Rocky Lee named citizen of year at chamber banquet

BY BOB NIGH
Managing Editor
A capacity crowd witnessed an emotional Rocky Lee accept the Citizen of the Year award from the Hereford Lions Club Thursday evening at the Bull Barn as the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce held its annual banquet.

Lee, who served as president of the Deaf Smith County United Way this past year, was visibly moved by the announcement, which capped activities at the affair.

Other highlights of the banquet included dining music and special entertainment by First Baptist Church Music Director Jeryl Hoover, and an entertaining address by special guest speaker Bert V. Massey of Brownwood.

Lee was the 37th recipient of the award which goes to the top citizen as selected by the past presidents of the Lions Club. Wayne Evans was the first such honored in 1946. Lynton Allred was last year's honoree.

In his brief acceptance remarks, Lee remembered the late A.J. "Major" Schroeter, who passed away earlier this year.

"The last time I saw Major he shook my hand and said 'I Love You,'" Lee recalled. "I want to express that same sentiment to you tonight... I love you."

New chamber president Bob Sims, who presented past president Bill Johnson with a plaque and a scrapbook of the chamber activities over the past year, emphasized to the audience to "maintain and spread a positive attitude about Deaf Smith County."

He also cautioned the crowd not to "lose sight of the fact that agriculture is the backbone of the county."

Sims introduced new chamber officers at the banquet, including vice president Bobby Owen, and treasurer Danny Boyer. New directors were also introduced, including Charlie Bell, Rosie Griffin, Cal Jones, and Steve Nieman.

Women's Division president Olivia Denning also recognized past president Carolyn Canon, outgoing

Outstanding citizen 'touched' by award

Sometimes it is difficult to tell people you love them. Rocky Lee voiced those words to the entire audience at the C of C Banquet Thursday night.

Visibly touched on being named "Citizen of the Year," Lee humbly accepted the plaque and voiced his appreciation to the people of Hereford and for the opportunity to live and work in the community.

Lee, co-owner of Summerfield Fertilizer, served as president of the United Way last year, but his contributions and civic activities over the years make a long list.

Born and reared in New Mexico, Lee graduated from Hardin-Simmons University and came to Hereford to teach school in 1949. He taught at Shirley Elementary for two years, beginning with the opening of the school.

Lee worked briefly with Magnolia Oil Co. as a seismograph engineer but, when the company moved him away from Hereford, he quit and came back. Long before his sons were old enough to play organized sports, he began to coach boys' baseball.

From 1957 to 1971, he and a friend worked with many young men - teaching them not only how to play the game but sportsmanship, honesty, and the value of friendship. During those years, they built several ball parks.

One of these young men, who now resides in another part of the state, submitted a nomination to the Lions Club for Lee. The letter sums up many of the reasons Lee was named Citizen of the Year. The letter, in part, stated:

"Napoleon Hill said, 'The greatest among men are those who serve the greatest number.' For the past 27 years, I have been influenced by a person who has served the city of Hereford and its citizens in a very low-keyed but effective way. When I was

Speaker
Brownwood attorney Bert V. Massey entertained the audience at the chamber banquet last night with a humorous presentation about "a failure to communicate" and aspects of motivation. He included several amusing anecdotes during his 30-minute address.

Grand Jury hands down 13 indictments

Thirteen indictments were handed down by the Deaf Smith County District Grand Jury Thursday for arraignment March 21.

Indicted for separate counts of theft over $200 were Pam Hoffman, Gerald Loftis, Antonio Calderon, Christie Ramirez, and Elwood Smith.

Separate charges of forgery and passing were given to Mary Lou Garza and Reuben Rodriguez.

Larry Puckett and Monty Brewer were each indicted for driving while intoxicated - subsequent.

Jose Valdez was indicted for burglary of a habitation and Frank Trevino for burglary.

Vicente Galan was indicted for delivery of marijuana.

An indictment for rape of a child went to Raymond Carrillo.

The Grand Jury also heard the findings of an inquest by Judge O.K. Neal on the death of jail inmate George Ramirez Jr. last month. The inquest ruled that the death was suicidal and the Grand Jury took no action.

Seattle man arrested in burglary
Investigation on a theft of electrical service cracked a burglary case Thursday afternoon, according to Hereford police.

When Southwestern Public Service reported that service to a trailer at 814 South Schley had been illegally connected, police obtained permission from the owner to enter the residence. There officers found a $400 stereo

Congress takes big step toward deferral on loans to farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) - Despite protests by the Reagan administration, Congress has taken a major step toward legislation giving financially pressed farmers a right to demand deferral on federal loan payments.

The Senate Agriculture Committee approved deferral legislation on Thursday. Administration officials say it would tarnish farmers' credit reputations.

But Sen. Walter Huddleston, D-Ky., who sponsored the bill now headed for the Senate floor, said there is an urgent need for federal credit programs "to be adjusted immediately to prevent foreclosures" on many of the nation's farm borrowers.

Sen. Ed Zorinsky, D-Neb., added, "Daily, farmers are going bankrupt and going broke, and we're losing family farms."

The bill, similar to legislation coming to a vote next week in the House Agriculture Committee, requires the Farmers Home Administration, the government's farm credit arm, to defer loan repayments. It applies to any farmer who can prove that he is in a financial bind through no fault of his own and will be able to resume loan and interest payments once the deferral expires.

The bill would also make $200 million of FmHA operating credit available to farmers during the current planting season, raise the loan limits for individual farmers and extend special authority to make loans in economic emergencies.

Although the bill passed the Senate committee without objection, several members expressed some of the same concerns as Agriculture Secretary John Block. He has labeled such deferral plans as across-the-board moratoriums that will turn millions of dollars in farm loans into outright gifts.

Congressional budget analysts estimate the bill would cost the government $1.9 billion.

"For the farmers, the great number out there are saying why should I pay my loan and stay current when we're having a moratorium for the guy who got in over his head?" said Sen. Paula Hawkins, R-Fla., chairman of the committee's rural credit subcommittee.

FmHA, which provides about 12 percent of all farm credit, serves the highest risk producers who can no longer qualify for credit from commercial sources. Those are the producers most needing the help, supporters claim, pointing to the fact that nearly 8,000 FmHA borrowers were forced out of farming last year through foreclosure or involuntary liquidation.

But critics contend the deferral proposals undermine the credit integrity of American agriculture and are inherently unfair to the vast majority of farmers who are paying off commercial loans and would not qualify for the aid.

Block also says the FmHA is effectively doing what the law intends, having voluntarily deferred, rescheduled or reamortized the loans of 40,000 of its 270,000 borrowers last year alone. Other top USDA officials have estimated that less than 5 percent of the nation's 2.4 million farm families face serious financial problems.

Some good news came out of the Deaf Smith County Commissioners' Court meeting this week. It appears a new industry will locate near Hereford. The on-again, off-again plan by Thermo-netics, Inc., to build a plant in the county is back on track.

Thermo-netics first announced plans for a plant in 1979, securing a site about six miles northwest of Hereford. The original plans called for the plant to use feedyard manure and manufacture methane gas as well as feed products.

At that time, the company got a commitment from the county to help with right-of-way and road construction. The county this week agreed to stand by those commitments, and it appears the plant will be a reality.

Speaking of the county session, commissioners continue to be faced with problems concerning their rules on use of the Bull Barn. The court has drawn a lot of flak since raising the deposit on the Barn to $1,500 per event, a charge which many taxpayers think is exorbitant.

It should be remembered, however, that commissioners felt compelled to pass tougher policies on the use of the Barn after some private dances resulted in the county being out big bucks to repair damages.

At the last meeting, some Hispanic students asked commissioners to "sign their dance cards", and it cost them $250 each out of their own pockets. This week, the HHS senior class asked for equal treatment and commissioners decided to "waltz" again to the same tune.

We don't know the answer, but it appears the court has created a policy on dances which leaves them wondering whether to do the waltz, fox trot, square dance, or just defend their "date" and sit it out!

Economic outlook better than earlier predictions

WASHINGTON (AP) - Mounting signs of a rapidly recovering economy already have convinced the Reagan administration that its month-old economic forecast for 1983 is too pessimistic, just as outside economists have contended.

In the wake of a string of unexpectedly strong economic reports, administration officials said Thursday they plan to replace their cautious forecast in April with a more optimistic outlook of higher growth, lower unemployment, lower inflation and, possibly smaller budget deficits.

Work on a new forecast has just begun and no specific figures have been selected, but officials indicated that economic growth over the year could be one or two percentage points higher than had been forecast.

A revision of that magnitude would mean that unemployment by the end of this year could fall from 10.4 percent, the level now expected, to as low as 9.6 percent - the equivalent of nearly 900,000 fewer jobless Americans.

"We presently plan to revise our economic assumptions for calendar year 1983," said Edwin L. Dale Jr., a spokesman for the White House Office of Management

Crowd Pleaser
Jeryl Hoover, music director at First Baptist Church, was a popular attraction at the chamber banquet last night. Hoover played dining music as the crowd enjoyed a meal catered by K-Bob's Restaurant, and later performed several popular tunes.

Civilian unemployment steady

WASHINGTON (AP) - Civilian unemployment held even at 10.4 percent in February as large numbers of jobless Americans awaited further signals of improved hiring prospects before resuming their search of work, the government reported today.

The unchanged unemployment rate resumed an 18-month pattern of rising or stand-still joblessness. That trend had been interrupted only by last month's healthy decline.

When the full-employment, 1.7-million-member U.S. military work force was included, February's overall unemployment rate also held steady at 10.2 percent, the Labor Department said.

Government statisticians said that, in interpreting the health of the civilian labor market, emphasis should be given to what happened in both January and February. They noted that the 0.4 percentage point drop in January might have been exaggerated by the Bureau of Labor Statistics' seasonal adjustment process.

In testimony prepared for the congressional Joint Economic Committee, Janet L. Norwood, commissioner of labor statistics, noted that "in the two months between December and February, payroll jobs rose by 150,000."

Ms. Norwood said there was likely no further decline in civilian unemployment because businesses were assessing prospects for an economic turnaround before recalling laid off workers.

Altogether, 11.5 million people were unemployed last month, an increase of 44,000 over January that bureau analyst Deborah Klein called "negligible."

Total employment also held relatively steady at 99.1 million.

Despite burgeoning signs of an economic recovery, only 5,000 people re-entered the labor force, according to the Census Bureau's survey of some 60,000 U.S. households.

President Reagan and his top economic advisers, while heartened by the 0.4 percentage point drop in civilian unemployment from December to January, have said they are prepared for further rises in that crucial jobless figure.

"There may be a month where it (the unemployment rate) might level off or come up, say a little above the 10.4," the president said last month. "I don't think that you will see it come above the high mark of 10.8" reached in December. That figure represented the highest joblessness since the Great Depression.

In advance of the release of February's jobless figures, several private analysts pointed to the growing signs of a business recovery, noting the robust 3.6 percent gain in the Index of Leading Economic Indicators in January, the largest monthly rise since July 1950.

But these same analysts cautioned that the return to the labor force of large numbers of Americans seeking work could put pressure on an economy that has not yet created new jobs or caused the rehiring of people laid off during the 18-month recession.

Hospital study turns up nothing 'Like Murder'

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — An internal medical investigation of infant deaths during the past five years at a hospital here did not turn up "anything like murder," a newspaper has reported.

Medical Center Hospital officials have "just questions" about the deaths of 10 to 13 babies, and no reason to suspect wrongdoing or "intentional problems," the San Antonio Light reported Thursday.

A Bexar County special grand jury is looking into possible murders at the hospital's pediatric intensive care unit from 1978 to March 1982. District Attorney Sam Millsap has said.

The hospital's study, prepared by pediatric department chairman John C. Mangos, was seized by Millsap before it was completed and has been subpoenaed by the grand jury. Millsap has declined to discuss its contents.

Mangos spent five months examining 97 medical files, the newspaper said.

Smugglers planned to kill Salvadorans

RICHMOND, Texas (AP) — Illegal alien smugglers tortured and vowed to kill six Salvadorans to avenge the murder of a ring member, two prisoners have testified.

"The lives of six of you could not make up for one of us and we're going to kill you," witness Victor Turcios quoted murder defendant Juan Ortiz as saying.

The testimony came Thursday at the trial of Ortiz, 26, who is charged with the execution-style slayings of four Salvadorans July 3.

Ortiz is charged in the slayings of Pedro Hernandez, 25; and Roman Turcios, Misiel Turcio and Pablo Flores, all teen-agers. Their bodies were found on the banks of the Brazos River in Fort Bend County 13 days later. All had been bound and shot in the head.

Turcios said the guards fell asleep and the six men untied each other's hands and jumped out a window. He said he and Ventura jumped two fences, but the last time he saw the other four men, they were still trying to clear the first barrier.

Power back on in Boston after outage

BOSTON (AP) — The twinkle returned to the city skyline overnight as electric service was restored after a 28-hour blackout estimated to have cost up to $100 million in lost sales and productivity.

Thousands of workers at Boston's major banks and businesses got an unscheduled day off Thursday because of the power interruption caused by a manhole fire and explosion Wednesday afternoon.

Boston Edison Co. crews working around the clock restored power Thursday night in the city's financial and waterfront district after laying 1,400 feet of cable to bypass the faulty manhole.

Utility company officials warned businesses in the affected area to minimize power use for the resumption of work today and said permanent repairs would not be completed for weeks, although full power should be available.

The blackout, which started about 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, cost businesses in the area a full day's work. Workers at brokerage houses, law firms and banks, including the Federal Reserve Bank's regional headquarters, were given Thursday off.

Local 'Hand-i-cap' project appears in several magazines

An article by J.W. Dickerson, mechanical engineer for Deaf Smith General Hospital, has been published in several magazines. Titled "Deaf Smith's Hand-i-cap", the article concerns the hospital's efforts to promote safety among employees.

The story was first published in The Texas Hospital Insurance Exchange, and more recently appeared in Texas Hospitals magazine. The program was also mentioned in the American Society of Hospital Engineers magazine.

Following is the article. The increased awareness of risk management, liability and astronomical hidden costs of worker's compensation spurred the Deaf Smith General Hospital (DSG) Safety Committee to set about developing a plan to reduce further financial distress.

For months, committee members studied employee accidents within the hospital and their costly effects that were rising furiously. In fact, the high cost of workers' compensation exceeded the cost of malpractice insurance. The hospital also had experienced the stunning impact of a 42 percent leap in employee injuries over a one-year period.

With that in mind, the committee was determined to prevent these statistics from spiraling. It was at this time that the idea of a DSG Hand-I-Cap Race was born. The racing theme was chosen because of the popularity of horse racing in the area. The committee felt the theme would be one all employees could relate to and participate in.

The contest was designed to make every employee aware of safety as an important factor in the hospital's operation. The chief goal and incentive for all 120 employees was to put safety first.

Organization and guidelines for the contest were as follows:

Three team leaders or horse trainers were drafted and each selected a name to designate their "jockeys".

Each department manager classified their employees as having either high risk, moderate risk, or low risk jobs.

The three team trainers then held a name drawing, selecting first from the high risk, then moderate risk, and finally, low risk employees.

These three drawings formed the jockey teams, who were represented by a horse in the DSG Hand-I-Cap race.

The roster of each jockey team was designated with a color: blue, yellow or red. The individual members of each team were given a colored dot to wear on their name tags to identify their team.

Length of the race was to be six legs — standing for the six months of the contest.

A scale chart for the six-leg race track was posted in the main hall of the hospital where results of each month's safety performances were recorded.

a. Each accident (no time lost) was charted as a penalty against that team. Individuals with "no time lost" accidents were disqualified from the purse drawings at the end of the race.

b. Each accident which incurred time lost caused team disqualification from the first and second purse drawings.

The purse consisted of the following:

- a. First purse — "WIN" — a gas barbecue grill.
- b. Second purse — "PLACE" — multiband radio.
- c. Third purse — "SHOW" — AM-FM transistor radio.
- d. Fourth purse — Drawing was held for all employees with disqualifications in the race. A comic plaque was awarded as a "booby" prize.
- e. Fifth purse — All employees were placed in the hopper to select the winner of the First Aid Kit.

Each month a tally sheet was distributed to update results of that month's race performance. These results were charted on the poster and employees were kept well informed of the status of each team in the race.

During the six-month race, three special events were scheduled to encourage continued safety performance.

Third month — a cookout with a surprise drawing. Notices were placed in each individual's paycheck, and tickets given to each employee. Attendance at the special cookout was necessary to qualify for the drawing. A fluorescent lantern was the prize.

Fourth month — a breakfast cookout to mark the finish line and award prizes.

Poster-sized caricatures were given to each department manager at the planning session prior to the contest's kickoff. These posters depicted safety features connected with specific departments. During the entire contest the caricatures remained posted as visual reminders to all personnel to "think safety".

The big finish of the DSG Hand-I-Cap revealed the following statistics for the six-leg race:

Only one accident with time lost (three days). Eleven accidents with no time lost were minor.

As a result of the improvement in accident prevention in the hospital, the safety committee recommended that a monthly prize be given as an incentive for each employee to "run" with safety as they carry on their hospital routines.

The safety incentive program was implemented for ten months. Names of every hospital employee not disqualified because of an accident involvement or on leave of absence, were placed in the hopper for each monthly drawing. "Safety-wise" prizes were awarded.

Running simultaneously with the incentive programs, several smaller safety contests were administered by the committee.

We conducted a safety poster contest with specific departments furnishing posters. Each month one poster was submitted untitled and all employees were encouraged to turn in title suggestions with prizes awarded to the outstanding safety-connected caption.

A "Wanted - Disaster List" contest was formulated. Infractions of safety procedures or policies were recorded. Four departments were recognized as high risk areas and identified with "10 Most Wanted D.S.G.H. Accident Capers". These "capers" were documented, illustrated, and posted; as a result of the findings, thorough in-service safety education programs were scheduled and implemented for all departments.

A Crossword Puzzle Contest also was promoted. A list of 150 safety-related words were published and distributed to all units. Employees were invited to compose crossword puzzles using these designated safety terms. The four best entries were distributed periodically for employees to work.

Each week, a puzzle was posted with answers to it supplied the following week. The crossword puzzles were fun as well as beneficial since the terms and words increased safety awareness throughout the various hospital departments.

Halloween found all units within the hospital competing for "Best Pumpkin Decorating Theme". The staff participation was outstanding; this safety committee promotion was rewarding not only for employees, but it also gave patients a few days of lighthearted pleasure.

These mini-contests have had a positive impact on Deaf Smith General Hospital employees and have produced greater participation in safety awareness.

The committee has come to the conclusion that these various activities have aided in keeping Think Safety uppermost in the minds of all employees and have reduced and minimized on-the-job accidents.

Republicans welcome Gramm

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas Rep. Phil Gramm has been welcomed into the Republican Party at a sumptuous reception where the former Democrat was touted as a "tremendous weapon" in the GOP battle to capture the Congress in 1984.

"I want to be a good soldier in the Republican army..." Gramm said Thursday night in a brief speech at the reception, which was attended by several hundred Republicans.

He promised to travel the country on behalf of other Republican congressional candidates. "Especially in the South and Southwest, I believe that there's a story that needs to be told," said Gramm.

"...I have an opportunity to go out and try to elect Republicans, and I want to pledge to you that I'm going to do that."

Rep. Guy Vander Jagt, R-Mich, chairman of the National Republican Congressional Committee, said Republican strategists will take full advantage of Gramm's highly publicized party switch.

Detective shot in head while making arrest

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — A burglary detective shot in the head while trying to make an arrest was clinging to life today after nearly 11 hours of surgery to remove the bullet and bone fragments from his brain, officials said.

Detective Charles Heinrich, 35, and a patrolman stopped a man on a routine check Thursday in northwest El Paso. As the officers left their car, the man ran, then turned and fired three shots at the officers, said Lt. Ed Agan.

Patrolman Jessie Eckard returned the fire and wounded the man in the leg. Eckard was not injured, Agan said. Heinrich is an 11-year veteran of the El Paso police force and is considered one of its finest burglary detectives, officials said.

A spokesman at William Beaumont Army Hospital said surgeons worked late into the night trying to save Heinrich, who arrived at the hospital at about 1 p.m. He came out of surgery about 11:45 p.m. CST.

Heinrich remains in "very critical" condition in the hospital's trauma unit, according to spokesman Jim Bryant.

Police officials had been told that Heinrich may have extensive brain damage.

"It doesn't look good," Agan said.

Heinrich and Eckard stopped the car at about 12:30 p.m. because Eckard thought he recognized a man inside he had arrested previously, Agan said.

Edsel Davone Willis, 37, of El Paso was charged with two counts of attempted capital murder. Peace Justice Walter McGhee said he set bond for Willis, a mute, at $200,000 on one charge and $100,000 on the other.

Records indicated that Willis had been arrested at least twice previously this year, police said.

Agan said Eckard had arrested Willis Jan. 27 on a charge of unlawfully carrying a weapon and thought he might be carrying a gun again.

Heinrich joined the police force in 1972 and became a detective in the burglary division in 1980. The detective had spearheaded a four-week investigation that cracked a burglary ring in Northeast El Paso last May.

Agan said the last El Paso police officer shot in the line of duty was then Deputy Chief Al Castro, who was hit during a sting operation in April 1979.

The last officer shot to death while on duty was Guillermo "Willie" Sanchez, who died after a shootout Dec. 14, 1957. Other officers have died in traffic accidents since then, Agan said.

which had been stolen in a burglary at Soundstage One earlier this week.

Robert Levtzow, 22, of Seattle, Wash., was arrested on charges of theft of services and burglary.

Simple assault charges are pending on a man who was arrested also for public drunk. He reportedly struck his wife, seriously injuring her.

Tools, jumper cables and new tires, all totaling $335, were taken from a pickup parked at 612 Irving.

A teen-ager who threw a brick into a pickup grill made a commitment to pay for damaged after police filed a report on the incident.

A customer at Long John Silver's restaurant told police his car was scraped while he was inside.

Police issued a dozen citations and made 13 police calls.

and Budget. In so doing, the administration would bury one of the shortest-lived forecasts on record.

On Jan. 31, President Reagan released a 1983 forecast that private and congressional economists said was overly pessimistic about the prospects for a healthy rebound from the severe recession that began in mid-1981.

The administration had decided to present a low-expectations forecast for 1983 to avoid the kinds of attacks and ridicule it received in 1981 and 1982 for making optimistic — and incorrect — forecasts of strong economic growth and low budget deficits.

The precise effects of a more optimistic outlook on the federal budget picture have yet to be determined, but OMB's Dale said any reduction in the 1983 or 1984 deficits "would be modest," — possibly only a few billion dollars.

Based on the current forecast, the deficit for fiscal 1983, which ends Sept. 30, will be a record $208 billion, and

Pope John Paul II tours in violent-torn countries

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — Pope John Paul II leaves Central America's most stable democracy today for Nicaragua, where he'll confront a growing rift between the leftist government and the Roman Catholic hierarchy.

The pope, who began his eight-day tour Wednesday, also will meet the defiance of five activist priests who continue to hold government posts despite his disapproval.

The pope spent the first two days of his eight-country trip in peaceful Costa Rica, where he deplored the violence that has claimed some 100,000 victims in five years in other Central American countries on his schedule.

But his calls for peace and harmony coincided with a grim reminder of the region's conflicts — the Guatemalan government's execution Thursday of six convicted terrorists despite a papal plea for mercy.

A Vatican spokesman said the pope, who officially requested clemency, was "deeply saddened." He said further comment would await an explanation from Guatemala, where John Paul will spend Sunday, Monday and Tuesday nights.

Guatemalan President Efraim Rios Montt, a born-again evangelical Protestant who is to meet with the pope Monday, refused to halt the firing-squad executions of the five Guatemalans and one Honduran. In response, the Vatican warned of "serious repercussions... at the world and national level."

On Thursday, hundreds of thousands of Costa Ricans expressed their love for the pope at an open Mass, a motorcade through downtown San Jose, meetings with members of the clergy, and a rousing evening gathering with 40,000 young people.

Each time, the pope renewed a call for peace and respect for human dignity.

"What can I tell you of the horrors and violence?" he asked the young people. "You have the grave responsibility of breaking the chain of hatred that generates hatred, of violence that generates violence.

Tip O'Neill to run for another term

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan isn't yet saying whether he'll seek a second term — but a rejuvenated Tip O'Neill is running for a 17th. He's also running the House in a fashion that has silenced some Democratic critics who used to say the speaker was out of touch with his troops.

O'Neill says he definitely and absolutely plans to run for another House term in 1984. That makes it almost as definite and absolute that he'll get it. He won last time with 75 percent of the vote in his Boston area congressional district.

Two years ago O'Neill was down, and there were Democrats who said he should be out as their ranking leader in Washington.

An estimated 1 million people attended the Mass in San Jose Thursday, and about 500,000 were expected to attend an outdoor service in the Nicaraguan capital of Managua today.

One conflict was smoothed over when the Nicaraguan government agreed peasants could walk from their villages in church-organized pilgrimages to the Mass. The government had wanted to use only its own buses to carry people to the July 19 Plaza, which commemorates the date when leftist-led guerrillas overthrew the late, rightist dictator Anastasio Somoza in 1979.

The plaza was decorated with flags of Nicaragua, the Vatican, and the ruling Sandinista Revolutionary Movement. Billboards honored Nicaraguan revolutionary heroes and a mural declared: "John Paul: Welcome to Free Nicaragua. Thank God and the revolution."

But deep rifts remained. The government is treating the pope's 10-hour visit as that of a head-of-state, not a pastoral visit, even though John Paul said on his arrival in Costa Rica that his visit was solely "apostolic."

The state-controlled Nicaraguan news media has sought to portray the stop here as a visit that, by implication, indicates support for the government.

The Vatican has resisted any such suggestion.

The second session, which involves six Saturdays on campus, has attracted 122 students in grades one through 12 from Amarillo, Bushland, Canyon, Dawn, Dimmitt, Dumas, Floydada, Friona, Groom, Hart, Hereford, Pampa, Panhandle, Perryton, Plainview, Sunray, Tulia, Umbarger, Wayside and Wellington.

Participants from Hereford are Leslie Billingsley, of 116 Star Street; Cynamin and Russell Brownlow, 704 Baltimore; Sha Gearn, 714 Baltimore; Jeremy and Jimmy Gowdy, 416 Avenue J; Kristina Kerr, 441 Miles; Mark Quigg, 133 Live Oak; Brandon Murdoch, 112 Mimosa; and Brady and Cody Wilson, 307 Douglas.

Attending from Dawn are Chris Hinger; Jerri Ann, Jim

Bob and Matthew Parker; and Keith Smith.

Students have been involved in learning motor skills, art, reading enrichment, Spanish, sociology, geology, racquetball, military skills, the stock market, creative writing, mathematics, music and computer science.

The third session of the Gifted and Talented Institute will begin March 26 and continue through April 30 with similar courses offered. Mary Jane Reeves, who coordinates the Gifted and Talented Institute at WTSU, said instruction in advanced reading for grades one through three and French culture may be added.

Cost of the half-day is $25 and a full-day program is $50.

The Gifted and Talented Institute at WTSU is funded through a grant from the Rockwell Fund. More than 100 students participated during the fall session.

Chapter attends drama performance

Members of Alpha Alpha Preceptor Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met Tuesday evening, with Margaret Godwin and Katie Kendall serving as hostesses.

The chapter started the evening at Hereford High School, where they attended a one act play, "Requiem," by a group of high school students preparing for U.I.L. Contest. Members were impressed by the performance and express congratulations to John Claypool, the director.

Members then met at the Community Center, where the meeting was called to order by President Toni Jones. Final plans for the sweetheart ball, scheduled March 5 from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall, were discussed.

Election of officers for the new year was held. The following were elected: Barbara Kendall, president; Geneva Summers, vice-president; Margaret Godwin, recording secretary; Mary Jean Gore, corresponding secretary; Alene Tindall, treasurer.

Also, Barbara Kendall, Barbara Burkhalter, Karren Ruland, and Lillie Shipman were elected as city council representative and Janey Allmon was elected alternate representative.

Plans were made for a social on March 29.

Those present were Bonnie Decker, Pam Fogo, Mary Anna Laing, Jo Ann Richburg, Earline Schneider, Lillie Shipman, Jan Walser, and Mrs. Allmon, Gore, Godwin, Jones, Kendall, Ruland, Tindall, and Summers.

Curtsingers give program on herbs

An informative program entitled "Treasures in Herbs" was presented by Sam and Susie Curtsinger to members of Veleda Study Club when they met in the home of Marcella Brady recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtsinger told of many uses for herbs, noting that they can be used as a preventive medicine. Many herbs are used as cleansers. People have used them for many years, going back to Bible times, and the Indians used many kinds of herbs, they said. President Donna Lindeman presided over the meeting and members answered roll call with "A Priceless Home Remedy."

Members were reminded that the next meeting will be March 14 at Arvella Lauderback's home.

Members present were Juanita Brown, Marcella McLain, Joyce Ritter, Carolyn Waters, Margaret Zinser, Billie Birdwell, and Mrs. Lindeman and Brady.

Cougars clip Arkansas, 74-66

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer
Benny Anders averages just 5.1 points a game coming off the bench for the Houston basketball team — but sure picks his spots to stand out.

One of those times was Thursday night, when the 6-foot-5 sophomore reserve scored 18 points to lead the top-ranked Cougars to a 74-66 victory over fifth-ranked Arkansas in a Southwest Conference showdown game.

"When I hit my first two baskets, I got my confidence," said Anders, who connected on six of his seven shots in the first half to help the Cougars take a 34-27 lead at the half.

The triumph gave the Cougars their first regular-season basketball championship in the SWC, which they joined in 1976. The Cougars, 15-0 in the SWC and 24-2 overall, now have a 19-game winning streak, longest in the nation.

In other games involving the nation's Top Twenty, No. 7 Kentucky tripped Mississippi State 61-58, No. 9 Nevada-Las Vegas stopped San Jose State 67-61, No. 11 Indiana walloped No. 20 Purdue 64-41, 12th-ranked Wichita State edged Bradley 97-96 in double overtime, Illinois upset No. 14 Ohio State 74-73 in overtime and 17th-ranked Memphis State rolled past Florida State 94-67.

Arkansas, which entered the game with an eight-game winning streak and a 28-game winning streak at its own Barnhill Arena, led only twice in the game, at 2-0 and 9-8 midway through the first half. From then on, it was all Houston.

Top Ten
Kentucky, which clinched the regular-season Southeastern Conference championship earlier this week, used its inside one-two punch of Melvin Turpin and Kenny Walker to beat Mississippi.

Sidney Green scored 21 points and grabbed 10 rebounds to lead Nevada-Las Vegas over San Jose State, the Rebels' first victory since a two-game losing streak knocked them out of the No. 1 ranking.

The Runnin' Rebels erased a 12-point halftime deficit by outscoring San Jose 15-4 in the opening five minutes of the second half to trail 42-41. Nevada-Las Vegas took the lead for the first time since the opening minutes of the game on two free throws by Green with 1:15 remaining, 63-61. San Jose missed two shots in the final minute that could have tied the game.

Second Ten
Randy Wittman scored 16 points and Indiana's defense held Purdue scoreless during a seven-minute stretch in the second half as the Hoosiers snapped a two-game losing streak to defeat the Boilermakers.

It was all Indiana. The Hoosiers scored 12 of the game's first 14 points and never trailed in an emotional game which saw injured forward Ted Kitchel make an appearance. Doctors removed a ruptured disc from Kitchel's back in a four-hour surgery Monday night, but he sat in street clothes on the bench Thursday night after receiving a two-minute standing ovation from the crowd of 17,312 in Bloomington.

Substitute Kevin Bontemps' two free throws with 10 seconds left in overtime gave Illinois a four-point lead and the Illini withstood a rally by Ohio State to beat the Buckeyes. The defeat knocked Ohio State from a share of the Big Ten Conference lead with Indiana.

Andre Turner and Philip Haynes combined for 42 points as Memphis State routed Florida State. Turner, a 5-foot-10, 150-pound freshman, led all scorers with 22 points, while Haynes, a junior, added 20.

In other action, Cliff Tribus scored 21 points as Davidson set a school record for field goal accuracy with 71.1 percent in downing VMI 83-68; Bill Varner scored 18 points, leading Notre Dame past Seton Hall 59-40; Len Bias ignited a 15-3 scoring burst by Maryland in the final five minutes as the Terrapins claimed a 67-58 victory over North Carolina State; Michigan State guard Scott Skiles scored 25 points to lead the Spartans to a 79-67 victory over Minnesota; Mike Sheehy scored 16 points as St. Bonaventure clinched the Atlantic 10 Conference West Division regular-season title by beating George Washington 60-55 and Bob Hansen hit a three-point field goal to ignite a second-half surge that carried Iowa to a 63-50 victory over Northwestern.

Also, Morgan Taylor hit the front-end of a one-and-one free throw situation with 13 seconds left to give Arizona a 74-73 victory over Stanford and break the Wildcats' 15-game losing streak; Rick Fields scored 25 points to lead Indiana State to a 95-87 victory over Creighton and Mike Davis hit four free throws in the closing minutes to boost Alabama to a 106-99 double-overtime victory over Florida.

Eligibility rules to be enforced

USFL, AFCA bury hatchett

DALLAS (AP) — The fledgling United States Football League has made peace with the American Football Coaches Association over the signing of Georgia undergraduate Herschel Walker.

USFL Commissioner Chet Simmons promised Thursday that the league "will enforce the existing eligibility rules currently in effect in professional football."

"And I can enforce" them, he said.

With Simmons' pledge, Charlie McClendon, executive director of the AFCA, said "Walker is behind us. It's a dead issue. We'll try to live together and work together now."

Representatives of the AFCA, the USFL, and the NCAA Professional Sports Liasion Committee discussed for four hours Thursday the New Jersey Generals' signing of Walker to a multi-million dollar contract. The Heisman Trophy winner had a year of eligibility remaining.

They issued a joint statement that promised a spirit of cooperation including a series of meetings to pursue legal guidelines for the future. The National Football League was invited.

The statement said, in part, "All parties recognize and understand that a serious question exists regarding the rights of young men to pursue employment opportunities for themselves as professional football players."

"All parties also agree that it is necessary to recognize the importance of collegiate football and to encourage college student-athletes to complete their undergraduate education."

The guidelines the league and college representatives will develop will "balance the desires of the colleges against the obvious rights of an individual to seek employment," the statement said.

The USFL gave the Generals permission to sign Walker after considering that possibility, Simmons said.

Accompanying McClendon was Wiles Halloc, executive officer of the Pacific-10 Conference; commissioners Carl James of the Big Eight Conference and Fred Jacoby of the USFL now.

And McClendon said, "A big legal question remains for all parties concerned. We'll start meetings in a month or two."

Honda golf classic

Stewart grabs lead

LAUDERHILL, Fla. (AP) — Payne Stewart says he was a "cocky kid" when he came out of Southern Methodist in 1979, a time when he thought he was ready to take the pro golf tour by storm.

He had compiled a gaudy amateur record "and, he said, "thought I'd just breeze right through" the PGA Tour qualifying school. It didn't happen. He failed to make it. And he failed again the next time he tried it.

"That opened my eyes," he said. "I realized I still had a lot to learn. It's probably the best thing that could have happened to me."

So he took his new humility on the Asian circuit for a couple of years, playing in such cities as Manila, Seoul, Hong Kong, Singapore, Calcutta and Bangkok.

Rain delays
LPGA tourney

It paid off. "That was definitely the start of my career," Stewart said after he'd posted a no-bogey round of 7-under-par 65 for the first-round lead Thursday in the $400,000 Honda-Inverrary Classic.

"In Asia, I learned what I had to learn. I learned what it took to win," said Stewart, who used that experience in winning the Quad-Cities Open last season during his first full season on the American circuit.

Stewart, now 26, birdied his final hole from 18 feet in warm, sunny weather for a one-shot lead over Mike Reid, who, like Stewart, played 18 holes over the 7,129-yard Inverrary Country Club course without a bogey.

"An oasis at the end of the desert," said Reid, who had missed the cut in his last two starts.

PGA champion Ray Floyd rallied with a 31 on the back nine — "it easily could have been two or three shots lower," Floyd said — and was tied at 67 with Peter Jacobsen.

The big group at 68 included Gary Koch, a five-shot winner last week in the Doral Open, Johnny Miller, Mike Sullivan, George Burns, Lori Hinkle and Steve Melnyk.

Jack Nicklaus, three times a winner on this course, was 3-under after five holes but then watched it slip away. He finished with a par 72. Defending champion Hale Irwin was one stroke higher.

Stewart, who said he occasionally takes acupuncture treatments "to stimulate my mental processes," didn't need an additional stimulus this time.

NORTH OLMSTED, Ohio (AP) — Tom Milton averaged 249 for six games to take the lead after three rounds in the $110,000 Cleveland Open on the Professional Bowlers Association tour.

Milton, took a 78-pin lead after bowling a round of 1,491. Amleto Monacelli, with a third round of 1,454 was second. Milton totaled 4,233 for 18 games, while Monacelli had 4,155.

Deaf Smith golf tournament

Coronado 1st round leader

Coronado, which has won every tournament it has played in so far during this still-young season, grabbed the opening day lead Thursday in the Deaf Smith County Invitational High School Boys' Golf Tournament at John Pitman course.

The Mustangs, paced by medalist Greg Gandy's 72 and a 74 by teammate Ric Alexander, enjoyed a five-stroke lead over Pampa after the first 18-hole round. Coronado was in a 301 and Pampa 306. Amarillo High was in the hunt, firing an opening-day 307. Plainview and Tascosa rounded out the top five teams (among 13 competing) with scores of 311 and 319, respectively.

Coronado also had the lead in low-ball competition (the best score on each hole by the five players) with 65, a stroke ahead of AHS and Tascosa.

While Gandy led all individuals with the one-over-par round or 72, Plainview's Randy Mickey was a stroke off the pace.

Hereford, led by Matt Albracht's 85, was far off the pace in 12th place with a 357 total. Other Hereford individuals included Stacey Evans, 89; Michael Drake, 92; Bob-Valdez, 91 and Beto Valdez, 96.

While the golf tournament will conclude with another 18-hole round today, the tennis portion of this week's Super Sports Weekend got underway this morning at 9 a.m.

Teams competing in the two-day event (it'll conclude tomorrow) include host Hereford, Plainview, Borger, Pampa, Canyon, Dimmitt and Lubbock Dunbar.

Entrants will compete in singles and doubles.

Spring training roundup

Richard faces operation

By The Associated Press

J.R. Richard, his career interrupted by a life-threatening stroke three years ago, faces another hurdle before he can even begin thinking about taking the field — an operation to restore circulation in his left leg.

On a day when Steve Carlton signed a contract that will make him the highest-paid pitcher in baseball history and Steve Sax, Willie McGee and Rick Camp also signed new contracts, Richard faced the prospect of missing another six weeks or so in his comeback attempt.

Dr. William Fields, who conducted tests on Richard's aching leg, said they had determined that an artificial graft — used to replace an artery in his left leg was blocked and not providing enough blood to the leg. Fields said surgery early next week in Houston will replace that graft.

Richard, one of baseball's hardest throwers, was felled by a stroke in July 1980, when he had a 10-4 record and a 1.89 ERA for the Astros. The 6-foot-8 inch right-hander, who will turn 33 next Monday, was on the disabled list for most of 1981 and last year pitched at two minor league levels.

Fields said it would be about six weeks before Richard could return to normal activity. In any case, he wasn't expected to start the season with Houston, although he had been hoping to be called up during the year.

Carlton, the Philadelphia Phillies' four-time Cy Young Award winner, officially became the highest-paid pitcher in major league baseball history when he signed a contract that will pay him $1.15 million for each of three years starting in 1984.

The 38-year-old left-hander, who is signed to a contract that will pay him $700,000 this season, thus surpasses the $1 million being paid to Nolan Ryan of Houston and Fernando Valenzuela of Los Angeles.

"We've met his desire and we've met our desire at the same time," said Phils president Bill Giles. "His desire was to be the highest-paid pitcher one-time in his life. Our desire was not to guarantee him more than $4.15 million."

Sax, the Dodger second baseman who was voted rookie of the year, signed a contract believed to be in the vicinity of $175,000. He had been asking for $225,000, the club had been offering $140,000.

McGee, the switch-hitting center fielder who was one of the Cardinal heroes in their seven-game World Series triumph over Milwaukee, signed a one-year contract for a reported $70,000. So did Dave LaPointe, the left-hander who was 9-3 in his first full year with the team.

Camp, considered the No. 2 starter for the Braves, signed an extension to his contract that will take him through the 1986 season. Camp, who moved from the bullpen into a starting role last season, finished 11-13 with a 3.65 ERA.

Elsewhere, the Pittsburgh Pirates asked reliever Enrique Romo to place himself on the voluntarily retired list because Romo had said he wanted to play in a Mexican professional league.

But Romo's agent, Seymour Goldstein, said the veteran relief pitcher was the victim of a misunderstanding and would report "in the next six days." Goldstein said Romo had been upset about a fine levied on him at the end of last season.

In Fort Myers, Fla., Kansas City Manager Dick Howser said that left-hander Larry Gura would be the Royals starting pitcher in the team's opening game, April 4 in Baltimore. Gura has won 47 games in the last three years — tied for best in the league in that period with Detroit's Jack Morris and Baltimore's Scott McGregor.

In St. Petersburg, Fla., the New York Mets pronounced right-hander Tim Leary fit for duty and said he will pitch in an intrasquad game on Sunday. Leary, the sensation of the Mets' 1981 spring camp, has been idled by arm trouble for most of the past two seasons.

But the California Angels reported from their training camp in Casa Grande, Ariz., that catcher Ed Ott's attempted comeback from a rotator cuff injury was stalled when Ott felt something snap in his right shoulder while throwing during a workout. Ott returned to Los Angeles to be examined by the team physician, Dr. Louis Yocum.

Several of the Arizona teams had their workouts curtailed by rain. The San Francisco Giants worked out at a Boy's Club gym while six Oakland A's pitchers managed to throw from a mound in Phoenix Stadium during a break in the rain.

And finally, in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., there was George Steinbrenner. The New York Yankees owner donned a blue sweatsuit and worked out with his team.

Larue LaPoyvor avenged a tournament loss last year to Dime Box by beating the Longhorns 49-45, and Sudan cruised past Clyde Eula 54-35 in Class A.

The 2A semifinals, with Hardin trying to win a third straight title, and first-round games in 5A, which features defending champion Victoria and Longview, with a 37-0 record, were scheduled today.

Darla Isaacks and Frances Williams each scored 19 points for Levelland, which had no trouble with Ennis but could not seem to please coach Dean Weese.

Weese paced the sideline and screamed until he was red in the face in urging his team to its lopsided victory. With only 4½ minutes left in the game and Levelland leading by 24 points, Weese put 5-foot-11 scoring star Issacks back in the game, and he still had three starters in the contest with a 27-point lead and 1:40 to play.

Cara Wilks, a 6-1 senior, swished her team's only free throw with 18 seconds remaining in the game for the victory margin against Georgetown. Wilks led all scorers with 13 points, and her 12 rebounds was three short of the Georgetown team total.

Pennee Hall, a 1982 all-tournament player, scored 20 points — including 16 in the second half — and was the key to a defensive effort that forced 32 Slaton turnovers in Barbers Hill's 3A victory.

Penny Elkins' exit late in the third quarter with five fouls hurt Slaton as she was the team's leading scorer at that point with 12 points, and had seven rebounds.

The loss was the first in tournament history for Slaton, which won championships in all four previous appearances — 1974 and 1978-80.

Reserve Iris Griggs had a game-high 14 points in Sweeney's victory over Robinson as a defense that caused 35 Robinson errors overcame the Waco team's better shooting and rebounding.

LaPoyvor erased a 39-32 third quarter deficit to defeat Dime Box on the play of Cheryll Williams, who had 19 points, and Karen Spencer, who had 18 and 13 rebounds. Williams attempted all 20 of her team's free throws and made 13.

Doris Bell, a 5-4 sophomore, led Dime Box with 18 points and 10 rebounds.

Sudan, which ousted six-time champion Nazareth in regional, jumped to a 22-4 lead in an easy victory over Eula, which shot 28 percent from the field. Lisa Wood scored 20 and Judy Wiseman 18 for Sudan.

Carlton becomes highest paid hurler in history

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — All Steve Carlton has to do is affix his signature and the Philadelphia Phillies' left-hander will become the highest-paid pitcher in the history of baseball.

Carlton reached an agreement Thursday with the team that will pay him $1.15 million for 1983.

The only four-time Cy Young Award winner will earn $1-million in each of the next three years.

After the 1986 season, the Phillies have an option to pick up Carlton's contract by Oct. 31 of each year at a fixed increase.

The contract agreement was a compromise between the pitcher and the Phillies on an agreement previously agreed to that would have paid Carlton $700,000 for 1983 and $1.15 million for the next three years starting in 1984.

Carlton wanted the change so that in at least one year of his career he would be the highest paid pitcher in the game.

The 38-year-old Carlton last season became major league's only four-time Cy Young winner and baseball's career strikeout leader. He was the only pitcher in the majors to win 20 games last

The meeting will deal with teams in the Major, Minor and T-Ball leagues.

Riggins, 'Skins sign contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — Running back John Riggins, who says he's "real glad" about his long-term contract with the Super Bowl champion Washington Redskins, will receive, according to sources, a guaranteed total of $900,000 for the first two years of the pact.

The contract is worth more than $2 million over four years, said sources within the National Football League team. They provided no further details.

Ann Landers Hobby cuts family time

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband is a minister. We have been married nine years and have two sons, five and two. My life has been enriched by his profession, but in the last few years our marriage has suffered.

He is gone nearly every night to some meeting or another. I can accept that because it is part of his work, but he has taken up a hobby that is driving me crazy. It is hunting.

He gets up in the morning and announces his plans. He usually hunts during the breakfast or supper hours, which were supposed to be "family time." I have verbalized my resentment and he continues to ignore my feelings. I have considered leaving him because it is apparent that he has no regard for me or our family life.

I need your advice. There is absolutely no voice to turn to. I can't talk to my clergyman. He's the problem. — Beside Myself

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I cannot sleep tonight without responding to "Youngstown Complaint," who shared a hospital room with a heavy smoker.

I am an R.N. on a surgical floor. The problem is a major one for us. We DO try to separate the smokers from the nonsmokers, but sometimes we just don't have the room. We frequently move patients around when they complain, but I can't tell you how many times we have asked, "Do you mind if your roommate smokes?" and the reply is "No, I don't." The next day we get a phone call from an irate spouse or a disgruntled son or daughter.

Please tell your readers to be honest with us. No one will be angry if you object to smoke. Smokers and nonsmokers are equally militant about their rights and we are frequently — Caught In The Middle In San Luis Obispo

Alexander named to list

Paula E. Alexander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Alexander, has been named to the Dean's Distinguished Academic Honor List for the fall semester at Baylor University in Waco.

Miss Alexander is a sophomore at Baylor. To qualify for the Dean's Distinguished List, she had to attain a grade point average of at least 3.9, be enrolled in a minimum of 15 semester hours, and rank in the top two percentile of her school or college.

Dr. Bob Weathers to preach here

Dr. Bob F. Weathers of Brownwood will begin a four day revival meeting Sunday morning at First Methodist Church.

Dr. Weathers surrendered to the call of the ministry in July 1949 and has served pastorates in Evant, Jonesboro, Strawn, Santa Anna, DeLeon, Stephenville, Brownwood, Killeen, and Meadowbrook in Fort Worth. In June 1980 he was assigned as the District Superintendent of the Brownwood District of the Methodist Church.

He is a graduate of Texas Wesleyan College where he received the BS Degree and he attained a Master of Theology Degree in 1961 from Perkins School of Theology at SMU. He has conducted approximately 225 revivals and some of his greatest experiences have come through this type of ministry.

Dr. Weathers is a member of the Masonic Lodge, the Scottish Rite, the York Rite, and the Shrine. He is the father of two children, Lawana Joyce of Brownwood and Johnny Bob of Bedford.

Services will be held Sunday at 10:55 a.m. and 7 p.m. and Monday through Wednesday 7 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Breakfast will be served at the 7 a.m. meeting in Fellowship Hall.

Students from Mexico stung by peso plunge

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Last fall, 581 Mexican students attended the University of Texas-El Paso, including 333 coeds who commuted daily from the neighboring border town of Juarez.

This semester, droves of Mexican students have dropped out of UTEP because three peso devaluations the past year have swelled their tuition costs six-fold, school officials say.

"It hurts, and it's all because of the problem with the devaluation of the peso," said Mexican student Walter Lujan. "It's extremely hard for us to come to school when the peso is at 150 to the dollar."

The cross-country commuters nearly have been priced out of the international school market because classes and books that used to cost 26 pesos to the dollar a year ago now costs 150 to the dollar.

Preliminary counts indicate that about 200, or nearly one-fourth, of the border commuters have dropped out this semester because they couldn't afford tuition, university officials say.

Mexico, embroiled in its worst economic crisis in a half-century, has trimmed its currency's value six-fold in the last 12 months. That makes dollar-priced items, including UTEP tuition, six times as costly for Mexicans.

International Student Services director Gori Bruno sympathizes with the Mexican student's financial plight: "It's kind of tragic," he said.

One Mexican couple said it now costs more to send their two college-age children to UTEP for a four-year education than to buy a Juarez house, Bruno said.

Lujan, a senior from Ojinaga, Chihuahua, enrolled at this West Texas college of 15,000 to major in electrical engineering.

"The technical training here is superior," Lujan explained. "For me, it also was closer to come to UTEP than to go to school in Mexico City."

Ojinaga, a border town across the Rio Grande from Presidio, is about 300 miles southeast of El Paso, while Mexico City is about 1,000 miles southward.

But Lujan, 24, dropped out last semester to work and save enough money so he could attend classes this spring. With tuition costing $50-per-hour for international students, Lujan hopes to graduate by August.

Drama presentation scheduled tonight

This evening at the Church of the Nazarene, members of the youth group will present a dinner theatre entitled "The Truth About Genuine Simulated Diamonds."

The presentation begins at 7 p.m. in the Family Life Center of the church at Ironwood and La Plata. Cost for the meal and drama is $5. All proceeds will go to help sponsor the L.L.F.E. youth program.

To purchase tickets call the church at 364-8303.

The presentation will include six sketches, "The Unpardonable Pastoral Sin," "C.B. Christian," "The Car Pool," "The Meat Locker," "The Food Line," and "The Typical Christian Home."

The Rev. Bob Huffaker is pastor of the Church of the Nazarene and Ted Taylor is youth minister.

Cribbing reported on teachers' test

HOUSTON (AP) — Many teachers blantly shared answers on a new competency examination, because they believed the test was unfair, a teachers' union official says.

"I'm talking about a lively sharing of information among the teachers taking the tests," said John O'Sullivan, president of the Houston Federation of Teachers.

"They were being tested over materials that in no way related to their job performance."

As a result, he said, "The traditional way of testing broke down. There was a spirit of 'we're in this unfair thing together so let's help each other to get through.'"

Ron E. Veselka, Houston Independent School District deputy superintendent, said he could not confirm how widespread cheating was in the test, but noted "I talked to a couple of teachers who said they saw what they thought was cheating."

Another HISD official, Joe Stubbs, an assistant superintendent, said he received a report of a teacher using an electronic calculator during the test.

About 3,100 teachers took the test at 15 locations as part of an HISD program of promoting teacher competence. The test scores will be used in evaluating teacher performance, said Veselka. Low scorers could be required to undertake a "growth improvement plan," he said.

The testing cost about $77,500, or $25 for each test, and was financed by the state and the HISD. The tests were administered by the Education Testing Service.

Phones at the union office rang constantly after the test Wednesday, said O'Sullivan, as teachers called in to report cheating, including their own.

"Some teachers admitted they cheated and were not at all penitent about it," said O'Sullivan.

Former Arkansas governor's wife found slain in bathtub

HOUSTON (AP) — Elizabeth Drake Faubus, the estranged wife of former Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus, was the third victim in as many days found slain in the bathtubs of their west Houston homes.

But police detective W.G. Edison said there were "no obvious similarities" linking the three deaths.

"We're investigating all of them separately," Edison said. "But we're not going to discuss ongoing investigations. That would be futile."

Mrs. Faubus, 44, was found dead Thursday afternoon in a bathroom adjacent to the master bedroom, said Edison, calling the death an apparent homicide.

She was nude and suffered several blows to the head, Edison said. An autopsy was scheduled today by the Harris County Medical Examiner's office.

On Thursday, the medical examiner's office ruled as homicides the deaths of two women found slain Tuesday in bathtubs at their west Houston homes, where they lived alone.

Ruth Kottler, a 61-year-old savings association manager, and Bertie Eakins, 74, had been beaten on the face and head and died from asphyxiation, medical examiners said.

Mrs. Faubus' body was discovered about 3 p.m. by two furniture movers who had an appointment to move a piano from the house to an apartment, Edison said.

When they arrived, Edison said, the front door was open. "I went in and hollered for her and looked around and didn't find her. I walked through the house and found her in the bathtub. All I saw was a dead body and a lot of blood," one of the movers, Randy Burnett, told the Houston Chronicle.

There were no signs of forced entry and nothing appeared to be missing from the fashionable two-story brick house, said R.A. Correa, public information officer for the Houston Police Department.

Detectives said there was no apparent motive but refused to discuss any clues about possible suspects.

One neighbor, Jerry Allen, said he noticed an unusual amount of activity Wednesday night in the neighborhood.

"I heard several doors slam," Allen said. "There was an unusual amount of activity. There were two or three cars but just what was going on I never did check out."

On Thursday morning, Allen said he noticed Mrs. Faubus' car parked on the street in front of her house.

"That was only the second time in four years that I have seen her car out there. She usually parks it in back," he said.

Friends said Mrs. Faubus and her husband moved into the $250,000 home four years ago. Mrs. Faubus had lived alone since her husband moved out nine months ago and returned to Arkansas as director of that state's Veteran Affairs Department, a position he no longer holds.

Faubus said his wife has a 23-year-old son in Houston and a 25-year-old daughter in Austin.

She married Faubus on March 21, 1969, shortly after he divorced Alta, his wife of 37 years.

The couple separated and Mrs. Faubus filed for divorce in October under Texas' "no fault" divorce system. However, no action was taken on the petition.

"Everything had worked out according to her request," Faubus said by telephone from his Little Rock home Thursday. "I talked to her the day before yesterday. Everything seemed to be all right. I followed through on things which she suggested or requested and so the moving of the piano was something she discussed with me."

Faubus was governor of Arkansas for six two-year terms, from 1955 to 1967, and gained national attention when he tried to block integration of Little Rock's Central High School in 1957. Federal troops eventually were dispatched to integrate the school.

Today In History

Today is Friday, March 4, the 63rd day of 1983. There are 302 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On March 4, 1933, President Franklin D. Roosevelt launched the "New Deal" recovery program in his first inaugural address.

On this date: In 1681, England's King Charles II granted William Penn a charter for what is now Pennsylvania.

In 1789, the first U.S. Congress convened in New York City, but had to adjourn because there was no quorum.

In 1791, Vermont became the 14th state.

And, in 1917, Republican Rep. Jeannette Rankin of Montana became the first woman to serve in the U.S. Congress.

Ten years ago: 106

American prisoners of war released by North Vietnam arrived at Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines.

Five years ago: A large snowstorm caused transportation foul-ups in the northeast U.S.

One year ago: Secretary of State Alexander Haig met with El Salvador's vice president in Washington. The meeting came in the wake of reports that a Nicaraguan military man allegedly captured in El Salvador had escaped from custody and had taken refuge at the Mexican Embassy in San Salvador.

Today's birthdays: Singer Miriam Makeba is 51 years old.

Reagan calls on business to whip foreign competitors

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — President Reagan underscoring his commitment to free trade, is calling on American businesses to "outplan, outproduce, and outsell the pants off this nation's competitors."

In remarks prepared for delivery to the Commonwealth Club today, Reagan asserted the international recession "is giving way to a rainbow of recovery bearing a renaissance in enterprise."

"America is on the mend," he said.

The White House made excerpts from Reagan's prepared remarks available in advance.

The president also told the 14,000-member public affairs forum that "there can be no security without a strong western economy and there can be no freedom unless we preserve the open and competitive international financial system we created after World War II."

For too long, the president said in his luncheon address, "the government has treated the entrepreneurs more as an enemy than as an ally. Our administration has a better idea. We will give you less bureaucracy if you give America your audacity."

"We want you to outplan, outproduce, and outsell the pants off this nation's competitors," Reagan said.

Administration officials have said the U.S. trade deficit could reach a record $75 billion this year.

White House officials said the speech was designed to highlight Reagan's dedication to free trade and to point the way toward more open markets for U.S. producers and the nation's trading partners.

White says highway will help valley unemployment

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Mark White, who just returned from a trip to Washington, says he is seeking both state and federal aid for the economically beleaguered Rio Grande Valley, which has been suffering under a series of Mexican peso devaluations.

"This was just as sharp an impact on them economically as if there had been a hurricane or a tornado," White told a Capitol news conference Thursday.

Joblessness in South Texas is the highest in the state, largely due to the Mexican peso devaluation. Unemployment in Laredo leaped to 27 percent in January.

White told reporters that he asked Vice President George Bush to survey federal programs to find aid for the area. Additionally, he said, highway projects and possible new industry could help alleviate joblessness.

"I think hopefully we'll see an advancement in the time frames for construction of several highway projects in the South Texas area and that will give us hopefully some new job opportunities there and some favorable economic impact in the community," White said.

Highway department officials said they have speeded up planning on 14 projects in South Texas at a cost of $38 million, to create about 1,000 jobs. Assistant Engineer-Director Henry Pearson said the projects are awaiting funds from the 5-cent hike in the federal gas tax in April.

Some of the projects will be under construction in six months and others will take two years to start, said Pearson.

In addition, the state industrial commission is seeking new industry for the area, and White said a major refinery may be built in the Rio Grande Valley.

White said House Majority Leader Jim Wright, who represents Fort Worth in Congress, promised legislation to block unemployment benefit cutbacks scheduled to go into effect on March 14, White said.

"He assured me that he would see to the passage in the House of legislation that would continue that funding and that there would be no break in those benefits flowing to the people who are unemployed," he said.

White said he told federal officials that South Texas' unemployment should be viewed differently from unemployment in other areas of the country.

House passes jobs bill; Senate action likely

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first major anti-recession bill of the 98th Congress has cleared the House by a wide margin and is headed for what is expected to be equally quick action in the Senate.

The $4.9 billion emergency measure, approved 324-95 Thursday, is designed to provide 400,000 permanent jobs and $700 million in emergency housing, food and health care for victims of the recession.

A similar but slightly smaller version of the proposal is scheduled to go before the Appropriations Committee on Monday, with final Senate passage likely later in the week.

President Reagan is expected to sign the measure into law, unless the Republican-controlled Senate takes the unlikely step of adding significantly to the price tag.

During four hours of House debate, there was criticism from only a few Democratic liberals and Republican conservatives who said it will barely nick the nation's unemployment rate, which was 10.2 percent in January.

"To call this a jobs bill in March of 1983 is to mislead millions of people out of work and millions more who will wind up out of work," said Democratic Rep. John Conyers of economically-depressed Michigan.

Republican Minority Leader Bob Michel of Illinois said the legislation is "inefficient, misdirected, exploitive and politically tainted... In a word, it is mediocre."

Before passage in the House, the measure was changed to answer charges that too much of the money would go for "pork barrel" projects benefiting members of the Democrat-controlled House Appropriations Committee, and other senior House Democrats.

Before the amendments were approved, Rep. Del Latta, R-Ohio, said, "If you want to vote for pork, this is it."

In reply, Rep. Jamie Whitten, D-Miss., chairman of the 53-member House Appropriations panel, said, "A man that handles a national program and leaves the district out, he better not go back home."

One amendment, approved 335 to 83, requires that 75 percent of the jobs money go to areas with the highest unemployment rates.

Another amendment, providing an additional $61 million in mass transit funds, would give the Transportation Department, rather than the Appropriations Committee, authority to decide where the money would be spent.

The legislation also includes $1.25 billion in Community Development Block Grants to cities and counties, and help for government and private agencies running out of funds to maintain soup kitchens and overnight shelters for the homeless.

There is also money to fix up Veterans Hospitals and other federal building, and funds for job retraining, especially unemployed young people.

Public works projects included in the bill include mass transit facilities, park improvements, flood control, and soil conservation.

The Federal Government is the largest single employer of women in the United States.

BUSINESS IS OFF for Uncle Sam, Grocer to the World

SOURCE: Department of Agriculture

NEA/Moffitt Cecil

U.S. agricultural exports, traditionally the strongest earner in the national trade balance, registered an over-all decline last year, dropping to $39.1 billion from $43.8 billion in 1981. Of major customers, only the Soviet Union bought more. The nine-nation European Economic Community, the best customer of all, showed no change.

In the business of trying to run the UN

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Those engaged here in the business of trying to beat swords into plowshares are among the highest paid, most secure bureaucrats in the world.

Critics regard the United Nations as a glass hive in which drones siphon off the honey. Defenders insist that credit be given to a hard core of dedicated international civil servants doing their best in a system undermined by political patronage.

Former U.N. personnel chief James Jonah of Sierra Leone has complained that many member governments "seem to regard the Secretariat as a dumping ground for officials unwanted at home."

Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar, who took office 14 months ago, has been quoted as saying that only one in four U.N. employees does useful work.

"That's not far from the truth," remarked a high-ranking U.N. official, who spoke on condition he not be identified. "It's what you find in most bureaucracies."

Given the increasing politicization of the 157-nation world body, he said, chopping away the "dead wood" would be a Herculean task.

"I would love to see that happen," the official added.

Worldwide, the United Nations employs a staff of nearly 26,500, ranging from messengers earning $13,257 a year to an undersecretary-general grossing $122,500, including an expense allowance of $4,000. In addition, there are about 10,000 U.N. peacekeeping troops in the Middle East who are paid directly by their defense ministries.

Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar receives $167,860 a year, an expense allowance of $22,500, a townhouse overlooking New York's East River and a stretch limousine. His earnings are surpassed in the U.S. government only by President Reagan, who gets an annual salary of $200,000, plus $50,000 for expenses.

While U.S. taxpayers are paying a quarter of U.N. costs, the Washington-based Heritage Foundation complains, Americans comprise only one-sixth of U.N. Secretariat staff and "may be becoming an endangered species here."

The foundation, a conservative research institute, proposed in a recent report that Washington consider cutting funds to U.N. agencies that do not raise the number of American staffers to "desirable ranges."

The United Nations' higher echelon professional staff — nearly 2,900 of the 7,000 employed here at headquarters — has started to outpace comparable American civil servants in pay and benefits.

The U.S. Mission to the United Nations puts the pay gap at 35 percent, but the U.N. says it is only 18 percent after adjustment for the cost of living difference between New York and Washington and taking the "expatriation factor" into account.

Extra benefits go to non-American staff members here are similar to those allotted to American diplomats abroad, including free travel on biannual home leave and school allowances of up to $3,000 per child.

More than 30 U.N. officials earn over $100,000 a year, putting them ahead of members of the Reagan cabinet. For example, Secretary of State George Shultz has an annual salary of $80,100.

The main reason for the growing Civil Service-U.N. pay gap, a U.S. official notes, is that the U.N. staff members are virtually "fully insulated against inflation." They get automatic cost of living increases each time the inflation rate rises by 5 percent.

The automatic increments have led to skyrocketing costs. Personnel costs account for 80 percent of the U.N. budget. According to U.N. tabulations, manpower costs increased 42.8 percent worldwide between 1976 and 1981, but only 3.8 percent after accounting for inflation.

U.N. employment also offers a tax break. Non-Americans pay no national income taxes, although part of their salary is withheld as a "staff assessment" that flows back into U.N. coffers. Americans are required to file U.S. tax returns but the U.N. makes up the difference between what they pay the Internal Revenue Service and their lower U.N. assessment. Only top U.N. officials with limited diplomatic immunity are exempt from local sales taxes.

Dependent allowances are built into the salaries of professional staff members, while clerical and other lower-ranking employees get $1,200 annually for a spouse and $584 for each child.

But there have been complaints about the jobs. "Staff morale is low and has declined over the last five years," says George Irving, an American lawyer who is vice president of the U.N. Staff Union.

Last November, hundreds of U.N. employees staged a one-hour work stoppage to demand more responsiveness from management.

Among the complaints, Irving said, is the "very disturbing trend toward appointment of people according to political connections" and not according to ability.

U.N. staffers also are demoralized, he said, because member countries "are unsympathetic to our needs. They're more interested in wanting to keep the budget down."

While it's true that staff members from developing countries earn more than they would at home, those from industrial countries often would be better off in private business, Irving said.

"As a lawyer I'm being paid so much less than in a private law firm," he said. "But, with any government service, you have to make a determination that you're not in it for the money."

The Newspaper BIBLE

HEY! WE KILLED GOD'S SON!

It was about nine o'clock in the morning when the crucifixion took place. A signboard was fastened to the cross above his head, announcing his crime. It read, "The King of the Jews." Two robbers were also crucified that morning, their crosses on either side of his. And so the Scripture was fulfilled that said, "He was counted among evil men."

The people jeered at him as they walked by, and wagged their heads in mockery. "Ha! Look at you now!" they yelled at him. "Sure, you can destroy the Temple and rebuild it in three days! If you're so wonderful, save yourself and come down from the cross."

The chief priests and religious leaders were also standing around joking about Jesus. "He's quite clever at 'saving' others," they said, "but he can't save himself!" "Hey there, Messiah!" they yelled at him. "You 'King of Israel!' Come on down from the cross and we'll believe you!" And even the two robbers dying with him, cursed him.

About noon, darkness fell across the entire land, lasting until three o'clock that afternoon. Then Jesus uttered another loud cry, and dismissed his spirit. And the curtain in the Temple was split apart from top to bottom.

When the Roman officer standing beside his cross saw how he dismissed his spirit, he exclaimed, "Truly, this was the Son of God!" (Mark 15:25-33, 37-39)

PUC examiner bars Mattox intervention in GTE case

AUSTIN (AP) — Attorney General Jim Mattox promise to defend consumers against unwarranted utility rate increases has been short-circuited by a Public Utility Commission hearing examiner.

Examiner Angela Williams ruled Thursday that Mattox — who wants to fight General Telephone Co.'s rate hike request — can't intervene in the case because state law orders him to defend whatever decision PUC reaches.

It would be awkward for Mattox to represent consumers against the rate hike, and later have to defend the increase in court, according to the examiner.

"Presumably the attorney general does not seek to intervene and participate in time-consuming litigation at the agency level only to abandon his client when the appellate process begins," she said in her decision.

Mattox labeled the ruling "a good illustration of the difficulty the consumers have been encountering with the PUC.

"There's been no one representing the interests of consumers out there. It's pretty evident this hearing examiner does not want consumers to be properly represented," Mattox said.

It is "not at all uncommon," Mattox said, for the attorney general to represent different sides in a lawsuit because of the requirement that the office represent all state agencies.

Ms. Williams said Mattox could appear at the hearing, set to begin April 18, "as a full participant." She said, however, Mattox should be barred from going to court to challenge the commission's final rate order.

Mattox was annoyed by the invitation.

"What they would like is for me to come out there so they can sit by and politely hear our presentations and treat us the same as they've been treating other consumers," he said. "I don't think it's proper for a hearing examiner to attempt to bind the attorney general not to appeal some matter."

GTE is seeking an $84.5 million rate hike. Mattox has said GTE's service does not merit the increase. GTE lawyer Ward Wueste said last week that Mattox should not be allowed into the case because of the possible conflict of interests.

The hearing examiner's report said the conflict of interests would be apparent if Mattox goes to court to appeal her decision. The attorney general said he has not decided whether to contest the ruling.

If he does, his office would represent both sides.

"There is an irony in the very act of deciding to deny the motion to intervene because the conflict of interests will immediately come into play," said Ms. Williams.

"The attorney general's special counsel will be met at the courtroom door by a member of the attorney general's staff who is charged by law to defend this order."

"Both will receive their ultimate direction and report the results of the lawsuit to the same man," she said.

The three-member commission will hold an "emergency" meeting if Mattox wants to contest the decision. However, Mattox has said he would go to court if his request was denied.

During his campaign last year, Mattox promised to fight rate hikes and act as the consumers' lawyer at PUC hearings.

Amarillo lawyer Eric Wolfram, who represented Mattox at last Friday's hearing on the intervention request, said residential customers are "big enough, significant enough and unrepresented enough" to warrant representation by the attorney general.

Stomach bypass surgery worked for Texas woman

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Dee Bennett tried everything — Weight Watchers, the Stillman diet, the Scarsdale diet — nothing worked. In March 1982, the 50-year-old Internal Revenue Service clerk stood 5-foot-2 and weighed 376 pounds.

Since her stomach bypass surgery (commonly referred to as stomach stapling) last March, Dee has lost more than 125 pounds.

"That's skinny when you think in terms of being able to sit on a regular little stool to have your picture taken. Or in an ordinary movie theater seat without having it cut into your sides. Or just walking and talking at the same time. All those ordinary activities were out of the question for Dee until recently."

"Those diets worked as long as I stayed on them," Dee says, "but I can't stay on any diet. It's not in my makeup. I like food too much. These staples are in me forever, and I love it. It takes (the weight problem) out of my hands. I didn't want the responsibility, I guess," she says candidly.

Dee Bennett wasn't always heavy. As a child, she had no weight problem. "My mother controlled my diet," she says. "I used to be allergic to wheat products, so my mother prepared all my meals for me. Instead of cake on my birthday I got Rye Crisp with some icing on top," she groans.

"I was 125 (pounds) when I got married 28 years ago, and as soon as I had a kitchen of my own I went wild! I baked all those cakes and breads that I couldn't eat before. I gained 10 pounds the first week we were married and kept on going."

Stomach stapling was a last resort. At first the weight came off rapidly and Dee was ecstatic. "The results were instantaneous — I didn't get discouraged like I did on all those diets." But there came a crisis point: She lost 99½ pounds and became terribly depressed.

"I felt sort of like my nerve endings were exposed. I guess I felt like the food and fat were insulating me," she says. She passed the 100-pound mark, and the crisis passed. It was as if losing 100 pounds meant losing a person buried within herself.

The new Dee Bennett, she says, is a happier person. She gets a thrill just from seeing herself without all that padding.

"Look! I've got a neck!" she proclaims with glee. "I've gone down from a size 50 to a 26½, and my hips went from 79 to around 59." But the changes are deeper than appearance alone.

"My husband says he sees changes, but they're subtle. I'm not so angry any more. I used to joke a lot, but really I was angry at myself. Maybe I'm more outgoing, too. Absolute strangers will stop and talk with me now — they notice me. If they noticed me before, they'd pretended not to."

"And I get so many compliments. Sometimes I feel a little shy, having all this attention paid to me. And for the first time in years I enjoyed Christmas. I was able to move around. I'm not so sedentary any more. For some reason, I didn't get panic attacks (from crowds) in the stores the way I used to, either."

Dee has become more aware of the role food plays in society. The surgery left her with only a tiny opening in her stomach through which food passes, so now she's rarely hungry.

"But do you notice how people say, 'I'll meet you after dinner?' or 'How about coming over for dessert and coffee?' Food is really a social thing. It amuses me now to see people stuff themselves. I think, 'If they only knew where it's going.'"

But Dee's children are obese, also. Don't they see where it's leading?

"Sure they do," she responds, "but they're just like me — they can't keep on a diet either. My 23-year-old girl is thinking about getting her stomach stapled, too. It'll be her decision if she does."

Dee's goal is to be down to 125 pounds again. But first it's down to 200, then 150. She's losing weight more slowly now, but she's not losing her motivation.

"Besides," she quips, "if I eat too much, I throw up, so this is one 'diet' I can't get off of."

Dee's husband, who also has a weight problem, has been supportive all the way.

"How do I feel about Dee's losing all this weight?" he says. "My wife who was dead is alive again. That's how I feel."

What's Alzheimer's disease?

DEAR DR. LAMB — I spoke to a lady the other day. She said her husband has Alzheimer's disease. I told her I had never heard of such a disease. I did not ask her what the disease was like. I was afraid one or the other would be hurt. Is it catching? She said most older people get it. I'm 76. Could I have gotten it from speaking to her? Please help me if you can.

DEAR READER — No, it is certainly not contagious. It is one recognized cause of mental changes usually ascribed to aging. In some scientific publications it has the unflattering label of senile dementia of the Alzheimer's type.

The symptoms produced by Alzheimer's disease are indistinguishable from the symptoms often encountered as a result of aging of the brain. Because Alzheimer's disease has received a liberal amount of media attention there is a tendency for the public to think that everyone who has aging symptoms has Alzheimer's disease. That is not so. While it is a very important disease we must not lose sight of the point that most people who have memory changes and other aging changes do not have Alzheimer's disease at all.

We don't know what causes Alzheimer's disease but it is a disease, not just aging. And it can and often does affect people younger than you would ordinarily expect to have brain changes because of age.

There is evidence that aluminum deposits in special areas of the brain may be related to the disease. There is also evidence that changes in acetylcholine in the brain or its destruction in the brain may be a factor. These are all exciting findings but are too premature and not associated with enough study yet to know how important they are and what one should do about them.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I would like to ask your opinion about hair analysis. I was told that through the analysis they can tell different things about your health. I am planning on having the test done but first I'd like to know if you think it would be worth it because it is expensive.

DEAR READER — In my opinion if you pay anything at all for it you are wasting your money. The American Council on Science and Health recently commented on the state of the art. The final statement of their published report was, "Those who are unscientific enough to depend on such an unreliable method are almost certain to provide unreliable advice."

The American Medical Association's Committee on Cutaneous Health and Cosmetics also states that a person's health may be completely unrelated to the chemical condition of the hair.

Hair analysis is useful in the detection of toxic levels of some heavy metals such as mercury or lead but even these tests are unreliable on an individual basis. They are best used in population studies for environmental conditions.

The hair analysis research will fare better when unsupported claims are stopped and the profit motive is eliminated.

Making meringue

DEAR POLLY — I have an old recipe that calls for the preparation of an "Italian meringue" to be made in the proportions of one-half cup sugar, one-third cup water and four egg whites. However, there are no directions for preparing this Italian meringue. Do you know how to make it? — SALLY

DEAR SALLY — An Italian meringue consists of hot sugar syrup beaten into whipped egg whites. Although the exact proportion of sugar, water and egg whites may vary from recipe to recipe, the procedure for preparing it is simple.

First, using an electric mixer or hand beater, whip the egg whites until they are stiff but not dry. This means they hold their shape well when you lift the beaters and form straight peaks whose tips do not bend over. Then set them aside while you prepare the sugar syrup as follows. Dissolve the sugar in the water in a heavy pan set over medium heat. When the sugar has been thoroughly dissolved, turn up the heat and allow the syrup to boil until it reaches the soft ball stage, or approximately 230 degrees on a candy thermometer. Allow the syrup to cool slightly, then pour it into the egg whites in a thin stream while beating constantly with the electric beater or hand mixer. Continue beating until you have a thick, stiff mixture and all the syrup has been incorporated into the egg whites.

You now have Italian meringue and can proceed with the rest of your recipe. This mixture is frequently used as the base for certain types of souffles, mousses, frozen mousses and other airy confections. It's easy to prepare and absolutely scrumptious! — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I keep a window squeegee in the cabinet under my bathroom sink. After every shower, I use this squeegee to wipe down the glass doors surrounding my tub. There's no chance for soap scum and water spots to accumulate, so the doors stay fairly clean. An occasional quick polishing with window cleaner and a paper towel keeps them sparkling. — LOU

YOUR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WORKS...

FOR THE RETAILER...

- Works for industrial and business development which brings with it new residents with new money to spend in the stores.
- Maintains a continuous program for inviting convention delegates. National surveys reveal that 20 per cent of the convention dollar is spent in retail stores.
- Cooperates with retail organizations and associations on retail promotions.

FOR THE SERVICE ESTABLISHMENT...

- Works for an ever increasing population, assuring additional customers and income.
- Works toward the increasing development of highways, recreational areas, new industries and the expansion of existing industries, all of which increases demand for the service organization.

FOR THE MANUFACTURER AND WHOLESALER...

- Works for the best shipping services at the lowest possible cost.
- Compiles various statistical information on trade territory, population, purchasing power and market strength.

FOR THE CONSTRUCTION, REAL ESTATE, INVESTMENT AND INSURANCE FIRM...

- Provides an ever expanding market for construction, real estate and insurance dealers through its program of attracting new industry, new residents, promoting business and working for new highways and streets.
- Encourages expansion programs and modernization for established firms.

FOR THE PROFESSIONAL MAN...

- Works continuously for growth of the area, business expansion and population increase to assure the professional man a prosperous place in which to make a living.
- Seeks better transportation services to make the area more accessible and convenient.
- Conducts an over-all program which is keyed to improve the economic income of the professional man's patients and clients for his ultimate benefit.

FOR THE FARMER, RANCHER...

- Encourages and promotes sound agricultural programs and practices with major attention to soil conservation and livestock programs.
- Frequently coordinates planning of agricultural agencies and sponsors joint efforts in the improvement of techniques for more income from farm and ranch.

FOR THE HOTEL, MOTEL, RESTAURANT OPERATOR...

- Works to attract and service conventions, trade shows, conferences and sales meetings which bring new money into the economy. National surveys indicate that more than 40 per cent of the convention dollar is spent in hotels, motels and restaurants.
- Works to expand the tourist business.
- Brings in sports and amusement attractions with large crowds.

FOR THE HOME AND PROPERTY OWNER...

- Conducts an intensive beautification program with cleanliness, street lighting and other projects aimed at making this a better place in which to live.
- Cooperates with church, cultural and entertainment groups to provide a more interesting and meaningful life for residents and visitors.

ONE LAST REASON WHY YOU SHOULD JOIN...

- The goal of our Chamber of Commerce is to promote the commercial, industrial, civic, cultural and general interest of our cities and region. To accomplish this, action committees explore every avenue and possibility. These committees usually include those working in the areas of industrial development, agriculture, aviation, athletics, conventions, membership, citizenship, traffic and transportation, area development, publicity, highways, urban development, civic affairs, retail promotion, and water resources.
- Every individual, firm and profession derives direct benefits in a growing, stable economy. Such an economy is the result of our Chamber's efforts.

What It Is...

Our Chamber of Commerce is a voluntary organization of citizens who are investing their time and money in a community development program... working together to improve the economic, civic and cultural well-being of the area.

Any citizen who is interested in helping to develop our area (which means more money—more business—more jobs and better living for everyone) is eligible to be a member of our Chamber of Commerce. The dues structure is designed to permit the smallest business or any professional person to be a member.

Our Chamber of Commerce is composed of Committee Workers, Directors, and Officers who serve without pay. The Executive Vice President (Manager) and his staff who devote their full time to our Chamber of Commerce are the only paid employees.

What It Does...

Our Chamber of Commerce is a service institution and an action organization. It provides a medium through which people can take effective action for the progress of the community.

It helps to create job opportunities through stimulation of industrial and commercial growth, for established and new firms.

It seeks the improvement of community facilities... streets, highways, parks, schools, and marketing facilities. It brings conventions, sales meetings, and other gatherings to our cities, thus bringing more money into the area.

It works toward developing the agriculture and agricultural industry of the area.

How It Functions...

Our Chamber of Commerce functions through working committees which are the backbone of the organization. Money, planning, inspiration and guidance are useless unless the members work vigorously on the committee of their choice.

Careful study is made of the community needs and an action blueprint, the program of work, is designed. The goal of the program is always to create more dollars for more people and to improve the economic welfare of all. Every member has a voice in determining the policies and projects and every member is needed to work on an active committee to get the job done.

At present several committees are operating in the area of Agriculture, Industry, Civic Development, Commercial Development and Tourist Development.

When the going gets tough... the tough get going!

Outgoing President's Remarks

What an exciting year! Your chamber has dealt with everything from packing plants to nuclear waste. Of course, the big thing this past year has been the re-opening of Swift Independent Packing Co. A 6 to 8-million-dollar payroll in the community can't do anything but help. We have felt the impact of the recession on Hereford and Deaf Smith County but, still we have so much to be thankful for. Last year, more than 30 new businesses opened in Hereford, each one bringing new jobs. Sure, a few have closed, but I feel the important thing is we haven't quit trying. As long as a community keeps moving ahead, no matter how slowly, things will get even better. Thank you very much for letting me serve you this past year. It's been an experience I will never forget. I only ask that you give Bob Sims the same support you gave me. Thanks,

Bill Johnson
