

Clements Advocates 'Imports'

Water Council Findings Due in November

DALLAS (AP) - A council formed to study the feasibility of importing water to a six-state region will present its findings to Congress in November, according to officials meeting in Dallas.

Texas Gov. Bill Clements, who chairs the High Plains

Study Council, said that Texas will be willing to pay the high price of importing water to the state because the need for the water will be great in urban areas.

Clements advocated importing water from neighboring states to the middle of Texas.

Council members agreed to continue their $6 million study to import water at a projected construction cost of up to $61.2 billion.

Keith Farrar, representing Kansas on the High Plains Study Council, said the plan to get water from adjacent states was too expensive and the adjacent states do not have enough surplus water. He endorsed instead a second plan to divert water from Alaska and Canada to 36 states.

Iowa and Louisiana representatives told council members that their water isn't for sale.

Clements said water from adjacent states will be needed in the state's large urban areas, including Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio. He said a projected 50 percent increase in Texas' population over the next 20 years will aggravate the problem.

"Agriculture is the second priority," he told council members meeting at Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport.

Clements said defeat of a water trust plan last fall did not indicate that Texans were unconcerned about water supplies - only that they didn't like the trust fund concept.

He said a poll conducted by his staff last week indicated that water is a prime concern to Texas voters. But Clements rejected a proposal by the North American Water and Power Alliance to divert 36 trillion gallons of water to 36 states.

A U.S. Army Corps of Engineers plan to import water from adjacent states has grown more expensive since officials presented projected costs to the council last October, a Corps official said.

"I believe the council should include in its final recommendation the difficulty in supporting the import plan developed by the Corps for this study because of the cost, the lack of water available to be considered surplus, that all proposed routes would be energy consuming and the unknown effect on the environment by using the water available only during times of flooding," Farrar said.

Court Hearing Redistricting Plans; Judges Panel to Act By Friday

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Attorneys have told the Texas Supreme Court that it can pull the rug out from under a panel of three federal judges in Dallas trying to redraw the state's Senate districts.

A case that seems to have been sidelined by the Dallas federal court deliberations on the state Senate and House reapportionment plans went before the state's high court Wednesday.

The Dallas judges have heard arguments that the plans dilute minority voting strength, and have said they will act by Friday, likely redrawing portions of both plans.

Meanwhile, Republicans have challenged the Senate districts drawn by the five-member Legislative Redistricting Board last year. The board drew up a plan after Gov. Bill Clements vetoed the one passed by the 1981 Legislature.

The Republicans say the Texas Constitution calls for "qualified electors," not total population.

John Harmon, attorney for the Republicans, told the federal judges in Dallas would be acting on an invalid plan if the Supreme Court ruled it so.

"I'm asking this court to set the law straight," Harmon said.

Republicans appealed to the Supreme Court after a state district judge on Jan. 6 denied them an injunction against the plan. Judge Herman Jones said it would be too difficult to devise a plan based on the number of people eligible to register to vote.

But Harmon told the Supreme Court that the U.S.

Officials Hear Forensic Proposal

Several governmental officials, including Deaf Smith County Judge Glen Nelson, voiced initial approval of a plan for continued autopsy and forensic services to area law enforcement agencies after a meeting with Dr. Ralph Erdmann Wednesday night.

Erdmann, a forensic pathologist who began conducting criminal autopsies in the Panhandle area about six months ago, hosted a dinner meeting for area officials. Erdmann asked the officials for their support of his proposal to continue offering forensic services on a contractual basis, and requested each of them to post a $100 retainer fee for his services.

Erdmann's plan calls for continuation of the pathologist's per-case fee of $500 per autopsy. He estimated his annual salary to be around $50,000 based on figures he has accumulated during his first six months on the job.

No negative comments concerning the proposal were voiced during the meeting. In addition to Nelson, the dinner was attended by Potter County Judge Cliff Roberts, Randall County Justice of the Peace Phil Woodall, Randall County District Attorney Randy Sherrard, Hale County Justice of the Peace Glenn Stone, and Oldham County Justice of the Peace Virginia Kennedy.

Also attending the meeting from Deaf Smith County was Precinct 1 County Commissioner Bill Bradley.

If most Panhandle counties agree to support his plan Erdmann said he would establish a central toxicology lab and bring in a second forensic pathologist to help fulfill the area's needs.

"I think I can better serve you with another man," Erdmann told the group. "And, maybe later, we can expand the territory we can cover. But, I would like a letter from you (the officials) so I can know which way to go."

Erdmann said that he and an experienced forensic pathologist, who he hopes to bring to the Panhandle, would both have other medical jobs in the area and take care of autopsy needs when they arose.

An alternative proposal from 47th District Attorney Danny Hill calls for a medical examiner's district with an estimated start-up cost of $125,000 to $150,000.

Other officials have estimated that $500,000 would be required to establish such a facility.

Praise for Erdmann's work was expressed by Woodall and Sherrard, both of whom expected that Randall County would support the pathologist's plan.

"We're not to the point where we have need for a medical examiner," Sherrard said. "So I don't think we can beat the type of work he's doing for the money."

Reagans Observe 30th Anniversary

LOS ANGELES (AP) - President Reagan is settling into a mini-vacation and celebrating his 30th wedding anniversary after trying to smooth over Republican unhappiness about barbs he fired at critics of his heavy-deficit budget.

Reagan and his wife Nancy planned to fly to their secluded mountaintop ranch today near Santa Barbara for a 4-day vacation and a private observance of their anniversary.

Awaiting the president at his 688-acre spread was a gift from a group of friends: a new tractor-lawnmower. They were hoping he wouldn't hear about it before he got there.

After two speeches full of tough talk about opponents of his budget - Republicans as well as Democrats - Reagan toned down his remarks Wednesday to exclude specific mention of GOP lawmakers.

Addressing state, county and municipal politicians, Reagan acknowledged that his projected $91.5 billion deficit "remains a cause of major concern, and it certainly is taking its toll on the nerves of those on Capitol Hill."

"We have begun to hear a chorus of ad hoc alternatives to our economic recovery program from some who never muttered a word about deficits over the years," Reagan said in an apparent reference only to Democrats.

That was a change from the original text of his speech, which lumped Republican and Democrats budget critics together.

The president also telephoned Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker to

Shimmering Beauty

Daggers of ice on this tree cut through the early morning stillness at a local residence this morning as a street light made them glisten. The icicles were formed on the tree's branches when the residents of the home left their lawn sprinkler on overnight and frigid temperatures took over. The area forecast calls for continued cool conditioning through Friday. (Brand Photo by Bob Nigh)

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says money isn't everything, but it's nice to have enough to know that.

Do you try to get all the facts before criticizing someone or something?

Hereford's annual "Super Sports Weekend," sponsored by the sports committee of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, gets underway today with junior varsity golf. It continues Friday and Saturday with varsity golf and tennis.

The successful event is now run over two weekends, with track and baseball scheduled next weekend. If the weather cooperates, chamber and school officials look for some highly competitive tournaments with more than 2,000 student athletes participating.

In yesterday's column, we discussed the possible trend toward voters taking a closer look at the qualifications of public officials - especially those up for re-election.

We've watched city, school and hospital board members work on the local level for years, and the surprising fact emerges that we are fortunate enough to get good people for these jobs.

Anyone who runs for one of these posts and takes on the job is obviously not in it for the money. There have been times when the job of being a city commissioner or school trustee is akin to the fellow who was being ridden out of town on a jackass.

Jeered about how he liked it, he allowed that "If it wasn't for the honor, I'd just as soon walk!"

With a host of adults eligible for these offices, it is usually difficult to get more than one candidate to file when a seat is up for election. As we mentioned, the pay is certainly not a factor. The school trustees and hospital board members receive no pay, while the city commissioners get token salaries.

For example, the Hereford mayor received $50 a month. For that magnificent salary, Bartley Dowell puts a hand in almost daily on some city business, does homework on projects that come up at the city commission sessions twice a month, and makes some out-of-town meetings on municipal affairs.

The mayor also fields a lot of phone calls about street chug holes, garbage pickups, an occasional police action, and some complaints that have nothing to do with city government. City commissioners do a similar job, with less detail, and get $25 a month.

Most of the time, these local governmental jobs are thankless tasks. You hear most of the complaints and very little of the accolades.

It sort of comes down to Harry Truman's memorable political axiom: If you can't stand the heat, get out of the kitchen.

These elections come around periodically, and the line to the kitchen forms on the right.

Federal Housing Programs 'Zero'

WASHINGTON (AP) - The only housing provision in the Reagan administration's plans for the 1983 fiscal year "is for quonset huts in El Salvador," Rep. Barney Frank said as Democrats proposed a national housing program.

Frank, D-N.Y., is a member of the House subcommittee on housing and community development, whose chairman called a news conference Wednesday to unveil the program and blast President Reagan's "zero commitment to housing."

"No nation has ever met its housing needs without a clear commitment. Our choice is simple: it is to have a housing policy or to be anti-housing," said Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Texas, head of the panel. Gonzalez said it became obvious that housing was low on the administration's list of priorities.

"We can't even get the secretary of housing and urban development to say when he can come over to see us," Gonzalez said.

"What you've got is a housing policy formulated not by HUD but by the OMB and others in the administration who apparently feel we are over-housed. They think we have too many houses," Frank said.

The Democrats, with their $18 billion alternative, moved to restore funds for several programs scheduled to be eliminated.

The program represents about the same amount of money authorized for housing in the 1982 fiscal year, Gonzalez said.

"It represents the very bottom limit of what this nation must do to maintain its housing commitment," he added, telling reporters that the overall rate of housing construction is less than half what it was in 1977.

Attending a news conference with Gonzalez were Frank and three other Democratic members of his panel: Reps. Charles Schumer of New York, Bruce

Annual REC Membership Meeting Set

Three directors will be elected when the Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative, Inc. holds its Annual Membership Meeting Saturday at the Bull Barn.

Registration for the meeting begins at 5 p.m. Saturday, with a barbecue dinner to follow. Some $1,000 in door prizes will be given away during the meeting, and capital credit checks totaling $400,000 will be returned.

Entertainment at the meeting will include music by a Bluegrass band.

A progress report about the cooperative will also be presented during the evening's business session.

Martinez Out Of City Race

The City Commission race lost a candidate and then gained one Wednesday, while the race for two seats opening up on the Hereford Independent School District board remains a three-person affair.

Deaf Smith County Assistant District Attorney David Martinez withdrew his name from the city election. Martinez said that he has been checking into possible legal complications about his running for city office while employed by the state, and he decided to withdraw. He had filed for the Place 4 commission seat, opposing incumbent Emory Brownlow, who has filed for re-election.

"There is nothing in the law that says I can't run," Martinez said. "But I have been waiting for an opinion from the attorney general's office and it takes time."

Martinez said that he is still probing the question for possible use in the future. He said that he decided to pull out of the race because his election to the city commission may have forced him to resign his position with District Attorney Roland Saul's office later.

While Martinez withdrew, another candidate stepped in to take his place as a challenger to Brownlow. The new opponent is Rinaldo Garcia, who filed with the city secretary just before the deadline Wednesday.

In addition, Place 3 City Commissioner Bud Eades will be on the April 3 ballot unopposed.

Three persons have filed for two seats on the HISD board. They include incumbents Sallie Strain and Bobby Griego, and challenger Johnny Frank Gamez.

Charges Filed For Conspiring To Rig Bids

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A Denton road construction firm and its president have been named in a federal information alleging they conspired to rig bids on a state highway project in Montague County.

The felony charge was filed against Jago-Public Inc., of Denton and Gerald Ricks in federal court here Wednesday, according to Mike Saunders in the U.S. District Clerk's office.

No trial date has been set, said Saunders.

U.S. Justice Department officials in Washington said the company and Ricks allegedly conspired to rig bids as early as July 1979. The company conspired with other unnamed companies to rig bids on a project in U.S. 81 in Montague County, officials said.

A contract for the project was let by the State Highway Department on Feb. 13, 1980.

The maximum penalty is a $1 million fine against the company and a $100,000 fine against Ricks, who also could face three years in prison.

Brown Berets Break Silence In Protest March

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The Brown Berets, a once militant Mexican-American group that participated in angry marches in the early 1970s, abandoned their dormancy by picketing against alleged police brutality in front of the federal building.

Eight members of the group paraded with placards Wednesday, shouting "Chicano Power" and other slogans.

Spokesman Jerry Arispe said the Brown Berets were protesting lack of court action against policemen in McAllen and San Antonio.

Arispe said the group objected to a

Brownsville federal jury acquitting three McAllen policemen of any civil rights violation in the alleged beating of a prisoner, and the San Antonio police killing of Mexican national Hector Santoscoy.

A Bexar County grand jury twice cleared San Antonio patrolman James Cammack of any state charge in connection with the death of Santoscoy, a Piedras Negras, Mexico, resident who was shot beneath a house during a burglary investigation.

U.S. Attorney Ed Prado ordered an investigation and convened a federal grand jury in the Santoscoy case and a decision is expected later this month on whether a federal civil rights charge is warranted.

Arispe said the Brown Berets, founded here in 1969 to break up gang warfare in Mexican-American communities, had not been very active in recent years.

Strike Vote Scheduled By Southwestern Bell

HOUSTON (AP) — About 10,000 members of the Communication Workers of America will decide tonight whether to strike Southwestern Bell and protest the hiring of non-skilled laborers to handle union jobs.

A wildcat strike by CWA Local 12222 members could affect 80,000 union members employed by Southwestern Bell in Texas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska.

Although the union is scheduled to vote tonight, CWA officials said the results will not be known until Monday.

But Ken Brasel, a phone company spokesman, blasted the scheduled strike vote as a "publicity stunt." He said management officials are allowed by contract to hire temporary and unskilled laborers on a "need basis — job by job."

The union's three-year contract does not expire until August 1983, but CWA officials said they are angry because 25 percent of the company's wages are paid to non-company employees.

If the members vote to strike, the action still must be approved by CWA district office in Austin and the national headquarters in Washington, D.C. Union officials estimated that process could take 30 days.

They Wanted Texas, Not Ohio's Columbus

WEST JEFFERSON, Ohio (AP) — Apparently they forgot to say Texas. That seemed the only explanation after Puerto Ricans Alfredo Alvarez, Jose Canda and Jesus Machado left Miami, Fla., a couple of days ago with directions to drive to Columbus, Texas, or so they thought.

They were near Columbus, Ohio, on Interstate 71 early Tuesday when their car quit. The three speak no English but got help from a passerby in getting the car to a service station. Owner Bill Martin pronounced it beyond repair, and it was sold for $50.

West Jefferson police took the three Puerto Ricans to the local high school where two Spanish speaking foreign exchange students are enrolled. Students Hector Gomez of Mexico and German Cortez of Colombia interpreted the plight of the men for school officials.

They learned that the three had jobs waiting in Columbus, Texas, near Houston, and that when they asked in Miami for directions, were told to head north on Interstate 75. Someone else diverted them to Interstate 71 at Cincinnati.

School Principal David Holland called a special student assembly to ask donations to help the three toward Texas. The students gave $177 and others in the community kicked in the remaining $60 needed for bus tickets.

The trio kept the $50 from the car sale for expenses.

Tuesday night, Holland and Gomez put the three on a bus for Houston, giving them a letter to mail back upon their arrival, just so local folks would know they reached their destination.

Paul Harvey News Caesar's Wife

We've had presidents' wives who chewed tobacco and got little flak.

We've had wives of American presidents who hid upstairs and contributed nothing — and were excused.

Historically it was enough for Caesar's wife to be circumspect in her moral conduct; not any more.

Recently, the media's insatiable appetite for grist has subjected first ladies to durned-if-they-do, durned-if-they-don't surveillance.

When Nancy Reagan renovates our White House, every item of cost is publicly equated with some poor somebody's deprivation.

When Mrs. Reagan seeks to replenish White House dishes with money from people who are ready, able and willing to contribute — sparing taxpayers — she is "catering to the country club set."

When she wears dresses donated by American designers, her critics, through some weird perversion of logic, construe that to be improper.

And when she researches the narcotics misuse facet of mental health, an interest which she has demonstrated consistently for 15 years, snide pundits presume that she is merely "seeking to distract public attention from her glittering lifestyle."

Also, at this evolutionary hour, the public image of any woman of prominence is likely to be out of focus, distorted by media men who are not ready for that ...

And by media women. Constantly might validate their criticism, but their conspicuous inconsistency is cruel.

Star-struck, they will romanticize the lavish wardrobes of some entertainers ...

Including Las Vegas entertainers whose opinions on public issues are taken ridiculously seriously ...

When will a talk-show host ask a Cher or a Jagger or a Sammy Davis, "Why don't you give your diamonds, clothes, cars to poor people?"

I don't want my first lady in sackcloth.

Most of us want our leaders to look and act and be somebody's worthy of leadership — somebody's worth following.

The Reagans and all their kin have redefined our White House and recreated a professional image of grace, style and propriety.

Inevitably a president's wife — if involved — becomes a vulnerable target for those opposed to his policies.

The little foxes always yapping at the heels of a lion didn't used to matter much. Today their yapping is amplified worldwide.

Still drunk on Nixon's blood, they thirst for more.

Candidate Says 55 Speed Limit Dumb

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The 55-mph speed limit is "dumb," $2 bills are twice as good as $1 bills, and Texans ought to be allowed to sleep in the Governor's mansion, says Republican gubernatorial candidate Lowell "Duke" Embs.

Embs, recently declared mentally competent by a San Antonio jury, is Gov. Bill Clements' only Republican primary challenger.

At a Wednesday news conference, he offered a smorgasbord of views on issues, national and state.

"The 55-mph limit is dumb. A.J. Foyt ought to be allowed to drive any speed he wants. The 55-mph limit helps lawyers, because you've got to get your tickets fixed, and it helps the insurance companies," Embs said.

"I'll talk about things like encouraging the use of the $2 bill, it's twice as good as a $1 bill. It really is," he said.

The Governor's Mansion ought to be more open to Texans, he said.

"That's some big house. I think that would be a nice place to live," Embs said. "I guarantee you that if I get elected you're going to get to see the inside of that house. That's your place, your joint."

"Maybe people who live more than 100 miles away can come to town and they can stay at the Driskill Hotel and the kids can bring a knapsack and sleep on the floor (of the mansion)," he said.

Embs, 52, was confined to San Antonio State Hospital for 11 days in December after his wife sought to have him committed. However, jurors decided he was mentally competent. Embs was fired in December as general agent for Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance in San Antonio.

He said he did not belong in the state hospital. As governor, Embs said he would look into changing the commitment process.

"Most of you will go away believing that there isn't any way a state institution could be so far wrong that I could be picked up two times without having something very seriously wrong with me, and it must be some kind of big mistake that I was able to get out," he said.

Although some have questioned the seriousness of his campaign, Embs said he has fielded several questionnaires from interest groups.

Reagans

assure him he wasn't trying to start a war of words with members of his own party in two earlier speeches.

"I wasn't talking about us," Reagan told the Republican leader, according to the Tennessee senator's spokesman, Tom Griscom.

In speeches Tuesday in Cheyenne, Wyo., and Albuquerque, N.M., Reagan had said Washington was "paralyzed by hand-wringers" and populated by "pessimists on the Potomac."

Taking aim at authors of alternative budget plans,

Reagan declared, "Many of these are not genuine budget alternatives at all but political documents designed for saving certain legislators' political hides rather than saving the economy."

In fact, one of the chief architects of an alternative plan is Sen. Pete Domenici, R-N.M., chairman of the Senate Budget Committee. Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., chairman of the Finance Committee, also has suggested major changes, as have other Republican senators and congressmen.

In his conversation with Baker, Reagan specifically indicated he was not talking about Domenici, who has written a comprehensive plan that the White House deemed a serious and interesting proposal, according to White House deputy press secretary Larry Speakes.

Reagan called Baker "to make absolutely plain he was not talking about our friends on the Hill who have come up with serious alternatives and will work to come up with others," said Speakes.

Speakes refused to identify the target of Reagan's remarks. He dismissed many of the budget revisions that have been suggested as "piecemeal suggestions. We have to have a comprehensive proposal."

Senate Questions Williams' Penalty

WASHINGTON (AP) — A somber Senate is trying to decide whether Harrison A. Williams Jr. should be expelled for his Abscam offenses or given a lesser penalty because he was the victim of a runaway FBI campaign "to destroy a good man."

In an extraordinary session with Vice President George Bush presiding, the Senate began debate Wednesday on whether the New Jersey Democrat should become the first senator to be expelled since the Civil War.

Votes on "what kind of discipline should be imposed likely will begin Monday. Williams, who heard some of his colleagues take to the Senate floor Wednesday to call for his ouster, was scheduled to speak in his own defense today.

Although the outcome is not certain, some senators are saying privately the case against Williams is so strong that expulsion seems extremely likely.

Sen. Alan Cranston, the Senate's No. 2 Democrat, is leading an effort to censure rather than expel Williams because of alleged "abuse of power" by the FBI.

The opening arguments against Williams were delivered in the sonorous southern voice of Sen. Howell Heflin, a bear-like former chief justice of the Alabama Supreme Court, who said his fellow Democrat had agreed to take a bribe "feathering his nest at the expense of the public."

Censuring Williams rather than expelling him would be tantamount to putting "the Senate stamp of approval on conduct which we all know deep inside, to be wrong," Heflin said.

"We would be telling the American public, 'Yes, the Senate is a club. No, we will not expel one of the members of the club for blatant conflicts of interest, for bribery, for accepting an illegal gratuity, for failing to report an attempted bribe.'"

For nearly three hours, Heflin, vice chairman of the Ethics Committee which unanimously recommended Williams' expulsion, spelled out in detail the case against the 23-year Senate veteran.

Taking Williams' own words from FBI videotapes made of meetings in which he participated, Heflin said it all added up "to proof that Williams agreed, promised and pledged "to abuse his office, his public trust, for which, he must be expelled."

Williams, 62, has been convicted and sentenced to three years in prison on charges that he accepted part ownership in a mining venture in exchange for a willingness to use his position to benefit the enterprise.

Six House members were similarly convicted as a result of the Abscam investigation, but only one was expelled from the Congress.

The others either did not seek re-election or were defeated at the polls.

Man Stops Two During Burglary

A teenager has been turned over to juvenile authorities and a second subject involved in a burglary Wednesday afternoon is expected to be taken into custody today, according to Hereford police.

A man returning home after work around 4 p.m. walked in on the two burglarizing his home. They ran and he pursued them on foot. He had them in his custody at the home, however they broke and ran again while he was calling police.

Items from the burglary recovered from another house included a Remington rifle, a 3006 Mosberg Rifle, a pistol, binoculars and a camera.

Murry's Tire, 701 West First, reported that two jacks had been removed from trucks parked at the lot and a resident in the 200 block of Avenue J reported a ladder was stolen from her yard.

Police settled a domestic quarrel, issued six traffic citations and arrested one for driving while intoxicated.

Hereford firemen were called out at 11:03 p.m. to douse a grass fire a half-mile south of town on Progressive Road.

Housing

Vento of Minnesota and William Coyne of Pennsylvania.

A major part of the program, Schumer said, will be to provide vitally needed housing for families who have been shut out of the rental housing market. Assistance would be provided to make lower rent payments possible, he said.

Asked where the $18 billion for the program would come from, Gonzalez asked where Congress would find funds for other programs the administration requested recently.

Congress this year restored $1.8 billion in emergency funds for unemployment programs and $100 million for fuel assistance, and the president asked Congress last week for $300 million in economic assistance for Central American nations.

"But, amazingly, here his administration comes out for no housing policy at all, for the No. 1 problem facing the American people. That's a perverted sense of priorities," Gonzalez said.

"This administration is trying to Americanize El Salvador and El Salvador-ize the United States. He wants us to go the other way."

The Democratic alternative would:

—Provide $225 million for section 108 loan guarantees, "an essential and successful tool for urban redevelopment."

—Maintain the Section 312 housing rehabilitation loan program, with 60 percent of the $69 million authorization going for single-family housing rehabilitation.

—Maintain existing levels of new public housing construction, about 20,000 units.

Plans

Census has figures on the number of people 18 years and older by county and census tract.

"The Legislative Redistricting Board says flatly that it did not apportion on the basis of qualified electors. It did not even try," Harmon argued. "And I submit that it did not comply with the constitution of the state of Texas."

More than one of the justices questioned whether the case before them was moot in view of the activity in the Dallas federal court.

"It (the Dallas court) is not deciding what Texas law is," Harmon argued. "That's for this court to decide. It's deciding how the law will be enforced."

But state's attorney Steve

Bickerstaff said the suit would be moot if the judges in Dallas handed down a decision before the Supreme Court acted. In that case, he said, the plaintiffs would be "simply seeking an advisory opinion."

The state maintains it cannot reapportion based on anything but total population because that would violate

Water

"In the state of Iowa's viewpoint, the impact may be so great the sale of water would not be viable, and then you are back where you started," said William W. Crews, representing the Iowa governor's office.

The council is considering importing water from Iowa's Missouri River basin.

Richard Bennett, representing Louisiana's Department of Transportation and Development, said any interruption upstream of fresh water that flows into his state's marshes would be disastrous to Louisiana's tremendous fishing industry.

The Arkansas Legislature last year passed a resolution that the state will not sell the Voting Rights Act and never "pass muster" with the U.S. Justice Department.

But Harmon said the U.S. Supreme Court has previously upheld reapportionment based on registered voters, and insisted there is nothing in the U.S. Constitution that demands reapportionment based on total population and nothing else.

Now You're Cookin'

Several ninth grade homemaking students at La Plata Junior High School assumed responsibility recently for teaching their classmates how to make one of their favorite quick breads, flour tortillas, in conjunction with their current study of flour mixtures and quick breads. Instructor for La Plata homemaking classes is Mrs. Beryl Burelsmith.

Mary Aguilera, Thelma Castillo, Ruth Campuzano, Linda Martinez, and Sandra Valdez demonstrated making flour tortillas to members of the various classes, and then, the following day, working in family groups of two boys and two girls, the classes prepared flour tortillas.

According to Mrs. Burelsmith, flour tortillas are a versatile bread that can be stacked, rolled, folded, torn, cut or crumbled. They can be shaped with the hands and easily baked on any improvised griddle over any source of heat, and eaten plain; with butter, cinnamon and sugar; or with any number of other foods.

Other favorite quick bread recipes prepared by the students were Strawberry Bread and Spiced Apple Muffins. These are printed below along with the flour tortilla recipe.

Quick breads, as the students learned, are various kinds of breads which differ in flavor, size, shape, and general appearance. Some are baked in an oven or on a griddle, and others are deep-fat fried. All can be made quickly and served piping hot.

ding of the different kinds of leavening, said Mrs. Burelsmith.

In addition, the students have become familiar with different kinds of flour, they have become more aware of the nutritive value of bread, and they have learned how to determine the cost of preparing any recipe.

FLOUR TORTILLAS
 2 cups flour
 1 tsp. salt
 1 tsp. baking powder
 1/4 cup shortening
 1/2 cup boiling water
 Stir together flour, salt and baking powder. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles cornmeal. Add water and mix until dough can be formed into a ball.

Let dough rest 15 minutes. Divide dough into 12 pieces and roll out each piece on a lightly floured board to about 7 inches.

Cook in ungreased skillet over medium heat about 1 1/2 minutes per side or until lightly browned. Yield: 12 tortillas.

SPICED APPLE MUFFINS

Heat oven to 425 degrees. Grease muffin pan well with shortening. Using a wooden spoon, stir together in a mixing bowl:

2 cups sifted flour
 1/2 cup sugar
 3 tsp. baking powder
 1 tsp. salt
 Stir in 1 cup peeled, finely chopped apple which has been coated with a cinnamon and sugar mixture (2 Tbsp. sugar and 1/4 tsp. cinnamon). Make a "well" in the center of the mixture.

In a small bowl, beat one egg well and add 1 cup milk and 1/4 cup oil. Pour egg mixture all at once into "well" in flour mixture and stir just until flour is moistened.

Fill muffin cups 2/3 full and sprinkle cinnamon and sugar mixture on top of batter. Bake 20 minutes.

STRAWBERRY BREAD
 Mix in large bowl:
 3 cups flour
 1 tsp. salt
 1 tsp. soda
 1/4 tsp. cinnamon
 1 3/4 cups water

Kendall Presents Program

The members of Xi Epsilon Alpha met Tuesday at the First National Bank. Barbara Kendall presented a program on "Friendship" which brought discussion from all present.

Hostesses for the evening were Ronna Howell and Illa-jean Brinkman. Others present were Nan Gauthreaux, Jan Walsler, Margie Waddell, Brenda Thomas, Barbara Burkhalter, Opal Glenn, Phyllis Neill, Alene Tindal, Judy Blaylock, and Jody Blackwell.

The next meeting will be March 23, with a guest speaker as well as other guests to be present.

Mix in another bowl:
 2 pkgs. frozen strawberries, drained
 4 eggs
 3/4 cup oil
 1 cup nuts

Mix the flour mixture into the strawberry mixture. Grease and flour loaf pans. Bake at 325 degrees for one hour. Makes two large or three small loaves.

Making Tortillas

Thelma Castillo, in the foreground, and Linda Martinez, demonstrate the art of making flour tortillas to their classmates in the ninth grade homemaking classes at La Plata Junior High School. Mary Aguilera, Ruth Campuzano and Sandra Valdez also helped in demonstrating making tortillas as the classes are studying flour mixtures and quick breads.

SWC Post-Season Quarterfinals Sold Out

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer
DALLAS (AP) — The quarterfinals of the seventh annual Southwest Conference post-season basketball tournament get underway tonight in soldout Reunion Arena with the Texas Aggies meeting the Baylor Bears and the Texas Tech Red Raiders challenging the Texas Christian Horned Frogs.

Both games rated dead even because the teams split against each other during the regular season.

Most coaches are calling it a tournament anybody can win.
"I think this will be the finest tournament we have ever had," said Houston Coach Guy V. Lewis. "Each game should be close. Each team has a 100 per cent chance to win."

The Aggies, who are 17-9 and finished third during the regular season, drew a bye into the battle with the 16-10 Bears, who tied Texas Christian for fourth place. Tipoff was 7 p.m. in the opener.
TCU, which was 15-12 overall and earned Coach Jim Killingsworth The Associated Press SWC Coach of the Year honors, play 17-10 Texas Tech in the nightcap, expected to begin around 9:30 p.m.

The TCU-Tech survivor plays regular season champion Arkansas at 7 p.m. Friday and the Baylor-A&M winner goes against second place Houston in the second game.
The championship finals are 8 p.m. Saturday.
SWC officials said each night has been sold out. Capacity at Reunion Arena is 18,000.
Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton agreed that any of the six teams could win it all.

"There is very little difference between some of those who are here and some who aren't," he said. "In my opinion, this is the first time that any of the teams we have here can win the post-season tournament."
The winner of the tournament gets an automatic NCAA playoff berth.
Baylor Coach Jim Haller said "I feel like there is a good chance of three teams making it to the NCAA playoffs from the conference this year. We'll have to wait and see but I believe it could happen."

Claude Riley, a 6-10 junior averaging 14 points per game, will lead the Aggies against Baylor and star senior Terry Teagle.
"Teagle missed four days of practice with the flu and has been in a shooting slump," said Haller. "He will have to come out of it for us to win."

Both Tech and TCU feature balanced attacks but the Horned Frogs have the Newcomer of the Year, in 6-9 forward Doug Arnold, scoring at a 19 points per game clip.
Guard Jeff Taylor and center Clarence Swannegan lead the Red Raiders.

Borger Favored in Tennis

Borger's girls and Plainview, Canyon, and Lubbock High's boys are pre-tourney favorites as the Annual Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Invitational Tennis Tournament begins Friday. HHS coach Robert Cox said Borger's overall strength makes the Bulldogs a slight favorite in the girls' bracket, while the Bulldogs, Eagles, and Westerners head up a dogfight for honors in the boys' division.

Eight schools will be participating in the tennis tournament, which will be played at the high school and possibly the country club courts Friday and Saturday.
Making the trip to Hereford are Borger, Plainview, Lubbock High, Pampa, Canyon, Clovis and Caprock. The tournament will include 16 singles players and the same number of doubles teams from each school.
Cox said that Donny Anderson and Mike Morgan will compete in boys singles for the Herd, while sisters Kim and Vanessa Sims will play in the fem singles bracket. Hereford doubles teams include Trent Thomas - Kelly Cassels, Monte Hutto - Bryan Paetzold, Lisa Snyder - Carol Zinser, and Sharon Mitts - Annette LaFuenta.

All entrants will play four matches of two-out-of-three, no-add sets. Team titles will be determined by final ranking.

Immigration Service Keeping Tabs Valenzuela

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fernando Valenzuela apparently has no plans to return to Mexico while he awaits a break in negotiations with the Los Angeles Dodgers, but the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service has its eye on the dealings.

If the standout pitcher fails to sign with the Dodgers, he might be forced to return to his native Mexico.

"He won't be treated any differently than anybody else," Jerry Sewell of the INS told radio station KFNB Wednesday. "If he doesn't live up to the terms of his agreement, he'll have to return home."

Sewell said the Dodgers have a permit for Valenzuela to play baseball that is valid until the end of the season.
Valenzuela's agent, Tony DeMarco, said in a press conference Wednesday that his client will not accept the contract automatically renewed with the Dodgers with an estimated $280,000 raise.
"After reviewing the terms of the contract, and after discussing alternative approaches, we have made the decision that the contract is not acceptable," DeMarco said. "Fernando will not report to spring training until an appropriate agreement is reached."

The Dodgers have renewed Valenzuela's 1981 contract, leaving him to choose between reporting or sitting out the season. The contract reportedly would pay the left-handed pitcher $325,000 for 1982, an amount DeMarco says has remained substantially the same since negotiations began.
On the other hand, the agent says Valenzuela and his representatives have lowered their original demands to accommodate the Dodgers. No figures have been announced, but the amount is thought to be about $800,000, down from $1 million for the 1982 season.
"We have tried during these negotiations to be as flexible as possible," said DeMarco. "We are not asking for $1 million. We want a solution to the problem."

Meanwhile, Dodger Manager Tom Lasorda issued a plea to Valenzuela in Spanish to come to camp.

Herd Defending Golf Title

The Junior Varsity Division of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Invitational Golf Tournament teed off at 8:30 today, with the varsity linksters looking at 8:30 tee times on Friday and Saturday.
Entered in the JV division this year are Hereford, Plainview, Borger, Tascosa, Amarillo High, Clovis, Pampa, Tulia, and Panhandle. The 18-hole event will conclude today before varsity action begins Friday.

Two Divisions of varsity play will be held in a 36-hole affair. The big school (5A-4A) Division includes Hereford, Plainview, Amarillo High, Palo Duro, Tascosa, Caprock, Odessa High, Dumas, Clovis, Borger, Canyon, and Pampa.

Four teams are entered in the small school (3A-2A) Division, including Littlefield, Tulia, Denver City, and Muleshoe.
Hereford coach James Salinas gave Amarillo High and Borger a slight edge in the large school division, and listed Denver City as the incoming favorite in the small school bracket.

Spring Camp Sun Melts Injuries

By The Associated Press

Under the warm sun of spring training, baseball pitchers can forget past injuries and work on their repertoires with an air of optimism.

Bruce Kison, Dave Frost, Dave Palmer and Charlie Lea are four major-league hurlers whose recent seasons have been wrecked by arm troubles. All four got in some throwing Wednesday and reported no ill effects.

Kison, who has missed most of the past two seasons after surgery on his pitching arm in the middle of the 1980 campaign, threw batting practice at the California Angels' camp in Casa Grande, Ariz.

"This was the best I've felt," said Kison, who signed with California as a free agent prior to the 1980 season. He has been 4-7 for the Angels, hardly the kind of figures the team expected when it inked him to a five-year deal. "When I reached back for something extra, it was there."

"My arm feels great. There isn't even the hint of pain. I'm on Cloud 9, if there is such a thing."

Frost, who won 16 games for California three years ago, was released by the Angels this winter and is trying to catch on with the Kansas City Royals. He has been plagued by elbow injuries since 1979.

"He's thrown real well so far," Royals Manager Dick Howser said at the team's Fort Myers, Fla., camp. "If he can stay healthy and continue to throw well, we'd have to consider him for a spot on our club."

Palmer and Lea, two of the strong young arms on the Expos staff, both threw batting practice at Montreal's camp in West Palm Beach, Fla., without even a hint of pain.

"David didn't tell it to me but he said somebody else told him he was the best he's felt in two years," said Expos Manager Jim Fanning. Palmer, who won 18 games over two seasons in 1979 and '80, did not pitch an inning in the majors last season after having surgery on his right elbow on Nov. 22, 1980.

Lea, who pitched a no-hitter early last season, also has had elbow problems and contributed little to the Expos' march to the National League East title last year.

NBA Standings

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Lakers can run you out of the arena, if you let them.

Larry Brown wasn't about to let them do it Wednesday night.

"We kept them from running — and that's a big thing," said Brown after his New Jersey Nets stopped the Lakers' seven-game National Basketball Association winning streak with a 111-103 victory.

The stout defense helped the Nets grab the lead late in the first quarter and hold on to it for the rest of the game.

Brown didn't get to enjoy the finale, however. He was ejected in the fourth quarter after engaging in a shouting match with an official.

Ray Williams led the Nets' offense with 31 points. Williams hit two free throws and a jumper, capping a 10-0 spurt that stretched New Jersey's 34-33 lead to 44-34 early in the second period.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar led the Lakers with 30 points, while Norm Nixon added 22 and Earvin "Magic" Johnson had 18.

In other NBA action, it was Milwaukee 96, Atlanta 87; Kansas City 120, Indiana 82; Philadelphia 125, San Diego 107; Phoenix 115, Utah 102; and Seattle 136, Cleveland 107.

Bucks 96, Hawks 87

Sidney Moncrief and Mickey Johnson keyed an 11-2 run in the third period to lead Milwaukee over Atlanta. Moncrief, who was the game's high-scorer with 23, scored two goals and assisted Junior Bridgeman with another in the burst. Johnson added two field goals and a free throw to stretch the Bucks' lead to 56-47 at 7:15 left in the third.

Wayne Rollins led Atlanta scorers with 20 points.

Kings 120, Pacers 82

Mike Woodson score a game-high 20 points to power

Kansas City over Indiana. Seven other Kansas City players scored in double figures as the Kings romped to their largest victory margin of the season. Reserves scored 35 of the team's points in the quarter.

Center Tom Owens paced Indiana with 15 points.

76ers 125, Clippers 107

Julius Erving scored 26 points and Andrew Toney added 20 as Philadelphia put on a blazing third-quarter shooting display to down San Diego. The victory snapped a three-game losing streak for the 76ers, and sent the Clippers to their fifth straight loss and 13th defeat in their last 14 games.

Suns 115, Jazz 102

Guards Dennis Johnson and Walter Davis combined for 44 points, with 20 coming in the second half, and forward Len "Truck" Robinson scored 24 more to spark Phoenix over Utah.

Johnson finished with 25 points and Davis with 19 as Phoenix won its fifth straight game at home and 24th in 29 games at home this season. Utah lost its fourth straight despite 22 points from forward Adrian Dantley and 20 from guard Darrell Griffith.

SuperSonics 136, Cavaliers 107

Gus Williams scored 12 of his 17 points in the first quarter to help Seattle take an early lead and roll past Cleveland. The Sonics, who outscored Cleveland 18-2 over a four-minute stretch in the first quarter, quickly built a 24-8 lead. In that surge, Williams scored eight points and contributed two assists.

Commodores Shoot Overtime Win, 47-46

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

Willie Jones was disappointed by his fruitless first-half performance, but not entirely discouraged.

The Vanderbilt center who averages 16 points a game was unable to score a point before intermission against Florida in the Southeastern Conference basketball playoffs Wednesday night.

But he hung in there.

"You have to be real determined and I guess the perseverance and determination came out in me," said Jones after scoring 17 points to help the Commodores post a 47-46 double-overtime victory. "I thank God He let it happen."

In another first-round game, Auburn took a 38-36 overtime victory over Mississippi State. The results sent Vanderbilt against Tennessee and Auburn against 15th-ranked Kentucky in tonight's quarterfinals.

"I told him he was going to have to take the shot," said Vanderbilt Coach C.M. Newton, noting the defensive pressure Florida was putting on Jones.

For Norm Sloan the game was typical of a frustrating season in which his Florida team finished the regular schedule with a 5-21 record and lost 20 of the last 21.

"We haven't had the breaks all season," Sloan said. "If there's a law of averages, we're going to be in for a heck of a lot of fun down the road."

Frank Poindexter's 18-foot jumper with three seconds left gave Auburn its overtime victory over Mississippi State. Auburn controlled the tip at the start of the extra period and held the ball for 4:40 before calling timeout with 20 seconds remaining.

Once the Tigers put their final play in motion, Poindexter dribbled away the clock and hit the game-winner.

Meanwhile, defending champion St. Joseph's, Drexel, La Salle and American University advanced in the East Coast Conference playoffs.

Tony Costner poured in 17 points and added seven rebounds as St. Joseph's opened defense of its title with a 65-57 victory over Hofstra. It was the 1,000th all-time victory for the Philadelphia school.

Rich Congo hit two key baskets down the stretch as Drexel rallied for a 61-55 upset victory over Temple. Steve Black scored 13 of his game-high 19 points in the second half to lead La Salle to a 71-56 victory over West Chester State. Ed Sloane had 17 points to pace American to a 71-65 victory over Rider.

Leon Wood scored 25 points as Fullerton State posted a 64-52 victory over Pacific in a first round of the Pacific Conference Athletic Association tournament. Randy Wheldon led four UC-Irvine scorers in double figures as the Anteaters posted a 90-64 decision over Utah State. Dino Gregory and Craig Hodges combined for 48 points as Long Beach State took a 71-68 comeback victory over San Jose State.

SPORTS TALK:
William Simon

Interviewed by Howard Siner

William Simon, former secretary of the treasury (1974-77), is president of the U.S. Olympic Committee. He joined the USOC as a fund raiser for the 1984 Olympics. An economic adviser to President Reagan, Simon is chairman of Crescent Diversified Ltd.

With two years to go, is America on schedule with its plans to compete in the 1984 Olympics?

We are way ahead of schedule as far as the outline of a program for a four-year period that we set in 1980. Our budget, meaning our receipts, is growing beyond our earlier expectations.

I've never seen an enthusiasm at this point in time in the Olympics, where with two years to go the athletes are at a key pitch already, as the American people are.

I think we're going to field the best Olympic team in our history and we're going to put on, in Los Angeles, one of the best Olympic Games that have ever been put on, as well.

How do things stand in Los Angeles as far as preparations for the Summer Games?

Recently I was in Los Angeles with Jose Samaranch, the president of the International Olympic Committee, and the IOC executive board. We inspected all of the venues for the sports to be held. There were a few minor criticisms, I would say. But, for the most part they were laudatory at the progress that we've made.

Are you worried that the Russians might boycott the Los Angeles Games for political reasons — the way America did in 1980 at the Moscow Games?

No. There was an erroneous report that the Russians said that they were not going to attend the Olympic Games. That's turned out to be absolutely false. I believe the Russians are going to attend the games in 1984.

I think we're going to have a large attendance of all the nations in the history of the Olympic games. I think they're going to be the best ever.

Will that put the emphasis back on Olympic sports — rather than on world politics?

Well, I would certainly hope so. Of course for years, we have tried to keep politics outside of the amateur sports and the Olympic movement. It is terribly difficult because the Olympic Games present quite an opportunity for politicians — who like publicity, as you know.

Girls Cage Tourney Set To Open Today

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) —

The girls' state basketball tournament opens today with Nazareth seeking to extend its record number of consecutive titles to six and three-time champions Dallas South Oak Cliff and Victoria entered in the big school division.

The Class 5A semifinal between SOC, 32-2, and Amarillo, 30-0, is set for Friday afternoon. Victoria, which defeated Yates and SOC during the regular season, plays Yates again Friday night.

Dime Box and Larue Lappynor, a 1981 semifinalist, were paired in the tournament opener today. Nazareth, 31-5, was matched against Krum in the other Class A first-round game.

Nazareth's team includes two 1981 all-tournament players in Roxane and Sharon Birkenfeld. Three of the Swiftettes' losses this year were to Lubbock Monterey, the defending 5A champion which lost in bi-district to Amarillo. The other defending champion in the tournament is Hardin in 2A, which once again is led by 5-foot-10 Charlotte Reescano, a 1981 all-tournament player averaging 25.6 points a game.

Hardin, 29-1, and Grapeland play Friday morning in a rematch of last year's semifinal game, which Hardin won 64-55.

Sweeny, a 1981 runner-up in Class 3A, also returns from last year. One starter is Millie Bivens, a 1981 all-tournament player. Sweeny lost in the finals last year, 61-59, to Abernathy and in the finals in 1979 to Georgetown, 51-49.

Not enough bulk
DEAR DR. LAMB - I have lived 14 years in a retirement home. This is when my problem of constipation started. When I was home I could have set the clock in the morning when my bowels moved. Before breakfast I take a teaspoon of Metamucil in a glass of orange juice with a stool softener. Also I use a glycerine suppository. For breakfast I have another glass of orange juice and prune juice besides regular food. We have stewed fruit often and fresh fruit for our rooms three times a week.
Before I broke my hip seven years ago, I was very active as I had a big flower garden. I still do quite a bit of walking and do exercises in my room planned for me by the surgeon who operated on me. Can you suggest anything else to help correct this very bad problem?
DEAR READER - One teaspoon of Metamucil a day may not provide enough bulk for you. Add some bran to your diet for the other two meals a day and drink plenty of water.
When you were home and had regular bowel movements you probably followed a set pattern. Such patterns help to educate and train reflexes that become good servants. Try it again by making it a point to go to the bathroom and sit at the same time each morning immediately after breakfast.
Also you may have become impatient. Many people take preparations that induce rapid emptying and then have to further stimulate the bowel or wait until it fills normally. Don't be so anxious to have a bowel movement every day. If you are a small eater you may not need a daily movement. You can go for three days without problems and if you still have not had any elimination you might use an enema then. Give yourself a few weeks to see if such a program can help you.

Avoid Jail Record At All Costs

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am writing from the county jail. Please don't get the idea that I am a criminal. I'm a very decent, honorable person. It just so happens I had a few moving violations and parking tickets that added up to $240, so I decided to sit it out.
My husband and I enjoyed a wonderful life in the Midwest. We have many friends there and were a part of the community.
Eight months ago Harold accidentally shot and killed himself while cleaning his hunting rifle. Some people said it was suicide, but I know better. He had everything to live for. I was so distraught over his death that I just couldn't face our friends and all the old familiar surroundings. Everything reminded me of Harold. Impetuously, I sold the house and moved away.
It was a big mistake. I am so lonesome I could die. I have plenty of money but no joy in my heart. Warn others. Don't flee when grief hits. Stay and defeat it. - Bellingham, Wash.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I want to make it clear that I am not a nut about neatness, but I am a man who likes things in their proper place. I hate to see week-old papers piled on the floor, hair in the sink and dirty dishes and apple cores on the window sill.
I have just described my sweetie's apartment. She is a great girl in so many ways and we plan to be married in the spring.
My mother, who is a meticulous housekeeper, tells me to think twice. Well, I have and I want to marry Louise anyway. What do you think? - Just Testing In Beaumont

DEAR BEAU: I think you are plenty bothered by Louise's sloppiness, or you would not have written. She won't change - so learn to live with the dirty dishes, hair in the sink and the apple cores on the window sill, and be prepared to do a little housework, Buddy.

Run a classified advertisement in the Hereford Brand. Call by 3 p.m. the day before it is published or before 3 p.m. on Friday for Sunday's issue.
DEAR BELL: Planes run both ways. Go back home.

At Wits End
BY ERMA BOMBECK

It was a bit of humanness worth noting. As Brig. General James L. Dozier was describing to the press corps his 42 days of captivity at the hands of Red Brigade terrorists, he said the worst of it was the plain boredom of sitting there day in and day out. Then he added, "They put earphones on me and played hard rock music through it all day long. Do you have any idea what hard rock music can do to a person?"

He was using humor to disguise his modesty, but it was incongruous to me that here was a man who had been abducted by lunatics, blindfolded, beaten, chained to his bed and every hour lived in raw fear of his future, and the one thing that was unbearable was the forced feeding of rock music.

At the very moment Gen. Dozier made that statement, 85 million parents in this country not only stood up and applauded, but wept openly at the courage of the man. It was probably the only part of the ordeal that they could relate to.

It's my guess that his head is still vibrating from the decibels and will for some time. I've seen hard rock bring a lot of parents to their knees.

Who among us has not entered our car in innocence, turned the key in the ignition, and had our faces blown off by sound waves before we could turn down the sound and reset the buttons?

Who among us has not met persecution face to face when we entered a small, intimate restaurant and got into our first course before the band returned and made lip-reading painful?

It's hard to remember what the world was like before it became amplified. One day I was bringing the baby home from the hospital. The next, there were four speakers on the wall, the cups were rattling and I was deaf.

I suspect heroes like Gen. Dozier are pretty much like the rest of us...ordinary people who when thrown into an extraordinary situation react in an extraordinary way. His entire attitude on the newscast of the press conference, I sensed that maybe the rock music was a factor in his survival. There is something about listening to it hour after hour, day after day that makes you want to survive if only to stuff a 12-inch record down a three-inch throat.
