aug. 18 workshop will begin at 9:00; the Theological Background session will begin at 9:30, and the Political Skills Workshop will begin at 10:30 a.m. St. John's United Methodist Church is located at 1501 University, right across from the Texas Tech campus in Lubbock.

Dickerson, Walls return from school

J.W. Dickerson and J.O. Walls, both employed by Deaf Smith General Hospital, recently attended the 55th annual Firemen's Training School, Fire Protection Training Division, at Texas A&M at College Station. The men were sponsored by the local hospital to attend the world's largest training school.

Both men are employed by DSGH, Dickerson as maintenance engineer for 17 years and Walls, a former teacher in the Hereford Independent School District, as a certified respiratory therapist for five years.

The men are also with the Deaf Smith General Ambulance Service, with Dickerson serving as an emergency medical technician and driver and Walls as a paramedic.

Dickerson, who retired from the Hereford Fire Department in March 1981, has attended Fire Training School for 30 years and has been an instructor for 23 years. He has taught in 17 different fire projects and this year he was in charge of fire fighting

No. 1, course of ladders section. There were 547 students in his class.

This was Walls' first year as an instructor. His program consisted of ladder derrick, telpher line, rappelling and industrial vessels. He has attended the school for seven years and has served as instructor in the Fire Department Disaster and Rescue Training and was classed as a paramedic working with the project of rescue.

At the training school, there were 3,000 students and visitors in attendance and 420 instructors, most of whom were volunteers.

There were 538 towns represented from Texas and 29 states and two countries.

4-H Around the County

By SUSAN RANEY
County Extension Agent
Seem's the summer is almost over - the stores are filling with back-to-school fashions and school supplies, college students are pre-registering for fall classes and 4-H is gearing up for the new year.

That's right. The 1983-84 4-H year is coming to a close and a new 4-H year dawns beginning Sept. 1. Of course when we're all right in the middle of judging 4-H record books, and starting to try new recipes for the bake show in August it hardly seems that the 4-H year is OVER by any means!

This coming September the Deaf Smith County 4-H recruitment night will be held on Thursday Sept. 6 in the banquet room of the Hereford Community Center and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service cordially invites all interested parents and youth age 9-10 to attend. A new 4-H club will be forming for those youth residing in Hereford and will be an excellent opportunity for the younger members to join. Other clubs throughout the county will also be open for new membership as well. Whether you have an interest in photography or learning to raise a lamb...4-H has something for everyone.

Another area 4-H in our County is opening up for us in the area of 4-H leader recruitment. We're looking for any adult - young or old - who has a hobby or talent they are willing to share with youth. If you'd like to help out, but don't feel you're qualified in any particular area, the 4-H office is ready and willing to train you! We're all set up to teach you about 4-H, give you subject matter training and guide you through your first year as a 4-H leader - be it project or organizational.

If you are familiar with this column, you know that every article always ends with the phrase: "Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin." This phrase is a standard that we live by and we welcome all facets of people into the 4-H program.

The 4-H motto is "To Make the Best Better" and our 4-H members learn by doing. The organization is subject-matter based on proven, factual research from state land grant universities. The teachers are adult volunteers who use their personal experiences and education information to provide members with the opportunity to learn and function in a group setting. Working with others is probably one of the greatest teaching methods ever invented and 4-H provides that idea learning situation.

Leadership is gained as 4-H'ers grow through the years. Each additional project brings new knowledge to a 4-H'er and he or she passes that knowledge down the road to newer members. Citizenship is practiced at monthly meetings and, by community service projects and through projects dealing with government and better citizenship. Record keeping is practiced through the year and 4-H'ers compile a record book for project recognition awards.

By the way of record keeping and compiling 4-H record books, members have the opportunity to apply for scholarships and several national awards. Of course the scholarships don't come easy—4-H'ers must work hard to earn them.

As I look over the past year's 4-H activities and events and begin planning for next year's wide variety of programs, all I can think of is how lucky I am to be involved in such a well-rounded organization that truly represents American values of life. The 4-H office welcomes you to stop by or call us for more information about joining 4-H.

United States cashes in for nine gold

By BRUCE LOWITT AP Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Michael Gross reached out and grabbed a second swimming gold medal for West Germany, but American Bruce Hayes had the winning hand at the end of one of the most dramatic relay races in Olympic history.

Gross, the 6-foot-7 "Albatross" with the 7-4 wingspan, added a victory in the 100-meter butterfly Monday to his triumph Sunday in the 200 freestyle — but as the anchor in the 800 freestyle relay he came up literally one hand short.

It was Hayes who held, relinquished, then regained the lead in the final leg of the race that gave the United States its second swimming gold of the day. Earlier, Mary Wayte led a 1-2 finish in the women's 200 freestyle.

Those golds, coupled with a victory by Ed Etzel of Morgantown, W. Va., in men's English match small-bore rifle competition, gave the United States nine in the first two days of these Summer Games. West Germany, Canada and China have three golds apiece and West Germany, with seven total medals, is second to America's 15.

In the two other golds awarded Monday, Wu Shude of China hoisted 589½ total pounds, 5½ more than countryman Lai Running, in the 123-pound weightlift, and Fredy Schmidtke of West Germany won the 1,000-meter time trial in cycling in 1 minute, 6.10 seconds. The top American finished eighth in each event, Albert Hood of Los Angeles in the weightlifting, Rory O'Reilly of Costa Mesa, Calif., in the cycling.

In another cycling event, though, Steve Hegg of Dana Point, Calif., recorded the fastest outdoor Olympic time ever in a qualifying round of the 4,000-meter individual pursuit. But his time of 4 minutes, 35.57 seconds, although under the world best of 4:40.23 set five years ago by Hans-Henrik Oersted of Denmark, won't count as a record because Hegg overtook Pedro Omar Caino to Argentina.

U.S. boxers Paul Gonzales of East Los Angeles, Virgil Hill of Williston, N.D., and Evander Holyfield of Atlanta joined Sunday winner Mark Breland in scoring first-fight victories.

Medals Table
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Medals totals through Monday's events at the 1984 Summer Olympics with country, gold, silver, bronze and total medals won:
	Gold	Silver	Bronze	Total
United States	9	6	0	15
West Germany	3	1	3	7
Canada	3	3	0	6
China	3	2	1	6
Australia	0	1	4	5
France	0	1	1	2
Great Britain	0	0	2	2
Japan	0	0	2	2
Netherlands	0	0	2	2
Brazil	0	1	0	1
Sweden	0	1	0	1
Belgium	0	0	1	1
Norway	0	0	1	1

Gonzales outpointed Kwang-Sun Kim of South Korea in a 106-pound bout, Hill stopped Edward Neblett of Barbados in the second round of a 165-pound match and Holyfield stopped Taju Akay of Ghana in the third round at 178 pounds.

The U.S. women's basketball team, fresh from Monday's 83-55 pounding of Yugoslavia, takes on Austria and the American men, who routed China in their first game, played Canada today.

In volleyball, the U.S. women began play by sweeping West Germany 17-15, 15-8, 15-10 Monday. The American men, four-set winners on Sunday against Argentina, play Tunisia today.

The American men's field hockey team, a 5-1 loser to defending champion India on Sunday, played West Germany today.

And in today's Olympic debut of the national pastime, the United States plays Taiwan in baseball, a demonstration sport in these Games.

Five more swimming medals are up for grabs late today. And the American men's gymnastics team holds the lead over heavily favored China going into tonight's finals. The U.S. women gymnasts are second to Romania following Monday's compulsory routines. Their team finals are set for Wednesday night.

Hayes, from Dallas, was part of the 800-meter freestyle relay team that set a world record of 7 minutes, 18.87 seconds in Monday morning's preliminaries. Then, in the afternoon, Mike Heath, also of Dallas, David Larson of Jacksonville, Fla.,

Jeff Float of Sacramento, Calif., and Hayes went out and bettered their own record with a clocking of 7:15.69. Five new world swimming records are in books, all set by men.

When Hayes hit the water for his 200 meters, he owned a one-length lead over Gross. By the time they got to the other end of the 50-meter pool, they were dead-even. They stayed that way for the next two laps, Gross inched ahead early in the final 50 meters, then Hayes, with his faster strokes, regained the lead literally in the final inches.

"I was surprised I won after he caught me so fast," Hayes said. "I didn't know if I could hold on after that. ... In the last lap, I just put my head down and started kicking." Gross finished .04 of a second back of Hayes.

Earlier, he finished .15 of a second ahead of Pablo Morales of Santa Clara, Calif., winning the 100 butterfly in a world-record 53.08 seconds, eclipsing the 53.38 set by Morales in last month's Olympic Trials. "I swam my best time," Morales said, "and got beat by a great athlete."

Alex Baumann swam his best time, too, 4:17.41 in the 400 individual medley to surpass his world-record 4:17.53 and give Canada its first swimming gold since George Hodgson won the 400 and 1,500 freestyles at the 1912 Games in Stockholm, Sweden. Jesse Vassallo of Mission Viejo, Calif., was fourth behind Baumann. It is the only swimming event in which the United States has been shut out of a medal.

Moments after Baumann's feat, Anne Ottenbrite gave Canada its second gold of the day and the third of these Games, winning the women's 200 breaststroke in 2:30.38. Susan Rapp of Eden Prairie, Minn., won the silver in 2:31.15.

Wayte, of Mercer Island, Wash., trailed Cynthia Woodhead of Riverside, Calif., through most of the women's 200 freestyle before grabbing the gold in the closing strokes.

"I've been waiting all my life for this," Wayte exclaimed.

Cheryl Miller of Southern Cal was devastating with and without the ball as the women's basketball team began its quest for a first gold.

Hereford Ladies Tourney concludes play Sunday

Adults completed tennis play Sunday in their divisions of the Hereford Ladies Tournament at the Hereford High School courts.

Tournament Director Poppy Head said only enough contestants entered to make one division in singles and doubles play. However, she claimed enough people did play to have two divisions in the mixed doubles category.

Connie Zinser won the singles title, with Robin Hopper and Patsy Hoffmann garnering honors for second place and consolation, respectively.

Cindy Baker was a two-time winner in doubles competition. She took both the women's doubles and A-division mixed doubles crowns. Baker teamed with Jenny Cassels for the ladies' title and Lynton Allred for the mixed championship. Gaye Roberts and Francyne Bromlow were second place winners in women's doubles play, with Poppy Head and Sue Sims finishing third.

In A-division mixed doubles matches, second place winners were Monty Hutto and Cym Mars while Jerry and Teri Morgan captured the consolation crown.

Jim and Lorraine Sandoval took top honors in B-division mixed doubles. R.C. Hoelscher and Charlene Sanders won second, with Rodney Neumeier and Shirley McCulloch placing third.

In junior division play Markay White teamed with Brad Allred for first place. They defeated Stacy White and T.J. Head.

Softball event deadline near

The Ramirez and Sons Summer Softball Classic has been set for Aug. 3-5 in Hereford at the Kids, Inc. and Veteran's Park baseball diamonds.

An entry fee of $90 per team must be paid before the first game. However, entry deadline is Aug. 1 so that tournament brackets may be completed the following day.

Trophies are to be awarded to the top four teams, with individual awards to be given to team members of the first and second place teams. An offensive and defensive most valuable player also will be selected.

Teams are requested to bring Worth's Blue Dot softballs to the contest.

For more information, contact Jackie Mercer at 364-2309, Barry Jones at 364-2555 or Jimmy Ramirez at 364-6511.

Pat McCormick, a four-time winner from the United States in women's Olympic diving, suffered the following injuries during her career: cracked ribs, broken fingers, a split scalp and lacerations of her elbows and feet.

Seaver hurls White Sox to win

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

At the age of 39, it's not easy keeping your fastball up and your earned run average down. But Tom Seaver is doing all right for himself these days.

After struggling at the start of the season, Seaver has turned things around. On Monday night, he posted his fourth victory in July and third shutout of the year in leading the Chicago White Sox to a 7-0 decision over the Boston Red Sox.

Royals 7, Blue Jays 4

Steve Balboni keyed a four-run first inning with a three-run homer and John Wathan added a solo shot in the sixth to power Kansas City over Toronto.

Rangers 5, Orioles 1

Frank Tanana allowed four hits while hurling Texas over Baltimore with home run support from Ned Yost and Larry Parrish.

Tanana, 10-10, retired 14 of the first 15 batters he faced, walking Cal Ripken Jr. in the first, before Mike Young singled with two outs in the fifth.

Yankees 4, Brewers 3

Rookie Dennis Rasmussen won his fourth straight game, combining with Dave Righetti on a seven-hitter as New York downed Milwaukee.

Twins 9, Mariners 5

Minnesota's Gary Gaetti hit his first home run in two months to highlight a 13-hit attack and power the Twins past Seattle.

Angels 5, A's 4

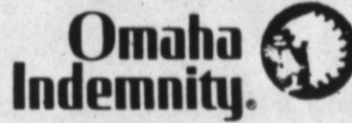

Juan Beniquez hit a home run off Oakland relief ace Bill Caudill with one out in the 12th inning, boosting California over Oakland.

'Where's Randy?'

White absent from camp

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — When Cowboys President Tex Schramm innocently asked his team recently to "tell me where Randy is," running back Ron Springs shot back, "Seven figures will find him."

Tackle Randy White, who has been absent from the summer training camp over a contract dispute, was missing again Friday when Schramm attended a team meeting to introduce the team's 25th anniversary highlight film.

He was greeted by the team's chant of "Where's Randy? Where's Randy?"

Friends say White, 31, has left the negotiating to his agent, Howard Slusher, and has gone fishing in East Texas.

How long he'll stay there is still uncertain: The Dallas Morning News said a deal isn't considered imminent, even though Slusher talked over the dispute with Marshall Simmons, the Dallas attorney representing the Cowboys, over the weekend in his Beverly Hills office.

Meanwhile, Cowboys players — who rarely agree on anything, the News noted — have been unwavering in their support of White's holdout.

Last Wednesday, defensive linemen wore armbands bearing White's number 54. Friday, most veterans went to practice with "Where's 54?" taped to their helmets.

"Randy is not the kind of guy to miss training camp so he doesn't have to work. He's one guy that wants to be here," said tackle Jim Cooper. "At this stage in his career, he has to go for all he's worth. And Randy is probably the best defensive lineman in the league."

"Almost everybody is in support of him. I haven't seen any negatives," Cooper said. "Everybody on the team has a lot to gain by this, too."

This can escalate the salary scale." White, going into his option year at $330,000, is believed to want at least $800,000 a year, matching the contract of Mark Gastineau of the New York Jets.

"I don't know what the problem is in Randy's case," said cornerback Everson Walls. "Any player that is praised by the coaches as much as he is, who contributes as much as he does, should be paid as much as anybody else in the league at his position."

"Management always says Randy is 'The Cowboy,'" Walls said. "Now, when 'The Cowboy' is asking for 'The Money,' he's out fishing."

Even quarterback Danny White, who was criticized by teammates during the 1982 strike for taking a pro-management stance, said Randy White's holdout was beneficial for the Cowboys players.

"Anything that will unify the players is good," the quarterback said. "Even if it is unifying against management."

Schramm and other Cowboys officials have said they will not comment on White's contract negotiations.

All-Stars lose in Bay City

The Hereford 13-year-old Babe Ruth All-Stars ended up a couple of runs short last weekend in Bay City from advancing to the National World Series.

Hereford lost two straight in Bay City, 7-6 to the South Texas champs Saturday and 2-1 in Brazoswood Sunday.

Hereford had advanced to the regional tournament via the West Texas regional tournament July 9-14. In that tournament the Hereford 'stars rebounded from an early loss to beat Plainview twice for the West Texas title.

Clovis wins girls softball

Clovis, N.M., took championships in both the senior and junior divisions of the Hereford Girls' softball tournament Friday and Saturday at the Kids, Inc. complex.

The Clovis teams had to fight their way past teams from Hereford, Muleshoe and Portales for the crowns. Both Hereford and Clovis had two teams in each division.

The tourney concluded the summer softball season for Kids, Inc. President of the Board of Directors of Kids, Inc., Buddy Peeler, said next year's action would begin in May.

Extension home economists to meet in Wichita Falls

COLLEGE STATION — County Extension home economics agents from throughout the state will convene in Wichita Falls for the annual meeting of the Texas Association of Home Economics (TAEHE), Wednesday through Friday.

The three-day program on the theme "Pathways to Professional Fitness" will include speakers, workshops, educational tours and award presentations.

Sarah Weddington, director of the Texas Office of State-Federal Relations and former general counsel of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, will address the group on the subject of women and leadership.

Other featured speakers will include State Senator Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls; Dr. William Gustafson, associate professor of family management, housing and consumer science at Texas Tech University; Dr. Zerle Carpenter, director of the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service; and Dr. Tommie M. Lawhon, associate professor of home economics at North Texas State University.

The county extension agents will also attend workshops on legislative activities, public relations and the use of computers in the extension office.

Six agents who have been selected to receive the Distinguished Service Award, the highest award given by the National Association of Extension Home Economists, will be recognized in special ceremonies at the meeting. Awards sponsored by Texas commodity groups and TAEHE awards for professional activities will also be presented.

Association officers for 1984 are Elinor Harvey, Gaines County, president; Clara Maynard, Bastrop County, 1st vice-president; Mary Greer, Young County, 2nd vice-president; Margaret Guy, Dallas County, secretary; Betty Duncan, Denton County, treasurer; and Joyce Carlen, Harris County, president-elect.

Ann Landers

Elevator courtesy

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A pox on Kent C. of Dallas for his letter on elevator efficiency. My company, like his, has 13 floors and eight elevators.

The K.C.'s who are in a hurry have bogged down the entire system. It can take you a half hour to get an elevator some days.

How? Well, first there's the idiot on the first floor who wants to go the basement, but will ride the "up" elevator to the 11th floor and back down again, just to make sure he gets on. Meanwhile, those who need to go up can't, because the elevator cars are full of "down" people going up, or up people going down.

Then there's the hyperactive clod. I encountered one in an elevator last week. At every stop she quickly pushed the "close door" button before the elevator door was even open. The door slammed shut on several people who didn't run fast enough to make it. She almost prevented me from getting out.

K.C. also is wrong in suggesting that holding one elevator for a few seconds will slow down all the others. (It won't; they operate independently.) His "hurry-up" philosophy is not the answer, it's the problem. Common sense and courtesy is the solution.—C.M.G.H.

DEAR C.M.G.H.: It takes no more time to be courteous than to be rude—and courtesy pays such handsome dividends. It also is much better for the blood pressure. I wish more people would try it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband passed away unexpectedly six months ago. He was very successful in business, but his affairs were a mess. For several weeks I have been struggling with lawyers, his business partner and the insurance company.

Most people thought he was very wealthy (not true), and I have been receiving all sorts of telephone calls from investment people who want to help me shelter my income or double it.

A call last week sounded interesting. The woman was extremely sympathetic so I invited her to tea. We had a lovely visit but she couldn't produce any references. The real estate she is trying to sell me is 1,000 miles away. Her offices are being remodeled and the telephone system is not working properly. She left a business card and said she would call in a few days.

I believe this woman is honest. Her deal sounds very good. How can I be sure?—Uncertain But Leaning Toward.

DEAR U.B.L.T.: You are the perfect target for a con job. First check the woman out with the Better Business Bureau. If they say she's OK ask her to meet with your banker. Before you sign anything, run it by your lawyer. Remember what Barnum said: "There's a sucker born every minute." I'll add to that statement—"And two to take 'em."

If you think you have troubles, how did armored knights of old cope with an itch between the shoulder blades?

PUBLIC NOTICE

AT&T Communications has filed with the Public Utility Commission (PUC) of Texas to introduce a new intrastate, optional long distance service to begin August 1, 1984, the same date "Reach Out America" plan will be available for interstate calls.

A new service designed to give customers the opportunity to reduce the cost of long distance in Texas has been filed with the state PUC by AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc.

"Reach Out Texas" is an optional calling plan which will provide additional discounts on long distance rates for Texas customers who frequently place calls in the evening, weekend, and night time calling periods.

The new "Reach Out Texas" plan for the first time extends the benefits of competition to many Texas consumers who previously have not had any discounted long distance service available to them.

AT&T Communications customers who choose this new optional service will pay a monthly charge of $14 which entitles them to one hour of intrastate "Direct Dialed" (1+) calling during the weekend and night rate period.

An additional customer savings for those participating in the plan will be that any Direct Dialed calls placed during the weekend and night rate period that exceeds the one hour period will be charged at an hourly rate of $12, or $.20 per minute.

Customers selecting this option also receive an additional 15 percent discount for intrastate Direct Dialed calls during the evening discount rate period for a total savings of approximately 38 percent.

A one-time charge of $6 is billed when a customer orders the "Reach Out Texas" plan. The $6 is collected by AT&T Communications and paid to the local telephone company to establish the service. This charge will be waived during the first 90 days that the offering is available.

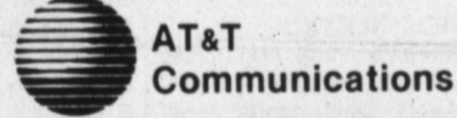

AT&T Communications is proud to offer this optional service for its Texas long distance customers and will in the future continue to introduce cost cutting programs to help Texans reduce their long distance bills.

A complete copy of the "Reach Out Texas" tariff and rate schedule is on file with the Texas Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas.

AT&T Communications estimates that the revenue impact of this new service would be significantly less than 2.5 percent of annual gross revenues.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene or participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information also may be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221, teletypewriter for the deaf.

*Customer billing for the optional calling plan will be provided for AT&T Communications through billing contracts with the local telephone companies. Therefore, the introduction of these rate plans into a specific area is contingent upon local company billing capabilities. Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has agreed to handle the billing in its service areas effective August 1, 1984.

National Dividend plan pushed

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — John H. Perry's "social invention" may receive a hearing from Congress before the year is out, and that, he says, brings closer the day when budget deficits will be no more.
As matters stand, says Perry, a Riviera Beach, Fla. businessman and inventor, many Americans feel budget cuts will deprive them of some benefit. His National Dividend Plan, on the other hand, would assure them a return.
An organization to promote the plan, Americans for the National Dividend Act Inc. has been formed in Rosslyn, Va., just outside Washington, D.C. And it has won many adherents in Congress too.
In fact, it is the subject of H.R. 5085, introduced in March by 32 congressmen as the "National Dividend Act of 1984," and is now awaiting consideration by the House Ways and Means Committee.
"I am going to put it over," says Perry, an affable, relaxed man whose confidence is bolstered by many business successes, in which, those who know him say, his creativity has been a basic, essential ingredient.
Among his activities are newspapers, (he once owned 28), cable television, oceanography and robot submarines.
But he feels the National Dividend Plan may be his biggest contribution of all. It consists of five interrelated provisions:
1. All federal corporate income tax collections would be put into a national profit-sharing trust fund to be distributed on a per-capita basis to all U.S. registered voters.
The consequences, as seen by Perry and his supporters: More registrants and voters. More support for profits and free enterprise.

Business Mirror

2. There would be no dividend unless there was a budget surplus from which to pay it.
Consequences: Voters would see to it that there was an end to further federal budget deficits and a halt to the rise in the federal debt. They would insist on a surplus, and Congress would soon get the message.
3. To ensure a surplus, there would be a five-year freeze in federal spending at the present level.
Consequence: According to Perry's charts, growth revenues would put the country in surplus in about 2 1/2 years.
4. The double tax on dividends (first at the corporate level and then on personal income taxes) would be eliminated in order to ensure that there would be maximum incentives for profitable production.
Consequences: It would aid profits, and the national dividend, and encourage risk-taking by business. It would eliminate about 300 tax-code provisions. It would encourage savings by giving investors a better return.

5. A ceiling on corporate income taxes would be established at the present 46 percent maximum rate.
Consequence: Ensure maximum revenue for both the registered voter and the corporate stockholder whose ownership rights would now be greatly strengthened.
The web of cause-and-effect can become even more intricate. Gradually, as Perry sees it, government would play a smaller role in people's lives. The rich, in effect, would be working for the poor. And business would be assured of customers capable of buying its products.

Sally Ride happy to share spotlight

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Since her historic space flight a year ago, astronaut Sally Ride has taken extensive publicity tours, been interviewed hundreds of times and received many awards.
Now there are two important flights for Ms. Ride coming up in a matter of weeks. Her husband, Steven Hawley, is to fly next month with astronaut Judith Resnik. And then, in October, Ms. Ride takes her second orbital voyage.
Ms. Ride, 33, says she'll be happy when Ms. Resnik takes flight so the spotlight can be shared.
"I'll be glad when there are two of us," Ms. Ride said. "She can take some of the publicity."

KNON-FM station dedicated to alternative programming

DALLAS (AP) — Charlie "Sonny" Rawls is a program director at a major market FM radio station. That's about where the similarity ends with his counterparts at various commercial outlets that churn out rock 'n roll, country and western music and non-stop newscasts.
Rawls' station — which he says is "held together with paper clips and chewing gum" — exists on a budget of $3,000 to $4,000 a month.
Most of the funding comes from knocking on doors asking listeners to toss a few dollars into a kitty that pays the electric bill, the salaries of three-full time staff members and keeps some 80 non-paid volunteers in jobs at KNON-FM.
Neither does the station's programming schedule have much similarity with others in the area.
During a week of tuning in, a listener can find a melting pot of programming not found anywhere else in Dallas — gospel, soul, progressive country and blues, not to mention Latin American tunes, music for breakdancing and programs for Vietnamese, Laotians and Cambodians.
KNON also serves as a public forum that has had representatives ranging from "the Socialist Workers Party to the John Birch Society" on the air espousing their views, Rawls said.
"Welcome to the people's station," is how Rawls, 33, recently greeted a visitor to KNON's studio, jammed into the second floor of a sweltering, decades-old house in east Dallas whose first story serves as the local home of the Association of Community Organizations for Reform Now.
KNON is a "community station," a term that Rawls says is difficult to define, even though he works what he calls "48-hour days" — and often uses a bedroll in a spare room to catch a bit of sleep — in an effort to keep the outlet on the air.
In Rawls' words, "We'll put almost anyone on the air," who has an issue he or she wants discussed. Rawls also says he listens to any member of the public who has a particular idea for a program — be it music or news.
"If they have a decent idea, we'll try to fit it in," he said.
So far, that's how KNON has stayed on the air for nearly a year — "average Joes" coming forward to dedicate their time and creativity to put together KNON's unique blend of non-commercial programming.
"We want to display that wonderful thing Americans have — freedom of speech," Rawls said.

(tion) to happen."
Rawls said Dallas had only one club specializing in reggae — a form of popular music of Jamaican origin influenced by rock 'n roll — before KNON began broadcasting the music form. There now are three reggae clubs, he said.
Secondly, KNON has given its corps of volunteer announcers a chance to break into broadcasting, he said. Several KNON volunteers have moved on to jobs in commercial radio, he said.
In the future, KNON plans to increase its signal from 10,000 watts to 100,000 watts and upgrade its equipment, much of which is now borrowed, Rawls said. The station also wants to do more remote broadcasts, he said.
"We would like to be respected within the industry and the community," he said.
The homing instinct of the carrier pigeon is so great that these birds can fly more than a thousand miles over unfamiliar territory and still find their way home.

PRESENTING THE... "HOME OF THE WEEK"

Attractive Courtyard Living

HOME DESIGN

by Larry Farnsworth
Romantics will be captivated by Model C1708 at first sight. But even the most practical homeowner must agree after studying it that this design's charisma is fully balanced by its character and convenience.
Of course, the exterior does have more than its share of old world drama, with its traditionally tiled roof, protruding beams, and arched windows and courtyard gateway. Even entrance to the garage is a deliberate maneuver, designed to enhance the romantic front elevation.
But practicality is respected here. Note how the main entrance, at the far side of the courtyard leads directly into a double-duty foyer-hallway, conveniently connecting the rooms on both sides of the courtyard. Drama remains the keynote, however, introduced here by the delightful immediate view of the sunken living room and the large fireplace beyond.

Beside the living room is a dining room and an efficient kitchen with a practical U-shaped work area. The washer-dryer installation in the adjacent utility room make convenience a key word. The garage at the corner of this wing has both a courtyard door and direct kitchen access through the utility room.
The rear-most of the three bedrooms on the other side of the courtyard is the large master bedroom with a hugh dressing room adjacent to its private bath and an even larger walk-in wardrobe. The main hall bath backs up to the master bedroom unit. And the entire bedroom wing, separated as it is from the living areas by the courtyard, enjoys the ultimate in restful privacy.

For a house with charisma and practicality combined, Model C1708 charmer is certainly the right choice. This model is also available with a big family room.
