Jubilee events begin on Friday

'Billy the Kid' float in parade

Judge Bob Hefner of Hico, the man behind the controversial Brushy Bill Robert's claim of being Billy the Kid, will take part in Hereford's Town & Country Jubilee Saturday.

Judge Hefner will be on the Billy the Kid Outdoor Drama parade entry as well as appearing at the Jubilee Junction program at noon with Larry Buchanan and his Caprock Band.

Judge Hefner will join the pre-show activity at the Caprock Amphitheatre's outdoor drama, "Billy the Kid", Saturday evening at San Jon, N.M.

The Billy the Kid movie, "Young Guns II," now in local theaters, tells the Brushy Bill Robert's version of the famous confrontation between the Kid and Sheriff Pat Garrett. Judge Hefner has received much attention this year with his claim. "Unsolved Mysteries" had a segment on the national TV program, as did Sam Donaldson on ABC's "Prime-time Live" concerning the controversy.

For the third time in four years in debates with Hefner, Don McAlavy, historian-playwright, will try to settle the matter of the Kid's death with Judge Hefner at a confrontation at the Caprock Amphitheatre Saturday evening. McAlavy's drama at the amphitheatre follows Pat Garrett's version of the death of Billy the Kid. This drama closes its season Aug. 18.

The Town and Country Jubilee hits high speed on Friday with a variety of events at The Barn and the opening of the Jubile of Arts at the Hereford Community Center.

A variety of craftsmen from Texas and New Mexico will display their wares from noon to 6 p.m. Friday and from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday at the Community Center. The show is open to the public and is sponsored by the Pilot Club.

A fajita cookoff and cowboy and cowgirl poetry recitation will help highlight the 15th annual Hall of Fame All Girl Rodeo at The Barn, six miles west and two miles north of Hereford, on Friday.

The rodeo will feature 120 contestants in seven events at 7 p.m. on Friday and Saturday and 3 p.m. on Sunday. Tickets to the rodeo are $4 per person.

Before Friday's performance, the second annual Fajita Cookoff, sponsored by Hereford CattleWomen, will be held, with tasting beginning at 6 p.m. on the east side of The Barn. Entry information is available by calling the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce at 364-3333.

Beginning at 5:30 p.m., the annual Hereford Cowboy/Cowgirl Poetry Roundup will be conducted, with Jake Holster of Amarillo chairing the event. Poetry, stories and songs of the west will be recited, told and sung by 13 persons from throughout Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

On Saturday, many more events will be held, including the Greg Black Memorial Run, the Jubilee Parade and Jubilee Junction. Entries are still being accepted for the Jubilee Parade at the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce office.

US gets unlikely allies

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States is recruiting unlikely partners - including Iran, Syria and the Soviet Union - in an expanding military and economic effort to isolate Iraq. A burgeoning force of U.S. combat troops took up defensive positions in the deserts of Saudi Arabia.

Sen. Sam Nunn, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said Wednesday night the next 48 hours could decide whether Iraqi troops launch an attack on oil-rich Saudi Arabia. "If there is an attack, it's likely to come before we have all our intelligence in place," the Georgia Democrat said.

President Bush expressed optimism that new pressure would force Iraqi President Saddam Hussein to abandon his conquest of Kuwait and his threatening military position on the Saudi border.

"There are some indications that he's already beginning to feel the pinch," Bush said at a news conference Wednesday. "Nobody can stand up forever to total economic deprivation."

The stakes are high. Saudi Arabia provided 7 percent of U.S. oil last year, and Bush is counting on increased Saudi production to make up the loss of Iraqi and Kuwaiti supplies.

"A line has been drawn in the sand," Bush declared as U.S. warplanes and ground forces arrived in Saudi Arabia. However, he said, "We're not in a war."

Top U.S. military officials refused to reveal the size of the president's commitment to Saudi defense, but some diplomatic sources put the troop level at about 30,000 and several other estimates ranged up to 50,000. On the first day of deployment, at least 5,000 ground troops were being dispatched, officials said, backed by an armada of air and seapower. Another 4,000 Marines were moved close to the Saudi-Kuwait border, diplomatic sources said.

No one was guessing how long they would be away from home.

"The situation's uncertain. We don't know how long it will last. We don't know when it will end," Defense Secretary Dick Cheney said.

US troops in place for defense

By The Associated Press
Iraq insists that it harbors no plans to invade Saudi Arabia, but U.S. troops and fighter jets continued to pour into the desert kingdom today. Washington tried to enlist Syria and Iran in the anti-Iraqi effort.

A week after overrunning Kuwait and a day after annexing it, Iraq further intertwined the two countries today. It appointed the head of Kuwait's Iraq-installed government a deputy prime minister of Iraq, and canceled Baghdad's multibillion-dollar debt to Kuwait.

The U.N. Security Council was scheduled to meet in New York to approve a resolution refusing to recognize the annexation. In Cairo, Egypt, Arab leaders were to hold a summit they called a last-ditch search for a peaceful solution.

Saudi Arabia's King Fahd, in his first public comment since the invasion of Kuwait, said Iraq's actions forced his kingdom to seek foreign military help.

"These forces from friendly powers are here temporarily," the king said in a nationally televised address. "They are to help defend the kingdom... and will leave here as soon as the kingdom so demands."

Arab nations have been reluctant to join in the multinational military effort. Egypt's president, Hosni Mubarak, said Wednesday that he would not honor Washington's request to join the U.S.-led multinational force. He suggested an all-Arab deterrent force instead.

Britain has pledged to send jet fighters and warships to bolster the U.S. forces, but it was the only nation to join Washington in backing a U.N.-ordered trade embargo with troops.

Concern mounted for the estimated 3,000 Americans in Kuwait and 500 in Iraq who have not been allowed to leave. Iraq on Wednesday night turned over a 10-year-old California girl to U.S. diplomats in Baghdad but kept 38 other Americans who were taken off an airliner in Kuwait.

Iraqi President Saddam Hussein's lightning invasion of his small, oil-rich neighbor prompted an international boycott of oil from Iraq - the world's second-largest crude exporter after Saudi Arabia.

Iraq's trade minister, Mohammed Mahdi Salih, said today that his country is strong enough to withstand the "unjust economic boycott resolution against Iraq sponsored by the United States."

The Saudis and other oil producers including Venezuela, Mexico, Iran and Nigeria have indicated they will pump more crude to make up for the loss of Iraqi and Kuwaiti production, which experts say totaled 4 million barrels daily before the crisis.

Oil prices, which had shot up at the onset of the crisis, began dropping.

President Bush is deploying thousands of troops and scores of warplanes in the Saudi desert and has sent three aircraft carrier groups to the region.

Iraq has an estimated 100,000 troops just across the border in Kuwait - but the Americans have superior air and sea power.

Diplomatic sources in Riyadh, the Saudi capital, said Marines arrived early today near Khafji, a coastal city seven miles south of the Kuwaiti border that includes an oil terminal.

Temperatures soared to at least 110 degrees Wednesday as U.S. troops landed and set up battle stations in the harsh Arabian desert. The kingdom is one-third the size of the continental United States.

Bush declined to discuss the size of the U.S. military force. But government sources said Wednesday at least 5,000 ground troops were en route or already taking up positions on Saudi soil, along with 140 sophisticated fighters and bombers.

Diplomatic sources said the U.S. force buildup would total at least 40,000 troops. Several other estimates ranged up to 50,000. In addition, a formidable U.S. naval fleet is gathering in and around the Gulf and the Mediterranean.

Travellers from the Khafji border point said Saudi troops in the area confronting the Iraqi-occupied Kuwait were buttressing their own positions continuously with missiles, tanks and armor.

By The Associated Press
At a glance, these are among the latest developments involving Iraq and Kuwait:
Thousands of elite U.S. troops took up positions in Saudi Arabia today as President Bush vowed to protect the kingdom and its rich oil reserves. The president has ruled out an invasion of Iraq-occupied Kuwait and expressed optimism that an expanding military and economic blockade will force Iraq to abandon its conquest.
Iraqi President Saddam Hussein responded to the arrival of the U.S. expeditionary force in Saudi Arabia by announcing an outright annexation of Kuwait, which his army overran last week.
Egypt and Morocco decided Wednesday not to join a U.S.-led multinational force in Saudi Arabia, at least for the moment. Arab leaders were gathering today in Cairo, Egypt, for an emergency summit in a final attempt to find a diplomatic solution. Iraq gave no indication it would attend.
Three days after ordering a worldwide economic boycott of Iraq, the United Nations Security Council was expected today to overwhelmingly approve a draft resolution that asks all nations to refuse to recognize the Iraqi annexation.
U.S. Secretary of State James A. Baker assured Turkey today it would get full support from NATO if it becomes a target of Iraqi aggression for banning ships from loading Iraqi crude oil at offshore terminals. Baker also has been seeking Syrian and Iranian participation in undercutting Iraq's leader.
President Bush has called on oil companies to hold down price increases. Oil prices dropped sharply and financial markets steadied after U.S. forces moved into Saudi Arabia and reports that the kingdom would increase its oil production.
Iraq turned over a 10-year-old American girl to U.S. diplomats in Baghdad but kept 38 other Americans confined to a hotel under armed guard. Concern mounted for the estimated 3,000 Americans in Kuwait and 500 in Iraq who were not allowed to leave.

HISD sets registration

Registration activities will begin next week for Hereford Independent School District students for the 1990-91 school year.

Classes in the HISD will begin August 29.

Registration for Kindergarten through sixth grade will be held at the elementary campuses on August 15, 16 and 17 from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at each of the campuses.

Parents who have Kindergarten or first grade students entering school for the first time should bring proof of age documents, immunization records and the child's Social Security number. Actual student assignment to teachers will be made by the building principal.

Pre-Kindergarten classes and registration will also be held next Wednesday through Friday, from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., at the Stanton Special Program Center, 711 E. Park. Pre-Kindergarten classes are open only to children of families who meet low-income or limited English proficiency guidelines.

The pre-Kindergarten classes will be half-day sessions, with morning or afternoon assignments made by the administrator. Transportation will be available in the morning for students who live more than two miles away from Stanton assigned to the morning class, and transportation will be available for students going home who are eligible to be used in the afternoon class. Parents are responsible for all other transportation. Breakfast will be provided for the morning classes, and a snack is provided for the afternoon classes.

An orientation meeting for parents of seventh grade students at Hereford Junior High will be held August 20 at 6:30 p.m. at the HJH cafeteria. Parents may pick up their child's schedule at that time, and schedules will not be given to students whose parents do not attend the meeting.

Eighth grade students may pick up their schedules at the HJH office from August 21-24, anytime from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. each of the days.

Persons with other questions about registration, or if parents are unsure which school their child will attend, should contact campus administrators or the central administration office.

Panhandle producers object to 'black eye'

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) - Independent oil and gas producers in the Texas Panhandle say the increase in fuel prices by major oil companies after Iraq invaded Kuwait has left them taking the heat from consumers. "We wish the major companies would go slower with their price hikes," said Julian Martin, executive vice president of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association. "This has happened before."

"We understand the problem of replacement costs, but where does that start? Do you have to do that on what's already in storage?" Martin said.

After selling oil and natural gas at the wellhead, independent producers say they have no control over what retailers charge at the pump.

"I object to the black eye we're taking on these pump prices," said Barrett W. Pierce, president of Amarillo-based Rio Petroleum.

Pierce said refiners, distributors and wholesalers raised gas prices too quickly after the Iraqi invasion.

Gasoline prices in the Panhandle shot up as much as 17 cents a gallon Aug. 2, after news broke of the attack.

But Jere Smith, a spokesman for Phillips Petroleum Co., said the major oil companies are not gouging.

Some retailers may have been overreacting to news of the Middle East conflicts by raising prices to protect profit margins, Smith said.

"It's perception, people at all levels, not just big oil companies, are seeing the threat out there and so they're doing things," he said.

Conoco Inc. on Wednesday reduced its so-called "rack" gasoline prices by three to four cents per gallon in response to a decline in the spot oil market, said spokesman Carlton Adams in Houston.

Adams also said Conoco would continue to follow market trends.

Bush cabinet stresses positive of S&L mess

WASHINGTON (AP) - One year after President Bush signed landmark savings and loan bailout legislation, the administration is trying to accentuate the positive about its handling of the still-worsening mess.

Anticipating a chorus of criticism around today's anniversary of the bill, Bush's Cabinet officers are emphasizing the bailout's benefits to depositors, minimizing the rising cost to taxpayers and denouncing what they call the "blame game" played by congressional Democrats.

"The staggering size of the cost estimates understandably alarms taxpayers and frightens politicians into finger-pointing and blame-avoiding. The line in the political world goes, 'Since I don't make mistakes, someone else must be making them,'" Treasury Secretary Nicholas F. Brady said Wednesday.

Overlooked in the furor, he said, is the fact that the Financial Institutions Reform, Recovery and Enforcement Act of 1989, as it is formally known, has so far protected 6.4 million deposit accounts averaging around $10,000 each.

"Our job is to conduct the massive cleanup operation effectively and responsibly, to rise above the political blame game, and to work steadily and professionally to get the job done," Brady said.

Attorney General Dick Thornburgh and chief White House economic adviser Michael Boskin also are defending the administration at other events this week.

But the record over the last year and the outlook for the next is decidedly mixed.

The Resolution Trust Corp., created to handle the bailout, has closed or sold 211 insolvent thrifts and plans to deal with 126 more this year.

But that would leave it still running 135 collapsed thrifts and looking ahead to an additional 230 to 550 failures among the remaining 2,430 privately-run S&Ls.

Solvent S&Ls lost $271 million in the first three months of 1990 even though they are under less pressure from insolvent institutions desperately seeking deposits with high interest rates.

The Justice Department established financial institution fraud task forces in 27 cities and hired 118 assistant U.S. attorneys and 153 FBI agents. But complex fraud cases take years to prosecute and it is too soon to tell if the added staff will make significant headway against a backlog of 21,147 criminal referrals.

The S&L cleanup is far wider and its cost far deeper than envisioned on Aug. 9, 1989, when Bush signed the law in a sunny Rose Garden ceremony.

"If someone would have told me the day of the bill signing that S&Ls would be the No. 1 issue and the crisis would look even worse than it did a year ago, I would have said, 'You're crazy,'" said Rep. Charles Schumer, D-N.Y., a member of the House Banking Committee. "Yet, that's exactly where we are."

The cost of the bailout contributed to Bush's decision to abandon his "no new taxes" pledge and led to the first serious congressional push since Watergate to reform campaign finance laws.

The bailout also threatens to spill into the general economy as a credit crunch. Real estate developers and small businesses already are complaining that they can't get loans. The Federal Reserve Board has been forced to cut interest rates.

Savings and loans, barely mentioned in the 1988 presidential race, have become a prime issue in this year's congressional races.

IRAQ-----

In a televised address to the nation Wednesday, Bush denied the United States was at war with Iraq but said "a line has been drawn in the sand." He called the U.S. effort "wholly defensive."

He offered no guess as to when the operation might end. Defense Secretary said it could last for months.

Bush demanded Iraq's "immediate, complete and unconditional" withdrawal from Kuwait.

Laying out reasons for the largest deployment outside the Western hemisphere since the Vietnam War, Bush said America imports half its oil from abroad and "could face a major threat to its economic independence" if Saddam were to seize Saudi Arabia.

Iraq asserted that its expansionism would not extend to Saudi Arabia.

"We deny categorically those allegations," an unidentified spokesman for the country's ruling council was quoted as saying Wednesday.

In New York, Iraq's U.N. ambassador Abdul Al-Anbari said: "The whole policy of America is based on a fallacy - namely that Iraq plans to invade Saudi Arabia."

Exchange student returns for visit

BY KAY CRISMON
Staff Writer

Dr. Thomas Graf of Munich, Germany was not surprised when he received an invitation to Leo and Louise Witkowskis' 50th wedding anniversary held Aug. 4, at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center. The family has kept in close contact since he stayed in their home 23 years ago as an exchange student.

"My family and I usually spend vacation time together, but with the girls, 13-year-old Stephanie and seven-year-old Hannah going off to camp, our vacation plans were split for the summer. Fifteen-year-old Nicolas, my wife Gertrud, and I were making plans to go sight seeing this summer," Dr. Graf said.

Changes began to take place when Dr. Graf received the invitation. He was talking with a friend at the hospital where he works in internal medicine and as a surgeon, and made the comment that it would be nice to visit Hereford and see his second family again.

"A couple of days later at breakfast Gertrud and I were talking about vacation time. I mentioned the invitation and she thought it would be great for me to come back to Hereford. The next thing I knew I was on a plane flying to Chicago.

Dr. Graf began pondering back to his senior year in Hereford (1966-67) and how he could hardly speak English when he came to visit the Witkowskis. Their son, Gerald, was also a senior that year.

"I remember being so amazed at the cars teenagers drove since I didn't know anything about driving a car and my only transportation as a teenager was walking or riding a bike. Some of the people in Hereford thought it strange to see me (a teenager at the time) walking to town.

"One of the things that I will always remember about Hereford is the hospitality everyone extended to me," he added.

When the plane reached Amarillo, A.F. Dillard, a friend of the Witkowskis, was at the airport to pick up Dr. Graf. On the drive into Hereford, Dr. Graf realized that Hereford had not changed much over the years. "It seemed as if the flowers still smelled the same and so did the feedlots. It really didn't seem like it had been 23 years, more like yesterday," Dr. Graf commented.

Dillard had Dr. Graf stay at his house for the night because his visit here was to be a surprise to the Witkowskis. Their daughter, Jane Geppert, had sent Dr. Graf a reception invitation without her parents' knowledge. In the beginning the plan was to surprise the Witkowskis at the reception. At noon the plan changed when Dr. Graf decided to walk next door, ring the door bell and say "Hi".

"Everyone was really surprised to see me and Leo cried with happiness. It was such a joy to be there with my second family," Dr. Graf said.

Louise had gone to the airport to pick up other relatives that would be attending the reception. She was really caught off guard. "I will never forget the look on her face when she saw me. She screamed, 'Thomas' and we hugged and hugged," Dr. Graf said.

One of Dr. Graf dreams was to visit the Rocky Mountains. He wanted to tour west of Texas and this next week that dream will come true. Lou Ann Rounds, the Witkowskis' daughter who lives in Des Moines, Iowa, will be leaving for Denver, Colo., and has asked Dr. Graf to travel with her. "This will give me a chance to see a lot of territory that I have dreamed about in the past," Dr. Graf said.

"I plan on going to Dallas to visit Jane, after all, if it hadn't been for her I wouldn't be here. Her husband is also a doctor and I am looking forward to spending time with both of them."

"Dr. Graf really made our 50th wedding anniversary extra special. We were happy to have him among the 200 guests that attended," Mrs. Witkowski said.

Exercise myths revealed

When it comes to fitness, "no pain, no gain" may be not true, not true.

Pain is a warning signal and if ignored might mean injury or other negative medical condition, say the editors of Weight Watchers magazine.

They note some other fitness theories they consider fallacies:

- "Muscle turns to fat when you stop exercising." A fit individual who stops exercising may lose muscle mass and put on fat if food intake is not adjusted accordingly, but this is new fat, not converted fat.

- "You can 'sweat off' excess weight through exercise." What you "sweat off" is water; you "burn off" excess weight by exercising and cutting calories.

- "Stretching before a workout is unnecessary." On the contrary, it's one of the most important parts of the workout. It helps prevent injuries and increases circulation.

- "Never drink while exercising." By all means, drink; it's important to avoid dehydration and overheating during exercise. Water is preferred, since it is absorbed quicker, won't upset your stomach and helps the internal cool-down process.

Family gathers for reunion

Seventy-eight family members and three guests recently attended the reunion of Donnie and the late Gleaves Owen at the Sequoia Mountain in Fayetteville, Ark.

Family members from Portland, Ore., Chicago, Ill., St. Peter, Minn., Carrollton, Mo., Norborn, Mo., Union, Mo., Olethe, Kan., Sioux City, Iowa, Austin, Waco, Fort Worth, Trenchard, Plano, Carrollton, and Hereford attended the event.

Activities for the three-day event were swimming, golfing, games and visiting.

Like Boston, New Jersey had a "tea party" during the mounting friction between the colonies and Great Britain. At Greenwich, near Delaware Bay, young men in Indian costume burned a shipload of tea from England in 1774.

Faldo in quest of third major title

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) - Nick Faldo says he feels no pressure in his quest to become only the second professional to win three of golf's four major championships in one season.

"It's no real pressure on it because it's not as though you're expected to do it," Faldo said Wednesday. "It's something that would be great to achieve."

Faldo needs a victory in the 72nd PGA Championship starting today on the 7,145-yard Shoal Creek course to match Ben Hogan's accomplishment 37 years ago when he won the Masters and the U.S. and British Opens.

The only player in history to win the Grand Slam was amateur Bobby Jones in 1930 when the four majors were the U.S. and British Opens and Amateurs.

Faldo's quest takes the spotlight as golf, not the controversy of the last six weeks, takes center stage at Shoal Creek. The site became a controversial issue in June when it was learned that Shoal Creek had no black members.

The Southern Christian Leadership Conference threatened to picket the tournament until Shoal Creek gave an honorary membership to a black businessman last week.

Faldo faced an 8:19 CDT start in his bid to win this title, the feature pairing of the day.

Joining Faldo were U.S. Open champion Hale Irwin and Payne Stewart, trying to become the first PGA repeat champion since Denny Shute won it in 1936 and 1937 when the format was match play. The PGA went to stroke play in 1958.

All three players are considered among the favorites on this course that demands accurate tee shots to avoid the deep rough that has had many players grumbling during the practice rounds.

McEnroe, Graf win

MASON, Ohio (AP) - For John McEnroe, it was another step forward; for Mats Wilander, another one back.

McEnroe, playing his familiar slashing and aggressive style, advanced to the third round in singles play at the ATP Championship with a 7-6 (6-3), 6-2 victory over France's Jean-Philippe Fleurian.

"It's been years and years, maybe five years, since I really gave (tennis) all I could," McEnroe said of his fall from the pinnacle of the sport. "Now I feel I'm doing what I have to do."

McEnroe said his conditioning was better and that he was feeling more comfortable and confident in his game.

"Without question it will take me working harder to get to the level I want to get back to," he said.

McEnroe, seeded eighth, won the ATP title in 1981. He meets 27-year-old Scott Davis in a third-round match Thursday evening.

While McEnroe was playing like anything but a ghost, Wilander was still trying to regain the touch that produced 32 professional titles from 1981 to 1989, including the 1988 U.S. Open.

After a four-month layoff, the Swede has struggled. Despite showing flashes of his old brilliance, he was eliminated by Australian Darren Cahill, 6-3, 6-2.

Wilander is 12-7 on the ATP Tour this year and has not won a tournament in two years.

Swedish players have won the ATP Championship five of the last seven years and have been in the finals each of those years. Twice, both finalists were from Sweden.

But Stefan Edberg was the only Swede to make it through two rounds. Three others were eliminated in qualifying or the first round.

Edberg, the reigning Wimbledon champion, came from behind to edge Czechoslovakia's Milan Srejber 6-4, 6-7 (7-5), 6-4 in an featured afternoon match on the stadium court.

Ten of 11 seeded players won in singles matches Wednesday. Andrei Chesnokov of the Soviet Union, seeded ninth, was the lone upset victim, losing to Scott Davis 6-3, 6-2.

Defending champion Brad Gilbert, seeded fourth, beat David Wheaton 6-3, 6-2.

No. 5 Aaron Krickstein beat Sweden's Johan Carlsson 6-2, 7-6 (8-6); No. 6 Jay Berger was a 6-2, 6-7 (5-7), 6-4 winner over Nicolas Pereira of Uruguay; and No. 7 Michael Chang defeated Israel's Amos Mansdorf 6-0, 6-4.

Other seeded winners included No. 10 Pete Sampras, No. 11 Jim Courier and No. 13 Guy Forget.

SAN DIEGO (AP) - Steffi Graf is mad about winning.

On Wednesday night, she held off Kathy Rinaldi 6-3, 6-4 to advance to the quarterfinals of the Great American tournament.

Still, the top-ranked Graf was upset over aspects of her play. "I didn't really play well at all. I got angry at myself," said Graf, who grumbled to herself occasionally during the match. "I had some good shots but I didn't finish them up the right way."

Rinaldi, though, said Graf's woes are not of her own doing.

"She's dominated for so long now that when other players give her trouble she thinks she's struggling," said Rinaldi.

"I think I played a good solid match," added Rinaldi, currently ranked 72nd but once rated as high as No. 7 in 1986 before being derailed a year later by a thumb injury.

Graf, ranked No. 1 since Aug. 16, 1987, is 43-3 overall in 1990. She only lost two matches all of last year while winning 83.

In an earlier match Wednesday that closed out first-round play, Zina

Garrison ousted Gigi Fernandez, winning seven straight games en route to a 6-2, 6-2 victory.

After closing the first set with four winning games, the fifth-ranked Garrison lost only two points in taking the first three games of the second set.

Second-round play began when fourth-seeded Manuella Maleeva-Fragniere topped Patty Fendick 6-1, 6-2 in Wednesday's first match.

Ann Grossman defeated eighth-seeded Raffaella Reggi of Italy 6-2, 2-6, 6-1 in the day's lone upset.

Winfield's actions cleared

HOUSTON (AP) - Baseball commissioner Fay Vincent doesn't think there's anything to gambling allegations against California Angels outfielder Dave Winfield.

"It's not a serious issue," Vincent said Wednesday prior to the Houston-San Francisco game at the Astrodome.

Vincent responded to a recent magazine story in which Winfield was cited as a gambler when he played for the New York Yankees.

Sports Illustrated, in its Aug. 13 issue, named several individuals and one unidentified source as saying Winfield gambled on sports other than baseball when he was a member of the Yankees.

"I read the story," Vincent said. "I talked to (baseball investigator) John Dowd. We did, despite what Sports Illustrated said, investigate. As far as we're concerned, at this point it's not a serious issue. ... John is satisfied that there is nothing very significant in the story."

The magazine also quoted sources as saying Winfield knew of Howard Spira's links to gamblers when he loaned him $15,000.

Dodgers down stumbling Reds

By JOHN KREISER
AP Sports Writer

Mike Scioscia needed a breather to find his swing. Dave Justice needed a change of position. Scioscia, who hadn't started since Sunday, went 4-for-4 and drove in two runs as the Los Angeles Dodgers downed the stumbling Cincinnati Reds 4-2 on Wednesday night.

Justice, shifted from first base to right field after Dale Murphy was dealt to Philadelphia, hit two homers for the second straight game as Atlanta downed San Diego 7-1. Scioscia and the Dodgers had an off-day on Monday and the 31-year-old catcher was used only as a pinch-hitter in Tuesday's 1-0 loss to the Reds. He appreciated the time off. "I think the couple of days off helped me," Scioscia said after hitting two doubles and a pair of RBI singles. "I felt fresh tonight, and I managed to get some hits." The Reds managed some hits - seven - off Fernando Valenzuela (9-9), but scored only in the first when Chris Sabo hit a two-run homer. Their other six hits were singles, three of which didn't leave the infield.

The middle of the Reds' lineup again failed to drive in runners - the main problem during a 4-12 stretch that has allowed San Francisco to close within five games in the NL West. The Giants beat Houston 8-4 earlier Wednesday and come to Cincinnati for a four-game series starting Friday. The third-place Dodgers are eight games out. In other games, it was New York 8, Philadelphia 4; Montreal 6, Pittsburgh 2; and Chicago 4, St. Louis 3 in 15 innings.

Giants 8, Astros 4
The Giants, who've been in a batting slump for the last couple of weeks, broke out with 16 hits. Pinch-hitter Greg Litton's tie-breaking, two-run double sparked a three-run eighth inning. Litton's two-run double off Juan Agosto (5-7) broke a 4-4 tie and Kevin Mitchell singled in another run. Trevor Wilson (8-3) gave up four runs and seven hits in seven innings and Mark Thurmond pitched two innings for his fourth save.

continued his mastery of Pittsburgh with a six-hitter. Raines doubled in a run in the sixth and added a two-run double in the seventh as Montreal ended Doug Drabek's six-game winning streak. Drabek is 14-5 overall but 1-3 against the Expos. Martinez (8-8) walked one and struck out five. Cubs 4, Cardinals 3
Andre Dawson singled home the winning run with two outs in the 15th inning. Joe Girardi singled to open the 15th off Tom Niedenfuer (0-5), who had failed to hold a 3-2 lead in the 13th. Jerome Walton singled one out later and Grace was hit by a pitch with two outs, loading the bases. Dawson then hit a soft single to left. Bill Long (5-0), the fifth Chicago pitcher, pitched one inning and was the winner.

Fisk hits historic homerun; Rangers lose to Indians

By DICK BRINSTER
AP Sports Writer

While Kansas City's Tom Gordon may recall pitching an outstanding game, the 1 in his 5-1 victory over Chicago will be remembered as a piece of baseball history.

It was a home run by Carlton Fisk, a blow that left the 19-year veteran tied with Hall-of-Famer Johnny Bench for the most ever by a catcher. Both have hit 327 as receivers.

Predictably, Fisk downplayed the homer.

"It would have been nice if it had helped us win a game," the 42-year Fisk said Wednesday night.

The homer was his 12th of the season, 349th of his career and tied him with George Foster for 43rd on the all-time list. Fisk also tied Ted Williams for No. 4 on the list for home runs by players over 40 with 44. Bench finished with 389 homers.

Elsewhere in the American League, it was Baltimore 4, Oakland 1; Cleveland 5, Texas 3; Toronto 8, Detroit 3; Minnesota 4, Milwaukee 2; New York 6, Seattle 4, and California 8, Boston 6 in 11 innings.

Kevin Seitzer tied a Kansas City team record shared by many players with three doubles. Gordon (7-8) had eight strikeouts and one walk in his first victory since July 13. It was his second complete game. Seitzer doubled leading off the Kansas City first, took third on an infield out and scored on Danny Tartabull's grounder.

Blue Jays 8, Tigers 3
Pat Borders had a homer among three hits, drove in three runs and scored three to lead Toronto.

Borders, with his 13th, and Glenallen Hill, with his 11th, homered consecutively in the seventh inning. David Wells (8-3) went the first five innings for Toronto.

Fred McGriff led off a three-run Toronto second against Walt Terrell (0-1) with his 25th home run.

Orioles 4, Athletics 1
A triple play short-circuited Oakland and rookie Ben McDonald became the first Baltimore pitcher to win his first four major league starts.

Trailing 4-1 in the seventh, Oakland had Walt Weiss at first and Terry Steinbach at second when Willie Randolph lined out on a hit-and-run play to Ballard, who threw to shortstop Cal Ripken at second. He threw to Sam Horn at first for the triple play.

Indians 5, Rangers 3
Chris James had his fifth straight two-hit game, including a single that started a string of five consecutive hits by Cleveland in the fourth inning.

Rookie Jeff Shaw (2-2) got his second major league victory. Doug Jones, the third Cleveland pitcher, worked the ninth for his 29th save, allowing Harold Baines' 12th homer.

The Indians scored four runs on six hits in the fourth against Jamie Moyer (1-4).

Twins 4, Brewers 2
Hot-hitting Randy Bush had his second homer in as many games and rookie Scott Erickson (3-2) allowed five hits in seven innings.

Bush hit a two-run homer off Mark Knudson (8-6) to cap a three-run third inning.

Yankees 6, Mariners 4
Jesse Barfield, batting for Mel Hall, who had homered earlier, hit a two-run shot.

Trailing 4-3 in the seventh inning, the Yankees tied the score on a leadoff single by Alvaro Espinoza off Brian Holman and a two-out RBI double by Oscar Azocar off reliever Keith Comstock (5-3).

Angels 8, Red Sox 6
California's Lance Parrish snapped an 0-for-20 slump with a two-out, two-run homer in the 11th inning, scoring Brian Downing.

Downing singled off Dennis Lamp (3-4) and Parrish followed by lining a 1-2 pitch into the left field seats for his 18th homer.

Oilers, Lions eye run-and-shoot tilt

HOUSTON (AP) - The Houston Oilers and Detroit Lions may think they are looking in a mirror tonight when they open their NFL exhibition season in the Astrodome.

Both teams use the run-and-shoot offense exclusively and they'll both be exploring ways to stop it.

"Playing against their run-and-shoot or the Silver Stretch, it's not that much different," Houston coach Jack Pardee said.

"It's not that easy to prepare for. I don't think we're easy to prepare for either."

Pardee, Heisman Trophy winner Andre Ware, the Lions' unsigned No. 1 pick, and Oilers' No. 1 pick Lamar Lathon, will be honored in a halftime ceremony.

They all performed at the University of Houston last season.

The Oilers will contribute $2 from each single ticket sold to the University of Houston.

The Oilers beat the Lions 35-31 in the Astrodome last season, but working against the run-and-shoot hasn't been a training camp priority, Pardee said.

Lions coach Wayne Fontes with his offensive coaches Mouse Davis and June Jones became the first NFL club to use run-and-shoot fulltime last season.

The offense got off to a slow start but the Lions won their last five regular season games, finishing with a 7-9 record.

The Oilers used a four-wide receiver formation called the Red Gun last season but also employed a two-back set.

Houston lost its final three games, including a wild-card playoff loss to the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Pardee replaced Jerry Glanville this season and brought the run-and-shoot with him.

Fontes will start Rodney Peete at quarterback instead of Bob Gagliano.

Mets 8, Phillies 4
The Mets snapped a four-game losing streak as Gregg Jefferies and Darryl Strawberry each drove in three runs and David Cone won for the seventh time in eight decisions. Cone (8-5) allowed five hits and four runs in 7 2/3 innings and struck out five.

Jefferies had a two-run double in the second and an RBI single in the fourth. Strawberry had a sacrifice fly in the fourth and a two-run single in the fifth.

Expos 6, Pirates 2
The Expos snapped a six-game losing streak as Tim Lincecum broke an 0-for-18 slump with two run-scoring doubles and Dennis Martinez

Now AmWest can give you something few banks can...

A good night's sleep.

Now AmWest has "DreamSaver"—a savings program designed to bring peace of mind to all those who worry about saving money.

Here's how it works: You tell AmWest how much you want to save every month, (as little as $25 if you like) and they'll deduct it automatically from a free checking account (that's right, free checking) and put it into a CD account. Keep your money there for a full 12 months and it will earn a high-interest CD rate. Take it out early, and you'll get a penalty — three months interest or $50.

So "DreamSaver" not only helps you save money on a regular monthly basis — it helps you keep your hands off it too. And with a little money in savings — a good night's sleep will come a whole lot easier.

Put Your Money on Texas.

Substantial penalty for early withdrawal. Interest paid quarterly. Rates subject to change without notice.

Why are flamingos pink?

The flamingo is a pretty bird, which we always expect to be pink in color. However, it remains this color only if it gets the right diet. It must eat a particular type of shrimp, which enables it to retain its characteristic pink feathers.

And, by the way, did you know that the flamingo can only eat with its head upside down?

In the 3rd century B.C., the courtiers of the royal court in China were required to carry doves in their mouths in order to sweeten their breath when addressing the emperor.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I clipped the enclosed article from the Los Angeles Times many years ago when my twin daughters were babies. I have had it taped to a kitchen cabinet in every place that we have lived. It has become part of my life.

To my knowledge, this essay has never appeared anywhere else. I feel strongly that every mother, young or old, should reflect on the wisdom of this message. I have applied it to my own life since I first read it.

Now that my children are grown and busy with their own lives, I am glad I cherished every day I spent with them. It was this essay that opened my eyes. Please share it with your readers. Sign me -- A Faithful Fan

DEAR FAITHFUL: Thank you for sending this sensitive and heart-warming essay. I am sure it will move millions of mothers as it moved me. Did I see myself? Of course I did -- and they will, too. Here it is:

Dear Daughter: Although you are only 4 years old and will not understand what I am saying, I feel the need to write this letter and put it away for you to read many years from now.

When you were an infant and the newness of being a mother wore off, I couldn't wait until you grew up. At first I found myself wishing, "If only she would start walking!" And then, "If only she would start talking!" One day I suddenly realized that you were out of diapers. You were indeed walking and talking, and pretty soon you would be going off to school.

I remember the morning your father and I brought your baby sister home from the hospital. You and I had been apart six days. When the door opened I saw you standing there with your angel smile. You seemed so big compared to the baby I was holding in my arms. It was hard to imagine you were once that small.

I suddenly realized how much of your babyhood I had wished away. Being a mother is demanding. It robs you of so many freedoms, and I resented the fact that I had so many added responsibilities. And then I looked down at your soft curls and your trusting eyes. Suddenly I felt so ashamed. My heart almost broke.

I cannot relive those first four years, but I have been trying to make them up to you -- and to myself. I hope and pray that when your first child is born you will be wiser and more mature than I was. I hope you will enjoy every phase of your child's growing up and not wish they would hurry and pass so you could be free of the "burdens" of motherhood.

You and I will have our share of heated words and angry battles in the years to come. There will be days when we will find it impossible to please each other. I will secretly wish that you would hurry and graduate from high school so I could send you off to college and be rid of you.

Life rushes by all too rapidly, my darling daughter, especially the lovely days and the beautiful times. Be smarter than your mother was. Don't let a single moment slip away unsavored or unappreciated. These days are priceless and afford you the greatest opportunities for fulfillment. Never again will your heart be so full.

All my love,
Mother

ARTHRITIS AND CHILDREN

ATLANTA (AP) - If a child favors a joint or complains about aching joints, it may not be just growing pains. It could be arthritis.

The Arthritis Foundation says juvenile arthritis is a painful, sometimes debilitating disease that affects as many as 200,000 children in this country. With proper support, however, the children and their families can learn to cope with the disease and enjoy a full range of activities.

The major aim of treatment for juvenile arthritis is to help the child live as much like his or her peers as possible. Children should be encouraged to take an active part in their treatment programs and to learn as much as they can about arthritis. Parents should take care not to make the child totally dependent on them.

Club plans booth for Jubilee

The members of Toujours Amis Study Club met recently in the home of Nanette Ashby and plans were made for the traditional ice cream crepe booth for the Town 'n' Country Jubilee.

The booth will be in the Hereford Community Center at the Jubilee of Arts and will be operating Friday from noon to 6 p.m. and Saturday from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Members discussed the summer project and March of Dimes garage sale, which netted $600 to be donated to the organization.

A new member, Tammi Charist, was welcomed and a thank you note was read from 4-H Clubs for the donation made to the scholarship fund.

Aeroallergen specialists predict lots of discomfort

Americans who suffer from seasonal allergies face a tough season of wheezing and sneezing this fall, according to a nationwide survey of aeroallergen specialists.

Extreme weather patterns, including milder winters in the North and sporadic frosts in the South, have created fertile growing ground for tree, grass and ragweed allergens, the study indicates.

Midwesterners face the "worst ragweed year yet," and sufferers in the Northeast should brace themselves for an intense weed season, members of the Chlor-Trimeton Allergy Index Panel report.

The Southwest is expected to have flareups of grass pollens in the early fall. In the Southeast, frosts last winter destroyed and delayed tree growth, resulting in an overlap of tree and grass seasons, which the panel describes as "a devastating combination."

In 1865, the steamer Sultana exploded on the Mississippi River near Memphis, Tenn., killing more than 1,400 Union prisoners of war.

In the Far West, the study predicts a long, severe grass season extending through October will cause sufferers a good deal of discomfort.

An estimated 40 million Americans suffer from allergies, spend more than $1 billion annually treating their hay fever symptoms, and lose about 35 million sick days and $800 million in wages, the panelists note.

Some suggestions for controlling allergens include:

- Keep windows closed at night and use air conditioning, which cleans, cools and dries the air.

- Limit early morning outdoor activity when pollen levels are highest, and exercise later in the day when pollen levels taper off.

- After exercising, wash your hair and hands to clear clinging allergens.

- Take an antihistamine tablet 30 minutes before going outdoors.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: For years I have had problems with varicose ulcers on my right ankle. They last a long time. I use Betadine solution plus warm water to soak my foot twice a day. Then I put Oklahoma Crude on it, which is a mixture of sugar, Betadine ointment and Betadine solution. This seems to draw the infection out and in time heals from the inside out. I sit or lie with my leg elevated and stay off it as much as possible.

One doctor tried a cast with a paste on it. I also tried fitted pressure stockings, but my leg swells so much and my toes went numb so I can't wear them.

The doctors say stripping the veins wouldn't help my situation. I've never been in the hospital for this. I've always take care of it at home. I'd like your opinion on this.

DEAR READER: Most leg ulcers with what people attribute to varicose veins are really caused by incompetent deep leg veins. This is usually accompanied with varicose veins — dilatation of the superficial veins you can see under your skin.

Most such ulcers can be helped. But it requires a long effort and continued effort after the ulcer has healed. I wonder if your fitted pressure stockings were actually the right fit for you. They shouldn't cause the problem you describe. They can be custom-made for any size and the pressure is graduated with the greatest pressure at the foot and less as you go up the leg. That prevents a tourniquet effect from a tight top. The Jobst Institute, Box 653, in Toledo, OH 43694, makes such custom fitted stockings. Ordinary support hose is usually inadequate because they do not provide enough pressure for the situation.

The Unna's paste boots are often very helpful.

I do wonder about your statement that nothing can be done surgically. That subject is controversial. But there are veins that connect the deep veins to the superficial veins. These veins are called perforating veins. Pressure from the deep veins through these veins to the area around the ulcer often leads to stasis and an ulcer. In many cases, if these are removed, preventing the pressure from the deep veins, that helps to cure or prevent the problem.

I'm sending you a free copy of Special Report 96, Help for Varicose Veins and Venous Insufficiency, for more information. Others who want this report can send $2 with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/96, P.O. Box 787, Gibbstown, NJ 08027-9908.

DEAR DR. LAMB: My husband and I are at a great impasse about my hymen. He believes I had intercourse with others before him because I had no hymen when we first had sex. We have been married for over 22 years and now this surfaces. Is it possible for the hymen to break without pain and no blood show? I never had anything happen in my pre-marital life that would signify the breaking of my hymen. I have had six children.

DEAR READER: There are many reasons why the hymen may not break and cause bleeding with the first intercourse. In an active young girl it may tear. There is a natural opening for menstruation. A small virgin may use small tampons in the small opening.
