

Celebration Over The Safety

Richard Castillo (60), Micheal Phibbs (33) and Trent Bowling (82) celebrate after teammate Derrel Page tackled Levelland running back Jay Fortner in the end zone with 3:15 left in the first quarter. The safety was scored when Levelland attempted a reverse from its own 15-yard line. Hereford led 2-0 at halftime, fell behind 3-2 in the third quarter, and then won the game with a fourth quarter touchdown, 8-3, in the HHS homecoming game Friday. See story, Page 9A. (Brand Photo by Shawn Cockrum)

Cool, rainy days predicted

Hereford recorded 1.12 inches of rain Friday as showers covered much of the Texas Panhandle, and the rain continued under gloomy skies Saturday.

The forecast called for more of the same Sunday and much cooler weather. A low in the higher 30s was predicted Sunday with a high in the upper 40s. A 30 percent chance of more showers or thunderstorms was also forecast for Sunday.

The rainy, cool weather caused a number of "no-shows" here Friday night at a sold-out football game between Hereford and Levelland.

Despite the weather, many hardy grid fans turned out for the important district contest and HHS homecoming fans were rewarded with an 8-3 triumph by their Whitefaces.

Early-morning fog which has greeted local residents the past few days was expected again on Sunday morning. Other rain reports from Friday included 1.68 inches at Clovis, .38 of an inch at Amarillo but only .14 at Canyon. Heavier rains were reported at Spearman and Borger.

Roswell, N.M., had almost 4 inches Friday.

The rainfall of the past week was not welcomed by many farmers. The moisture put a stop to the sugarbeet harvest, and the weather will hurt the sugar content, according to local farm observers.

Weather

FRIDAY'S HIGH: 60
OVERNIGHT LOW: 51
MOISTURE: 1.12 of an inch reported by KPAN.

SUNDAY OUTLOOK: After an early morning low in the upper 30s, there will be a 30 percent chance of showers or thunderstorms. High Sunday in the upper 40s and winds northeast to east 10 to 20 mph.

'Bamboo bomber' being restored

By CINDY SMITH
Staff Writer

The biggest excitement in years for residents of Julesburg, Colo., was seeing a Hereford man, Dwain "Pitt" Pittenger taking off in a 1944 bamboo bomber.

All the mechanics at the small-town airport gathered around to see what the man was doing. The plane, also known as the Cessna T-50, has been stored the last 15 years in the hanger.

It was 15 years out of date on the Federal Aviation Association's inspection for flight and Pittenger had gone up there twice to get it ready to ferry back.

The FAA permit states that a mechanic will inspect the plane and certify the safety for the one-time flight to make the trip back.

Pittenger, being a mechanic and pilot, did all of the above and got his ferry permit.

Taking off into the wild blue yonder, all the other mechanics couldn't believe he was going to fly the plane back to Hereford.

Pittenger made a special trip over Holyoke, Colo., where he purchased the plane from a lady. She was standing on the porch to see her deceased husband's plane one last time as Pittenger flew over.

The Cessna T-50 is now safely back at home in a hanger at Deaf Smith Aero, Inc. located at the Hereford Airport.

"Years ago when I first started messing with airplanes I worked on them (Cessna T-50's)," said Pittenger. "In 1965 I got my multi-engine rating (license) and since then I've wanted one to play with."

The Cessna T-50, also known as the UC-78 in military terms, was used in World War II as a multi-engine training plane.

Quake jolts capital; more than 100 believed killed

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — A strong earthquake and jarring aftershocks toppled buildings and cracked streets in this capital city and unconfirmed reports said more than 100 people were killed and hundreds more injured.

Wary residents spent the night in parks and plazas and some of the injured lay on mattresses outside overcrowded hospitals.

As of Friday night, there was no official casualty toll from the quakes, the first of which hit shortly before noon. San Salvador, a city of 800,000 people, was almost completely cut off from the rest of the country and the world.

Dazed residents wandered the streets littered with rubble and traversed by downed power lines.

President Jose Napoleon Duarte declared a state of emergency, the Mexican news agency Notimex reported.

Speaking on Radio El Salvador, he urged citizens to stay away from damaged buildings and appealed for calm. He said damage was confined to the capital area.

Radio station YSU said more than 150 people were killed in the collapse of the 10-story Ruben Dario building.

Radio Cuscatlan said about 45 people were known dead, including at least 30 students whose bodies were found in two schools.

Costa Rican Ambassador to San Salvador Jesus Fernandez said in an interview with the station that the bodies of at least 30 young people were taken from the Santa Catalina school and another school.

The radio said hundreds of people were injured, and wounded soldiers were evacuated from a military hospital in San Salvador to make room for civilians. The soldiers were casualties in El Salvador's 7-year-old civil war.

Ernesto Ferreiro, spokesman for the Salvadoran Red Cross, said about 200 people sought shelter or treatment at the organization's headquarters alone.

Peter McPherson, administrator for the U.S. Agency for International Development, said in Washington that a disaster assistance team was on its way to El Salvador. He said the United States also will send tents, blankets and a 12-person medical team from Panama.

Vacationing Americans Robert Annadle and his wife Pam Ascanio, who were inside a pizza parlor when the initial jolt hit, said the tremor damaged Bloom Children's Hospital across the street.

"They were digging out (from the hospital) kids, babies," said Ms. Ascanio, of Rockledge, Fla.

"We were the only ones who got out (of the pizza parlor) when it was happening. The roof fell," she said.

Shanties of tin and wood collapsed, but affluent neighborhoods in the hills appeared to have escaped undamaged.

Local Roundup

School board meets Tuesday

A regular meeting of the Hereford Independent School District board of trustees is set for 6 p.m. Tuesday in the administration building.

In addition to routine agenda items the board is to consider these items:

-Requests from St. Joseph's prayer group and from the YMCA for La Plata Gym.

-Hiring of an attorney to assist with past school accident insurance claims.

-A possible contract with a health insurance carrier.

-A request by the Employee Insurance Committee for pre-paid legal.

-Policy action on teacher appraisals and job descriptions.

-A report on Texas Education Agency monitoring.

Blood drive Wednesday

The Coffey Memorial Bloodmobile will be at the Hereford Community Center from 4 p.m. until 7 p.m. Wednesday for the monthly blood drive sponsored by the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce.

Drive chairman Betty Taylor reported that the September drive had 53 donors, and that the Women's Division hopes to exceed that goal this month.

Also, Sonic Drive-In will give coupons for a free drink to each donor.

Cheese giveaway slated

The offices of Deaf Smith County Community Services has announced that they will be giving away free cheese and butter to needy families on Thursday, Oct. 16, at the county Bull Barn.

Senior citizens are asked to enter through east end of the building. New applicants will be asked to show proof of income.

The Hereford Whitefaces may not be very good "mudders", but they have the determination to overcome adversity and the will to win. That seemed to be the verdict of the Saturday morning quarterbacks at Troy's Sweet Shop, a popular gathering place for Herd boosters.

The Herd remained undefeated by scoring a close, hard-fought 8-3 victory over the Levelland Lobos here Friday night in a Homecoming contest. It marked the seventh straight Homecoming triumph for HHS, and the Whiteface defense protected its record of not allowing a touchdown on the home field this season.

The weather was a big factor in the Friday-night game. Most of the gang at Troy's Saturday morning agreed that the wet, windy weather was more of an advantage for the big, strong Lobos. Hereford relies more on its passing game to keep the ball moving but, except for a few key, short passes, the weather and Levelland's pass defense took away that advantage.

The fans at the coffee shop also thought it was fortunate for the Herd that Levelland's starting fullback missed the game. The Lobos' offensive line was moving Hereford off the line in the third quarter, but the Whitefaces held when it counted and came away with a win in the all-important district contest.

The big district game next Friday will be at Canyon, where the Eagles take on Estacado. Hereford should prevail over the Dumas Demons without too much trouble, but the Whitefaces better not take the game too lightly. After Dumas, the Whitefaces play Canyon and Estacado on successive weeks.

Speaking of Homecoming and football games, we noticed an Associated Press article Saturday morning that reported a "mum mania" has hit central Texas. In Killeen, a high school student reported that her boy friend spent $600 on a giant mum arrangement that included 90 miniature cowbells and an overstuffed football.

Wow, for an old boy that used to spend about $10 for a real special girl friend, that's going off the deep end! The article reported that many young customers spend between $40 and $70, but some purchases cost hundreds. One floral shop reported that a student spent almost $400 on a flower arrangement that looked almost like a dress. It had 18 mums, 40 bells, and 200 yards of ribbon.

The article reported that one Killeen florist encourages young clients to use restraint when buying homecoming flora for the first time. She tried to tell the freshman to start out small and work their way up.

One girl at the Hereford game Friday night was sporting three mums. We're not sure if she had three boyfriends, or if she was wearing two extras from "no-shows".

Bamboo Bomber

The bamboo bomber, alias Cessna T-50, lurks in the shadows at Deaf Smith Aero, Inc., awaiting its flight. The plane was used during World War II for training pilots on a twin-engine. The plane, also referred to as the UC-78 in military term, is recognized by many old timers as the kind of plane they used to get their twin-engine license time in. Pittenger flew the plane from Colorado and will spend the winter remodeling it.

In classic Cadillacs

Grapevine man corners business market

JUSTIN, Texas (AP) — They said the late Frank Tompkins was crazy. The Mineral Wells resident would stay up late all night for fear that people might steal parts off the hundreds of Cadillacs and other cars in his wrecking yard. He referred to the cars as his "babies," imbuing them with personalities and hesitating to take a part from one car and put it on the same make and model.

They also said his eccentricities would rub off on anybody who bought his cars. "Honest" John Foust of Grapevine doesn't argue. He paid $100 each, cash, for 75 of Tompkins' Cadillacs and then had to figure out a way to have them towed to his land outside Justin.

"These people around here, they all think I'm crazy," said Foust, surveying his 10 acres where some 100 old Cadillacs have come to rest.

Honest John's Caddy Corner is a supply business dealing in old Cadillac parts, sold to individuals and companies restoring the vintage machines. Foust previously owned a restoration company but "lost $40,000 in one year restoring classic cars," he said.

"It's just the opposite on parts. I'm selling to these restoration companies that are losing money."

He deals in models ranging from 1949 to 1976. "The people that really love Cadillacs say that (1976) was the last year they really made a Cadillac," he said. That was before Cadillacs got smaller and economy-minded, and a mechanic had to have a computer to work on them.

Most of Foust's automobiles date from 1960 or earlier — the glory days of fins. They're aligned in rows that foust intends to give names, like Coupe de Ville Avenue and Sedan de Ville Road.

He doesn't intend to expand his place. "It's about right," he said. "I can't envision having more than 10 acres of Cadillacs."

Despite the sunflowers and Johnson grass that poke up through the gaping hods of some of the cars and almost obscure others, despite the bashed-in windows and the rusted bodies and the nests of yellow jackets, Foust has respect for his cars. "The really incredible thing," he said, "is that a lot of these cars run."

Whereas some people ascribe human characteristics to Cadillacs, to Foust they "they not only have human characteristics but also feminine qualities." One, with a ragged vinyl roof, reminds him of a woman with a curly perm. A '61 Fleetwood makes him think of "a grand old lady — smooth, elegant, lean."

And he's quite familiar with some of the Cadillacs.

As a child growing up in the '50s, he was aware that "the guy who drove by with the biggest fins on his car was the richest man in town." In Grapevine, that happened to be the banker.

He pointed to a '59 Caddy. "That is the car," he said. "I knew the richest man in Grapevine." His best friend bought the car from the banker and sold it to Foust years later.

Foust comes by his fondness for Cadillacs honestly. "I learned to drive on one — a 1960, a hand-me-down from my folks. They gave it to me.

"I was kind of embarrassed. All my friends had '65 Mustangs."

But when he started riding around in those '65 Mustangs, he discovered his own car's superiority.

"My parents always had Cadillacs," he recalled. "I thought almost all cars had air conditioning, automatic power steering, power brakes, power windows and power seats.

"Riding around with my friends, I saw how cheap their cars were, how few people we could get in 'em, how uncomfortable they were. We started having so much fun in my Cadillac," going to football games, taking it out of town.

"Even when I moved out of that car, I always had one (Cadillac) to have fun in." He has been through Corvettes and Ford vans, but he still prefers Caddies. "They're so nice, so dependable. I've had one ever since."

He is now drives a 1959 El Dorado

Biarriz convertible, white with white interior, foam rubber dice dangling from the rear-view mirror. The fins resemble rockets. "The epitome of space-age fins," Foust called them.

The dealer doesn't relish cutting up Caddies for parts, but he does acknowledge that "it breeds more Cadillacs" on the road. Sacrificing the few for the good of the many, or something like that. And it's better than crushing them and selling them for scrap, which has happened to a lot of those heavy-weight gas-guzzlers.

"There are not very many of these cars on the road," he said.

A few years ago he sold some dozen Caddies to a couple of Santa Fe, N.M., artists who cut them up and transformed them into furniture. One of the partners, Jody Norskog, cut away the parts he wanted and left the rest. The Caddy Corner still boasts models minus the rear end and trunk.

"I like it," Foust said of the artists' work. "And I'm glad the prices are high; they should be."

"It's more than furniture, it's more than art — it's history."

About fidgety viewers

Television admakers concerned

NEW YORK (AP) — When was the last time you sat down and watched a network television show from start to finish without changing channels?

Admakers say it's happening less often and they blame declining program quality, the proliferation of cable and independent stations and technological innovations such as video cassette recorders and remote control.

Their real concern is you won't be there for their commercial.

Technology alone has spawned a lexicon that sends shivers through creative departments up and down Madison Avenue.

Words like zapping, zipping. And, thanks to a new study by the advertising agency J. Walter Thompson USA, flipping.

They describe the latest defenses viewers have against commercials and programs that bother or bore them.

Zapping is what happens when you change the channel to avoid a commercial. Zipping requires the assistance of a VCR, and describes what occurs when you use the "fast-forward" control to slip past a recorded commercial.

But the Thompson study, based on 1,881 telephone interviews with adults 18 and older, said only 9 percent of television viewers admitted to zapping commercials. It said zipping occurs in about 18 percent of all households with VCRs.

More prevalent than either of these, the study said, is flipping: switching channels at any time.

It said 34 percent of those surveyed change channels during a show for various reasons, ranging from those who switch simply because they get bored to others who switch almost constantly "sampling bits and pieces of different programs."

The study said it found flipping occurred in roughly the same proportion in all types of programming — feature films, dramas, sitcoms, adventures, mysteries and sports — and in both daytime and prime evening viewing periods.

And it predicted flipping likely would increase as more viewers got cable television and more sets were equipped with remote control.

It recommended several ways advertisers can try to catch the attention of fidgety viewers.

Sponsors can use more 15-second commercials, or half the standard 30-second length, to increase the frequency of their commercial messages and the likelihood that they will catch the attention of the video nomads.

They also can boost frequency by advertising on syndicated programs on independent stations and on cable programs. And they can buy time on several networks and other channels at once to trap the channel flippers.

But the study said program quality also was a growing concern.

"The main challenge to more effective TV advertising today isn't consumer dislike of advertising as much as growing viewer impatience with boring TV content — programming and advertising," the Thompson study said.

Former resident injured

Donnie Morgan, a former Hereford resident, was scheduled for facial bone surgery Saturday following a freak accident which he was in two weeks ago.

Morgan, a 1974 Hereford High graduate and son of Darrel and Faye Dirks of Hereford, is in Hillcrest Baptist Medical Center in Waco recuperating from the incident.

Morgan, a Waco police officer, was injured when working a motorcycle and trailer collision on a city street when another vehicle slammed into the trailer and knocked him and two other men down.

Morgan suffered a skull fracture, one shattered cheek bone and one broken cheekbone.

Surg. Dirks said if Saturday's surgery went well, Morgan would be able to go home next week.

Panelists are:

Lupe Chavez, Deaf Smith County Juvenile Officer, will discuss local drug problems among teens and serve as the forum emcee.

Sgt. Sammy Sanchez, criminal investigator for the Hereford Police Department, will exhibit samples of drugs and drug paraphernalia and tell what is on the streets of Hereford.

Mike Moon, case manager of Texas Panhandle Mental Health Authorities, will represent The Chemical People.

Luis Moreno Jr., for user, will tell how drugs affected his life and nearly led to suicide.

Mauricio Flores, 22-year-old former user.

And, Jesse Guerrero, former alcohol user who now is a born-again Christian.

In 1987 National Spelling Bee

Students invited to participate

AMARILLO - Students in all public and parochial schools are invited to participate in the 1987 National Spelling Bee, co-sponsored by the Amarillo Globe-News and West Texas State University.

The Scripps Howard Newspapers, national sponsors, set the rules and limit participation to a student who will not be older than 16 by the end of the current school year or in a grade higher than the eighth.

Directors in the 46 counties assigned the AGN and WTSU have been named and are responsible for eliminations in their respective counties.

Serving as director for Deaf Smith County will be Speedy Neiman, publisher of The HEREFORD BRAND.

Each county champion must be named by Mar. 14 in order to take part in the 1987 Regional Bee to be held on the WTSU campus on Apr. 11.

Vying for the 1987 Regional title will be 46 young people from parts of the Texas Panhandle, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Kansas.

The 1987 district champion will go to Washington, D.C. in early June to compete in the National Spelling Bee. The trip, for two, will be provided by the Amarillo Globe-News.

There will be other awards for some of the top district finalists.

Bee coordinator is Gene Parker, director of placement, WTSU.

"Those of us at West Texas State who assist in this outstanding program praise Amarillo Globe-News for making this program available to our young people. The benefits certainly are a plus and we commend the newspaper for their great support in education," Parker said.

Most schools use the booklet, "Words of the Champions", containing more than 3,000 total words (an increase of 500 new words). The 1987 issue of this book is priced at only 50-cents each and is available from Jeane Bartlett, Spelling Bee Editor, Amarillo Globe-News, Box 2091, Amarillo, Texas 79166.

Orders may be placed by individuals or schools.

Additional information about the Bee is available from the county director, Parker, or Mrs. Bartlett.

Emergency steps limit shock

The condition known medically as shock results from a lack of blood circulating in the body.

External or internal bleeding or the loss of body fluids in severe burns can interrupt circulation. Hard blows, crushed bones or muscles, bone fractures, and bullet wounds may cause shock.

Shock is dangerous because its symptoms can go unnoticed by the untrained person, according to the Texas Medical Association. An accident victim may appear only slightly injured but can be suffering from shock. If not treated promptly, shock can cause death.

Early signs that may indicate shock include cool, pale, clammy skin; restlessness and anxiety developing into mental cloudiness, listlessness and unconsciousness; and a pulse that is weak but of normal rate.

Late signs include great thirst; rapid, weak pulse; shallow, irregular breathing; and nausea and vomiting.

If you encounter an accident victim, you should first try to control severe bleeding and restore breathing while someone calls a doctor. Next, treat for shock. Here are some tips:

—Keep the person lying down. If neck or back injuries are apparent, keep the victim lying flat. If the person has chest pains or difficulty in breathing, slightly elevate the head and shoulders, but not the legs. For other injuries, elevate the feet and legs 8 to 12 inches.

—Protect the person from chill or dampness, but don't let the victim become overheated.

Abundant Life

By Bob Wear

Our manner of thinking is of the utmost importance to us. From many sources come very deliberate efforts to fashion and control our thinking. Some of this is desirable, some undesirable and some doesn't matter one way or the other. Therefore it is essential that we be fully aware that the way we think is uniquely our personal responsibility, and is one aspect of living that must not be left to chance. We will never do any better than the quality and the level of our thinking.

We can learn to think in the ways that are best for us, in all facets of our living; or we can permit outside influences to more or less control what we think. Of course, we can learn to think for ourselves, we can develop this 'controlled thinking'; and for the best of living, we must develop this skill. It seems to be generally accepted that, "As we think we are."—"A man is what he thinks about all day long."—Emerson—"The way we think determines how we live."—J. Miller.

We must be careful about what enters the mind, and then take time to think carefully and wisely. Doing this, we will save time; and more than time. We may save a job, or a friend, or a destructive argument, or money, or energy, and many other important things. Much of our thinking will be revealed in our speaking. In too many instances, the careful and wise thinking comes after we speak; or whatever other action we take.

Take time to think carefully is a wise guideline for all of us to follow.

time to bring to bear, upon the decision we must make, all of the information we have pertaining to the matter. "Whate'er comes in your mind, deliberate; A hasty man but rushes on his fate." We must ask ourselves, will what I am about to say or do help me or others, or my situation? If the answer is 'no', don't say it, don't do it. If the answer is, 'yes', give a little more thought to it.

If we wish to develop wise self-management, we must develop wisely 'controlled thinking'; and we can do this.

Homecoming

It was Homecoming time in Hereford this weekend, but it rained on our parade Friday afternoon.

Homecomings are still fun, and they can be just as competitive as football games! The early Homecomings may find classmates competing with each other about jobs and the money they're making. After about 20 years, it's spouses and children and vacation homes, as well as comparing waistlines, hairlines and wrinkle lines.

At Homecomings and class reunions, the most-used phrase might be "You haven't changed a bit!" But change is the name of the game. We visited with a 1956 grad this week, and she came up with these "reflections on Homecoming."

Consider the changes for the class of '56: They were before VCR's, frisbees, American Express and $1.50 gasoline, but they had hula hoops. For them, time-sharing meant togetherness, not computers; a chip was a piece of wood; hardware was hardware, and software wasn't even a word.

In their time, closets were for clothing, not for coming out of; bunnies were small rabbits, and rabbits were not Volkswagens. They were before training bras, and they thought a deep cleavage was something butchers did. They were before Mr. T, Rocky, Flintstone vitamins, disposable diapers, and Merrill-Lynch.

When they were in Hereford High, pizzas, frozen orange juice, instant coffee and McDonald's were unheard of. They thought fast food was what you did during Lent. They were before FM radio, tape recorders, electric typewriters, word processors, Muzak, and disco dancing. They were before nuclear fission, and that's not all bad.

Their generation was before panty hose, drip-dry clothes, icemakers, and student "beer busts." Unmarried members of the opposite sex did not take trips together, and any talk of pre-marital sex was hush-hush. Anyway, they got married first and then lived together.

In their day, cigarette smoking was becoming fashionable; grass was for mowing; Coke was something you drank, and pot was something you used for cooking. They were before day-care centers, house husbands, and fulltime babysitters. When they had a baby, it was a 7-day hospital event, not something you did on your way to work.

They had "Five and dime stores" where you could buy something for a nickel or a dime. "Made in Japan" meant junk, and the term "making out" referred to how you did on an exam. You could buy a new car for $1,500, but who could afford it. A pity, too, for gas was just 25 cents a gallon.

If anyone had asked them to explain CIA, NATO, UFO, NFL, BMW, or Ms. or ERA, they would have had called it Alphabet Soup. They were before sex changes—they just made do with what they had.

But the late '50s were super days. They had Elvis, Fabian, Jerry Lee Lewis and Ricky Nelson. They could go to a dance at the Community Center and go to the Double K for a vanilla Coke. They played 45 rpm records and learned to do the "stroll." Unlike the dances of today, they knew how it felt to have their partner hold them close, or they could rock-n-roll with Little Richard. They were before jogging, pasta, yoga, or pumping their own gas.

As they return for Homecoming, they find some things never change—their ability to have a good time, and their pride in and love for their classmates and alma mater!

Fighting illiteracy

The general impression, listening to Ronald and Nancy Reagan on national TV, is that this nation is buried in a war against the dangers of drugs which threatens our very security. However, there's another serious problem facing America — one which does not require arms, law enforcement, judicial systems, jails or drug rehabilitation. It's illiteracy, a problem so staggering that it's kept hidden and has become a national disgrace.

The millions of reasons for attacking the problem are obvious. Hundreds and thousands of those very same reasons — illiterate men, women and children — are among us.

We agree with literacy advocates that the ultimate goal is to create an informed and literate society. As we seek to teach and train the illiterate adults to read, we can reach out for today's children in order to have readers and literate leaders of tomorrow.

The Penultimate Word

THE DEAD CAT

Someone has said that truth is stranger than fiction. Truth is also much funnier than fiction. The funniest stories are always the true happenings. A comic is a person who has a repertoire of funny stories. A humorist is someone who notices the humor in everyday life. I have always wanted to be a humorist. I get into trouble a great deal of the time because my humor hits at the most inappropriate times. It is hard to explain the sudden arrival of a funny in the middle of a funeral.

I especially enjoy true stories that have the kind of endings that can be projected beyond the story. When the story is over we can try to decide how the person handled the situation or explained the dilemma. Like Paul Harvey with his (dramatic pause), "And now, the rest of the story."

I heard this kind of story a few years ago. The person who told it to me swears it to be true.

A lady moved into a new condominium in north Dallas. She moved on Friday. Saturday morning she discovered her cat had died. What can be done with a dead cat in a Dallas apartment complex on Saturday? She did not know anyone in the complex to call on for help. There is no place to bury a cat unless you are good at digging in concrete. It would not do to put the cat in the garbage, since the garbage would not be gathered until at least Monday. The lady called her daughter, who also lived in Dallas, to see what could be done. The daughter said not to worry. She was getting ready to go shopping in the exclusive shopping center in north Dallas. She suggested her mother bring the cat with her and meet at the cosmetic counter in one of the stores. She would then take the cat to her house for a proper burial.

The lady had nothing to put the cat in except a Neiman-Marcus shopping bag. She wrapped the cat in tissue and put it in the bag. When she met her daughter they put the bag on the counter and began to shop for cosmetics. When they remembered the bag it was gone. The daughter said, "Well at least we don't have to bury the cat." They walked out into the mall and saw a large crowd gathered. They went over to see what the crowd was looking at and there was a rather large lady who had fainted. Laying beside the lady was a Neiman-Marcus shopping bag with the head of a cat in plain view. The daughter said, "Look Mother. Someone's kitty cat died," and they walked off.

And now the rest of the story.

The Scenario — The lady grabs the bag. It is from Neiman's and is heavy. She can hardly wait to see what she has. As soon as she reaches the mall area she reaches into the bag. A fur coat, maybe? She pulls out a dead cat. Shriek! Faint!

The Aftermath—When she wakes up, how does she explain a dead cat in a shopping bag? When she gets that explained how does she explain the dead cat causing her to scream and faint? Then comes the real question. What do you with a dead cat in a Dallas shopping mall on Saturday morning?

Warm Fuzzies,
Doug Manning

Bootleg Philosopher

How smart are Japanese?

Editor's Note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Johnsons Farm on Tierra Blanca Creek tries to explain a recent statement by a high Japanese official.

Dear editor:

When a high Japanese official said the other day that the Japanese people are smarter than Americans, some people were outraged.

It didn't bother me, as it's just another example of how international friction can develop due to some reporter's carelessness.

What I want to know is where was the high Japanese official when he said it? Was he about to board a helicopter? The news report didn't say. It makes a difference in the proper conduct of international affairs. You see, due to the windy conditions near a helicopter, with the powerful downdraft blowing in his face, a public official finds it impossible to hold a sheet of paper in his hands and read from it.

Therefore, thus left on his own, there's no telling what he'll say and under international and domestic rules he should not be held accountable for it. Always wait till his speech writers clear it up the next day.

I don't know where the Japanese official was when he said what he said. He might even have been standing by a Japanese helicopter and still have no excuse for popping off, as the Japanese are so smart they may have invented a helicopter that requires no blades and somebody forgot to tell him about it.

Anyway, he later apologized, indicating that the Japanese have indeed not invented a propeller-less helicopter. Just call it another case of wind-swept foot-in-the-mouth, and see if anybody is smart enough to translate that into Japanese.

I have no way of knowing if the Japanese are smarter than Americans, but I have an idea that when they lined up with Hitler and attacked Pearl Harbor, they weren't so smart.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor,

For the past three weeks the Deaf Smith Republican Party has been on a door to door campaign for candidates running on the Republican ticket in this year's general election.

I wasn't surprised with people that we contacted who told us that they were undecided about the local elections where Ronnie Hathaway is vying for the Deaf Smith County Commissioner Precinct 4 post. But, what did surprise me was when people were unaware of the candidates, both Republican and Democrat, who were running on the state level. I would say about 68 percent of these people polled were either undecided or were uninformed about the candidates running for governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general and U.S. Congress, District 19.

Another amusing part of the walk was to hear the responses that we were given when we asked the question, "Are there any Bill Clements supporters in the household?"

Some of the responses were:

"Well, I don't vote."

"I don't deal in politics."

"I'm too old."

"I'm too uninformed."

And, "I don't care."

My favorite was, "Don't bother me, I'm sick."

However, the one response with bothered me more than any was, "I don't like to get involved in party politics," followed by a door slammed in my face.

After picking myself up from the grass and walking to the next house, my mind went back to a time in my life when I often said the same thing—that I didn't want to get involved in politics.

Then I would always remember my political science teacher at West Texas State University when he told us that people do not have a right to complain or gripe about the condition of their state when all they do is vote. Only when a person votes, donates some time working within that party to make Texas better, does a person have the right to complain about a law or an elected official.

I can agree with him on his point, yet I am realistic enough to know that many times one's obligation to family and work will not allow time for a political party. But, I also can't help but think that there are some people with time to spare, who have the desire to work within a political party but won't because they don't want to get involved.

An important factor that caused many people to be undecided about a particular candidate was that there was little information out in the public about that certain candidate or race.

Well, here is your chance. On Wednesday, at 4 p.m., Judge Roy Barrera, candidate for Texas Attorney General, will have a reception at the Hereford Community Center lounge.

People who are undecided may talk with Judge Barrera about things important to Texans. Judge Barrera has a real concern for the future of Texas and its citizens and he is eager to "tell it to the people."

Texas will be facing its most challenging years during this next executive term of office in our state government. Therefore, it is vital that Texans elect officials who will hold hands in a united effort to lead Texas out of economic crisis, provide strong leadership so that others will follow in their direction, and in the end will represent the needs of all Texans.

I encourage all Texas to get involved, get informed, and get into party politics.

To quote a good friend of mine: "What we need around here are some good ole wagon pullers, it's time to get it on."

Texas needs all its sons and daughters to be workers, to be leaders, to be good ole wagon pullers so that Texas will be a better place for all.

Sincerely yours,
The Wagon Pulling Republican

PHARMACY

Pills can be quite a problem for some folks. Here are a few suggestions from our Pharmacy to help the "medicine go down."
 Drink at least three and one-half ounces of water WITH your pill.
 Remain in an upright position if at all possible for at least 90 seconds.
 If you have extreme difficulty swallowing pills, ask our pharmacist if your medication can be obtained in liquid form. Or, if liquid is not available, request oval or round pills.
 If a pill does seem stuck in your throat, eat a banana! A well-chewed banana does an excellent job of lubricating both your throat and the pill.
 For any pharmaceutical need, remember, our pharmacists are there to help!

Homecoming victory for Hereford High School

Whitefaces defeat Lobos 8-3 in 'Mud Bowl'

By GARY CHRISTENSEN
Sports Editor

Character, desire and determination describe the Hereford Whiteface football team in the second half of Friday night's Hereford High School homecoming game, in which the Herd overcame a 3-2 deficit to post an 8-3 District 1-4A victory.

It all happened in what could best be called the "Mud Bowl," a game played on a rain-soaked field. And the condition of the field played a big role in the offensive play of both teams, with ball carriers slipping frequently.

Levelland moved to within the Hereford 20-yard line twice in the third quarter, but could achieve only a field goal for its efforts.

Then the Whiteface offense began rolling in the fourth quarter, leading to a game-winning touchdown.

Hereford gained a 2-0 lead in the first quarter with a safety. Levelland had the ball at its own 15 yards line.

The Lobos' Jay Fortner, in a reverse play, was unable to escape the pursuit of defensive end Derrell Page and linebacker Bobby Medina, and Page caught Fortner in the end zone for a safety.

That safety occurred in Levelland's third possession of the game, with 3:15 left in the first quarter. Hereford failed to get a first down in its first two possessions.

Hereford began its third possession of the game at its own 48-yard line. The Whitefaces were unable to get a first down, and were forced to punt.

Bobby Baker, the Hereford punter, was roughed up, and a 15-yard penalty was called, giving the Whitefaces a first down at the Lobo 35.

In a fourth-and-4 play, Todd Shire completed a 10-yard pass to Kyle Streun for a first down at the Levelland 19.

A penalty in the second down play hurt Hereford after Vincent Brown had gained six yards in the first down play. Later two passes fell incomplete, and Levelland took over possession of the ball at its own 16.

The Lobos moved all the way to the Hereford 30 where they were faced with a fourth-and-1. Levelland quarterback Jeff James was stopped inches short of a first down, with 5:18 left in the first half.

But two plays later, Hereford's Marcus Brown lost the ball, and the Lobos' Trent Holcomb fell on it at the Hereford 31.

Levelland completed a 17-yard pass to the 14, and then gained seven yards in two rushing attempts.

Levelland's Michael Shepherd found an opening in the next play of the game and was headed for a touchdown, only to lose the ball just before he crossed the goal line.

Whiteface free safety Fidencio Cantu fell on the ball for a touchback with 3:07 left in the half. Hereford had the ball the rest of the half, reaching the Lobos 45 as time ran out.

The defensive battle in the "Mud Bowl" continued in the third quarter. Levelland took the second half kickoff and marched to the Hereford 7-yard line, it was faced with a third-and-1.

Phibbs tackled the Lobos' Fortner for a seven-yard loss, and Levelland had to settle for a field goal attempt. Benny Rodriguez successfully kicked a 27-yard field goal to put Levelland into the lead, 3-2, with 5:53 left in the third period.

Hereford failed to get a first down in its next possession, and Levelland again threatened to score. A 27-yard pass put the Lobos at the Hereford 13 with a first down.

But the Whiteface defense rose to the occasion, forcing Levelland into a fourth-and-11 play. Only one yard was gained in that fourth down play, and the Herd took over possession of the ball with 2:26 left in the third quarter.

Hereford did not get a first down in its next possession, but neither did Levelland. By the time the fourth quarter began, the rain had stopped and the wind had died down.

NEED MORE MONEY

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Athletic Trainers' Association is charging that tight budgets will result in more injuries to high-school athletes. The NATA is throwing around some big numbers, claiming that about 5 million high-school athletes face the risk of injury in one year. The group added that about 100,000 of those will be major injuries.

Because of lack of money, a lot of schools can't afford qualified trainers. In the 1984-85 season, according to NATA, 800,000 young men and women were injured in school sports programs. A total of 28 reportedly died or sustained injuries that NATA labeled catastrophic.

NOSE TACKLE TOUGH

CLEVELAND (AP) — Nose tackle in pro football is not one of the glamorous positions but it is one of the toughest to play.

"It's like throwing yourself on a hand grenade," Bob Golic, the NT of the Cleveland Browns, said. "Since I began playing this position, I've gone from a two-legged, upright, thinking human being to a four-legged, groveling, sniveling beast of burden. It is the direct opposite of Darwin's theory of evolution."

Texas Rangers won 25 more games than in 1985

'V-Ball' was unexpected success in 1986

By ALAN SAYRE

Associated Press Writer
ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — On the last day of the season, some fans at Arlington Stadium stretched out a banner along the right field wall that proclaimed: "And on the 8th day, God created V-Ball."

V-Ball, named after Texas Rangers Manager Bobby Valentine, was an unexpected success. The Rangers finished at 87-75, five games behind American League West champion California, and won 25 more games than they did in finishing dead last in 1985.

The club also won more than 80 games for the first time in the 1980s and was a big hit in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, setting a home attendance record of 1,629,021. Valentine even received a standing ovation from 19,686 fans at home plate after the final game.

That kept the bullpen busy all year.

Dave Mohorcic, a 30-year-old rookie, tied a major league record by appearing in 13 consecutive games as a reliever from Aug. 6 through Aug. 20. Greg Harris led the club with 20 saves in 73 games, while rookie Mitch Williams made 80 appearances, a major league record for a rookie.

"It doesn't feel like it's over," he said. "It feels like it's only the beginning."

Coming out of spring training, V-Ball's most talked about ingredient was a youthful pitching staff, anchored by veteran knuckleballer Charlie Hough. He ultimately led the club with 17 wins.

Rookie Bobby Witt finished at 11-9 and didn't lose after July 21. The Rangers were 12-0 during his final dozen starts.

Witt struck out 174 batters and fellow rookie Edwin Correa fanned 189 while posting a 12-14 record. A third rookie, Jose Guzman, finished at 9-15.

Control problems plagued the staff throughout the year. The Rangers were charged with 94 wild pitches, breaking a 16-year-old major league record set by the Houston Astros. Witt set an AL record with 22 wild pitches.

After suffering from a lack of a regular offensive punch for several years, Texas set new seasonal club records with 184 home runs, 725 RBIs and 771 runs.

Pete Incaviglia, who made the Rangers' roster in spring training straight out of Oklahoma State, became the 11th rookie in AL history to hit 30 homers and the 16th in major league history. The season was more than just a personal triumph for him.

"We all pulled together after a lot of people said we had nothing," he said. "But we played together and proved them wrong."

Incaviglia also finished the season with 185 strikeouts, an AL record and just four shy of the major league record set by Bobby Bonds in 1970.

Ruben Sierra, another rookie, cut himself a place in the Rangers' outfield with 16 homers and 10 triples — a club record.

Oddibe McDowell, despite a slump in the final weeks, finished with 18 home runs. Scott Fletcher, obtained over the winter from the Chicago White Sox, came through at shortstop, hitting .300 in 146 games.

Larry Parrish finished with 28 homers and 94 RBI while Pete O'Brien had 23 homers and 90 RBI.

Sierra's performance has cast a shadow on outfielder Gary Ward, who missed the last month following abdominal surgery after leaving the team several times for personal reasons.

Ward, who hit .316 in 105 games, is slated to become a free agent. He makes an estimated $850,000 annually.

"Gary's been my guy," Valentine said. "It's been tough. He did a great job for me. I'm very torn between ... letting Gary leave and having him on my team."

The futures of three other veterans — backup catcher Darrell Porter, utilityman Tom Paciorek, infielder Toby Harrah — also are uncertain.

Valentine called the 37-year-old Harrah "outstanding," but said the club didn't know where he would fit in next year. He also had plaudits for Paciorek, 39, and Porter, 34.

"I could not have asked more out of Darrell Porter and I could not have asked for more of Tom Paciorek," Valentine said.

One expected event — the approval of a new ownership — didn't occur. Last month, AL owners turned down majority owner Eddie Chiles' bid to sell the club to the Gaylord Broadcasting Co., which owns the club's local television rights and a minority share of the team.

Chiles is chairman of the Western Company of North America, an oilfield service company that has suffered from the worldwide collapse of oil and gas prices.

In turning down the proposed sale, the owners indicated they feared that Fort Worth station KTVT would become a "superstation" and feed Rangers' games to cable TV systems nationwide.

The Rangers also will have to decide this winter whether to continue telecasts of home games by Home Sports Entertainment, a regional pay cable channel. Before the sale to Gaylord was rejected, team officials had indicated that the home telecasts might be dropped in favor of more road telecasts.

Whitefaces

at its own 12-yard line. Mark Artho broke loose for a 32-yard gain to finally get Hereford away from deep in its own territory.

An eight-yard pass from Shire to Baker, plus a two-yard run by Artho gave Hereford a first down. The Whitefaces, however, were stopped by the Lobos and had to punt again.

The HHS defense continued its determined effort, not allowing Levelland at first down.

Hereford had possession of the ball at the Lobo 43 after the punt. Quarterback Shire kept the ball for a five-yard gain, and then passed to Kyle Streun for a 10-yard gain.

Hereford was faced with a third-and-4 at the Lobo 22 after a two-yard gain by Marcus Brown and a four-yard gain by Artho.

Artho carried the ball toward the left side and outraced some Lobo defenders down the sideline for a 22-yard touchdown run, putting the Whitefaces back into the lead, 8-3, with 3:55 left in the game.

A pass attempt for two points fell incomplete, and now it was up to the Whiteface defense to preserve the Hereford lead for a victory.

Levelland, starting at its own 26, attempted a reverse in the first down play. Dennis Cunningham, a pass receiver, fumbled the ball, and Derrell Page recovered the fumble at the Levelland 11-yard line.

But two plays later, the Whitefaces' Marcus Brown fumbled the ball and Levelland recovered it at the 17 with 1:35 left.

The Lobos attempted a pass in its first down play. The receiver was overthrown, and Hereford cornerback Robby Collier intercepted the pass at the midfield line. It was Collier's fourth interception of the season.

Hereford then ran out the clock to post an 8-3 victory, keeping the Whitefaces undefeated at 6-0 for the season, including 4-0 in District 1-4A. That 4-0 district mark puts Hereford alone in first place, half a game ahead of Borger and Canyon, both 3-0.

Borger defeated Lubbock Dunbar 19-0 Friday night, and Canyon was open. Lubbock Estacado was 2-0-1 in the district, going into a Saturday afternoon game against Dumas. Levelland dropped to 1-2-1.

In other District 1-4A action, Frenship defeated Pampa 14-13. Frenship is 1-3 in district play, and Pampa is 0-3.

Hereford Coach Don Cumpton declared after the game, "Our players showed a lot of character. Nobody panicked when we got behind. They were patient. Then when we got the ball, we took it in.

"The field was a big factor, but our kids adjusted to it. Our defense had their best game of the season by far. They were bent but they never broke.

"The big series was holding them to a field goal, and then we held them to nothing their next series. It was a great win for us."

Hereford had 189 yards total offense compared to 171 for Levelland. Hereford had 144 yards passing and 45 yards rushing, while Levelland had 127 yards rushing and 44 yards passing.

In the first half, Levelland had 90 yards total offense and Hereford 84 yards.

Levelland gained only 19 yards in 20 first down plays for an average of 0.9 yards per play. That was Hereford's average in nine first down plays in the first half, but in the second half, the Whitefaces had 67 yards in nine first down plays for a 7.4 average.

Mark Artho led Hereford in rushing with 87 yards in 14 attempts. Vincent Brown had 23 yards in seven carries, and Marcus Brown totaled 21 yards in 10 attempts.

Todd Shire completed five of 14 passes for 45 yards, two to Kyle Streun for 20 yards, two to Bobby Baker for 16 yards, and one to Chris Johnson for nine yards.

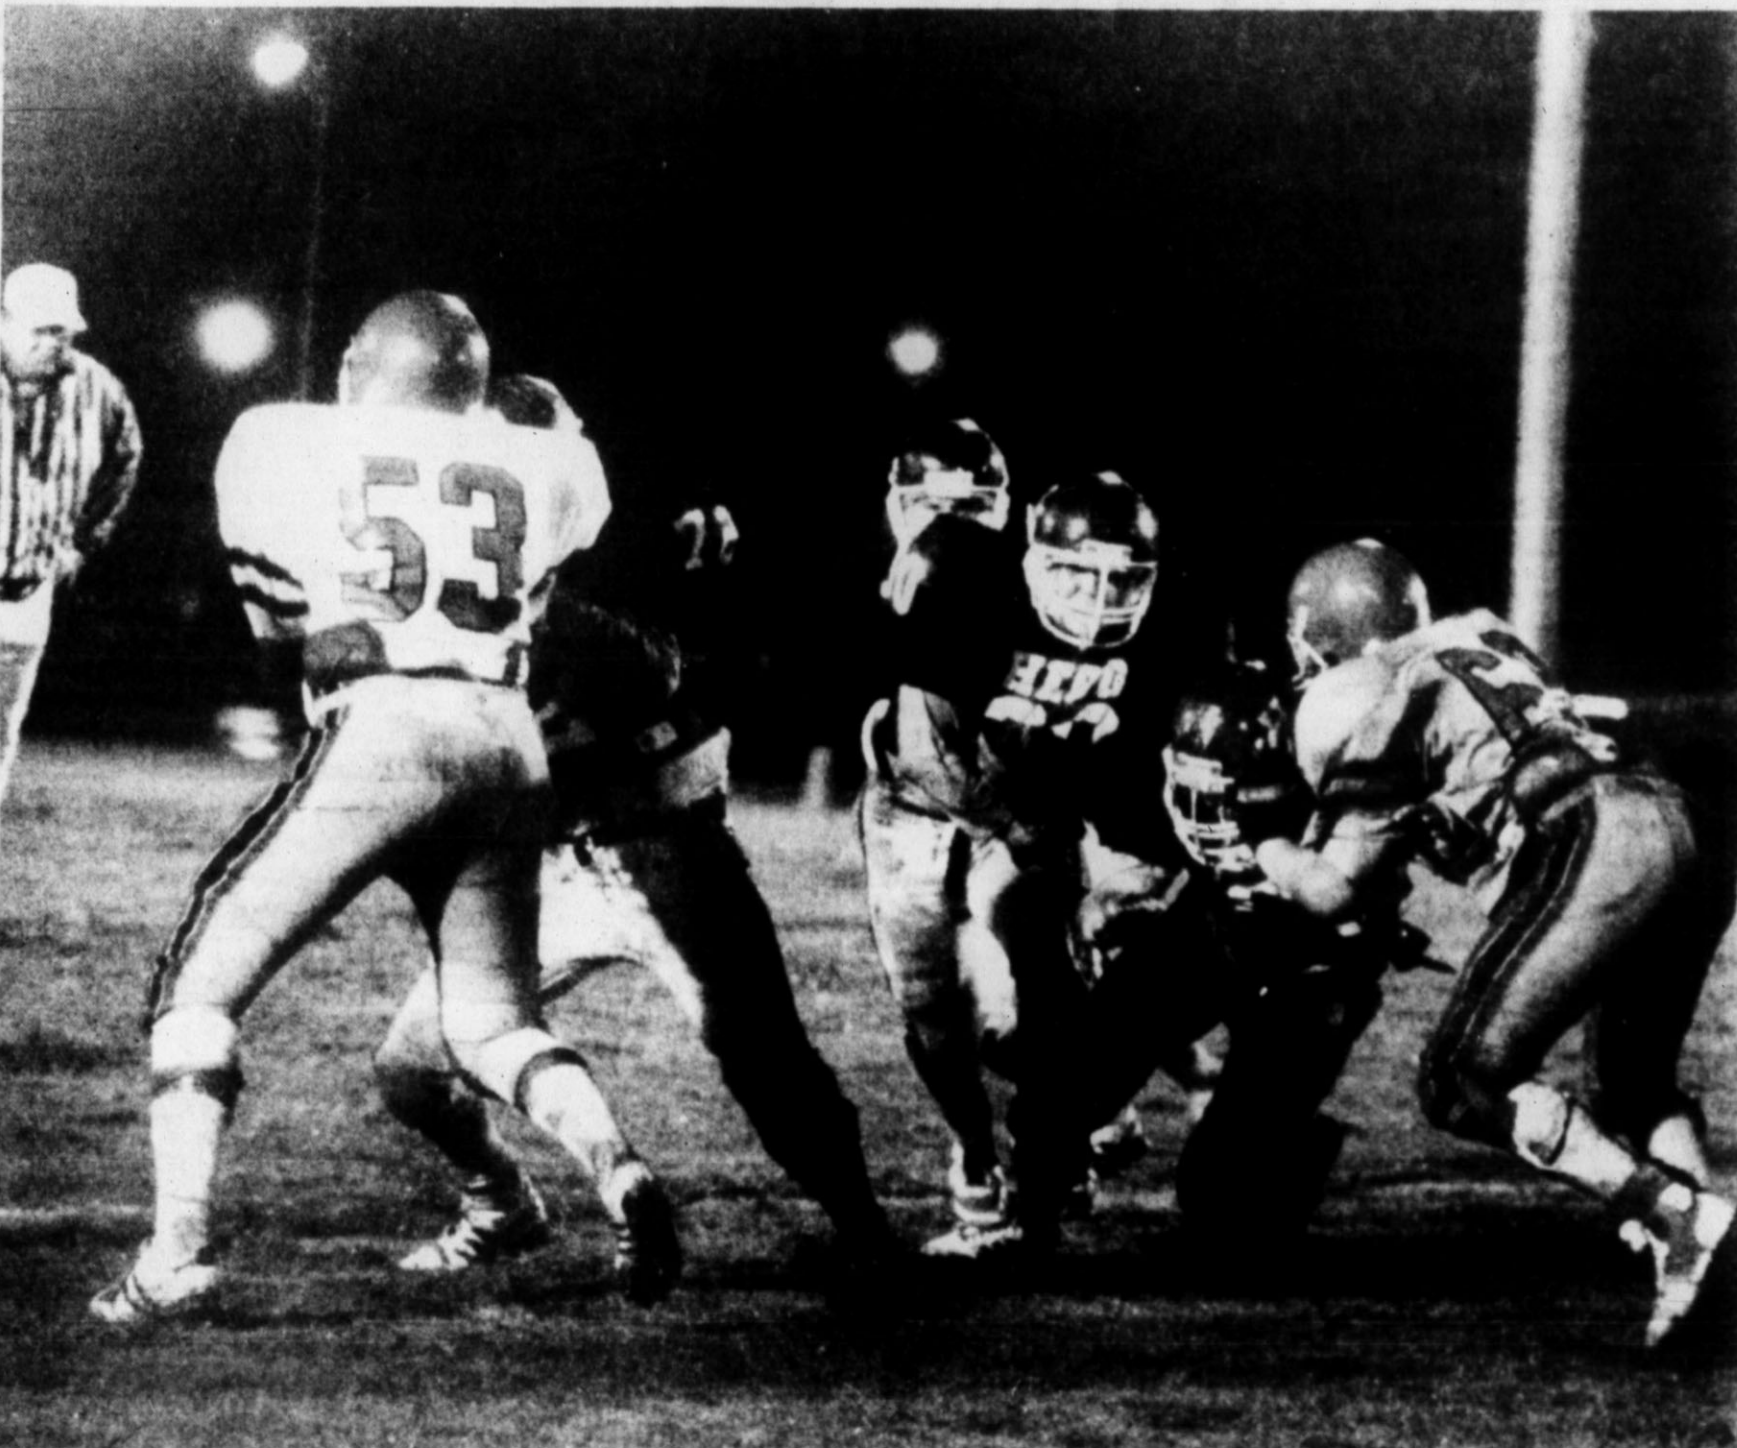

Two Levelland running backs each gained nearly 60 yards. Jimmy Hanson gained 59 yards in 14 carries and Michael Shepherd gained 58 yards in 16 attempts.

Next Friday, Hereford travels to Dumas to battle the Demons at 7:30 p.m. In other district games that evening, Borger plays at Levelland and Lubbock Estacado plays at Canyon. On Saturday, Oct. 18, Pampa plays at Lubbock Dunbar.

Oilers to tangle with Bears Sunday

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — The Chicago Bears are aware that it will take more than dancing "The Super Bowl Shuffle" to beat the Houston Oilers in the Astrodome Sunday.

"We don't take anyone lightly," Bears quarterback Jim McMahon said. "We go out every week with the understanding that we can be beaten if we don't play up to our capabilities."

That even applies to the Oilers, who have flopped to a 1-4 record since going unbeaten in the preseason and winning their season opener.

McMahon says the Bears are still victory hungry. "Our players aren't satisfied with winning one Super Bowl," McMahon said of the defending champions. "We know that we have a great team of individuals and the only way we can lose is if we screw up."

So far, it's hard to distinguish this year's team from the Super Bowl champs.

The Bears have won 23 of their last 24 games including five straight to start this season.

McMahon has a string of 20 consecutive victories as a starting quarterback despite an assortment of injuries.

Walter Payton needs only 61 yards against the Oilers to become the first player in history to gain 20,000 combined yardage on rushing, receiving and returns.

The Bears have the No. 1 rushing attack in the NFL and the defense is fifth.

Still, Chicago Coach Mike Ditka

won't say the Bears have escaped the post-Super Bowl blahs.

"I think it's premature to say we've averted a lapse from last year," Chicago Coach Mike Ditka said. "We only played five games and we have to make the players aware of what we want to accomplish."

"Maybe they are dedicated to a cause and are trying to prove that last year wasn't a fluke. You have to see yourself as champions before you can be champions."

The Oilers were at least thinking about making the playoffs after their positive start but mistakes and turnovers have spoiled any preseason progress.

"We lead the AFC in so many things but we are last in the league in giveaways and takeaways," Oilers Coach Jerry Glanville said. "We are so close to being a good football team."

The Oilers are minus-9 in the takeaway-giveaway department. They have recovered five fumbles and intercepted two passes but they've lost six fumbles and thrown 10 interceptions. The Bears are plus-4 in the category.

"I see us playing such good football in some areas."

The Oilers rank first in AFC team defense and first in pass defense.

Quarterback Warren Moon passed 396 yards in last week's 24-13 loss to Detroit. It was the most yardage for an Oilers quarterback since George Blanda's 418 passing yards in 1961.

"We know the Bears will come right at us," Moon said. "I guess we'll find out what we're made of."

Kickoff is at noon CDT.

After losing in NBA finals last year

Houston Rockets to start over again

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Rockets Coach Bill Fitch doesn't think the sweet fragrance of last season's success will affect his team for long this season.

"It's like a lady said on television the other day, 'perfume is for smelling not for drinking,'" Fitch said. "With all the flattery we've been getting, we don't want to swallow any of it."

It's been a short summer for the Twin Tower-led Rockets, who went from contender to champion last season, winning the NBA's Western Conference title before losing in the finals to the Boston Celtics, four games to two.

But it's time to start over again and Fitch thinks his team will ignore the high expectations of fans, who already have purchased 14,000 season tickets in anticipation of a rematch.

"I'll remind them once and that's all it will take," Fitch said. "I know the expectations are high. If you win 60 games a season, you're expected to win 61 the next year."

Fitch closes his team's early workouts, setting the tone for training camp.

"This is the time to crack the whip and raise hell," Fitch said. "The first three days there's a lot of mistakes and I don't want anybody around to see it."

Players have been known to emerge from preseason complaining of "Fitch Fatigue" but the coach's plan worked last season.

With Akeem Olajuwon and Ralph Sampson leading the charge, the Rockets posted a 51-31 regular season record and pushed aside playoff foes Sacramento and Denver to reach the conference finals against Los Angeles.

Houston overcame the loss of guard John Lucas in March in rallying to the Midwest Division title.

The Rockets lost the opening game to the Lakers and then won four in a row, clinching the title on a last-second circus shot by Sampson.

That sent the Rockets into the finals against the Celtics where they finally met their match for heroics. "We have to be able to line up in the shadow of what we did last year and really it is a shadow that is behind us," Fitch said. "The only thing we can do is try to improve on what we had last year."

Olajuwon finished eighth in the league in scoring with a 23.5 average and was third with 231 blocked shots. Sampson was the league's fifth best rebounder with an 11.1 average. Sampson was one of the few players last season who said the Rockets had arrived before the season started.

"I still believe it," he said. "If we can get to the point that we are all playing together and we don't get any injuries, we can get back," Sampson said. "I'd be disappointed if every player on our team didn't want that."

Robert Reid changed from sixth man to starter with the loss of Lucas.

Reid didn't have the penetrating skills of Lucas, but he worked on that phase of his game in the offseason.

After stockpiling top college players in recent years, the Rockets had late-round selections in the 1986 NBA draft.

Alabama's Buck Johnson was the team's No. 1 draft pick and Fitch also has high hopes for second-round pick Dave Feitl, a 7-footer from Texas-El Paso.

With a total of 109 victories, the New York Yankees lead by far among baseball's top 10 winners of World Series games. The Yankees have won 22 world championships in 33 visits to the Fall Classic.

IRVING, Texas (AP) — The unbeaten Washington Redskins can put the defending NFC Eastern Division champion Dallas Cowboys on the ropes Sunday with a victory at Texas Stadium in a clash of two old rivals who could be missing some key players.

The Redskins are off to a 5-0 start for just the third time in their 50-year history while the crippled Cowboys are 3-2.

"To start 5-0 for us is a dream," said Washington Coach Joe Gibbs. "We have 13 first-year players. We've made a lot of changes. We've fought hard every week and we're very pleased."

Dallas Coach Tom Landry said he hadn't projected such a quick blitz by the Redskins.

"I'm a little surprised," Landry said. "You have to be awful lucky to start 5-0. They are an excellent team and very well coached but you have to have a little luck."

Landry is 30-20-2 against Washington, including a series sweep last year.

Gibbs is 4-6 against the Cowboys, including a 44-14 loss in Texas Stadium last year.

However, both teams are so bruised up it could be the noon kickoff before starting lineups are determined.

Three of Dallas' shining stars, quarterback Danny White, running back Tony Dorsett, and defensive tackle Randy White nursed injuries.

Quarterback Steve Pelluer, who subbed for Danny White in a 29-14 loss to Denver last week, was ready for his Texas Stadium NFL starting debut if White's pulled groin refused to respond. Dorsett, who gave way to Herschel Walker last week while resting a sprained knee and ankle, could play with a knee brace.

Don Smerek, who has missed all of the season with a sprained knee, was activated to start for Randy White should a pulled hamstring become too painful.

The Redskins also have had their share of injury misfortune.

Linebacker Mel Kaufman is lost for the season and outside linebacker Monte Coleman's hamstring injury will not allow him to play against the Cowboys.

Middle linebacker Neal Olkewicz got a twisted knee in last Sunday's 14-6 victory over New Orleans and might not be 100 percent.

Landry said he thought Washington was a playoff caliber team.

"With a 5-0 streak, I'd say Washington is a cinch for the playoffs," Landry said. "Our timing (with injuries) couldn't have been worse."

Landry refused to say the game was a "must" for the Cowboys although a three-game deficit would be hard to overcome.

"I remember once we trailed by three games with four to play and ended up winning the Super Bowl," Landry said.

Thirteen-Yard Gain

Marcus Brown heads downfield for a 13-yard gain for Hereford late in the first half Friday night against Levelland. Brown had 21 total yards in 10 rushing attempts. No. 13 of Hereford is quarterback Todd Shire. Hereford scored an 8-3 victory over the Lobos. (Brand photo by Shawn Cockrum)

"There are several reasons I joined the club. One would have to be the convenience of being able to fill up 24-hours a day. Another is that I can buy cheaper through the pump in town than I can buy bulk on the farm. And third, I get some piece of mind -- I've had theft problems on the farm. Now I don't have to worry about it."

DUGOUT CIVVIES
NEW YORK (AP) — John McGraw and Connie Mack, two Hall of Fame baseball managers, during the latter stages of their careers wore street clothes while sitting in the dugout.

That prevented them from going on the field to protest a decision. They had to send coaches to do their arguing.

Mack was the manager and eventually the owner of the Philadelphia Athletics from 1901 to 1950. McGraw took over as Giant manager in 1902 and retired in June 1932.

Up to 25 million illegal abortions estimated annually

NEW YORK (AP) — Women who want abortions will get them no matter what the law allows, says a researcher who estimates that 10 million to 25 million illegal abortions are performed every year around the world. "Once women have an unintended pregnancy, it's very difficult to prevent them from turning to abortion," said Stanley Henshaw, deputy research director of the Alan Guttmacher Institute.

"There's no place in the world where abortions don't occur, regardless of what the laws are."

The institute, which supports legal abortion as one means for limiting family size, released Henshaw's study of world abortions Wednesday.

The study estimated that 40 million to 60 million abortions a year are performed around the world. Of those, legal abortions amount to 30 million to 40 million a year, Henshaw said.

Illegal abortions are probably usually performed by non-medical personnel, especially in Latin American and some Asian countries, Henshaw said. Higher maternal death rates can accompany illegal abortions, he said.

He also said abortion rates for Ireland and the Netherlands are similar despite Ireland's ban on abortions, because Irish women have them performed in England. In Belgium, abortion clinics operate openly despite an official ban on abortions, he said.

The study also said the United States had about 1.5 million abortions in 1983. The American abortion rate is about 27.4 per 1,000 women aged 15-44, while the world's rate for legal and illegal abortions is between 37 and 55 abortions per 1,000 women in that age group, the institute said.

Abortions are outlawed, or permitted only to save a mother's life, in nations that comprise about 24 percent of the world's 4.9 billion people, the study said. A couple of countries in this category also allow abortions for rape or fetal defect, Henshaw said.

"If you want to reduce the number of abortions, the emphasis should be on contraception," Henshaw said.

Accent on Agriculture Over 1 million acres in CRP

By DENNIS W. NEWTON
County Extension Agent

Texas farmers bid another 819,308 acres of highly erodible farmland into the government's Conservation Reserve Program during the latest sign-up period.

That puts more than 1,127,000 acres of Texas farmland into the program, which evolved from the 1985 farm bill as an effort to curb erosion losses on fragile farmland and at the same time reduce the production of already surplus crops. Deaf Smith County producers placed approximately 55,000 acres into the program.

Nationwide, 8,920,889 acres are now enrolled in the CRP. Some 45 million acres are targeted for the program over a five-year sign-up period, with 11.5 million of those being in Texas.

To participate in the CRP, a farmer or landowner must first determine if his land is highly erodible as classified by the Soil Conservation Service. Then he must submit a bid to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service on the amount of payment he feels is justified based on the land's production history.

The maximum bid price on land accepted into the CRP has varied across Texas, ranging from $40 per acre on the High Plains to $55 per acre in the Rio Grande Valley. During the most recent sign-up period, the average acceptable bid for Texas was $29.53 per acre.

Land accepted into the program must be kept out of production for 10 years and must be planted to grass or trees to control wind and water erosion. Costs of establishing conservation measure are split 50-50 with the government.

Additional rules are now being proposed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture relating to the management of highly erodible lands and wetlands and to conservation compliance that ties conservation efforts to commodity programs.

This means that farmers cultivating highly erodible land or converting wetlands and not complying with locally approved conservation plans would be denied commodity program benefits such as price and income supports, disaster payments, crop insurance and related payments. In addition, cost-sharing funds for conservation practices would not be allowed on lands in violation.

Since these provisions have far-reaching implications, farmers and landowners are encouraged to submit comments to the Director of Cotton, Grain and Rice Support Division, USDA/ASCS, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20013, no later than Oct. 25.

Water hearing set Tuesday

The Texas Water Commission and the Texas Water Development Board have scheduled a joint public hearing concerning the preliminary delineation of critical groundwater areas to be held in Amarillo on Tuesday, Oct. 14 at 7 p.m. in the Texas A&M Research Center, 6500 Amarillo Blvd. West.

The hearing will be informal and prepared testimony is not necessary. Anyone wishing to ask questions or comment may speak.

Beef For Girlstown

Marn Tyler, left, local CowBelles representative, recently accepted a donation of a steer for Girlstown from Dave Hopper, right, manager of Champion Feeders in Hereford. The 1,300-lb. steer will help feed the 51 residents of Girlstown, in Whiteface, through the CowBelles' "Beef for Girlstown" program.

CowBelles accept donation of beef for Girlstown

Hereford CowBelles have accepted the donation of a 1,300-lb. steer from Dave Hopper, manager of Champion Feeders, to be used in the "Beef for Girlstown" campaign.

Marn Tyler, chairman of the local campaign, said the Bradford Trucking of Hereford also volunteered to haul the steer to Palo Duro Meats in Amarillo for slaughter. Texas State Technical Institute will have the meat department process and wrap the beef for Girlstown, in Whiteface near Lubbock.

Tyler has been the local chairman since 1974 for the beef donation program. That year, the residents went 65 days without beef due to a lack of donations.

This summer also has been one of the roughest years, according to Marshall Cooper, executive director of Girlstown. Factors include slumps in oil and agriculture industries, Cooper says.

Several girls from Hereford have lived at Girlstown, Tyler said, thus sparking interest by the local CowBelles chapter.

Tyler said Girlstown can use about a beef a month currently with residency of 51 girls.

Individuals or clubs wishing to donate a steer on the hoof, or to make arrangements for a cash gift may contact Tyler at 364-0153.

WHO'LL STAND UP FOR US?

Whose interest is our Congressman Larry Combest looking after?

Did you know that 86% of the farmers voting in his district voted for mandatory production controls on wheat? Our congressman said the vote was not important. Did you know that our congressman has made very little effort to keep nuclear waste out of his district? It is no surprise that the D.O.E. keeps pushing a repository in Deaf Smith County.

Did you know that the unemployment rate is 12% for Deaf Smith County? A prosperous agriculture generates business and jobs, and yet our congressman voted 8 times last year to lower grain and cotton prices!

Gerald McCathern will look out for our interest in Washington. Gerald McCathern knows and understands the needs of the people concerning agriculture, business and jobs.

Just as importantly, Gerald's not afraid to speak out. As readers of his three books and his "Agriculture Watchdog" newsletter will attest, Gerald McCathern understands what's happening to our area and the rest of rural America and few people are more persuasive!

The 19th District needs a tough, informed representative in Congress while there are still people left in the 19th District to represent!

GERALD MCCATHERN NEEDS YOUR VOTE ON NOVEMBER 4th!!!!!!

MRS. JEFFREY PAUL HAZELRIGG
...nee Anna Marie Boyle

Former Hereford resident weds Saturday

In candlelight wedding ceremony, Anna Marie Boyle of Irving and former Hereford resident, Jeffrey Paul Hazelrigg, also of Irving, recited marriage vows Saturday afternoon in Ridgela United Methodist Church in Fort Worth.

The ceremony was officiated by David W. Adkins of Ridgela United Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Bonita Boyle of Washington, N.C. and Ronald F. Boyle of Fort Worth. The bridegroom's parents are former residents, Mr. and Mrs. Truman Hazelrigg of Comanche.

The church altar was decorated by two brass candelabra accented by greenery and white bows, a unity candle trimmed with fresh flowers, and green palm trees. The bride was escorted down the main aisle covered with a white runner. Bows marked the family pews.

Marla Koontz of Lenoir, N.C. served as maid of honor and best man was Terry Lease of Dallas.

Bridesmaids were Joni Schilhab of Angleton, Texas, Linda Neelley of Colleyville, Texas, Martha Ellison of Sikeston, Mo. and Adrienne Lewis of Burlington, N.C.

Serving as groomsmen were the groom's brothers, Steve and Tom Hazelrigg, both of Waco; the bride's brother, Ronald Boyle III of Fort Worth; and Brent Weisenborn of Kansas City, Mo.

Guests were escorted by Dawson Clark of Temple and Craig Farrelly of Memphis, Tenn.

Jennifer Lynn Hazelrigg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hazelrigg of Waco, was flower girl.

Beth Owen of Hereford vocalized "The Lord's Prayer" and "Nobody Loves Me Like You Do" accompanied by organist, Mrs. Don Staton, and pianist, Karen Staton, both of Fort Worth.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride chose to wear a formal bridal gown of white silk taffeta and French alencon lace. It featured a fitted basque waistline and the bodice was adorned with beaded French alencon lace.

The boat neckline and waist were finished with a braid of pearls and the full, puffed sleeves came to the elbows. The full silk taffeta skirt was designed with appliques of Alencon lace and swept into a cathedral-length train.

In her hair, the bride wore a wreath of white rosebuds and lily-of-the-valley. Her fingertip illusion veil was accented with white satin ribbons.

The bride carried a cascading bouquet of white gladiolus and white roses adorned with baby's breath.

Bridal attendants were attired in floor-length, sleeveless sapphire blue iridescent taffeta gowns fashioned with V-shaped necklines and deep V-shapes at the back outlined by ruffles. They carried cascading bouquets of dark blue carnations with white and mauve roses.

The groom's sister-in-law, Linda Hazelrigg of Waco, invited guests to the reception held in Lost Creek County Club in Fort Worth.

Sallie Hazelrigg of Waco, the groom's sister-in-law, served cake and Mona Greig of Fort Worth poured punch and coffee.

The three-tiered white bride's cake, with strawberry filling between layers, was decorated by fresh flowers. The round chocolate groom's cake was trimmed in beige icing with chocolate shavings sprinkled on top.

Leaving for a wedding trip to St. Maarten in the Caribbean, the bride wore a red and black floral print dress featuring a rounded black collar trimmed with black lace.

The couple will make their home at 800 Kinwest Parkway No. 60 in Irving, Texas.

The bride, a 1985 graduate of Baylor University, received a BBA degree in computer information systems and marketing. She is a member of Alpha Delta Phi Sorority and Delta Sigma Pi Business Fraternity. She is currently employed by Zale Corporation as a computer programmer.

The bridegroom is a 1984 graduate of Baylor with a BBA degree in accounting. He graduated from Baylor in 1985 with a master of taxation degree. He is a member of Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity and is currently employed as a tax consultant for Deloitte Haskins and Sells of Dallas. Special family members attending included the groom's grandfather, Jack Bailey; his grandmother, Mrs. Ross Hazelrigg; aunts and uncles, Mr. and Mrs. Al Pottorff and Mr. and Mrs. Randy Hazelrigg and children. Also, present were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F.B. Boyle; her mother, Bonita Boyle; and aunts and uncles, Armand Occhetti, Carol Baker and Mr. and Mrs. John Occhetti.

SUPER ENERGY SAVINGS FOR SUPERMARKET

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — On a clear day a Phoenix supermarket expects to cut daytime lighting energy requirements by nearly 90 percent with a rooftop daylighting system, according to Energy User News.

The system captures sunlight from 71 skylights and directs it down into the store, the publication reports. Each skylight is fitted with a four-foot-square foil-coated reflective panel and a "light duct" fitted on the bottom with a plastic lens diffuser.

The rooftop panel doors are motorized and are activated by a photocell that senses when the sun comes up each morning.

Sufficient vitamins found in balanced meals

Your body needs food for energy and for creating and repairing tissues. It also needs a variety of complex compounds that, like spark plugs in a car, provide neither fuel nor structural material but are essential for smooth running.

According to the Texas Medical Association, vitamins are such compounds. Although your body can manufacture some vitamins, notably vitamins D and K, most of these compounds come from the foods you eat.

Severe vitamin deficiency is uncommon in this country; when it does occur, it usually is due to prolonged faulty eating habits, alcoholism, gastrointestinal disorders, or long-term neglect. Vitamin deficiency diseases that were once quite common, such as scurvy or pellagra, seldom occur now because many foods are fortified with vitamins and nourishing foods are available year-round.

Slight vitamin deficiency is more widespread. Neglected, undernourished children or elderly people who often do not eat properly may not show symptoms of vitamin deficiencies, but they have few reserve stores of vitamins to help withstand the stresses of serious illness or injury.

The chances of having a deficiency in any one vitamin depend mainly on two factors. First, how available that vitamin is in your diet, and second, how effectively your body can store it. Luckily, most vitamins are present in many foods.

If you eat a varied diet of fresh food and expose your skin to plenty of sunlight to increase vitamin D reserves, you will probably provide all the vitamins your body requires, as long as there are not defects in your metabolism.

Vitamin pills may not harm you, but you are unlikely to need the extra-large doses of vitamins they provide and, in some cases, an especially high dose can be harmful. This is particularly true of vitamins the body can store efficiently, such as vitamins A and D.

In rare cases, in which lifestyle or unalterable habits establish a diet that is clearly deficient in vitamins, vitamin pills may be necessary. To avoid an overdose, consult a physician for advice before you begin taking any vitamin pills regularly.

Couple united in marriage

First Baptist Church was elegantly decorated for the marriage of Lisa Drake and Chip Formby Saturday afternoon with Dr. Ron Cook, pastor, officiating.

Parents of the bride are Lee and Betty Drake of 127 Juniper and the bridegroom's parents are Clint and Margaret Formby of 408 Sunset Drive.

The choir loft was flanked by 12 foot ficus trees, entwined with delicate miniature white lights, and two palm trees were placed on either side of a white cross arranged in front of the baptistry. Palm trees were also set in front of the cross and on each side of the choir loft. Further enhancing the romantic setting were two bouquets of calla lilies and palm trees placed across the front of the church.

The registry tables and pews were accented with royal blue ribbons and English ivy designed by the bride's aunt, Mrs. John Drake.

Karen Drake served her sister as maid of honor and best man was Eric Fowler.

Bridesmaids were Mary Koozer, Mrs. K.C. Nix of Austin and Mrs. Gary Whitfill.

Groomsmen were Dale Kleuskens, the brother of the groom, Scott Formby of New York City, N.Y., and Bob Moore of Dallas. Wedding guests were escorted by Wendall Albracht of Dallas, Marty Means of Bonhom, Steve Swain of Lubbock and Rick Lee.

Jessica Moore, daughter of Bob and Debbie Moore of Dallas, was flower girl and Bryan Hysinger, son of Steve and Becky Hysinger, was ring bearer.

Guitarists and vocalists, Bobby Saied and Mathew McClarty, both of Lubbock, performed musical wedding selections including "Devoted To You" and "Easy Chair". Other instrumentalists featured were Blake Allen, playing the cello; Susan Allen, violin; and Shelly Anderson, piano.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white bridal-length gown of matte taffeta fashioned with a sweetheart neckline edged in imported silk Venice lace, adorned with seed pearls and irridescent, and Victorian puff sleeves accented with Venice lace appliques.

The fitted princess-line bodice dipped to a deep V-shape at the gown's front and back and the full circular skirt of taffeta was adorned by a hemline edged in silk Venice lace forming a cathedral-length train.

The fingertip veil with a blusher of imported bridal illusion was attached to a satin tierra encrusted with seed pearls and irridescent.

The bride carried a hand-tied bouquet of white calla lilies and lemon leaf accented by white ribbon.

Her jewelry consisted of a strand of pearls and matching earrings which were given to her by the groom; a gold bracelet given to the bride as a gift from her grandmother who received it on her 16th birthday and a sterling bell attached to a blue garter worn by her mother when she married.

Bridal attendants were attired in tea-length royal blue taffeta dresses designed with scooped necklines and Victorian puffed sleeves. The fitted bodices connected to natural waistlines which gathered at the sides. Each wore matching royal blue pumps. They carried hand-tied white calla lilies and lemon leaf with white ribbon.

Traditional rice bags made of white net and royal blue ribbon were distributed to wedding guests by Heather and Larissa Kleuskens, daughters of Dale and Tonya Kleuskens.

Presiding at the registry table at the reception in the Hereford Country Club were Jana Green of Wichita Kans., and the bride's cousin, Whitney Drake of Lubbock.

The bride's cake was served by Mrs. Robert Higgins of Denver City and Mrs. Steve Bigham. The groom's cake was served by Carolyn Andrews and Leslie Brush. Punch and coffee were poured by Mrs. Mark Armstrong of Norman, Okla. and Mrs. Mark Drake of Amarillo, the bride's sister-in-law.

The bride's table was draped with a white cloth with a white eyelet skirt edged with royal blue taffeta with the wedding cake as the focal point. White lilies-of-the-valley were attached to the crystal pillars dividing the four-tiered white cake which was embellished with white cherubs and roses. Topping the cake was a porcelain calla lily. Baby's breath and forget-me-nots encircled the cake's base.

The cake was situated between the punch table and groom's table which were decorated identical to the bride's table. Silver appointments were used to serve coffee, punch and mints. The groom's table held the traditional German chocolate cake.

Both cakes were made by the bride's great-aunt, Mrs. Albert Schulte of Raton, N.M. and were presented to the bridal couple as wedding gifts.

Family bibles belonging to the Formbys and Drakes were situated on brass music stands on either side of the bride's table.

A dance, hosted by the groom's parents, was held following the reception at the Country Club. The couple opened the event with the traditional waltz. Music was provided by the Econolines of Dallas, friends of the bridal couple.

The couple will make their home in Hereford following a wedding trip to Jamaica.

The bride, a 1979 graduate of Hereford High School, attended Texas Tech University where she was a member of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority. She graduated from Northwest Texas Hospital School of Nursing and is currently employed as a registered nurse at Deaf Smith General Hospital.

The bridegroom, a 1971 graduate of Hereford High School, attended Texas Tech where he was a member of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity. He graduated from Tech with a bachelor's degree in business administration and is presently employed by KPAN Radio Station.

Recognized as special guests were the bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. W.H. McLaine of LaJara,

Workshop scheduled in Amarillo

A workshop "Pastoral Care and Domestic Violence" will be held Oct. 30, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church, 1100 S. Harrison in Amarillo.

It is co-sponsored by the Samaritan Counseling Center and the Rape Crisis/Domestic Violence Center of Amarillo.

The registration fee is $20 which includes lunch.

The workshop theme is the "Role of the Church in Identifying, Intervening and Caring for Victims." Goals are to provide a basic knowledge and understanding of the dynamics of domestic violence, provide a community resource list for help, and identify counseling needs.

The workshop is open to anyone interested. For further information and/or registration call 353-1668.

Retreat set Oct. 17-19

A weekend retreat for separated, divorced and widowed individuals is slated for Oct. 17-19 at the Bishop DeFalco Retreat Center.

The retreat will begin at 7 p.m. Oct. 17 and close at 4 p.m. Oct. 19. It is open to people of all denominations. The cost, including tuition, room and meals, is $55 per person.

CARD OF THANKS

We want to thank each person who showed compassion and love to Floyd, to me and our families, during the time of his sickness and passing.

Thank you for all the many prayers, the cards, flowers and plants, food, memorial money and each act of kindness and help.

Very special thanks to my neighbor, Jane Rucker, who gave untiring physical help, morale and spiritual support throughout all this time.

Also, special thanks to Pastor Dorman Duggan, to the musicians, the pallbearers, the people who furnished the dinner, and the ladies who served. You were all a blessing to us.

Annual Fall Festival scheduled Oct. 31

The annual Fall Festival of First Christian Church will be held Friday, Oct. 31, and will include day-long activities.

Among highlights of the festival are the General Store, lunch and supper prepared by church members, and booths and games Halloween evening.

Festival activities get underway with the opening of the General Store at 9 a.m. Featured items on sale at the General Store include handmade arts and crafts, Christmas decorations and gifts, baskets, cookies, pies, bread and other homemade food items, and a special collection of items for the mens' corner.

The General store is located in the Fellowship Court area of the church and this year's store is chaired by Susan Barrett.

Coffee, spiced tea, cookies and rolls will be served to General Store customers throughout the day.

Two Mexican food meals highlight the noontime and evening kitchen events of the Festival.

Pam and Susan Perrin are co-chairing the kitchen committee which will be turning out fajita dishes.

Lunch hours are 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and supper hours are 5 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Meals will include beef or chicken fajitas, beans and salad. Cost is $3 for a single fajita meal and $6 for a two fajita meal. Carry-out orders will be available by calling the church by 11:30 a.m. for lunch and 5:30 p.m. for supper.

A variety of games and booths are planned for the annual Halloween evening festivities, designed to give a safe form of family-oriented recreation.

Halloween costumes and activities already planned for the Festival are sucker pull, prize maize, face painting, fishing pond, pumpkin painting, pillow fights and prize tosses.

Connie and Steve Gilbert are chairing games and booths for the Festival.

Cristy Wright is general chairman of this year's festival.

Proceeds from the annual event will be used for improvements to the kitchen area of First Christian Church.

MR. AND MRS. FRANK LYONS

Wedding conducted recently in Hereford

Wedding vows were exchanged by Helen McKinzie and Frank Lyons on Sept. 27, in First Presbyterian Church in Hereford with the Rev. Bruce Kochsmeier, pastor, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill McKinzie of 215 Cherokee and the bridegroom is the son of Joyce Lyons of 119 Douglas and Joe Lyons of Amarillo.

The church altar decorations included arrangements of flowers and pews were accented by pink bows as was the registry table.

Danielle Mulkey served as maid of honor and Brad Cloud was best man.

The bride's sisters, Mary McKinzie and Kathy Norman, were bridesmaids. Groomsmen were Brent Dones and the groom's brother, Steven Lyons.

Wedding guests were escorted by Brad Sanders and Jerry Baker.

Musical selections were performed by organist-pianist, Rusty Kieffer.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a bridal ivory ankle-length gown of taffeta overlaid with lace to the hip. It was fashioned with a square neckline edged with delicate lace trim, long lace sleeves and princess style waistline to the hip which was accented with a sash.

Bridesmaids were attired in teal-length rose colored dresses.

Kendra Billingsley invited guests to register at the reception held in the church.

Cake was served by Jan Pickens and punch and coffee were poured by Stacy Wagner. Other members of the houseparty included the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Julia and Andy Scott.

The main refreshment table was covered by a white lace cloth and decorated by a pink floral centerpiece. Also, enhancing table decorations were pink China serving pieces and silver belonging to Elizabeth Witherspoon.

The bride's three-tiered white columnade cake was delicately trimmed by pink flowers and green leaves. It was topped by a bridal bell encircled by white lace.

For her traveling ensemble, the bride wore a royal blue long sleeved sweater with a paisley print of blue, pink and yellow.

The bride is a senior at Hereford High School and is active in the drama department and choir. The bridegroom is a graduate of HHS.

Spinach

Spinach is exceptionally high in nutritional value. Starting in the 1920s, it received much publicity for its wealth of calcium and iron, along with vitamins A and C. But research has found spinach is also rich in oxalic acid, which prevents the calcium from being used by the body.

POLLY'S POINTERS

How to keep child from choking

By Polly Fisher

DEAR POLLY — Which foods are most likely to cause choking in a small child? — NANCY

DEAR NANCY — According to a Johns Hopkins University study, the following foods have caused the most incidents of fatal choking: hot dogs and sausages, round candy, peanuts and other nuts, grapes, hard cookies and biscuits, meat chunks or slices, raw carrot slices or sticks, peanut butter, apple chunks or slices, and popcorn. You should avoid feeding babies and toddlers such foods. In some cases, the foods can be processed to eliminate the choking risk. For example, apples can be chopped into very small pieces.

Other precautions you should take to prevent choking:

Never allow a baby to play with small items such as buttons, marbles, small coins and similar items.

Check toys for hazardous small items that can become dislodged and choke a child, particularly items such as the eyes on stuffed animals. Observe age guidelines on toys and never give a toy with small pieces to a baby or toddler.

Supervise your baby or toddler as he or she eats. Never allow a child to run, walk or play while eating.

Contact your local Red Cross about taking classes in first aid and CPR (cardio-pulmonary resuscitation).

I'm sending you a copy of my newsletter, "Childproofing Your Home," which describes choking precautions as well as other safety measures around the home, including first aid for poisoning, safety standards for baby furniture and equipment, and ways to make your home safe for a baby or toddler. Others who would like this issue should send $1 for each copy to POLLY'S POINTERS, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to include the title. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — When I start a new pattern of crochet, I make myself a leaflet. On page one I write directions for row one, on the second page I write directions for row two, etc. As each row is finished, I turn the page. I find this is much easier than following the small print in patterns. — MRS. L.A.

DEAR POLLY — I do a lot of sewing. When I use a knit material or any other stretchy material, I use up leftovers by cutting strips about 1 1/2 inches wide. I save these strips to tie up plants in the garden. This is so much better than string or twine, because of the stretch in the material (it doesn't damage the stems of the plants). It's also cheaper than buying plant ties. I roll them into a ball, to be used when needed. — ELIZABETH

DEAR POLLY — To cook fresh apples so that they won't be overly juicy, put them in a crock pot or slow cooker without any water. Cook until tender. They will be nice and thick after cooking, ready to freeze or make apple butter or apple sauce. — GLADYS

DEAR POLLY — Allow any sharp or blue cheese to dry in your refrigerator uncovered. When you make pasta and cheese dishes, and the cheese flavor is too weak, add about a teaspoon of this cheese to the sauce to enhance the flavor. — JOHN

DEAR JOHN — This is a good trick for perking up not only cheese-based sauces, but other bland sauces. It's also useful to remember when you want to make a cheese sauce with less cheese than usual to lower the cholesterol and fat content; the sharper cheese makes a much more flavorful sauce than just a milder cheese.

Thursday final day to register for semester

Application deadline is Thursday for the spring 1987 semester of the Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center School of Nursing.

The school will be accepting licensed vocational nurses (LVN) only for this semester.

The School of Nursing offers a bachelor of science in nursing degree. The school's Lubbock campus accepts registered nurses (RN), licensed vocational nurses and students with no previous nursing education. RNs and LVNs may be admitted to the program with credit for previous nursing education.

The School of Nursing's Permian Basin campus accepts applications from RNs only for admission in June of each year. For additional information about the Permian Basin program, contact Ella Herriage, assistant dean at (915)335-5150.

For more information about the Lubbock campus and the application process, contact the School of Nursing Student Services Office at (806)743-2737.

West welcomed as guest by auxiliary

Earline West of Dimmitt was welcomed as a guest when members of the Hospital Auxiliary Board met Monday in the conference room of Deaf Smith General Hospital.

Sadie Shaw reported 245 1/2 hours served during September and Lupe Cerda and Shaw will order pins for members to be presented at the Christmas supper.

Jim Bullard spoke briefly to the group expressing his appreciation for the work auxiliary members have done for the hospital.

Care Bears will be stuffed and bottoms sewed on Tuesday, Oct. 21, in the conference room.

Members reporting on the recent district meeting held in Lubbock included Irene Reinart, Theda Sievers, Olga Harris and Bonnie Sublett.

It was announced that a bake sale will be held in November for auxiliary members and hospital staff.

It was decided that the auxiliary will assist with the Health Fair Tuesday at the Hereford Community Center.

Those present included Ann Stindt, Bea Hutson, Sublett, Grace Covington, Helen Brown, Jane White, Harris, Nell Culpepper, Sievers, Reinart, Baxter London, Shaw, Cerda and Mary Lou Spinhirne.

The next meeting was planned Nov. 3 in the hospital conference room.

Extension homemakers to sponsor poster contest

"Health-Catch the Wave" will be the theme for the poster contest being sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Extension Homemakers. Youth from kindergarten thru Seniors will be eligible for cash prizes for submitting the best poster in one of three age divisions: K-3rd grade; 4th-6th; 7th and up. Posters should be submitted on regular poster board and should reflect the theme.

Posters should have the students name, address, phone number and school on the back of the poster. Posters are due October 10th, and may be turned in to the County Extension Office. Winners will be notified and awards will be presented at 4:00 in the afternoon on Tuesday, October 14 at the Health Fair.

If more information is needed call the County Extension office at 364-3573.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion, handicap, or national origin.

MICHELLE EDER, SHAWN WYLY

Couple to wed

Michelle Eder of Canyon and former Hereford resident, Shawn Wylly, also of Canyon, are to be married Nov. 7 in First Baptist Church of Canyon.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Earl and Linda Eder of Ruidoso, N.M. and the prospective bridegroom is the son of Duane and Mary Wylly of Route 1, Canyon.

Miss Eder is a 1982 graduate of Canyon High School and is employed as a bookkeeper at General Office Supply of Amarillo.

Wylly lived in Hereford from 1971 until 1981 and is also a 1982 graduate of Canyon High School. He is currently employed by Southwestern Public Service in Amarillo.

Information being sought

The Hereford High School graduating class of 1937 has scheduled its 50th reunion in May of 1987.

All former students have been located with the exception of C.V. McCord, Rowena O'Dell and Sybil Weckesser.

Anyone having any information on the former students is asked to contact Gladys Willoughby at 364-3769 or write to her at 146 Hickory, Hereford, Texas.

Theodore Roosevelt was America's first president to fly in an airplane. The event took place in 1910, more than a year after he had left the presidency.

Attention!! Friends Of The Library Book Sale!!!

The Deaf Smith County Friends of the Library will be having their annual book sale extravaganza in the Bi-Centennial Room of the Library, 211 E. 4th, on Oct. 17-19.

Oct. 17 from 6-8 p.m., there will be a pre-sale for members of the Friends who would like to get first choice at the books. If you are not a member of the Friends and would like to get first choice at the books, you may come into the library and join the Friends. Membership is $2 per year per person and $5 per family.

On Oct. 18, Saturday, the Book Sale will be held from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.; and then on Oct. 19 from 2 p.m. - 6 p.m. Over the past year, the Friends of the Library have collected numerous boxes of books that will be on sale including bestsellers, paperback books and non-fiction. The books will be priced from 10 cents for paperbacks to 25 cents and 50 cents for hardback books.

All the proceeds from the Book Sale will go toward paying the rental fees for family films that are shown each month at the Deaf Smith County Library, the third Thursday of each month. The films are G-rated family films and are free of charge and open to the public.

Last year over $400 was collected from the book sale and the money was used for film rentals and $150 was allocated for the purchase of talking books.

Serving as president of the Friends of the Library is Mrs. Helen Nelson; secretary, Beth Burran; and treasurer, Carmen Angel. Other board members include Joy Stagner, Bob Wear, Jeannette Ramey, Dr. I.M. Atkins, and Mildred Fuhrmann.

If you have any books you wish to donate or any questions concerning the Book Sale, please feel free to call the library at 364-1206.

Library events:

10 a.m. - Thursday morning - preschool public story hour.

7 p.m. - Thursday evening - Family Film sponsored by the Friends of the Library. It is free and open to the public. The name of the family film is "Legent of Sleepy Hollow."

FAREWELL TO FAREWELL PARTIES
NEW YORK (AP) — One of the effects of the fears of terrorism toward travelers is the end of the gala bonvoyage party on ship cruise lines, reports Travel Agent magazine.

Security requirements at passenger terminals are blamed for the fading out of the old tradition, as many ship lines no longer permit visitors aboard vessels in port.

Cruise lines now install metal detectors and X-ray machines through which passengers must pass and friends and relatives must see each other off — from the dock.

DANA ELIZABETH HENRY

Wedding date set

Former Hereford resident, Dana Elizabeth Henry of Denver, Colo., and John Stuart Merten, also of Denver, plan to exchange nuptials Nov. 29 in Denver.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Joe and Lajeane Henry of 189 Pecan St. and the prospective bridegroom is the son of Robert and Karol Merten of Lakewood, Colo.

Miss Henry, a 1977 Hereford High School graduate, is employed for Frontier Airlines in Denver.

Merten, a 1977 graduate of Lakewood High School in Denver, is attending the University of Denver studying the M.B.A. program. He is expected to graduate in June of 1987.

Student exhibition continues

Sixteen students are exhibiting their work in the second annual Texas Tech University Graduate Student Art Exhibition which continues through Oct. 30 in the Fine Arts Gallery of the Art Building.

Works reflect various studio majors in the master of fine arts program, including painting, drawing, printmaking, photography, ceramics and sculpture.

Works for the exhibit were selected by Gary Edson, director of The Museum of Texas Tech University and former chairman of the Art Department.

Asteroids have become objects of increased interest over the past decade, partly because they are relatively primitive bodies carrying clues to the formation and evolution of the solar system.

Bridal shower held recently for Weemes

A bridal shower was held recently at the E.B. Black House for Carla Weemes, bride-elect of Bruce Bradsher. The couple plan to exchange wedding vows Nov. 8.

Parents of the honoree are Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Weemes of Hereford and the prospective bridegroom's mother is Thelma Bradsher of Dawn.

An arrangement of fresh ivy and light blue and royal blue flowers, a gift for the hostesses, centered the refreshment table. Punch and a variety of cookies were served to guests.

Annette Echevarria presided over the registry book.

Serving as hostesses were Helen Arntt, Laura Schlabs, Nita Lea, Randy Hamilton, Doris George, Janice Bell, Wanda Spain, R.C. LaFuente, Carla Phipps, Betty Drake, Peggy Fitzgerald, Claudia Smith, Mary Bell, Jean Watts, Mary Hamby and Karen McPherson.

Bride-Elect Honored

Carla Weemes, bride-elect of Bruce Bradsher, was feted with a bridal shower recently at the E.B. Black House. Greeting guests with the honoree were, from left, her grandmother, Mrs. Carl Carter; her mother, Mrs. Tommie Weemes; and the mother of the prospective bridegroom, Thelma Bradsher.

Calliopian members hear book review

Amy Gililand reviewed the book, "Enter Laughing," when members of Calliopian Study Club met Thursday in the home of Mary Sue Hull with Jane Gulley serving as co-hostess.

The book was written by Joan Rivers with the assistance of Richard Meryman. It is the story of River's obsessed childhood and apprentice years, her battle against doubting parents, sleazy agents, and hostile audiences in tawdy night clubs.

Gililand said, "Can She talk! This is the bitter and bizarre struggle, the desperate hilarity and the deep pain and anger that created one of the world's foremost comedians."

In keeping with the program for the year "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow's Women", it was suggested to the group that they read this book by Meryman who spent 23 years working for Life Magazine and has written a variety of books including his most recent, "Broken Promises, Mended Dreams."

Kathryn Ruga, president, called the meeting to order and the minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Ruga reported that the club history for 50 years from 1930 until 1980 was prepared and buried in the sesquicentennial capsule Oct. 3.

Claudia McBrayer sent a list of items needed by the elderly and disabled. Many gifts were brought by individuals and were taken by Gililand to be delivered.

Members in attendance included Mary E. Fraser, Jan Furr, Gililand, Jane Gulley, Faye Holt, Cherry McWhorter, Kay McWhorter, Wilma Nobles, Ruga and Vera Threewit.

Argen Draper reviews book for study club

Argen Draper presented a book review when members of La Madre Mia Study Club met Thursday evening in the home of Mary Beth White and Carolyn Baxter serving as co-hostess.

During her review of the book, "Cannon Bay At the Alamo" by Lee Templeton, an attorney from Wellington, Mrs. Draper stated that Billy King, a young 15-year-old soldier, joined the battle of the Alamo. The true story tells of the adventures of Billy, his dog Comanche, and his horse Alexander. King lost his life fighting for Texas.

Mrs. Daper also gave a brief talk on the history of Texas and why citizens should be proud of the state.

During the business meeting with President Lucy Rogers presiding, it was announced that the next meeting has been planned Oct. 23 in the home of Beverly Lambert. The program will be given by a guest speaker from Amarillo.

Also, the club's annual Home Tour, which is set for Dec. 7 was discussed.

Roll call was answered with "I'm a descendant of..." by those present.

Dancers preserve Czech heritage

Tommie Savage, from left, placed an honorable mention at the Bud to Blossom Horticulture Show held this week. Wilma Bryant, second from left, was chairman hosting the event, Mildred Furhmann and Naoma Spann (not pictured) tied for third, and Patricia Robinson won all-around ribbons for her hanging exhibit. Jane White, also not pictured, placed second in the show.

WEST, Texas (AP) — Maggi Grmela was born in West, but the first words she spoke were Czechoslovakian.

"I was taught the Czech language first, and I still speak it fluently," said the director of the Czech Folk Dancers of West. "My husband and I are both 100 percent Czech."

Mrs. Grmela is proud of her heritage and hopes her two children will marry Czechoslovakians.

"It would be nice if they keep it in the family," she said.

Mrs. Grmela has not visited her ancestral homeland, but she hopes to next year. The dance group has been invited to stay and perform in the Communist country for two weeks next July. Except for air fare, all expenses will be paid for them, she said.

The invitation came about after a cousin of Mrs. Grmela's visited Czechoslovakia this summer and met the coordinator of festivals. Mrs. Grmela said the trip would fulfill a dream and help the group to carry on tradition.

"It gives you a good feeling to keep up with your heritage," she said. "It is a good thing to know where you came from and who you are."

According to Mrs. Grmela, about 75 percent of West's residents are of Czechoslovakian descent. She said the language is the third most spoken language in Texas.

To help preserve the city's heritage, Mrs. Grmela and her husband started the city's only Czechoslovakian dance group about 11 years ago. They had participated in one in Abbott.

The group consists of 21 people who range in age from 13 to 60. Members travel about once a month to festivals throughout the state and sometimes Oklahoma, usually from March through October. They practice once a week.

Mrs. Grmela said she has no problem getting people interested in the group — young or old — and usually has a waiting list.

"I think it is because of the type of dancing we do," she said. "It is fast and exciting. And everybody in West dances. We have dances every weekend and people waltz and polka."

New members usually are admitted in January. It is too difficult to teach new dance steps in mid-year, she said. The group choreographs its own performances, which usually last 30 to 45 minutes and include eight dances.

One dance the group performs is a tribute to the first Czechs who entered Texas. It is a big hit with audiences.

"Dancing was something I grew up with," she said. "I always loved it. I always thought it would be the neatest thing to dance in a group of some sort."

Dancing also keeps her in shape, she says.

"You don't need aerobics if you do what we do," she said. "It's one of the best exercises I know. There is no air conditioning in the high school where we practice. By the time we are through — whew."

Mrs. Grmela, with the help of employees at her fabric shop on Main Street, sews native costumes. Some have been sold to groups as far away as Nebraska.

Some of the embroidered braids sewn on the costumes were purchased by friends when they visit Europe. Domestic designs are chosen to match the original versions as closely as possible.

Women's costumes are marked by full skirts, white blouses with full sleeves and a vest. If women are married, they wear caps. Single women wear wreaths of flowers. Men wear dark pants, vests, black boots and embroidered shirts.

Mrs. Grmela says the more color in a costume, the better. Czechoslovakians can determine which village a dancer is from by a certain ribbon or color used in the performer's dress, she said.

Despite her pride in her Czech heritage, Mrs. Grmela says she is 100 percent Texan.

"I was born an American, so I consider myself double lucky," she said.

Officials, authorities to be honored during banquet

The Leadership Appreciation Banquet to honor local government officials and authorities is set for 7 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 18, in the banquet room of the Hereford Community Center.

The public is invited to attend the event which is being sponsored by the Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship. Tickets are priced at $8 per person for the dinner to be catered by Savage's Hickory Pit.

For those interested in attending the banquet call Richard Schlaubs at 364-1281. Tickets are limited.

Guest speaker will be Sir Lionel Luckhoo, a noted speaker, who has addressed the House of Commons, London, England; Parliament in New Zealand; and heads of state and governments throughout the world.

He has been honored four times by the Queen of England and has been knighted twice. He is the only person to hold the rank of ambassador for two countries simultaneously.

Sir Luckhoo has served his homeland, Guyana, as high commissioner of London, Paris, Bonn and the Hague; as well as Justice to the Supreme Court and mayor of Georgetown for four terms of office.

Sir Luckhoo was attorney to the late "Reverend Jim Jones" and narrowly missed the massacre of 900.

He blends historical and Biblical truths resulting in significant contributions to the understanding of creation and salvation.

Arts, crafts bazaar set in Dimmitt

The Dimmitt Young Homemakers annual Arts and Crafts Bazaar has been scheduled for Dec. 6 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Expo building in Dimmitt.

Only 38 spaces will be available, and booth fees are $25 for single display and $40 for double occupancy. Two banquet-size tables (8x3 ft.) will be available for each exhibitor.

Set up will be the morning of the bazaar from 7:30 a.m. to 9 a.m. Booth locations will be determined on a first come first served basis that morning.

If you would like to reserve a booth space, contact Danice Wright, PO Box 6, Dimmitt, Tx. 79027. All reservations and entry fees must be received by Nov. 24.

Members make tour

Members of Toujours Amis Study Club recently toured the shop, Just Friends, in Amarillo where they were invited to browse. The store features furniture, country crafts, children's clothing and antiques.

Members were greeted with chips and dip, spiced cider, coffee and tea from the shop women who also served a light dinner of chicken salad, croissants, fresh pineapple and assorted pies for dessert.

Following the dinner, a short program was presented and a demonstration on stamps given. Various stamps were exhibited including those to be used on Christmas packages, stationary, name tags and recipe cards. All members were invited to try the stamps and a new method of embossed stamping.

Those attending were Patti Brown, Donna Tidmore, Kathy Carthel, Elaine McNutt, Marsha Winget, Becky Reinart, Shannon Hagar, Karen Keeling, Brenda Koenig, Lori Hall, Leisa Lewis, Debbie Donaldson, Charlotte Tyler, Pam Perrin, Trisha Workman, Cindy Black and Nanette Ashby.

Isley to speak at meeting

The Texas Association of Public Accountants will hold their monthly meeting Thursday, Oct. 16, at 6:30 P.M. in K-Bob's Restaurant, 3440 Bell Ave., Amarillo, Tx.

Melvin Isley, manager of the Amarillo Credit Association, will be the guest speaker. Isley has been with the Credit Association since 1961 and has been manager since 1976. He is also a director for the National Association and a member of The Veterans' Land Board of Potter County.

The meeting is open to members, their guests, and prospective members.

VA Information

Q - I understand that the VA provides a headstone for the grave of a deceased veteran at no charge. My husband recently died and was buried in a private cemetery. The cemetery has sent me a bill for $275. Is this correct?

A - The VA does provide a headstone or marker without charge. However, the cost of placing the marker in a private cemetery must be borne by the family.

Q - What is a Presidential Memorial Certificate?

A - A Presidential Memorial Certificate expresses the country's grateful recognition of an individual's service in the armed forces and bears the signature of the President. These certificates are made available to the next of kin of deceased eligible veterans or to persons who are on active military duty at time of death. Next of kin need not apply for a certificate. Relatives or friends are asked to make application at any VA regional office.

Tips for hand injuries

Hands are easy to take for granted, particularly if you have two that function normally. Injuries can change all that.

The Texas Medical Association says hand injuries account for a significant percentage of the disability in this country each year. Because the hand is highly complex, even seemingly minor injuries may cause significant problems and should receive attention.

TMA offers these suggestions for treating hand injuries:

-Cuts can cause serious bleeding, especially if a main artery in the wrist or fingers has been severed. The main concern is to stop the bleeding. Place a clean cloth or sterile gauze pad over the cut and apply firm, constant pressure for at least five minutes.

Bleeding from larger arteries may require continuous pressure until medical assistance is obtained. A tourniquet usually is not necessary and can cause further damage if not applied correctly. All deep cuts should receive medical attention to prevent permanent disability that could result from damaged tendons and nerves.

-Completely severed fingers or hands now can be reattached in many cases through microvascular surgery. The severed part should be sealed in a clean plastic bag and the bag placed in ice. (The ice must not directly touch the amputated part.) With proper care, severed fingers and hands have been repaired as long as 24 hours after the accident.

-Burns of the hand often are particularly disabling because of skin loss and the scars that may follow. The best initial treatment is to cool the wound. Burns to large areas of the hand should be immersed as soon as possible in cold tap water for 30 to 60 minutes. Smaller burns on the fingers or arms may be treated with ice packs.

Burns should never be covered initially with ointment, butter or petroleum jelly. Medical attention is needed for all but minor burns.

-Hand infections can spread rapidly and require treatment to prevent damage to delicate structures within the hand. Infections can result from even small cuts or punctures and from human bites. The lats can be particularly serious.

Infections also can arise for no apparent reason in the fingertips and beneath the fingernails. Signs of infection include redness, swelling, throbbing pain and pain to the touch.

NO BIZ LIKE SHOW MEETING BIZ
NEW YORK (AP) - Computer-operated projectors, quadrasonic sound, laser beams, film and live talent are among the ingredients used at business meetings to instill enthusiasm in the ranks of corporate sales personnel.

"Major business meetings provide either a peak experience or total disaster," says Leslie Buckland, president of Caribiner Inc., which prepares and implements such meetings.

At a meeting in Singapore of a major computer company, Buckland recalls, Caribiner staged an elaborate fashion show by Pucci, including integrated native talent and Broadway dancers who performed to live musical accompaniment.

The show was translated simultaneously into four languages.

MORE THAN JUST FOOD

NEW YORK (AP) - The nation has upwards of 155,000 supermarkets, where Americans buy most of their food - but non-food purchases account for more than 20 percent of total supermarket sales, according to a recent survey.

The leading growth categories are housewares and greeting cards.

A Flair for Design

Our design element under discussion today will be "Materials" and it is equally as diverse as color and light and equally as important. There are many aspects of material above and beyond the familiar one of matter—texture, color, elasticity, durability, and the physical laws to which they are obedient and the space in which they exist. Materials may be selected for their surface appearance alone, but they may also be chosen for their insulating, acoustical, or fireproof qualities, as well as for ease of maintenance. Materials change from period to period, and from place to place. New materials have been introduced in every generation together with new ways of using old materials. It is the new materials which give rise to new design in both interiors and furniture. Much of the success of the modern home is due to the interior designer's knowledge of materials and the technique of their use. Modern technology has made it possible to use long-established materials more conveniently, cheaply, or diversely. Come by 501 E. Park, or call 394-0870 for assistance with all your decorating or framing needs.

Discuss shows viewed on TV

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Sister Angela Zukowski at the University of Dayton wants families to talk among themselves about what they see on television.
 "There are many people who watch television who don't think about what they're watching," says Sister Zukowski, who heads the Catholic school's Center for Religious Telecommunication. "What scares a lot of people is that we really don't know what television does to us, and we probably won't know for another generation. By then, will it be too late?"
 Her booklet, "Family Channels for Growth" is part of a pilot project by the United States Catholic Conference Department of Communication to get families talking about what they're watching and whether it reflects their values, such as freedom, friendship, sharing or trust.

In 1568, the English army beat the forces of Mary Queen of Scots at Langside.

Biblical scoreboard released

WASHINGTON (AP) — Christian Voice, a right-wing group seeking election of religiously conservative candidates, has issued its 1986 "Candidates Biblical Scoreboard," rating 3,000 incumbents and challengers on religious-moral-family issues.
 Robert G. Grant, founder-president of the organization, said the scoreboard was the most comprehensive yet, with up to 8 million copies to be distributed to Jews and Christians

Health Fair to be educational

CPR, Comes in Handy

Donny Lauderback demonstrates the Heimlich maneuver on Donnie Pena, respiratory technician. This technique, along with other health tips, will be demonstrated by professionals at Health Fair '86. Paramedics will also be starting a new medical experience posts class to be held the first Thursday of each month for junior and senior high schoolers who are interested in medical professions. Health Fair '86 begins at 10 a.m. Oct. 14 to continue through 6 p.m. at the Community Center for those students interested in getting a head start.

"Health through knowledge" will be addressed at Health Fair '86 on Tuesday, October 14th from 10 A.M. until 6 P.M. at the Hereford Community Center.

Agencies concerned with issues facing citizens of the 80's and providing health through knowledge will be the Golden Plains Care Center with information on their facility and care provided. Their booth will also be a screening point for blood pressure. Deaf Smith General Hospital will be providing information on the Emergency Response Life Line program. These two information centers will emphasize care for the aging and those needing extra medical care.

Several agencies will address pregnancy and the care and caution needed during pregnancy. The adolescent pregnancy problem will also be addressed by numerous agencies.

Mental health will be an area of information presented by Hereford Family Services. The Deaf Smith County Chemical People will have an exhibit and information on drug abuse prevention among youth and the Palo Duro Care Unit No. 2 of Canyon will present information on their care facility for the alcoholic patient. Current statistics report that 1 in 9 adults are alcoholics and that 1 in 5 youth are alcoholics.

Meeting the safety challenge for our youth will be the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Office with a free finger printing offered to parents for their youth's identification.

Information, demonstration and free screenings will be featured at

KEEPING CASH COOL

LIVERMORE, Calif. (AP) — A branch of the Bank of America in this northern California community "banks" and stores ice made within its own energy system to provide its cooling needs, reports Energy User News. The integral refrigeration plant operates automatically, and the process results in a substantial savings in energy, according to the publication. Electronic time controls allow the plant to operate during off-peak and mid-peak hours of 6 p.m. to noon to manufacture a three-inch thickness of ice around coils through which chilled water is circulated and stored.

The chilled water is used to cool the 20,000 square feet of floor space during peak banking hours when there usually are more than 100 employees and customers in the building.

the Health Fair and will all be offered free of charge.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion, handicap, or national origin.

We read something a few days ago about the typical pork producer. While typical seems to designate too stringent a term, here are a few interesting statistics about the small and large operator. Most small operators work off the farm 200 or more days a year while only about a third of the large operators have off-farm employment. Small operators tend to buy a complete feed while large operators mix their own rations. Show pigs are important to both groups with half of the large operators selling show pigs and over 60% of small operators doing the same. Fifty-eight percent of the large producers and 49% of the smaller producers are producing 100 pounds of pork for less than $40. Market prices have averaged about $40 per hundred weight. Marketing techniques of both groups are amazingly similar.

Schools dispensing birth control

NEW YORK (AP) — News this week that two New York City high schools have been dispensing contraceptives to students since 1984 came as a shock to some, but the practice is not unheard of in the nation's schools.

Groups such as the Planned Parenthood Federation of America and the Center for Population Options estimate there are more than 60 school-based comprehensive health clinics, compared to about a dozen five years ago.

Only about a dozen of the clinics now in existence actually distribute contraceptives, and they almost always require parental consent. Many clinics have physicians who can prescribe birth control devices.

The oldest school-based clinic was opened in Dallas in 1968. Other cities having them include New Haven and Bridgeport, Conn., and St. Paul, Minn.

But while the idea of schools distributing birth control devices is not new, the reaction in New York City demonstrates it remains controversial.

The District of Columbia is planning to establish a comprehensive health care clinic in a high school that would discuss birth control but would stop short of dispensing contraceptives, according to Janis Cromer, a spokeswoman for the school system.

Last fall, Planned Parenthood suggested putting a clinic that would dispense contraceptives in a high school in Washington. But the proposal was never enacted because of opposition.

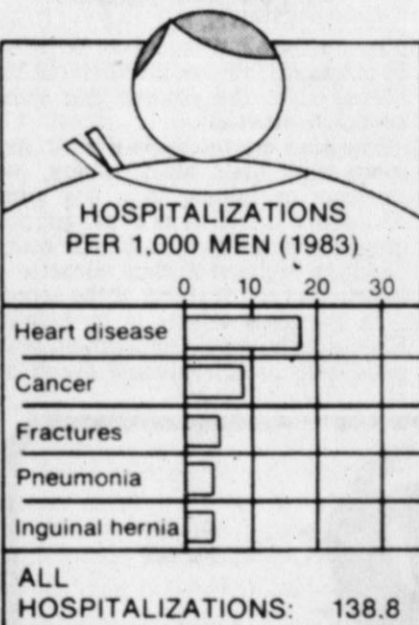

In July, San Diego's city council killed a proposal to establish a health clinic in a public school after months of bitter debate.

In a speech in April, U.S. Education Secretary William J. Bennett condemned the idea of schools operating birth control clinics as "an abdication of moral authority."

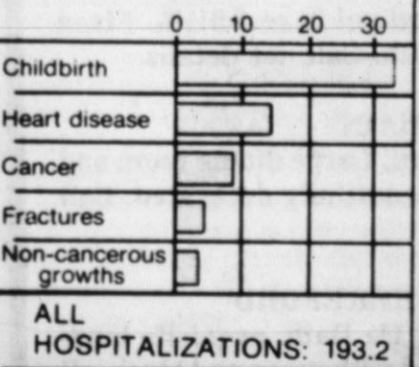

A year ago, a health clinic at Chicago's DuSable High School became the center of a citywide debate on the role of public schools in family planning.

We wanted electricity but nobody would serve. Then... Deaf Smith Electric Delivered!

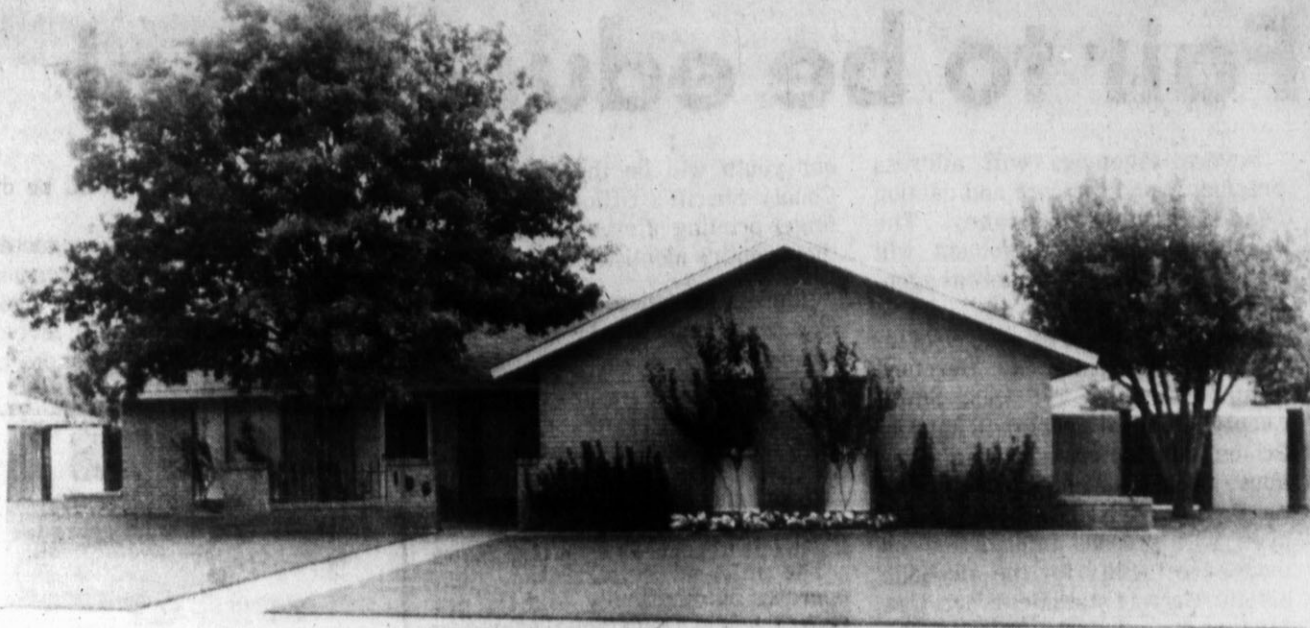

And believe me it was the brightest day of our lives. Our rural area was not considered profitable for electric service and we had to make-do the best way we could. Then Deaf Smith Electric delivered power to our place and our lives were transformed.

We own the system, we enjoy a marvelous electric service, and we share in $5½ million in capital credits. Deaf Smith was, is and will be the greatest friend possible for rural people.

Trailways Tours offering trip for senior citizens

Trailway Tours, Inc. is offering a trip to Florida for senior citizens from Dec. 28 through Jan. 8, 1987. For those on the tour, one of the highlights of the trip will be the Orange Bowl game.

According to Margie Daniels, director of the Hereford Senior Citizens Center, a $50 deposit is required at the time of registration and payment in full must be made by Nov. 23. For further information, contact Bessie Story at 364-2705 or Daniels at 364-5681.

The tour will include transportation aboard Trailways Eagle Motor Coach, lodging each night of the tour, admissions to Epco Center for two days, Silver Springs, Cypress Gardens, farewell banquet, baggage handling for one suitcase per person in and out of each hotel, and all planning and operational charges.

The tour will not include meals (unless specified), telephone calls, or Orange Bowl parade and football game tickets (these arrangements will be made by Daniels).

FRENCH DRAWINGS

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 100 French drawings dating from the 15th to the 18th century will be on view at the Metropolitan Museum of Art through Jan. 4, 1987.

The exhibition contains works by Nicolas Poussin, Antoine Watteau, Jean-Honore Fragonard, Francois Boucher and Charles Le Brun.

Art show continues in Amarillo

The Texas State Technical Institute Amateur Art Show and Sale continues through Oct. 17 at Tascosa National Bank in Amarillo.

More than 20 area artists are displaying 63 various works of art including oil paintings, watercolors, pastels, pen and ink drawings, wood sculptures, bronzes, boots and tole painting.

The show is open during banking hours Monday-Friday with the exception of Oct. 13 (Columbus Day celebration).

For additional information, contact Judy Neill at 335-2316 ext. 206.

general orders from the state office were read and filed for future reference. Bills were presented and paid.

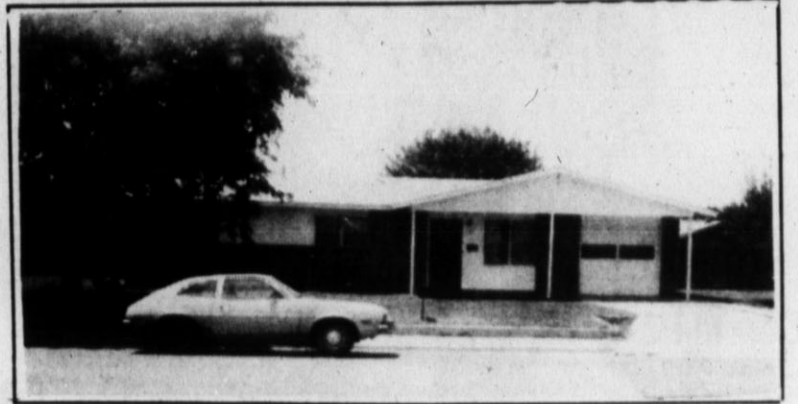

Secret pals were revealed with gifts and new secret pal names were drawn.

It was decided that the group would have an auction sale the first Saturday in December. There will be a variety of crafts for sale. This will be a good chance for inactive members to participate by making and donating crafts, quilts, afghans or any saleable item.

Members present were Helen Bishop, Betty Boggs, Martha Bridges, Leone Buckley, Maisie Heath, Ada Hollabaugh, Mary Lou Homer, Dora Lea Howell, Lillie Muller, Erma Murphey, Sadie Shaw, Ann Walker, Doris Wilson, Vickie Yocum and Marie Goheen.

The next meeting will be Monday night Oct. 20 at 8 p.m.

Number of women doctors increasing

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — The number of women physicians has increased by more than 20 percent since 1980 while the total number of physicians has risen only nine percent, reports Family Practice News.

According to the medical journal, the number and percentage of women physicians is expected to continue to grow until the end of the century, with women accounting for 21 percent of all physicians by the year 2000.

The journal noted that enrollment of women in medical schools increased from 11 percent in 1971-72 to about 31 percent in 1983-84.

In 1984-85, total enrollments in medical schools declined slightly for the first time in 37 years, but despite the slowdown in growth, the supply of physicians is at the highest level in history — with the growth rate of physicians more than double to that for the general population.

Auxiliary discusses events

Several upcoming events were discussed when members of the American Legion Auxiliary met Tuesday evening at the Legion Hall with President Beverly Jesko presiding.

Recreational parties were planned at King's Manor Retirement Home Oct. 9, and at the V.A. Hospital Oct. 13. Also, it was announced that a zone meeting will be held Oct. 16 in Tulia.

The next meeting will be a stew supper at 7 p.m. Nov. 4 at the Legion Hall for all members of the Legion and Auxiliary. Veterans are extended an invitation to attend.

Hostesses for the evening were Edwina Thomas and Pet Ott.

The Legion joined the Auxiliary for the program given by Ruth Knox who showed slides of 45 of the more than 540 species of birds common in Texas. She stated that the Buffalo Refuge and Lake Meredith are essential to the existence of these birds who come from the Mexican border and Canadian border.

Knox suggested planting certain flowers in backyards and gardens to attract birds. Among those include the purple martin, humming birds, blue jays love pecan trees, large sunflowers and approximately 79 other species that are grown in this area.

History of churches topic of program

Anyone with gifts for the Veteran's Hospital Christmas Gift Shop are asked to bring them to the November meeting. The shop will be open Dec. 7-9.

All units of the State Auxiliary were asked to choose a bird of Texas as the Unit bird. The meadowlark was selected for the Hereford Unit 192.

Delegates were chosen for the District Convention planned in November.

Bessie Hill presented a program on the history of churches when members of La Afllatus Estudio Club met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Louise Kinsey with Bea Hutson serving as co-hostess.

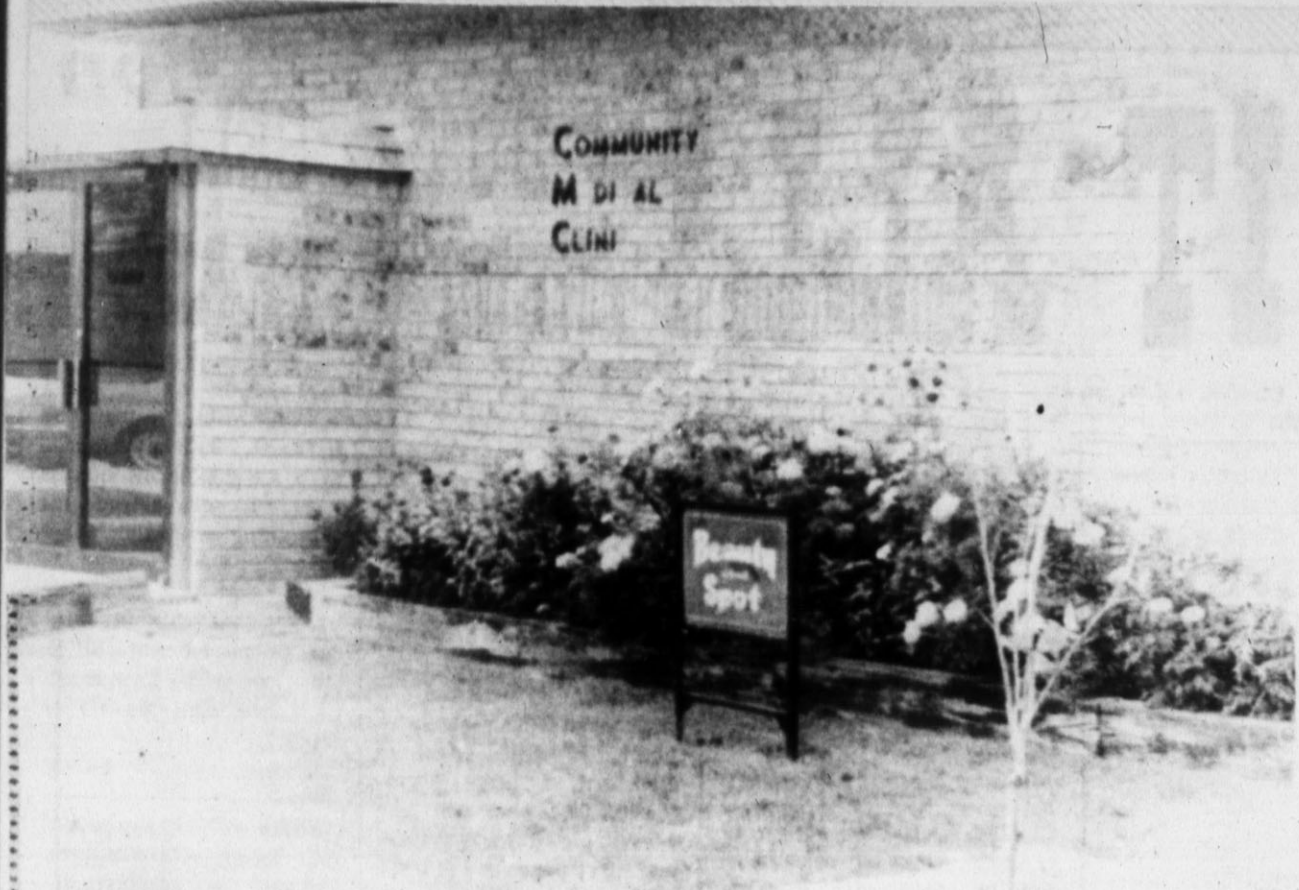

Mrs. Hill talked of the beginning of churches as a place to worship and the struggle the early people had to keep them intact.

Vice president Mary Williamson conducted a brief business meeting in the absence of the president, Jenny B. Terrell.

Following the theme of "Our Town, U.S.A.," the Oct. 21 meeting will be early agricultural related businesses in Hereford given by Ott. The meeting was in the home of Eva Gilliland with Della Stagner serving as co-hostess.

Others present at the meeting were Alberta Higgins, Opal Elliston, Teresa Hale, Lola Jewell, Lydia Hopson, Virginia Beasley, Emily Suggs and Aileen Montgomery.

Commercial Beauty Spot

The Women's Division Chamber of Commerce selected Dr. Tim Revell's Community Medical Clinic as the commercial beauty spot of the month. Revell had done some landscaping around the clinic before it opened.

Red Cross Update

A CPR class will begin Wednesday from 7 to 10:30 p.m. at the Red Cross office.

The last part of the class will be held Wednesday, Oct. 22, 7 to 10:30 p.m. at the Red Cross office. Call the office for further information.

We invite everyone to attend the Health Fair Tuesday at the Community Center. We will be demonstrating first aid, CPR and water safety practices.

The Board of Directors will meet Tuesday, Oct. 21, noon, at the Red Cross office.

American Red Cross disaster workers have been on the scene during the flooding in Texas and Oklahoma following heavy rains which have filled rivers and creek to overflowing. Reports indicate over 15,000 families have been affected in Oklahoma with a large number of these being in Tulsa and the northeastern part of the state. Ten feeding stations have been set up in the Tulsa area with 35 mobile feeding vans operating in the field to serve food to disaster victims and workers. All national disaster vans from Territory III, region 3 have been sent to Oklahoma. The Amarillo van went to Chickasha, the Lubbock van went to Tulsa and the van stationed with the Childress County Chapter reported to Tulsa.

Lloyd Luck, disaster volunteer from Childress, drove their van to Tulsa and is remaining to help with shelter operations and is presently in Grady County helping with damage survey, which is slow, due to inaccessible roads to flooded areas. Other personnel assigned from our area include Jan Bradfor of Altus, Oklahoma, Vickie Moose from Pampa, and two staff members from the Lubbock chapter. As the need arises other staff may be sent to assist with this vast relief effort.

The five Oklahoma counties in Territory III have not had major damage. Some livestock has been lost, damage to farmlands from water is evident and many roads have damage.

Eight states have been hit by rising waters, making it necessary for many families to leave their homes. Estimates indicate 32,785 families have been affected and probably more than 15,000 families will need Red cross assistance in Michigan, Illinois, Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas, Wisconsin and Arkansas. Red Cross expenditures estimate projected at this time is between five and six million dollars. Services include mass care to persons needing food and shelter, furnishing cleaning kits and other emergency needs. As families are able to return to their homes, Red Cross Family Service will assist further.

Contributions are being accepted for the flood relief efforts. Checks should be made out to flood relief and sent to our chapter-P.O. Box 1371-and will be forwarded to the Disaster Headquarters.

An advanced lifesaving class will be held in the Amarillo Community Center beginning Oct. 18. Call the Amarillo chapter or our chapter for further information.

Extra special thanks to all of the United Way Agency volunteers who are out working to raise funds for agencies in our community.

October designated as Holy Rosary month

According to Catholic tradition, October is designated as the month of the Holy Rosary and St. Anthony's Women's Organization celebrated the Feast of Our Lady of the Rosary with a Mass offered by Father Pat Walsh on Tuesday evening.

Ministers of the word were Connie Backus and Martha Paetzold, and Ann Lueb and Kathy Revell were ministers of music.

The business meeting was conducted by Pat Sinnacher in the Antonian Room. Plans were made to hold a Christmas holiday gift, candy and cookie sale at the hospitality Hour on Dec. 7.

Mrs. Sinnacher announced that the special events activity for the month of October would be a Halloween Hayride and Party for the Junior high group on Oct. 26.

In keeping with the theme of October, also being the Right to Life Month, the program stressed enrichment of life. Romilda Friemel, Amarillo Diocesan chairman of Family affairs, reported on the Pornography problem and enlisted anti-pornography campaign action of those in attendance.

Betty Henson from the local Red Cross chapter brought her mannequins and gave the program illustrating life saving techniques through a demonstration in which all participated.

The door prize was won by Sylvia Paetzold.

Refreshments were served to 26 members and four guests, Linda Briones, Mary Lou Homer, Edna Reinart and Rosemary Barrett.
