President said planning virtual spending freeze

By CLIFF HAAS AP Economics Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Republican legislators and his own advisers expressing growing concerns about federal red ink, President Reagan has begun fashioning a new budget with a tentative decision to virtually freeze total government spending at its current level.

"The president tentatively decided to try to hold spending to the '85 (current) level," an administration source said after Reagan met separately Thursday with Republican congressional leaders and senior White House aides.

While total government spending — projected to be running near $1 trillion — would be virtually frozen, such action would allow expenditures for some programs to increase while others would be cut.

Meanwhile, Sen. Robert Packwood, R-Ore., one of the congressional leaders who met with Reagan on Thursday, said the administration's goal was to achieve savings in federal spending of $45 billion in 1986, $85 billion in 1987 and $110 billion in 1988. He added that meeting such goals may mean the elimination of entire programs.

The objective of the proposed spending cuts is to reduce the deficit to somewhere between $165 billion and $170 billion in the 1986 fiscal year and to slightly more than $100 billion by 1988.

Reagan was meeting again today with senior aides to continue a program-by-program examination of the budget, with today's discussions focusing on military spending, according to administration sources who discussed the process on condition that they not be quoted by name.

One administration official familiar with the private White House discussions said the budget-making process "was working better now than it has for several years," apparently because of the "sense of the magnitude of the problem we have to address."

"Nothing focuses the mind more than knowing you face the guillotine in the morning," the official said.

But, the official said, it has been a slow process, demonstrated by the fact that a Cabinet meeting on the budget previously scheduled for today has been postponed until next week so that Reagan and his advisers can have more time for a point-by-point examination of spending cuts.

The Cabinet officers were to have been informed today of the reduction targets for their departments.

The deficit for the 1985 fiscal year, which ends next Sept. 30, is projected at $206 billion, above the record $195.4 billion posted in 1983.

The White House group preparing budget options for the president to consider has been operating for about two weeks under the concept that some type of freeze would be necessary. Sources said that Reagan tentatively agreed to that concept on Thursday.

On source said the objective of holding total spending to the current level could be accomplished "by terminations, by freezes and by cuts in services." He added that it would not be an across-the-board freeze as such.

Earlier Thursday, Republican congressional leaders told Reagan that there is bipartisan support on Capitol Hill for across-the-board action to control federal spending, but resistance to any plan that would cut domestic programs while leaving the Pentagon untouched.

Democrats and Republicans alike have insisted that a new drive to cut government spending will fail unless it includes a slowdown in the administration's planned increases in the military budget.

Thomas selected for EPA post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lee M. Thomas's appointment to head the Environmental Protection Agency is drawing muted praise from environmentalists expressing fears he might not be allowed to carry on the work of departing chief William D. Ruckelshaus. The choice of Thomas, 40, was revealed Thursday by the White House less than 24 hours after it announced the resignation of Ruckelshaus, who served an 18-month stint at the helm of the agency he led for three years from its founding in 1970.

Nomination prompts muted praise

Two sources who spoke on condition they not be identified said Thomas was Ruckelshaus' choice as a successor.

Thomas, EPA's assistant administrator for solid waste and emergency response, is responsible for the $1.6 billion "superfund" toxic waste dump cleanup program.

He was the agency's acting head for six months after Ruckelshaus' predecessor, Anne Burford, was forced to resign amidst FBI and congressional investigations of conflict of interest allegations.

Sen. Robert T. Stafford, R-Vt., chairman of the Environment and Public Works Committee, which has jurisdiction over the nomination, said Thomas would be a "good steward" and predicted he would be confirmed by the Senate.

But environmental groups and House Democrats were more restrained in their enthusiasm, noting that whoever took over would continue to encounter the administration's distaste for environmental regulation.

"We have not got another Burford," commented Ben Beach of the Wilderness Society. But "I don't think it makes an awful lot of difference who sits in that chair."

"We will not be opposing the nomination. He's an able administrator," said Adrian Weissman of the Sierra Club. But "we question whether he would be able to get the job done."

Rep. James Florio, D-N.J., principal author of the 1980 "superfund" law and a frequent critic of the administration, said through a spokesman his concern was "for Thomas, not about him."

Commission probe continues

A probe of Hereford Cattle Commission will probably last at least a couple more weeks, according to a spokesman for investigating Packers and Stockyards Association of Fort Worth.

The local firm was shut down Nov. 6, along with Texhoma Livestock Commission, amid charges their owners had been misusing funds. It was speculated by Bill Butler, a PSA marketing specialist, at least "six figures" was owed ranchers for auction revenues at the two commissions.

Four representatives from PSA have been in Hereford and Texhoma conducting the investigation, according to Bill Lockett. In a brief telephone conversation this morning, the PSA spokesman said, "The only thing we're trying to get a firm handle on is how much they owe legitimate co-signers."

Roland Saul, criminal district attorney for Deaf Smith County, said his office would likely become involved in the case once PSA officials finish examining HCC's financial record books.

Last week, a Tennessee firm filed a lawsuit against the Hereford and Texhoma commissions in U.S. District Court in Amarillo. A.W. Cherry and Sons, based in Lebanon, Tenn., asked for at least $2 million.

Hospital officials meet bidders

Board members and doctors of the Deaf Smith General Hospital District have met this week with the two low general contractors bidders for the proposed DSGH renovation project.

Representatives from the Northline Construction and Wiley Hicks Jr. companies were in town this week for separate meetings with hospital personnel. According to Jim Bullard, DSGH administrator, both sessions went very well.

"I feel comfortable with either (company) doing the job," Bullard said this morning. He thought board members shared that opinion. "I think they will be able to make a proper decision."

Should one of the two low bidders be used, the project should cost between $174,000 and $180,000, Bullard has guessed. Last week, the bids turned by the Amarillo firms were a little more than $5,000 apart, with Northline's being the smaller of the two.

A special board meeting is to be called for Tuesday evening, Bullard reported. A final decision concerning a general contractor will probably be made at that time, he said.

Man caught in act of burglary

Hereford police caught a man in the act of theft in a business late Thursday and charged him with burglary and public intoxication. A woman near the scene, who apparently was waiting for the suspect, was arrested for accessory to a burglary and public intoxication.

Also investigated Thursday were one incident apiece of trespassing and vandalism.

County hires two new workers

By KIMBERLY THOGMARTIN Staff Writer

Due to heavy case loads, additional workers have been hired in two offices at Deaf Smith County Courthouse.

Meanwhile, the resignation of Assistant County Extension Agent Brad Morrison has created a manpower shortage in that office.

Cindy Burnam, who served 18 months as a caseworker with the Children's Protective Services division of the Texas Department of Human Resources, has accepted employment in the Adult Probation Office. She will be handling probation cases stemming from misdemeanor convictions.

A native of Harlin, Ky., Burnam studied criminal justice at West

Morrison's departure creates opening

Texas State University in Canyon.

Burnam joins chief probation officer Harold Wheeler and probation officers Avalon Bridges and Juan Lopez.

The Department of Human Resources has hired three persons to take over the duties handled until recently by Burnam and Kirk Merker, who also resigned his position. Barbara Geiger, Jim Shank and Collin Weaver are the new caseworkers.

Morrison, who had served two years as the assistant county extension agent and worked primarily with the 4-H program, has accepted a position as county agriculture extension agent for livestock in Nueces County.

A native of Muleshoe, Morrison is a graduate of Texas A&M University. He and his wife Mitzi Morrison have moved to Corpus Christi, where his new job begins Dec. 1.

Because of the Texas Extension Service's schedule for hiring new agents, the Deaf Smith County office does not expect to be assigned a replacement for Morrison until March.

Assistant County Agent Susan Raney will continue to handle general 4-H programs, with County Agent Dennis Newton overseeing 4-H livestock projects.

Christmas Stocking Fund underway

Project to help families in need

Hereford's Christmas Stocking Fund campaign is underway after the first contributions were made this week. The CSF is a non-profit organization formed only for the purpose of helping needy families at Christmastime.

An anonymous group of men administer the program and The Hereford Brand conducts the volunteer fund-raising program to finance the work. All funds solicited by CSF are used in the help of the needy; there are no administrative costs or expenses.

Contributions are accepted at The Brand office, 313 N. Lee, or may be mailed to The CSF, Box 673, Hereford, Tx. 79045. Applications for the CSF fund should be submitted to the Social Services Office, located near the west entry of the courthouse. The newspaper does not accept requests for help, since they must go through the screening committee. The newspaper will publish a continuing list of contributors. Donors who wish to remain anonymous should so indicate. Needs of some of the less-fortunate families will be printed, but no names of CSF recipients will be made public.

Hereford Brand readers demonstrated the caring spirit of the community last year by donating some $7,634. A CSF screening committee will try to assure that all funds are used for truly needy families.

Ax killer given death sentence

HOUSTON (AP) — A grisly videotape showing two bodies hacked to death with a pickaxe may have been the evidence that clinched the death sentence for a man convicted in one of the slayings, attorneys on both sides say.

Jurors deliberated about 2½ hours Thursday before condemning 38-year-old Daniel Garrett. Garrett was convicted last week of killing Deborah Thornton, 32, after he and a friend broke into her lover's apartment to steal his motorcycle.

Prosecutors showed jurors a videotape made in the home shortly after the bodies were discovered in June 1983. The panel saw the blood-soaked bodies of Ms. Thornton and 26-year-old Jerry Lynn Dean as police discovered them.

"The videotape portrays a graphic scene," assistant district attorney Charley Davidson said. "I would hope that's the kind of thing the jury was considering."

Defense attorney Ray Bass said the panel had condemned an innocent man, but said the videotape had a powerful effect on its members' emotions.

"They've got a lot of gore to work with," Bass said of the prosecutors. "As always, they used it to their advantage."

School board to hold hearing

AUSTIN (AP) — A state Board of Education Committee has scheduled a day-long hearing Saturday in which Texans will offer comments on proposed rules to govern student absences, extracurricular activities and options to social promotion in public schools.

The Legislature approved new regulations in those areas this summer. The student committee of the state board is trying to flesh out the law and provide specific guidelines to the nearly 1,100 school districts in the state.

Before the proposals go to the full board of education, the committee wants to hear from the public.

By mid-week, all sessions of the 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. hearing were full after 164 people signed up to testify. Another 34 were on a waiting list, and that number was expected to grow before Saturday morning.

Proposals to be discussed at the session include:

- Forbidding students to practice and participate in extracurricular activities, such as sports, if they have a grade lower than 70 on a 100-point scale.

Mom held paper during birth

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — The mother of Siamese twins says she insisted on remaining conscious through a Caesarean section delivery and endured it clinging to a piece of paper which said, "Fear not, for I am the Lord."

Wanda Petry, 33, met reporters Thursday for the first time since her delivery Monday.

The former welder from Beaumont said she was "confident everything would be fine" because of the paper, which she said a nurse had given her.

The girls, born joined at the breastbone, were "fine" Thursday, two days after they were surgically separated.

Mrs. Petry said she had saved newspaper clippings about the birth and operation "to show them that they're special," but said she is concerned that all the attention may spoil the twins.

The 4-day-old girls, Ashleigh and Alma Petry, were in serious condition at the University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston but were "improving every day," said their pediatrician, Dr. Joan Richardson.

Apartheid protest prompting arrests

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a week of protests outside the South African Embassy the crowds are still growing, prominent black leaders are still attending and organizers are predicting they have sparked an anti-apartheid movement in this country.

Thursday's gathering of some 250 demonstrators was the largest yet, as Mayor Richard Hatcher of Gary Ind., joined Gerald McEntee, president of the 1.1 million-member American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, and Yolanda King, daughter of the late Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr., in provoking arrest on the embassy grounds.

The three were charged with crossing a restricted area, a misdemeanor.

They said they planned to spend the night in jail. Ms. King was held overnight in a lockup at the District of Columbia jail while Hatcher and McEntee were held in a cell block at police headquarters.

Their arrests bring to 13 the number prominent officials, including four members of Congress, who have been charged for activities outside the embassy since Nov. 21.

In addition, several well-known figures have visited Washington to participate in the rallies, including singer Harry Belafonte, ex-tennis star Arthur Ashe and Coretta Scott King, whose daughter was arrested Thursday.

Mexicans try prisoner for American killings

HOUSTON (AP) — Mexican prosecutors have agreed to try a Mexican prisoner on charges he directed the slayings of four Salvadorans, even though the killings took place in the United States, a U.S. attorney says.

U.S. Attorney Dan Hedges said Thursday the agreement to try Arturo Martinez Herrera, 28, in Mexico is "unprecedented."

"I'm not aware of any other case of this kind involving a foreign country," Hedges said. "We've had some cases of hot pursuit across the border, but nothing of this kind."

Hedges received word late Thursday that Guillermo Calzada, a Mexican federal prosecutor, will file murder and kidnapping charges in Nuevo Laredo Monday against Martinez.

Martinez fled Fort Bend County after the bodies of four young Salvadoran men, roped together and shot in the back of the heads, were found along the banks of the Brazos River on July 16, 1982.

Martinez, the alleged mastermind of Los Tejas, a violent and well-organized alien-smuggling gang, is in custody in Nuevo Laredo on unrelated charges.

Evidence showed in the Fort Bend County trials that the four murder victims were among eight family members smuggled to Houston by Los Tejas.

Once here, the gang tried to double the smuggling fees and fought with family members outside a grocery, authorities said. One smuggler and one Salvadoran were killed and a second smuggler wounded.

When Martinez got news of the FBI warning abortion clinics about threats

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — FBI agents are warning abortion clinics and family planning agencies across the state that an anti-abortion terrorist group known as the Army of God has threatened to bomb some of them, officials say.

The warnings stem from threats made last week by a person claiming to be a member of the Army of God, Ron Hoverson, special agent-in-charge of the El Paso FBI office, said Thursday.

The terrorist group has claimed credit for the bombing of several abortion clinics and family planning agencies, mostly in the East and Midwest. It was involved two years ago in the kidnapping of an Illinois abortionist who was later released, Hoverson said.

Hoverson said the Army of God caller claimed the group was going to extend its terrorist activities to four cities in Texas, as well as other parts of the nation.

Although the four Texas cities were not identified, Hoverson said Texas FBI agents have taken the precaution of warning abortion and family planning clinics across the state to report any threats or suspicious activity at their offices.

"They have made threats that they will target four Texas cities. ... We want to be sure everyone is aware of this potential," Hoverson said.

Ray Silva, director of the Planned Parenthood chapter in El Paso, told The El Paso Times that the organization's national office has also issued warnings about terrorist action.

Included in a recent warning from the national Planned Parenthood office was a list of 18 family planning clinics that were either bombed, burned or vandalized from January to September of this year, Silva said.

The list doesn't include recent bombings, including one that leveled a family planning clinic in Washington, this month, Silva said.

"The Army of God is an anti-abortion group that has claimed credit for past bombings, but not in this part of the country," Hoverson said. "To our knowledge, they have not taken any violent action in the Southwest."

"We're not paranoid or anything, just cautious. There's no telling what deranged people will do," Silva said.

Silva said he hoped publicity about bomb threats wouldn't deter people from seeking family planning services.

"Their (terrorists) whole idea is to scare people away from services," Silva said.

"Their whole idea is to intimidate the hell out of everyone so they won't come in to get family planning services."

Dietary links to cancer hinted

NEW YORK (AP) — Research on weak links in chainlike molecules that govern heredity is hinting that diet is linked to cancer and may lead to a test that would identify people vulnerable to some cancers, a researcher believes.

Geneticist Jorge Yunis said his studies show that caffeine and folic acid, a vitamin found in vegetables, affect the strength of "fragile sites" in chromosomes, the microscopic strands that carry genes.

He said 20 such sites occur at or near places where chromosome breaks are associated with some cancers, and that he found particularly weak links in some cancer patients.

Yunis, of the University of Minnesota at Minneapolis, said in a telephone interview that his findings are too preliminary to make dietary recommendations or test cancer susceptibility in the general public. But another researcher said no relation has been proved between weak chromosome links and cancer.

Schroeder's health improving

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — William Schroeder could be out of intensive care in a matter of days, his doctor says, and Schroeder's wife says she is grateful that the artificial heart beating in her husband's chest has given her more time with him.

"Once we went down that aisle toward that operating room, I was relieved because I felt that my husband was fading away from me and now I feel that I have him back and that I have another chance with him," Margaret Schroeder said Thursday, when the family appeared at a press briefing for the first time since Schroeder's artificial heart implant on Sunday.

"A week ago he was in a lot of pain and short of breath," said oldest son Melvin, 30. "He's the old Dad again."

Today Schroeder is scheduled to test the Heimes portable driver, an 11-pound power supply for the mechanical heart that can replace the 323-pound, waist-high drive unit sitting on the floor at the foot of Schroeder's bed, said Dr. Allan M. Lansing, chairman of the Human Heart Institute International.

Terrorist attack kills 35-plus

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka (AP) — At least 35 people were killed when Tamil terrorists attacked a prisoner rehabilitation farm in northern Sri Lanka today, the national security ministry said.

Officials said two busloads of terrorists, estimated to number about 200, arrived at the Dollar Farm camp, where ex-convicts under rehabilitation live with their families. They said the attackers first killed three prison guards, then herded some of the prisoners into a building and blasted it with explosives.

The attackers, firing submachine guns and rifles, also hurled several grenades before setting off the explosion, the officials said.

The pre-dawn attack on the camp, which had a population of about 450 ex-convicts and their families, occurred less than 24 hours after the government announced a series of tough emergency measures to counter the threat of terrorist violence.

Soon after the first report of the attack reached Colombo, National Security Minister Lalith Athulthudali conferred with armed forces commanders and the inspector general of police, and a nationwide alert was declared.

'Public Housing'

For the most part the "public housing" projects intended to replace slums have become slums.

Chicagoans are scared even to drive past Cabrini Green, vulnerable to upper window snipers willing to shoot at anybody.

Entering the premises is unthinkable.

Once a politically motivated lady mayor moved in - and promptly moved out.

Intramural gang wars and paroled rapists hold thousands "hostage." Forty-seven residents shot in a period of two months; 10 shot dead.

This despite dozens of extra police detailed to the project.

Elevators either don't work at all or are stifling with the stench of urine and vomit.

A few days ago a woman's body was found in a Cabrini Green elevator, its throat slit, and "nobody has any idea" how long she lay there.

In Chicago, a handful of alumni from public housing who broke free from the welfare cycle to become engineers and real estate brokers and public officials and TV celebrities have tried to go back, to offer themselves as role models, to inspire others...

Television's "Mr. T" grew up as Lawrence Tero in Chicago's Robert Taylor Homes.

Yet the Taylor Homes Alumni Association, for all its good intentions and efforts, hopelessly frustrated, disbanded.

Is there nothing we can do about the public housing disgrace? There is.

"Privatize it."

Washington, D.C., driving to work along 295 toward downtown looked at that sprawling private project on Kenilworth with its smashed-out windows, knocked-down fences, bald and littered yards and said, "Poor people have poor ways" -- or something less kind.

And Kenilworth-Parkside public housing complex was even worse inside than out.

There was no functional plumbing. No heat for three winters. Rats the size of cats outnumbered residents. Teen pregnancies were frequent. Many residents were dealers in drugs and most were users.

Thirty percent of the families were living entirely on welfare and 85 percent relied mostly on welfare. And most of the rest on ripping off anything or anybody.

So the 25-year-old buildings looked like a 100-year-old slum-to anybody passing that way in 1982.

Now it's two years later. And wait till you see what's happened! That's for our next visit.

In Levelland tourney

Hereford defeated

When Friday morning rolled around, the Hereford Whitefaces found themselves in the consolation bracket of the Levelland Girls' Basketball Tournament, the result of a 48-44 loss to Clovis, N.M., Thursday night.

Hereford coach Larry Sowers said his team played well until the fourth quarter. Clovis took the lead at approximately the 2:00 mark of the final period, he said.

"We need to finish up the way we start a ball game," Sowers said this morning. "We had the lead most of the way, and we certainly had a chance to win the game. I wasn't too unhappy with our play."

Natalie Sims pumped in 16 points for the Herd, connecting on eight of 14 field-goal attempts. Darla Alford was five for 11 in field goals and had 14 points to compliment Sims' performance.

"We shot the ball better than we have in other games," Sowers said. "In fact, we shot pretty well." Hereford shot 49 percent from the field.

"We rebounded pretty badly, though, and didn't get too much from our inside game," he continued. "Clovis played a man-to-man defense and ran a full-court press the whole game. We had a couple of turnovers late and let them have some easy baskets."

Stacie High canned 6 points for Hereford before fouling out late in the game. Lori Niblet added 4.

Sowers did find a bright spot in the loss Thursday. Playing close non-district games will better prepare his team for conference play.

The Whitefaces, now 2-2, are to play a second-round game at 1:30 p.m. Saturday against the Borger-Littlefield winner today. If the Herd wins that one, it will vie for consolation at 5 p.m. the same day.

Spurs finally end streak of NBA losses at seven

By The Associated Press

Suddenly, San Antonio's losing streak was over, the weight was lifted from the players' shoulders and Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons was his outgoing self once again.

George Gervin scored 30 points, point guard Johnny Moore had 26 and Artis Gilmore scored 24 Thursday night as the Spurs defeated the Dallas Mavericks to end a seven-game National Basketball Association losing streak.

Gilmore thanked both Moore and Gervin for getting the Spurs back in the win column. In his previous two games, the normally high-scoring Gervin was held to total of 26 points.

"It's a major relief to get back on the winning track," Gilmore said. "Johnny Moore and Ice (George Gervin) gave us a great effort."

San Antonio never trailed, although there were four ties in the first period.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Phoenix defeated Chicago 100-95 and Golden State beat Kansas City 110-107.

Suns 100, Bulls 95

Larry Nance scored 10 points in the third period as Phoenix expanded a one-point halftime lead to seven at 77-70 going into the fourth quarter. The Suns forward wound up with 24 points as Phoenix held on to beat the Bulls.

Chicago trailed by as many as 11 in the fourth quarter but closed the gap to 97-95 when Michael Jordan hit a three-point goal with 30 seconds left. But Maurice Lucas hit a free throw, and Nance scored two more from the foul line with 12 seconds left.

TENNIS

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Third-seeded Joakim Nystrom of Sweden defeated Colin Dowdeswell of Britain, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4 to advance to the third round of the $1.28 million Australian Open Tennis Championships at Kooyong.

Nystrom now faces Dan Cassidy, who beat Darren Cahill 7-6, 6-3, 7-6 in the second round.

Scott Davis of Santa Monica, Calif., moved into the third round as he crushed Chris Lewis of New Zealand 6-4, 6-2, 6-0. Ninth-seeded Kevin Curren dropped the first set to Wally Masur, but bounced back to win 4-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4.

Helena Sukova took one hour to win a 7-5, 6-2 victory over Dianne Balestrat. Sharon Walsh reached the final 16 with a 6-7, 6-4, 6-1 triumph over Gigi Fernandez.

Washington alone in first place

Redskins hold on for NFL win

By CURT BROWN
AP Sports Writer

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — It's not by much and may not be for long, but the Washington Redskins are alone in first place in the National Football Conference's East Division.

With Joe Theismann throwing two quick touchdowns and the Redskins recovering two fumbles for scores, Washington built a 31-0 lead and held on to beat the Minnesota Vikings 31-17 Thursday night.

The victory left Washington, 9-5, a half-game ahead of Dallas and the New York Giants in the NFC East.

"We're probably in as good shape as we can be," Theismann said. "We're 9-5 and they have to catch us."

Although the Redskins were ahead by 31 points, the Vikings, 3-11, almost caught them Thursday night.

Archie Manning, the 35-year-old veteran reliever, came on in the second half and threw two touchdown passes to Leo Lewis.

If Viking rookie Allen Rice hadn't fumbled on the 2-yard line with 2:30 to go, Minnesota would have been on level seven points behind.

The Redskins played without bruising fullback John Riggins, who said he'll check into a Washington hospital today for further tests on his painful lower back.

The Redskin victory put the Giants and the Cowboys on the spot as they go into Sunday's games.

The Giants make the shortest road trip in their history — across the field to the visitors' side of Giants Stadium, where the New York Jets, the stadium's other tenant, will be the home team.

Dallas, meanwhile, must face one of the NFL's toughest losing teams — the 5-7-1 Philadelphia Eagles, who with a swing of a half-dozen points could be 9-4. Philadelphia has lost three one-point decisions, including a 17-16 defeat in St. Louis last Sunday.

The Eagles also played a 24-24 overtime tie with Detroit.

The Cowboys, who have an extra three days off following their 20-17 Thanksgiving Day victory over New England, will continue at quarterback with Danny White, who engineered the drive that resulted in the Rafael Septien's game-winning field goal.

But the Eagles will be hampered by the loss of their quarterback, Ron Jaworski, who broke his leg on the third play of their loss in St. Louis. Joe Pisarcik will replace him.

The other game with a bearing on the AFC East race pits 7-6 St. Louis at New England in a game that's crucial for both teams. The Cards must win to stay in the race and so must the Patriots, who trail the Los Angeles Raiders by a game in the AFC wild-card chase.

The Raiders, meanwhile, have a tough assignment of their own at 12-1 Miami, where the Dolphins have clinched the AFC title, but still would like to ensure themselves of the overall home-field advantage. Miami also would like to get Dan Marino, who tied the NFL single-season record last Monday night when he threw his 36th touchdown pass, the record-breaking 37th.

In other games with bearing on the playoff races, the Seattle Seahawks, who beat the Denver Broncos last Sunday to move into a tie with Denver for the AFC West lead, will be at home to Detroit while the Broncos visit Kansas City.

Pittsburgh can clinch the AFC Central title if it beats Houston and the Cincinnati Bengals lose at Cleveland. And the Los Angeles Rams, in the middle of the Infc wild-card race, will be at home to New Orleans.

In games with no immediate bearing on the playoffs, San Francisco, which has clinched the NFC West title, is at Atlanta; Indianapolis at Buffalo and Tampa Bay at Green Bay.

Sugar Bowl hangs in balance for Auburn

By The Associated Press

A Sugar Bowl berth hinges on the outcome for Auburn. For Alabama, it could take away some of the taste of a sour season.

Those are the ingredients Saturday when 11th-ranked Auburn meets cross-state rival Alabama in their traditional season ending game Saturday.

"A win wouldn't take away the six losses," said Alabama Coach Ray Perkins. "The season record (4-6) has been a disappointment.

"I don't look at this game as a bowl game for us or making up for something. What it is, is our biggest game of the year and it always will be."

The Tigers go in with an 8-3 record and a Sugar Bowl bid riding on a victory. If Alabama wins, however, Louisiana State would play Nebraska in New Orleans on New Year's Day and Auburn would meet Arkansas in the Liberty Bowl Dec. 27.

Perkins said his preparations for Auburn were different this year than last year because the Tide had two weeks to work out instead of one. As a result, he said, the squad was able to cover more material and get in better physical shape. "We are as healthy as we have been in long time," he said.

The Auburn-Alabama battle is one of several traditional games this weekend that caps the regular college football season.

In the others, third-ranked Florida visits No. 12 Florida State; Georgia is at No. 18 Georgia; No. 8 Boston College plays at Holy Cross; No. 10 SMU visits Nevada-Las Vegas and Texas A&M is at No. 13 Texas in the games involving the ranked teams.

Elsewhere, Army plays Navy in their annual confrontation, Rice is at Houston, Tennessee at Vanderbilt, and Iowa at Hawaii.

The Boston College-Holy Cross marks the last regular-season game for quarterback Doug Flutie, who will be flown into New York directly after the contest along to join other leading Heisman Trophy candidates at the Downtown Athletic Club ceremonies.

Jack Bicknell, coach of the Cotton Bowl-bound Eagles, would like Flutie and his teammates to forget all about their emotional comeback victory last week over Miami when a Flutie bomb pulled out the game 47-45 at the end.

"I've got to get my guys to come down off that game, which is one of the classics in recent football history, and realize that Holy Cross doesn't give a darn (about) what happened in the Miami game. They're worried about the Holy Cross game," Bicknell said.

The last time Georgia Tech defeated Georgia in Athens was 1974, when Tech prevailed 34-14. But Coach Bill Curry said the Jackets are an improved team.

"This is the best team we've had," he said. "They're better than they've been in the past. Every game is a different set of circumstances ... I honestly don't know if this is our best chance."

Southern Methodist and Nevada-Las Vegas, two bowl-bound teams, meet for the first time in a game the host Rebels hope will springboard the university's football program into national prominence.

UNLV, which almost dropped football two years ago because of budget problems, is 10-1 this season and headed for the California Bowl after winning the Pacific Coast Athletic Association championship. But the 10th-ranked Mustangs are by far the stiffest test on a schedule littered with lesser-known football schools.

"This is the biggest scheduled game that the university has ever played," said UNLV coach Harvey Hyde. "This game is a game that can distinguish the football program here."

The Army-Navy game returns to Philadelphia after last year's trip to Pasadena, Calif. Some 72,000 are expected to pack Veterans Stadium to witness the 85th meeting of the two service academies.

The Midshipmen have dominated the series of late, winning nine of the last 11 games.

Cotton Bowl team decided Saturday

SWC representative uncertain

By DENNE H. FREEMAN AP Sports Writer

Along about 10 p.m. Saturday the Southwest Conference football title should be decided, and Cotton Bowl officials may have to call Las Vegas to congratulate the winner.

Not that the oddsmakers in the neon-lit Nevada town have anything to do with it. They've been wrong many times on SWC football this year.

No, that's where Southern Methodist is playing the University of Nevada-Las Vegas.

And if Rice upsets Houston and the Texas Aggies down Texas then the Mustangs would be the SWC host team against Boston College on New Year's Day.

Don't laugh. Who would have thought a team with two losses would be representing the SWC for the first time in history?

The Houston Cougars are 21-point favorites to end all the suspense and dispatch the Rice Owls in the Astrodome to clinch the host spot.

Should Houston lose and the Longhorns win, then Texas would get the host role. The Longhorns are whopping 10-point favorites to vanquish the Aggies in Austin in a nationally televised (ESPN) 6:45 p.m. game.

Houston defeated Texas and SMU earlier in the season. The Cougars lost to Texas Christian and Arkansas.

Texas beat SMU but also has lost to Baylor.

SMU has finished its SWC season at 6-2 and is assured at least a co-championship. The Mustangs get to go to the Aloha Bowl and play Notre Dame as a consolation prize if things fall through.

Interestingly, there's no line on the SMU game. Oddsmakers in Vegas aren't allowed to book local games. The Rebels have lost only one game but SMU is on a roll. SMU should be favored by two touchdowns.

Texas will go the Freedom Bowl in Anaheim, Calif. to play Iowa if the favored Cougars win as expected.

The Cotton Bowl said it would be delighted to have Houston.

"We had some negative publicity and Houston has always produced exciting games," said Jim Brock, executive vice president of the Cotton Bowl.

Only last week Houston Coach Bill Yeoman, noting that it appeared the Cougars had been shut out of every bowl, said "We'll play Texas Tech and call it our Lubbock Bowl."

Now, Houston stands to be in high cotton if it can beat Rice which hasn't won a conference game under new Coach Watson Brown.

GENERAL
LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — The executive board of the International Olympic Committee was expected to rule the International Soccer Federation had no claim to gate receipts from the Los Angeles Olympic soccer tournament.

FIFA is demanding a share of the money paid by spectators at the tournament in accordance with its own international rules, although there is no such provision in the Olympic charter.

The nine-member executive board, meeting for one-day under the chairmanship of president Juan Antonio Samaranch, was expected to tell FIFA it had no legitimate claim to a share of the gate money.

Tony Dorsett of the Dallas Cowboys set an NCAA major college football record by scoring 356 points during his four years at the University of Pittsburgh. From 1973 to 1976, Dorsett made 59 touchdowns and added two extra points.

Two junior-high teams move to second-round winners' play

Two teams, one from La Plata and one from Stanton, advanced Thursday to the winners' bracket of the Hereford Junior High Basketball Tournament, while at least five teams from the local junior highs moved into consolation play.

Stanton's eighth-grade team got 14 points from Sharon Terry in a first-round game against Dimmitt and whipped the visitors 23-14. The Red team from La Plata's seventh grade also won. Stacy White canned 10 points and Nikki Self added 7 as La Plata downed Canyon 36-23.

Both winners are to play at 8:15 p.m. today. Stanton is scheduled to play in the HHS gym, and La Plata has a game at the Stanton Junior High gym.

Other teams from the junior highs weren't so fortunate. Stanton seventh-graders were defeated by Canyon White 32-14, despite Alicia Redmon's 8 points and Linda Cera's 6. Another game is scheduled for the Stanton team at 4:30 today.

Also set to play at 4:30 p.m. today is the La Plata seventh-grade team, loser to Plainview Blue 37-15. For La Plata, Robin Price and Misty Reed toed for high-pint with 4.

Plainview Blue defeated Stanton's ninth-graders 32-24. Crystal Ball scored 12, and Shannon Diers and Carolyn Rieves had 6 for Stanton. Stanton plays at 7 p.m. today at the La Plata Gym.

La Plata's eighth and ninth-grade teams lost to Canyon Purple and Canyon, respectively. Wisty Mas scored 8 in a losing effort for the eighth-graders as Canyon Purple won 28-23. Jeanette Mumau had 4 points for the ninth-grade, as Canyon held La Plata to only 1 point the second period in posting a 31-15 win. La Plata eighth-grade plays at 4:30 today in the HHS gym, while the ninth-grade is set to play at 7 p.m. in the La Plata gym.
