Wholesale prices fall 0.6 percent in August

By MARTIN CRUTSINGER
AP Economics Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - Prices at the wholesale level plunged 0.6 percent in August, the biggest decline in 2-1/2 years, led by a record drop in the cost of tobacco products, the government reported today.

The Labor Department said its Producer Price Index, which measures inflationary pressures before they reach consumers, dropped for the fourth straight month, the first time that has happened since 1986.

Much of the good news in August stemmed from a 25.6 percent plunge in tobacco prices, the biggest drop on record, beating the old mark of an 8.6 percent decline in January 1983.

Name-brand tobacco manufacturers had announced two months ago that they would be rolling back some of their earlier price increases because of rising competition from generic products.

While the big August decline caught analysts by surprise, they said it served to underscore their belief that inflationary pressures have all but disappeared from the economy at present.

The decline was likely to help push interest rates down even further. Already mortgage rates are at their lowest point in 25 years and analysts said financial markets were likely to send long-term rates down even further, especially if next week's report on consumer prices contains equally good news on inflation.

The 0.6 percent August drop in wholesale prices followed declines of 0.2 percent in July, 0.3 percent in June and 0.1 percent in May.

So far this year, inflation at the wholesale level is rising at an annual rate of just 0.6 percent, better than last year's extremely good 1.6 percent showing.

The government said that energy prices fell for a fourth straight month, dropping 0.8 percent in August despite the fact that residential natural gas prices jumped by a record 1.4 percent.

Food prices, which had fallen for three straight months, turned up in August, rising by 0.5 percent.

Excluding the volatile food and energy components, the so-called core rate of wholesale inflation fell by 1 percent in August, the biggest one-month drop on record.

The increase in food costs was paced by a 10.2 percent rise in fruit prices and a 5.8 percent jump in vegetable costs. Among the biggest increases in the fruit category were gains of 79.9 percent for strawberries, 26.5 percent for pears, 17.4 percent for peaches and 15.3 percent for red delicious apples.

Big price increases in the vegetable category included rises of 78.6 percent for tomatoes, 60.6 percent for beets, 60.2 percent for carrots and 33.7 percent for white potatoes.

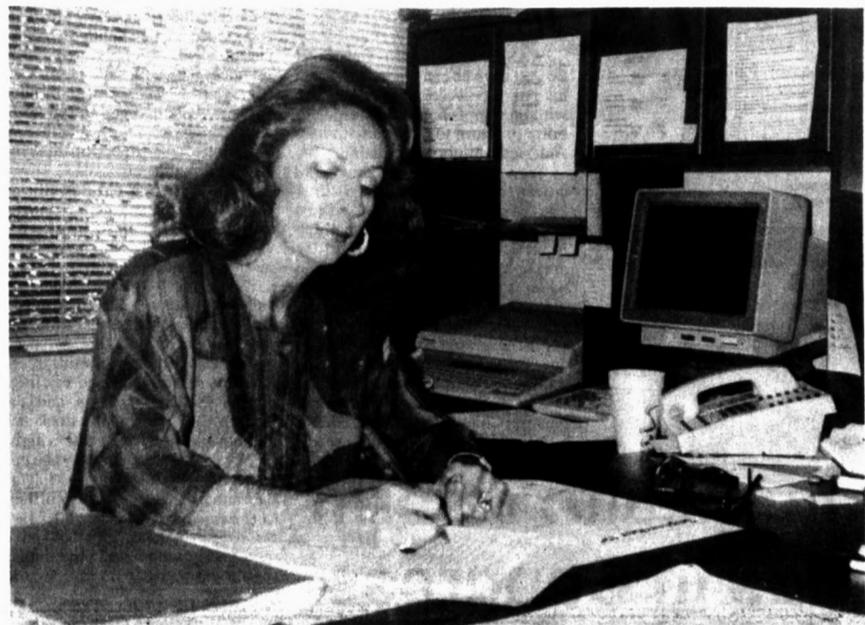

Labor Department analysts said that without the big drop in tobacco prices, wholesale inflation would have been up by about 0.2 percent. They said that about half of that increase reflected a 1 percent rise in passenger cars in August.

In the energy category, the 0.8 percent overall decline followed drops of 1 percent in July, 0.5 percent in June and 0.6 percent in July.

However, there were considerable cross currents in energy last month. Home heating oil prices plunged 7.1 percent, the biggest decline since last December, while gasoline costs dropped 1.6 percent. But residential natural gas prices jumped 1.4 percent, the biggest one-month increase on record.

Analysts said that the Federal Reserve, which meets Sept. 21 to consider its interest rate policies, was likely to leave rates unchanged given the good news on inflation.

The various changes left the Producer Price Index, before adjusting for seasonal variation, at 124.3 in August.

Evaluating probation files

Coordinator of Community Service and Restitution, Kathy Moore reviews a probation file. Under her supervision, offenders perform community service as part of the sentence given to them.

Restitution program keeps offenders busy, helps city

BY LINDSAY RADFORD
Summer Intern

An offender is forever bound by the committed offense. Society allows little room for reformation or change, however, the Community Service and Restitution program (CSR) is altering the opinions of both the guilty and innocent.

Initiated by Police Chief David Wagner while he served as a probation officer, the CSR program began in 1989 to give offenders the opportunity to make restitution by working for non-profit or governmental agencies. The program promotes rehabilitation of the offender while simultaneously enhancing the well-being of the community.

Administered by the 222nd Judicial District's Community Supervision and Corrections Department, the CSR program includes Deaf Smith and Oldham counties.

The district CSR program is one of two programs in the state which receive funding through a grant from Community Justice Assistance Division (CJAD).

This financial assistance provides the necessary resources for the positions of CSR coordinator and officer.

"The purpose of the program is to give individuals an alternative to jail," said Kathy Moore, CSR coordinator.

"People receive the opportunity to serve the community while accomplishing an awful lot through their work."

District Judge David Wesley Gulley places participants in the program through court order or plea bargaining.

"When we have someone enter the program, they are first screened," said Jennifer Eggen, Community Service and Corrections Officer.

"For placement with an agency, we must know if a weapon was used or what their specific offense was," said Eggen. "For example, a sex offender would not be allowed to serve his hours within a school."

Approximately 74 agencies in Hereford work with the program including Kings Manor, the Hereford Independent School District, Salvation Army and numerous county and city offices.

Benefits for participating agencies and the community include additional resources, financial savings for work that would not otherwise be available and an alternative to the costs of confinement.

"The agencies we use are terrific," emphasized Moore. "They undertake the responsibilities of overseeing the worker, recording hours and clocking out the individual."

"Once we start using workers, we rarely have complaints. If there is a problem then the probationer is transferred immediately," Moore said.

Last year, CSR saved an estimated $122,912. Every hour of work equals $5.

Depending on the crime, an individual can receive no more than 1,000 hours and no less than 24. At least eight hours must be completed a week.

"Community service hours never interfere with regular work hours," remarked Eggen.

"Those who are unemployed can get the job done while looking for work. Some people do so well they are hired by the agency," said Eggen.

"Any time we find a need for work on the weekends it helps. Often it becomes difficult to work around jobs," Moore remarked.

A due date is set for completion of the hours. Additional time is provided in the deadline for emergencies.

Before work begins, participants sign a release of liability and a contract stating an intention to serve the hours.

"We had one participant who worked at the golf course. They wanted to hire him before all the hours were even completed," Moore said.

Currently, 305 offenders participate in the program. This number is expected to increase to 400 within the next year.

CSR Director Larry Sheffield and

Moore traveled to Austin during the past fiscal year to appeal to CJAD for additional funding.

"By showing an expected increase in participants we were able to receive more funding. The people we worked with in Austin were extremely impressed with the success of our program," Moore said.

The outstanding progress the CSR program has achieved can be seen through the stories of its participants.

Assigned 80 hours of community service, one participant utilized his talents as a cosmologist to serve shut-ins.

"This individual would go into homes of the elderly and fix their hair. The probationer enjoyed his work so much he worked over his assigned hours," said Moore.

Soon, the offender began receiving random phone calls just asking for his companionship.

"At one point, people would call just asking him to come watch T.V. with them," said Moore.

"This was certainly a case where the offender as well as others received a great deal through the program."

CSR provides offenders with a positive activity while making them take full responsibility for their actions.

"Their self worth improves through their service and involvement within the community," said Moore.

"One young kid was placed in CSR for burglary charges. He was assigned to a church but he messed up again and was sent to boot camp," said Eggen.

When the boy returned he was reassigned to CSR.

"He requested the church again and when I asked him why, he explained that he felt as though he had let those people down," Eggen said.

A month after working in the church Eggen saw the boy again.

"I asked him about his work and his face just lit up. He was doing well and had been given a key to the building, something unusual considering his offense," said Eggen.

"It made the boy feel good to know someone had trust and faith in him."

The new grant will allow CSR to operate for the next two years.

Schools + money don't always = achievement

WASHINGTON (AP) - Increased spending on education doesn't necessarily translate into improved student achievement, a new report card on American schools says.

Texas mirrors the national trend, the National Center for Education Information said in a state-by-state analysis issued Thursday in Washington.

Average Scholastic Aptitude Test scores in Texas dropped 4 percent in the last 20 years - despite a 73 percent increase in public school spending, the report found.

The study was prepared for the American Legislative Exchange Council, a private, bipartisan group of state legislators; and Empower America, a conservative think tank headed by former Education Secretary William Bennett.

"You don't spend your way to education achievement," Bennett said.

While Texas spent an average of $4,831 per pupil last year - up from the $2,797 spent 20 years ago when adjusted for inflation - the increased spending hasn't resulted in significant improvements in student performance, the study said.

Texas ranked 37th last year in per pupil expenditures, spending on average $4,831 per pupil compared to the $5,598 national average.

When ranked by SAT scores, Texas was 42nd among states and the District of Columbia this year - with a combined 885 score compared to a national average of 902.

Spokesmen for the Texas Education Agency didn't return telephone calls Thursday.

The state ranking was a slight improvement over its 46th place posted in 1992 and the 45th place of the year before. But the cumulative average posted by Texas students has dropped from 921 in 1972 to 885 this year.

Empower America and ALEC suggested that a shift in budget priorities away from the classroom may be to blame nationally and in Texas as well.

Where 54 percent of Texas school spending was devoted to teacher salaries in 1972, that rate had dropped to 42 percent last year. Texas ranked 35th in teacher salaries last year with a $29,935 average - compared $35,334 nationally.

The state also ranked 42nd in staff-pupil ratios in 1990, with one staffer for every 10.2 students.

The Texas Public Policy Foundation, a San Antonio think tank that analyzed the education report card, contends that the findings strengthen their call for school vouchers that would allow parents to select their child's school.

"We feel the answer is to empower the education consumers with choice and vouchers instead of continuing to prop up a government monopoly school system which has demonstrably failed to do the job," said John Andrews, chief executive of the think tank, which has pilot school voucher programs in place for low-income students in San Antonio and Austin.

Districts can make choice on materials

AUSTIN (AP) - Texas Education Commissioner Lionel "Skip" Meno says he's confident school districts will properly handle state-developed AIDS-prevention materials that some say should be recalled.

"I think that we can indicate to people that they may wish to ... dispose of it," he said Thursday. "They can make their own decisions about how they're going to utilize the materials that are out there."

State Board of Education Chairwoman Carolyn Crawford said she thinks the materials should be recalled from schools or destroyed because of inaccuracies.

She said she thought Meno would take some action before the board in November votes on whether to make revised AIDS-prevention information available to schools.

Meno said he may notify school districts that the issue is under discussion.

The materials were developed after some school district officials complained that information available about acquired immune deficiency syndrome was expensive and not high-quality, Meno said.

But the State Board of Education didn't approve the materials before they were sent to elementary school campuses by the Texas Education Agency and made available to middle schools.

Amarillo TV station seeks money from cable operator here

An Amarillo television station wants Hereford Cablevision to pay for a service that non-cable consumers get free.

The cable company has refused to agree to the demands of the station.

Because of the federal cable act of 1992, stations and cable companies are required to reach agreement on re-transmission of station signals to cable customers.

KVII-TV, Channel 7, and Hereford Cablevision did not negotiate an agreement by a Sept. 6 deadline. The station has asked for compensation of one cent per cable subscriber per month for re-transmission of its signal.

Another Amarillo station, KCIT-TV, received on cable channel 13 in Hereford, also has yet to come to an agreement, but no terms for an agreement have been offered by the station.

Lloyd Ames, Hereford Cablevision general manager, said KVII-TV has set a deadline of Oct. 6 for agreement to be reached.

"We haven't heard anything from KCIT so we don't know what they may want," he added.

Ames said his company believes that cable customers should not have to pay for a service that their neighbors receiving the signal by antenna get free.

Agreements with two Amarillo stations, KAMR-TV, Channel 4, and KFDA-TV, Channel 10, have been signed for free re-transmission to cable customers, Ames said.

If the cable company grants compensation to one station, the law requires that other stations receive an equal payment, he added.

Hereford Cablevision has just less than 4,000 customers, Ames continued. The company uses an antenna to pick up the signals of all four Amarillo stations, then re-transmits to cable customers.

The Hereford company has sent letters to KVII-TV and KCIT-TV since the Sept. 6 deadline passed but no response has been received, Ames said.

Earle says he was not setting Hutchison up

By CHIP BROWN
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) - Travis County District Attorney Ronnie Earle says he wasn't trying to entrap U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison when she appeared before a grand jury investigating alleged wrongdoing during her tenure as state treasurer.

Mrs. Hutchison, who declined to say if she answered questions when she met with Travis County grand jurors Thursday, was advised by her attorney to remain quiet by using her Fifth Amendment right against self-incrimination.

"I am not going to tell you if I took that advice because I didn't want to take their advice. I really wanted to testify," Mrs. Hutchison said.

Mrs. Hutchison's attorney, John Dowd, said he didn't want the senator to testify out of fear that she would be entrapped by Earle.

"I just cannot permit her, when the district attorney has no interest in the information on the allegations, to get ensnared," Dowd said. "It's happened before and it's not going to happen in this case."

But Earle says the grand jury wasn't interested in tripping Mrs. Hutchison on a minor charge.

Since June 10, the grand jury has been looking into allegations that state workers and equipment were used for personal and political purposes during Mrs. Hutchison's 2-1/2-year reign as head of the Treasury.

Planetarium opens show

AMARILLO -- The Don Harrington Discovery Center Planetarium will kick off a new family show this weekend.

"Planet Patrol" will begin on Saturday and run through Nov. 21. It will be shown at 11 a.m., 1 p.m., 2 p.m. and 3 p.m. Saturdays, plus 2 p.m. and 3 p.m. Sundays.

Admission is $2 per person, with Discovery Center members admitted free.

"Planet Patrol" is about a Planetary Investigator and his assistant, Elmo, who visit the solar system from their home planet Nork in search of some mysterious radio waves. The search ultimately leads to Earth.

"Our visitors have been asking for a planetarium show that they can enjoy with their children and we think they will be very pleased with this show. 'Planet Patrol' is excellent entertainment for the whole family," said Christine Brunello, planetarium coordinator for the Discovery Center.

For more information, call Jennifer Pool at 355-9548, Ext. 20, or Brunello at the same number, Ext. 13.

Federal investigators check break-in

Documents removed from Hutchison's Dallas office

DALLAS (AP) - The FBI and another federal agency have launched an investigation into the reported break-in at the Dallas office of U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison in which files and other documents were taken.

Federal authorities said Wednesday night they were investigating the reported break-in.

The Republican senator reported the break-in the same day she was in Austin to appear before grand jurors investigating alleged wrongdoing during her tenure as state treasurer.

"Some Senate material was found missing this morning, including 25 franked envelopes, copies of approximately one dozen UPS (United Parcel Service) mailing receipts, two constituent case files and employee staff lists," according to a statement issued Thursday by Mrs. Hutchison's office.

"There is also evidence that the computer (may) have been tampered with," the statement read.

Mrs. Hutchison's office is located at the federal building in downtown Dallas.

Marcella Banks, a spokeswoman with the General Services Administration's federal protective division in Fort Worth, said that the lawmaker's staff filed a report Thursday morning of a break-in at seventh-floor offices in the Earl Cabell Federal Building.

"We did get hold of the FBI to let them know that this had been reported to us," she said. "The FBI asked us to take the lead in the investigation. They want us to keep them informed."

This is a joint investigation between the FBI and FPS (Federal Protective Service).

FBI spokeswoman Marjorie Poche in Dallas said Thursday night that the agency received the report and was investigating whether an offense had occurred.

"The fact that it involved a federal building puts it in the jurisdiction of the FBI, and we have opened a case on that," she said, adding the investigation was in its early stages.

"We have not confirmed or denied that there is a break-in," said Ms. Banks. "They are doing an investigation on whether there was a break-in."

Logs of all people entering the building, which is locked at night, would be checked but that investigators did not want to release other details of their work, she said.

"We will check on all the people who were in the building" at that time, said Ms. Banks.

The senator said in her statement that the Senate security office in Washington, D.C., was also notified.

The senator's Austin office, located in the federal building in that city, had been broken into at least two times earlier, Mrs. Hutchison's office said, with damage to equipment and attempts to access a computer system.

"Constituent and issue files have also been tampered with in the Austin office," the statement said. "These break-ins have also been reported to the Federal Protective Service."

The senator's office said it was taking steps to increase security.

Colin Powell expects to seek new service after rest, family time

By SUSANNE M. SCHAFER
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Gen. Colin Powell says he can walk away from his high-powered Pentagon job without regrets but feels a responsibility to return to public life to help America's minority youth.

"I feel, just as an American citizen, and because of the position I have reached, I think there will be an obligation on me to do something in public life," Powell said Thursday during a 45-minute interview. "So while I am going out to acquire something of a private life again and spend more time with my family and get off stage for a while, I think in due course I would like to be seen as serving the nation in some way."

Powell, the first black chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, retires Sept. 30 after 35 years in uniform. Born in the Harlem section of New York City and raised in the South Bronx by parents who immigrated from Jamaica, Powell attended City College of New York, rose through Army ranks and forged an extraordinary career as a key member of Washington's decision-making circles.

But the 56-year-old Powell said that after taking some time to write his memoirs and enjoy private life with his family, he will be ready to re-enter the public arena.

While such a move "does not suggest politics to me right now," Powell added that he won't rule out any options for his future.

Powell became familiar to America during televised briefings on the Panama invasion and the Persian Gulf War and his stock as a potential political candidate is high.

The four-star general says he has no regrets about leaving his role as the nation's top military officer "because I've tried everything I've wanted to get done. ... I would have regretted it if there was something I should have made a run at, but didn't."

Powell said even though he wasn't successful in everything he tried to do "I learned the lesson over the years, do as much as you can in the time you have available, with the energy you have available and then you move on and let others come behind you and they will build on your good ideas."

"I always walk out. I never look back," he added.

Powell said he intends to tell his designated successor as JCS chairman, Army Gen. John Shalikashvili, to "follow his instincts," get a good staff, have a good time and not worry about how Powell did the job.

Pressed to elaborate on what kind of work he might take up, he said, "I don't know yet. I'm getting off the stage for a while and then I'll figure it out."

Powell graduated from CCNY with a geology degree and an ROTC Army commission. He was wounded twice in Vietnam.

He rose quickly in the military, gaining the attention of many in Washington. President Reagan appointed Powell his national security adviser in 1987, and President Bush named him chairman of the Joint Chiefs in 1989.

The general chatted amiably with AP reporters during the interview in his Pentagon office, relaxing with a black mug emblazoned with a Volvo logo. Powell is an avid restorer of old Volkswagens.

Powell's memoirs, for which he's receiving a reported $6 million, won't be a "kiss-and-tell," he said.

"I have had a wonderful life. I've had a great experience in the military, and ... I want to put my side down on a number of the issues I've been involved in over the years," he said.

Blueprint for health reform starts rounds in Congress

By CHRISTOPHER CONNELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Clinton's blueprint for health reform aims to restrain soaring medical costs by limiting premium increases and applying heavy pressure on doctors, hospitals and drug makers to hold down their fee increases.

It also would demand that the pharmaceutical industry provide rebates to Medicare for prescription drugs sold to the nation's elderly, as is now the case with drug sales to Medicaid for the poor.

The White House had been holding the 240-page draft document under tight wraps but began circulating copies on Capitol Hill on Thursday after Hillary Rodham Clinton met separately with Democratic and Republican leaders.

The Associated Press obtained a copy Thursday night.

The document shows health spending actually would rise faster for the next four years under Clinton's plan, before savings kick in.

It also indicates the administration will try to rein in private sector health spending even more than Medicare and Medicaid.

Mrs. Clinton, who led the effort to produce the still unfinished plan, was addressing a seminar of state legislators today on the need for reform.

The president's goal is to achieve universal coverage by 1998 and dramatically lower medical inflation by restructuring the entire U.S. health system, outlawing many common insurance industry practices and forcing every employer to pay a large share of workers' premiums.

The features, many of which had been known before, include:

- A standard package of benefits guaranteed to all Americans and legal residents but not illegal aliens.
- Coverage for hospital and doctor bills, drugs, emergency care, preventive services, hospitals and other services, including extensive mental health benefits.
- The 37 million people now without insurance would all be covered as states joined the new system, starting in 1995 and no later than Dec. 31, 1997.
- Most businesses and individuals would get their coverage through new, regional alliances set up in every state. Only corporations with more than 5,000 employees could operate health plans outside these alliances.
- There would be $105 billion in new taxes on cigarettes and possibly alcohol. Some of that money could come from an unspecified "corporate assessment."

Mock trial jury locked in 'ballot box 13' case

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Even with 45 years of hindsight, a mock trial jury still couldn't come to a decision on one of Texas' most infamous political episodes.

So the mystery of "ballot box 13" remains unsolved.

A seven-woman, five-man jury failed Wednesday night to reach a verdict on the controversy surrounding the final 202 votes cast in Jim Wells County in the 1948 U.S. Senate runoff.

Lyndon B. Johnson defeated former Gov. Coke Stevenson in that election by 87 votes after Box 13 was turned in six days late.

The mock trial "Absence of Ballots" centered around the mysterious disappearance of the voter list. The final 202 names were written in different ink than those of the first 741 voters casting ballots at the polling place, and some of the 202 reportedly were dead.

The case was acted out by local public figures as a fundraiser for Texas Public Radio. Joe Krier portrayed Stevenson, John Pickney played Johnson and Texas Supreme Court Justice Rose Spector presided.

Attorney Frank Herrera, who represented Stevenson, presented surprise witness Roberto Escamilla, who actually voted in Box 13 in the 1948 race.

Herrera displayed Escamilla's poll tax receipt as proof.

During the mostly humorous mock testimony, Escamilla said he saw legendary political boss George Parr writing names off of gravestones. But Herrera later confessed that he "led the witness" in his testimony.

Lotto winner shook, but held onto money

AUSTIN (AP) - A woman who says she normally doesn't buy lottery tickets was the sole winner of the state's $38.6 million lotto jackpot.

The prize was the largest taken by one person since the game began in Texas last year.

"I usually don't play Lotto, but my husband Eddie said 'be sure to stop and buy your tickets,'" said Rebecca Brown, 39.

Mrs. Brown said she learned around midnight that she'd won. The couple left for Austin about 3 a.m. to get to the lottery offices early.

The Browns said they intend to keep the auto body shop they own but will shift responsibility for running it to their 24-year-old son, who plays in a Dallas rock band called Divine Tragedy.

Brown said that he didn't know how they'd spend the money but that they are considering a trip to Australia.

"Are you going to visit it or buy it?" laughed state Comptroller John Sharp.

Mrs. Brown collected her first payment of $1.9 million Thursday and will get 19 more.

"I shook. And then I shook some more. And then I sat down and shook," Mrs. Brown said of her discovery that she'd won. "Then I went and I woke my husband up."

The previous record for the largest jackpot given to one person was held by Janie Kallus of Schulenberg, who won $21.7 million in November 1992.

"After taxes, it's about $100,000 a month for the next 20 years," said Sharp, who presented Mrs. Brown with the check.

Mrs. Brown said the winning numbers - 1, 17, 18, 21, 29, and 39 - were selected by the "quick pick" computer, which chooses numbers at random.

Twenty-five of the 30 tickets she bought for the drawing were "quick pick" tickets, she said.

Mrs. Brown bought the winning ticket from a drug store in Irving. The store will receive $386,000 for selling the ticket.

Church News

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

This Sunday, the church congregation will be celebrating Children's Sunday.

Sixth grader Lisa Coneway will lead the congregation as lay liturgist and Eddie Trotter, a fifth grader, will give the offertory prayer. Darren Sliney, Ashley Henson, Bethany Williams and Kathy Higgins will be the morning ushers.

"Have You Heard?" will be the anthem sung by the children in tune-up for Sunday school, while a special piano selection will be played by Holly Coneway. Mrs. Simpson's third grade students will be moving up and recognized with a gift of a children's Bible: Heather Calkins, Kylie Carter, Seth Hatley, Stephanie Henson, Wayne Milam and Taylor Tankersley.

Serving as acolytes for the service will be Tait Gripp, Shelly Kindrick and Michael Calaway. The children's sermon will be given by Margaret Williams, the fourth grade Sunday school teacher.

Older church youth will begin their week with a breakfast at 8:45 a.m. Sunday at Troy's Sweet Shop. They will attend Sunday school at 9:30 a.m. and the Sunday morning worship service at 10:45. The youth choir will meet at 5 p.m. Sunday and the UMYF snack supper is scheduled at 6 p.m. The regular meeting will be held from 6:30-7:30 p.m. At 7 p.m. Wednesday, there will be a youth Bible study in the fellowship hall. All youth are invited to attend these functions.

The children's choirs are beginning with Sunshine and Carol choirs which meet on Mondays at 4 p.m. and 5 p.m., respectively. On Tuesdays at 6 p.m., the Jubilate Ringers meet and the Carillon Ringers meet at 4 p.m. each Wednesday.

The Boy Scout and Girl Scout Troops are convening for the school year. G.S.A. Troop 281 will meet each Monday at 5:30 p.m. and the G.S.A. Troop 283 will meet at 4:30 p.m. each Tuesday in the fellowship hall. B.S.A. Troop 52 will meet at 7 p.m. each Monday and Pack 50 will assemble at 7:30 p.m.

Don't forget the district conference at San Jacinto UMC in Amarillo from 3-5 p.m. Sunday. All interested persons are invited to attend along with members of the administrative board.

Women of the church are invited to a Saturday brunch at 10 a.m. Sept. 11 in the fellowship hall. The program will be given by Mildred Twilla of Lubbock.

Everyone is invited to attend the special worship service Sunday morning which includes many of the children in leadership roles who will be assisting Rev. Joe Wood. The title for the service will be "My Faith-My Church." Services begin at 10:45 a.m.

ST. ANTHONY'S CATHOLIC CHURCH

There will be a parish softball tournament beginning at 1 p.m. Sunday in the parish ballpark.

The Christian Formation Classes will be held each Wednesday evening beginning at 7 for youths in seventh through 12th grades and on Saturdays from 1-4 p.m. for children in K-5 through the sixth grades.

All junior and senior high school students need to register for the Christian Formation Classes at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 15. The classes will include self-development courses each month and teachings by the pastor on various topics.

This fall, the parish is offering scripture classes at 9:30 a.m. each Wednesday and 7 a.m. each Friday in the Antonian Room. They will be taught by Monsignor Orville Blum.

Vegetables are needed for the school cafeteria. For more information, call 364-1952.

The Raymond Flores family is having a Mexican dinner from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 18, at the Hereford Community Center. Tickets are $4 per person and take out orders will be available. Anyone wishing to make donations toward the Flores family is asked to contact Annette at 364-6150.

Refreshments will be served Sept. 18-19 on the church lawn following the liturgies.

The Parish Activity Center Committee and Friends will conduct a fund raising breakfast from 9:30-11 a.m. Sunday. Tickets for the all-you-can-eat pancake and sausage meal are priced at $3.50 for adults; $2.50 for children 10 years of age and under; and children under five years of age may eat free of charge.

Beginning Experience is planned Sept. 24 at the Bishop DeFalco Retreat Center in Amarillo. Call Becky Sanderson at 364-5813 if you are interested in attending this program designed to help people "begin life anew," following loss in a separation, divorce or death of a spouse.

ST. THOMAS EPISCOPAL CHURCH

"Judgement...Anger...Forgiveness" is the title of the sermon by the Rev. Charles A. Wilson on the Fifteenth Sunday after Pentecost and is based on the appointed lectionary readings for the day. The Holy Eucharist is celebrated at 11 a.m. and there will be a parish potluck dinner after the service.

This Sunday also marks the beginning of an Inquirers' Class during the Adult Christian Education hour at 9:30 a.m. The class is intended for all who wish to know more about the Episcopal Church and the Anglican Communion; for those who are preparing for the Sacrament of Confirmation; and for those who want to have a refresher course on the faith and practice of the Episcopal Church. All interested persons are invited to attend.

The regular Wednesday Public Service of Healing is at 7 p.m. with the Litany of Healing, the Laying-on-of-Hands with Holy Unction and Holy Communion. Holy Cross Day, a major feast, will be observed.

On Sunday, Sept. 19, the Rt. Rev. Sam B. Hulsey, bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Northwest Texas, will make his annual visitation to St. Thomas. For this Sunday only, the principal service will be at 4 p.m. with Bishop Hulsey as the presiding celebrant and preacher at the Holy Eucharist at which time he will administer the Sacrament of Confirmation. A reception in the parish hall will follow the service.

CHRIST'S CHURCH FELLOWSHIP

CCF is a fellowship of churches committed to faith guideposts that will "teach, direct and mold us into a people of faith, love and purpose." One guidepost is to "lift up Christ: His person, His life, His teachings, His ministry." CCF believes in calling the church to integrity and authenticity while teaching the fullness of the Holy Spirit.

Sunday school is held at 9:30 a.m. and the morning worship service at the church, located at 401 W. Park Ave., begins at 10:45.

This Sunday morning, CCF will be welcoming a prospective pastor and his family. There will be a hamburger cookout after the morning church service. Each family needs to bring two of either beans, salad, chips, dip, dessert or relish plate.

The Christian Youth Club will resume with the new school year. The first meeting is planned from 4:30-6:30 p.m. Sept. 15. If you have any questions or would like to help, please contact Cindy Cole.

There will be a "hoe down" at 11 and Cindy Cole's barn Sept. 18. Bring a box supper for your family and wear western attire.

During the Sunday morning service, Pastor Ted Taylor's sermon is entitled "The Greatest Teacher of All." All professional teachers will be honored.

"The Church on Fire--Martyrdom Hits the Early Church", taken from Acts 6-7, will be the topic of Pastor Taylor's sermon Sunday evening.

There will be a brief teen/parent meeting following the Sunday evening service.

There will be a men's fellowship breakfast at 7 a.m. Saturday in the fellowship hall.

Monty Smith's group, Lions Share, will have a concert at 7 p.m. Saturday in the sanctuary.

We will have a special Teachers Appreciation Sunday. All professional school teachers are invited and will be honored on this special day.

NCA will have a PTF meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the sanctuary.

All men are invited to attend the men's Monday night football big screen night in the fellowship hall.

Pastor Taylor is conducting a class at 7 p.m. each Wednesday this month entitled "Growing Kids God's Way." This will help answer those thousands of questions you have about raising your kids in the world we live in today.

There will be a NCA girls volleyball game at 4:30 p.m. Sept. 16 in the gym.

Attention all teens: We will be having a beach bash from 7-11 p.m. Friday, Sept. 17, in the gym.

IMMANUEL LUTHERAN CHURCH

Sunday school for all ages begins at 10 a.m. at the church located at 100 Ave. B.

This will be a very special Sunday for our Sunday school. We are dedicating our new educational building during the worship service. The children of the church will be taking part in the special service.

A light lunch will be served after the service of dedication. Please make your plans to attend this service. Transportation is available if needed by calling 364-1667 or 364-1668.

The sermon text for the dedication and rally day service will come from Hebrews 10:19-25. For anyone who would care to attend, there will be a special Mission Rally at Hope Lutheran Church in Lubbock at 3 p.m. Sunday. Guest speakers will include the Rev. Gerald Kieschnick, Rev. Kenneth Hinnings and Rev. Glen O'Shoney. This should be a very memorable event.

DAWN BAPTIST CHURCH

This Saturday and Sunday the church will be celebrating its 50th anniversary. All former members, members and friends are invited.

Saturday we will meet at the Community Center from 2-6 p.m. (come and go) for snacks and fellowship. Bring your old photographs and stories.

On Sunday, our day will begin at 9:30 a.m. with all the adults meeting in the fellowship hall for a scripture lesson by Jerry Stewart. Coffee and donuts will be served and there will be time for visiting. Worship will begin at 10:45 a.m. and Charles Davenport will be preaching.

After the Sunday morning service, we will have a catered meal in the Community Center. At 1:45 p.m., we will have an afternoon program which will include a video of our first 50 years, music, remembrances from former pastors and much more. We will not have an evening service.

Come join us for a wonderful time of worship.

Experienced QB leads PD attack

The Hereford Whitefaces, 0-1 at night, will try to even up their record with a matinee Saturday in Amarillo. The Herd takes on Palo Duro at 2 p.m. in Dick Bivins Stadium.

Palo Duro, 39-32 winners over Odessa High last week, has some frightening players.

"They're big; they're fast; and they've got a pretty ill disposition," said Herd coach Danny Haney, summing up the Dons. "They've got a quarterback back who is a three year starter: Jermaine Gilbreath (number 2). He's a great football player. He can run and throw, and he hurt us last year in our game. And they've got two guards who weigh 302 (senior Jason Jones, 70) and 310 pounds (sophomore Chris Brown, 77)."

The Dons are without big fullback Gary Brown, who rumbled for 130 yards and two touchdowns in last year's 44-19 PD win, but Gilbreath's maturation as a quarterback makes up for it on their offense.

"Their offensive team is probably a little better it was last year," Haney said. "Their execution is a little bit better now, and Gilbreath being a senior has brought him to the front."

Gilbreath passed for 153 yards and ran for 56 in last year's meeting with the Herd, and this year he's more the focus of the offense. Against Odessa High, he ran for 113 yards and a TD and threw for 91 and a score.

"Defensively, they're not giants: they average 210 (pounds) across the line and 190 in the linebackers," Haney said. "Their linebackers are the best part of their game." Haney named Ratt Makkhavana (54) and Tyrin Frazier (43).

"One of their best players is one of their smaller players: D.J. Erwin (a 160-pound defensive end who wears number 40)," Haney said.

"Their defense does a good job of running to the football and getting off the blocks," he said. "We've got to take advantage of the secondary; they're a little green back there."

Haney sees that as a chance for the Herd's passing game to improve more.

"We've got to raise it another level," he said. "We've got to expand on it a little in terms of what PD has, the speed they have, particularly (throwing) to our backs."

Hereford should be able to score against the PD defense. The key is to keep Gilbreath and the PD offense from going wild.

"For us to be successful against Palo Duro, it's the same as it's always been: we've got to cut the big plays to a minimum. We've got to make them line up and snap the ball again."

And if it's close at the end Haney will have confidence.

"Traditionally, when we've been close at the end, we've been able to win," he said.

Injury report--Three key players are recovering from ankle or knee sprains and should be ready for Palo Duro: defensive lineman Ray Hastings, linebacker Chris Vallejo and cornerback Chad Carlile.

Players of the week--Fullback Justin Wright (35 yards rushing, 19 receiving) and quarterback Elias Reyna (8-for-19 for 114 yards passing) shared the honors on offense, and linebacker Chris Vallejo got the honor on defense.

Players of the week for the sub-varsity teams were not selected last week.

District 1-4A--Caprock got into the win column Thursday with a 14-6 win over Dimmitt at Bivins Stadium in Amarillo. Caprock's Derrick Gardner returned a fumble 88 yards, killing a Dimmitt threat and setting up a Caprock touchdown.

The rest of the teams in Hereford's District 1-4A are in action tonight: Pampa hosts Amarillo High; Dumas hosts Lamar, Colo.; Borger visits Tascosa; and Randall visits Levelland.

Vega varsity turns back Hereford JV

The Vega varsity football beat the Hereford junior varsity 34-0 Thursday in Vega.

Hereford turned the ball over at least three times, according to coach Craig Yenzer.

"Defensively, we played pretty well," Yenzer said. "We struggled a little bit on offense. We made way too many mistakes: missed assignments, fumbles. I was proud of the kids in the second half. They corrected a lot of their mistakes. They did drive the ball offensively they just didn't get the ball in the end zone."

Vega led 14-0 after one quarter and 20-0 at the half, Yenzer said, then added two touchdowns in the fourth quarter.

Vega's last score may have given the Longhorns some ironic satisfaction. Vega lost to the Herd JV last year when the Herd held on a last minute goal line stand and won 20-14.

This year, Hereford again made a goal line stand and recovered a fumble at the one-foot line. However, Hereford fumbled it back, and Vega recovered for a touchdown.

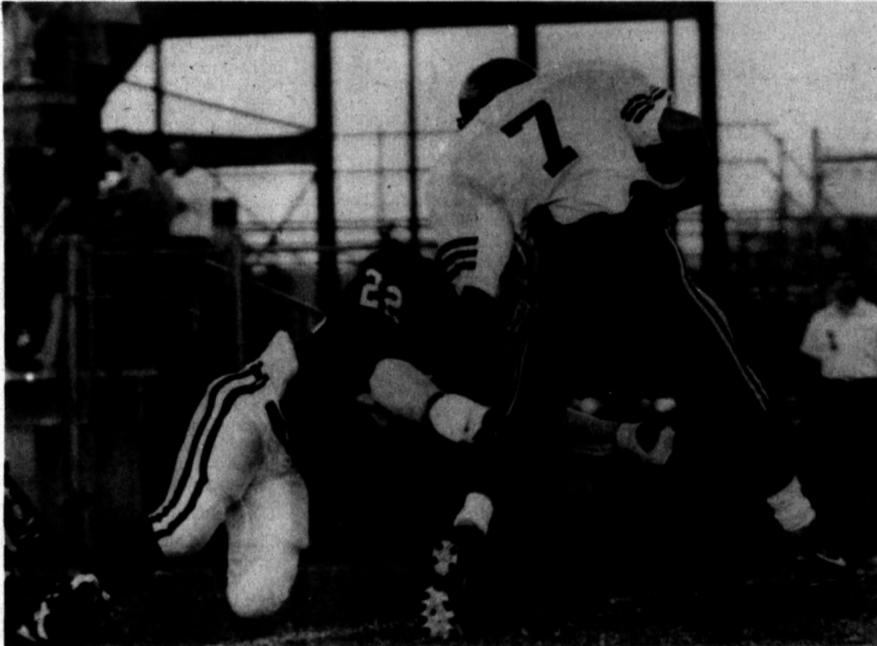

Hereford's other sub-varsity teams got wins Thursday in Hereford.

Herd sophomores 19, Palo Duro 6
Hereford got touchdowns on a 14-yard run by John Emerson, an end zone fumble recovery by Roger Flores and a 41-yard pass to Jeb Skiles from Wade McPherson. Ralph Claudio kicked an extra point.

A 25-yard run by Palo Duro in the fourth quarter spoiled the shutout.

Herd A freshmen 24, Randall 8
Hereford's four touchdowns came on Anthony Puente's eight-yard run; Sonny Perez' 45-yard interception return; Josh Alvarado's three-yard run; and Ruben Flores' 30-yard pass reception from Joseph Artho.

Herd B freshmen 22, Randall 0
Hereford got three short touchdown runs from Alfredo Penalber. He ran for two two-point conversions, too.

Player of the week

Hereford linebacker Chris Vallejo, shown tackling Tascosa's Clint Falk (7) for a loss, was named the Herd's defensive player of the week. Quarterback Elias Reyna and fullback Justin Wright got the honor on offense.

Pitman to aerify greens

The grounds staff at Pitman Municipal Golf Course will be aerifying the greens next week, and it will limit play Monday and Tuesday.

Youth win Amarillo tennis tournament

Two Hereford youth won their divisions at the Tri-State tennis tournament, held over the Labor Day weekend in Amarillo.

Chris Cory won the 14 boys division, and Bri Reinauer won the 18 girls division.

Braves move to one game behind Giants

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer

Each day, San Francisco's lead in the NL West seems to get smaller. Now, the rest of the league is wondering what the Giants have been worrying about: Can anyone stop the Atlanta Braves?

The Braves, 7-1/2 games behind San Francisco on Aug. 22 and on the verge of falling out of the race, trimmed the deficit to one game Thursday night. Atlanta beat San Diego 1-0 in 10 innings, while the Giants lost to St. Louis 9-4.

"The Giants have held their own to this point and it's not over, but when you have the kind of pitching the Braves have and add Fred McGriff, that seemed to be the spark that they needed," St. Louis' Ozzie Smith said. "It's all falling into place for them. It's unfortunate for the Giants because they've had some injuries."

Ron Gant's 32nd home run gave Atlanta its 24th victory in 29 games. The Braves have been winning because of pitching, and won again that way with a combined one-hitter in San Diego.

In other games, Philadelphia defeated Chicago 10-8, Colorado beat Pittsburgh 10-7 in 12 innings and Los Angeles downed Florida 6-5 in 10 innings.

Kent Mercker, making a rare start, was pulled after six no-hit innings. Mark Wohlers gave up a check-swing single with two outs in the eighth to Luis Lopez - his first major league hit - and Greg McMichael (2-3) pitched the last two innings.

On Sept. 11, 1991, also against the Padres, Mercker teamed with Wohlers and Alejandro Pena to pitch the NL's only combined no-hitter.

The Atlanta trio was trying to pitch baseball's third no-hitter of the week. Jim Abbott did it for the New York Yankees on Saturday and Darryl Kile pitched one for Houston on Wednesday.

Gant helped preserve the no-hit bid with a leaping catch against the left field wall on a drive by Lopez in the sixth.

In the 10th, Gant matched his career high for home runs with a one-out shot against Trevor Hoffman (4-6).

Cardinals 9, Giants 4

St. Louis chased Jim Deshaies (1-1) with three runs in the second inning, and Todd Zeile's grand slam highlighted a six-run sixth at Candlestick Park.

Rene Arocha (11-6) left after Matt Williams' 32nd homer, a two-run shot in the eighth. The drive came after the Cardinals' fourth error.

Phillies 10, Cubs 8

Lenny Dykstra homered twice and drove in a career-high five runs as the Phillies stopped a three-game losing streak on fight night in Philadelphia.

Darren Daulton had four hits and drove in three runs for the Phillies. The Cubs, who trailed 9-2 after three innings, got a two-run homer from Glenallen Hill in the ninth, then left runners at second and third.

Dykstra hit a three-run homer in the second inning and a two-run shot, his 18th, in the third. Mariano Duncan, the next batter, was brushed back by Frank Castillo and charged the mound. The benches and bullpens emptied, and Castillo got out on his non-pitching hand.

Danny Jackson (12-10) was the winner and David West got two outs for his third save. Jose Bautista (7-3) lasted only 1 1-3 innings.

Dodgers 6, Marlins 5

Los Angeles lost Orel Hershiser to an early injury, then won the game at Dodger Stadium in the 10th inning on Tom Goodwin's two-out single.

Hershiser was hit in the back of the right hand by a pair of line drives. He stayed in after being struck by Orestes DeStrade's shot in the second inning, but came out after Benito Santiago's drive hit him in the same place.

Hershiser was scheduled for X-rays today.

Santiago's solo home run in the ninth tied it for Florida. In the 10th, third baseman Gary Sheffield made his second error of the game and Goodwin singled.

Rick Tricek (1-2) pitched the 10th for his first major league victory. Matt Turner (5-4) took the loss.

Rockies 10, Pirates 7

Winning pitcher Gary Wayne grounded a two-run single in his first at-bat in the majors, helping Colorado pull away in the 12th inning at Pittsburgh.

Joe Girardi's RBI triple with two outs in the ninth inning tied it for the Rockies.

Jerald Clark singled home the go-ahead run in the 12th. Wayne borrowed one of Daryl Boston's bats and singled.

Wayne (5-3) pitched two innings. Joel Johnston (2-3) took the loss.

Jays drop sixth straight

TORONTO (AP) - A first-place team, even one merely tied for the top spot, usually doesn't have to look hard for positives. The Toronto Blue Jays are.

They lost their season-high sixth straight game Thursday night when Oakland won 7-4 for its first road series sweep of the season. The Blue Jays are tied for first with the New York Yankees, and Baltimore is just one-half game back in third. New York and Baltimore were idle Thursday.

"As poorly as we've played lately, we're still tied for first place," Toronto's John Olerud said. "I guess if we're trying to find something positive, it's the fact that the Yankees haven't played very well either."

The Yankees were just swept in a three-game series at Texas, and the Orioles have won nine of 10.

"With the way their pitching is shaping up, they could be the team to beat," Oakland's Troy Neel said of Baltimore after delivering the two-out ninth-inning single that broke a 4-4 tie.

The Athletics certainly haven't played the last three games like the league's worst team. They rallied in the first two games of the series and won them all in the final inning.

In the only other AL games on Thursday night, California beat Detroit 6-0 and Minnesota needed 12 innings to beat Cleveland 5-3.

With the score 4-4 at Toronto, the Blue Jays' Tony Castillo (3-2) walked Scott Hemond to lead off the ninth, and Jerry Browne sacrificed him to second.

Dave Henderson flied out and Ruben Sierra was walked intentionally before Neel singled. Brent Gates added a two-run double to close the scoring as Oakland swept its first road series since winning four at Texas Aug. 3-6, 1992.

Roger Smithberg (1-0) pitched one inning and Dennis Eckersley retired the side in order in the ninth for his 31st save.

Kurt Abbott collected his first major league hit, a two-run homer off Jack Morris that put the Athletics up 3-0 in the fourth.

Abbott barely had time to enjoy his first hit when he sent a run-scoring single to left in his next at-bat for a 4-2 lead in the sixth.

Pat Borders drove in three runs for the Blue Jays, following Olerud's run-scoring double in the fourth with an RBI single, and pulling the Blue Jays even at 4-4 with a two-run single off Edwin Nunez in the sixth.

The game featured the first meeting between Steve Karsay and Rickey Henderson, the key players in the trade between the clubs last month.

Karsay came out on top, getting Henderson to line out softly in his first at-bat, then inducing two routine groundouts in Henderson's next two at-bats.

The Blue Jays have had two teams meetings in the last three days, but nothing seems to be working right now.

"We haven't played and pitched well lately. The only thing I can say is we're still in first place," manager Cito Gaston said.

But they're not alone.

Baylor has no time to celebrate with Colorado Buffs coming up

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer

There is plenty to celebrate for the Baylor Bears this week but rookie head coach Chuck Reedy will have none of it.

The Bears made a thrilling comeback to beat Fresno State last week and earned a No. 24 ranking in The Associated Press college football poll but Reedy and the Bears got right back to business.

The approaching visit by No. 10 ranked Colorado has something to do with Reedy's serious mood.

"We didn't have long to celebrate the win over Fresno State," Reedy said. "We were already worried Sunday night after looking at Colorado game tapes."

No. 5 Texas A&M will visit No. 17 Oklahoma, still with no word from the NCAA about the suspensions of five players, including running back Greg Hill, for accepting pay for summer jobs they did not perform.

It's becoming a tired subject with A&M coach R.C. Slocum.

"I'm anxious for me, but I'm anxious for the players, too," Slocum said. "They've gone nine months where they've had their names in various media outlets almost on a daily basis. I'm anxious for them to find out what their futures are."

In other games: Texas Tech plays at No. 9 Nebraska; Rice hosts Tulane; Houston hosts Tulsa; Wisconsin is at Southern Methodist; and Texas Christian hosts New Mexico. Texas has an open date.

Colorado will try to add its second SWC victim in as many weeks after beating the Texas Longhorns last week.

Reedy, offensive coordinator under former coach Grant Teaff, turned the job over to Jack Crowe, former Arkansas head coach, and he likes the way quarterback J.J. Joe and Crowe have worked together.

"I had a chance to work with J.J. at quarterback but Jack Crowe has done a fabulous job in getting him ready to play this season," Reedy said. "Jack has J.J. getting into the deeper mental aspects of the game. Jack is really a great football mind."

Houston initiated Kim Helton's head coaching career with a 49-7 loss to Southern California a week ago, leaving Helton desperate to avoid an 0-2 start.

"I'm not sure how much I make a month but I'd give a month's salary away if we win," Helton said.

Helton expects the Hurricane to come out throwing in Saturday's noon kickoff. USC passed for 292 yards against Houston's defense.

"If I watched a team and they can't rush the passer and can't cover the curl, I know I would throw," Helton said.

The Red Raiders are beginning the rugged part of their schedule, beginning Saturday at Nebraska and followed by games against Georgia, Baylor, Texas A&M and North Carolina State.

"This is a real opportunity for us," Tech coach Spike Dykes said. "We have the utmost respect for Nebraska because of the kind of quality teams Tom Osborne has been putting on the field for so many years."

"The scary thing is, Nebraska has 182 people on the team, and 119 played against North Texas (last week)."

SMU couldn't overcome its own mistakes in last week's 10-6 loss to Arkansas and Coach Tom Rossley has made re-injuring miscues a project.

"If we reduce our penalties in the second half, and hold back the busted assignments, in a young offense line, we have a chance to win," Rossley said.

TCU coach Pat Sullivan also is concerned with turnovers.

"We completed 22 of 38 passes but three of them were to the wrong team," Sullivan said. "You have those mistakes when you have a young quarterback."

Rice is looking for its first victory after losing to Ohio State a week ago and running back Yoncy Edmonds is looking for improvement as the replacement for departed Trevor Cobb.

"I'm going to ask to carry 20 times this week," Edmonds said. "If I would have carried more, I felt I could have gotten into a groove."

Georgia 'Dawgs face trouble in Tennessee

By The Associated Press

Georgia knew the second week of the schedule would be trouble; a trip to Tennessee always is.

It got a lot more troubling when the first week didn't go as scheduled and the Bulldogs lost at home.

A 23-21 loss to South Carolina last week and a visit Saturday to Neyland Stadium as a seven-point underdog to the nation's No. 8 team could add up to an 0-2 start for the 22nd-ranked Bulldogs.

"A lot of folks are saying if we lose to Tennessee we're out of it," Georgia coach Ray Goff said of the Southeastern Conference Eastern Division race. "I don't think there's any doubt that if you lose two, your backs are to the wall. But I think if you look at last year, I think you're very capable of winning the eastern side, or the western side for that matter, with two losses."

Georgia and Florida were both 6-2 in the conference last year and the Gators won the division because of their victory over the Bulldogs, only to lose to Alabama in the championship game.

Goff cited the eight-game conference schedule as a big reason why a loss or two isn't the end of the world.

"I think the worst thing you could do is say, 'Boy, it's over with' after one loss or two or even three," he said. "I think you've got to keep playing and let all that stuff unfold as it may."

The Top 25 schedule started Thursday night when No. 6 Syracuse beat East Carolina 41-22.

On Saturday the rest of the Top 25 plays except for No. 4 Miami and No. 25 Boston College, both idle this weekend.

Among the Top Ten it is No. 21 Clemson at No. 1 Florida State; Vanderbilt at No. 2 Alabama; No. 11 Notre Dame at No. 3 Michigan; No. 5 Texas A&M at No. 17 Oklahoma; No. 7 Florida at Kentucky; Texas Tech at No. 9 Nebraska; and No. 24 Baylor at No. 10 Colorado.

Among the rest it's No. 12 Washington at No. 16 Ohio State; Pacific at No. 13 Arizona; Maryland at No. 14 North Carolina; Southern Cal at No. 15 Penn State; No. 18 North Carolina State at Wake Forest;

with Mel Phillips

Looking for a good reason to visit New Mexico this fall? I strongly recommend a new nine-day fishing contest called Fish Fest '93. Headquartered at Eagle Nest Lake between Angel Fire and Red River in the beautiful Moreno Valley, this new fishing event promises to be fun for the entire family.

Between Sept. 11 and Sept. 19, a $10 entry fee will make you eligible to catch some tagged trout and win some great prizes. Three special tagged trout are each worth $50,000 cash. Catching other tagged trout will win a $7,000 elk hunt at the incredible East Moreno Ranch or hundreds of other valuable prizes.

The area around the Eagle Nest Lake will resemble a boom town, with plenty of good food, craft booths, street dances, hot air balloon races and crafts for the kids.

Pack up the old fishing pole, some new Berkeley Trout Nuggets, a trusty cowbell, a box of worms and drive over to Eagle Nest Lake. Fish Fest '93 starts at 6 a.m. on Sept. 11 and ends at noon on Sept. 19.

This fishing contest will benefit the Disabled American Veteran National Memorial in Angel Fire. Dr. Victor Westphal, founder of the DAV Memorial, is the honorary Festival Father.

According to my friend Ron Simmons at East Moreno Ranch, even if you don't catch a tagged trout, you can still win. A raffle for donated prizes will be drawn from the entry tickets each day. For complete rules and entry forms, call the Eagle Nest Chamber of Commerce at (505) 377-2420 or (505) 377-2567.

Congratulations to Jerry Graves of Claude for winning the September Fun Tournament on Lake Greenbelt. If his name sounds familiar, it should, because this marks his fourth victory in 1993. Canyon anglers Jim Simpson and Jay Friemel finished second and third, respectively. They also finished in that same order behind Graves at the August Fun Tournament! Each of these three anglers are a threat to win any tournament, and they are the masters of three different styles. Graves flips heavy line in the shoreline cactais, Simpson tosses finesse worms on light lines in open water, and Friemel uses a Carolina rig on secondary points.

Other bass tournaments that are open to the public include:
 Sept. 16--Thursday evening, Lake Meredith
 Oct. 2--Saturday, $2,000 Big Bass at Lake Baylor
 Oct. 9--Saturday, Lake Greenbelt Championship
 Oct. 16--Saturday, Lake Meredith Championship

Tip of the week--Get a new 1993-94 Texas Hunting and Fishing license because your old license expired on Sept. 1, 1993.

COLLEGE

No. 19 South Carolina at Arkansas; Hawaii at No. 20 Brigham Young; and San Jose State at No. 23 Stanford.

Tennessee opened the season last week with a 50-0 non-conference thrashing of Louisiana Tech. The Vols won at Georgia last season, 34-31.

"Certainly it's time for our team and staff to turn it up a notch," coach Phillip Fulmer said. "It takes on a lot of importance. We have goals, they have goals. That's why you come to Tennessee or go to Georgia, to play in these kinds of games. It's why you coach, to have a chance at these kinds of games. It's fun."

No. 6 Syracuse 41, East Carolina 22

Quarterback Marvin Graves accounted for five touchdowns as the Orangemen (2-0) improved to 12-1 on the road under coach Paul Pasqualoni. Graves threw for two touchdowns and ran for three more as he was 20-for-27 for 329 yards. The Pirates (0-1) trailed just 21-16 at halftime, but Graves completed all seven of his passes in the third quarter, and his 4-yard touchdown run midway through the period capped an 85-yard drive that gave Syracuse a 28-16 lead.

An Odd Record

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) - That's an odd record Louisiana State has in women's indoor track competition.

In the past seven years, the Tiger Ladies have the NCAA Division 1 title four times. On each occasion it has been a year ending in an odd number.

They triumphed in 1987, '89, '91, and '93. The stars of this year's team were Daphne Saunders and Danyl Mitchell, the champions in the long jump and shot put, respectively.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Thousands of women are now sweating out unwanted pregnancies because the media led them to believe that vasectomies can cause cancer.

This misleading conclusion was drawn after two studies reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association that there was a possible link between the sterilization procedure and prostate cancer, which is the second leading cause of cancer deaths among men. Thirty-two thousand men died of prostate cancer in the United States in 1991. That's the bad news. Now here is the good news:

According to a Reuters story, a prostate screening of 40,000 men has found NO evidence to support a possible link between cancer and vasectomies. Dr. E. David Crawford, chairman of the urology department at the University of Colorado, said the screening conducted last September during Prostate Cancer Awareness Week detected no increase in prostate cancer rates among the estimated 8,000 participants who had undergone vasectomies.

So please spread the good news, Ann. Vasectomy does NOT cause cancer.--San Antonio reader

DEAR SAN ANTONIO: Thank you for a letter that could make a big difference in the lives of a great many families. And thanks, too, for an opportunity to remind millions of readers, both men and women, to get a medical checkup every year. The body you now have must last you for the rest of your life. Take good care of it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is for the woman who had two boys and knew she was pregnant with another boy. She worried about what to say to people.

When I was pregnant with my second child, people said, "So you're trying for a boy, eh?" I answered, "No, it doesn't matter as long as it is healthy."

When I was pregnant a third time, one woman said, "Maybe if you're lucky, this time you'll get a boy." I said, "If I'm lucky, I'll have another healthy girl."

Two years ago, I had a miscarriage, and five months ago, I had my fourth child--a beautiful 7-pound boy. He was stillborn. I don't need to tell you how

I felt, but it didn't end there. One woman said, "Too bad. And it was a boy, too. Your poor husband. He must be very disappointed. All men want sons, you know."

I guess what I'm trying to say is this: Be thankful you have healthy children, no matter what the sex. Ignore the stupid remarks of ignorant and insensitive people.--Brisbane, Australia

DEAR BRISBANE: That woman needs a brain transplant, poor thing. I'm glad you don't let such thoughtless comments get to you. Bravo!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Over the years, you have warned millions of single women about the perils of dating separated, but still married, men. Let me add one more bit of personal testimony as a warning to all those vulnerable females who let themselves get sucked in by lies.

After six years of being patient and understanding, I was suddenly dumped by "Sam." It took me a long time to get over the hurt. Then guess what. I heard that Sam is finally getting that divorce so he can marry his new lady friend.

I am thoroughly embarrassed by my stupidity and would give anything if I could erase those sorry six years from my life. Now I pray daily that I will have the sense not to make the same mistake again.--Red-Faced But Wiser

DEAR RED: Experience, they say, is the best teacher, yet some people seem to need more experience than others before they get the message. Keep alert.

Hutchison's grand jury appearance creates media circus in Austin

By MICHAEL HOLMES
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN (AP) - U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison's appearance before the grand jury had everything she'd hoped to avoid: lights, cameras, signs, chants, cheers and jeers.

It added up to the "circus" the senator's aides said they didn't want when they were trying unsuccessfully to arrange a confidential date with the panel that's investigating possible wrongdoing at the state Treasury she headed for 2-1/2 years.

The Republican senator's camp has claimed the 3-month-long inquiry is politically motivated, Democratic District Attorney Ronnie Earle, they say, had wanted Gov. Ann Richards to appoint him to the Senate seat Mrs. Hutchison ultimately won.

The grand jury's low, gray building across from the Travis County Courthouse.

Earle had been typically terse as a chorus of boos rang out upon his arrival a short time before.

"The grand jury is working as hard as it can to come to a reasonable decision in this matter as soon as possible," he said.

Mrs. Hutchison's entrance sparked a chant of "We're with Kay, all the way" and "Travis County tyranny" from her supporters. Signs read, "Ronnie: Earle of Injustice" and "If you can't beat 'em, prosecute."

Dowd last week had claimed that Earle wanted to drag Mrs. Hutchison before the grand jury only to grab headlines. Dowd said he sought a confidential appearance date "in order to avoid the media circus that Mr. Earle seems intent on staging."

The sentiment was shared by Mrs. Hutchison's supporters, including the president of the University of Texas College Republicans, who said he'd been contacted by the senator's campaign.

"She's being railroaded," said Chris Betz of Austin. "We're here to bring support for Kay, to show her we care. We're not trying to sway the grand jury. We're trying to show public support."

Cowboy Symposium ranges far and wide

By JEAN PAGEL
Associated Press Writer
LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - Cowboys have clumped thick as mesquite this weekend to tell tales, scoot around the dance floor and recite poetry honoring their way of life.

Bright wool blankets, saddles, silver jewelry and books of cowboy lore were on display.

Sallye Day showed off her jalapeno jam and beer jellies.

"The cowboys laugh and say we've ruined the beer," the Lorenzo woman said.

The fifth annual National Cowboy Symposium and Celebration kicked off Thursday evening with a book fair, dance and exhibits.

Davis predicted humor, history and nostalgia will pervade the weekend.

He said cowboys inspired a myth known worldwide. That myth has changed little over the centuries, he said.

"The real genuine cowboy work is still done on horseback," he said.

"They may gather cattle with helicopter and other aides, but they still have to have the horse to get the job done."

Festivities that continue through Sunday include fiddling, calf roping and chuck wagon cookoffs over the open campfire.

"People have the Hollywood version in mind of... Gene Autry, the contemporary musician, all the show-biz types. It's been glamorized far beyond realism," said Alvin Davis, vice president of the Ranching Heritage Association at Texas Tech University.

"The real cowboy is just a working person who, you know, puts in long hours every day on the ranch for low pay," Davis said.

The symposium's chairman expected 100 poets, 75 musicians and 40 storytellers to perform for about 20,000 spectators.

Panellists were scheduled to discuss "Black Women in the West," "Movies and Television" and "Environmental Questions of the Day: Ranching Solutions." Leather and suede will dominate Saturday's style show.

"It's just fun," said Michael Andrews, an Arkansas artist hanging his watercolors in a booth at the Memorial Civic Center. "Even to the untrained ear, you know that these fellas have been what they're singing or reading about."

"It's laid back. Nobody's trying to impress anybody - they just are what they are."

The Newspaper BIBLE

IS YOUR GOD TOO SMALL?

"God, who knows men's hearts, confirmed the fact that He accepts Gentiles by giving them the Holy Spirit, just as He gave Him to us. He made no distinction between them and us, for He cleansed their lives through faith, just as He did ours. And now are you going to correct God by burdening the Gentiles with a yoke that neither we nor our fathers believe that all are saved the same way, by the free gift of the Lord Jesus?"

There was no further discussion, and everyone now listened as Barnabas and Paul told about the miracles God had done through them among the Gentiles.

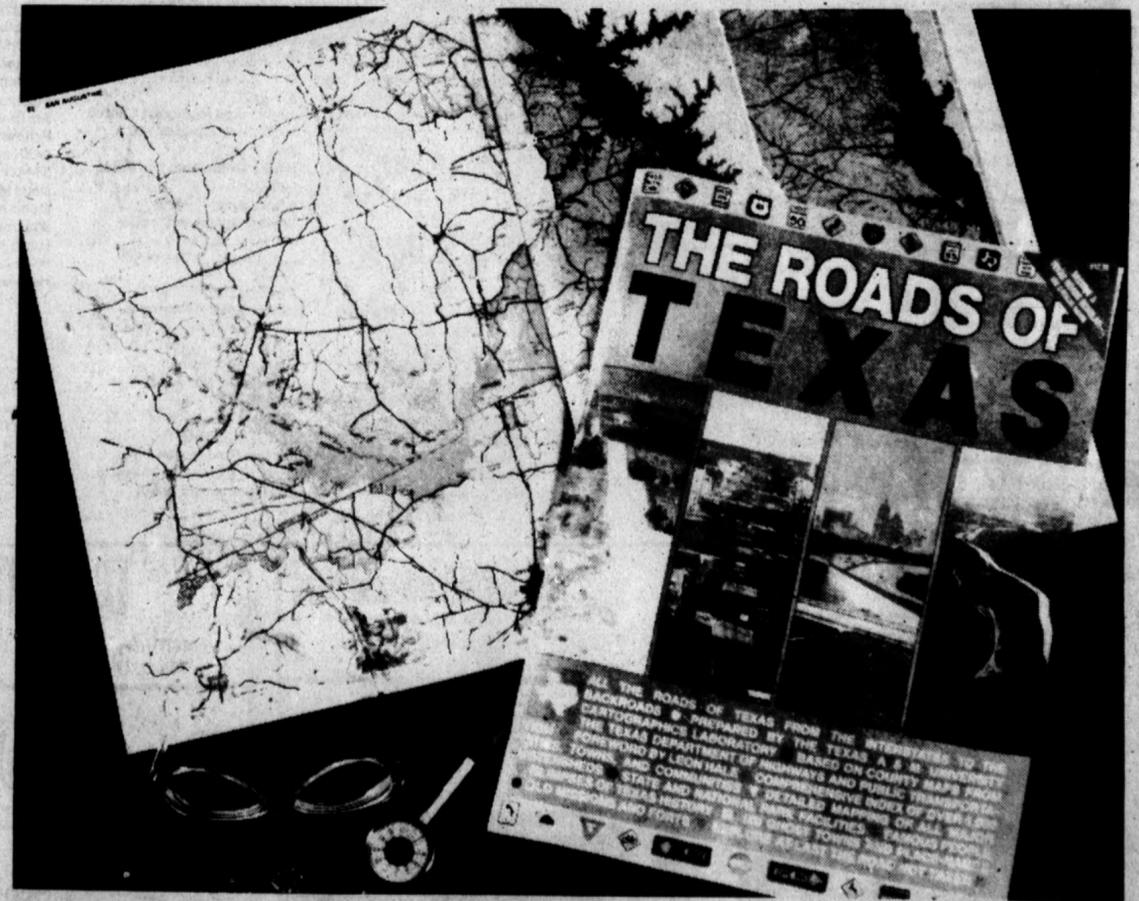

When they had finished, James took the floor. "Brothers," he said, "listen to me. Peter has told you about the time God first visited the Gentiles to take from them a people to bring honor to His name. And this fact of Gentile conversion agrees with what the prophets predicted. For instance, listen to this passage from the prophet Amos: 'Afterwards' says the Lord, 'I will return and renew the broken contract with David, so that Gentiles, too, will find the Lord -- all those marked with My name.'

"That is what the Lord says, who reveals His plans made from the beginning. And so my judgment is that we should not insist that the Gentiles who turn to God must obey our Jewish laws, except that we should write to them to refrain from eating meat sacrificed to idols, from all fornication, and also from eating unbled meat of strangled animals. For these things have been preached against in Jewish synagogues in every city on every Sabbath for many generations." Acts 15:8-21

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

WHEN KINGS DIFFER!

AS KING JOASH HAD VOWED, HE WILL NOT DIMINISH HIS PURSUIT OF KING AMAZIAH'S ARMY UNTIL HIS OWN SOLDIER'S FEET ARE TREADING ON THE PAVEMENT OF JERUSALEM!!..

ALTHOUGH HE PLUNDERED JERUSALEM, EVEN TO DESECRATING THE SACRED INSTRUMENTS OF THE TEMPLE, AND BROKE DOWN FOUR HUNDRED CUBITS OF THE CITY WALL, JOASH RESTORED AMAZIAH TO HIS THRONE. HOWEVER, AMAZIAH'S DAYS AS A RULER WERE NUMBERED. INDUCED BY THE DISGRACE WHICH HE HAD BROUGHT UPON JUDAH, HE WAS SLAIN BY CONSPIRATORS SHORTLY THEREAFTER!
