Fire official: CRP creating 'a monster'

AMARILLO (AP) - A federal soil conservation program is proving expensive for volunteer fire departments which end up fighting fires on land that farmers and the government are trying to preserve.

The Conservation Reserve Program gives farmers money for taking land out of production and letting the vegetation grow for 10 years.

But those untouched fields and their tall, lush grass become a fire danger during dry periods, said Alan Fondy, field consultant for the State Firemen's and Fire Marshals' Association of Texas.

"It's probably real good for farmers," he said, "but it's creating a monster for volunteer firefighters."

The lush growth helps grass fires start more often, spread faster and burn hotter. They also require more equipment and manpower to fight, he said.

"We've lost firefighters in this stuff, and we've lost equipment in this stuff," Fondy said.

Thom Williams, district conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service, said, however, that the soil program can keep Texas from losing millions of acres of soil to wind and rain.

In the Panhandle, where about 1 million acres are in the conservation program, soil loss normally would occur at an average annual rate of about 10 tons per acre. He said the program cuts the average to about 1 ton per acre annually.

Departments can get help for new equipment through the Texas Forest Service, but only about $250,000 is available statewide each year to help Texas volunteers purchase equipment.

"That money doesn't go very far in a state that has about 2,000 volunteer fire departments," said Bill Terry, head of training in the Fire Control Department of the state Forest Service.

Federal legislation has been proposed that could result in the state Forest Service receiving about $2 million annually from the federal government for helping departments get needed equipment.

The bill is not related directly to the program's situation, said Sam Taylor, agriculture aide for Congressman Claude Harris, D-Ala., who sponsored the legislation. The legislation is related to the problem of all wild fires, he said, a situation worsened from drought in some areas of the nation.

The bill might have a beneficial side effect and ease the dilemma for Texas volunteers, Terry said, referring to fires on the conservation program lands.

"Uncle Sam's created this problem," he said. "This may be a way for Uncle Sam to alleviate the problem."

Lithuania's gas, oil cut

MOSCOW (AP) - The Kremlin sharply curtailed supplies of natural gas to Lithuania today, hours after it halted the flow of crude oil to the republic for refusing to scrap laws promoting independence, Lithuanian officials said.

Moscow had shut off oil Wednesday night to Lithuania's only refinery, a first step in a blockade promised by Mikhail S. Gorbachev.

In anticipation of the embargo, a delegation of top Lithuanian officials left for Norway earlier Wednesday seeking alternative oil supplies.

Lithuania's President, Vytautas Landsbergis, called the cutoff "economic coercion and economic warfare against a neighboring country." The republic's Parliament had refused Gorbachev's ultimatum, offering instead to negotiate and pass no new pro-independence laws until May 1.

Lithuania is entirely dependent on Moscow for oil and gas, and the embargo was the toughest measure taken by Moscow in its effort to make the republic of 3.8 million people back down from its independence drive.

The flow of natural gas was cut in three pipelines but continued in a fourth, said officials of the secessionist republic's Parliament.

That leaves Lithuania with just 16 percent of the supply of gas it needs daily. Lithuania uses an average of 18 million cubic meters daily for industrial and domestic use.

Moscow officials were guaranteeing enough gas to keep Lithuania's Elektrėnai electrical plant functioning, said Juozas Martusevicius, a Lithuanian electrical official.

That plant also serves customers in the neighboring Russian republic territory of Kaliningrad. Lithuania's sole nuclear power station, in Ignalina, is shut down for repairs.

Late Wednesday night, oil to the Mazhiekiai refinery stopped flowing through a pipeline feeding the plant from the Russian city of Polotsk, said plant director Bronius Vainoras.

"Truly, this is recognition of the independence of Lithuania," Landsbergis said afterward. "It is hard to imagine why the people of Lithuania, irrespective of nationality and creed, are being punished. What was their crime?"

In Moscow, Deputy Oil Minister Lev Dmitrievich Churilov said today that his department cut off the oil, mostly Siberian crude, after receiving a decree from the Soviet Council of Ministers ordering the shutdown "until further special notice."

Noting that he was expressing his personal opinion, Churilov told The Associated Press that the cutoff might teach the Lithuanians a lesson.

"Maybe this measure can make them think a little," he said. "They should not respond to appeals from the president and government with ultimatums."

Lithuanian officials estimate the republic has enough oil to last six weeks to three months.

On Wednesday, the republic sent Prime Minister Kazimiera Prunskiene and Foreign Secretary Algirdas Saugardas to Oslo on a three-day mission seeking alternative oil supplies.

Prime Minister Jan P. Syse of Norway said a non-governmental body made the invitation prior to increased tensions between Lithuania and Moscow, and he did not expect Moscow to see the meeting as "meddling in the internal affairs of the Soviet Union."

Syse said in the television interview that Norway, a NATO member, has not promised Lithuania oil supplies. "The state does not sell oil, that is up to the oil companies," he said.

"It is very curious that yesterday we heard promises of supplies," Mrs. Prunskiene said without elaborating.

In Washington, President Bush's spokesman, Marlin Fitzwater, said Wednesday night that the administration was "looking into" reports of the oil cutoff and that there would be no further comment until today.

Prior to the cutoff, Secretary of State James A. Baker III said action against Lithuania could destroy commercial relations between the Soviet Union and the United States.

Bush, Mitterand meet today

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Bush is winding up a flurry of consultations with major allies on the changing face of Europe and the future of NATO with a rendezvous in the Florida Keys with French President Francois Mitterand.

Today's meeting, taking place against the backdrop of the Lithuanian crisis and reports of an imminent release of an American hostage in Lebanon, is the seventh time the two leaders have met since Bush became president 15 months ago.

While Bush was departing this morning for Key Largo, Fla., Mitterand was jetting across the Atlantic aboard a Concorde. Mitterand planned to fly back to Paris aboard the supersonic jet tonight after eight hours of private meetings, a news conference and dinner with his American host.

For Bush, it was the prelude to an outdoorsy Earth Day weekend that he will spend fishing in the Everglades off Islamorada, Fla., after side trips to Republican fundraisers in Birmingham, Ala., and Orlando, Fla., on Friday.

The president said he hoped the session with Mitterand will "narrow any differences that might exist" between France and the United States on the post-Cold War role of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the West's political and military alliance.

"There have been reports that there was a little drift and a little separation" between the two allies on the future of NATO, Bush said in an interview Monday. "The best way to find that out is simply to sit and talk."

White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said that in addition to NATO and German unification, Bush and Mitterand will discuss the May 30 U.S.-Soviet summit as well as the president's recent talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze.

Bush, who met last week with Canadian Prime Minister Brian Mulroney in Toronto and British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher in Bermuda, said, "I've tried hard as president to stay in close touch with our alliance leaders, and (these) talks, given the rapidity of change in Eastern Europe, seemed very timely."

France has enjoyed a special, independent status within NATO ever since the late Charles de Gaulle pulled French forces out of the alliance's integrated military structure in 1966.

Gov. Clements poised to veto tax-school bill

AUSTIN (AP) - Gov. Bill Clements says his pen is poised to veto a half-cent sales tax increase scheduled to be considered by the Texas House today to pay for court-ordered school finance reform.

"My pen's full of ink. I'm ready," said Clements. He favors a $234 million school reform plan for 1990-91 and has proposed paying for it with cuts in other budget areas and an increase in the state fee for obtaining driving records.

But the House has passed a $450 million school reform measure, and the Senate a $1.2 billion bill. The two are being negotiated in a conference committee, and legislative leaders have predicted the compromise figure could be $550 million to $600 million.

Because $114.4 million in cuts approved by the House Wednesday and sent to the Senate fall short of funding either bill, House Speaker Gib Lewis said, a tax increase is needed.

"The governor has to do what he has to do, and we're going to do what we have to do," said Lewis, D-Fort Worth.

The bill before the House would increase the state sales tax from 6 cents to 6.5 cents on the dollar, raising an estimated $480 million to $600 million the first year.

Lawmakers are working under a May 1 state Supreme Court deadline to change the $13.5 billion-a-year school finance system, which relies on a combination of state aid, local property taxes and some federal funds.

The court found unconstitutional disparities in funding available to property-rich and property-poor school districts.

The Texas State Teachers Association has called for a "demonstration of public outrage" in Austin on May 5, a Saturday, if a school finance plan hasn't been adopted by then. TSTA President Ollie Besteiro said the day was chosen so classes wouldn't be disrupted.

In Oklahoma, the failure of lawmakers to approve an education package has prompted thousands of teachers in that state to picket their Capitol, leading to school closings.

Although Clements said Texas teachers are welcome to mimic their Oklahoma counterparts, he predicted it wouldn't do any good.

"That's a waste of time," he said, adding, "If they haven't got anything else to do, and they want to march, let 'em march. It's good exercise."

Ms. Besteiro called the governor "totally insensitive to both students and teachers in this state."

"He is totally out of touch with reality," she said.

Despite criticism from other officials, Clements also refused to back down from his suggestion that laying off state government workers might be one way to raise money for school finance reform.

"We've had far too great a growth in our state employees," said Clements.

The Republican governor's proposal was blasted by State Comptroller Bob Bullock, a Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, and by the Texas State Employees Union.

"Governor Clements is pulling the old political ploy of trying to balance a school budget on the backs of the workers that assist the poor, the sick and those in nursing homes," Bullock said.

Today in History

By The Associated Press
Today is Thursday, April 19, the 109th day of 1990. There are 256 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On April 19, 1775, the American Revolutionary War began with the Battles of Lexington and Concord.

On this date:
In 1782, the Netherlands recognized American independence.

In 1943, thousands of Jews living in the Warsaw Ghetto began their fight against Nazi occupation forces.

In 1975, India announced it had launched its first satellite, from the Soviet Union atop a Soviet rocket.

Ten years ago: Barbara and Kenneth Timm, the mother and stepfather of Sgt. Kevin Hermening, one of the American hostages in Iran, arrived in Tehran to visit their son.

Five years ago: The space shuttle Discovery landed at Cape Canaveral, Fla., after a mission marred by a deployed satellite that failed to operate properly.

One year ago: 47 sailors were killed when a gun turret exploded aboard the USS Iowa. In New York, an investment banker jogging in Central Park was brutally beaten, raped and left for dead - but survived. Six youths are accused of the attack.

Today's birthdays: Actor-comedian Dudley Moore is 55. Actress Elinor Donahue is 53. Tennis player Sue Barker is 34.

Thought for today: "The charm, one might say the genius of memory, is that it is choosy, chancy and temperamental: it rejects the edifying cathedral and indelibly photographs the small boy outside, chewing a hunk of melon in the dust." - Elizabeth Bowen, Irish-born author (1899-1973).

Help for stadium expansion

Russell Backus, left, president, and Jim Andrews, right, secretary of the Hereford Key Club, presented a $250 check to Richard Souter, assistant superintendent for business of the Hereford Independent School District on Wednesday. The funds will be used for expansion of Whiteface Stadium to provide adequate seating for students at the games. May 1 is the deadline for contributions to the fund, which will add 1,000 seats to the stadium so students may have a place from which to watch football games. The goal is $25,000.

Bentsen: Child health care should be state-subsidized

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, is seeking to expand health-care coverage to all children and teenagers living in poverty.

Bentsen, D-Texas, announced Wednesday that he would introduce legislation that would gradually expand Medicaid health insurance coverage to an additional 2.5 million children and teens at a cost of $1.6 billion over the first five years, beginning in 1991.

Bentsen's staff said the bill would be introduced today.

Under his plan, which would be considered by the Senate Finance Committee, children under age 19 would be guaranteed Medicaid coverage if their families are below the federal poverty line, currently $12,675 for a family of four.

Coverage would be phased in between 1991 and the year 2002, and states would share in picking up the costs of expanding the program. States now must provide Medicaid to children up to age 6 living in homes at 133 percent of the poverty level.

Ron Lindsey, commissioner of the Texas Department of Human Services, which faces a half-billion dollar shortfall in 1990 and 1991, said he hoped Bentsen's legislation could be considered by the Texas Legislature in regular session before it would take effect in the state.

While expanding Medicaid would affect the Texas budget, Lindsey said, "there's no doubt that this is good policy."

Bentsen said his bill, the Medicaid Child Health Act of 1990, would help more children receive access to preventive care and other health care services.

"We're seeing an alarming increase in the incidence of childhood diseases that could have been prevented with such routine treatment as a timely, basic set of immunizations," Bentsen said Wednesday.

In 1983, fewer than 1,600 cases of measles were reported. But by 1989, there were more than 17,000 cases and early indications for 1990 are that the number continues to grow, Bentsen said, adding: "This situation is unacceptable."

Bentsen said every $1 spent on immunizations saves $10 in health care costs later on, while every $1 spent on prenatal care saves more than $3 in the first year of a child's life.

According to the Department of Health and Human Services, the United States ranks 22nd in the world in infant mortality, behind East Germany, Singapore and all other major industrialized countries. The U.S. mortality rate is twice that of Japan, Bentsen said.

Terrorists may release American hostage by Friday

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - A pro-Iranian group holding three American educators says it will release one of the hostages this week and is demanding that a one-time U.S. ambassador to Lebanon fly to Syria for final negotiations.

The group said it was freeing an American in response to requests from Iran and Syria, whose leaders have encouraged an end to the hostage crisis, and implied that some sort of exchange was involved.

In Damascus, reliable diplomatic sources confirmed that an American would be freed Friday in the Syrian capital.

The group, Islamic Jihad for the Liberation of Palestine, did not say in Wednesday's statement which of the three would be freed, only that the release would occur within 48 hours - or by Friday evening.

The statement was accompanied by an instant photograph of Jesse Turner of Boise, Idaho - the first photo of him alone since three months after his abduction. The group also holds Alann Steen and Robert Polhill, who were taken with Turner from the campus of Beirut University College on Jan. 24, 1987.

They are among 18 Westerners, including eight Americans, held in Lebanon by pro-Iranian groups. The longest-held is Terry Anderson, chief Middle East correspondent for The Associated Press, kidnapped March 16, 1985.

The kidnapers demanded John Kelly, U.S. assistant secretary of state for Near Eastern affairs, fly to Damascus "to coordinate some final steps to guarantee success within 48 hours," the handwritten statement said.

It did not specify what the kidnapers expect of Kelly, the U.S. ambassador to Lebanon from 1983 to 1988. He was in Bonn, West Germany, on Wednesday.

In Washington, Secretary of State

James A. Baker III cautiously welcomed the reports but hedged on the demand for Kelly to fly to Damascus. "At the present time, the Middle East is not on his agenda," he said.

House Democrats push cuts in military budget

WASHINGTON (AP) - Democrats are ready to use their superior numbers to win House Budget Committee approval of a $1.2 trillion package for 1991 that sets in motion a long-term retrenchment of military spending.

Chairman Leon Panetta, D-Calif., planned to bring the fiscal blueprint to a vote before his panel today. Majority Democrats said they expected to prevail over Republicans, who are remaining loyal to the plan President Bush requested in January. A full House vote is expected next week.

The plan, which contains $36 billion in deficit reduction and spending boosts for a host of domestic and foreign aid programs, lays out

Democratic budget priorities for the first time.

It spreads $6 billion in spending increases among initiatives ranging from highway construction to anti-drug efforts and expanded child care.

For its savings, the package relies on $11.5 billion in military cuts, $13.9 billion in new taxes - the same amount Bush is seeking - and $5.6 billion in user fees. It reduces the expected growth of Medicare and other benefit programs by $4.2 billion, and claims minor savings in several other areas.

This would allow budget writers to obey the Gramm-Rudman law's requirement that the deficit for fiscal 1991, which begins Oct. 1, not exceed $64 billion.

Its most controversial element is how defense would be treated in the first federal budget since the disintegration of the Warsaw Pact.

Panetta's package would leave next year's military budget at $295 billion in outlays, which is about $1 billion less than is being spent this year and $11.5 billion less than what would be needed to stay even with inflation. Their figure also is $8 billion below the amount Bush is seeking.

More important for the long run, Democrats would also cut next year's military budget authority to $286 billion, some $15 billion below this year and $30 billion less than the amount needed to keep up with inflation.

Earnings of First Abilene Bankshares reported

First Abilene Bankshares, Inc., parent company of Hereford State Bank, reported earnings of $1.7 million, or 87 cents per share for the quarter ended March 31, 1990.

This represented a 15 percent increase in net income as compared to the first quarter of 1989, and a 19 percent increase in earnings per share. The greater percentage increase in earnings per share is due to the effects of the company's purchase and retirement of approximately 64,000 shares of its stock over the past year.

Kenneth T. Murphy, chief executive officer, said the company continues to purchase its own stock in the open market, thereby reducing the number of outstanding shares. He added that improvement in earnings was primarily attributable to reduced provisions for possible loan losses.

The annual shareholders' meeting for First Abilene Bankshares is scheduled for 10:30 a.m. on April 24 at the Abilene Civic Center. The Abilene-based holding company is also the parent company of First National Bank of Abilene, First National of Sweetwater, and Eastland National Bank of Eastland.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Should a 5-year-old be permitted to attend a mortuary funeral of a beloved grandparent and view the remains in the casket?

I am writing now because Grandma is terminally ill, and I know I will be faced with this problem within a few months. My neighbor and friend says "absolutely not." She believes that the boy would be frightened, bewildered and perhaps traumatized if he saw his grandmother in a casket, stone cold with lots of makeup, appearing to be asleep. My sister, on the other hand, says that the boy should not be shielded from the realities of life because death is "the real world."

I should tell you that "Gregory" is a well-adjusted child, bright and happy, and we have never had any problems with him. We have not told him yet that Grandma is not going to get well, but he seems to know it. Please give us some guidance. -- Not Much Time in Stockton.

DEAR STOCKTON: In my opinion, a 5-year-old is too young to handle the experience you describe. The viewing at the mortuary is only one aspect that may be perplexing and upsetting to the child. Lowering the casket into the ground and leaving Grandma in the cemetery would be much more difficult for a youngster to deal with.

Most authorities believe that children under 8 years of age should not be subjected to open caskets and burial services.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Can you stand one more letter about dating services? I hope so, because I think you are presenting a lopsided picture. Here's my story:

I never cared for singles clubs and wasn't into the bar scene. I was brought up in a Christian home and believed that you went out with men you met in church or your place of work. Unfortunately, I never met a man in church or at work that I was drawn to. A woman I knew well and respected suggested that I sign up with a dating club. They had special rates for women between 18 and 30. I received 10 pages of names with detailed information about each candidate.

I went out with 11 men, mostly respectable and pleasant, but there wasn't one that I wanted to see again. Then No. 12 appeared at my front door. I knew after the first date that he was the man I had been dreaming about and praying for. I was trying on wedding gowns a month before he asked me to marry him.

We have been happily married for 10 years and are still very much in love. Incidentally, Ann, his first marriage didn't work out. She was a girl he had met in church. So please give credit where credit is due. -- Indianapolis

DEAR INDIANAPOLIS: Happy to. Your letter proves that not all dating clubs are rip-offs. However, my mail is a faithful reflection of what is happening out there, and it has convinced me that the overwhelming majority of dating services are highly questionable. I would never recommend one.

DEAR READERS: A while back, I asked you to send in "Gems" for the column. Bless you all, I now have enough to last for several years. My thanks to each and every one who came to the rescue. Here is one of the best. It came from a reader in Jordan, Mont. Thanks, Mr. L.A. Coy.

To keep you marriage brimming With love in the loving cup, When you're wrong, just admit it, When you're right, please shut up.

When planning a wedding, who pays for what? Who stands where? "The Ann Landers Guide for Brides" has all the answers. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Brides, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. (In Canada, send $4.45.)

ALONSO R. RAMIREZ

Alonso R. Ramirez, son of Ruben and Sylvia Ramirez, of Hereford, joined the U.S. Army recently for a four-year enlistment.

Private Ramirez, a senior at Hereford High School, begins active duty on June 19 when he reports for basic training at Fort Dix, N.J., then continues with advanced training at Fort Sam Houston, Texas. The six-week advanced course will prepare him for the skill he selected, medical supply specialist.

Ramirez was assisted with his enlistment by Staff Sgt. Jaime Cruz-Torres of the Canyon Army Recruiting Office.

On May 5, 1961, astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr. became America's first space traveler when he made a 15-minute suborbital flight in a capsule launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Important information given about cancer symptoms

Fortunately, by learning the symptoms of cancer and recognizing them early enough, you may dramatically increase your chances for a complete recovery. That's important, says experts, because cancer is one of the leading causes of death in the United States. Here are seven early warning signs to watch for:

1. Change in bowel or bladder habits.
2. A sore that does not heal.
3. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
4. Thickening or lump in breast or elsewhere.

Bean supper scheduled

The public is invited to the Hereford Camp Fire's annual taco and bean supper from 5-8:30 p.m. Friday, April 20, at the Hereford High School cafeteria.

Tickets are priced at $3 per person and may be purchased from Camp Fire members or at the door. Carry out orders are 50 cents extra.

The menu will consist of tacos, beans, salad, chips, hot sauce, cobbler, tea and coffee.

5. Indigestion or difficulty swallowing.
 6. Obvious change in wart or mole.
 7. Nagging cough or hoarseness.
- A person who has any of these symptoms longer than two weeks should consult a physician promptly. Many people are glad to know that research being conducted by our nation's young scientists is bringing us closer to finding a cure for cancer. One of these scientist is Keith C. Cheng, M.D., Ph.D. With money provided by the Damon Runyon-Walter Winchell Cancer Research Fund, he is studying metastasis, the spreading of tumor cells throughout the body.

The Fund supporting Dr. Cheng's work was founded on the radio in 1946 by Walter Winchell in honor of his friend, author Damon Runyon, who died of cancer. Since then, it has given over $70 million to sponsor research at many of the country's leading laboratories, some headed by Nobel laureates. In fact, several Nobel laureates began their research as Runyon-Winchell Fellows. The Fund is totally supported by contributions and every penny donated to the Fund as gifts goes directly for research.

Deadline to sign up for annual pageant April 23

The Miss Hereford Pageant is sponsored by the Women's Division of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce and is open to girls ages 16-21.

Each contestant will participate in three divisions of the pageant on June 9. An interview by judges will be Saturday morning and the talent competition, and evening gown competition that evening.

According to Julia Laing the winner, first and second participants will benefit from the wardrobe scholarships given by local merchants. Other scholarships are the local college scholarship, and the cash scholarship to be applied toward college tuition after registration.

Each contestant must be able to attend rehearsals from June 4-8. This time is needed to practice for the opening number and individual talent.

Modeling sessions are set for April 30 with Debra Vaughn, former model at Suzanne's and Diane Dick's modeling agency of Amarillo.

Applications may be obtained at the Chamber office and returned by April 23.

For further information, contact the Hereford Chamber of Commerce or Julia Laing at 364-6856.

Just tossing their weight(s) around: Herd quartet excels at shot put, discus

By SAM W. WALLER
Sports Editor

Strength has been a strength for both the Hereford Whiteface and Lady Whiteface track and field teams this spring.

Out of the 11 athletes the boys' and girls' thinclads will be sending to the Region 1-4A meet April 27-28 in San Angelo, three will be competing in the discus and one in the shot put.

Benny Gonzales defended his District 1-4A shot put title at the district meet Saturday at Wolfthorpe with a toss of 53 feet, 10 3/4 inches while Phillip Betzen claimed the discus crown with a throw of 141-11.

Shantel Cornelius and Cande Robbins gave the Lady Whitefaces a 1-2 sweep in the girls' discus at the meet with Cornelius winning at 117-5, her best throw ever, while Robbins was second at 115-0.

Coach Stan Carter, who tutors the throwers on both teams, called the meet his "most satisfying district meet as a coach."

"They all competed extremely well," Carter said of the foursome. "They all earned everything they got. Every one of them worked real hard this year, and when you work hard, good things happen for you."

Gonzales broke his own school record twice this spring despite competing in only four meets because of a separated right (throwing) shoulder suffered during football.

"Benny has gotten himself back to where he was last year with a lot of work," Carter said. "He wasn't going to let the injury stop him and has gotten even better."

Gonzales has gone beyond the 50-foot mark every time out this spring and has a best effort of 56-6 1/2. Carter said the senior has an excellent chance of improving on last year's fourth-place finish at region.

"He's got one of the better throws in the region," Carter said. "I think it will take around 56-58 feet to qualify for state, and he can do it."

Betzen extended his season with his most consistent showing of the season at the district meet. The senior had three tosses of more than 140 feet, any of which would have won what Carter called a wide-open competition.

"They took seven guys to the finals and any one of the seven was capable of winning," Carter said. "In fact, there were four or five guys that didn't even make the finals that had thrown far enough during the year to win district. But Phillip did a great job of competing and not letting the pressure get to him."

In the girls' competition, Carter said Cornelius and Robbins did as much for each other as they did for themselves.

"They told me during the week (before the district meet) that they were going 1-2," he said. "They compete real well against one another and have pushed each other to this level."

Carter added that Saturday's competition was a good illustration of the rivalry between the two.

"They are good friends and Cande was real unselfish about finishing second," he said. "She wanted to win real bad because she finished second as a junior, but just as happy that Shantel won."

"Cande led most of the way before Shantel went from third to first on the next-to-last throw."

"Shantel was in the discus and the high jump at the same time and was running back and forth. She got mad when she went out in the high jump (at 5-0, finishing fifth) and took it out on the discus."

Carter said he expected good things to continue from the pair at the regional meet.

"Cande's been there before and knows how to deal with the pressure," he said, "and she can pass that on to Shantel."

"Both of them have been throwing real well. Cande's been consistent all spring and has a throw of more than 118 feet and Shantel showed what she's capable of doing at district. The school record (122-5, set in 1984 by Bernice Thomas) is definitely in jeopardy with these two ladies."

Conradt appalled by racism at UT

AUSTIN (AP) — University of Texas women's basketball coach Jody Conradt told a radio talk show audience Wednesday night that she is appalled by acts of racism on the school's campus and believes it has hurt her recruiting efforts toward black players.

"I am embarrassed to be associated with an institution that hasn't addressed the issue more strongly than it has," Conradt told listeners on a sports talk aired on KFON of Austin.

Conradt said she doesn't believe there is any racial tension on the Lady Longhorns basketball team, but she said she is "downright mad about what happened on campus in the last few days."

There have been several protests following racist incidents involving two fraternities. Both of the fraternities have been suspended.

Nieman foursome wins Raider scramble

The foursome of Speedy Nieman, Jess Stiles, H.P. Lovan and Rudy Maske won the Red Raider Club Day Scramble at Pitman Municipal Golf Course.

The group carded a 61 to top the 16-team field.

Two teams shot 63 with the foursome of Rick Dykes, Cal Mitts, Mike Butler and Lewis Block being awarded second place on a scorecard playoff. The team of Craig Lookingbill, Cecil Maddox, Sid Shaw and Sam Waller was placed third.

The scramble was part of the activities of Red Raider Day, put on by the Hereford Red Raider Club.

Teams were made up of local Red Raider Club members and Texas Tech supporters paired with Tech coaches, athletic department officials and Lubbock Red Raider Club members.

Among the other Red Raider Day activities were an autograph session with Tech head football coach Spike Dykes and Tech mascots Raider Red and the Masked Rider, who brought along his horse Midnight Raider. There was also a social hour at Hereford Country Club featuring showings of the highlight film of the Raiders' 1989 9-3 season which culminated in a 49-21 victory over Duke in the All America Bowl.

Also, Coach Dykes and Tech Athletic Director T. Jones addressed local Red Raider supporters at a dinner held at the Country Club.

Cavs hold off New Jersey

By BILL BARNARD
AP Basketball Writer

The Cleveland Cavaliers realized that the only thing more embarrassing than missing 19 consecutive free throws would be blowing a 20-point lead to the New Jersey Nets.

"Teams that aren't going anywhere are the teams who are the most dangerous," Cleveland coach Lenny Wilkens said. "But teams like New Jersey are the teams you have to beat, and down the stretch we mad the plays."

The Nets, tied with Miami and Orlando for the worst record in the NBA, got as close as five points several times late in the game Wednesday night before losing 100-93, the Cavaliers' fourth straight victory. Spurs 102, Jazz 93.

San Antonio set a new standard for one-year improvement by defeating Utah as David Robinson had 30 points and 16 rebounds.

San Antonio led by as many as 16 points in the fourth quarter, but with two consecutive 3-point shots, Utah moved to within seven with 1:30 remaining. The Jazz got no closer, however.

John Stockton led Utah with 29 points and 15 assists.

76ers 124, Pacers 113

Hersey Hawkins scored a season-high 31 points for the 76ers.

Hawkins scored six points during a 10-2 run in the third quarter that gave Philadelphia an 81-65 lead, and the 76ers extended the margin to 93-73 by the end of the period.

The Pacers never got close in the final 12 minutes. Reggie Miller scored 18 points to lead Indiana.

Celtics 133, Magic 112

Kevin McHale, taking up the slack in the absence of ailing Larry Bird, scored 33 points.

With Bird hospitalized after minor surgery for an abscess on his buttocks, McHale was helped by Reggie Lewis with 20 points.

Morlon Wiley topped the Magic with 24 points, two more than Reggie Theus.

A's down Angels, continue hot start

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer

So much for early-season show-downs.

The Oakland Athletics completed a two-game sweep at California, beating the Angels 3-1 Wednesday night on Jose Canseco's two-run homer in the seventh inning.

The Athletics, trying for a third straight American League West championship, won for the seventh time in eight tries this season. Oakland does not face the Angels again until late July and maybe that's good for California.

"We're sputtering," Angels manager Doug Rader said. "That's the nature of offense. Look at (the A's), they just had one guy who was hot.

"A few base hits would cure a lot of things," he said. "A lot of games hinge on one at-bat."

This time, the game swung with two outs in the seventh. Canseco, just 3-for-31 lifetime against Mike Witt, hit a drive that barely cleared the left-field wall and put Oakland ahead 2-1.

"I hit it real low. If I had hit that ball up, it might have gone 600 feet," Canseco said. "The main thing I had in the back of my mind was not a home run, but to hit it hard into the gap."

Canseco's second home run of the season gave him his second straight three-hit game. It also helped the Athletics sweep a five-game road trip, something they hadn't managed since opening the 1981 season with eight straight wins on the road.

In other games, Boston beat Chicago 7-5, Baltimore stopped Toronto 8-5, Detroit downed New York 8-4, Kansas City clubbed Cleveland 7-0, Milwaukee mauled Texas 11-6 and Minnesota defeated Seattle 4-3.

Kirk McCaskill shut out Oakland on four hits for six innings. Witt took over in the seventh and Rickey Henderson walked with one out, Carney Lansford grounded into a force play and Canseco homered.

Scott Sanderson (2-0) gave up two hits through five innings, but the Angels got him for four hits and a run in the sixth.

Red Sox 7, White Sox 5
In Chicago, Roger Clemens won his third straight start and Tony Pena singled twice during Boston's six-run third inning.

Clemens (3-0) struck out nine and walked one in 6 1-3 innings.

Robin Ventura's leadoff homer started a three-run seventh that finished Clemens. Lee Smith went 1 1-3 in his fourth save.

Orioles 8, Blue Jays 5
In Toronto, Craig Worthington and Randy Milligan each homered and got three hits.

Worthington's RBI single in the sixth inning put Baltimore ahead 4-3, and he added a two-run single in the seventh and a solo homer in the ninth. Milligan's three-run homer in the fourth gave the Orioles their first lead in the three-game series.

Pete Harnisch (1-0) gave up three runs in six innings and Gregg Olson got his third save. Frank Wills (0-1) took the loss.

Royals 7, Indians 0

At Kansas City, free agent Storm Davis won his first game for the Royals and Willie Wilson and Bob Boone starred on offense.

Davis (1-1) gave up five hits in seven innings and allowed only one runner past first base.

Boone drove in three runs with a squeeze bunt and a bloop double.

Brewers 11, Rangers 6

At Texas, Robin Yount singled off the leg of pitcher Gary Mielke, driving in two runs and highlighting a seven-run fifth inning.

Jaime Navarro could not hold a 9-2 lead and was knocked out in the bottom of the fifth. Tony Fossas (1-2) wound up getting the victory and Jamie Moyer (0-2) took the loss.

Tigers 8, Yankees 4

At Detroit, Alan Trammell went 2-for-3 and extended his hitting streak to all nine games.

Jack Morris (2-1) improved to 7-3 lifetime against the Yankees at Tiger Stadium. He gave up two earned runs in five innings and Mike Henneman got his second save.

The Yankees outthrew Detroit 15-14. Cecil Fielder hit his second home run for the Tigers.

Twins 4, Mariners 3
At Seattle, Gene Larkin and Dan Gladden hit two-run singles in the fourth inning and Minnesota took advantage of four errors.

Terry Leach (1-0) pitched 2 1-3 scoreless innings for the victory and Rick Aguilera went two innings for his fourth save. Matt Young (0-2) lost.

Reds stay unbeaten with win

By The Associated Press

It's a good thing the baseball season opened a week late or the Cincinnati Reds might have clinched the National League West by now.

As it is, they have a three-game lead over Los Angeles and a club record-equaling 8-0 start after getting home runs from Mariano Duncan, Paul O'Neill and Chris Sabo and outslugging the San Diego Padres 11-7 Wednesday night. For those who keep track of such things, the Reds' magic number is 151.

"We're on a roll now," said shortstop Barry Larkin, who went 2-for-3 and raised his average to .600. "We've got a lot of talent on this team and everything's going well for us."

How well? The Reds scored three runs in the first inning without hitting the ball out of the infield. O'Neill, who entered the game as a pinch hitter in the third inning, had four of the 15 hits, including a tie-breaking, three-run homer in the fourth.

"You can't defend seven and eight guys hitting (well)," said Padres outfielder Joe Carter, who hit his first NL homer. "The best thing to do is tip your hat and thank your lucky stars you don't face them again."

Five Cincinnati players had two or more hits.

Elsewhere, it was Los Angeles 6, San Francisco 2; St. Louis 3, Pittsburgh 0; Chicago 8, New York 5; Philadelphia 4, Montreal 3 and Houston 10, Atlanta 5.

The hard-hitting Reds overcame a poor outing by Danny Jackson, who yielded five runs in three innings. But Duncan's two-run homer, following O'Neill's pinch single, tied the game 5-5 in the third inning and O'Neill's homer put the Reds ahead 8-5 in the fourth.

Two rookie pitchers figured in the outcome. Cincinnati's Tim Layana (2-0) pitched two innings in relief for the victory and San Diego's Rafael Valdez (0-1) gave up the homers to Duncan and O'Neill in his first major-league appearance.

Giants 6, Pirates 2

Eddie Murray homered from each side of the plate for the first time as a National League pitcher and ninth time in his 13-year career, one shy of Mickey Mantle's major-league record.

The Dodgers went ahead 3-1 against rookie Eric Gunderson in the third inning when Willie Randolph walked and Murray homered from the right side.

Murray, batting left-handed against Randy O'Neal, homered in the seventh and Hubie Brookins hit one in the ninth. Mike Morgan (2-0) went 6 1-3 in his first game for the Dodgers.

Cardinals 3, Pirates 0

John Tudor continued his comeback from arm miseries by extending his scoreless streak to 19 innings - 13 this season - and Tim Lincecum was 3-for-3 with a two-run single.

Tudor (2-0) gave up six hits, struck out four and walked one in seven innings. Ken Dayley pitched the final two innings for his first save.

Pittsburgh starter Bob Walk (0-2) gave up six hits and one run in 5 1-3 innings.

Cubs 8, Mets 5

Marvell Wynne's three-run pinch triple highlighted Chicago's tie-breaking five-run seventh inning. With the score tied 3-3, Ryne Sandberg led off the seventh with a single off David Cone (0-1) and Dwight Smith walked. Mark Grace hit a slow roller in front of the plate and catcher Mackey Sasser's throw to first hit Grace for a two-base error that allowed the go-ahead run to score.

Cone intentionally walked Andre Dawson to load the bases and Julio Machado relieved. On the first pitch, Wynne cleared the bases with a triple and Shawon Dunston capped the uprising with a sacrifice fly.

Phillies 4, Expos 3

Philadelphia took advantage of six walks and two wild pitches by Montreal's Kevin Gross in the second and third innings to push across three runs. The Phillies added what proved to be the decisive run in the fourth on Len Dykstra's double and Von Hayes' single. Dykstra also had an RBI single.

Ken Howell (1-1) yielded three runs and nine hits in seven innings.

Astros 10, Braves 5

Glenn Davis drove in four runs with a three-run homer and a single.

Craig Biggio and Bill Doran singled in the first inning off Derek Lilliquist (0-2) and Davis hit his first home run of the season.

After Xavier Hernandez got the final out in the third inning in relief of Houston starter Bill Gullickson, winner Dan Schatzeder (1-0) pitched four perfect innings.

Trail Blazers 128, Suns 120 (OT)

Clyde Drexler scored 32 points, Jerome Kersey 31 and Terry Porter 29.

Portland trailed 90-81 with 9:52 remaining and forced overtime at 110-110 on Drexler's 3-point goal with 8.8 seconds left.

The Suns were paced by Tom Chambers' 27 points, Kevin Johnson had 20 points, 11 rebounds and 17 assists.

Warriors 133, Clippers 120

Terry Teague scored 30 points and Golden State, after blowing an 18-point first-half lead, used a 30-10 second-half run to beat Los Angeles.

Tim Hardaway had 22 points and 16 assists for the Warriors, while leading scorer Chris Mullin hit only three of nine shots from the field and finished with 13 points.

Michael Young scored a career-high 27 points and was the only Clipper to score more than 20.

Hornets 98, Heat 91

Charlotte handed Miami its ninth consecutive loss behind Kelly Tripucka's 26 points, including a 3-point buzzer-beater at the end of the third quarter.

Tripucka's basket at the end of the third quarter gave the Hornets a 75-72 lead. Miami later scored nine consecutive points to get within two, but Charlotte's Randolph Keys hit two baskets and Tripucka made a free throw and a basket for a 94-87 lead with less than two minutes left.

Keys scored 20 points, while Glen Rice had 23 and Tellis Frank 21 for Heat.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I am a 31-year-old female. At birth I was allergic to dairy products. I've always suffered from lower abdominal pain. When I was 22, my doctor took a blood test and told me I had a spastic colon. He said that when the pain got too bad to eat bland foods and take pills he gave me to ease the pain.

I hadn't been bothered with the pain for several years. Then recently I have had two bad attacks. I went to a new doctor and explained my pain to her. She asked me what I had eaten that day. I told her spicy food. She then told me that I have colitis. She gave me pills called Donnatal to ease the pain. The pills do help. Can you tell me the difference between a spastic colon and colitis?

DEAR READER: There is no way you can make a diagnosis of spastic colon — now called irritable bowel syndrome — with a blood test. Your first doctor probably used the blood test to check for other problems and did not find any. Often a diagnosis of irritable bowel syndrome is based solely on the history with no evidence of other disease of the bowel, or occasionally when actual spasms of the colon may be seen by X-ray.

A spastic colon refers to spasms of the muscular wall of the colon. The spasm can be strong enough to cause pain as it is really a muscle cramp. The spasm may obstruct the colon, resulting in trapping gas, causing small hard stools, often described as marbles. You can have a mixture of hard compressed stool and soft-to-liquid stools.

The term "colitis" is not a diagnosis. It is loosely used to mean colon trouble. But real colitis may be ulcerative colitis or some form of acute inflammation.

The Donnatal is useful as a pain reliever, but it does not answer the question of why you are having the abdominal discomfort. The history of your bowels is needed to be more certain what you really have. The history may also help tell if you really have the irritable bowel syndrome or if you have some other cause for pain, such as endometriosis associated with your periods.

If you do have the irritable bowel syndrome, you need bulk and improved dietary habits. I have discussed this in Special Report 73, Irritable Bowel and Constipation, which I am sending you. Others who want this report can send $2 with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER, P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I now use Lactaid milk on my cereal. Others stores call it Sweet Acidophilus, with Lactobacillus acidophilus culture. I percent milk fat. I presume the second is the same as the first milk. Does this milk give you the same amount of calcium as regular milk?

DEAR READER: No; Lactaid milk is not the same as Sweet Acidophilus milk. The Lactaid milk is treated with an enzyme that converts milk sugar, lactose, into the single sugars so it can be absorbed. It helps decrease or eliminate lactose intolerance with all its complaints. But Sweet Acidophilus contains the Lactobacillus organism that is often claimed to do the same thing. Tests on breath analysis to determine whether the lactose is digested or not in Sweet Acidophilus milk show it is not nearly as effective in this regard as the effects of treating milk with the Lactaid enzyme.

Both milks contain more calcium than is found in regular whole milk. You could also treat low-fat, skim or regular milk with Lactaid drops to produce your own low lactose milk.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713. Although Dr. Lamb cannot reply to all letters personally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.

Musical to be presented Sunday

The musical "Quilters" will be presented at 3 p.m. Sunday, April 22, at the Hereford High School auditorium.

Tickets for the program, sponsored by St. Thomas Episcopal Church, are $7.50 for adults and $5 for students ages six through 18.

The musical depicts the fate of women on the frontier: girlhood, marriage, childbirth, spinsterhood, twisters, fire, illness and death.

Combining music, dance movement and scenes of vivid dramatic intensity, the play pays eloquent tribute to the courage and spirit of the nation's pioneer women.

Johnson speaks at meeting

The Bud to Blossom Garden Club met recently at the Hereford Garden Center with Mrs. Billie Johnson presenting a program on rose care and soil preparation.

Roll call was answered by naming one's favorite rose. The rose is called the queen of flowers.

The annual plant sale will be Saturday, May 5, at the Hereford Garden Center beginning at 9 a.m.

Later in the afternoon members hosted the Westgate Nursing Home's birthday party.

The next meeting will be a covered dish scheduled for May 10, at the Cowgirl Hall of Fame. The program will be on flower arrangements.

Members present were Wilma Bryan, Phyllis Brown, Ursalee Jacobsen, Johnson, Maria Escamilla, Naomi Hare and Mildred Fuhrmann.

CLAY DELAY

JESUP, Ga. (AP) - Soil's appearance and its enhancement of growth may only be skin deep: sub-surface clay can starve trees of the water needed for survival.

It takes four times longer to moisten dry clay soil to a depth of one foot than sandy soil, according to Georgia-Pacific Corp. Clay soils can be improved by adding lime, coarse sand or peat for easier absorption of water.

Designer garden saves time

With professional assistance from your favorite retailer of lawn and garden goods, you can enjoy the benefits of a custom-designed garden, advises the Garden Council. The organization of firms and professionals representing the lawn and garden industry notes that the right combination of grass, ground covers, large plantings, and hard surfaces can be created to suit your particular lifestyle and your area's water supply.

Base your design guidelines on your family's needs and requirements. You'll want to establish a grassy area for gatherings and games. Select an appropriate size for your needs because you'll regret having an oversized lawn that won't be used as much as you'd like (though it will still require more of your time).

Put the lawn where family members spend the most time. With youngsters this usually means the backyard. A plain shape for the lawn will reduce water use and mowing time. Add accents for interest and other benefits: A trellis can shade the sitting area; in one corner, an herb and vegetable garden will bring activity to the backyard; and a colorful stone path through the flower garden will encourage browsers.

When the children have grown and moved away, there will be more time to entertain. In such cases, a raised deck and several brightly-colored container plants may be more effective. Invite guests into the home by placing borders of color-rich flowers and interesting trees along the walkway leading to the front door. Enjoy a semiprivate area of your backyard by using a fence and shrubs to screen it from the street.

Use your space efficiently. Surround a brick patio with herbs and dwarf fruit trees. For more shade, cover the trellis with grape vines. In the front, be decorative and display your individual style while saving water and maintenance efforts. This is a perfect spot to show off lush fruit-bearing shrubs, ground covers, and ornamental plants.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: I thought your readers could learn from our mistake. Our car overheated and a small amount of antifreeze leaked out onto the garage floor. Unfortunately, we didn't think to clean it up.
Our dog, Misty, a golden retriever, licked up some of the spill without us knowing it. She got very sick and we took her to the veterinarian, but unfortunately she died. The vet said that animals love the sweet taste and that only 2 ounces can kill a dog. When ingested there is very little they can do, and it almost always results in death.

We loved our dog and hope that through her death, other pet owners will wipe up antifreeze spills immediately. — Mrs. Cathy Larson, Ypsilanti, Mich.

You're so right! My favorite veterinarian, Dr. Tom Vice, says that if an animal ingests any amount of antifreeze, rush to the vet immediately. Please take heed and dispose of antifreeze safely. — Heloise

FIBERGLASS TUB
Q. We just had a new fiberglass bathtub installed in our home and would like the best way to keep it shiny and looking new. Any suggestions? — Betty Grant, Salt Lake City, Utah

A. We have had several readers write in with good results from using car or boat wax on the fiberglass tubs and showers.

Diane Perkins of El Paso, Texas, suggests cleaning the shower walls with a non-abrasive cleaner and applying some of the wax to the walls and sides of the tub, then using an electric buffer to get a great shine.

One word of caution: Never use the wax on the bottom of the tub or shower. It will make it slippery and dangerous. — Heloise

DIETER'S TIP
Dear Heloise: Instead of using commercial chip dip with potato chips, try cottage cheese. It tastes great and can be spiced up with some pepper or paprika with a lot less calories and fat. — Vicki Hustetter, Mt. Clemens, Mich.

I mix cottage cheese in the blender with a dash of low-calorie Italian dressing. Yum! — Heloise

Our Best Friends Are Cutting Us To Pieces.

Our best friends don't always give us the best treatment. Typically, they invite us into their homes, read us like a book, take what they need from us, and put us aside to use again at their convenience.

It's a tough existence, but we don't mind. In fact, we like it. The news, editorials, and advertising coupons clipped from our pages provide our readers with knowledge, enlightenment, even an occasional 30c off on breakfast cereal. We're kind of flattered that people enjoy hanging onto bits and pieces of us - sometimes for years. That's something no other local advertising medium can offer.

So, although our friends keep cutting us to pieces, we'll keep showing up at their homes. Our only request: sharp scissors and a steady hand.

Trevino looking to take advantage of Nicklaus' Legends absence

AUSTIN (AP) - Jack Nicklaus is among the missing and Lee Trevino wants to make the most of it this week. "Jack said he won't be playing on the seniors (tour) for a while, so we better make it while we can," said Trevino, who's among those teeing off today in the first round of the Legends of Golf.

Trevino, like Nicklaus a rookie on the over-50 tour, won three of four starts early this season before Nicklaus made his Senior Tour debut with a victory in Arizona.

He and Trevino tied for third behind Gary Player last week in the PGA Seniors Championship in Florida.

"With Jack and Gary gone, that opens up some spots at the top," Trevino said. "That's good."

"What's bad is you know they're going to be coming back, so you better make it while you can."

"Nothing's changed. Just like 20 years ago, you knew when Jack and Gary weren't playing, you'd better do your thing before they got back."

Trevino is teamed with Jim Dent in a pairing that is rated the most likely to succeed in the two-man best-ball competition involving an elite field of 28 teams.

"I'm playing pretty good now, and Dent is so long, we might be in pretty good shape," Trevino said.

Their chief opposition could come from defending title-holders Al Geiberger and Harold Henning, Chi Chi Rodriguez and Dave Hill, or 1988-89 winners Bruce Crampton and Orville Moody.

Some other leading teams include Bob Charles and Bruce Devlin, Mike Hill and Walt Zembriski, Charles Coady and Dale Douglass, Don January and Gene Littler and Larry Mowry and Frank Beard.

Tom Shaw replaced Arnold Palmer as Miller Barber's partner. Palmer was forced to withdraw because he is involved in a legal dispute in Orlando, Fla.

The tournament is divided into two sections, with 18 teams competing for $600,000 in the Legends division for players 50 and older, and 10 teams chasing $150,000 in the Legendary Champions division for players 60 and older.

All-Sports Banquet slated for May 14

The Hereford Whiteface All-Sports Banquet has been scheduled for 6 p.m. May 14 at the Bull Barn, according to Hereford Athletic Director Don Cumpton.

Cumpton said Texas Tech head football coach Spike Dykes is scheduled to address the banquet.

The banquet will also serve as the presentation of the 1990 Media Awards, Casey Smith Memorial Awards, Fighting Heart Awards, Best Athletes and the Whiteface Booster Club's Fan of the Year.

The Media Awards will be presented to the top member of the varsity football, volleyball, cross-country, basketball, baseball, tennis, golf and track and field teams.

Cumpton added that members of all Hereford High School athletic teams from freshman through varsity will be recognized.

Anyone wishing to attend the banquet should contact the Athletic Department at 364-0616 for ticket information.

Tom Leach of the Pittsburgh Pirates led the National League in home runs in 1902 with only six.

The PGA Championship was decided by match play from 1916 to 1958 when the winner became the player with the lowest score.

The Legendary Champions also can compete in the younger division if they choose. Roberto deVicenzo and Charlie Sifford are the Legendary Champions defending title-holders.

This tournament, generally credited with providing the impetus for the formation of the Seniors Tour, has been moved to the new Barton Creek Country Club this year.

It marks the first time the 13-year-old event has not been held at Onion Creek, where, in 1980, the long televised playoff between the Tommy Bolt-Art Wall and Julius Boros-deVicenzo teams first brought public attention to golf's senior players.

Due to the extremely hilly terrain of the new course and the distance between green and tee, tournament officials said the use of golf carts would be mandatory.

Portions of the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday will be televised nationally by NBC.
