SPILL

Officials said the spill has extended northeast of the collision site and surrounded Redfish Island, where it killed an undetermined number of fish.

"We haven't gotten any reports of oiled birds yet," Nelson said. "But it's only a matter of time until we get those."

Crews transferred all the oil from a listing barge and pushed it aground near Eagle Point, said Nelson. The second barge quit leaking oil about 5 p.m. Monday, he said. Thousands of feet of collection booms surrounded the nearly sunken barge.

"It is holding up traffic and will continue to do that. It is unlikely that channel traffic will be opened up Tuesday," he said. "The salvor says that throwing waves at it might cause it to slide to the channel bottom. It could then take weeks to raise it."

Tugs were holding the barge in place to prevent it from slipping into the channel, he said.

Almost 60 ships were idled in the Gulf or at Houston docks Monday by the ship channel's closure.

Five oil skimmers and a vacuum truck, also used by the salvage crews, were to resume work at daybreak and a 7 a.m. flyover of the spill was planned to determine its latest extent and placement of booms, said Nelson.

"We have reports of thin streamers of oil headings out into the Gulf," he said, adding that they were not as significant as oil in the bay.

The spill is considered major since it involves over 100,000 gallons, said Coast Guard Petty Officer Gene Maestas.

Divers examining the hull of the sunken barge Monday afternoon determined that "there was quite a bit more damage than had previously been expected," Maestas said.

Both barges contained a total of 1,680,000 gallons of catfaced oil, a heavy refinery oil similar to a No. 5 fuel oil, Maestas said.

Reactor records 'unusual event'

GLEN ROSE, Texas (AP) - Comanche Peak experienced its third "unusual event" in a 4-month period when non-radioactive steam was released into the atmosphere late Monday, a TU Electric spokesman said.

The incident occurred at 10:05 p.m. and was classified as the lowest of four emergency categories, said Mark Manroe, TU Electric's on-site spokesman. The event was ended at 11:53 p.m.

One of the systems available to add water to a reactor activated after a main steam isolation valve opened, causing low-steam pressure, Manroe said.

The safety system pumped about 3,000 gallons of water into the reactor, said U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission spokesman Joe Gilliland.

There never was a threat to the public, Manroe said.

The plant had not been in operation since last Thursday, when it underwent the final test of the initial startup testing program, Manroe said. The plant had been scheduled to resume full power this Friday, but Monday's event may alter that timetable, Manroe said.

Jury-tampering trial underway in Amarillo

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) - The daughter of a defendant in the nation's largest savings and loan fraud trial was pressured into a romantic relationship with a juror in the case, defense attorneys said in opening statements of her jury tampering trial.

Pamela Faulkner Tomalin, the daughter of Garland land developer D.L. "Danny" Faulkner, is charged with attempting to influence a juror in the 1989 trial of her father and six other men accused of bilking five savings and loans of $135 million.

Mrs. Tomalin, 27, went on trial here Monday for allegedly trying to influence juror Samuel Vera, 27.

"This case has nothing to do with the corruption of a juror," Mike Fawer, Mrs. Tomalin's attorney, told the jury Monday. "What this is about is a young man stalking Mrs. Tomalin."

Fawer said Vera pursued a relationship with her, leaving her in a helpless situation.

"From day one, he chased her subtly and not so subtly," he said.

"She was worried and didn't know what to do. She does not want to blow him off because he stalks her and knows where her children are," Fawer said.

Mark Nichols, an assistant U.S. attorney prosecuting the case, contended Mrs. Tomalin entered into the relationship to help garner support for her father, sometimes kissing Vera and talking about future romance.

"Ask yourself why Mrs. Tomalin is kissing Mr. Vera. Because she is in love?" Nichols said during opening statements.

"Or is it because her father is on trial, facing over 300 years in jail and more than $200,000 in fines?" Nichols asked.

Nichols said Mrs. Tomalin actively sought meetings with Vera during the seven-month trial in Lubbock and led him to believe "she wanted him as much as he wanted her."

Nichols said in the final month of the trial Vera "wanted to have sex" with Mrs. Tomalin. "She said no, not now - later."

"I am not guilty," she has said. "I will not plead guilty. I will not allow the government to hold me ransom in order to get my father. We will not submit to blackmail."

Nelson said the oil was not as toxic to wildlife as that spilled in the Gulf by the Norwegian tanker Mega Borg earlier this summer. But it is thicker and more "environmentally persistent" in its ability to stick to shorelines, he said.

Coast Guard officials estimated 48,000 gallons of oil were missing from the grounded barge, which means the bulk of the oil spilled from the sunken barge.

Nelson said that the Coast Guard would work with B.J. "Buck" Wynne, chairman of the Texas Water Commission, today to find the best conditions to deploy oil-eating microbes in a process known as bioremediation.

If convicted, Mrs. Tomalin faces five years in prison and $5,000 in fines.

Robinson moved Tomalin's trial from Lubbock to Amarillo because of publicity.

Both sides said Mrs. Tomalin and Vera never discussed the trial or Mrs. Tomalin's father.

"The charge is not that they flirted or even kissed," Fawer said. "The charge is that Mrs. Tomalin knowingly corrupted him in his attempt to make a decision... The facts will not bear this out."

Fawer told jurors that Vera staked out a location near the school that Mrs. Tomalin's 2½-year-old daughter attended and sometimes followed Mrs. Tomalin when court was adjourned.

Fawer accused the government of prosecuting Mrs. Tomalin because its case against her father ended in a mistrial.

Vera was replaced with an alternate juror by U.S. District Judge Sam Cummings after he was seen talking with Mrs. Tomalin around the courthouse.

Prosecutors also had complained he was not paying attention to testimony. Vera was not involved in deliberations.

Faulkner and six other men were accused of inflating appraisals and loans for condominium developments in Dallas County and stealing more than $100 million from five thrifts in Texas and Arkansas.

A mistrial was declared Sept. 15 after jurors deadlocked 11-1 in favor of guilty verdicts.

Prosecutors say they will retry the case.

Faulkner, who attended the trial with his wife and son, declined to comment Monday.

Abundant Life

BY BOB WEAR
Walls and Bridges

In the many and various facets of human associations, we have the capacity and the opportunity for meaningful and abundant living. Our task is to find the ways to use these capacities and opportunities wisely. These ways are within our reach.

All of us are busy building "walls" and "bridges". If we build walls when we should be building bridges, we are making a mistake that we should not make. Of course, some "walls" are justified, but in most instances of human associations and effective living, we must be building bridges. This is a daily challenge, a daily choice. In order to make the right choice, we must be constantly alert and wisely concerned.

In many instances, when unhappy and generally ineffective human associations exist, the condition has been caused by someone who has been building walls which stand as barriers to satisfactory relationships. Conversely, when the association is happy and satisfying, it is because some bridge building has been done.

It is wise to discard the attitude that an unkind fate has erected walls which stand between us and life fulfillment. This attitude and the accompanying behavior add to the height and the thickness of the walls we build. When justified, walls can be torn down, and it is sometimes appropriate that this be done. Some of the walls that should be destroyed are our envies, jealousies, spirit of unforgiveness, inordinate selfishness and unwholesome fears.

We can build bridges of understanding, kindness, wholesome tolerance, appreciation for others and what they do that is good, willingness to care and to share in all of the appropriate ways, giving others the benefit of the doubt without being glib, being a dependable person. These are some of the bridges we can build, and you can think of other important ones.

Let us try to choose between the unjustified walls and the many needed bridges, as we go about our building.

Arkansas decides to jump from SWC to SEC

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) - Arkansas is set to switch from the Southwest Conference to the Southeastern Conference, a move the UA board chairman says makes sense for several reasons.

"Presidents of the institutions run the SEC," chairman Jim Blair of Fayetteville said Monday. "I think it's a big difference. I think it will have a great impact in keeping athletics under control. It hasn't been kept under control in the Southwest Conference."

Arkansas, a charter member of the 76-year-old SWC, appeared set on Monday to make the jump to the SEC. A meeting of the 10-member board is scheduled for Wednesday at Fayetteville, at which the president of the university and the chancellor of the Fayetteville campus say they'll strongly recommend the switch.

UA president B. Allan Sugg and Dan Ferritor, Fayetteville campus chancellor, met in Little Rock on Monday to discuss the proposed move. According to Sugg, SEC Commissioner Roy Kramer has told Ferritor to expect a formal invitation to join the SEC by Wednesday.

Ferritor said in a telephone interview that he had given Sugg "a strong, positive recommendation that the University of Arkansas enter the Southeastern Conference."

Jack Crowe, Arkansas' first-year football coach, said Monday that he expects the board to approve the switch, and that he anticipates his Razorbacks will be playing an SEC schedule in 1992.

"We know who our opponents are in 1991. We know who our opponents are in 1990. After that, I don't know what's going to happen," Crowe said in an interview with Houston television station KRIV. "I think we're locked in for a couple of years."

Kramer wouldn't confirm that Arkansas is to get a bid to join the 10-school conference. "They have the prerogative to make those statements. We'll have no comment," he said in a telephone interview from his Birmingham, Ala., office.

None of five UA board members reached by telephone on Monday indicated any inclination to reject the proposed switch. Three of the five, including Blair, said they were leaning toward approval, but were reserving judgment until after they receive information to be provided by Fayetteville campus officials. The other two declined substantive comment.

UA Athletic Director Frank Broyles said he was pleased with Ferritor's recommendation.

"I felt that Chancellor Ferritor was leaning that way and when he gets back we'll talk some more and be prepared to present our arguments" to the board, Broyles said while Ferritor was flying back to Fayetteville.

Crowe, who joined Arkansas' staff last year and was promoted to the head coach's job when Ken Hatfield left for Clemson early this year, was offensive coordinator at SEC member Alabama from 1982 to 1985. He said he would be shocked if the UA board didn't approve the switch.

"As I have traveled through the state there's been very few - very, very few - people who have said to me, 'Let's stay in the Southwest Conference.' The people in the state of Arkansas, I think the vast majority of them, want to go in the Southeastern Conference."

Wednesday's special meeting will be at 1 p.m. in the courtroom of the Leflar Law Center at Fayetteville, according to Sugg.

The UA president said Ferritor had told him that he was assured an invitation from the SEC would be extended prior to the meeting.

"It's nothing in writing. It's been all verbal - from Mr. Roy Kramer," Sugg said. "He told Dr. Ferritor" to expect the invitation.

SWC Commissioner Fred Jacoby said Monday he had been told in a telephone conversation late last week with an Arkansas official that the school would probably accept an SEC invitation.

"It's not good news. Arkansas has been a valued member of the conference and we're sorry they are taking that position," Jacoby said. "They called me to tell me that their decision is that they are gone with the board approval."

The other members of the SWC are all Texas schools: Texas, Texas A&M, Rice, Baylor, Southern Methodist, Texas Christian, Texas Tech and Houston. The SEC's current members are Alabama, Auburn, Louisiana State, Mississippi, Mississippi State, Tennessee, Vanderbilt, Kentucky, Georgia and Florida.

Blair said he leans toward the switch because Arkansas fits into the SEC better than the SWC.

The SEC, he said, has at least four land-grant schools that, like the University of Arkansas, provide major research and doctoral programs for their states.

"It's almost like the non-athletic benefits for this may be more important than anything athletic," he said.

Arkansas frequently competes against SEC schools for faculty, he said. A comparison of Arkansas' faculty salaries with those in the SEC, Blair said, will show legislators and the public that the pay scale is too low at Fayetteville.

In an interview early this month, Ferritor discounted reports that a possible boost in revenue from televised athletic events was a major factor in considering the move to the SEC. A much bigger factor, he said, is the quality of the opponents Arkansas would have in the SEC, and fans' interest in the games.

Having people in the stands is a must, he said.

"I don't see the same kind of interest among the students that there was when I was in school," said the 50-year-old Ferritor. That is an issue that the SWC needs to address, he said.

"I don't mean to suggest that we're not interested in additional revenue," he said. "It's just that the dollar sign alone is not going to be what makes this decision."

Ferritor said the 1992 season would be the earliest that Arkansas could possibly compete for the SEC championship in football. That would be difficult, he said, but not impossible. An Arkansas jump to the SEC, he said, could mean that the Razorbacks would compete as an independent in 1991 or play SWC teams but not be eligible for the league championship.

Gov. Bill Clinton said from Mobile, Ala., where he's attending the National Governors Association conference, that he expects the Razorbacks to join the SEC.

Cotton Bowl may dump Hogless SWC

DALLAS (AP) - The Mobil Cotton Bowl may have to end its 50-year affiliation with the Southwest Conference and become an open bowl because of the expected departure of Arkansas to the Southeastern Conference, the bowl's president says.

"No question about it, one of the options is to become an open bowl," Mobil Cotton Bowl president John Stuart said Monday. "If the conference can bring in some strong members that can bring as much or more to the party than Arkansas has left with, that's another thing."

Arkansas' board of trustees will vote Wednesday on making the move official. Chancellor Dan Ferritor has recommended that the school resign from the conference effective June 30, 1991.

Arkansas has been the host team for the past two Cotton Bowl games.

The Dallas Morning News reported today that CBS Sports has indicated to the bowl officials that an eight-team Southwest Conference without Arkansas would result in significantly lower rights fees.

But, the newspaper reported that if the bowl ends its 50-year affiliation with the conference and chooses two at-large teams, its rights fees will remain the same.

The action by Arkansas may leave bowl officials in the position of choosing between the SWC or money.

The departure of "one of the conference's most successful teams would make us seriously look at the arrangement," said Len DeLuca, vice president of program planning and development for CBS Sports.

There have been reports that the conference may try to join forces with at least some Big 8 teams in an attempt to replace Arkansas. Oklahoma would, of course, be one of the best possibilities from that conference. (See COTTON BOWL, Page 6)

Steinbrenner out as Yankees owner

NEW YORK (AP) - George Steinbrenner, known for firing his employees, was himself fired.

Baseball commissioner Fay Vincent forced the New York Yankees owner to give up control of the team Monday night for paying a known gambler to dig up dirt on former Yankee Dave Winfield.

"For all purposes, Mr. Steinbrenner agrees that he is to be treated as if he had been placed on the permanent ineligible list," the commissioner said. "I hope this sad episode is now over."

While Vincent made the announcement in midtown Manhattan, the Yankees were playing the Detroit Tigers at Yankee Stadium in the Bronx. As word swept through the ballpark, the fans rose for a 90-second ovation.

"No more George!" they chanted. Steinbrenner must resign as general partner by Aug. 20. His 31-year-old son Hank will become the new general partner, according to Steinbrenner's lawyer, Stephen E. Kaufman.

The details of the restrictions on Steinbrenner and his son are to be released today by the commissioner's office.

"I will not comment on the decision," Steinbrenner said as he left the commissioner's office, surrounded by a pack of camera crews. "I'm very happy it was resolved. I'm very satisfied with the resolution, and that's all I'm going to say."

The 60-year-old Steinbrenner, who headed a group that purchased the club from CBS Inc. on Jan. 3, 1973, is permitted to retain partial ownership as a limited partner. Steinbrenner was given six months to reduce his interest to below 50 percent.

He will be allowed to consult on major business decisions, but he cannot participate in player deals or signings. He must ask Vincent's permission, in writing, to attend major league games if he intends to do anything but be an ordinary fan. He cannot, for example, sit in the owner's box or visit the clubhouse.

"It's sad," said pitcher Dave Righetti, the longest-tenured Yankee. "He really loved the idea of owning the Yankees, and now it's been taken away from him."

In a scathing 11-page decision, Vincent chastised Steinbrenner for starting a relationship with Howard Spira, a 31-year-old gambler from The Bronx, N.Y., and then for giving Spira $40,000 in January. He found both the involvement with Spira and the payment violated Major League Rule 21 (f), otherwise known as the "best interests of baseball" clause.

"I sat through the two days of Mr. Steinbrenner's testimony and I am able to judge the degree of candor and contrition present in this case," Vincent said. "I am able to discern an attempt to force explanations in hindsight onto discomfiting facts. And I am able to evaluate a pattern of behavior that borders on the bizarre."

Steinbrenner's downfall was caused by his vendetta against Winfield, whom he signed as a free agent in December 1980. Steinbrenner (See STEINBRENNER, Page 5)

Tex-Mex, Holly win in ASA

Holly Sugar and Tex-Mex claimed division titles in this week's Agriculture Softball Association competition.

In the first round of Agriculture Division play Excel I beat Excel II 12-5 while Barrett-Fisher downed Imperial Sugar 13-8. Holly moved into the championship round by beating Excel I 11-1 and Barrett-Fisher 16-14.

In the division's losers' bracket Imperial eliminated Excel II 8-7 and Barrett-Fisher knocked out Excel I 14-4. Barrett-Fisher then defeated Imperial 16-12 to move into the finals, which Holly won 14-3.

In the Business Division Vallejo Trucking advanced with a forfeit win over McCracken Trucking and Tex-Mex beat Hit-n-Run 11-10. Tex-Mex then downed Vallejo 12-10 to move into the finals.

Vallejo won the losers' bracket game, beating Hit-n-Run 13-4, to set up a rematch with Tex-Mex. Tex-

Mex took the championship with a 6-5 decision.

Most Valuable Players for the weekend were Holly's Paul Maes in the Agriculture Division and Felix Mungia of Tex-Mex in the Business Division.

The ASA will hold its next round of play beginning at 8 a.m. Sunday at Veterans Memorial Park.

Nighttime Scramble slated for Aug. 10

The Hereford Men's Golf Association will hold a Nighttime Scramble beginning at 6 p.m. Aug 10 at Pitman Municipal Golf Course.

The 18-hole event will consist of two nine-hole rounds, the first being played before sunset and the second in total darkness using fluorescent balls.

A complimentary happy hour will be held between rounds offering golfers snacks and refreshments.

Entry fee for the scramble is $30 per player which includes cart and green fees. The field will be limited to the first 52 paid entries.

SIMPLY THE BEST

Ryan takes second shot at No. 300

MILWAUKEE (AP) - Gary Sheffield wasn't even born when Nolan Ryan won his first major league game in April 1968.

But Sheffield, the Milwaukee Brewers' 21-year-old third baseman, could be part of baseball history tonight when the 43-year-old Ryan tries to become the 20th major league pitcher to win 300 games.

"He's great," said Sheffield, who walked four times in one game last season against Ryan.

"All I know is I'm scared. Last time he knocked me down four times. I didn't even want to go back up there. I'm a little shaky right now," Sheffield said Monday.

"I know he's going to come in on you, way in. One time he almost hit me in the face. I'll always remember that."

Ryan wants to make sure Tuesday night is one for everyone to remember. His first attempt at No. 300 didn't turn out the way it was orchestrated.

With a sellout crowd watching last Wednesday in Arlington, Texas, Ryan gave up three homers, seven runs and 10 hits to the New York Yankees. Texas won the game 9-7 in 11 innings, but Ryan didn't get a decision.

Now he gets another chance at County Stadium, and he doesn't want to prolong the quest.

"I'd like to get it over with as soon as possible. I don't want to disappoint people. I have a lot of people coming to this game. It's an inconvenience for them, but they want to be a part of it. They've shared in my career," Ryan said Monday.

"The only one I had to blame was myself. I made bad pitches. I hope that doesn't happen again. Because of that you probably do put more pressure on yourself.

"But you have to put it in perspective and take the approach that you go out and pitch the same. Prior to warming up, you are feeling pressure. But once you get into the game, you're concentrating on what you have to do."

Ryan will be opposed by Milwaukee right-hander Chris Bosio, who hasn't won since May 20.

"Someone mentioned to me that I'm going after No. 38. That sort of puts it in perspective," Bosio laughed.

"I'm really excited, especially for a game of this magnitude. It should be a good time, a playoff-type atmosphere."

Paul Molitor of the Brewers agrees.

"Every once in a while you have a chance to play a Hall of Fame player with something significant, something special on the line," he said. "Our main focus will be to try to win, but we won't be able to help notice the special excitement, the special feeling that's going to be in the ball park."

Of the last nine pitchers to get 300 victories, five accomplished it on their first try. Don Sutton, the most recent member of the 300 club in June 1986, needed two starts. Phil Niekro, who made it before him in October 1985, needed five.

Could the crowd at County Stadium, expected to be between 40,000 and 50,000, be watching the newest and the last 300-game winner?

"I think Bert Blyleven is in position that he has a good shot at it. It's hard to predict or project about some of the young guys like Roger (Clemens), Dwight Gooden and (Frank) Viola, whether they will play long enough. It is a longevity accomplishment," said Ryan.

Ryan, 11-9 lifetime against the Brewers with a 3-5 career record at County Stadium, hasn't pitched in Milwaukee since April 12, 1989.

That night he was overpowering. He lost a no-hitter in the eighth inning but won the game and struck out 15. That was victory No. 274. Ryan was 2-1 last season against the Brewers, but has not faced them in 1990.

The Rangers had considered delaying Ryan's next start two days so he could go back to Texas and try for No. 300, but Manager Bobby Valentine decided to stay with his regular rotation. Ryan, with a 10-4 record, has been bothered by a stress fracture in his back and will be pitching with an extra day's rest after throwing 141 pitches against the Yankees.

"It's more of a nagging than a threatening injury," said Ryan, who has major league-record 5,211 career strikeouts and six no-hitters.

"I feel about like I have the last three starts. I don't anticipate the back being a problem."

Ryan's quest to join one of baseball's most select lists is one that has been well documented. That won't change Tuesday night when more than 200 reporters come to County Stadium, along with ESPN and the Rangers TV network.

"In a summer where all the baseball news hasn't been outstanding, it's nice to have Nolan Ryan to talk about," said Milwaukee general manager Harry Dalton, who engineered the trade that brought Ryan from the New York Mets to the California Angels.

"He's a real bright light. You don't pitch into the 40's just because you have solid ability. He was always a workhorse."

LA tops Reds as NL West gets tight

By DICK BRINSTER
AP Sports Writer

That one-team runaway that became a two-team race is beginning to look like three-way battle in the National League West.

And the latest development has Los Angeles Dodgers manager Tommy Lasorda saying, "I told you so."

"I kept telling you guys that we were still in it, but you didn't believe me," Lasorda lectured the media after the Dodgers beat the Cincinnati Reds 4-1 Monday night.

The victory, the Dodgers' seventh in eight games, moved Los Angeles within seven games of front-running Cincinnati. The punchless Reds, losers of eight in a row, lead second-place San Francisco, a 6-1 loser to Houston, by 5 1/2 games.

"To pick up 6 1/2 games after the (All-Star) break like this, that's just amazing," Dodger pitcher Mike Morgan said after a career-best two-hitter that was a perfect game for 6 1-3 innings.

The Reds led the Dodgers by 13 1/2 games nine days ago. Cincinnati held an 11-game lead over San Francisco on July 23. The Reds haven't won since.

Now, they aren't hitting at all. They were one-hit Sunday after being no-hit for 8 2-3 innings. The Reds have three hits in their last 18 innings.

Atlanta beat San Diego 4-3 in 11 innings in the only other game on the schedule.

The Reds, held hitless for 8 2-3 innings Sunday at San Francisco by Scott Garrelis, did not reach base until Barry Larkin singled with one out in the seventh. Paul O'Neill, who broke up Garrelis' no-hit bid, singled behind Larkin, who scored on a grounder by Eric Davis.

STEINBRENNER returned on his star outfielder after Winfield went 1-for-22 in the 1981 World Series loss to Los Angeles. Later, Steinbrenner derided Winfield as "Mr. May," saying he never came through in the clutch.

Winfield and Steinbrenner sued each other three times in the 1980s and Winfield finally was traded to California in May. That deal came after Spira said he was paid by Steinbrenner to provide damaging information to discredit the outfielder and his charitable group, the David M. Winfield Foundation.

Spira went public with the $40,000 payment in March and Vincent started the investigation. Steinbrenner testified before the commissioner on July 5-6.

Morgan (9-9), who had lost four of his last five decisions and had not reached the seventh inning in five of his last six starts, struck out seven and walked one.

Kirk Gibson, who hit his first home run since June 17, Dempsey, Juan Samuel and Hubie Brooks drove in runs for the Dodgers, who reached Norm Charlton (8-6) for 11 hits in seven-plus innings.

Astros 6, Giants 1

Danny Darwin pitched eight strong innings and Houston, aided by two San Francisco errors, scored five runs in the ninth.

Houston broke a 1-1 tie when right fielder Mike Kingery misplayed Rafael Ramirez's bases-loaded sacrifice fly. The Astros loaded the bases with one out on a single by Craig Biggio and walks to pinch-hitter Terry Puhl and Franklin Stubbs by reliever Steve Bedrosian (5-6).

Darwin (6-1) won his fourth consecutive start by holding the Giants to four hits while walking three and striking out two. Dave Smith pitched the ninth inning. Braves 4, Padres 3

Oddibe McDowell's leadoff homer in the 11th inning enabled Atlanta to end a five-game losing streak.

McDowell connected off a full-count pitch for his sixth homer, off Calvin Schiraldi (3-3), who gave up his second run in two innings of relief.

Reliever Dwayne Henry (2-1) earned the victory with relief from Tony Castillo, who pitched the 11th for his first save.

Jeff Blauser had tripled home a run in the top of the 10th to give the Braves a 3-2 lead before Jack Clark homered in the bottom of the inning to tie the score.

"In sum," Vincent said, "Mr. Steinbrenner has offered multiple and conflicting explanations of his decision to give $40,000 to Spira, ranging from charity to extortion. ...

"I am persuaded that neither extreme was at work here. Rather, the payment was in consideration for Spira's help and was an exercise in expediency, for I have little doubt that Spira had become a nuisance to Mr. Steinbrenner and the Yankee organization and was a potential embarrassment to Mr. Steinbrenner."

As Vincent spoke, Spira sat in his Bronx apartment and listened to the news conference on the radio.

"I have nothing to say," he said. Winfield found out what happened

A's walk on by Mariners

By The Associated Press

The Oakland Athletics are tough enough without giving them help, but that's just what Seattle reliever Mike Jackson did.

With two out and the bases loaded in the seventh inning, Jackson walked Dave Henderson on four straight pitches to break a 2-2 tie. Before Jackson and the Mariners knew it, the AL West leaders scored three more runs for a 6-2 victory Monday night.

"It's tough pitching to those guys with the bases loaded," said Jackson, who struck out Mark McGwire for the second out before walking Henderson.

Coupled with Chicago's 3-0 loss to Boston, the Athletics improved their lead in the AL West to three games over the White Sox.

In other AL action, it was New York 6, Detroit 2; Minnesota 7, California 3; Toronto 9, Baltimore 2; Kansas City 7, Cleveland 6, and Texas 3, Milwaukee 1.

Seattle starter Randy Johnson (9-7), who lost his fourth straight, walked Mike Gallego to lead off the seventh and was relieved by Jackson, who gave up a single to Rickey Henderson. Carney Lansford's sacrifice bunt moved the runners to second and third, and Jose Canseco was intentionally walked to load the bases.

That was all the A's needed. After Henderson walked, Jackson's first pitch to Terry Steinbach was hit sharply to center for a two-run single and a 5-2 A's lead. Reliever Keith Comstock came on to face pinch-hitter Felix Jose, who capped the rally with an RBI single.

Rick Honeycutt (2-2), the third of four Oakland pitchers, got the win with relief help from Dennis Eckersley, who pitched 1 1-3 innings for his 32nd save.

while his new team, the California Angels, was playing the Twins in Minneapolis.

"I felt quite a bit vindicated because so much had been said about me. I had so many battles, so much turmoil," Winfield said. "I'm glad to get a lot of this out of the way. ... The Yankee fans deserve a new chapter. This one has come to an end."

ONE TOUGH MOTOR OIL

'Pokes, Oilers view camp differently

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - On the wall of the Dallas Cowboys' training camp office, day-by-day attendance is prominently displayed.

Thirty miles down I-35 at Southwest Texas State in San Marcos, the Houston Oilers are thinking Super Bowl, not training camp attendance.

Call the Oilers and the Cowboys a tale of two very different Texas teams; of two very different Texas cities. The Oilers and the Cowboys, the NFL's Texas connection.

Just listen to the two coaches, one who uses "great," the other "average" to describe his players.

Houston's Jack Pardee, taking over from Jerry Glanville, has a team saddled with the label of "talented underachievers." They're one of only four NFL teams - San Francisco, Cleveland and Minnesota are the others - to make the playoffs the last four years. But they're 1-3.

"We've got some great players, some great potential," said Pardee.

Dallas' Jimmy Johnson, who replaced Tom Landry last season and went 1-15 with a team that had been 3-13 the year before, has a no-name bunch with the exception of Troy Aikman. Linebacker Eugene Lockhart made the cover of the media guide by setting a team record for tackles last season.

"We've filled a lot of holes," says Johnson, 51 of whose 80 players were not in the Cowboys' camp last year. "We've got average to good players almost everywhere. I don't know if we have any great players."

The Oilers camp is standard NFL issue - a small-college campus off in the hill country that surrounds Austin. Southwest Texas State has expanded since Lyndon Baines Johnson went there 60 years ago, but it's still the kind of remote base in which coaches like to isolate their teams.

With Glanville gone and Pardee so much lower key, the biggest controversy may be whether to retain the shotgun in the run-and-shoot. Quarterback Warren Moon likes it and Pardee, who doesn't, seems inclined to go along.

And aside from the traditional NFL holdouts - backup quarterback Cody Carlson is the main concern - the only innovation is early practice to beat the sometimes unworlly Texas heat and humidity. Players are on the field at 6:30 a.m. and because the lighted field is being re-sodded, the headlights of pickups and vans are used for illumination.

In Austin, the state capital, Johnson is concentrating on football; owner Jerry Jones is concentrating on ... well ... marketing. As in posting attendance at training camp and trying to make the Jones-Johnson Cowboys something other than a losing version of Tom Landry and Tex Schramm's America's Team.

It's not easy.

Pick up one Sunday newspaper and there's a serialized version of Landry's newly published autobiography, the first segment of which provides readers with Landry's version of the night he was summarily dismissed by Jones. Pick up another and there's a long interview with Landry, who lives in Austin.

Ah, but these are the new Cowboys, the Cowboys of a new breed owner who likes to talk marketing.

The move from Thousand Oaks, Calif., their summer home for 27 years, saved an estimated $500,000.

More money comes in from advertising signs at the practice field - for a soft drink, a bank, a cellular phone company, a moving company, a car dealer, a record-keeping firm and ... a fence builder. All are displayed along the fence across from the bleachers where - the Cowboys say - more than 30,000 fans have watched in the first 10 days of training camp.

"I'm comfortable in this situation," says Johnson, who still runs around the field with the enthusiasm of a college coach.

"It's a very positive, upbeat, enthusiastic atmosphere."

Thirty miles away, the Oilers practice field is next to the San Marcos River, where the locals still go tubing on weekend afternoons.

There are no advertising signs nor is there a fence to put them on.

Pardee comes to the Oilers from college, too. But it's almost as if he was marking time at the University of Houston - after 15 years as an NFL linebacker, plus head coaching jobs with the Bears and Redskins, in the USFL and the World Football League, he has "pro coach" written all over him.

Pro atmosphere is what surrounds the Oilers, who seem far less hyper than they were during Glanville's black-shirted reign.

"It's very different," says Bruce Matthews, an 8-year veteran one of the NFL's best offensive line.

"It used to be 'hit, hit, hit' even with your own teammates. 'Maybe it's just me, but it seems more relaxed and comfortable around here this year."

COTTON BOWL

"We need to find out what the conference is thinking about alternatives," Stuart said. "Once we know that, we being the board of the Cotton Bowl, we will know what the risks/rewards are. Until I figure out where they are going and weight that direction. I can't make that decision in a vacuum."

Stuart says he plans to meet later this week with SWC commissioner Fred Jacoby and Cotton Bowl executive vice-president Jim Brock.

The conference and CBS are operating without a contract since a six-year contract agreed to last year has never been signed. A source close to the negotiations said the disagreement resulted from a clause pertaining to SWC membership.

DeLuca said Monday that he believes the Cotton Bowl, the network's only New Year's Day bowl, "because of its national reputation, would be viable as an open bowl if that becomes necessary."

Jim Ray Smith, a former Cotton Bowl president and a member of the team selection committee, said long-range planners have considered becoming an open bowl for "five years."

"That really could come to pass. I hope it doesn't. I'm a conference man," Smith said.

Brock, perhaps the most visible of all Cotton Bowl officials, refused to comment on the Arkansas situation.

"I'm a little emotionally upset," he said. "I don't want to say anything that may come back later and bite me."

AL ROUNDUP

each drove in two runs for the Royals, and MacFarlane had three hits.

McGaffigan (2-0) gave up one run on five hits in 5 1-3 innings, walking one and striking out four.

Rookie Jeff Shaw (1-2) took the loss.

Rangers 3, Brewers 1
Bobby Witt gained his sixth straight victory and Jeff Kunkel, a .147 hitter, homered as Texas beat Milwaukee.

Witt raised his record to 9-8 with a four-hit performance through seven innings. Brad Arnsberg finished up.

Kunkel broke a 1-1 tie with a homer in the fifth off Bill Krueger (5-6), his first since September of last season.

Jubilee events planned

The First Annual Hereford Town and Country Jubilee Softball Classic will be held Aug. 10-12.

Entry fee for the Class D USSSA event is $100 per team. Entry deadline is Aug. 8.

The tournament, which is being sponsored by First Nazarene Church of Hereford in conjunction with C. Ramirez & Sons Food Manufacturing, Merrick Pet Foods, All-Star Sports Center and Mom & Me Photography, will benefit the Nazarene softball team's trip to Cincinnati for the National Nazarene Church Tournament.

Team trophies and individual awards will be presented to the first- and second-place teams with team trophies also being awarded for third and fourth places. A tournament MVP award will also be presented.

A homerun hitting contest and a base running contest will be held during the tournament. Entry fee is $5 per person for both contests.

For more information, contact Mark Andrews at 364-7792 or 364-3429 or Jimmy Ramirez at 364-8701 or 364-1049.

The Greg Black Memorial 10K Run has been scheduled for 8 a.m. Aug. 11.

The event, sponsored by Taco Villa restaurant and the Hereford YMCA, will also include a two-mile fun run and a two-mile walk.

Entry fee for the race is $8 per person in advance or $10 on race day. All entrants registered and paid by Aug. 4 will receive a free running visor.

Age divisions for the 10K will be 13-and-under, 14-19, 20-29, 30-39; 40-49 and 50-and-up in both men's and women's divisions.

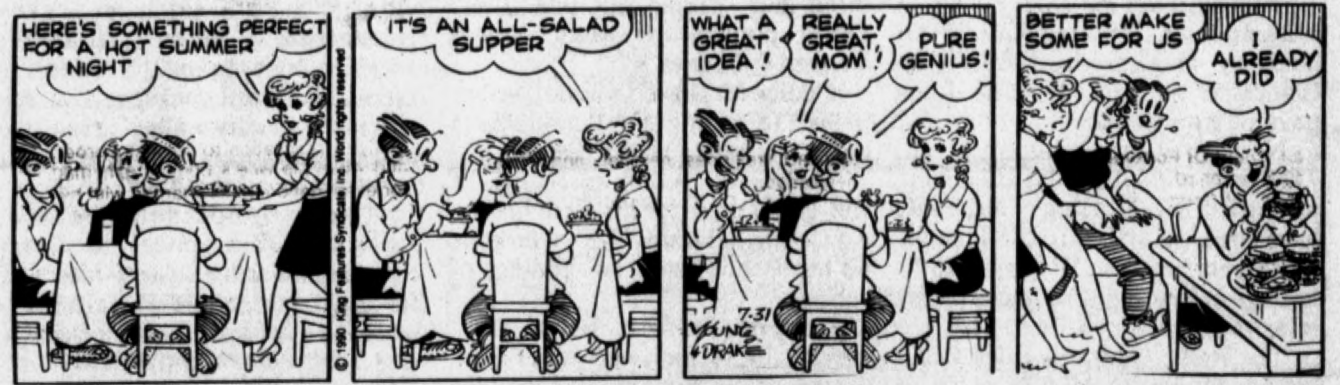

For more information, contact the Hereford YMCA at 364-6990.

The Hereford Riding Club will hold its annual Jubilee Team Roping Aug. 9 at the HRC Arena. The first go-round will start at 7 p.m. Also on the schedule is an open united playday, slated for 9 a.m. Aug. 12 at the HRC Arena.

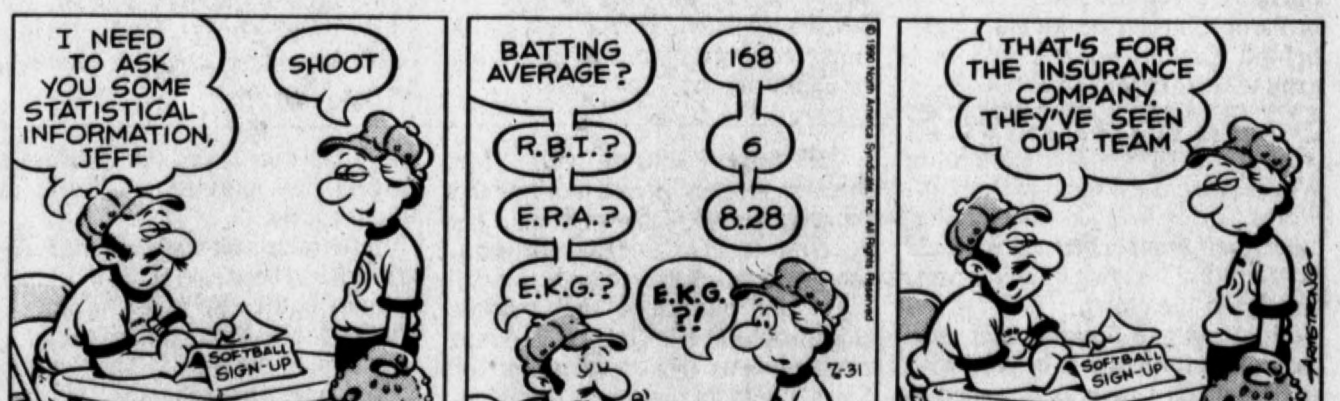

For more information, contact Johnnie Messer at 364-0150.

CLASSIFIEDS

Call Janey Allmon at the Hereford Brand, 364-2030, or come by 313 N. Lee to place your classified advertising. We reach thousands everyday!

CLASSIFIED ADS
Classified advertising rates are based on 14 cents a word for first insertion ($2.00 minimum), and 10 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy charge, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	14	2.80
2 days per word	24	4.80
3 days per word	34	6.80
4 days per word	44	8.80

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY
Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid-word lines--those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing; all capital letters. Rates are $3.50 per column inch; $3.25 an inch for additional insertions.

LEGALIS
Ad rates for legal notices are 14 cents per word first insertion, 10 cents per word for additional insertions.

ERRORS
Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

Lohr chosen best program speaker

"What is Beercanitis" was the topic that gave Bob Lohr best program speaker at the recent meeting of the Hereford Toastmasters International. Jigger Rowland presided over the business meeting and members voted to make a donation to the Larry Leon fund at the Hereford State Bank. Rocky Lee, wordmaster, introduced "crux" as the word. Bruce Hernandez served as toastmaster and Clark Andrews served as general evaluator. Timer was Joe Weaver and Rowland served as counter and grammarian. Margaret Perez was chosen as best table topic speaker and Joe Walters as best evaluator. Joe Don Cummings spoke on "The First Amendment with Walters serving as evaluator. Terry Huffaker was welcomed as a guest. Other members attending were Lynn Cook, Roy Shave and Dr. Milton Adams. Anyone seeking to develop leadership communication skills in a positive manner is invited to attend the meetings at the Ranch House at 6:30 a.m. every Thursday.

SAN DIEGO (AP) - Celebrity attorney Melvin Belli says he went into law to help people, not to make money. "If you're going into law to make money you're going to have a very miserable old age," Belli, who turns 83 on Sunday, said while in San Diego recently for a seminar. "But if you're going into it to help people, what a life it is. I can't think of anything more rewarding." Belli's clients have included Jack Ruby, who killed John F. Kennedy assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, and Jim and Tammy Bakker. Belli has written 62 books and dabbles in acting. He will soon appear in an episode of television's "Murder, She Wrote"

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your column about "The Other Woman" has been nagging at me all week. What all the cheated-on wives say about The Other Woman is absolutely true. I am one of them and here's a letter I wrote to his wife.

Dear Wife of My Lover: I have gone against all my own beliefs, walked away from my marriage, confused my children, confused myself and become totally blind to everything except whatever it is that your husband wants or needs. I have lost all self-respect because I have hurt my family and I have hurt you.

If he can lie to you so easily, I'm sure he can do the same to me. I have been tempted many times to call you on the phone and ask what the hell we are doing with this poor excuse of a man. Everyone, including me, knows

I am a fool, but I keep seeing him, spending money on him and loving him. All the while I know that he will walk away from me one of these days.

I am envious of you because you are the one he goes home to. You represent stability and comfort. You have the legal rights and social acceptance that I never will have. Meanwhile I'm giving up everything, including myself. It's not easy on this side of the fence, and I feel guilty because I don't have the right to complain. What I am doing is strictly out-of-bounds. Well, the bottom line is I asked for it and boy, am I getting it! -- Not Proud of Myself in Orlando

DEAR NOT PROUD: You understand the situation intellectually, but you are hooked emotionally.

There is only one way to go if you want to salvage your self-respect and get some peace of mind: counseling. You need to find out why you are indulging in this no-win, self-destructive behavior. I hope you will get the help you need before you do further damage.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You've printed several letters from readers who complain that we are losing out to the Japanese.

I have devoted the better part of my adult life to studying Japanese culture, language and business practices. I lived in Japan for two and one-half years and taught in their schools. I now run a small business that services Japanese living in New York. I, too, have been trying to come up with an explanation for why we can't compete.

The experts can write "think" pieces on Japanese management techniques until they are blue in the face, and the commentators can continue to harp on the superiority of the Japanese school system from now till doomsday, but the answer is simply this: The Japanese are raised with a totally different set of priorities. First and foremost is a sense of loyalty and commitment to the group. This holds true whether the "group" is the company they work for or their country. Americans are brought up to believe in "every man for himself."

Unless we take a page out of their book -- and soon -- we've had it. Wake up, America, before the Japanese turn out the lights. -- W.M.W., Scarsdale, N.Y.

DEAR N.Y.: It's hard to argue with success but the jury is still out insofar as Japan is concerned. Their competitiveness is causing some Western-type problems -- stress, ulcers, etc., etc. Thanks for writing. Gem of the Day: Don't worry about avoiding temptation. As you get older, it will avoid you.

Drugs are everywhere. They're easy to get, easy to use and even easier to get hooked on. If you have questions about drugs, you need Ann Landers' booklet, "The Lowdown on Dope." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Lowdown, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. (In Canada, send $4.45.)

Here's how to protect mail

Experts at the post office deliver this advice: look out for your letters.

While incidents of mail theft are rare, thieves know that items of value travel through the mail and they are ready and waiting to steal mail when the time is right. Occasionally, they break into residential and apartment mailboxes, collection boxes and postal vehicles.

The Postal Service works hard to make sure your daily mail gets to you, but needs your help to keep it safe.

It's deck check time

Decks have long been popular choice of homeowners looking for ways to add quality leisure space to their home. Periodic maintenance will help keep decks attractive and useful for years to come.

Here's some tips to guide homeowners through their seasonal "deck check":

-Assess the deck for any loose boards or splinters. Renail the boards and sand the splinters. Repairing these areas immediately will keep a small problem from getting worse.

-Look for any discoloration such as nail streaks (dark charcoal gray strip marks that start at the tip of the nail and run down) or mold and mildew which has built up on the surface.

-Clean and renew your deck with a cleaning solution. It rejuvenates the deck, giving it a more natural, clear appearance without scrubbing.

-After cleaning the deck, use a waterproofer to protect your deck. Waterproofer protect porous materials by forming a barrier that moisture can't penetrate. Using a wood preservative protects against biological damage that is particularly harmful to wood--such as mold, mildew, algae and rot.

-Be sure to waterproof pressure-treated wood. Contrary to popular belief, pressure-treated wood is vulnerable to water damage. Water can penetrate the fibers and cause wood to swell, warp and split.

Don't drink and dive

Don't drink and dive: That's the message from the National Spa & Pool Institute (NSPI), which reports that half of all serious recreational diving injuries happen when the diver has been drinking. The probability of an injury or accident increases with each and every ounce of alcohol consumed.

Studies indicate that 500 to 700 recreational swimmers could suffer serious injuries this year from diving accidents. Diving accidents account for one of every 10 serious spinal cord injuries in the U.S. Over 90 percent of these serious accidents result in quadriplegia, or paralysis below the neck.

"Diving requires clear thinking before and during the dive," says Check Whitmer, president of NSPI. "Alcohol affects the part of the brain which exercises control and restraint, posing a potential hazard to a swimmer or diver. Drinking may instill a sense of bravado in some people, leading them to do things they normally would not do." A dive requires coordinating body movements, judging distance and depth, scanning for obstacles, monitoring speed and direction and making mental or physical adjustments accordingly. Sharp skills and a keen awareness are necessary when diving, and even small amounts of alcohol impair those skills.

As part of "Operation Water Watch," a national pool safety education program, NSPI offers a free brochure on recreational diving safety, "Knowing How To Dive." For a copy, write: NSPI, 2111 Eisenhower Ave., Alexandria, Va. 22314 or call 1-800-234-SAFE.

By following the few tips listed below, you can make life more difficult for mail thieves:

-Never send cash or coins through the mail. Always send checks or money orders.

-Make sure your mailbox is in good condition. Mailboxes in poor condition often expose mail to theft and bad weather.

-Collect mail from your mailbox promptly, especially checks and food coupons. If you cannot be home when checks or food coupons are expected, ask a trusted friend or neighbor to pick up your mail.

-Always contact the local post office to have your mail held for you during vacations or other long absences from home.

-Contact the issuing agency right away if you do not receive an expected check, food coupons, or other valuable mail.

-Notify the post office and mailers immediately if you change your address. The post office has Change of Address Cards for this purpose.

-Deposit your mail in an authorized mail collection box or give it to your letter carrier. Never place mail for your carrier to pick up in an unprotected area where it can be easily stolen.

-Address your mail properly. Always include your complete return address, street/apartment number and ZIP code.

-Post your name on the inside of your mailbox if you live in an apartment building. This will assist your carrier in getting your mail to you if residents with similar names reside in your apartment complex.

-Advise the postmaster or Postal Inspector of you mail is stolen.

By following the above tips, you will help the Postal Service reduce mail theft and get your mail to you safely.
