

Eight weeks of lawmaking end in Austin

AUSTIN (AP) — In eight weeks of special session lawmaking, state legislators raised taxes, cut some spending, fell about $680 million short of balancing the budget and passed a mixed batch of other bills.

Left in their wake as the House and Senate adjourned Tuesday were measures that would do everything from moving the 1988 primary elections to letting voters decide whether to legalize horse race gambling.

Gov. Mark White, who convened special sessions Aug. 6 and again Sept. 8 to deal with a revenue shortfall brought on by falling oil prices, said Tuesday he was delighted with the outcome.

Key accomplishments, legislative leaders said, were actions taken to solve the state's financial crunch.

Lawmakers passed an $872 million increase in the sales and gasoline taxes, which White has indicated he will sign into law.

They also approved $582 million in spending cuts as another key move aimed at making up the estimated $2.8 billion state budget shortfall.

However, Rep. Stan Schlueter, D-Killeen, chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee said that action still left them about $680 million short of eliminating the total projected deficit.

Here, in brief, are summaries of major legislation passed during the two special sessions:

TAXES

The $872 million, temporary tax package would raise the sales tax from 4 1/2 percent to 5 1/4 percent, and add 5 cents to the dime-per-gallon gasoline tax. Both would take effect Jan. 1 and expire on Aug. 31.

Also included is a provision to allow counties and cities not now collecting a transit tax to add a half-penny to their local sales taxes to provide property tax relief.

The bill was signed by the governor.

SPENDING CUTS

After more than 400 hours of negotiations, often behind closed doors, House and Senate negotiators agreed on a spending-cut plan that to trim the state budget by $582 million, eliminate nearly 2,000 state jobs and wipe out a 3 percent state employee pay raise scheduled for 1987.

This awaits White's anticipated signature.

GAMBLING

Lawmakers passed, and White allowed to become law without his signature, a bill that would legalize pari-mutuel wagering on horse and dog races.

In November 1987, voters statewide will decide whether to OK the plan. If they do, local elections also must be held in areas where race tracks want to locate.

Dog racing would be allowed in only three counties — Galveston, Cameron and Nueces.

SPEED LIMIT

Legislators allowed the State Highway Commission to raise the speed limit on rural interstate highways from 55 mph to 65 mph should Congress in the future permit such action. White has said he favors the higher speed limit.

PRIMARY ELECTIONS

In 1988, Texas would join about a dozen other Southern states in the so-called "Super Tuesday" presidential primary, a move backers say will give the nation's third-largest state considerably more clout in presidential politics.

Other state primaries also will be shifted from the first Saturday in May to the second Tuesday in March. Sponsors said White indicated he will sign it.

EDUCATION

The governor already has signed a bill to give teachers and school administrators increased power to maintain discipline and get incorrigible students out of the classroom.

He also signed into law legislation that will reduce paperwork chores previously required of public school teachers.

BANKING

White signed bills passed during the summer's first special session that could lead to major changes in the state's banking system.

One will allow voters to decide this November whether county-wide branch banking should be allowed.

Another bill allows — for the first time in Texas history — out-of-state banks to purchase Texas banks and bank holding companies. Backers said the out-of-state money is needed to help stimulate the state's ailing economy and provided needed cash for some financially troubled institutions.

A third allows Texas savings and loans to do business in other states.

PAROLE LAWS

The Legislature sent White a bill that would keep some inmates in prison longer. The bill would prohibit early release of inmates convicted of violent offenses such as capital murder, aggravated kidnapping, aggravated robbery and aggravated sexual assault. The governor signed the bill Tuesday night.

Senate approves bill aimed at illegal drug trafficking

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chasing right behind the House in election year anti-drug fever, the Senate has passed a multi-billion dollar bill that would fight illegal narcotics through education, rehabilitation and enforcement.

The Senate bill that passed 97-2 Tuesday does not contain three controversial provisions in the House version, and it is likely a conference will be necessary to resolve the differences.

The House measure that passed 392-16 on Sept. 11 would give civilian arrest powers to the military to pursue drug smugglers, revive the now-banned federal death penalty for some drug-related killings and allow use of some illegally seized evidence in court cases.

Those provisions were strategically left out of the Senate bill to avoid a filibuster, even though two of them, the death penalty and "good faith" exception to the exclusionary rule, are popular with most senators.

But mindful that a much broader death penalty bill passed the Senate 63-32 in February 1984, and that the exclusionary rule was approved that same month 63-24, Majority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., said the Senate might accept the House language on those items.

However, Sen. Joseph R. Biden Jr., D-Del., ranking Democrat on the Judiciary Committee, predicted a conference committee would agree on a compromise "exceedingly close to the Senate bill."

If the bill is returned to the Senate with any of the three controversial provisions, Biden warned, a filibuster would "bring the bill down."

Sen. John Warner, R-Va., with Dole at his side, made clear that the Senate would oppose the House military language.

Alluding to the House provision, he said, "We cannot permit the armed forces to go into hot pursuit" to arrest drug traffickers. Nor, he added, could the armed forces meet the House deadline of sealing U.S.

borders against narcotics smugglers within 45 days.

Voting against the Senate bill were Sens. Gordon Humphrey, R-N.H., and John Melcher, D-Mont. Sen. Jake Garn, R-Utah, was the only senator not voting.

Both measures authorize money for the increased war against drugs, but separate appropriations bills would be necessary to actually spend the funds. Often, Congress does not appropriate the full amount authorized.

Joint committee agrees on figure for Pentagon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bargainers from the House and Senate are in agreement on a spending figure for the Defense Department of $291 billion, nearly $30 billion below the amount President Reagan originally sought for 1987.

Meeting behind closed doors, lawmakers agreed Tuesday on the Pentagon authorization for the fiscal year that begins today, said congressional sources who spoke on condition they not be identified.

The negotiators also decided to keep alive a controversial Air Force trainer plane, the sources said.

The agreement hammered out by a House-Senate conference committee is midway between the $295 billion authorized by the Republican-controlled Senate and the $287 billion total approved by the Democratic-run House, the sources said. The figure is far below the $320 billion originally sought by President Reagan for fiscal 1987.

The conferees also approved actual defense expenditures of $279 billion, a figure lower than the authorized total because authorization budgets include money that is expected to be spent in future years.

The two figures will be used by the House and Senate as they try to write the defense portion of a huge, catchall spending bill needed because none of 13 regular appropriations measures has been enacted by Congress.

Although the conferees working on an authorization bill technically are not involved in preparing the stopgap spending measure, the figures and compromises adopted by the conferees are likely to shape the Defense Department portion of the bill.

The defense conferees were plowing through 1,250 differences between the separate bills passed by the House and Senate. More than 300 remained, but the panelists were trying to complete their work by Friday so the two chambers can approve a Pentagon authorization bill before they adjourn for the year.

Among the remaining differences were major restrictions enacted by the House but rejected by the Senate. President Reagan has threatened to veto any bill that includes the House provisions, including bans on anti-satellite tests, limits on nuclear weapons construction and tests, a ban on chemical weapons, and a freeze on "Star Wars" spending.

One decision made by the conferees keeps alive the troubled T-46A, a trainer plane built for the Air Force by Fairchild Republic in Farmingdale, N.Y.

The House, under pressure from the New York delegation, had voted to keep the plane alive. But the Senate voted to kill it, a decision strongly supported by Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., who wants the Air Force to use a modernized version of its current trainer, the T-37, built by Cessna Aircraft of Wichita, Kan.

Soviet grain deadline final administration declares

WASHINGTON (AP) — Disappointed by a Soviet decision to pass up a massive U.S. grain deal sweetened with a $15-a-ton subsidy, the Reagan administration says the from government grain stocks had been a "fraudulent exercise" in the first place and was designed to bring on a negative response from Moscow.

"There will be no renewal of the offer," Undersecretary of Agriculture Daniel G. Amstutz said Tuesday as the midnight deadline approached without any sign that Moscow was in a shopping mood.

Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., said the proposal, which would have amounted to more than $350 million, was going out "with a whimper" because of the Nicholas Daniloff affair.

He said that once the two governments became preoccupied with Soviet espionage charges against the American journalist, who has since been released by Moscow, it was no longer possible to go through with the grain deal.

Rep. Berkley Bedell, D-Iowa, charged that the plan to reward Soviet purchases under a five-year agreement with in-kind bonuses

Congressional investigators, meanwhile, reported to Bedell's House Agriculture subcommittee that Soviet trade officials told them the major cause of the rebuff was that even with the $15-a-ton subsidy they still could get the grain elsewhere for a further discount of $7 to $10 a ton.

Bedell acknowledged reports that the Soviets purchased 1 million tons of wheat from the European Economic Community on Friday at about $76 a ton and added he was "surprised that the Europeans have subsidized their wheat as heavily as they have."

He also said the soft wheat involved in the reports is no substitute for the hard wheat the Soviets would have bought here.

Amstutz said in a statement that the administration's reaction to the Soviet decision not to buy grain "is one of surprise and disappointment."

He cited a five-year agreement that requires the Soviets to purchase a minimum of 4 million tons of wheat a year from the United States and added that President Reagan had approved the subsidy in response to a Soviet request.

But Moscow claimed the wheat was too expensive and the subsidy would have lowered the price to just $91 a ton.

"In a sense we've given them all we were asked of by them to fulfill the agreement, and they didn't," he said.

Asked if the Soviet decision not to buy grain from the United States for a second consecutive year of the agreement would have any impact on what sort of arrangements might be made in years hence, Amstutz said: "I will not speculate on the future."

Narcotic linked murders increasing

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A dramatic increase in the number of murders in Fort Worth is linked to narcotics, Fort Worth police officials and a criminal justice educator say.

Fort Worth has had 148 murders in 1986 through Monday, compared with only 103 at this time a year ago when the city wound up with a record of 128 homicides, according to police spokesman Doug Clarke.

The Fort Worth homicide figures are more significant when compared with those of Dallas, a city with more than twice the population. As of Monday, Dallas had reported 253 killings this year and had a total of 301 slayings in all of 1985.

"We see a fairly large increase in the number of homicides which, on the surface, appear to be drug-related," Capt. Jerry Blaisdell of the Special Operations Division, which also includes narcotics officers.

Former Fort Worth police Lt. Vernon Farris, who retired two months ago to teach criminal justice classes at Southwest Texas State University, said he noticed the trend in January.

"More and more murders in some shape, fashion or form were narcotics-related," Farris told the Dallas Morning News Tuesday in an interview from San Marcos.

Lt. Thomas Swann of the police homicide unit says there not only has been a dramatic rise in narcotics-related slayings, there has also been a rise in the number of people slain during robberies.

"And more victims have been found by the side of the road, in parking lots, behind bars, who had been shot to death and dumped," Swann said. "These could have been robberies."

Seniors push for annual sessions

AUSTIN (AP) — Texans should be allowed to decide whether they want their lawmakers to meet every year, not just every other year the Silver-Haired Legislature says.

The senior legislature is meeting this week to formulate recommendations that will be forwarded to the 1987 Legislature.

Eighty-two of the 166 Silver-Haired Legislature members voted Tuesday for a resolution calling for a constitutional amendment that would allow lawmakers to meet in even-numbered years to set the state budget.

The Constitution now allows regular sessions in odd-numbered years. Constitutional amendments require approval at a statewide election.

Lawmakers set two-year budgets at the regular sessions. The Legislature also meets in special sessions called by the governor. Lawmakers Tuesday completed the second of back-to-back special sessions called to deal with the budget crisis.

"The rapidly changing economy of today could not have been foreseen by the founding fathers of our Texas Constitution," said the resolution approved by the Silver-Haired Legislature, which is made up of citizens who are 60 or older.

Among those backing the annual-session resolution was Deno Tufares of Wichita Falls, the only former Texas legislator in the Silver-Haired Legislature.

Reagan's sanctions veto failing

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan's last-minute lobbying campaign to sustain his veto of economic sanctions against South Africa appears to be falling short despite administration efforts to link the issue to success at the U.S.-Soviet summit.

But Reagan is stepping up efforts to persuade senators — especially Republicans — to change their votes.

One day after a stinging 313-83 defeat in the Democratic-led House, Reagan named career diplomat Edward J. Perkins to be the nation's first black ambassador to South Africa.

And he dispatched Secretary of State George Shultz to Capitol Hill to warn GOP senators that a vote to override the veto on South Africa sanctions would embarrass the president and undercut his ability to bargain effectively with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev when they meet Oct. 11-12 in Iceland.

But Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind., who believes Reagan is making a mistake in not endorsing the sanctions legislation, said the nomination of Perkins has long been in the works and adds little or nothing to the sanctions debate.

He called the Shultz attempt to link the sanctions vote to the Reagan-Gorbachev talks "far-fetched" because "South Africa is not going to be on the agenda with Gorbachev.... That's reaching very far."

Lugar also said the president's attempt to preempt Congress on the issue by expanding his own list of limited sanctions was too little, too late. And it would, if successful, be a victory for the government of South African President P. W. Botha and comfort "apologists" for that government's apartheid system of racial separation, he added.

Daniloff's release inspires future deals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The release of American reporter Nicholas Daniloff, who gets a warm White House welcome today from President Reagan, unlocks the door to a superpower summit meeting in Iceland that could produce sharp reductions in U.S. and Soviet nuclear missiles.

An administration official said Tuesday night Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev probably will set a date for their long-delayed meeting in Washington when they meet Oct. 11-12 in Reykjavik.

The official, who spoke only on condition of anonymity, said Reagan would assign top priority in the talks to reducing globe-girdling strategic nuclear weapons.

With the United States and the Soviet Union already edging closer to an accord to cut back their medium-range missiles in Europe, the meeting between Reagan and Gorbachev could accelerate the "motion" that Secretary of State George Shultz said Tuesday has marked arms control talks in Geneva.

"I think there are reasonable prospects," Shultz told reporters as he outlined the deal he negotiated with Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze. It freed Daniloff from confinement in Moscow and spared Gennadiy Zakharov, a Soviet physicist, of a spy trial in the New York.

The month-long dickering also eased a U.S. order expelling 25 Soviet diplomats from the U.N. mission and produced a Kremlin decision to permit the emigration of prominent Soviet dissident Yuri Orlov and his wife, Irina.

All 25 Soviets were supposed to depart by today, but Shultz and Shevardnadze, who held a separate news conference in New York, said they had agreed on a two-week grace period for the few that remain.

The Soviet foreign minister warned of "major and very serious measures" to be taken by Moscow if the order was not withdrawn. Shultz indicated a few of the diplomats, deemed essential by Shevardnadze, may be permitted to stay permanently.

A few hours after the White House proclaimed triumph in a showdown with the Kremlin, and Reagan announced the meeting with Gorbachev, the 51-year-old Daniloff arrived at Washington-Dulles International Airport at Chantilly, Va. He waved to a group of well-wishers and, accompanied by his wife Ruth, got in a van for a short ride to the terminal.

Suspect in ax murders escaped in stolen vehicle

LANCASTER, Texas (AP) — After three women were hacked to death in this far south Dallas suburb, police believe, the killer got into a station wagon belonging to one of them and sped south on Interstate 45, where he was arrested about 100 miles away in Leon County for driving while intoxicated.

But it was Monday morning, 36 hours later, before the grisly murder scene was discovered. By the time an all-points bulletin could be released with a description of the stolen car, the man had already been released from jail, authorities said Tuesday.

The man, described as the only suspect in the triple killing, was believed to have hitchhiked to Houston after his release about 10 a.m. Monday, officials said.

The Leon County sheriff's department in Centerville, halfway between Dallas and Houston, didn't know about the triple slaying when it freed the man, dispatcher Bob Gresham said.

The bodies, hacked to death with a hatchet and a knife, were discovered in Lancaster about one hour before the man's release, but the statewide alert on the killing and the stolen car wasn't released until later.

Authorities identified the victims as Donna Sue Jester, 37; her cousin, Dalpha Jester, 64, who was blind and bedridden; and Laura Lee Owen, 20, a transient whom Donna Jester picked up hitchhiking and brought to the house.

Officials said all suffered multiple knife and-or hatchet wounds on the head and neck.

"We feel like the steak knife was used first and that the hatchet was used as a weapon of convenience," Lancaster Police Chief John Whitehead said.

Authorities said the suspect apparently was, like Ms. Owen, a transient who had been living at the house where the murders occurred.

A diary kept by Donna Jester spoke of a romantic relationship that had developed between the man and Ms. Owen after both came separately to live at the Jester house in early September, Whitehead said. "She (Miss Jester's diary) said they hit it off," Whitehead said. Officials speculated the three women were killed between 6 and 10 p.m. Saturday, probably after a quarrel between Donna Jester and the man living in the house.

"We feel like Laura was not at the house at that time, that only Donna Sue and Ms. Jester were there. We believe that Laura was coming into the house after they were killed and confronted the killer, that she turned to escape and was caught outside," Whitehead said.

The Jesters were found in a room inside the house and Ms. Owen was lying on the back porch, Whitehead said.

Donna Jester suffered 14 blows, Dalpha Jester five wounds to the head and neck, and Ms. Owen 21 blows to the head, neck and hands, officials added.

Miss Owen worked at a fast-food restaurant Saturday and clocked out at 5 p.m., the police chief said.

The diary of Donna Jester "was like she sat down and wrote a letter to herself," he said. "Her last entry was for Friday."

Donna Jester was well liked by co-workers, according to Linda Bennett, manager of operator services at Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., where Donna Jester worked for 17 years until retiring last March.

The police chief described the journal as a collection of notebooks all the same size and numerically organized by year. Investigators were concentrating on the five notebooks written this year, he said.

Whitehead said Donna Jester often brought stray dogs home and often picked up transients and wanderers.

"She had a bad habit of picking up down and outers," Whitehead said.

Originally, police sought a second man, identified by Donna Jester in her diary as her "common-law husband," but they later determined he was in Georgia when the murders occurred, Whitehead said.

Severe storms roam Texas

By The Associated Press

Severe thunderstorms roared across western areas of North Texas and the low rolling plains of West Texas early today.

And low clouds and fog combined over the High Plains during the early morning hours, prompting the National Weather Service to issue travelers advisories because of low visibility.

The heavy thunderstorms formed along a line stretching from the low rolling plains into Oklahoma.

Several severe thunderstorms were issued during the night and early today for counties in North Texas and western sections of North Texas.

Scattered showers and a few thunderstorms were also being reported over middle and upper sections of the Texas coast.

The storms early today were not as severe as the one that struck near Winters, about 40 miles south of Abilene Tuesday night.

A tornado touched down Tuesday night eight miles northwest of Winters, knocking down utility poles and damaging some barns and cotton trailers, the National Weather Service said.

The tornado struck Ronnie Poehls' farm on U.S. Highway 53 near Wingate about 6:30 p.m.

"It was just a hard, fast wind that lasted two minutes," farmer Ronnie Poehls said of the storm that struck about 6:30 p.m. "The rain was so intense with hail you could not see at all."

Poehls had a 20-foot cotton trailer that was picked up and carried 60 feet by the tornado.

"It's a total loss," Poehls said. Poehls said he had not heard of any injuries caused by the twister.

Several of farmer Mike Diek's pigs were thrown out their pens by the tornado, Poehls said. One of an estimated 1,500 pigs was killed and several were injured, he said.

Forecasts called for showers and thunderstorms in North Texas through Thursday. It was to be fair in West Texas and partly cloudy over the rest of the state. Some scattered thunderstorms were forecast late today and tonight for portions of South Texas.

Lows tonight will be in the 50s in the mountains and Panhandle and in the 70s and 80s over the rest of the state.

Highs Thursday will be mostly in the 80s and 90s, ranging upward to as high as near 100 in extreme South Texas.

Early morning temperatures were in the 50s and 60s in West Texas and in the 70s over the rest of the state except in far south Texas where readings are in the lower 80s. Extremes ranged from 50 at El Paso to 82 at Corpus Christi and Brownsville.

Other early morning temperatures around the state included 62 at Amarillo, 71 at Wichita Falls, 78 at Fort Worth, 80 at Waco, 79 at Austin, San Antonio and Houston, 78 at San Angelo and 66 at Midland.

Nuclear cuts could come out of U.S. - Soviet meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union joined with the Reagan administration today in predicting that cuts in both sides' nuclear arsenals could come out of the meeting next week between President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev.

For the United States, presidential chief of Staff Donald T. Regan said the two days of meetings "could lead to a better understanding and, perhaps, some give here and there in order to reach an agreement so we get some arms reductions."

For the Soviet Union, Foreign Ministry spokesman Gennadiy Gerasimov said, "It's quite possible that we can have movement" on the missile question. "We want ... our leaders to put their heads together and to think big and to find some kind of direction to solve our problems."

Secretary of State George P. Shultz, meanwhile, said Reagan had accepted Gorbachev's proposal for a two-day, informal meeting beginning Oct. 11 because "the name of the game here is to solve problems."

Noting that a range of issues will be discussed, Shultz, interviewed on the NBC-TV "Today" program, said:

"We are in a position, I hope, to make some progress on these problems that I think all of us would want to see resolved if it's possible to do so."

Reagan and Gorbachev are also expected to discuss the U.S. order that 25 Soviet diplomats stationed at the United Nations be expelled.

The two world leaders probably will also set a date for their long-delayed formal summit meeting in Washington, an administration official said Tuesday night.

Banner selected FFA Sweetheart

Tuesday the Hereford Chapter of the Future Farmers of America elected Kathy Banner to its 1986-87 Sweetheart.

At Tuesday's meeting, held in the high school auditorium, nine sweetheart nominees competed for the title. The contestants were asked three questions—a question about the FFA and two thought questions.

Littlefield District and Area I were the answers to the first question, "What district and area is Hereford in?"

Contestants were then asked "What has been your most important accomplishment, and why?" and "What did you think first when you heard you were nominated for FFA sweetheart."

Since Banner is not a member of the FFA, Jill Johnson, an FFA member and first runner-up, will represent the chapter as the official entry in district and area sweetheart competitions. Susie Kalka was second runner-up.

Kathy is a junior and an Hereford High School twirler. Her duties as sweetheart will include keeping the FFA scrapbook, taking part in chapter activities, and helping with awards at the annual Hereford Young Farmers Livestock Show.

Correction

Tuesday's edition of The Brand carried a feature article on the Saturday historical tour of the county, sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Historical Society.

The article contained an error in stating that "Mrs. Genieve Guseman noted at one time they owned 99 sections of land." The reporter heard someone else talking about the Guseman ranch, and the figure of 99 was incorrect.

The Brand apologizes to Mrs. Guseman. We regret any embarrassment the error may have caused her, since she did not make the statement.

McKinster speaks to extension homemakers

Jewell Hargrave served as hostess when members of Cultural Extension Homemakers Club met recently in the club room of the Senior Citizens Center. Irene McKinster spoke on filling out record books of personal information including life insurance, savings accounts and controlled spending. She stressed that one must invest his time today, that will determine the world he will live in tomorrow. Hargrave led the prayer and read "Saved By Seat Belts" by Stuart Thain as the opening exercise. President Nell Pope asked for roll call which was answered with "A Christmas gift I have made." After the reading of the minutes, Edith Hunter gave the council report and Hargrave and Pope reported on their recent trip to Amarillo to hear a program on parties sponsored by Southwestern Public Service Co. Hargrave served refreshments of punch, fruits, cheese and crackers to 11 members and eight guests. Recognized as guests were Nadine Caster, Marie Hinds, W.C. Beene, Beverly Harder, Marie Sears, Lucy Martin, Margaritta Hutcherson and Verla Muse. The next meeting was planned Oct. 10 in the home of Carrie Mae Doak.

Bride-Elect Honored

A bridal shower was held Sunday afternoon in the home of Rosalia Gilbreath for Gwen Wilhelm, Oct. 25 bride-elect of Jerry Betzen. The couple will be united in marriage in St. Anthony's Catholic Church. Greeting guests with the honoree were,

Wilhelm honored at bridal shower

Gwen Wilhelm, bride-elect of Jerry Betzen, was honored with a shower Sunday afternoon in the home of Rosalia Gilbreath, 500 Westhaven.

Greeting guests with the honoree were the hostess, Mrs. Gilbreath; the bride-elect's mother, Anita Wilhelm; the prospective groom's mother, Agnes Betzen; and the bride's grandmother, Agnes Wilhelm.

Other honored guests were the bride-elect's sister, Diane Wilhelm of Hereford; the prospective groom's sisters, Marian McKnight of Amarillo and Robin Gonzales of Dimmitt; and his sister-in-law, Daenette Betzen of Hereford.

Cruz Salinas and Beatrice Macias served refreshments of cookies, assorted fruit and punch. The table, covered with a white cutwork cloth, was accented by a floral arrangement of freshly-cut peach and white dahlias, flanked with peach candles in crystal holders. The crystal punch bowl was set on a silver tray.

Assisting Mrs. Gilbreath with hostesses' duties were Mary Williamson, Bea Knabe, Leona Miller, Emelene Kriegshauser, Irene Albracht, Alice Gilleland, Clara

Festival planned in Amarillo

The Old San Jacinto Fall Festival has been set from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. Oct. 18-19 at W. Sixth St. in Amarillo. Featured will be arts and crafts booths, food vendors, antique cars, pony rides, balloons, music, and many bargains. For additional information contact Brad Bowers at (806)376-7223.

GAS PLAN

DALLAS (AP)—In its continuing effort to modernize the country, the People's Republic of China is making plans to distribute natural gas to its 14 largest cities.

Tom Morris, president of Phillips Driscoppe, says the move will translate into gas pipelines for 27.5 million Chinese families. He also said the government planned to distribute liquefied petroleum gas to the next 60 largest Chinese cities.

POLLY'S POINTERS

By Polly Fisher

DEAR POLLY — I bought a box of mothballs and emptied them onto the floor of my clothes closet. They did a swell job for a month or more, then fizzled out and didn't let off the smell that they are supposed to. I hate to keep buying fresh mothballs. Is there any other thing that will do the job of keeping moths away? — RAY

DEAR RAY — First of all, don't leave mothballs on the floor of a closet if you have pets or small children in the house; they are toxic. Now with that out of the way, let's move on to other moth remedies.

You might want to try this herb and spice mixture. It lasts quite a long time and helps repel moths. It's also an excellent way to sweeten musty closets and chests.

Mix together 1/2 cup whole cloves, three or four 3-inch sticks of cinnamon bark (stick cinnamon) broken into pieces and 1/2 cup whole black peppercorns. Wrap a tablespoon or two of the spice mixture into a small square of muslin or triple-layer cheesecloth. Tie with string to form a small bag. Repeat with remaining spice mixture. Hang a few of these bags in each closet or place a couple in drawers and boxes. The spice mixture may also be scattered between layers of tissue paper in drawers and boxes, but be sure to protect the fabric from direct contact with the spices. The oils in the spices could stain some fabrics.

Spice mixture gets rid of moths

Cedar chips also repel moths. They can be sprinkled in drawers or sewn into bags. Be sure you have pure cedar chips. Some cedar products are compressed out of sawdust and use formaldehyde in their manufacture, a dangerous chemical that should not be used in the home.

I'm sending you a copy of my newsletter, "Homemade Remedies for Household Pests," which includes more moth remedies as well as a homemade cockroach powder and ways to get rid of ants, weevils, garden insects, mice and other pests. Others who would like a copy of this issue should send $1 for each copy to POLLY'S POINTERS, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to include the title. — POLLY

Invest now for added energy savings

An investment in energy-saving features can help you save money now and make money when you sell your home, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service housing specialist.

"The rising price of energy is a great concern to most homeowners," says Dr. Susan Quiring. "Yet, even inexpensive energy-saving steps, such as caulking around windows and doors will help lower energy

DISSOLVING BLOOD CLOTS

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — When a blood clot in a coronary artery signals an imminent heart attack, speed in dissolving the clot can make a life-or-death difference.

A new treatment tested by Dr. Victor Marder and colleagues at the University of Rochester Medical Center takes two minutes or less to administer intravenously. Marder says it dissolves clots in 30 seconds.

The drug, called APSC, continues working for four to six hours, so clots do not reappear. Marder says the best chance of reducing deaths from heart attack is to dissolve blood clots rapidly and prevent their recurrence.

On May 7, 1945, Germany signed an unconditional surrender at Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters in Rheims, France, ending the European stage of World War II.

bills."

Major expenditures for more efficient heating and cooling systems or additional insulation will save even more, may actually help you make you money in the future, she says.

The specialist concedes that it typically takes several years of reduced energy bills before you reach the "payback" point on big energy investments. But you may more than recover the investment because energy saving features can increase the resale value of your home.

For maximum home energy efficiency, Quiring suggests the following steps:

- Find and fix air leaks around the windows, doors, foundations, electrical outlets, exhaust fans and attic openings.

- Install storm windows and doors to reduce heat loss and/or heat gain, especially in areas of north Texas.

- Provide summer shade for south and west windows.

- Adjust the temperature setting by 5 degrees on heating and air conditioning systems and compensate for comfort with the clothing you wear.

- Insulate ceilings, exterior walls, under floors, heat ducts and hot water pipes.

- Use exhaust fans effectively to control heat and excess moisture at the source.

Use energy powered home appliances efficiently.

- Use lighting efficiently by lighting only those areas that are in use and selecting energy efficient bulbs, tubes and fixtures when replacements are made.

"There are many ways to conserve home energy without sacrificing your level of living," Quiring says. "Some of them involve spending money, but the long-range benefits should pay for the cost."

The specialist notes that homeowners who want to know more about investing in home energy conservation can obtain a free copy of a booklet entitled Your Home Energy Portfolio by writing the Alliance to Save Energy, P.O. Box 57200, Washington, D.C. 20037.

Ann Landers

Say 'No' firmly

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My next-door neighbor is scared to death of bugs. Whenever she sees a roach in her house she bangs on my door and asks me to come over and kill it.

Last week I told her to use a certain kind of insect powder. Now she calls me on the phone and asks me to come over and pick up the dead roaches and throw them out.

I am not crazy about bugs either. How can I get her off my back and return to a normal life?—BUGGED IN DIXIE

DEAR DIXIE: There is no substitute for the word NO. Use it firmly, emphatically and consistently - when the neighbor calls or comes over with her buggy requests. Obviously she has more than a dislike of bugs. She has a phobia and should seek professional help.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm writing to you because your columns are read all over the world. If I can help save one child's vision my writing will not have been in vain.

Last January my eldest son, "Steve," was shot in the eye with a BB gun. The lad who shot him (I'll call him Dan) was his best friend. Both boys are 15 years old. Dan was shooting BBs out his attic window. He was waiting for Steve to come over and thought it might be fun to scare him by shooting at his bicycle. Instead he shot him in the eye.

Steve has been through two eye surgeries, each time staying a week in the hospital. The doctors tried without success to save the sight of the eye. The medical bills have been well over $30,000. He was out of school for half a year and has been instructed not to participate in contact sports ever again.

The doctors told us that most of the serious eye injuries they see are due to BB guns. In 90 percent of the cases the eye must be removed. What a price to pay for "a little harmless fun."

Before we know it we will be buying Christmas gifts. Millions of young boys will be asking for BB guns. Please, all you moms and dads who are reading this, remember my letter when you go shopping. In fact, tear it out right now and keep it handy so when your son pleads for a BB gun you can say, "Sorry, no way. Read this letter."—CHICAGO MOTHER OF FOUR

DEAR CHICAGO: I have printed other letters over the year about the danger of BB guns, but none as poignant as yours. I hope my readers will take your advice and clip this column NOW so when the boys start nagging for a BB gun for Christmas they will have the ammunition ready.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I know I'm late with this but I hope you can use one more letter to the girl who wanted her brother to cut his hair before she would let him be an usher in her wedding.

Why is it that a girl is allowed to have short hair, but a guy can't have long hair?

Can you imagine a girl not being asked to be a bridesmaid because her hair was too short? Of all the darned fool notions, this business about the length of hair is the goofiest. I hope you have changed your mind by the time you read this.—ARMY IN FLORENCE, ALA.

DEAR FLO: I have - and said so in print. You must have missed it.

NO BASKET NEEDED

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — No grill basket? Don't despair.

You can still cook your favorite fish or seafood over an outdoor grill, according to Better Homes and Gardens.

Place a piece of greased heavy-duty foil over the grate. Using a sharp knife, poke holes or make slits in the foil to allow the drippings to drain away from the fish or seafood.

When it's time to turn the food, use grill tongs. That way you can turn the food without piercing the surface and releasing flavorful juices. If you don't have tongs, use a wide metal spatula. Slide the spatula between the food and foil, then turn.

The Pat Walker's Program

"An excellent exercise and weight reduction plan for all ages," has been producing results in the Hereford area since establishment of the Pat Walker Figure Salon in the city 7 years ago, aiding men and women everywhere for over three decades!

"It is never too late to begin a sensible regimen," This is emphasized by Elizabeth Maxwell, of the Hereford salon and by Becky Maxwell owner of the Hereford, Dimmitt, and Friona salons.

Elizabeth, who recently returned from extensive training at the Pat Walker School in Houston, further emphasizes: "The key to our entire program is circulation and sensible eating. We provide our exclusive Symmetricon Unit that stimulates the circulation for tightening and firming tissues and for correcting posture.

"Our program offers a unique nutritional balance of foods for losing weight; the plan has a combination of exercise and food plan that we feel is the most sensible, the safest and the most effective approach in the world."

"Our bodies are chemistry," it is pointed out. "If we could be broken down and put into a test tube, we would be nothing more than a combination of six nutrients: vitamins, minerals, amino acid, glucose, lipids, and water. More than two-thirds of one's body weight is water! "We are like a machine; we will stop without the proper combination of food or our machine simply become inefficient causing fat and/or other health problems. Staying thin is a product, not of what you eat or how much you eat, but in learning to eat in the correct combination and at the right time." And as for the sensational Symmetricon Unit, it increases circulation and breaks down the "now" fat. Three half-hour treatments dislodge up to two pounds of fat, but as in everything, one has to be consistent in order to achieve results. "If you have two pounds to lose.. or a hundred..Pat Walker's has a personalized program just for you, and most important, results start when you do!"

Get full details now, from the helpful and knowledgeable staff at the Pat Walker's Salon nearest you in Hereford, Dimmitt or Friona.

The Pat Walker program is termed "Ideal for the person," with the following among recognized reasons cited:

- (1) You can come straight from work; no changing clothes. What you are wearing is fine.
- (2) Exercise on our exclusive symmetricon can be done in 30 minutes...on your lunch hour or after work before going home.
- (3) Treatment is taken in complete privacy, and if preferred, there will no interruptions such as telephones.
- (4) While losing weight and inches, you benefit from increased circulation and corrected posture.

Five Symmetricon Unit positions are utilized and these are listed here together with the functions of each:

Position I begins to relax you and starts to work on circulation in the upper back area. It also works on the upper arm to break down fatty tissue and helps correct posture. Position II continues the motion of the first position but begins the same inducting procedure to work on the waist and abdominal area. It also is great for hips and thighs.

Position III begins working on the hips and thighs. Position IV is especially for legs and thighs, a difficult area to lose inches for most women. This position is great for toning and firming.

"Isn't it the time for you, too, to start on the simple, sound and effective Pat Walker Program that has been producing results for residents of the area for years and years? Pat Walkers has the know-how; all you need is the desire!"

Participants In Eagle Scout Project

Group assists in Eagle Scout project

Avenue Baptist Church moved a step closer to the completion of Mission Bautista located on Country Club Drive.

The Eagle Scout Project of Kevin Hull, Troop 52, which includes landscaping, maintaining trees, and installing a drip irrigation system, was shoved forward with the help of Avenue Baptist's pastor, Eddie Tingle; Bruce Hernandez, pastor of the new mission; Wilma Bryan, Avenue Baptist's lay advisor for this Eagle project; and Randall Stotts, minister of youth, First Baptist Church.

The following youth of First Baptist Church and Troop 52 played a large part in the work—Justin Thomas, Jim Eric Andrews, Kyle Andrews, Paul Coplen, Lance Layton, Brett Cumpston, Anjani Wuerlein, Wesley Taylor.

Pastor Tingle and M.D. Gentry, mission building chairman, advise work is nearing completion on the main building, and services should begin in the near future.

Several area Baptist churches have aided Avenue Baptist in their establishment of this, the newest Baptist Mission in Hereford.

Model school boasts innovative teaching

DALLAS (AP) — Perhaps the most striking thing about the East Dallas Community School is the quiet.

Even though many of the students are as young as 3 years old, there isn't much yelling, fighting and running down the halls.

Three-year-old Adrian Fischer carefully pours a glass of apple juice for Jami Smith and serves her a muffin before sitting down to enjoy a mid-morning snack with her 3½-year-old school chum.

Amanda Gomez and Oscar Baez both study a box with pictures of things that start with the same letter, like ant, alligator and astronaut.

The school is a private one that uses the Montessori method of teaching. Many of the students are poor, minority children.

Last year, the school was hailed by H. Ross Perot and the Governor's Select Committee on Education as a prototype of early childhood education in Texas.

Terry Ford, a former Dallas school district teacher who founded the school in 1977, attributes its success to its teaching methods, a healthy respect for cultural diversity and intense parental and volunteer involvement.

"All the educational tools are laid out for them to choose from," said Mrs. Ford. "At the same time, they're taught to have responsibility and a respect for the materials they use."

She said the program emphasizes the importance of children entering the school at age 3 and staying until the third grade.

Many of the youngsters are Hispanic and know no English when they arrive at the school, she said, but within six months they have a bilingual vocabulary.

"We make sure every child has the academic skills and self-confidence to succeed in the upper grades when they graduate," Mrs. Ford said.

The school has attracted more children than its 40-student capacity and has a waiting list of 167 families.

Sixty percent of the families of those attending the school live below the poverty level, said Mrs. Ford.

Those families have trouble just paying the $25-a-week special tuition they are charged. Those who can afford it pay $67.50 a week.

Eighty percent of the parents whose children attend the school do two to three hours of volunteer work there in lieu of tuition, Mrs. Ford said.

As a result, the community school is in the midst of a fund-raising drive with a goal of $15,000 needed to meet its annual $150,000 operating budget. Most of the money comes from private donations, Mrs. Ford said.

DR. GOTT Medication to control epilepsy

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am male, 22, and started to have grand mal seizures at 15. At that time, my doctor put me on 300 milligrams of Dilantin daily. Since then, I've had little trouble controlling my epilepsy. However, this year I've started to get infections of my index finger and nose. I've heard that Dilantin can produce these side effects. Is this true?

DEAR READER — Dilantin is an effective treatment for seizures, however, like many other medicines, it can affect the blood-forming organs. Reduction in infection-fighting white blood cells is a recognized but rare complication. You need a blood count to make sure that the drug is not contributing to your new infection. You may get more information from the Epilepsy Foundation of America (4351 Garden City Dr., Landover, MD 20785).

To give you more information about epilepsy in general, I'm sending you a free copy of my new Health Report, EPILEPSY: THE FALLING SICKNESS, which explains the causes, treatment and types of epilepsy. Others who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT — We've had a terrible infestation of fleas. Even after seven months of having our house treated by a reputable pest company, the fleas are still hatching. Can a person get fleas in the hair and pubic area? How can we treat this problem?

DEAR READER — Fleas prefer animals, but will settle for humans in a pinch. Commercial fumigation will rid a house of fleas. If you have a continuing problem, the fleas are probably being reintroduced into your house by pets. Sometimes wild animals — such as squirrels, rats and mice — that live in or near the house can be the source of flea infestation. Humans can have fleas anywhere on the body, but the parasites are easily killed by anti-flea powder or lotions.

DEAR DR. GOTT — What's the difference between an optometrist and an ophthalmologist? Does the former have the training to diagnose and treat glaucoma?

DEAR READER — An ophthalmologist is an M.D. who is specially trained in (and limits his or her practice to) diseases of the eye.

An optometrist attends optometry school for two years after college — about one-quarter the training of any eye M.D. He or she is trained to recognize eye diseases, but not to diagnose or treat them. Optometrists are oriented toward the normal, healthy eye. They perform examinations and refractions, prescribe lenses and provide routine eye care. In most states, they are not licensed to perform surgery, treat eye diseases or prescribe prescription drugs.

I think that optometrists perform a valuable service. However, patients with eye diseases, such as glaucoma, should be examined by an ophthalmologist.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am in the so-called "high-risk" group for breast cancer, since I'm past 50 and have had two relatives die of it. During my latest mammogram, my breasts were compressed until they were flattened. It was extremely painful. My right breast has had a gnawing pain ever since. I can't believe that abusing the breast tissue to the point of excruciating pain is not harmful. I am reluctant to return to that clinic. What do you think?

DEAR READER — Breast compression is used to increase the accuracy of detecting tumors during mammography. When mammography is properly performed, a woman might feel moderate discomfort, followed by some breast soreness or tenderness for a couple of days. From your description, I'd say that your test was performed too roughly. Either complain to the clinic so that they will alter their technique, or seek another facility that performs mammography without causing pain and possible injury.

ERLINDA GALINDO, MANUEL PORRAS

Couple to wed

Friends and relatives are invited to attend the marriage of Erlinda Galindo and Manuel Porras at 2 p.m. Saturday in First Christian Church.

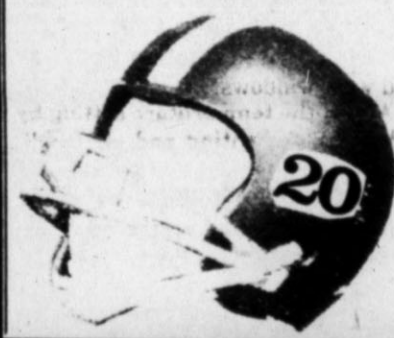

Officiating at the wedding will be the bride-elect's cousin, Rudy Galindo.

Miss Galindo is the daughter of Eusebio and Manuela Galindo of Hereford and Porras is the son of Octavio and Manuela Porras of Mexico. The couple plan to reside in Hereford.

The so-called Betsy Ross flag of 13 stars on a blue field and 13 red and white stripes was made in May or June 1776.

Edge Canyon 10-8 Tuesday

HHS netters win 1-4A championship

The District 1-4A tennis championship was claimed by Hereford High School in a "nail-biting" dual match against Canyon High School.

The dual match, played at the Hereford High School tennis courts, was not decided until the last match of the day ended.

Hereford was ahead of Canyon, 9-8, with one match still in progress—a girls' doubles match pitting Lori Reinauer and Ronda Fuston of Hereford against Codi Sawin and Wendy Reagle of Canyon.

What made the last match "nail-biting," as Hereford Coach Ruben Vargas called it, was that if the teams tied 9-9, Canyon would have won the dual match—and the district title—since it won more sets.

Reinauer and Fuston won the first set, 6-2, but Sawin and Reagle came back to win the second set, 6-2, and tie the match at one set each.

Reinauer and Fuston came out on top in the third set, 6-4, giving Hereford the dual match win and district championship. Both Hereford and Canyon entered Tuesday's match undefeated in 1-4A matches.

Hereford's other winners in girls' matches Tuesday were Misty Stokes and Bridget Baker in singles, and Stokes and Dana Zinser in doubles.

Hereford swept Canyon in boys' doubles matches. The winning teams for Hereford were Kevin Hansen and Brad Barrett, Nathan Flood and Conrad Rodriguez, and Brad Allred and Jason Bodner.

Bodner and Rodriguez each won their singles matches.

Hereford closes out the district competition Saturday at home against Dumas. The dual match begins at 3 p.m. at the HHS courts.

Here are the match scores in Tuesday's dual match:

GIRLS' DOUBLES
No. 1: Michelle King & Renee Gamble, Canyon,

def. Lana Kosub & Bridget Baker, Hereford, 6-3, 7-6.

No. 2: Misty Stokes & Dana Zinser, Hereford, def. Anna Love & Emily Stubblefield, Canyon, 6-4, 6-4.

Havlicek played 16 seasons for the Boston Celtics, played in 13 NBA All-Star Games, was voted the MVP of the championship series in 1974, shares a title series record for most field goals made in one game, 24, and most field goals in one period, eight.

Havlicek will be the host for five superstar sweepstakes winners who will go to the 1987 Final Four NCAA basketball tournament.

Stanton 7th 'A,' 'B' teams lose grid games

Stanton Junior High School suffered a pair of seventh grade football defeats to Plainview Red Tuesday in Plainview.

The Stanton "A" team lost 20-10, and the "B" team lost to Plainview Red 13-6.

In the "A" game, Plainview Red led 12-0 at halftime. Stanton quarterback Damon Godwin scored with a one-yard run in the fourth quarter.

Godwin completed a pass to John McBride for the two-point conversion.

Plainview Red scored a touchdown and two-point conversion in the fourth quarter also.

Stanton's other points came on a safety. The Plainview quarterback fumbled the ball in the end zone and fell on it, resulting in the safety.

Plainview Red led 6-0 at halftime in the "B" game. Stanton tied it up 6-6 in the third quarter when Anthony Urias rushed one yard for a touchdown.

Plainview Red scored the winning touchdown in the fourth quarter, and defeated Stanton 13-6.

The next games for Stanton's seventh grade "A" and "B" teams will be on Tuesday, Oct. 7 at Plainview against Plainview Blue.

On Thursday this week, Stanton's eighth and ninth grade football teams will be in action at Clovis, N.M., playing Marshall. Game times are 4 p.m. for the ninth grade and 5:30 p.m. for the eighth grade.

La Plata sweeps Stanton in volleyball matches

La Plata swept Stanton in junior high school volleyball competition Monday at the La Plata gym.

La Plata scored victories in two straight games in each match. In the ninth grade match, La Plata defeated Stanton, 15-1, 15-3.

La Plata won the eighth grade match, 15-4, 15-12, and the Mavericks took the seventh grade match, 15-0, 15-3.

La Plata's season records are: ninth grade 3-0, eighth grade 1-2, and seventh grade 1-1.

All three La Plata teams play their next matches at Dumas on Saturday, Oct. 11, beginning at 10 a.m.

The season records for the Stanton teams are: ninth grade 0-3, eighth grade 0-3, and seventh grade 0-2.

The Stanton teams will not play again until Saturday, Oct. 18, when they host Dumas in three matches. Action begins at 10 a.m.

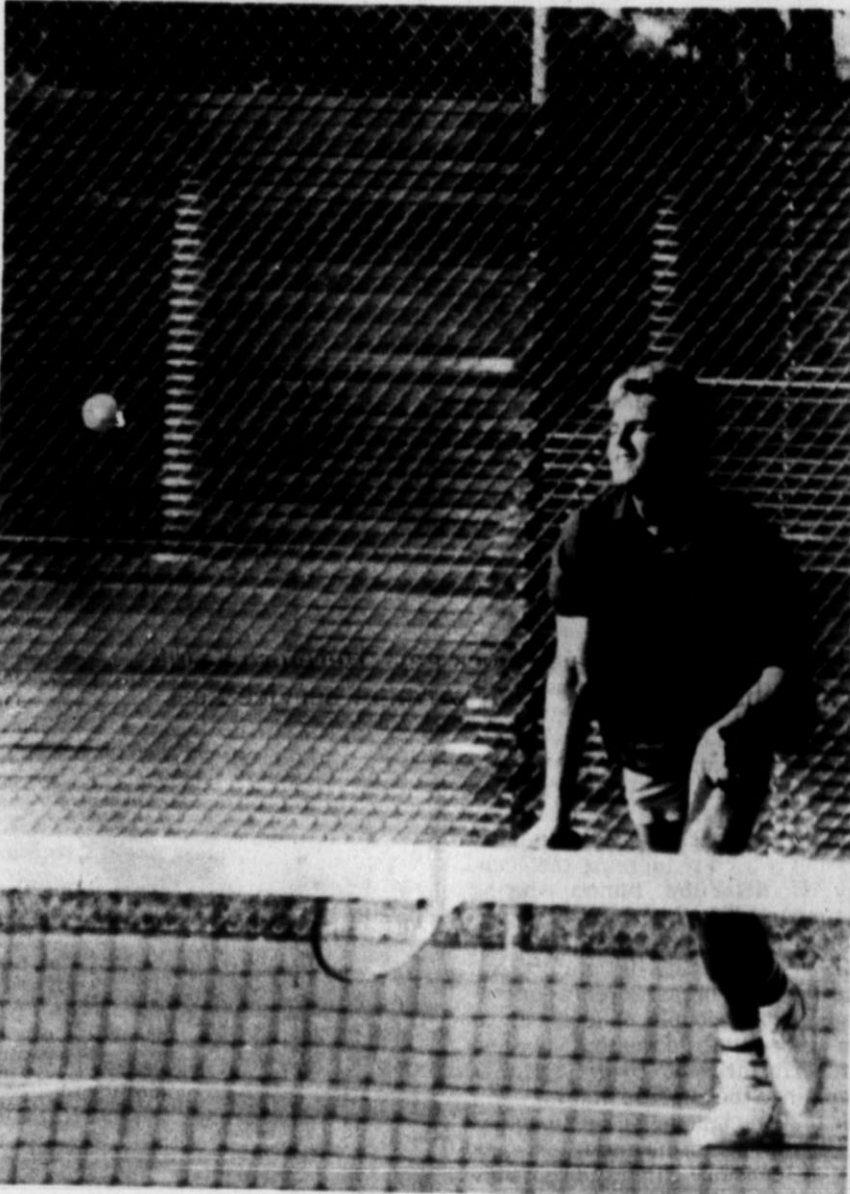

Points served by Stanton players in Monday's matches were as follows: ninth grade, Zanza Shahnaz, Rachel Lopez, Alicia Redmon, and Daphne Roddy, one point each;

Eighth grade, Jackie Bosset, six points; D'Ann Hill and Donna Grotegut, three points each; Michelle Hamby, two points; and Leslie Billingsley and Diana Varela, one point each;

Seventh grade, Lorey Kuper, two points, and Mitzi Villarreal, one point.

Tennis Match Action

Three La Plata football teams played Tuesday

Three La Plata Junior High School football teams were in action Tuesday, the seventh grade "A" and "B" teams, and the eighth grade "B" team.

All three games were played in Hereford. The La Plata eighth grade "B" team lost to Muleshoe 16-6. La Plata's seventh grade "A" team was defeated by Plainview Blue 32-6, and the seventh grade "B" team lost to Plainview Blue 14-0.

Muleshoe ran back the opening kickoff for a touchdown, and scored a touchdown on a reverse for a 16-0 halftime lead over the La Plata eighth grade "B" team.

La Plata scored in the fourth quarter. Blake Buckley caught a 30-yard touchdown pass from Brandon Flood.

"Chris Blair, Blake Buckley and Brandon Flood all played a good game," said Coach Tommy Bowling. La Plata's seventh grade "A" team led 6-0 but did not score the rest of the way and Plainview Blue scored a 32-6 victory.

La Plata's Roger Ramirez scored with a 78-yard run in the first play of the game. Plainview Blue led at halftime 26-6.

In the seventh grade "B" game, Plainview Blue led 6-0 at halftime enroute to its 14-0 win over La Plata.

La Plata's eighth grade "A" team, and also its ninth grade team play at home Thursday against Marshall of Clovis, N.M. The ninth grade game is scheduled for 4 p.m. at La Plata field, and the eighth grade game will start at 5:30 p.m.

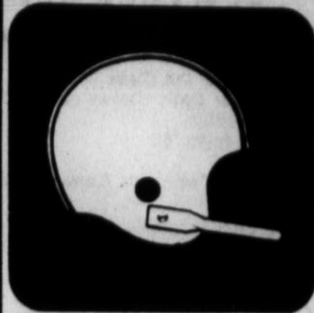

Next Tuesday, the La Plata seventh grade "A" and "B" teams will play at La Plata field at 4 p.m. and 5:30 p.m., against Plainview Red.

Dusty Baker, then with the San Francisco Giants, stole second, third and home in the same inning in a 1984 game against Cincinnati.

Through the 1985 NFL season, 16 teams in regular season games had scored 60 points or more. But in the 1940 league title game, the Chicago Bears scored 73 and the Washington Redskins 0.

HHS spikers lose 1-4A match

By GARY CHRISTENSEN
Sports Editor

Hereford High School lost to Levelland in two games in a varsity volleyball match Tuesday night in Hereford, but a Hereford rally in game two almost took the match to three games.

Hereford lost game one of the match, 15-3. Levelland moved out to an 11-4 lead before Wisty Mars helped Hereford tie the game at 11-11.

Mars had services aces for two of Hereford's first four points of game two. With Levelland leading 11-4, Mars made a successful block of a Levelland spike for a side out.

Hereford did not score in its next service possession. Levelland also failed to score, losing its service possession when Mars spiked the ball for a kill.

Mars served four straight aces to cut Levelland's lead to 11-8. A net violation against Levelland, and a kill by Jeanette Mumau moved Hereford to within one point, 11-10.

Hereford then tied up the game on a Levelland error, but Levelland gained the service possession and scored four straight points for a 15-11 victory and match win.

Levelland also defeated Hereford in the junior varsity match, 15-7, 15-6. Last Saturday, the HHS junior varsity scored its first match win of the season, winning at Canyon, 15-12, 6-15, 15-13.

For the season, the HHS varsity is 1-12 and the junior varsity is 1-8. In District 1-4A matches, Hereford's varsity is 1-3.

On Saturday, Hereford plays at Pampa, with the first match starting at 2 p.m.

A Block By Wisty Mars

Wisty Mars of the Hereford High School varsity volleyball team, in the white uniform, blocks a dink attempt by Levelland during game two of Tuesday's District 1-4A match. Mars' block gave Hereford a side out, and then she served four straight service aces, starting a Hereford rally which tied the game at 11-11. Hereford, however, failed to score the rest of the game and lost the game and match. (Brand photo by Gary Christensen)

Small numbers also count for TV season's first week

NEW YORK (AP) — There was something special about NBC's easy ratings victory in the first week of the new season, at least in the eyes of its competitors. A Johnny Carson special was a hit for NBC, and two specials flopped for CBS.

The bottom line found NBC in first place with an average rating of 18.6, trailed by ABC at 15.1 and CBS at 14.9.

Throw out the specials, said CBS vice president for research Dave Poltrack, and the numbers looked like this: NBC 18.1, CBS 16.5 and ABC 13.5.

CBS prefers that perspective because its Wednesday night movie, "Courage" with Sophia Loren, finished 46th for the week and "George Washington: The Forging of a Nation" placed 57th in its two-hour finale Monday.

NBC and ABC both scored in the top 10 with specials. NBC's TV movie, "Stranded" with Lonnie Anderson, tied ABC's "Moonlighting" for sixth place, the movie "Raiders of the Lost Ark," making its television debut on ABC, was ninth and Carson's 24th anniversary special was No. 10.

NBC topped the ratings with "The Cosby Show" at 33.5 and a 53 share. "Family Ties" and "Cheers," all from Thursday night, "Dallas" on CBS placed fourth and NBC's "Golden Girls" rounded out the top five.

Each rating point represents 874,000 homes with television. The share is the portion of sets in use during the time period.

NBC executives suggested that "Dallas" was unlikely to repeat its fourth-place finish with the very successful Bobby Ewing cliffhanger, and that 22nd-place "Miami Vice" will begin to narrow the gap.

Mostly, though, the numbers all went NBC's way. The network won the evening news competition for the second straight week (a rating of 10.9 to CBS' 10.5 and ABC's 10.4), it had 17 of the top 30 programs, it had no program lower than 42nd place and every NBC program got at least a 23 percent share of the audience.

"Most of the things we tried seemed to work," said Brandon Tartikoff, president of NBC entertainment. "There doesn't seem to be any spot where we need to go to the bullpen."

The most conspicuous thing that didn't work was putting "Miami Vice" up against "Dallas" at 9 p.m. on Friday. Poltrack said the "Dallas" audience was up 11 percent from last year's premiere, while "Miami Vice" was down 25 percent.

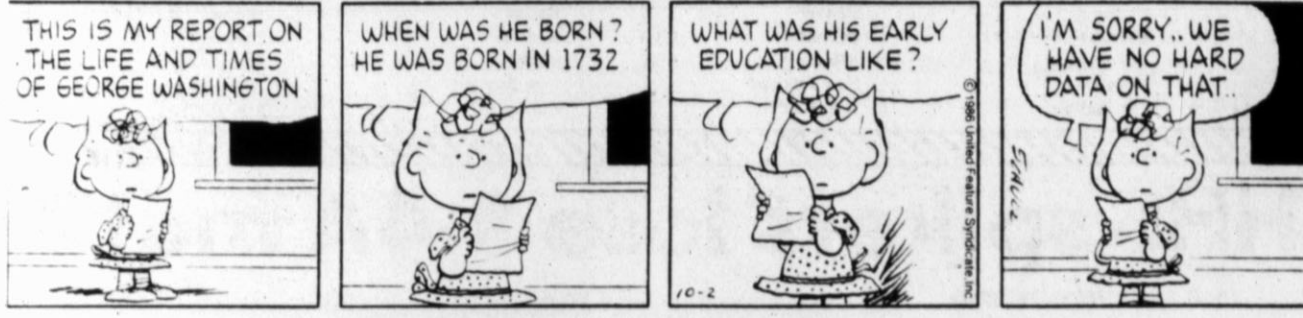

CBS was also pleased that the audience didn't desert "Dallas" after Bobby Ewing's death was dismissed as a bad dream.

"I would expect 'Dallas' to come down some," said Poltrack. "The bigger question has to do with 'Miami Vice.' It lost a lot more audience than Dallas gained."

Marvin Mord, ABC's vice president for marketing and research services, said the network was delighted with its Tuesday night showing, which included a rating of 24.9, the highest ever, for "Moonlighting."

Abundant Life

STABILIZED LIVING
By Bob Wear

IN THE MIDST of uncertainties, it becomes necessary for us to find and establish ways to provide 'stabilized living'. Of course, we live in uncertain times; our parents did, and their parents before them, and so it has ever been. We have a choice between letting this fact keep us disturbed and finding wholesome ways to provide the stability we need.

THERE ARE WAYS, wholesome and firm and workable ways to cope with this situation. We must accept the fact graciously; then, we must fully recognize the importance of the present and how we can make the best of it. We must be fully aware of and thankful for present blessings; diligent in our work, and alert to present opportunities.

WE WILL BE conscious of 'uncertainties', but we must not let these uncertainties dominate our thinking. According to available information, much of the perverse and personally hurtful happenings take place because of over-concern about 'uncertain times'. This is a very real personal difficulty, and is affecting everybody to some extent; however, it is a fact that we have the potential to manage ourselves wisely and not be overwhelmed by uncertainties.

THE MORE STABLE we make our personal life structure, the less difficulty we will have in accepting and adapting to the 'uncertainties' which concern us the most. 'Stabilized living' will be made up of the best possible 'set of values'; a 'carefully established and nourished faith'; an 'enlightened understanding'; 'wisely chosen aims'; and 'the fullest awareness and appreciation of day-to-day certainties'.

LET US BE THANKFUL for the fixed and established elements of life as it must be experienced. We know what these are, and can use them in forming the 'stability' we need. With this, we must form and maintain realistic expectations.

WE DONOT KNOW exactly what the future holds, and perhaps this is best; but we do know who holds the future.

Why do they try to explain autumn's leaf colors in terms of chlorophyll and sugar when any kid knows Jack Frost is responsible?
They're using more snap closures on clothing these days because the buttonhole makers are busy in Washington doing tax loopholes.

The Newspaper BIBLE
UPSIDE DOWN...OR RIGHT SIDE UP?

Paul and Silas traveled through the cities of Amphipolis and Apollonia and came to Thessalonica, where there was a Jewish synagogue. As was Paul's custom, he went there to preach, and for three Sabbaths in a row he opened the Scriptures to the people, explaining the prophecies about the sufferings of the Messiah and His coming back to life, and proving that Jesus is the Messiah.

Some who listened were persuaded and became converts -- including a large number of godly Greek men, and also many important women of the city. But the Jewish leaders were jealous and incited some worthless fellows from the streets to form a mob and start a riot. They attacked the home of Jason, planning to take Paul and Silas to the City Council for punishment. Not finding them there, they dragged out Jason and some of the other believers, and took them before the Council instead.

The people of the city, as well as the judges, were concerned at these reports and let them go only after they had posted bail. That night the Christians hurried Paul and Silas to Berea, and, as usual, they went to the synagogue to preach. But the people of Berea were more open minded than those in Thessalonica, and gladly listened to the message. They searched the Scriptures day by day to check up on Paul and Silas' statements to see if they were really so. As a result, many of them believed, including several prominent Greek women and many men also.

Acts 17:1-12

Osteoporosis responds to manganese in meat

It may be that vegetarianism is not for everybody.

Basketball player Bill Walton, a vegetarian, developed osteoporosis. Bone injuries failed to heal. Blood workup showed zero manganese.

He was switched to a diet that included meat and has had no further bone problems.

University of California at San Diego research indicates that osteoporosis responds, in the lab and in humans, to the manganese in meat.

When it comes to nutrition we are all learners, and more and more it appears "one man's meat is another man's poison."

We are that "different" psychologically.

Nutrition has been an acknowledged science for less than a dozen years; it is yet a highly in exact science.

I mention this because you are about to be bombarded with a massive media campaign promoting the benefits of "fish oil."

Your grandmother thought a now-and-then dose of cod-liver oil was "good for you." She may have been right.

There are studies indicating that fish oil can help prevent heart attacks and lower blood pressure.

As recent campaigns prescribed fiber in the diet and calcium in the diet, this next promotional blitz will seek to peddle the fish oil pills of a dozen different pharmaceutical houses.

Beginning in October you will be the target of a campaign slogan: "Heart Health Supplement From the Sea."

What I am about to say is not intended to challenge the efficacy of fish oil—but...

Food fads and false alarms cross my desk every day, each claiming to be the "last word."

"Coffee is bad for you; coffee is good for you"; can it be both? Yes.

The National Academy of Sciences has published a book full of foods which contain poisons. There are traces of cancer-causing chemicals in cabbage, lettuce, spinach, leeks and tea. There are chemicals related to cyanide in lima beans and sweet potatoes, peas, cherries and apricots.

And the list goes on. What most scientific research ignores is the variations in tolerance which are individual to individuals.

The hog, left on his own, will eat what is for him the right amount of protein and grain.

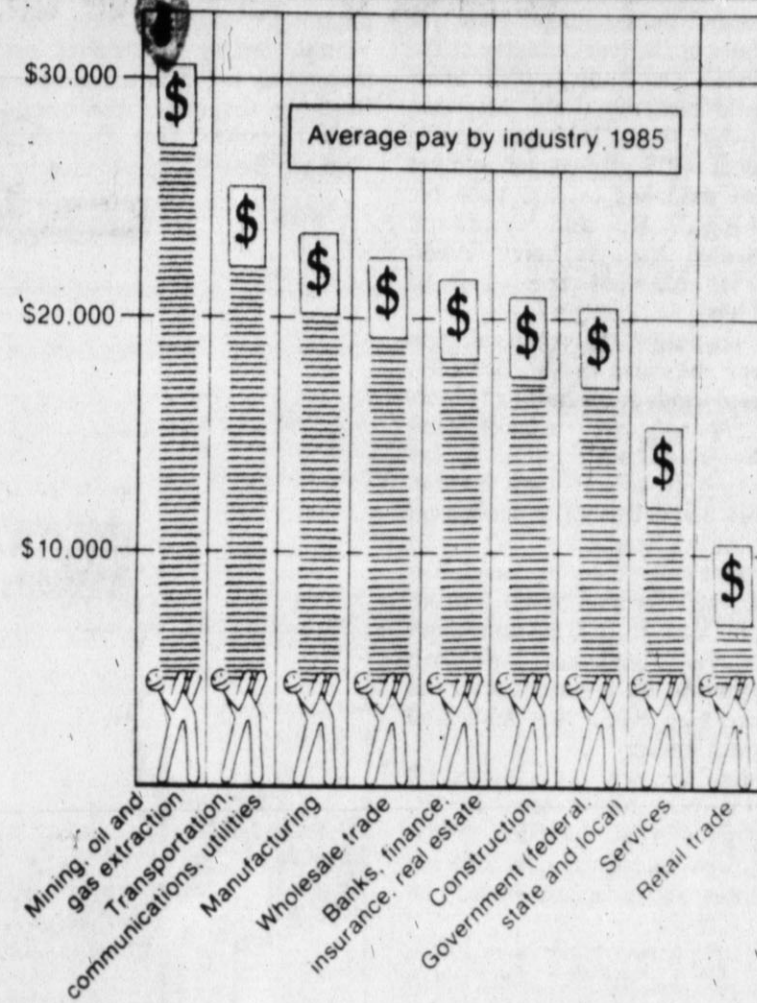

Oriental nutrition, which predates ours by 4,000 years, affirms that if one eats a moderate amount of a wide variety of foods, his body will sort out which nutrients it needs on any given day. In essence, eat well to stay well.

In 1943, during World War II, the United States and Britain relinquished the extraterritorial rights in China.

Alabama seceded from the American union in 1861.

WAGES AND WORKERS

(Source: U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics) NEA GRAPHIC
Bankers manage money, but mineworkers make it: The average salary in mining ($31,326) is about 40 percent greater than in banking ($22,306) — and nearly three times the retail-trade average ($10,732).

Of craft, career

Bootmaker recalls decades

By GERRY BURTON
Lubbock, Texas (AP) — She says she never was too good at making boot bottoms, but for more than four decades Evelyn Green has been making the tops, stitching into them the unique design that spelled Willie Lusk, master bootmaker.

made famous by the Leddy family of bootmakers or whatever pattern a customer draws on a sketch pad.

For movie stars, rodeo greats, country singers and the common cowboy, the handiwork represents the best in comfort.

When Lusk left to open his own shop — financed by Benny Binion of Las Vegas, Nev., who long had been a fan of Lusk bootmaking — he asked her to go along.

Now semi-retired — "working for wages instead of by the piece" — she helps fill orders for Lusk boots, using foot molds and measurements taken by Lusk long ago. Customers, like one from New Mexico who has been ordering the same boot style for 30 years, just call and order the leather and style. The rest is in the files where Mrs. Green manages the shop when her own James Leddy is at his Abilene store every other week.

When she pulled on their handmade boots, they tugged on tops she had put together.

She also creates designs

Until he died, Lusk did all the measuring. After Charles E. Wade bought the shop in 1977, Mrs. Green did the traveling when Binion called or California trips were due. In Nashville, she measured about every foot on the "Hee-Haw" show, and today, is working on a pair for Grandpa Jones.

Wherever a Lusk boot went, Ms. Green's craftsman-

She enjoys explaining her craft, telling how a bootmaker takes a flat piece of leather and turns it into a boot.

East Texas club relives golden days of Mayberry

LONGVIEW, Texas (AP) — "Nip it in the bud" or "Pipe Down, Otis" might not mean anything to some people, but "The Andy Griffith Show" fans would understand and possibly respond with "Where's my bullet?" or "Check your oil, Andy?"

Ronnie Morrison, Van Craddock, Spike Buie and Harry Perkins understand the language. They are members of the local chapter of the worldwide The Andy Griffith Show Rerun Watchers' Club. Morrison works for Texas Eastman and is president of the city council and yet he still manages to find time for TAGSRWC. He and Craddock established the Mayberry Union High chapter of the club in Longview.

The purpose of the organization is as clear and clean as Aint Bee's living room windows, according to Morrison. "We help promote the showing of 'The Andy Griffith Show.' As far as making any contributions to society — we don't. It's really just a kind of fun thing," he said.

"I saw a story about the fan club in The Dallas Morning News. I wrote him and Van wrote a column about it," Morrison explained. "We then got a charter. We're named after the fictional high school that Andy and Barney attended."

He has 25 tapes of the shows. "I watch it every time it comes on. It's on Channel 6 at 3:30 and WGN. They're on during the day, so I set the timer and tape the show," he said.

He wants to eventually have all the shows on tape. His goal is not taken seriously in the Morrison household, however. "My family gives me a hard time with where I'm going to store my Andy Griffith tapes," he said.

There are 249 episodes of "The Andy Griffith Show," according to Jim Clark, originator of TAGSRWC in the club headquarters of Nashville, Tenn., and co-author with Ken Beck of "The Andy Griffith Show Book." The first 159 were black and white. The last 90 were color. The show was on the air for eight years, from Oct. 3, 1960 to Sept. 16, 1968, he said.

"New generations of viewers are growing up with 'The Andy Griffith Show' and finding the same believability, humor, and warmth that show conveyed years ago," Clark commented. "As viewers, we can feel the warmth of the characters, their humor, and their sadness. We sense that the characters really like each other, and that makes us want to visit Mayberry whenever we can."

Morrison agrees, "It's good clean entertainment. My kids (14 and 10) have gotten to be fans. They watch it with me. My wife will watch it every once in a while." The show takes him back to his youth, he said. "I enjoy it because it reminds me of growing up and going to high school. It's simple entertaining comedy. It kind of allows you to sit there for 25 to 30 minutes, go back in time and not be concerned about the terrorist of the day."

"I enjoy the characterizations of Don Knotts and Andy Griffith in the show. When the show was first started, Andy Griffith said he was supposed to be the comedian. He became the straight man. Don Knotts was terrific as the comedian," he said.

The national fan club conducted a poll and found the membership's favorite episode was the show featuring Barney adding a motorcycle to the Mayberry police force, he said. "Most of the top 20 had Don Knotts in them, so that kind of tells you his contribution to it," Morrison said. Don Knotts left the show after 5 years, but returned in five episodes, according to Clark.

"Van and I liked the episode where Andy and Barney go to a high school class reunion. They go through their annual and start talking about these people. They decide to get them reunited. One of Andy's sweethearts shows up and their romance is kind of rekindled," said Morrison.

"Then they realize the reason they grew apart is she is a city girl with a career. They see that he is, by golly, a small town boy who only wants to tend his flock." After all the guests have left the reunion, Andy and Barney sing the alma mater and "we got to thinking that would be a good name for our club," Morrison said.

But the Longview chapter could not have formed without the inspiration of Clark. "I'm convinced that the actions of Jim Clark and this club is what got NBC interested in the reunion show," Morrison commented. "It was the driving force of the movie and its success. They're supposedly making a second one."

The club's popularity is sobering enough that it might even make Otis seem coherent. The organization, which began in 1979, has over 12,000 members around the country and the world, according to Clark.

Club members' main goal is to keep the show running. "Our purpose is to keep it on the air and keep people entertained. As far as an organized club effort, we haven't done much. In fact, we haven't done anything," Morrison said. He has written letters to stations asking them to air the show and to sponsors thanking them for sponsoring the show, he said.

Spike Buie is band director at Forest Park Middle School. He is a member of TAGSRWC "because I enjoy the show and personally I wish it was the kind of show that shows nowadays. Part of the reason for the club is to keep the show on the air," he said. Buie has over a hundred tapes of the show.

"I don't know of any comedy show that was written as well as 'The Andy Griffith Show.' It was very popular then and it is excellent today. You can't compare it with the comedy shows they have nowadays," he said. "It's so wholesome and the writers were so good. It was not done in front of a live audience. It was done in a studio. They had time to do it again if it wasn't just right."

Buie is also a member of The Andy Griffith Show Appreciation Society. "It's based out of Clemons, N.C.," he said. "It has no affiliation with the other club. They keep up with what the characters (from the show) are doing now."

His favorite character is Andy, but Barney comes in a close second, he said. "They're so completely different on the show," Buie said. He does have a favorite episode, "When Barney buys his car from a little old lady and it gives him all that trouble."

His "Andy Griffith" memorabilia includes some books, a T-shirt, and pictures and record albums, in addition to the shows he has taped. He uses one of the books to catalog the tapes. "It has a listing of the shows and actual date they showed on TV. I catalog them by the date they aired," he said.

But he continues to search for more mementos of his favorite show.

He is trying to find a picture of Barney in his uniform also and he recently began collecting record albums from the show.

But when it comes down to it, the show's fans would rather watch it than talk about it, according to Clark. "We can do a lot of philosophizing about why the show is so attractive to us, or this or that. But mostly, it's just a fun, wholesome show," he said. "There's a certain magic to Mayberry, and magic has a way of being hard to describe. Shazam!"
