Survey grades violence on television

FARGO, N.D. (AP) - A slap across the face is violent, but not life-threatening. Amy Hendrickson gives it an "A."

Two men are shot. Deadly force gets "C's."

Hendrickson is one of 120 Concordia College students who volunteered to rate violence on television during a week's worth of prime-time programming as part of a study for a U.S. senator.

It is a revealing exercise.

"I thought, 'How many violent acts probably occur in half an hour? Oh, probably one, when somebody gets blown away,'" said Hendrickson, 20.

She is tuned in to a CBS made-for-television movie, "River of Rage." The heroine, played by Victoria Principal, is on a rafting trip with her boyfriend.

At the 20-minute mark, the rafters are set upon by a pack of drug-dealing desperados. The boyfriend and river guide are shot to death. The heroine is abducted, slapped around, then stalked through the desert by a bowhunter.

That's C, C, B, A, C.

By the end of the hour, Hendrickson has counted 15 acts of violence. She puts down her pencil.

"I didn't realize how much I overlooked," she said.

Concordia, across the state line from Fargo in Moorhead, Minn., is conducting the study for Sen. Byron Dorgan, D-N.D., sponsor of a bill that would require the Federal Communications Commission to issue a quarterly report card on TV violence.

Each volunteer rated a three-hour segment of programs taped between Sept. 28 and Oct. 4. The ratings were completed Tuesday and sample report cards are expected within two months.

"I hope this study will demonstrate that it can be done and that it should be done," Dorgan said.

At a Senate hearing Oct. 20, Attorney General Janet Reno warned that the government will intervene if the TV industry doesn't take steps to curb violence on television.

The Concordia study defines violence as the "deliberate and hostile use of overt force by one individual against another," a standard set by the National Coalition on Television Violence.

An "A" covers aggression that inflicts minor or momentary pain: pushing, grabbing, spanking, spitting, mild slapping.

A "B" is for stronger violence that still lacks deadly force.

A "C" is for acts in which a character clearly intends to kill, maim or incapacitate. Shooting, strangling, stabbing, poisoning, bombing, hanging, torture and rape are covered.

Martin Franks, Washington vice president for CBS, said Dorgan's bill and all the other anti-violence legislation pending before Congress have the same problem: They would require subjective judgments about what is violent.

"Define violence," said Franks, recalling the Senate hearing, during which the lawmakers themselves could not agree on a definition.

Hendrickson, who lives in Melrose, Minn., said she volunteered "because in no way, shape or form do I want censorship in television or any media. But I don't think there's anything wrong with a rating system."

"The feedback that's coming back from students was that they hadn't really watched television with their eyes open," said psychology professor Mark Covey, coordinator of the project.

CBS' Franks said Dorgan's bill would unfairly target advertiser-supported television.

"If advertisers were intimidated into not showing what was interpreted as objectionable programming, that may get it off the networks," he said. "Does it get it off the independent channels or cable? No."

State education panel seeks to revamp TEA

By PEGGY FIKAC
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) - A leader of a task force looking at overhauling Texas' public education establishment says "business as usual is totally unacceptable."

"We have an opportunity here to completely revamp the entire system to determine how we're going to best deliver educational services to children," Rep. Libby Lineberger, D-Manchaca, said Thursday.

She is a co-chair of the Select Committee to Conduct a Comprehensive Review of the Central Education Agency, which will make recommendations to the 1995 session of the Legislature.

Rep. Paul Sadler asked State Board of Education Chairwoman Carolyn Crawford of Beaumont, who spoke to the committee, whether a board would be necessary if experts were building a new education system.

"Couldn't you perform the same functions that are currently performed by the State Board of Education simply through the (Texas Education Agency with the guidance of the (education) commissioner?" asked Sadler, D-Henderson.

The board passes rules to implement legislation, makes curriculum decisions and approves textbooks to be funded by the state.

Ms. Crawford said board members also fill such important roles as being advocates for children's interests and that they provide perspective since they are elected from around the state. "The whole world doesn't look like Austin," she said.

Sadler later said he just wanted to ensure the task force looked at all its alternatives.

"That could include doing away with the State Board of Education. It could also include keeping the system as it is," he said. "I wonder a little bit if an advisory-type board that's appointed may be a better system. I don't know. I think it's something we have to consider."

Sen. Bill Ratliff, R-Mount Pleasant, said while the Education Board is created in the state constitution, its duties are defined in law.

"I don't think there's any question that we will to some extent re-define the role of the State Board of Education," he said, and that the education agency could have a reduced role. He also is a co-chair of the committee.

Education Commissioner Lionel "Skip" Meno suggested the task force start by defining who should be educated and at what level, then determine teachers' responsibility and authority before looking at what power the commissioner and board should hold.

"I think we need a clearer vision of what it is we want out of this system," he told the committee.

Rep. Steve Ogden, R-College Station, agreed to accept that challenge.

But saying that private schools are successful without help from TEA, he asked Meno to convince him "that we need all this bureaucracy to satisfy the goal that we set."

"This is one skeptical Texan. I don't think we do," he said.

Foundation layers

Rick Garcia, left, and Noah Garcia, both of Garcia Brothers Concrete Contractors of Hereford, smooth sand into a concrete form on the grounds of Hereford Regional Medical Center on Thursday. The two were preparing to pour a foundation for a gazebo that will be erected on the hospital grounds, on the southeast corner of the hospital. The gazebo was donated by the L'Allegre Study Club and is expected to be installed on the foundation later this month.

Perot and Gore to go live to debate free trade pact

By NANCY BENAC
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Coming soon to a TV screen near you: Al Gore vs. Ross Perot, The NAFTA Debate.

Worried that it was losing the PR battle over the North American Free Trade Agreement, the White House on Thursday confronted the opposition directly and proposed a Gore-Perot face-off.

Perot has "certainly done everything he could to cloud the atmosphere," President Clinton complained.

The country's Chief NAFTA Critic quickly snatched up the debate offer, calling it an act of "desperation" by the White House.

And so, after months of sparring over whether the trade agreement would strengthen the U.S. economy or destroy American jobs, the battle lines sharpened just 13 days before a Nov. 17 showdown vote in the House.

Clinton, making a NAFTA sales call in Lexington, Ky., derided Perot as "that one fellow" who "talks about the giant sucking sound" of jobs rushing south to lower-wage plants in Mexico under NAFTA.

"This agreement will make that less likely, not more likely," the president insisted. His visit to a computer-equipment plant that expects to increase exports under NAFTA was clearly overshadowed by all the hoopla over Perot.

Perot, holding forth with blistering oratory at two news conferences on the Capitol lawn, dismissed the trade agreement as "dead on arrival with the ordinary citizen."

"If this is such a good deal, why doesn't everybody get excited about it?" Perot demanded. He called it "another stupid trade agreement rammed through by special interests."

The long-distance fencing between Clinton and Perot served as a sort of redux to Campaign '92.

All that was missing was George Bush - he weighed in earlier this week with a written statement in support of the trade agreement, which would make the United States, Canada and Mexico into the world's largest free-trade zone.

The debate offer reflected a White House judgment that Perot's outspoken criticisms of the trade pact are hitting home with the American people and must be dealt with head-on.

White House spokeswoman Dee

Dee Myers, asked if Gore's challenge was giving Perot credibility on NAFTA, replied: "He has credibility, and he's playing on people's fears."

Details of the Gore-Perot debate remain to be worked out.

The negotiations began when Gore called TV and radio personality Larry King to suggest a debate on CNN, which relayed the offer to Perot.

The Texas businessman quickly issued a counteroffer.

Debate? Sure, he said, but on my terms.

He wants a trio of debates before live audiences - Sunday in Tampa, Fla.; Wednesday in Detroit; and Nov. 14 in Seattle.

Gore responded that he was "delighted" Perot had accepted the challenge. The vice president said he was willing to consider more than one debate and expressed confidence that time and place could be worked out.

"We're delighted to have an exchange of ideas on this topic between Gore and Perot," said White House Communications Director Mark Gearan. "We feel we have the facts on our side."

Perot may be the most vocal NAFTA critic, but he is not alone.

Organized labor strongly opposes the pact, and so do figures from across the political spectrum, ranging from Democrat Jerry Brown to Republican Patrick Buchanan. Some of Capitol Hill's top Democrats are working against the trade agreement on grounds it would hurt American workers.

With less than two weeks to go before the big NAFTA vote, the White House clearly is nervous - and dozens of votes short.

Appearing at a news conference with Perot, NAFTA opponents said there are 213 House members against the agreement - just five short of the number needed to kill it.

Increase follows two months of stability

Unemployment rate creeps to 6.8 percent for October

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nation's unemployment rate blipped up to 6.8 percent in October despite a better-than-average gain in employers' payrolls, the government said today.

The rate, up from 6.7 percent in both September and August, came as companies reported a gain of 177,000 jobs, including 12,000 at factories - a sector that hasn't seen job growth since February.

Labor Department officials said the unemployment gain may be partly explained by people once too discouraged to look for a job resuming their search for employment.

Private economists weren't expecting the rate increase, but they also were looking for job growth of only about 135,000. Nevertheless, today's report fit with their belief that the job market has not yet fully responded to the improved economic growth experienced since midyear.

"We have a growing economy, but we still have this restructuring (and layoffs) going on and some uncertainty due to the administration's initiative" on health care, said economist David Lereah of the Mortgage Bankers Association of America.

Two statistics last month illustrate employers' reluctance to hire. More than a third of the job gains, 69,000, came at temporary help firms. Also, the factory workweek, at 41.6 hours, matched a post-World War II high set in 1966.

Analysts say many companies would rather pay time-and-a-half than pay for the health benefits of new hires.

Death toll at three in Malibu fire; 350 homes, 18,500 acres burned

By MICHAEL FLEEMAN
Associated Press Writer

MALIBU, Calif. (AP) - The death toll from the Southern California wildfires rose to three with the discovery of two charred bodies in the blackened hills.

The victims were found near a burned vehicle just before dark Thursday as sheriff's deputies in a helicopter surveyed damage from the arson fire that has destroyed at least 350 Malibu-area structures, most of them homes.

"If it's an arson fire, then that makes it murder. They were burned by the fire and as far as we know, it was an arson fire," said Sgt. Ron Spear.

Fire officials said Thursday that the 18,500-acre fire that burned across the celebrity enclave from the Santa Monica Mountains to the ocean was 70 percent contained.

Early morning fog and a cooling ocean breeze were forecast today; a return of the hot, dry Santa Ana winds that fanned the fires was not expected.

The blaze was part of a series of wildfires that have destroyed 1,150 homes, burned across 200,000 acres and injured nearly 200 people in Southern California since Oct. 26. Several of the fires were blamed on arsonists.

Many of the more than 2,000 Malibu residents chased away by the fire returned to their homes Thursday to see if any part of their past was still standing as investigators looked for clues to who set the blaze.

A $250,000 reward was posted for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the arsonist.

"It makes me sick," said Nelson Carpentier, kicking at the mangled fiberglass sheets that once were his 20-foot boat. His house and 1970 Mercedes-Benz also were lost. "I did nothing to that guy and he destroyed everything I own."

Deputy Sheriff Ron Ablott said the Malibu fire could have been set with a single match or lighter.

Authorities ruled out the involvement of two men seen in a pickup near the fire's point of origin. The men had apparently spotted the fire and tried to put it out, Ablott said.

The identities of the latest victims, found in a mountainous area north of Malibu, were not immediately known. Deputies had not received any reports of missing persons.

British director Duncan Gibbons, 41, died Wednesday of burns suffered in the fire when he tried to rescue a Siamese cat. A friend was critically burned. The cat was later found alive, its paws and ears burned.

Local Roundup

High in 40's forecast Saturday

Hereford had a high of 74 degrees Thursday and a low of 27 this morning, according to KPAN. Tonight, clear with a low of 15 to 20. North wind 10-15 mph. Saturday, sunny with a high in the mid 40s. Wind becoming southwest 5-15 mph.

Recycling set

The regular monthly recycling day for November will be held on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. in the St. Anthony's parking lot, U.S. 385 and Park Avenue. Items will be taken by city employees and EnCoRe volunteers. Everyone is encouraged to bring their recyclables now, as another effort will not be held until February 1994. Residents may recycle the following: aluminum and steel cans, rinsed with labels removed; No. 1 and No. 2 plastics, rinsed; glass containers, clean and sorted by color; newspaper and white paper, tied in bundles; and auto batteries.

Education needs forum moved

A forum to discuss real-world education needs will be held on Nov. 8 and 9 as part of a statewide initiative to determine what skills and knowledge young people need out of school. The sessions will be held at 7 p.m. in the Stanton Educational Services Center, located at Park Avenue and Avenue F, not in the Community Center as previously announced. The session will be in the second floor media center. "Raising Expectations to Meet Real-World Needs" is sponsored by the Texas Education Agency, Gov. Ann Richards and other agencies.

CED meeting postponed

The final meeting of the now-defunct Deaf Smith County Education District which had been scheduled for Thursday was postponed when it was discovered a quorum of members would not be present. Even though the CEDs were dismantled by the State Legislature, the final meeting is necessary to appoint a successor-in-interest to the CED to receive any delinquent taxes due the entity, and to take care of other final business. The meeting will be rescheduled at a later date.

Bipartisan effort produces Senate anti-crime program

WASHINGTON (AP) - In an unaccustomed display of bipartisan unity, the Senate is embracing a $22.2 billion plan to build new jails and recruit 100,000 police officers for the war against violent crime.

The anti-crime blueprint endorsed in a 94-4 roll call late Thursday night calls for the construction of a $3 billion nationwide chain of regional prisons to house violent criminals and for spending $1 billion on correctional boot camps and other facilities for lesser offenders.

"I can say this is by far and away the most significant federal effort to deal with violent crime in America that has ever been undertaken in the U.S. Senate," said Sen. Joseph Biden, D-Dele., chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Democrats, eager to avoid being portrayed as soft on crime, hailed the arrangement, which was crafted by Senate Appropriations Committee Chairman Robert Byrd, D-W.Va. in the form of an amendment to a still-pending crime bill.

The amendment's centerpiece is an innovative financing mechanism that would earmark for the anti-crime fight the billions of dollars the Clinton administration hopes to save by eliminating 250,000 federal jobs over the next five years.

The money would be shifted to a new Violent Crime Reduction Trust Fund and made available to congressional appropriators to pay for the police-recruitment and prison-building programs.

Among the supporters of the Senate agreement: Senate Republican Leader Bob Dole of Kansas and Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, the GOP floor manager of the crime bill, Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, and Senate Democratic leader George Mitchell of Maine.

The Byrd amendment would earmark $12.2 billion to fully finance the programs of the original and less ambitious crime bill, which envisioned recruiting 60,000 new police officers.

It would boost financing by $3.7 billion to add 40,000 state and local law enforcement officers, thus reaching the 100,000 total originally sought by President Clinton.

The House has approved a separate measure that would permit states and cities to hire 50,000 new police officers.

The Senate amendment also calls for authorizing these other programs: $3 billion to build and operate the regional prison system.

-$1 billion to build jails, correctional boot camps and other minimum security state and local facilities.

-$500 million to build and operate secure institutions to house violent juveniles.

-$1.8 billion to finance the Violence Against Women Act, a law to combat domestic violence.

Although the Senate endorsed the Byrd amendment overwhelmingly, it left a few senators unhappy.

Sen. Paul Simon, D-Ill., voted against the plan, saying he adamantly opposed spending $3 billion on more prisons.

"As we have put more people into prisons our crime rate has grown," Simon said. "That is true because our prisons to a large degree are schools for crime."

But many Republicans insisted that increasing prison space and assuring that convicts serve all or most of the terms to which they are sentenced will remove wrongdoers from the streets and dramatically reduce the crime rate.

Joining Simon in voting against the amendment were Sens. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore.; Harlan Mathews, D-Tenn. and Claiborne Pell, D-R.I. Not voting were Sens. David Durenberger, R-Minn. and Jesse Helms, R-N.C.

On the other side of the Capitol, the House Judiciary Committee voted 23-12 to send the Brady gun bill to the House floor for action next Wednesday.

Named for James Brady, the former presidential press secretary shot in the head during the 1981 assassination attempt on President Reagan, the bill requires a five-business-day waiting period and a background check on would-be handgun buyers.

2001 is target date for station in space

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - If Congress finds the money and Russia's shaky economy permits - two big ifs - an international space station may orbit Earth in 2001 with a crew of six that could have come from the Starship Enterprise.

The language will be English or Russian with occasional Japanese, French, German, Danish, Dutch, Norwegian, Swedish or Spanish. Its crew will answer to Mission Control in Houston or Kaliningrad, Russia.

An agreement to bring all this about was signed by NASA administrator Daniel Goldin, who announced it Thursday, and his Russian counterpart, Yuri N. Koptev.

As part of the agreement, the United States will make 10 shuttle flights to the Mir in 1995, 1996 and 1997 to test out various systems, and the Russians will supply a spacecraft to steer the station and maintain its altitude.

Goldin told reporters that NASA is through redesigning the space station, which has undergone a half dozen major downsizings since it was first put on the agenda in 1984.

"This is it," he said. "Give us approval and we're going to build the space station."

Koptev was asked whether Russia can be a reliable partner.

"In Russia, orbital stations have been operating for over 32 years," he said, speaking through an interpreter. "The Freedom project has been in the discussion stage for nine years."

The new station will be called neither Freedom nor Mir. It is tentatively called Alpha.

The agreement must be approved by a U.S. Congress that came within one vote of killing the station project this year and carried out by Russia which has money troubles.

"Goldin has a vision which I admire and he's working closely with Vice President Gore who has a vision which I admire," said Rep. George Brown, D-Calif., who heads the House Science, Space and Technology Committee.

"I've got a practical problem without any visions in view of trying to get a successful vote in the House within six months. I've got to have a package that shows a very strong improvement over what we've done in the past."

One of the issues sure to concern Congress is just whose space station it is.

Goldin was careful in his answer to the question in a meeting with key lawmakers and, later, with reporters.

"The Russians are joining in the American-led space station program, and they are giving up their independent space station," he said, putting emphasis on "American-led."

"The Russians are joining us on the space station as a partner along with Japan, Europe and Canada. We are going to combine the capabilities of Mission Control-Houston and Mission Control Kaliningrad for a unified system with the command and control authority coming out of Houston."

Astronauts and cosmonauts will speak both English and Russian.

Special session on jails touted

DALLAS (AP) - Now that voters have approved $1 billion in prison bonds, Gov. Ann Richards should call a special session of the Legislature to try to ease overcrowding in county jails, the Dallas County Sheriff says.

In a letter to the governor, Jim Bowles also invited Richards to tour the Dallas County jails, which are jammed with 50 percent more inmates than they were designed to hold. Two-thirds of those prisoners are the state's responsibility, he said Wednesday.

The bond issue approved Tuesday will go toward building "state jails," which will be reserved for nonviolent offenders. State officials say this will free up maximum security offenders, making those inmates serve longer portions of their sentence.

Currently, more than 24,000 inmates are backed up in county jails around the state, with about 60,228 inmates in the state prison system. The prison capacity will more than double by 1997 to 128,000.

The extra prisons would not open until September 1995 at the earliest, the sheriff said.

"This relief is two days away," said Bowles. "What do I do today? What do I do tomorrow?"

"We've been waiting for years to get a fair shake out of the state," said Bowles. "We're having more violence and disease in the jail ... We're not mad. This just has to be put on the table."

Chuck McDonald, a governor's spokesman, said "there's no possibility of a special session" but that Richards could not formally respond to Bowles' letter until it arrived.

"The governor is completely sympathetic to the problem," said McDonald.

Bowles said he wanted the letter, which was mailed to Richards Monday and faxed to reporters Wednesday, to become public after the election to avoid the appearance of trying to influence the prison bond issue.

Calling Bowles' invitation that Richards tour his jail "ludicrous," McDonald said the governor might still accept. She stumped in Dallas for the bond issue.

"She said this is a terrible situation that has to be resolved," said McDonald. "There's no argument from anybody. The only argument is how fast it can be done."

Jim Ewell, a sheriff's spokesman, said 4,716 of the 9,316 inmates in the five Dallas County jails have been convicted and sentenced to state prison.

Bowles, in his letter, said jail overcrowding has "reached intolerable levels."

Everyone is welcome to participate in the various Sunday events.

The youth, under the direction of Trey Cumming, will meet at 8:45 a.m. Sunday at Troy's Sweet Shop for breakfast; Sunday school for all ages, 9:30 a.m.; Sunday morning worship and communion service, 10:45; Wesleyan Chanters (youth choir), 5 p.m.; youth snack supper, 6; evening worship, 6; and the United Methodist Youth Fellowship, 6:30-7:30 p.m.

Adults and youth will be heading to St. Stephen UMC in Amarillo Saturday for activities which will include an equipping disciples workshop and youth district rally. Workshop participants will leave from the local church at 8:15 a.m. The workshops are scheduled to end at 1:30 p.m. The youth will also leave for Amarillo from the church parking lot at 10 a.m. for a rally that will include short meetings, fun, fellowship and a pizza party.

The United Methodist Study Day will be recognized during the morning worship service and will be the recipient of the special communion offering. The offering will be used to fund scholarships for United Methodist attending United Methodist universities and grant loans to those attending any accredited school.

Children in the Sunday school division will be bringing canned goods to Sunday school each Sunday in November to be given to the Good Shepherd Food Pantry for Thanksgiving and Christmas.

The Jubilate Ringers Handbell Choir is selling Deluxe Corsicana Fruitcakes as a fund raiser for the handbell festival trip to New Mexico. The first shipment of cakes has arrived but more orders are being taken for use during the holidays. To order, contact any handbell member or call Betty Wolle at 364-0770.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Dr. James W. Cory's sermon for the Communion Service is at 10:30 a.m. Sunday and is titled "The Deadline Crisis." The scripture lesson is Matthew 25:1-13.

Sunday school for all ages begins at 9:30 a.m. and the fellowship time is held from 10:10-10:30 a.m.

The prayer group meets at the church at 6 p.m. Monday.

The women's covered dish luncheon will be held at noon Wednesday. A program on Christmas gift giving will be presented by Linda Arellano and Kitty Gault. Working women whose lunch time permits are welcome to come without a dish. Husbands are also invited to attend.

The Adult study continues from 6:30-7:30 p.m. each Wednesday. This week's class will focus on "The Causes of Burnout" in which the causes and symptoms of compassion fatigue are explored as are the ways scripture says we can lighten the load.

Preceding the study is a potluck supper which begins at 6 p.m.

The children's choir, under the direction of Dwight Joiner, will meet from 6:30-7:30 p.m. during the adult study.

IMMANUEL LUTHERAN CHURCH

Sunday school is at 10 a.m. at the church located at 100 Ave. B. There are classes for all ages.

The adult Bible class will have an informal question and answer session with the guest speaker, Rev. Dick Greenthanner who will also speak during the 11 a.m. Sunday worship service.

Rev. Greenthanner is the pastor of St. John Lutheran Church at Lariat. He has served as a missionary to Papua New Guinea and has many experiences to share. Please make your plans to be in attendance at this important meeting.

The special Mission Festival service will be at 11 a.m. with Rev. Greenthanner speaking on "He Sent His Servants" taken from Matthew 22:1-14. A fellowship meal will follow.

Because the pastor will be away on Monday evening, there will be no confirmation class this week.

In concert here Sunday

Madeline and Donnie Jones, fulltime music evangelists from Longview, will present a full concert Sunday, beginning at 6:30 p.m., at First Baptist Church. The couple schedules more than 70 revivals and concerts each year--never charging a fee and appearing at any size church. They have been featured on numerous Christian television programs.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Donnie and Madeline Jones will bring special music during the 11 a.m. Sunday worship service. The couple will also be presenting a full concert at 6:30 p.m. Sunday. The public is invited to attend.

The full-time music evangelists have made music a means of sharing their faith for many years and have scheduled over 70 revivals and concerts each year in the United States and many foreign countries. They have also been featured at numerous Christian conventions and Christian television programs.

The Indonesia 1993 Foreign Mission Study is planned from 5:30-8 p.m. Nov. 14 at the church. Every age level will have their own study.

The Thanksgiving/Stewardship Banquet is scheduled at 7 p.m. Nov. 23 in the gym. There will be no charge for the banquet.

ST. THOMAS EPISCOPAL CHURCH

"A Great Cloud of Witnesses" is the title of the sermon by the Rev. Charles A. Wilson on All Saints' Sunday and is based on the proper preface for that Sunday. The Holy Eucharist is at 11 a.m. and there is a fellowship dinner in the parish hall following the service.

Christian education for all ages is at 9:30 a.m. each Sunday with youth and children meeting with Acolyte Master "Bear" Denton for acolyte instruction and training. The adult class continues with the series on the faith and practice of the Episcopal Church. After seeing part five of the video, "What It Means to Be an Episcopalian," the class will continue its discussion of Christian Marriage led by Father Wilson.

The regular Wednesday service of Public Healing is at 7 p.m. with the Litany of Healing, the Laying-on-of-Hands with Holy Unction and Holy Communion. The lesser feast of St. Leo the Great will be observed. St. Thomas' Vestry will hold its regular monthly meeting at 8 p.m.

COMMUNITY CHURCH

The congregation and Pastor Dorman Duggan would like to invite everyone to come and worship with them Sunday.

Sunday school for all ages begins at 9:30 a.m. and the morning worship service starts at 10:30. A nursery is available.

The youth groups meet each Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the church. Also, meeting on Wednesdays are the children's church at 7 p.m. and the home groups which meet in various homes at 7 p.m.

For more information, call 364-8866 or 364-2423.

Spikers to face Monahans next

Hereford's volleyball team will take on Monahans in the second round of the playoffs at 3 p.m. Saturday in Seminole.

Hereford's record is 24-6, while Monahans, the champion of District 3-4A, is 23-11.

Hereford beat Monahans in the finals of the San Angelo Tournament on Sept. 4. Herd coach Brenda Reeh has studied the tape of that match and talked to coaches that have played Monahans more recently.

"Their focus is usually the left front hitters; they run an outside attack," Reeh said. "They've got one real strong middle blocker who gets her hands on anything you hit at her."

Hereford faced and beat Pecos the past two years in the second round, and those Pecos teams were scrappy defensively. Reeh said Monahans and that whole district is similar.

"Their game plan is to just get the ball back to you," she said. "(They hope) their opponent's hitters will get frustrated, try to force something and mess up."

Hereford fans should sit on the home side. Admission is $3 for adults, $2 for students.

Horton Smith won the first Masters Golf Tournament with a score of 284 in 1934.

Off to the races

Stephen Cloud, the tailback for Hereford's freshman A team takes off on a long run. The 65-yard run touchdown run was called back, but it didn't matter: Hereford beat Tascosa 32-0 Thursday in Whiteface Stadium.

Sub-varsity griders finish well

Hereford's four sub-varsity football teams finished the season on good notes, as two teams won on the field, one team won by forfeit and another tied.

Herd JV 1, Dumas 0
Dumas canceled, so the Herd JV's record goes down as 7-2-1.

"I felt real good about the improvement all the kids made on both sides of the ball," said coach Craig Yenser, who, along with Ron Young, heads the JV. "I feel real good about having these kids coming up to varsity (next year)."

Herd sophomores 21, Springlake-Earth JV 12

Hereford came from behind on the previously-unbeaten Class 2A school's JV. Hereford got the winning points when Hector Cavazos caused a fumble in the fourth quarter, and John Emerson recovered it in the end zone for a 14-12 lead.

Later, quarterback Wade

McPherson added his second short touchdown run of the game, and Cavazos kicked the extra point. After McPherson's second quarter TD run, he threw to Raymond Gonzales for a two-point conversion.

"The whole team played well," coach Britt Narrell said. "It was the first game that all the sophomores except about two played together, and they played well."

"Defensively, it was team effort," coach Chris Christopher said. "(S-E) was undefeated, and they were pretty good."

Herd "A" freshmen 32, Tascosa 0

The freshmen A team saved possibly its best performance for last by blowing out Tascosa in the only one of the games played in Hereford. The win improved the team to 2-8.

"These guys really improved a lot," coach James Salinas said. "They ended the season on a great note. From a coach's standpoint, it's enjoyable to see them play that hard all year long."

Stephen Cloud ran for touchdowns of 27, 35 and 28 yards, and he had a 65-yarder called back.

Ruben Flores scored Hereford's first TD on a 38-yard pass from Joseph Artho, Hereford's final score came on Freddy Jimenez' 33-yard run. Jeremy Reiter and Artho hooked up for a two-point conversion after Cloud's third TD.

Herd "B" freshmen 6, Dumas 6
Nathan Fox's eight-yard touchdown run in the second quarter was the first TD on a 38-yard pass from Hereford finished 3-3-1.

Coach Pete Rodriguez said Brian Thomas and Arturo Nava forced fumbles, while Julian Mungia, Anthony Guillen and Salvador Orosco recovered fumbles.

Another Indians pitcher dies

CLEVELAND (AP) - Cleveland Indians pitcher Cliff Young was killed in a car accident in his hometown of Willis, Texas, the Indians announced today.

Young, 29, had appeared in 21 games for the Indians in 1993 - seven as a starter. He went 3-3 with one save and a 4.62 ERA.

Although he became a free agent at the end of the season, the Indians were pursuing a contract with him, team officials said.

"On the heels of what happened in spring training, this tragic event comes as even a greater shock to our organization," said Indians Executive Vice President and General Manager John Hart.

Hart was referring to the boating accident March 22 in Florida that claimed the lives of Indians players Steve Olin and Tim Crews.

"We were all very fond of Cliff and he had a wonderful family. Our hearts go out to all of them," Hart said.

Spurs are healthy for opener; Warriors aren't

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - The San Antonio Spurs are celebrating their collective health for the first time in almost two years.

The wounded Golden State Warriors aren't nearly as lucky.

The two teams open their NBA season tonight in the new Alamodome.

This season marks the return at least partially to a lineup that has served the Spurs well before. Forward Terry Cummings and guard Willie Anderson, back after battling injuries last season, are joining center David Robinson again as starters.

Newly acquired forward Dennis Rodman, the NBA's leading rebounder the last two seasons, is expected to fill a sixth-man role and key the Spurs' defense.

"The team looks pretty solid defensively," Robinson said. "We're getting more aggressive, more confident in each other."

"I think we care about defense and we're beginning to learn how to really care for each other," Robinson said.

The Warriors have lost guards Tim Hardaway and Sarunas Marciulionis for the season to knee injuries and top scorer Chris Mullin for six weeks because of a hand injury. Top draft pick Chris Webber has a sprained ankle and is doubtful for tonight.

Still, the Spurs insist, they won't be writing off Golden State when the teams meet at the new Alamodome.

"We'll have to do our work," said Spurs coach John Lucas. "They're a very good team. They missed some players last year and did pretty good."

The Warriors defeated San Antonio 3-1 in their 1992-93 season matchups.

"I expect real hard-fought basketball," Lucas said. "I don't see an edge."

The Spurs expect Warriors point guard Avery Johnson, who played the position for San Antonio last season, to come to Texas ready to prove the Spurs lost a good thing when they refused to offer him a guaranteed contract.

"Yeah, it's a big game; everything speaks for itself," Johnson said in Thursday's San Antonio Express-News.

The Spurs are expected to rely on Eric "Sleepy" Floyd at the point.

Lucas hasn't ruled out roster changes, but said he's prepared to go with the players he has for now.

"I've got to give them the opportunity to see whether they can do it or not," he said.

The Spurs suffered a minor setback during a highly charged practice Thursday when forward J.R. Reid went down with a "mild" ankle sprain.

Spurs players left practice saying their hopes are high for Friday.

"You've got butterflies opening night. It's exciting," Robinson said.

Lucas, with his usual one-day-at-a-time philosophy, said he wants a victory, but....

"It doesn't make a season," he said. "It's the beginning of a season, not the end of a season."

TCU, Tech in bowl showdown

By The Associated Press

It looks as if they're going to have to retake the Southwest Conference bowl picture.

When the season started, Texas Christian wasn't included in any bowl chit-chat and after losing five of its first six games, Texas Tech was all but dropped out of the picture.

But they're both back in the running and they play each other in Lubbock Saturday in the latest SWC bowl showdown.

Texas Tech (3-5, 2-2 in SWC games) has the emotional edge, trying to win to improve Coach Spike Dykes' job security. But TCU (4-4, 2-2) is on a roll with three victories in a row.

"We're like a team in the high school playoffs," Dykes said. "You lose and you go home (and not to a bowl game). We played our best game of the year last week and the week before was our best."

"I hope we can take that next step and keep going."

Texas kept alive its hopes of a Thanksgiving showdown with No. 10 Texas A&M with a 34-16 victory over Houston on Thursday night, aided by Curtis Jackson's 33-yard halfback pass for a touchdown to Cosmo Palmieri.

Scott Szerezy kicked three field goals, including a 56-yarder that was the longest in the SWC this season.

Texas can still reach the Cotton Bowl if it beats Texas Christian, Baylor and the Aggies.

In other SWC games on Saturday Rice (4-4, 1-3), trying to get a bowl invitation for the first time since 1961, plays at Southern Methodist (1-5-2, 1-3-1). Baylor (4-4, 2-3) plays a non-conference game at Georgia Tech (3-5).

No. 10 Texas A&M had an open date to prepare for next week's game at Kyle Field against No. 13 Louisville (7-1).

TCU coach Pat Sullivan attributes the Horned Frogs' progress to a young team gaining experience.

"Our kids are playing hard and that gives us a chance to win," Sullivan said. "We're still young."

The Frogs have cut down on turnovers too.

"Football is a simple game," Sullivan said. "You pick up the newspaper and the first thing you look at is turnovers and that usually tells you who won the game."

TCU's Andre Davis rushed 124 yards in last week's victory over Houston, his third straight 100-yard game. TCU's defense has excelled at stopping the run. They held Houston to four net yards rushing.

Baylor will play without four players suspended by Coach Chuck Reedy for missing Sunday's midnight curfew. Suspended starters were cornerback Kendrick Bell and fullback Robert Strait.

Reedy expects the disciplinary action to help the team.

"Adversity is sometimes good for a team," Reedy said. "I've never been around a team where there was disciplinary action that the rest of the team didn't respond in a positive manner."

"I hate for the kids that they aren't going to play but for our future it was the thing to do."

Rice had an open date last week after losing to the Texas Aggies. Rice has a four-game winning streak against SMU.

"We're just glad to be playing a game that means something in November," Rice coach Fred Goldsmith said. "But everything gets here (bowl invitations) in due time. We have nothing to look forward to right now than playing SMU on Saturday."

Bowl Coalition to root for Badgers

By The Associated Press

How far the loser of next week's 1-2 showdown between Florida State and Notre Dame drops in the polls could determine whether the college football season will finish with a colossal bowl game.

A very close game at South Bend, Ind., and a clean sweep of the remaining opponents by both could result in just that. Playing for the national title would be Florida State and, yes... Notre Dame.

That possibility - a bowl coalition-mandated meeting of No. 1 and No. 2 - exists for the Fiesta Bowl. It would depend on the combined results of The Associated Press and USA Today-CNN polls.

- Appendices and specialty maps of many different features

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.

This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 284,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.

Southwest Outdoors

with Mel Phillips

Early reports indicate this year's deer hunting in Texas should equal the excellent results of 1992. With the exception of a severe drought in Central Texas, most other areas in Texas had adequate rain during the critical spring fawning season. Deer hunters returning from early archery seasons in both Colorado and New Mexico report seeing large numbers of trophy bucks.

My favorite part of the hunting/fishing experience is telling stories around a blazing campfire. Listen closely, because great storytellers are made, not born. They seldom get bogged down with unnecessary facts or statistics and are rarely without new excuses to explain why a trophy animal was not taken during this trip.

"Wait until next year" applies not only to the Longhorn football team but is the motto of most good story tellers. If your bag of excuses needs filling, here are my...

Top ten excuses for not shooting a trophy buck in 1993:

10. It wasn't buck fever.
9. Started worrying about how many trips it would take to haul all the meat and horns out of the woods.
8. Didn't want to cash in a jumbo CD to pay the taxidermist.
7. ...his big beautiful brown eyes...
6. Saved $50 on that worthless mail-order rifle scope.
5. Suddenly remembered that the notorious prankster D.A. Danny Hill had borrowed my deer rifle last weekend.
4. Just as I was squeezing off a shot, a monster buck started polishing his horns on my tree stand.
3. A rookie game warden drove up in his new Ram Charger and "just wanted to check your hunting license, sir."
2. What would President "Gun Control" Clinton say?
1. Didn't want to get my pickup truck dirty.

Special congratulations to Jay Friemel of Canyon for winning the 1993 Champions Fun Tournament at Lake Greenbelt. At dawn, he used a buzzbait, and later in the day he switched to a jig and a Larew saltcraw to catch a three-bass limit that weighed 7.23 pounds. Friemel bested 50 anglers from 11 towns and took home $500, the Budweiser champion's jacket and a handsome trophy.

Second place and $250 went to Jim Braswell of Amarillo, who used a Chatterbox by Jawtec Worms to nail down second place with 4.97 pounds. Third-place honors and $125 went to Canyon's Jim Simpson.

Mel Phillips is an avid hunter, tournament angler and host of a Wednesday evening outdoor show on KGNC TalkRadio 71. He is an active member of the Texas Outdoor Writers Association.

Buddy Young, only 5-foot-5, averaged 8.9 yards per carry for Illinois in 1944.

The full name of former relief ace Tug McGraw is Frank Edwin McGraw, Jr.

Sam Snead's first pro golf victory was in the 1936 West Virginia Closed Pro tournament.

Raymond Floyd's first tournament win came in the 1963 St. Petersburg Open at the age of 20.

COLLEGES

Otherwise, the winner goes to either the Sugar Bowl or the Orange Bowl to play the highest-ranked winner of the conferences committed to them.

Just what are the chances? They could be a lot better if third-ranked Ohio State loses Saturday at Wisconsin. That scenario, coupled with victories the rest of the way by No. 4 Miami, would virtually guarantee a final showdown.

The Hurricanes, who have lost only to Florida State, could wind up No. 2. That aside, only No. 5 Alabama and No. 6 Nebraska would appear close enough to vault all the way to No. 2. As such, that team would play No. 1 for the national title.

The schedule Saturday: No. 1 Florida St. (8-0) at Maryland (1-7); No. 3 Ohio State (8-0) at No. 15 Wisconsin (7-1); No. 4 Miami (6-1) at Pittsburgh (2-6); LSU (3-5) at No. 5 Alabama (7-0-1); No. 6 Nebraska (8-0) at Kansas (4-5); No. 13 Louisville (7-1) at No. 7 Tennessee (6-1-1); New Mexico State (5-3) at No. 8 Auburn (8-0); Northwestern Louisiana (6-2) at No. 9 Florida (6-1); Rutgers (4-4) at No. 11 West Virginia (7-0); and No. 12 UCLA (6-2) at Washington State (5-4).

Also, Oregon (5-3) at No. 14 Arizona (7-1); Clemson (6-2) at No. 16 North Carolina (7-2); No. 17 Indiana (7-1) at No. 19 Penn State (5-2); No. 18 Kansas State (6-1-1) at Iowa State (2-6); No. 20 Oklahoma (6-2) at Missouri (3-4-1); Wake Forest (2-6) at No. 21 Virginia (6-2); No. 22 North Carolina State (6-2) at Duke (2-7); No. 23 Colorado (4-3-1) at Oklahoma State (3-5); and No. 25 Virginia Tech (6-2) at Boston College (5-2).

With Maryland seemingly a pushover for Florida State, Notre Dame idle and Miami, Alabama and Nebraska facing at best nominal opposition, the colossal bowl focus Saturday must be on Madison, Wis.

CHURCH

WESLEY UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday school for all ages is at 10 a.m. and the special children's sermon will be conducted at 11 a.m. during the Sunday worship service. The Sunday evening worship service begins at 7.

The Wesley United Methodist Women will have a covered dish supper at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the home of Kee Ruland. A business meeting will be conducted and a program presented.

Preparations are being made for San Pablo United Methodist Church and Wesley United Methodist Church to have a joint church service the Sunday before Thanksgiving. Also a noon meal will be served afterwards on Nov. 21 at WUMC, 410 Irving. The choirs from both churches will meet Thursday evening for choir practice. Booths are still available for Wesley's Arts and Craft Bazaar Dec. 4. Contact Ellen Collins at 801 Miles or call her at 364-0774 for additional information.

ST. ANTHONY'S CATHOLIC CHURCH

November is Pornography Awareness Month.

Cindi Walker, the church environmentalist organizer, needs help making advent and Christmas banners and decorating the entrance bulletin boards.

Catechists Day of Reflection with Sr. Mary Lou Barba of the Austin Diocese is scheduled from 9:30 a.m. until 3 p.m. Nov. 13 at St. Hyacinth Parish. There is no charge.

The Dallas Cowboys are playing at noon Nov. 14 and the CYO is having a spaghetti dinner in the school gym. Serving time is from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. with take out orders available. Price of adult tickets will be $3.50 and tickets for children aged 10 and under will be $2. The tickets may be purchased at the door or from CYO members. All proceeds will be used to benefit the Catholic Youth Organization.

DAWN BAPTIST CHURCH

The church welcomes the community to come worship with the congregation at any and all worship services. Bible study is held at 9:50 a.m. and the Sunday worship services are at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m.

The Pastor Lonny Poe's message for the Sunday morning service is entitled "The Church That Rings" taken from I Thessalonians 1:2-10. During the evening service, we will continue the study of the Seven Churches in the book of Revelation with our text from Chapter 3:7-13.

The Lord's Ladies group will meet at 10 a.m. Saturday in the home of Carolee Smith.

The mid-week prayer and Bible study will be held at 7 p.m. in the fellowship hall. In that study, we will begin a series of studies entitled "The Church Equipped." It is a series study on the spiritual gifts of believers.

TEMPLE BAPTIST CHURCH

The Pastor H. Wyatt Bartlett and the congregation of the church, 700 Ave. K, invite everyone to join them in worship Sunday.

Sunday school and Bible study begin at 9:45 a.m. and the morning worship service starts at 11. The pastor's sermon will be taken from Mark 1:9-12, "Victory Over Temptation."

Also, each Sunday, the Acteens meet at 5:45 p.m.; discipleship training, 6 p.m.; and the evening worship service, 7 p.m. at which time the pastor will be speaking on "The Need for Unity" taken from I Cor. 1:10-17.

The Baptist Women of the church will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the church parlor.

The mid-week prayer meeting is planned at 7 p.m. Wednesday. Also, the monthly business meeting will be held on Wednesday evening and the sanctuary choir will meet at 7:45 p.m.

AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This letter is for the woman who was critical of the manners of an American seated at the next table in a European restaurant. A more thoughtful European who had witnessed that same American might have had a different reaction. This is what he might have said:

"The man at that table must surely be an American because he is holding his fork like an ice pick and cutting his meat in little pieces.

"His table manners may be atrocious, but so what! Far better that Europeans recall that this man, with his elbows on the table, may well have been a G.I. in World War II. He and his fellow Americans stood with us in our darkest days and helped preserve our freedom. They put their own lives on the line when we were being bombed by Hitler's Luftwaffe, and more than 400,000 of them never made it home."

As for me, I say God bless him. I hope he enjoys his meat—Lawrence, Who now Lives in Zephyrhills, Fla.

DEAR ZEPHYR: It's almost impossible to realize that World War II was 50 years ago. Every time I have traveled to Great Britain since then, I've been told by the Brits how much the Americans in every branch of the service meant to them. Now, that's the kind of talk I like to hear.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been living with a woman since 1990. She doesn't work regularly because she doesn't want to pay support to her ex-husband. I bought the house we live in, and she furnished it.

I pay substantial child support to my ex-wife and am having trouble making ends meet. There is no way I can save any money. My girlfriend contributes very little to the household, although she sometimes buys groceries.

When her car was totaled, I signed done of my cars over to her with the understanding that SHE would make the loan payments. I co-signed the loan. I pay all the bills and pay for all entertainment, and now I'm also paying the auto loan she agreed to handle.

I do love this woman very much, but I find myself in a tough spot. I can't afford to support her like this, but she gets angry when I mention that maybe she should get a job. I need some advice.—Feeling Stuck in

DEAR STUCK: Your spiteful lady friend had better get off her duff and go to work before your resentment reaches the boiling point. That auto loan has put the relationship in the danger zone. I suggest you tell her: "Either...or."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Today is my 88th birthday. I live alone. My husband died 20 years ago. I worked for 58 years in a small family business and retired three years ago. I have a daughter, a son and daughter-in-law, six grandchildren and 24 great-grandchildren.

Today, I received gifts from my son and his wife and one grandson. There were cards from my daughter and a granddaughter. I have not heard from the other four grandchildren or any of my great-grandchildren. Each birthday, I send each one a card with checks for $15 to $25. For Christmas, each grandchild gets $25. I have spent approximately $46,000 to help four of my grandchildren. This was a big chunk from my savings. I'm thinking about the 28 I didn't hear from today. A simple card or a phone call would have warmed my heart.—Grandma

DEAR GRANDMA: You can't force people to be thoughtful. Don't be bitter about those who forgot. Concentrate instead on rewarding those who remembered.

What can you give the person who has everything? Ann Landers' booklet, "Gems" is ideal for a nightstand or coffee table. "Gems" is a collection of Ann Landers' most requested poems and essays. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.85 (this includes postage and handling) to: Gems, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Always be on lookout for medicine tampering

Do you always check your medicine to make sure that someone has not tampered with it? If you don't, you should.

Although American manufacturers of over-the-counter medicines produce some of the safest packages in the world, no container is completely tamper-proof. So before you open the bottle and swallow a dose of medicine, the Council on Family Health urges you to follow these guidelines.

Read the label. Medicine labels list all the tamper-resistant seals and wrappings that should be in place on the package. If any of the protective features have been broken, do not use the produce.

Inspect the outer packaging. Check the wrapping for tears, cuts, slices or any other damage. Inspect the packaging when you purchase the product and again when you're ready to use it.

Examine the medicine itself. Look for tablets or capsules that are a different color or shape than others in the container. And when possible, compare the visible contents of capsules with all the others in the package. Also compare the contents with the picture on the label.

Liquids should be uniform in color and consistency throughout.

Don't take medicine in the dark. You won't be able to spot any imperfections.

Check the label and medicine with every dose. Be aware of changes in the appearance, color and odor of the medication. Always check the expiration date.

If in doubt, tell somebody. Be aware and be suspicious, but also be responsible by pointing out questionable products to the store manager so they can be removed.

Cellular phones prove helpful to businesses

A nationwide survey found that users of cellular phones attribute improved productivity, better business relationships and increased sales to their use of this 10-year-old technology.

Many of America's 11 million cellular phone users (74 percent) believe they are more successful at business because of their cellular phones, according to the Motorola Cellular Impact Survey.

Conducted by The Gallup Organization, the survey of 660 U.S. cellular phone users marks the 10th anniversary of Motorola's introduction of the first commercial mobile cellular phones and is a follow-up to a study conducted in 1991.

Almost all of the users (97 percent) say their phones make them more flexible in their job, up from 91 percent believe their cellular phones make them more productive at work. Respondents say cellular telephones have increased their productivity an average of 34 percent.

Sixty-one percent of the respondents believed they increased their sales using the cellular phones, versus 56 percent in 1991. Nineteen percent estimate they increased their, or their company's revenues. Sixty-five percent of users said they have themselves or their company money by using a cellular phone.

In addition, respondents said their cellular phones improved their relationships with their clients and bosses.

While 62 percent of users now have a stronger relationship with their employer, 75 percent say cellular phones have enhanced their relationships with their customers.

Sales of cellular phones for business and personal use continue to grow, and industry analysts predict that the number of cellular phone users will triple to 33-million Americans by the year 2000.

Gazing intently at the Council, Paul began: "Brothers, I have always lived before God in all good conscience" Instantly Ananias the High Priest commanded those close to Paul to slap him on the mouth.

Paul said to him, "God shall slap you, you whitewashed pigpen. What kind of judge are you to break the law yourself by ordering me struck like that?"

Those standing near Paul said to him, "Is that the way to talk to God's High Priest?" "I didn't realize he was the High Priest, brothers," Paul replied, "for the Scriptures say, 'Never speak evil of any of your rulers.'"

Then Paul thought of something! Part of the Council were Sadducees, and part were Pharisees! So he shouted, "Brothers, I am a Pharisee, as were all my ancestors! And I am being tried here today because I believe in the resurrection of the dead!"

This divided the Council right down the middle—the Pharisees, against the Sadducees—for the Sadducees say there is no resurrection or angels or even an eternal spirit within us, but the Pharisees believe in all of these. So a great clamor arose. Some of the Jewish leaders jumped up to argue that Paul was right. "We see nothing wrong with him," they shouted. "Perhaps a spirit or angel spoke to him (there on the Damascus road)." The shouting grew louder and louder, and the men were tugging at Paul from both sides, pulling him this way and that. Finally the commander, fearing they would tear him apart, ordered his soldiers to take him away from them by force and bring him back to the armory.

Acts 23:1-10

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: My mother became very forgetful when she was 77. She was very excitable, anxious, extremely paranoid and fearful. She has gradually lost interest in everything: TV, yard work, housework, reading and her grandchildren. After a CT scan of the brain, we were told she had experienced several mini-strokes. Most of the time she is totally out of control from obsession with herself. She was in a nursing home briefly but she lost 30 pounds and my dad took her home to stay with day help.

She shows all the signs of Alzheimer's disease, but the doctor says she experienced some strokes at some point leaving her with total memory loss and causing her personality changes. Is there anything that can help her? My dad is emotionally and physically drained from taking care of her.

DEAR READER: I would think there were changes on your mother's CT scan that enabled the doctor to know she has these changes because of strokes. The picture you describe is senile dementia. While it is generally stated that it is most often caused by Alzheimer's disease, there are a number of other disorders that also cause such dementia. That includes multiple small strokes. They may not be recognized if they don't cause paralysis.

When senile dementia is caused by small strokes, the changes are often in a step-wise fashion, with changes in memory or personality initially. Then another small stroke causes further changes.

A recent study from Sweden reported that nearly a third of unselected 85-year-old Swedish people had dementia and that half of these were from vascular changes in the brain. That is a much higher percentage than most investigators in the United States have believed caused dementia. The importance of this study is that measures to prevent fatty-cholesterol changes in the arteries to the brain can help prevent dementia caused by strokes, while there is no known way known to prevent Alzheimer's disease.

To give you more information on the cause of such changes your mother is experiencing, I am sending you a free copy of my new Special Report 146, Is it Alzheimer's Disease? Others who want this report can send $3 with a stamped (52 cents), self-addressed, No. 10 envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/146, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077-5537.

I wish there were medicines to reverse senile dementia. Unfortunately, supportive care and medicines to help control behavior is about all that is available at present for that advanced stage.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I have read that prescription ulcer medications like Zantac and Tagamet will increase the speed of absorption of alcohol and decrease a person's tolerance. Is this also true of over-the-counter medicines like Mylanta?

DEAR READER: It has been reported that Tagamet, and to a lesser extent Zantac, neutralize the action of an enzyme in the stomach that metabolizes some of the alcohol a person drinks. That means there is more alcohol available for absorption and that can decrease a person's alcohol tolerance.

None of the antacids such as Mylanta have such an action. They serve only to neutralize acid that is formed in the stomach and are inactive in terms of metabolism. Most of these are not even absorbed.

However, anyone who needs antacids for indigestion problems does not need alcohol, because it will make the condition worse.

Let us show you a Texas you've never seen before.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

HOW THE LORD TOOK CARE OF ISRAEL IN THE WILDERNESS...

AS MOSES HAD EXPLAINED TO THE ISRAELITES THE LORD WOULD FEED THEM WITH FLESH TO EAT IN THE EVENING--SO, IN THE MORNING, WOULD HE FEED THEM WITH BREAD....

AND, SURE ENOUGH, IN THE LIGHT OF MORNING THE GROUND CAN BE SEEN TO BE COVERED WITH LITTLE, ROUND, OBJECTS...

...AS THE PEOPLE GATHER THE FOOD, MOSES INSTRUCTS THEM THAT THIS SHALL BE THEIR BREAD FOR A LONG TIME TO COME, AND THAT THEY MUST GATHER IT EVERY MORNING, ENOUGH FOR EACH PERSON TO LAST UNTIL THE DAY! AND NOW THE PEOPLE NAME THIS FOOD "MANNA"

...SO ONCE AGAIN ALL THE PEOPLE HAVE BEEN CARED FOR BY THE LORD IN THE TRYING DAYS OF THE WILDERNESS. ALL OF WHICH HAS BEEN RECORDED IN EXODUS 16.
