John Paul II hits Denver for four-day visit

DENVER (AP) - Pope John Paul II challenged the United States to exert moral leadership in resolving the Balkan crisis and in opposing abortion - an indirect rebuke of President Clinton just minutes after their first encounter.

"America, you are beautiful and blessed in so many ways," the pope said, quoting from a speech he gave in 1987 in Detroit. "If you want equal justice for all, and true freedom and lasting peace, then, America, defend life!"

The leader of 950 million Roman

Pontiff meets with Clinton while in Mile High City

Catholics arrived in Denver on Thursday for a four-day visit centered around World Youth Day, a jamboree described as a "Catholic Woodstock" for youngsters from 70 nations. It's his third visit to the United States in the nearly 15 years since he became pope.

On Thursday evening, some 85,000 rain-soaked youngsters welcomed the pope at Mile High Stadium, waving white handkerchiefs and stamping their feet until the place shook. He beckoned them to lead the church and society into the next century.

Today, he was to celebrate Mass with bishops in Denver's cathedral and then travel to a retreat in the Rocky Mountains about 50 miles from the city to hike and rest.

The 73-year-old pontiff, making his 60th papal trip, appeared drained by tropical heat at earlier stops in Jamaica and Mexico. But his spokesman, Joaquin Navarro, said he was feeling better.

After being welcomed at Denver's Stapleton International Airport by Clinton, his wife, Hillary, and daughter, Chelsea, the pope spoke for 20 minutes.

John Paul urged the United States to work with the United Nations and other international organizations to resolve conflicts in the Balkans, the Middle East and Africa.

But he didn't say whether military force would be justified. In recent months, the Vatican has accused the United States of using excessive force in Somalia.

"In developed countries, a serious moral crisis is already affecting the lives of many young people, leaving them adrift, often without hope, and conditioned to look only for instant gratification," the pope said.

"Only by instilling a high moral vision can a society ensure that its young people are given the possibility to mature as free and intelligent human beings," he said.

The pope's only clearly abortion-related remarks in that speech were repeated from an address he gave during his last U.S. visit, six years ago. And he didn't repeat the sharpest reference he made then to abortion.

Increase in inflation fails to materialize, surprising analysts

WASHINGTON (AP) - Fear among economy-watchers that inflation was poised to accelerate this year faded almost as swiftly as it arose.

Economists had assumed inflation wouldn't be a problem in 1993 after sinking to 2.9 percent in 1992, the second-lowest annual rate in 27 years.

But government reports showing unexpectedly brisk cost of living increases began to nibble at their serenity. By the time the April inflation figures came in, many analysts began to wonder if they had been wrong.

During the first four months of the year, inflation as measured by the Labor Department's Consumer Price Index, rose at a 4.3 percent annual rate.

Bond traders, who worry that inflation will erode the value of their fixed-income securities, pushed up long-term interest rates.

But the news was much better for May, when prices edged just 0.1 percent higher, and June, when prices were unchanged for the first time in more than two years.

Analysts expect the Labor Department today will issue another good report, showing about a 0.2

percent price increase in July, bringing the annualized inflation rate for the past three months in under 1.5 percent.

At the wholesale level, prices have been even better behaved. They were unchanged in May, down 0.3 percent in June and down 0.2 percent in July, the department said Thursday.

The yield on the 30-year bond, a good barometer of inflation sentiment, reacted by falling to a 16-year low Thursday morning.

"Inflation is tempered ... (and) prospects are still excellent. There's a lot of downward pressure on prices," said economist Robert Brusca of Nikko Securities Co. International Inc.

Economists cite three factors behind inflation's recent quiescence: -Meat prices are lower because farmers are sending animals to slaughter early to avoid higher feed costs caused by crop destruction in the Midwestern floods.

-Energy costs are moving down because of slack world demand.

-Economic growth and buying demand for manufactured goods are weak in the United States and in most of the industrialized world. Companies can't raise prices without risking losing sales.

Clinton pushes defense conversion plan at Navy base targeted for closure

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) - President Clinton, who approved a recommendation in July to close 35 major U.S. military bases, is trying to reassure those hurt by deep Pentagon cutbacks that they won't be abandoned.

On the second day of his week-long working vacation, Clinton was promoting his five-year, $19.5 billion defense conversion plan at Alameda Naval Air Station, a future victim of military cutbacks.

He also was participating in a roundtable discussion on defense conversion at Oakland Naval Supply Station.

The conversion package is just a fraction of the about $110 billion he plans to slash from the military budget in five years, but Clinton says using federal money to train defense workers, help communities hurt by base closings and put defense technologies to civilian use is the first step toward building "an economy that can compete and win in the post-Cold War era."

The Base Closure Commission recommended closing 35 major bases, nine of which are in California, including Alameda.

Passing the political hot potato to Congress as soon as possible, Clinton OK'd the list the day he got it. Congress must either approve or reject the entire list.

Clinton's trip here was designed "to demonstrate the president's commitment to the people of California during this transition period. It's one of the hardest hit states and he wants to put the full weight of the White House behind helping it," said Nancy Soderberg, staff director of the National Security Council.

Clinton flew here Thursday night after signing a flood relief bill in St. Louis and visiting with Pope John Paul II in Denver. The quick trip signals his commitment to shore up eroding support in California, the electoral-vote rich state he won easily in 1992.

Committee getting conflicting data on alleged cost overruns at collider

WASHINGTON (AP) - Conflicting views of the super collider's financial status have resulted from confusion over whether there are real or potential cost overruns, Energy Secretary Hazel O'Leary says.

O'Leary told a Washington audience Thursday that she remains "very comfortable" with figures showing the super collider remains on budget.

Those comments and similar ones made last week before a Senate committee are in apparent conflict with information given by O'Leary's staff to a powerful House committee chairman's aides.

House Energy and Commerce Committee Chairman John Dingell is asking O'Leary to reconcile the apparent discrepancy. In a letter Tuesday to O'Leary, the Michigan Democrat noted that Energy Department officials told his staffers that the "current DOE analysis of the high-risk areas shows a $2 billion increase in the project's cost."

But O'Leary suggested during her appearance Thursday at the USA Today International Newsmaker Breakfast that there's a difference between cost overruns and problem areas that could lead to overruns if not tackled now.

Last month, O'Leary dispatched a team of about 30 auditors down to the collider's Texas construction site to identify "high-risk cost elements" that could result in overruns. The team's report is due within the next two weeks.

"The way some people have tended to interpret that report, which interestingly enough is not even written yet ... is to say that those represented 'cost overruns,'" O'Leary told the reporters.

"The more important piece in my view is to let us know what areas we could be working on so as to bring costs down and make that project much more cost effective," she told reporters.

"And so, that is the tussle and the quarrel and probably doesn't deserve all of the attention it has received."

The collider has been dogged by congressional complaints of cost overruns since the project was begun four years ago. Officially pegged at $8.25 billion, the giant atom smasher is unofficially expected to cost at least $10 billion when the Clinton administration's plan to stretch construction costs out over a period of time is included.

In his letter, Dingell said the $2 billion potential cost overrun doesn't include any costs associated with the planned stretchout, estimated between $1.6 billion and $2 billion.

Sen. Dale Bumpers, the Arkansas

Democrat who is leading the Senate effort to kill the super collider, contends the cost of the project eventually will top $13 billion.

O'Leary last week pledged to complete the project for $8.25 billion - plus a 10 percent contingency fee and whatever costs are associated with the stretchout.

The financial study is part of a broader management review that O'Leary ordered in June. Last week, she stripped responsibility for construction of the massive science project from the collider's prime contractor, a non-profit consortium of universities.

German woman experiences life in West Texas during exchange

By GARRY WESNER
Managing Editor

Luitgard Reutlinger wants one day to be head chef at a restaurant.

For now, however, she is experiencing life on the Texas Panhandle.

Reutlinger, 21, is from Leutkirch-Gebratzhofen, Germany, and is in Hereford through the weekend as part of a six-month exchange program that will allow her to see parts of Texas and Minnesota.

The program is organized in the U.S. through the 4-H, and through a related German youth group in Reutlinger's home country.

It is designed to let German youth adults study the "culture and life of the American people," said Mrs. Joe Grotegut, with whose family Reutlinger is staying while in Hereford.

Their American counterparts do the same thing in Germany.

Reutlinger arrived in the United States on June 19.

Under the exchange, she stays in a Texas city for three weeks with a host family, then travels with that family to another city, where she stays three more weeks.

Currently, she is staying in Dawn with the Groteguts, who, ironically have a daughter participating in the same program from the other direction - staying with German families as she travels that country.

Donna Grotegut, 20, is the only Texan in the 4-H program to go to Germany.

After leaving Hereford, she is bound for Sonora - after a stop at Carlsbad Caverns, N.M., with the Groteguts - for three weeks.

Her final stop in Texas will be in Cameron, which is located east of Bryan-College Station.

Finally, Reutlinger will spend three months in Minnesota before returning to Germany.

Reutlinger said she studied home economics in Germany and most recently worked in a restaurant.

Participation in the government-sponsored program is for those who have an agricultural background, or who are planning careers in agriculture or home economics.

She said she grew up on a dairy farm in Southern Germany.

While here, Reutlinger said, she not only plans to observe American life, but also wants to bone up on her English.

"Learn the language and see how the American people live, (and) the country," she said.

As for the people, Reutlinger said, "They are all friendly" in the Panhandle. "It's nice when I meet some people and they speak some German."

She said there are obvious differences between Hereford and her homeland.

"Here, you drive one hour and you go to the next town and in Germany you drive five minutes and you go to the next town," she said with a laugh.

Also, the countryside near her family farm is different.

"It's dry (here) and we have not so big fields. They are smaller," she said, adding that southern Germany has "a lot of forest and high trees."

The size difference - Texas is twice as large as the entire country of Germany - came into play recently when Reutlinger traveled from Hereford to Kansas City, Mo., for an International 4-H Youth Exchange convention.

"It was pretty good, but I had a long drive on the bus," she said. The trip each way took 15 hours.

When she returns to Germany, Reutlinger plans to resume her work.

In addition, she will make slide presentations about her time in the United States.

She said one important thing learned from the 4-H here she will use at her home youth groups.

She said the 4-H taught her how to arrange things, as well as how to give public presentations.

She said she plans to eventually become a head cook in a restaurant.

Her formal schooling is complete and she graduated with what is the equivalent to a bachelors degree in home economics.

Coming in Sunday's Brand

Where has the summer gone? It seems like just yesterday that Hereford youth were pouring from the classroom, looking forward to a full summer ahead. Now, it's time to go to school again -- but not before you check out Sunday's Brand. Our special "Back to School" section has important information for parents and students before the Hereford Independent School District resumes classes on Wednesday.

Also, meet one of the new people who will teach this year. Kim Villarreal is poised and ready to step into the classroom for the first time as a teacher.

Lubbock voters to decide fate of 1/2-cent sales tax

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - Residents will head to the polls Saturday to decide whether to keep the half-cent sales tax they voted in just seven months ago.

The levy passed in January as an effort to lure a Pentagon accounting center to West Texas.

The tax, which went into effect July 1, raised city sales taxes from 7.75 cents on the dollar to 8.25 cents. Supporters promoted it as the city's way to pay for an $88 million public-private incentive package to the Pentagon.

But the tax seems doomed now because many residents are bitter that federal officials snubbed Lubbock late in the selection process.

Defense Secretary Les Aspin announced new criteria in March that knocked out the lone Texas entry from a short list of 20 cities.

"Obviously it was very disappointing," said city councilman Randy Neugebauer, who wants to keep the tax. "But the whole community learned. We are more sophisticated about the arena of economic development."

Mayor David Langston carried through on his January promise to lead the rollback petition if Lubbock didn't win one of the four new accounting centers.

Langston said he considers the levy as a tool that should be returned to Lubbock's "arsenal to try to attract businesses."

Regardless of Saturday's vote, the sales tax will remain in place until Dec. 31. By then, about $4 million will have been collected.

That money cannot be spent without a public hearing and council vote, Langston said.

But Neugebauer and other council members want to retain the sales tax as a way to reduce property taxes.

Two citizens' groups are campaigning against keeping the sales tax.

Survivors are a daughter, Hope Attridge of Aurora, Colo.; a sister, Sadie Porter of Ulysses, Kan.; two brothers, Johnny Hennington of Fort Worth and Orvis Hennington of Lovington, N.M., and two grandsons.

Review of shuttle problems planned
Discovery shutdown is one more in string of delays

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) - Another heartstopping shutdown at the launch pad has prompted a NASA review of the many shuttle problems that have delayed flight after flight since spring.

Shuttle operations director Brewster Shaw said he wants to make sure there is no underlying problem linking the failures, such as budget cuts.

"Are we starting to squeeze the program too hard? I think the answer is no," he said. "I think these were unrelated string-of-bad-luck items, but I do intend to answer that question."

Discovery's three main engines fired on cue with 6 1/2 seconds left in the countdown Thursday and were roaring when the shuttle computers automatically shut them down three seconds later. It was the fourth engine shutdown at the pad in the shuttle program's 12-year history; the last one was in March on Columbia.

It was also launch delay No. 4 for Discovery.

John Logsdon, director of the Space Policy Institute at George Washington University, said the incident points up the need for a new and more reliable rocket ship.

"We know we can launch them and we know we can operate the system safely. What we are finding out is we cannot operate the systems so we're certain we're ready to go on any given day," Logsdon said. "It's not going to happen unless we begin to invest in the next-generation system."

Launch director Bob Sieck said Discovery's latest launch delay probably will last three to six weeks. The flight already was one month late.

Mechanical failures, one involving circuitry at the pad and one involving the steering system on one of Discovery's solid rocket boosters, forced NASA to scrap the first two launch attempts in July. NASA then postponed the launch from last week to Thursday to avoid damage from Wednesday night's meteor shower.

Thursday's problem appeared to be with a sensor designed to monitor the flow of fuel through one of the engines.

"We will get into space safely. This is just one more delay," shuttle commander Frank Culbertson Jr. said. "The shuttle is still a very complicated machine, but it's still the best spacecraft in the world and we're protecting it."

Sieck said there is no evidence the shuttles are deteriorating with age. And Shaw said he remains confident in the shuttle program and its ability to help build a space station.

He said he expects to be flying shuttles until the year 2030 or so; each ship was built to fly 100 times. Discovery, the most-traveled shuttle, has flown 16 times.

Eight flights had been planned by NASA this year, but Discovery's repeated delays virtually guarantee only seven will be achieved.

Only one of NASA's 56 shuttle flights has ended in disaster - the 1986 Challenger explosion, which killed seven astronauts.

Thursday's postponement cost NASA about $650,000, much of it for fuel. The expense of all three launch scrubs is more than $2 million.

But Logsdon said it could have been worse - much, much worse.

"We blew up a Titan 4 with a billion dollars' worth of equipment on it a few days ago," he said. "Are we better off not launching, or launching and blowing up?"

AHA to be beneficiary of rock/roll jamboree

There will be a whole lot of rockin' and rollin' goin' on next week at the Hereford Senior Center.

It's not a concert by an aging rocker or an Elvis appearance -- it's a fundraiser for the American Heart Association.

The "Rock 'N Roll Jamboree" will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 18, in the center, 426 Ranger. It is open to the public.

Local senior citizens, including residents of Kings Manor, Golden Plains and Hereford Care Center will be on hand to rock in rocking chairs or roll around in their wheelchairs to earn money pledged by local residents.

The Rock 'N Roll Jamboree is sponsored nationally by the American Health Care Association and in Texas by the Texas Nursing Home Association.

Last year, Texas nursing home residents raised $101,000 for the association.

Pledges are still being accepted for the Jamboree.

Those interested in pledging may either go by the Jamboree on Wednesday or call board members Mark Collier, 364-2141, or Rita Bell, 364-2435.

Rock and rollers

Wheelchairs and rocking chairs will be the instruments of choice for several Hereford senior citizens next week as the Deaf Smith County chapter of the American Heart Association hosts a "Rock and Roll Jamboree." The jamboree will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Aug. 18. Shown getting ready for the event are, from left, Lucy Martin; local Heart Association board member Mark Collier; Charlotte Modersitzki, wellness coordinator for the Deaf Smith General Hospital WorkSmart program; board member Rita Bell; and Martha Lueb.

Scores give schools good news/bad news

AUSTIN (AP) - Nearly 6 percent of Texas schools have recorded student performance so low that the schools could be closed in two years unless improvements are made.

The Texas Education Agency on Thursday listed 363 of 6,208 campuses rated as "low-performing."

In addition, TEA said, 10 of the state's 1,048 school districts could lose their accreditation and be merged into other districts if they don't shape up.

Under a new state law, each district and individual school was rated based on results of the Texas Assessment of Academic Skills student achievement exam administered to fourth, eighth and 10th graders.

Those districts and schools listed with "clearly unacceptable performance" are where 20 percent or less of the students passed the TAAS exams.

"We are committed to increasing the number of exemplary and recognized districts and campuses, while at the same time reducing the number that are low-performing," Education Commissioner Lionel "Skip" Meno said Thursday.

Under the law, Meno has the power to close low-performing schools that don't improve, while the districts where accreditation is threatened could be annexed into other districts.

However, TEA spokeswoman Della May Moore said, there are a number of intermediate steps that can be taken first.

"We have high expectations that we're not going to have to exercise that (closing) option. We feel that people will direct financial as well as human resources ... to improving student performance," Ms. Moore said.

Responding to the rankings, the Texas Association of School Boards issued a statement saying it is difficult to judge schools based on a single standardized test.

"We go into the classroom with the assumption that any child can be educated. This data suggests that some children will require more resources, more community support and more parental involvement," said Frank Battle, the group's legislative counsel.

The new system ranks campus performance as exemplary, recognized, acceptable or low performing.

Twenty-two made the top category and 255 were recognized.

TEA said 5,568 schools were listed as acceptable, but 593 of those were warned of unacceptable performance in a "specific student population," which the agency defines as blacks, Hispanics, whites or the economically disadvantaged.

TEA said the new accountability system was consistent with Meno's call for more rigorous, real-world standards linked with local flexibility.

"We now have a strong and clear student achievement accountability system," Meno said.

"And we are confident that academic performance will rise for all students and extreme sanctions will not be necessary as we move forward in a spirit of cooperation with local districts and campuses," he said.

Public disclosure of the poor-performing schools' names came more than a week after local school officials were notified.

At least some districts were given the names of their poor-performing schools on Aug. 3. But the TEA refused to make the information public that week.

Ms. Moore said the TEA wanted to make sure all local districts were notified, and to give schools time to appeal low ratings because some initially were listed incorrectly.

Eventual release of the listings came eight days after the information was sought by The Associated Press under the state Open Records Law. Other news organizations also sought the list under the open government statute.

The 22 campuses listed as exemplary (and their school districts) were: Blackwell Elementary, Blackwell Consolidated; Hatton Elementary, Bridge City; John F. Ward Elementary, Clear Creek; Pinkerton Elementary, Coppell; Crawford Elementary, Crawford; TAG Magnet, Dallas; Darrouzett Elementary, Darrouzett; Doss Elementary, Doss Consolidated; Hillcrest Elementary, Dumas; Fayetteville Elementary, Fayetteville; Luna Elementary, Garland; Armstrong, Hyer and University Park elementary, Highland Park; Springwood Hospital, Hurst-Euless-Bedford; Hospital Campus, La Marque; Murfee Elementary, Lubbock; Pineland Hospital, Nacogdoches; Jackson Elementary, Plano; Mohawk Elementary, Richardson; South Texas Science Academy, South Texas; and L'Amore, Spring.

SAN JOSE CATHOLIC CHURCH

Are you a married or single person who wants to learn much about our Catholic faith and deepen your relationship with God? Do you know an adult, friend or family member who is interested in becoming a Catholic or in receiving the sacraments and being fully initiated into the Catholic Church. Why not look into participating in the parish R.C.I.A. process?

R.C.I.A. means Rites of Christian Initiation for Adults. It is a year long process of sharing, reflecting, deepening and being formed and initiated into the Catholic faith. In the R.C.I.A., one can truly learn what adult faith is all about and find the treasures of Christian life that so often remains hidden from us: The R.C.I.A. group will begin meeting at the end of the month. Call Patsy Gonzales, parish R.C.I.A. coordinator, at 364-1904 (work) or 364-3204 (home) if you or someone you know are interested.

Teenagers from Amarillo, Canyon, Bovina, Umbarger, Perryton and Hereford will be undertaking an important task during the World Youth Day celebration in Denver this week--providing the music for diocesan youths traveling to Denver.

Leading the liturgical music for the diocesan group will be Gabriel Guerrero of San Jose Church, Hereford. Other Hereford members of the group are Gilde Flores, Ramon Corona, Diana Torres, Veronica Nava, Amy Liscano and Matthew Gavina.

The group from San Jose will be responsible for furnishing the music for liturgies and prayer services to be celebrated by the diocesan group while in Denver. Celebrants for the liturgies will be Bishop Leroy T. Mathisen and other diocesan priests. It is time to start preparation for religious education. Registration for K-6th grade religious education will be held on the third and fourth weekend Aug. 14-15 and Aug. 21-22. The registration fee per child will be $5. The first class starts on Saturday, Sept. 12, from 10 a.m. until noon in the Mission.

CENTRAL CHURCH OF CHRIST

The church congregation invites everyone to come and join them in worship and praise to God.

The Sunday morning classes, which range from pre-school age through adult, begin at 9:30. The Sunday worship services are held at 10:25 a.m. and 6 p.m. The group also meets each Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. to study God's word. Please decide to come and share the love and reverence for God.

With the excitement of the beginning of school, we should be aware of the many changes some of our children will face. One in particular is going from being the oldest in school to the youngest, such as from elementary to junior high or from there to high school. Pressure to conform because you are young and want to fit in is always a danger we should prepare our kids for. This will enable them to deal with a problem before they have to face it and help them make some decisions with our help they might not otherwise make. As school begins, anew may God bless us in all that we do. Eph. 6:4.

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

The youth of the church seem to be the busiest of all members this next week, beginning with a goodbye party for college-bound students. The UMYF will sponsor a party at 7 p.m. today for all those leaving for school.

Sunday morning at 8:45, the youth will have a breakfast at Troy's Sweet Shop and then will attend Sunday school at 9:30 a.m. At 6 p.m., they will meet for their regular group meetings.

All youth will have a youth night before school party at 7 p.m. Wednesday.

The youth will be leaving at 5:15 p.m. Friday, Aug. 20, for a trip to Wonderland Park. All these activities sound like fun and if anyone needs more information please call the church office.

A special program for King's Manor Auxiliary has been planned for 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, Aug. 17, in the Lamar Room. Joe Weaver, local librarian, will present "Texas Under Four Flags."

The Laymen's Retreat will be held Aug. 13-15 at Ceta Canyon. Check with the church for details.

Attend the church of your choice on Sunday. The First United Methodist invites you to attend Sunday school classes at 9:30 a.m. and the Sunday morning worship service at 10:45.

ST. ANTHONY'S CATHOLIC CHURCH

Anyone interested in helping Deacon Jonny Cloud to prepare couples for celebrating the Sacrament of Baptism are asked to call him at 364-6150.

Tony Melendrez will be presenting a free concert at 8 p.m. Wednesday at St. Thomas Apostle Church in Amarillo, 4100 Coulter. Melendrez, who was born without arms, plays the guitar with his toes and sings.

High school youth wanting to serve the parish as Ministers of the Eucharist at weekend liturgies are asked to call Betty Koelzer at 364-1106.

The Diocesan Pastoral Council Workshop is planned Aug. 21 at the BDF Retreat Center for all parish leaders from 8:30 a.m. until 3 p.m.

IMMANUEL LUTHERAN CHURCH

Sunday school is held at 10 a.m. at the church located at 100 Ave. B. The Adult Bible class is studying a survey of the Old Testament.

The Sunday morning worship is at 11 and the sermon for this week is entitled "An Invitation to Love" taken from the text Isaiah 55:1-5.

"Harvest in the Land" will be the video shown at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. This is a film from underground evangelism. The public is invited to see the film which deals with situations of the Christian Church in Eastern Europe.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

The public is invited to attend all services at the church.

Sunday school begins at 9:30 a.m. and the Sunday worship services are held at 10:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. Meeting each Wednesday at 7 p.m. are the Adult Bible study classes, Teen "LIFE" and TV & Me.

During the Sunday morning service, Pastor Ted Taylor's sermon will be the third part of a four-part series on King David, "Slaying the Giants In Your Life." How do we see through our failures?

Immediately following the Sunday evening service, there will be a teen swim party at Green Acres swimming pool. Cost is $2 per person plus snack money.

The NCA Parent-Teacher orientation will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday in the church sanctuary. All parents and students are invited to attend and meet the teachers and view the classrooms.

FELLOWSHIP OF BELIEVERS

Our Sunday school and worship service is open to anyone looking for a church home.

Sunday school and Bible study is held from 9:30-10:15 a.m. Sunday school is taught by Tammy Hyer and Carolyn Baxter teaches the junior and senior high school students. The Bible study is led by Doug Manning.

The worship service, also led by Manning, is held from 10:30-11:15

DAWN BAPTIST CHURCH

We have nursery facilities available under the direction of Vida Cash.

The free taxi service is available upon request by calling 364-0359.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Youth Discipleship will be held Sunday following the evening worship service. After the Bible study, Anne Reiter and Marilyn Leasure will host a fellowship at the Reiters' home.

The senior adults who are planning to attend the retreat at High Plains Assembly Thursday, Aug. 26, need to make reservations in the church office. The cost for the day is $6 which includes lunch. After the program concludes, the remainder of the day will be spent playing games and visiting.

CHRIST'S CHURCH FELLOWSHIP

Located at 401 W. Park Ave., CCF gladly welcomes everyone to all of its services and activities.

Sunday school is held at 9:30 a.m. followed by the church worship at 10:45 a.m. and the men's Bible study at 7:30 p.m.

On Mondays, a women's Bible study is held at the church at 7 p.m. and another women's Bible study is offered on Wednesday mornings at 9:45. A time of singing and prayer is held each Wednesday night at 7.

CCF is a new fellowship of churches committed to reaching out to hurting, lost people. Using Romans 15:7 as a guidepost, "We accept one another as He has accepted us."

Please call Dr. Alton Tomlin, pastor, or Gracie Shaw, minister of care and counseling, at 364-0373 for more information.

PRIMERA IGLESIA BAUTISTA

The church congregation and the Rev. Lonny Poe invite the community to worship with them each Sunday. Bible study begins at 9:50 a.m. and the Sunday worship services are held at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m.

This Sunday morning we will be having the Lord's Supper service. The service is entitled "A Walk Through Grace." Following the service, we will share lunch together at the Community Center. At 2 p.m., Teri and Bobby Price will be in concert in the church sanctuary. The prices are singer-songwriters from Nashville Tenn.

There will be no evening service this Sunday. The Wednesday prayer and Bible study will be canceled this week.

PRIMERA IGLESIA BAUTISTA

Associate Pastor Bruce Hernandez invites you to attend Bible study at 9:45 a.m. and the Sunday morning worship service at 11. Bible study is held at 5 p.m. Sunday and the Sunday evening worship service starts at 6.

Special music evangelist, Rudy Guerra, will be present at 7 p.m. Thursday and Friday, Aug. 19-20.

Hereford football team to scrimmage tonight

The Hereford High School football team will hold an intrasquad scrimmage at 6:30 tonight on the field east of the field house.

In the two weekends before the start of the real season, the Herd will scrimmage against two other teams to get ready for the Sept. 3 opener, when Tascosa comes to town.

Hereford will go to Plainview for scrimmages against the Bulldogs. The freshmen and sophomores will meet at 5:30 p.m. Aug. 19, and the juniors and seniors will meet at 6 Aug. 20.

Amarillo High will come to Hereford for the final tune-up. The sub-varsity teams will meet at 5:30 Aug. 26, and the varsity squads will meet at 6 Aug. 27.

The Herd scrimmaged both Plainview and Amarillo High last season and all three went on to success: Plainview beat Hereford in bi-district and didn't lose until the third round of the Class 4A playoffs; Amarillo High went all the way to the 5A Division II semifinals.

Hereford, of course, went undefeated through District 1-4A play and finished with a 8-3 record.

Jordan's father found shot to death in river

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) - The body of James Jordan, father of NBA superstar Michael Jordan, was found floating in a South Carolina river, and authorities said today he had been shot to death.

Jordan, 57, died of a gunshot wound to the chest, Cumberland County officials said at a news conference today. The body was found near Bennettsville, S.C., about 60 miles southwest of Fayetteville.

Dental records helped to confirm the identity of the body found in Marlboro County, S.C. Authorities have no suspects and said they have determined no motive in the slaying.

Michael Jordan is vacationing in California and has made no public statements about his father.

"We are going to treat it in Cumberland County as if it were a homicide," said Sheriff Morris Bedsole. He said the body had been in the water for some time. "I promise you we don't have a thing at this point," he said of the investigation.

"The body was originally found on Aug. 3 in Bennettsville and has been listed as a John Doe since that time," Bedsole said. "The cause of death was a single gunshot wound to the chest."

Chicago radio station WBBM quotes Bulls' general manager Jerry Krause as saying, "Oh my God. Oh my God," when told of the discovery of Jordan's body.

James Jordan hadn't been seen in three weeks but the family had not reported him missing. His luxury car was found in a wooded area near Fayetteville. The red Lexus 400 had been stripped.

The tragedy came amid a year of unprecedented success for Michael Jordan, perhaps the nation's most prominent athlete, who led the Chicago Bulls to a third straight NBA championship.

But it also was a year in which the younger Jordan was dogged by reports of excessive gambling, which even involved his father.

Family and friends said it wasn't unusual for the elder Jordan to stay out of touch for long periods of time, but a three-week disappearance was unprecedented.

Trophy saddles

Top cowboy and cowgirl performers in the Hereford Riders Club youth rodeo competition will be awarded saddles at the conclusion of the rodeo Saturday

Youth rodeo set Saturday

Handmade saddles are the rewards for the top cowboy and cowgirl in Saturday's Youth Rodeo, sponsored by the Hereford Riders Club.

Events for all ages, up to 18, are scheduled, beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday in the Hereford Riders Club Arena.

Books for the rodeo will close Friday night. Entries are being accepted by Jan McConnell, who may be reached at 364-0773.

Donors of the saddles are Hereford State Bank, Bar-G Feedyard, Moss Grain, Steve Lewis and Johnny Trotter.

Stock for the rodeo will be furnished by Steve and Shawn McConnell and Schumacher Feedyards. Contributing toward the success of the rodeo also is XCL Feedyard.

Hereford Riders Club is sponsoring the rodeo for the first time this year. Club members hope the rodeo will become an annual event.

Aikman won't play in game vs. Raiders

By DENNE H. FREEMAN

AP Sports Writer

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Troy Aikman will be there, but he won't play against the Los Angeles Raiders in a preseason game Saturday night unless he slips onto the field in disguise.

Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson isn't about to risk his Super Bowl MVP in the Cowboys third exhibition game of the preseason, even though Aikman has shown remarkable progress in rehabilitating from his back surgery on June 19.

"I don't have to see Troy take a hit to see if he's ready," Johnson said. "I'm trying to prepare a team for the Redskins on Sept. 6. What we do against the Raiders or Chicago or Houston in preseason is pretty meaningless."

Aikman, who returned to training camp this week in pads, said "the only concern with the back right now is whether it will be able to take a hit. Until I get in a game and test it, we won't know."

Aikman would prefer to play in the Cowboys three remaining exhibition games, but thinks he will be sharp against Washington with an appearance in the final preseason game against the Chicago Bears.

"The most I've ever played in a preseason game was just a half so it's not like I had substantial work last year in the preseason," Aikman said.

"I think I can come real close to simulating game-like conditions on the practice field. I certainly understand coach Johnson and (offensive coordinator) Norv Turner and their concern about getting into preseason games too soon. They understand I want to play."

The Cowboys and Raiders, who scrimmaged each other for three days in Austin amid a flurry of fistfights, will meet at 7 p.m. in Texas Stadium. The game will be nationally televised by ESPN.

The Raiders are coming off a 27-0 loss to San Francisco, but will have defensive lineman Howie Long back after a 25-day holdout.

Simpson leads PGA

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) - Scott Simpson found out Byron Nelson is a good tipper.

Simpson used a piece of advice from the 81-year-old golf legend, a former working pro at the Inverness Club, to tie the course record of 64 in the first round of the PGA Championship on Thursday.

Fifty-seven players broke par, making it the lowest scoring first round in 75 years of PGA Championships. None of them, however, did it as well as the soft-spoken, graying Simpson.

"The majors set up for my kind of game," Simpson said. "I play well on these kind of courses where the premium is on accuracy, control, patience and a good short game."

And then there was the tip from Nelson, which Simpson got Wednesday while speaking about Inverness' tiny greens with Nelson and his wife, Peggy.

"Byron always said shoot for the middle of the greens and you'll have a birdie putt," Mrs. Nelson said.

Dr. Walker began seeing patients in Hereford August 2. His training and background include extensive experience in family practice (including OB), emergency medicine, sports medicine, and industrial/occupational health.

A native of Idaho where he garnered honors as an "all-state" football player, Dr. Walker began his training in the United States Army where he first trained as a basic medical specialist. He continued taking specialized medical training, including a three-year stint on the European campus of the University of Maryland in Frankfurt, West Germany, where he completed an associates degree in pre-med studies, before going on for his advanced degrees.

As a physician in the Army, Dr. Walker was able to practice sports medicine, industrial medicine, and family practice. He dealt with the types of injuries soldiers in training might receive and healed injuries from accidents on the job, such as might occur in civilian life. His practice also included caring for the soldiers' dependents, so he delivered babies, cared for newborns and young children, and doctored the whole range of illnesses a family might encounter.

He and his wife Janet have eight children, five of whom live with them.

Royals edge White Sox to start showdown series

By The Associated Press
All the attention focused on the AL East race this week overshadowed the fact that a big weekend series loomed in the AL West.
It got underway Thursday at Comiskey Park as Kevin Appier outpitched Jack McDowell and Kansas City closed within 2 1/2 games of first-place Chicago by beating the White Sox 4-2 in the opener of a four-game set.
"You get drained worrying about winning or losing. You can't worry about 'What if?'" Royals manager Hal McRae said. "Appier did a good job and so did McDowell. They are two of the best right-handed pitchers in the league."

The White Sox have lost six of nine. Texas took advantage of the latest loss, beating California 4-2 to move within three games of Chicago.
In the AL East chase, first-place Toronto fell to Minnesota 9-2. New York beat Boston and cut its deficit to one game, while Detroit defeated Baltimore 17-11. In another game, Cleveland beat Milwaukee 8-6 in 11 innings.
Appier (13-6) gave up seven hits, six of them leading off innings. He walked two and struck out one in his fourth complete game of the season.

McDowell (18-7) had his six-game winning streak stopped. He gave up four runs, three of them earned, and 10 singles in eight innings. He walked two and struck out five.
Rangers 4, Angels 2
Rafael Palmeiro hit a two-run homer in the first inning and Dean Palmer connected in the second inning, sending Texas past visiting California.
Palmeiro's 30th home run and Palmer's 22nd came off John Farrell (2-10). Farrell had allowed 15 homers in 66 innings entering the game.
Kenny Rogers (10-7) gave up six hits in six innings, and Tom Henke pitched the ninth for his 26th save.

Yankees 4, Red Sox 1
Melido Perez solidified his spot in the starting rotation, pitching two-hit ball for 7 2-3 innings and helping New York win the series at Fenway Park.
Perez (6-10) stopped his four-game losing streak with his first win since June 27. He missed his previous start because of a sore shoulder. Steve Farr worked the ninth for his 22nd save.
Aaron Sele (6-1) lost for the first time in the majors.

Dion James, Mike Gallego, Don Mattingly and Paul O'Neill hit RBI singles for the Yankees.
Tigers 17, Orioles 11
Detroit hit a grand slam for the third straight game, winning 17-11 this time after victories of 15-1 and 15-5. The Orioles, who won the series opener 4-1 at Tiger Stadium, are 2 1/2 games behind Toronto.
Mike Henneman (3-2), the fifth Detroit pitcher, survived the last 2 1-3 innings for the win. Todd Frohwirth (6-5), the fourth of five Baltimore pitchers, took the loss.

Twins 9, Blue Jays 2
Kirby Puckett hit two homers and scored three runs to lead Minnesota over Toronto and Jack Morris at SkyDome.
Morris (6-11) lasted only 3 1-3 innings, giving up five runs on seven hits while walking two and striking out two.
Winner Kevin Tapani (7-11) allowed two runs on six hits in eight innings. Rick Aguilera got the final three outs.
Indians 8, Brewers 6
Carlos Baerga hit a three-run homer with one out in the 11th inning off Carlos Maldonado (1-2) to lift Cleveland over Milwaukee at County Stadium. It was the Indians' first extra-inning victory this season after six straight losses.
Jerry Dipoto (3-2) pitched two

Braves focus on winning games

By The Associated Press
If the Atlanta Braves don't start forgetting about the San Francisco Giants, they may as well forget about winning the National League West for the third straight year.
A four-game winning streak has the Braves only one game closer to first place than they were when it started. With less than two months remaining in the season, Atlanta is 8 games behind the front-running Giants.
"We've got to win games," shortstop Jeff Blauser said after Atlanta's 8-4 victory over the New York Mets on Thursday night. "Forget the scoreboard. There are only seven weeks left and we've got to take everything."
Braves manager Bobby Cox agreed.
"We can't worry about the Giants," he said. "Sure you see their game up on the scoreboard, but it's up to us to just keep winning."
John Smoltz (11-9) earned the victory that gave the Braves a 14-3 record in their last 17 road games. He carried a one-hitter into the eighth inning before Ryan Thompson hit a three-run homer.

The Braves scored twice in the first and fourth innings. David Justice's 28th homer with one on base gave the Braves a 6-1 lead in the fifth.
Dwight Gooden (11-12) allowed five earned runs and seven hits in five innings.
Astros 5, Padres 3
Luis Gonzalez tripled and scored the tie-breaking run on Andujar Cedeno's sacrifice fly in the sixth inning to lift visiting Houston to its fifth win in six games.
Greg Swindell (8-9) gave up 10 hits in five innings but held San Diego to three runs. Doug Jones finished for his 23rd save, including all three Astros' victories in the four-game series.
Casey Candale doubled twice and had three RBIs.
Rockies 4, Dodgers 1
Colorado extended its winning streak to a club-record five games by completing its first-ever four-game sweep.

Willie Blair (5-9) pitched a seven-hitter at Dodger Stadium for his first complete game in 35 career starts. Vinny Castilla led off the second inning with his seventh homer after Jerald Clark doubled in a pair of first-inning runs off Orel Hershiser (8-12).
Cubs 5, Marlins 1
The Chicago Cubs sent a struggling pitcher against a hot team, and the result, surprisingly, was Mike Harkey's first complete game in three years.
Harkey threw a seven-hitter and Dwight Smith hit a pair of solo homers to help Chicago snap the Florida's season-high four-game winning streak.
Harkey (8-6) struck out three while allowing seven hits and one walk. His last complete game came Aug. 17, 1990, in a 7-0 victory over Atlanta.
Pirates 5, Cardinals 4
Jeff King's single over a drawn-in outfield in the 11th inning scored Carlos Garcia, who had tripled, with the winning run.

Todd Burns (0-4) lost in relief for the second straight night as the visiting Cardinals fell eight games behind the Philadelphia Phillies in the NL East.
Joel Johnston (1-2) pitched two perfect relief innings for his first NL victory.
Phillies 7, Expos 4
Host Philadelphia completed a three-game sweep as rookie Kevin Stocker broke an 0-for-14 slump with a tiebreaking single in the seventh inning.
Montreal reliever Tim Scott (4-2) retired the first batter in the seventh and then gave up a single to Wes Chamberlain. Chamberlain scored on Stocker's two-out single to break a 4-4 tie.
Reliever Roger Mason (4-8) pitched two scoreless innings and Mitch Williams worked the ninth for his 31st save.

MLB owners' pledge: No lockout

KOHLER, Wis. (AP) - After failing to agree to revenue sharing during 31 hours of talks over two days, baseball owners took steps that virtually eliminated the chance of a strike or lockout until late next season.
Richard Ravitch, management's labor negotiator, announced late Thursday that owners won't lock out players at the start of the 1994 season or attempt to eliminate salary arbitration this winter.

"It would be irresponsible to set any artificial deadlines whatsoever in terms of achieving our understanding with the union," Ravitch said. "I want to make it clear right now... that in no way will the opening of the season be jeopardized by any action of the owners of major league baseball."

The extraordinary two-day meeting, held at an executive resort north of Milwaukee, was called to discuss greater sharing of local broadcasting revenue and ticket receipts among the large- and small-market clubs. Twenty-one votes were needed and a group of 10 clubs apparently blocked an agreement, but that was overshadowed by the unexpected no-lockout pledge.

"The last two days, we have discussed every conceivable economic subject," Selig said.

Outdoor World

with Mel Phillips

The dog days of summer are the harbinger of hunting season. Sept. 1 is the opening day of dove season. The autumn parade of hunting seasons continues with archery-only season in October and the gun seasons for quail, duck, goose, deer and pheasant.

Just as anglers develop cabin fever during the winter, hunters are eager to sit around the campfire and share stories about past hunts during the good old days.

HUNT '93--Local hunters will find a vast array of how-to's, where-to's and all the newest hunting products at HUNT '93 Aug. 28 and 29 at the Tri-State Fairgrounds in Amarillo.

Rick McDowell of Top Hand Outfitters in Canadian will display some trophies from his outstanding hunting service. As a special treat, Rick has agreed to conduct two game-management seminars on Saturday and Sunday.

One of the great names in the deer stand and deer feeder business is Chas-Mac, Inc. This show will mark their first visit to the Texas Panhandle. Landowners and hunters can take a close look at their ground stand, the special 20-foot-tall Super Stand and their Big Mac Deluxe Feeders.

Our neighbors from the Oklahoma panhandle, Melvin and Lynn Chaloupek with Panhandle Pheasant Hunts, will present their hunting opportunities. Looking for an early pheasant hunt, complete with guides and trained dogs? Bring some money and talk to Melvin.

Kenneth Wyatt, the famous western artist from Tulsa, has reserved two booths and will display his award-winning artwork. Follow the crowds to his booth and enjoy the works of one of my favorite artists.

Members of the Amarillo Birddog Club will conduct a raffle with a top prize of an outstanding birddog puppy. Club members will give daily seminars on training a birddog. If you appreciate well-trained birddogs and want to learn some training secrets, their seminars will be a highlight of the show.

If you enjoy the great outdoors, HUNT '93 is five shows in one: hunting, archery, RV's, camping and outdoor travel.

Save a dollar--present a copy of this column at the front door during HUNT '93 and you will save $1 off the admission price (limit: one coupon per adult). Stop by our Southwest Outdoors booth--we look forward to meeting you.

The next Lake Meredith Fun Fishing Tournament is Thursday evening at Cedar Canyon. Registration opens at 4:30 p.m. and this three bass limit tournament runs from 6-9 p.m.

Mel Phillips, winner of numerous awards for journalism and broadcasting, is an active member of the Texas Outdoor Writers Association. He is an avid hunter, tournament fisherman and host of a Wednesday evening outdoors show on KGNC TalkRadio 71.

PGA

Simpson followed that advice in a 7-under-par round that tied the course record set by Bob Tway in the 1986 PGA.

The bogey-free effort was the highlight of the scoring explosion that included a field scoring average of 71.99, more than a full stroke lower than the previous mark set in 1985 at Cherry Hills.

The round also featured the first double eagle in PGA history, a 220-yard 5-wood shot by club pro Darrell Kestner of Manhasset, N.Y., that found the cup on the par-5 13th hole.

There was very little wind and the course was vulnerable to scoring, Simpson said.

"The fairways are really good, so you have a chance with the irons to get 'em close. The greens are soft enough to hold a shot. And they're medium speed so you can take a pretty good run to your putts," he said.

Veteran Lanny Wadkins, needing a victory here to help his chances for a spot on the American Ryder Cup team, scored an eagle-2 on a 139-yard 9-iron shot as the highlight of 65, one shot behind Simpson.

Dudley Hart and Canadian Richard Zokol were another back at 66, while lefty Phil Mickelson, who finished birdie-birdie, led an international gathering at 67.

Also at four under par were Barry Lane of England, Eduardo Romero of Argentina, Steve Elkington of Australia and Americans Dan Forsman, Mark McCumber, Mike Hulbert, Robert Gamez and Loren Roberts.

British Open champ Greg Norman of Australia and England's Nick Faldo were in another large group at 68, while Tom Watson and Paul Azinger shot 69.

Faster test may save your life

In the life and death environment of a hospital emergency room, time is one of the most important factors. However, treatment can be delayed, often for one to two hours, waiting for results of laboratory blood tests.

Now, thanks to a new technology, those blood tests can be performed in only 90 seconds right at the patient's bedside.

A hand-held device, called the i-STAT system, from i-STAT Corporation of Princeton, N.J., needs just two drops of blood to perform a range of blood tests. Physicians can then make a more rapid diagnosis leading to faster treatment and ultimately quicker recovery. The patient may leave the hospital sooner and with a lower bill.

Because this point-of-care testing eliminates many of the manual steps involved in traditional testing procedures, it reduces the risk of error. What's more, testing laboratories are freed to concentrate on more complex tests.

The i-STAT System is not just for emergency rooms. Real time monitoring of kidney dialysis patients can reduce the time spent undergoing dialysis thus reducing the cost and freeing the expensive equipment for other patients. With only two drops required a baby's blood can be preserved during neonatal and pediatric procedures. Intensive care patients can be monitored and treated without having to wait critical minutes for test results.

With all the attention being paid to our healthcare system, a new technology that improves patient care, saves time for busy medical professionals and relieves pressure on emergency room space, not to mention saving money for both patient and hospital-is certainly welcome news.

In 1862, English clergyman Charles L. Dodgson, better known as Lewis Carroll, began inventing the story of "Alice in Wonderland" for his friend Alice Pleasance Lindell during a boating trip.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Next month, I will be 65. I have decided to take a one-year trial separation from my adult children, their children and their children's children. I haven't yet decided if this decision will result in divorce and alimony.

It was my generation that spawned the "Me generation." We didn't intend to do so, but that is the way it has turned out. I raised my children as a single mother and thought I had done a reasonably good job of it. You would like my children, Ann. They are very nice people. But they are incredibly selfish.

The straw that broke the camel's back was my request that they each contribute $10 a month toward an emergency fund for me that would be used for my funeral if I didn't need financial aid to pay medical expenses.

My youngest son said, "Sorry, but I'm not going along with that." In his opinion, I had been a terrible mother. I listened to this diatribe about our dysfunctional family, and then I asked myself, "What's in this for me?"

I was 20 when my first child was born. I had six kids and also raised two stepdaughters. I have spent my entire life doing things for others. Now for one year, I have decided to put myself first.

I told my family that I do not want any contact whatsoever with any of them for the next 12 months. They were stunned and very unhappy about my decision. I am determined to carry out this plan, however, even though I know I am taking a chance that our relationships may never be the same. It's a risk I am willing to take. Will you comment, please? No name, just -Dysfunctional Mother in Vancouver, B.C.

DEAR VANCOUVER MOTHER: The truth of the matter is you are punishing them because you were hurt when your youngest son balked at paying $10 a month toward the emergency fund to help defray your medical and/or funeral expenses.

I suggest that you talk this over with a counselor before you make the drastic move you outlined in your letter. It sounds as if you are trying to get rid of terms by blowing up the house.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You recently printed a letter from a woman who wanted her daughter-in-law to call her "Mom." There is another side to the question. What does her son call HIS mother-in-law?

It seems to me that parallel treatment is appropriate. On family occasions, it might well be awkward if one side of the family uses "Mom" and "Dad" while the other side uses given names.

One of the happiest resolutions of this awkward dilemma was arrived at early in my own marriage. At our engagement party, my father said to my mother-in-law-to-be, "What are the kids going to call us?" They then agreed that it would be first names all around, and so it was. This may not be the answer for everyone, but quite a number of my friends have done the same thing, now that they are parents-in-law, and it works fine.

How much better my experience was to avoid the issue until their first child was born, and then she called her mother-in-law "Grandma" when their first child was born. Several others wrote to say they did NOT wish to be called "Granny" and suggested that they be called by their first names.

President Richard M. Nixon announced in a nationally broadcast address July 15, 1971, that he would visit the People's Republic of China to seek a "normalization of relations." Nixon made the trip the following February.

CLASSIFIED ADS

Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	.15	3.00
2 days per word	.26	5.20
3 days per word	.37	7.40
4 days per word	.48	9.60
5 days per word	.59	11.80

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines--those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing; all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch; $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALS

Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS

Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

NOTIFICATION OF FmHA'S FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT

The Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) has received an application for financial assistance from Hereford Seniors Community, Ltd. The specific elements of this proposed action are construction of a 28-unit FmHA Section 515 rural housing apartment complex in Hereford, Texas on 2.015 acres in the northwest sector of the city, accessible from Jack Griffin Avenue. FmHA has assessed the potential environmental impacts of this proposed action and has determined that it will not significantly affect the quality of the human environment. Therefore, FmHA will not prepare an environmental impact statement for this proposed action. Any written comments regarding the determination should be provided within 15 days of this publication to Mr. L. George Ellis, State Director, FmHA, Room 114 Federal Building, 206 East 5th, Amarillo, Texas 79101-1559. FmHA will make no further decisions regarding this proposed action during the 15 day period. Request to review the FmHA environment assessment upon which this determination is based or to receive a copy of it should be directed to the above address.

The first 50 people to take a test drive on each of these days will receive a beautiful bracelet. The first 20 people each day will also receive a sports watch. No purchase necessary. We just want to show you our cars & trucks. This test marketing event will end promptly at 7 p.m. Monday, Aug. 16th. Don't miss out! FRIONA MOTORS, 1011 Grand Ave., Friona, Texas 806/274-2701.

TO ALL INTERESTED PERSONS AND PARTIES:

You are hereby notified that FRITO-LAY, INCORPORATED has applied for an amendment to Texas Air Control Board (TACB) Permit No. 4411A. This permit, if approved, will authorize modification of a Grain Elevator in Hereford, Deaf Smith County, Texas. The location of the proposed facility is east of the intersection of Highway 60 and Progressive Road. This facility will emit the following air contaminants: particulate matter and volatile organic compounds. A copy of all materials in the public file is available for inspection and reproduction at the TACB Lubbock Regional Office at 4630 50th Street, Suite 600, Lubbock, Texas 79414, telephone (806) 796-3494, and at the TACB Central Office, 12124 Park 35 Circle, Austin, Texas 78753, telephone (512) 908-1000. The facility's compliance file, if any exists, is available for public review in the regional office of the TACB. Inquiries about the permit application should be directed to the TACB Permits Program in Austin or the TACB Lubbock Regional Office. You may submit written comments concerning the permit application to the TACB Executive Director in Austin. All written comments received within 30 days after the second publication of this notice shall be considered by the Executive Director in determining whether to issue or not issue the permit. All written comments will be made available for public inspection at the TACB Central Office in Austin. This notice is to be published on 8-12-93 and 8-13-93.

Any person who may be affected by emissions of air contaminants from the proposed facility may request the Board to hold an informal public meeting and/or contested case hearing on the permit application pursuant to Section 382.056(d) of the Texas Health and Safety Code. The Board is not required to hold a contested case hearing if the basis of a request is determined to be unreasonable. All requests for a contested case hearing must be received in writing within the 30-day comment period regardless of whether an informal public meeting has been held or scheduled on this matter. Before a permit can be issued for this facility, the applicant must demonstrate that all emission sources are in compliance with all TACB Rules and Regulations and all applicable Federal Regulations. This includes the application of "best available control technology" to each new or modified emission source and compliance with all ambient air quality standards.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

THE KEEPER OF THE GATE!

IN BIBLICAL TIMES EVERY CITY AND PALACE HAD A GATE WHICH WAS AN IMPORTANT PART OF DEFENSE AND WAS SIGNIFICANT IN THE PUBLIC ECONOMY OF THE TIME. IT WAS HERE THAT PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE TOOK PLACE AND ALSO WAS THE SITE FOR AUDIENCES FOR KINGS AND AMBASSADORS (DEUT. 16:16, JUDG. 9:35). THE GATE WAS ALSO A PLACE WHERE BUSINESS WAS CARRIED ON. (1 KINGS 22:10). LEGAL TRANSACTIONS WERE ALSO CONDUCTED IN THE GATEWAYS OF THE PALACES. SO THE KEEPER OF THE GATES WAS A VERY IMPORTANT PERSONAGE, TRUSTED BY THE KING AND ALL VISITING HEADS OF STATE ETC. A CASE IN POINT, WAS MORDECAI, UNCLE OF QUEEN ESTHER, WHO SAT IN THE KING'S GATE CONDUCTING OFFICIAL BUSINESS. (ESTHER 2:21)
