We can do that here!

Why leave town to buy specialty foods and bath items and gourmet candies when they are available right here in Hereford -- and all ready for Christmas giving. West Park Drug, 213 W. Park Avenue, is just one local store that carries such items, as co-owner Cindy Burns shows. And, if you need to mail those items, West Park also has a United Parcel Service mailing counter in the store, saving yet another trip out of town.

CSF reaches out to assist a wide variety of residents

Many special needs and situations are represented by requests for help from the Christmas Stocking Fund this holiday season.

In some cases, those with a need would not ask for help themselves, but someone aware of their situation passed word along to the committee of anonymous volunteers who administer CSF.

The list of CSF applicants runs the gamut. There is a widow, in poor health, who has been too sick to work but who is ineligible for her late husband's pension benefits. She's having a hard time making ends meet, and her mortgage payments are a particularly pressing concern.

A senior citizen continues to work hard at a domestic job almost every day for the simple reason that she and her ill husband cannot afford to do without the small income that her work provides. She is afflicted with diabetes and insulin and blood testing materials are expensive. The weight of some of these bills prompted her to apply to CSF for the first time this fall, although her needs have been ongoing for many years.

Local residents can make a difference in the lives of these applicants and many others this holiday season through their donations to the CSF.

The amount of help available from CSF is limited by donations made to the holiday charity, which is not affiliated with any other group or organization within the community.

Making your donation right away is important, because CSF is operating on a stepped-up schedule and deliveries of the first round of assistance will be made Dec. 17.

A second round of assistance voucher deliveries might be made at a later date if donations are sufficient to provide them.

You can to CSF in person at the offices of The Hereford Brand, or mail your donation to CSF in care of Box 673, Hereford.

Doggett to run for slot vacated by Rep. Pickle

By MICHAEL HOLMES
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN (AP) - After one term on the Texas Supreme Court, Lloyd Doggett is interested in lawmaking again.

Doggett, a Democrat, Monday said he will run for Congress next year rather than seek re-election to the high court. His decision came three days after 30-year veteran Rep. J.J. "Jake" Pickle, 80, announced plans to retire.

"This, of course, is something of a changing of the guard," Doggett said. "What I want to do is not to replace Jake Pickle - because there's not anyone that can do that - but I want to pick up where he'll be leaving off."

Two other possible contenders decided to sit out the race that Doggett had entered. Sen. Gonzalo Barrientos, D-Austin, and Austin Mayor Bruce Todd both said they would stay where they are.

"A senior senator from Travis County can be more effective in two years than a freshman congressman can be in 10 years," said Barrientos.

"A race for Congress ... would not allow me to finish out my current term or to consider a second term as mayor," Todd told the Austin American-Statesman.

The 47-year-old Doggett served in the Texas Senate from 1973 to 1985. He lost the 1984 U.S. Senate race to Republican Phil Gramm and was elected to the Supreme Court in 1988.

In other developments Monday: Doggett's decision sparked a change for 3rd Court of Appeals Chief Justice Jimmy Carroll, a Democrat who last week filed to run against Supreme Court Justice Nathan Hecht.

Carroll said that instead of challenging Republican Hecht, he would run for the seat Doggett is vacating. He said seeking an open seat would "avoid further polarization and partisanship on the Supreme Court."

Hecht, 44, distributed a statement announcing his re-election bid.

First elected in 1988, Hecht said he hopes for a second term to continue work on judicial reforms.

"The court is preparing new rules to streamline procedures, to discourage frivolous cases and to make all our state's courts more affordable places for resolving disputes," he said.

Workers get city awards at banquet

Service to the City of Hereford was recognized Saturday at the annual employee dinner.

Top awards were earned by two employees in the health department, Herbert Cockrum, who received a lapel pin with a diamond for 30 years of service, and Jesse Don Brewer, a pin with sapphire for 25 years.

A total of 180 years of employee service to the city was recognized in the awards.

Receiving 15-year recognition were Albert Edwards, Janie Gomez, Carlee Graves, Terri Johnson and Jesus Munoz.

Ten-year service awards went to Bennie Barrick, Steve Bartels, Albert Garza and Gilbert Garza. Tawanna Hollowell and Kimberly Klos received five-year awards.

The evening was hosted by the City Commission. Mayor Bob Josseland gave the welcome. Service awards were presented by City Manager Chester Nolen and City Secretary Terri Johnson.

Two more doctors testify as murder trial continues

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

Two physicians who treated Morgan Reid just prior to her death on Feb. 8, 1993, told jurors in the trial of the baby's mother that they were at a loss to single out the cause of death.

Tanya Reid Thaxton is on trial in 222nd District Court for murder in connection with the death of her eight-month-old baby. Morgan Reid reportedly stopped breathing at the family's home in Hereford on Feb. 7, 1984, and died the next day at an Amarillo hospital.

The pediatrician who attended the baby before her death in Amarillo testified Tuesday morning that he participated in an autopsy of the baby. Dr. Rolf Habersang reviewed the results of the autopsy, listing conditions found in the body.

However, on a question from the prosecutor, Criminal District Attorney Roland Saul, Dr. Habersang refused to offer a reason for the death.

He said the autopsy showed subdural hematoma in the baby's brain, but he said he had no explanation for the condition.

Asked by Saul if he now has an opinion on the cause, Dr. Habersang said the baby died because of oxygen deprivation to the brain, as revealed in the autopsy. He said he is "convinced" asphyxiation caused the baby's death.

Dr. Habersang told the jury, also, that a "fragile X syndrome" test was run on Morgan Reid, showing she may have suffered from the disorder. However, he said he believed the testing was not performed properly after the autopsy.

"Is it your opinion Morgan had fragile X?" Saul asked the pediatrician.

"I don't think so," replied Dr. Habersang.

City votes to sell farmland purchased 13 years ago

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

Acres that proved too expensive to develop for a water supply for the City of Hereford after the land was bought 13 years ago was sold Monday night at less than one-fourth of the original cost.

The City Commission accepted the only bid offered, $93,361.50, for the 622 acres, known as the Frasier Farm, located west of Hereford.

In other business, the commission: -- Authorized the city staff to advertise for purchase of several items of equipment.

-- Directed staff to advertise for bids for the water program.

-- Approved a list of surplus equipment to be offered for sale in a governmental auction in January.

-- Heard brief reports from the swimming pool committee and representatives on the economic development committee.

Prior to the regular meeting, during a workshop on park development, representatives of the Hereford Beautification Alliance reviewed their recommendations for parks.

Jan Furr, HBA coordinator, said the group looked at proposals for four city parks.

"We think, though, that before anything is done, there should be a master plan for improvements and development," she reported.

Noting that the cost of developing the Frasier Farm land exceeded the usefulness of the property, commissioners voted unanimously to accept the bid of Gene Vasek.

When the city purchased the land, the price was $650 per acre for a total of $404,566. Vasek's bid was $150 per acre.

City Manager Chester Nolen said an appraisal made a year ago placed the value at $217 per acre. Since the purchase, the property has been leased on an annual basis for a total of about $120,000 through the years.

The shopping list for new equipment for city departments includes a fairway mower for John Pitman Municipal Golf Course, water department computer equipment, five police patrol cars and four pickups.

Nolen was authorized to advertise for bids to drilling two water wells, one into the Santa Rosa formation and one into Ogallala; installing pipelines to the new wells, and construction of a new storage tank.

Roger Eades reported that the community committee studying the new swimming pool had received a set of plans from the architect.

"The cost estimated was about $1.5 million and we pared it down to about $1.1 million and sent the plans back for revision," he said.

Santa letters, essays needed for section

Local residents are invited to submit their letters to Santa Claus and holiday essays for inclusion in The Hereford Brand's annual holiday issue.

Letters and essays may be brought to the Brand office, 313 N. Lee, or mailed to P.O. Box 673, in Hereford.

Teachers are encouraged to have their classes write letters to Santa or write essays about the holidays.

But this is not just an activity for youth -- anyone in the community is invited to write something.

Entries should be 200 words or less if possible. Essays must be neatly printed or typed.

The deadline to submit letters and essays has been extended to 5 p.m. Dec. 13 in order to be considered for the holiday issue, which will be published on Dec. 17.

The best of the essays will appear in that newspaper. Also under way is Project Christmas Card, which is sponsored annually by L'Allegria Study Club.

Donations in lieu of mailing Christmas cards to local people are accepted to benefit the Deaf Smith Health Care Foundation.

Collection canisters are available at the following locations to receive donations: The Brand, Hereford Senior Citizens Center, Inkahoots, the Atrium, Perfect Touch, Kids Alley, Hereford State Bank, First National Bank, Hereford Texas Federal Credit Union, Hereford Regional Medical Center and Taylor and Sons.

All donors who give by the Dec. 13 deadline will have their names printed in the Brand Christmas edition.

DOCTORS

just two weeks before the death, the issue of Munchausen Syndrome by Proxy was raised.

Dr. Carol Rosen, now on the faculty of Yale School of Medicine, told the court that she believed Morgan was a victim of the syndrome, but she did not report her suspicions to authorities because she "had no proof."

Munchausen Syndrome by Proxy is a disorder in which a parent, or other adult, induces illness in a child to attract personal attention.

Dr. Rosen testified that she wanted to place a hidden camera in Morgan's room but the mother left Houston before she had a chance to do so.

She said Morgan had one spell of apnea -- cessation of breathing -- while in the hospital, while in the care only of her mother.

She said tests revealed no clinical reason for apnea. And, although the baby was developmentally delayed and had a head somewhat larger than normal, tests showed no reasons.

"Morgan was 7 1/2 months old and could not sit up by herself," reported the doctor. "There was some enlargement of the head but not something to worry about."

On cross examination by Charles Rittenberry, attorney for the 36-year-old defendant, the physician was asked if the baby suffered seizures while in Texas Children's Hospital.

Dr. Rosen said that seizures may follow apnea and vice versa.

"There was something wrong and you didn't know what?" Rittenberry asked Dr. Rosen.

"Yes," she responded.

Later, Rittenberry asked if Dr. Rosen identified Tanya Reid as the "first Munchausen Syndrome by Proxy" in Texas.

"No," said the doctor.

Dr. Rosen said she contacted the pathologist in Amarillo when she learned the baby had died to voice her suspicious about Morgan's problems.

Rittenberry questioned Dr. Rosen about fragile X syndrome, asking if she knew Morgan had the disorder. She said she learned that only later, that no tests were conducted in Houston to find that problem.

Dr. Rosen said she became aware of the possibility "since I came to this trial."

Dr. Ian Burkett, who performed the autopsy on Morgan Reid, testified Monday afternoon that he could not "tell why the baby died."

He said there was subdural hematoma, mild hydrocephalus, evidence of oxygen deprivation in the brain, indication of shock and resuscitation attempts.

Dr. Burkett said he "could not tell why the baby died." He also said he found no external indication of child abuse.

Also testifying Monday was Gary Hollinger who was associated with Deaf Smith General Hospital in 1984 when an emergency call was turned in by Tanya Reid.

Hollinger testified that he arrived at the home to find the mother administering resuscitation to the baby who had stopped breathing. The baby was transferred to Northwest Texas Hospital almost immediately, he said.

Veteran performer, Don Ameche, dies

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) - Don Ameche, versatile leading man of 1930s and '40s films whose comeback in the 1980s climaxed with an Oscar as supporting actor in "Cocoon," has died, a funeral home said. He was 85.

Ameche died Monday, said Alona Jordan, operator for an answering service for Messinger Mortuary in Scottsdale. She quoted funeral home owner Paul Messinger as saying Ameche died at 6 p.m.

from the city, school district, hospital district, senior citizens, Red Cross and senior citizens.

During the workshop on beautification prior to the regular commission meeting, Jan Furr said HBA "took very seriously" the request from the commission for input on park improvements.

Mayor Josseland said the commission believes "we need to show people we're doing something."

Furr asked the commission to consider applying for assistance from the High Plains Resource Conservation and Development area. She said HPRC&D offers several services without charge.

"We think we ought to have a master plan before we spend a lot of money," she added.

Targeted for improvement are the 15th Street Park, Central Park, Dameron Park and Jaycee Park.

The voluntary assessment program implemented in 1991 for city water customers now stands at approximately $117,000. Proceeds of the sale of park acreage adjacent to Hereford Regional Medical, $15,000, also went to the park fund.

The commission took no action during the workshop but will place recommendations on the agenda for the next meeting, on Dec. 20.

Already a radio star, Ameche made a smooth transition to films, beginning with "Sins of Man" in 1936. During 12 years at 20th Century Fox, he appeared in musicals, comedies and biographical dramas, most notably "The Story of Alexander Graham Bell."

When his film career faded in 1948, Ameche busied himself on Broadway in "Silk Stockings" and "Can Can" and later in touring musicals and dinner theater. His second film career began in 1983 with "Trading Places," starring Eddie Murphy and Dan Aykroyd.

Two years later, he appeared in the fantasy "Cocoon," in which he played one of a group of Florida retirees who discover a fountain of youth created by extraterrestrials.

He failed a screen test at MGM in 1935 - "I saw it and hated it. But then I found later that I hated everything I did."

But an agent showed the test to Darryl Zanuck, chief of 20th Century Fox, and Zanuck made Ameche the busiest actor at the studio.

Ameche proved the ideal leading man for such stars as Loretta Young ("Ramona," "Love Under Fire"), Betty Grable ("Down Argentine Way," "Moon Over Miami") and especially Alice Faye ("In Old Chicago," "Alexander's Ragtime Band," "Hollywood Cavalcade"). Zanuck cast Ameche as Stephen Foster in "Swanee River" and as the telephone inventor in "The Story of Alexander Graham Bell."

Ameche's on-screen ebullience contrasted with his personal modesty. When he received an Academy Award at the age of 79 in 1986, he remarked: "For all you members of the academy, this esteemed gentleman (the Oscar) says that you have given me your recognition. You've given to me your love; I hope that I have earned your respect."

Project Christmas Card discussed by study club

Project Christmas Card was discussed by members of L'Allegra Study Club when the women met Dec. 2 for their annual Christmas party and brunch in the home of Judy Wall.

The treasurer reported that the project canisters have been placed at several locations including The Hereford Brand, Hereford Senior Citizens Center, The Atrium, Perfect Touch, Inkahoots, Kid's Alley, Hereford State and First National Banks, Hereford Texas Federal Credit Union, Hereford Regional Medical Center and Taylor & Sons.

Deadline to donate to the annual benefit project is Dec. 13 in order to be included in the paper's special Christmas greeting ad which will be published Sunday, Dec. 19.

The project's beneficiary this year is the Deaf Smith Health Care Foundation, the newest addition to the county's health care structure.

It was reported that the gazebo, purchased by proceeds from last year's Project Christmas Card, has been erected on the east grounds of the Hereford Regional Medical Center. Club members will decorate the gazebo for the Christmas holidays. A special dedication ceremony is scheduled at 5 p.m. Dec. 13 with the public invited to attend.

Club members enjoyed a brunch prepared by MaryBeth Messer. The menu consisted of omelet saddle bags, fresh fruit with citrus yogurt dip, sweet rolls, petit pastries, apple cranberry spritzers and cinnamon bean coffee.

Co-hostesses included Suzanne Smith, Hilda Perales, Joyce Lomas, Poppy Head, Karen Payne, and Nancy Haysom. Other members present were Carman Flood, Kitty Gault, Diane Hoelscher, Sandy Josseland, Barbara Kerr, Sylvia Khuri, Shelly Moss, Micah Noland, Dee Anne Trotter and Jan Weishaar.

Before the conclusion of the party, members participated in a Christmas tree ornament exchange and hostesses distributed party favors.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: We had some friends over and their four small children were playing with liquid bubbles they found in our grandchildren's toy box.

Now I have liquid-bubble spots on my end tables. Can you tell me how to get rid of them?—Dorothy Aston, Conesville, Ohio

Sure! It is important that you remove any soap residue left behind with a damp cloth. Then make a paste of half toothpaste and half baking soda and apply to the spotted area with a damp cotton cloth, in a circular motion. Buff with a clean, dry cloth and the spots should be gone.

I have compiled a pamphlet full of other great money-saving uses for baking soda. If you'd like a copy, please send $2 along with a long, self addressed, stamped (52 cents) envelope to: Heloise/Baking Soda, PO Box 795001, San Antonio TX 78279-5001. — Heloise

SPRINKLING JUG

Dear Heloise: I wanted to mix a small amount of plant food, so I decided to make a 1-gallon sprinkling can using a plastic milk jug with a screw-on cap.

With an ice pick, I carefully punched three holes in the lid and 10 to 12 holes in the top part of the jug. I filled it with the mixture and screwed the cap on the jug. Holding the handle, I turned it upside down and behold, a sprinkling can.

Label the container with a black or red marker and store it away until next time. — Martha Sadowski, Fairfield, Ohio

Another great hint for those plastic milk jugs!

Also, if small children are around, be sure to store it in a place where little hands are unable to reach. — Heloise

Last minute gift ideas for kids

It's late-minute holiday shopping time again!

Here are some tips to help you find toys that will be enjoyed for many holidays to come.

Consider quality and safety in your selections. Often "bargain" toys are no bargain at all, particularly if they break after only one or two uses. Look for well-constructed toys like wooden cars or trains, toy instruments, plush animals or puppets, and thick cardboard or wooden puzzles. Music on cassette tapes by some of today's new children's singers like Janie Bartels, Joe Scruggs and David Jack are also good choices.

Avoid toys that will be played with once and tossed aside. To get the most out of your toy-buying dollars, look for open-ended toys that can entertain in a variety of ways. Construction toys of any kind are a good example. Choose wooden building blocks, snap-together Lego or Duplo blocks and don't overlook the classics like Erector Sets, Lincoln Logs and Tinkertoys. All of these help your children practice skills like sorting, stacking, balancing and counting.

You'll also find value in toys that help children use their imagination and creativity. For a unique gift, assemble a box full of art supplies like paints, brushes, paper, glue and clay.

Annual event planned

The public is invited to attend the annual "Walk Thru Bethlehem" scheduled from 6:30-8:30 p.m. Thursday through Saturday at the Church of the Nazarene located at 1410 La Plata. Tours will begin every 10 minutes and will take approximately 25 minutes. Admission is a can of food for the needy. The venture will take you back 2,000 years as you walk through the ancient town of Bethlehem which has been reconstructed. A tour guide will lead you through the market place, census, synagogue and out to the stable. You will hear the dialogue of the Jews crying out for the coming Messiah, sample the bread, smell the spices and see the glory of the flying angles.

You can avoid holiday hassles

Want to make your Yuletide more merry?

Here's how to handle those holiday hassles:

Shopping early really is a good idea if you want to beat long lines and get personal attention from salespeople who are likely to be less harried now than a few days before Christmas. Check out the ads in local newspapers to see where the bargains are.

Buy stamps in bulk for your Christmas cards; mail cards and out-of-town-bound gifts early.

Holiday parties will go easier if you prepare much of your meal ahead of time and refrigerate. Then just heat up the food shortly before guests arrive, so you can spend more time with them, less time in the kitchen.

Florida became a U.S. territory in 1822.

Hereford girls fall in Brownfield; Boys salvage 7th in Denver City

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

The Hereford girls' basketball team failed in a try for third place in the Brownfield tournament Saturday, but the boys' team salvaged seventh place in the Denver City tourney.

The girls, playing for third place in the Brownfield Noon Lions Club Tournament, lost 55-49 to Odessa Permian--two days after beating Permian in the opening round.

In the rematch, Hereford fell victim to shooting woes that plagued them through the weekend's two wins and two losses. The Lady Whitefaces now are 4-5 on the season.

"We didn't play well offensively," coach Eddie Fortenberry said. "We didn't shoot the ball well. We put together four lackluster games."

Hereford trailed 38-25 going into the final quarter and finally had a good quarter, according to Fortenberry. Hereford pulled as close as three points before falling.

"We played well when we played out of desperation, when we knew we had to," Fortenberry said.

Hereford was led by Britney Binder with 15 points. Heather Hodges chipped in 10 points.

Midland Lee, which beat Hereford in the semifinals, won the tournament, defeating El Paso Irvin 63-52.

Hereford's boys charged out to a 30-13 halftime lead and held off Midland Lee's junior varsity team for a 49-43 win--Hereford's only win of the Denver City Invitational.

"We played real well in the first half," coach Randy Dean said. "We kind of ran out of gas in the second half, but we still held on to win."

Ashley Noland and Isaac Walker each scored nine points for Hereford, now 2-6.

The boys' weekend went up and down, with a three-point loss to Denver City on Thursday that Dean called "one of our best games of the year," followed by an 86-46 loss to Snyder on Friday.

"We've got to come to the understanding that we've got to be totally prepared for every game," Dean said.

Tonight, Hereford's boys and girls split up and go out of town for games. The boys will play at 8 p.m. in Dimmitt, with the junior varsity game at 6:30. The girls will go to Wolforth for a 6:30 game with Frenship, with the JV starting at 5.

Both Hereford's junior varsity teams played in tournaments over the weekend. The girls' JV won the JV tourney in Brownfield, while the boys' JV settled for seventh in an Amarillo tournament.

The girls started with a 54-53 win over Meadow on Friday, continued with a 58-30 smacking of New Deal Saturday morning and finished with a 45-39 win over the host Brownfield JV. Beth Weatherly led Hereford with 11 points in the championship game, and led with 15 against New Deal. Julie Cole added 10 and Crystal Mercer added nine against New Deal.

The boys ran up against three good teams and won one of the games, 63-57 over Randall's JV. The losses were to the Amarillo High's JV, 64-51, and to the Pampa JV, 46-40. Hereford had different leading scorers in each game: Wade Backus had 12 against Amarillo High; Todd Dudley had 13 against Pampa; and Brian Torres had 14 against Randall.

Junior High teams

Hereford Junior High's basketball teams took on Dumas Monday, in all winning five-of-eight games.

The Hereford girls, playing in Hereford, won three, including the seventh grade Maroon's 22-21 overtime victory. Tara Mays led Hereford with seven points, but Amy Perrin was the clutch performer, hitting two free throws late in the game to force OT, then hitting two more free shots in the extra period.

The eighth grade A team destroyed their Dumas opponents 56-6. Catie Betzen led the charge with 17 points, followed by Julie Rampley and Misti Davis with 10 each and Nichole Albracht eight.

The seventh grade white team won 27-21, led by Keshia Rives' 12 points. The eighth grade B team lost 19-15; high scorers were Kate Dennison and Sarah Ramey with four points each.

The HJH boys split four games in Dumas, getting wins from the eighth grade B team and the seventh Maroon. The eighth-graders won 38-29, with T.J. Danley scoring half of Hereford's points, and the seventh-graders won 36-14 with 12 points from Chris Torres and nine from Shane Decker.

The eighth grade A team fell 44-22, and Anthony Lopez scored nine. The seventh White team lost 40-27 despite Mitch Wagner's 11 points.

Hereford will host a tournament for seventh-ninth grade boys this week, Thursday-Saturday. Times and more details will be available later.

The eighth grade A team fell 44-22, and Anthony Lopez scored nine. The seventh White team lost 40-27 despite Mitch Wagner's 11 points.

Hereford will host a tournament for seventh-ninth grade boys this week, Thursday-Saturday. Times and more details will be available later.

Ninth grade girls

Hereford's ninth grade A girls whipped Palo Duro White 56-14 Monday in Whiteface Gym. PD actually made something of a comeback after falling behind 23-1 at halftime. Shawna DonJuan had 12 points to lead Hereford, and Kori Fowler and Cassie Abney contributed 10 each. Kari Barrett scored nine points and had 11 assists.

The B team's game Monday was canceled.

The A team played in a tournament in Lockney Thursday-Saturday. Hereford lost 48-44 to Lubbock Roosevelt on Thursday, had a bye Friday and pummeled Floydada 64-24 for consolation Saturday. Against Floydada, DonJuan and Abney each had 17 points, and Barrett added 12; against Roosevelt, Fowler had 14, Barrett had 11 and Abney had nine.

Ninth grade boys

They were scheduled to play Saturday and Monday, but no results were reported.

Walcott girls win local tourney

The girls' basketball team from the Walcott School, made up of girls in the 4th, 5th and 6th grades, won the St. Anthony's Invitational Basketball Tournament held Friday and Saturday at St. Anthony's Catholic Church in Hereford. Team members are: (front row, left to right) Jessica Holmes, Teresa Medina, Monica McClesky, Kyla Coleman, Brittany Brown, Abrea Holmes, Kecia Thomas, Toni Eicke, (back row) Melissa Reyna, Linda Cumpian, Tonya Adams, Sehrena Davis, Sindy Pando, Ivory Isaacson and coach Darla Alford. The Walcott girls won 25-20, pulling away from a very close game in the final minute. In the boys' division, the Dumas YMCA team held off a frantic comeback from the St. Anthony's team and won 46-43.

SuperSonics deflect Bullets

By The Associated Press

Seattle thinks its high-pressure, trapping defense could lead the SuperSonics to an NBA championship.

The Sonics improved to 14-1 - the best start in the club's 27-year history - and equaled a team record of 23 steals Monday night in a 103-96 victory over Washington.

The Bullets, averaging 17

turnovers a game, were forced into a season-high 30 giveaways that turned into 30 points for the Sonics.

In the only other NBA game Monday, Utah beat New York 103-96.

No other team plays defense with the non-stop, double-teaming trap that the Sonics use.

"People call it a crazy defense," Nate McMillan of the Sonics said. "It is crazy, but it's under control. We know where we want to be, where we're supposed to be, where we're supposed to go and the rotations we're supposed to have."

The Sonics lead the NBA in steals (13.2 a game) and forcing opponents into turnovers (21.6). They're also leading the league in shooting percentage (.508). Those layups and dunks after steals add up fast.

Cowboys, Smith run away from upset-minded Eagles

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

IRVING, Texas (AP) - With four games to go in the season, the Dallas Cowboys don't look like the Super Bowl machine of a year ago.

But as long as they have a healthy Emmitt Smith, the Cowboys still have a shot.

Smith's 57-yard run in the fourth period, reminiscent of a 62-yard backbreaker against Philadelphia earlier this year, carried Dallas to a hard-earned 23-17 victory over the Eagles on Monday night.

"Every game is going to be like this the rest of the way," said Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson. "We aren't going to blow someone out. We are just a good football team. And we're going to have to scratch and fight the rest of the way. This is a tough league. No one is going to blow someone out by 40 points."

The defending champions moved a game behind the New York Giants in the NFC East with an 8-4 record while Philadelphia fell to 5-7.

"Nothing is going to be easy the next four games," said owner Jerry Jones. "We go to Minnesota, play at home against Washington then go to New York twice."

The Cowboys and the Giants meet on Jan. 2 in the Meadowlands for what could be the NFC East championship. Dallas beat the Giants 31-9 earlier in the year.

Smith, who gained 172 yards on 23 carries, broke loose for 57 yards to the Eagles 16. Five plays later fullback Daryl Johnston scored the clinching touchdown on a 2-yard run with 9:16 to play.

"It was the right play at the right time," Smith said. "They had me in check until the big run. We were struggling big-time."

"Mark McMillian caught me from behind. I thought I was going to score. It was like the road runner running up alongside the coyote."

On Halloween, Smith scored on a 62-yard run in the fourth period to cap a club-record rushing performance of 237 yards in a 23-10 victory over the Eagles.

"It is kind of ironic," Smith said. "Philadelphia has had a lot of injuries but they still play tough. Before the big run, we kept saying we had to get things rolling and the play opened up."

The Cowboys had lost their previous two games, and Johnson was relieved to have put the losing streak to rest.

"It was satisfying because the Eagles always play us tough," he said. "It's a big deal to beat them twice in a single year. We haven't done it in a long time. They've always had our number."

Johnson said Smith "always comes up with the big plays when you need them. That's what makes a great player."

Philadelphia coach Rich Kotite agreed.

"Emmitt puts pressure on you every time he touches the ball," he said. "He's a great player. We just have trouble stopping him." And now the playoffs become that much more difficult for the Eagles.

"We're going to have to get some help in the division to make the playoffs," Kotite said. "This is really disappointing."

Bubby Brister threw two touchdown passes to tight end Mark Bavaro but the Eagles couldn't muster enough firepower for the win.

"We didn't pull it off, it was coulda, shoulda, woulda...didn't," Brister said.

Eddie Murray kicked field goals of 23, 19 and 47 yards and Michael Irvin caught an 11-yard touchdown pass from Troy Aikman in a sputtering Dallas offense.

Irvin said the Cowboys still have a lot of work to do.

"We're not in Super Bowl synch yet," he said. "We can't get too excited."

Dallas defensive end Jim Jeffcoat said the Cowboys are running scared.

"We've put ourselves in this situation and now we've got to dig ourselves out," Jeffcoat said.

In Sunday's NFL games, it was Houston 33, Atlanta 17; Chicago 30, Green Bay 17; Indianapolis 9, the New York Jets 6; the Los Angeles Raiders 25, Buffalo 24; Minnesota 13, Detroit 0; Pittsburgh 17, New England 14; Cleveland 17, New Orleans 13; Washington 23, Tampa Bay 17; Phoenix 38, the Los Angeles Rams 10; San Diego 13, Denver 10; the New York Giants 19, Miami 14; Kansas City 31, Seattle 16; and San Francisco 21, Cincinnati 8.

Tech's Morris wins Walker award

By ARNIE STAPLETON
AP Sports Writer

IRVING, Texas (AP) - When Texas Tech lost five of its first six games, it didn't appear that the Red Raiders would have anything to smile about in December.

But Byron "Bam" Morris led the Raiders to five straight victories, rushing for 223, 222 and 223 yards in his last three games and giving Tech a berth in the John Hancock Bowl against Oklahoma on Christmas Eve.

Along the way, Morris surpassed Earl Campbell's Southwest Conference single-season rushing record, and Monday night he won the Doak Walker Award honoring the nation's top running back.

Morris, a 235-pound junior, beat out seven finalists, including San Diego State's Marshall Faulk.

The award, named for the former All-America and Heisman Trophy winner from SMU, was announced during halftime of the Philadelphia Eagles-Dallas Cowboys game.

Other finalists were Notre Dame's Lee Becton, Nebraska's Calvin Jones, Wisconsin's Brent Moss, Errict Rhett of Florida and LeShon Johnson of Northern Illinois. All but Rhett and Johnson are juniors.

Morris likely will enter the NFL draft a year early after breaking Campbell's single-season SWC rushing record with 1,752 yards this season. Campbell ran for 1,744 yards for Texas in 1977.

Morris, who gained 1,279 yards in 1992, the second-highest total by a sophomore, comes from a family of sports stars. His brother, Ronald, is a former standout receiver for Southern Methodist University and the Chicago Bears. One of his cousins is boxer Terry Norris.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please—may I have the last word to the 60-year-old single schoolteacher who is considering marrying the 65-year-old widower? He was willing to leave her 10 percent of his assets, would not share his checking account with her and expected her to pay for half of everything, as well as all of her own income tax and medical insurance.

Your advice was, "It would be a shame to pass up an opportunity to have a nice, compatible companion in the evening of your life." Are you out of your mind, Ann?

Not a word was said about whether or not this man would be willing to do half of the housecleaning, cooking, dishes and laundry. Since he is willing to leave her only 10 percent of his assets while he leaves his three daughters 30 percent each, does that mean when he gets sick and needs constant care, the daughters will take care of him 90 percent of the time?

There was no mention in the letter about this man being thoughtful, considerate or kind. It sounds to me as if he is looking for a maid with sex privileges. She would probably be shortchanged there, too, as in all probability, this 65-year-old bargain would be able to perform only half of the time -- if that.

I believe a marriage should be a partnership, but there must also be caring, loving, consideration, kindness and thoughtful. The least important part of a marriage is whose money is spent on what. It should not be HIS money or HER money but THEIR money.

I believe this woman would be happier and a lot better off if she remained single, kept her own money and bought a dog—Garland, Texas

DEAR GARLAND: Here's one more:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The 60-year-old teacher who is contemplating marrying the 65-year-old widower is about to mess up her life. The man is a full-time cheapskate and will become cheaper as time goes on. She will be paying half the grocery and utility bills and going Dutch on the extras such as trips!!!! Give me a break.

Where does love and caring come in? You should have told her to drop him like a hot brick, take her pension and spend her own money as she pleases.—Gulfport, Miss.

DEAR GULFPORT: It's beautiful how many readers look out for one another. Thanks to all who wrote.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My boyfriend recently developed the habit of keeping a toothpick in his mouth constantly. He chews on it, swivels it around and sucks on it, even while driving. Since he started doing this, I've noticed other people in public places who also have toothpicks in their mouths.

I've told him this is a dangerous habit. Not only could the toothpick go down his throat if he should bump into something, but small fragments of wood could become lodged between his teeth, causing gum damage.

My boyfriend laughs when I tell him this bothers me, but he might pay attention if he saw it in your column. Please do your readers a favor and let them know just how dangerous this can be.—Rhonda in Bakersfield

DEAR RHONDA: It can indeed be dangerous, for all the reasons you mentioned. Buy him a rubber cigarette or cigar. Obviously the guy needs a pacifier.

Gem of the Day: He who gives while he lives also knows where it goes. (Credit Percy Ross)

Helping children make responsible decisions

DEAR DR. LAMB: I'm writing about a problem I haven't seen taken seriously by anyone. I'm 50 years old and for all my adult life I've been troubled by intestinal gas. I never have heartburn and rarely have constipation. The last two years it has gotten much worse. It is very embarrassing when the gas escapes with a loud noise or bad odor when I am at work or shopping, especially when I'm walking.

I eat a wide variety of foods from the basic food groups but try to stay away from beans, cabbage, milk and foods that have a reputation for causing gas. I don't have any medical problems and a colonoscopy was normal. But I still pass gas day and night.

DEAR READER: Everyone passes gas, and at least 10 percent of the population has significant discomfort with gaseous distention. For the most part, the gas comes from the action of bacteria in the colon on food or beverages that were not completely digested in the small intestine. Often there is an associated spasm of the lower colon that blocks its exit. Since there is also a valve that shuts the area where the small intestine joins the colon, the colon becomes a closed long balloon extending from your lower right abdomen, across your upper abdomen and down your left side. As gas is formed, it inflates like blowing up a balloon. The distention can cause significant abdominal pain.

In 1887, Anne Sullivan achieved a major breakthrough with her blind and deaf pupil, Helen Keller, by teaching her the meaning of the word "water" as spelled out in the manual alphabet.

A strongly contracting colon can propel the gas rapidly as a spasm relaxes and the noise occurs. Experiments on pumping air into the colon has shown that in normal people it causes no problems as it is readily passed, but in other people, those with spasms, even a small amount of gas would cause pain. Normal people pass from a pint to two quarts of gas a day and pass gas 10 to 15 times a day without knowing it. There is no sensation, sound or odor.

Carbohydrate foods are the main gas-formers, and that includes the bulk many people need to improve colon function. I have included a list

Peer pressure can affect anyone, at any age. But it is an especially powerful influence on young people, particularly if they are unsure of themselves.

Peer pressure can be positive, such as the competition to get good grades. But when peer pressure encourages inappropriate behavior, such as smoking, drinking or skipping school, parents need to be concerned.

Parents can combat negative peer pressure by working with their children to help them make responsible decisions. Establishing open lines of communication with children early on is critical to helping them mature into self-assured, responsible adults.

How can we help children make responsible decisions?

If your child can talk with you, no matter how personal the subject, then you can help guide him or her in making good decisions. Building strong family relationships and open lines of communication will help your child handle peer pressure and make responsible decisions.

Showing an interest in your children's activities and helping them set realistic goals are an important part of preparing them for adulthood. If your child announces a desire to try out for the track team, you can help by discussing the time and dedication needed for training and competition.

Another way to raise strong and independent children is to encourage problem solving at an early age. The more practice children have making decisions during the early years, the greater their decision-making skills will be later in life.

Tips for air travel with children

If your plans for winter break include logging airport and air time, here are some practical tips for high-flying families.

-Whenever possible, book nonstop flights. Unpredictable winter weather and overbooked flights often create delays. If, however, a layover or change of plane is on your itinerary, and you find yourself with time to kill in an airport, inquire about designated play areas for kids.

-Always request the front-row seats known as the bulkhead unless your flight features a movie, in which case the screen will be too close for comfortable viewing.

-When two adults are traveling with young children, teamwork is the key to enjoying the trip. If you have preschoolers, one adult should board with all the kiddie paraphernalia and get the items stowed and arranged. Meanwhile, the children can let their wiggles out in the terminal and board later with the other adult.

-If you bring along a collapsible stroller, don't assume it can be stowed on board. Inquire if your airline will let you "door-tag" the stroller. This means you can leave it at the door of the plane. There, a special tag is attached and the stroller goes into the belly of the plane.

-When traveling with an infant or toddler, bring all of your child's food needs. If a meal is not served on your flight, it is unlikely milk will be available. If a meal is served, call the airline at least 24 hours in advance of the flight to order special kids' meals. They may range from peanut-butter sandwiches to a McDonald's Happy Meal, depending on the airline.

-Most airlines allow you to bring your child to the cockpit if there is ample time before takeoff. A visit with the pilot can lessen anxiety or fear for first-time fliers. Bring a camera along for a memorable picture.

-If you wish to bring a car safety seat on board for your child, check with the airline in advance to be sure it is approved. Flight attendants will inspect the seat when you board. Booster care seats are not allowed.

Urinary symptoms can improve

Right now, of the 30 million men over 50 years of age in the U.S., it is estimated that one in three suffer from urinary problems due to a condition of the prostate gland called benign prostatic hyperplasia (BPH). BPH is characterized by such urinary symptoms as:

- frequent urination during the day and night
- hesitancy
- intermittency (stopping and starting)
- dribbling
- a weak urinary stream
- sensation of incomplete bladder emptying

Now there is a treatment called Hytrin that's available to quickly relieve the common symptoms of BPH. Hytrin has been marketed as a treatment for high blood pressure since 1987.

Many men assume that their urinary symptoms are a natural part of aging when, in fact, these symptoms may be a sign of BPH," says Herbert Lepor, M.D., professor and chairman, Department of Urology, New York University School of Medicine and a lead investigator in a number of Hytrin clinical research studies.

"Throughout our research, we have confirmed that Hytrin rapidly and effectively relieves symptoms of BPH," says Dr. Lepor. "In the past, surgery has been the most common form of treatment. Now, Hytrin offers men a nonsurgical treatment choice that can begin to reduce their symptoms within two weeks of starting therapy."

BPH symptoms result from two underlying components: an increase in the size of the prostate and an increase in the tone of the smooth muscle of the prostate and bladder neck.

Hytrin works by relaxing the smooth muscle of the prostate and bladder neck. This relieves pressure on the urethra (the tube that carries urine from the bladder out of the body) and helps to re-establish urine flow.

Common side effects associated with Hytrin include dizziness, faintness or "lightheadedness," particularly after getting up from bed or from a chair.

Mammography screenings to be conducted here Friday

The Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center and High Plains Baptist Hospital Mobile Mammography Unit will be in Hereford from 10 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. Friday. The screening will be held at the South Plains Health Care Providers, Inc., 603 E. Park.

The program is being co-sponsored by Hereford Regional Medical Center.

Exams are by appointment only. For additional information, call 1-800-377-4673. The total cost of the screening is $70. This includes the x-ray, physical breast exam and the radiology fee for reading the mammogram. Funding has been provided by the Texas Department of Health to allow for free breast screenings for women who qualify.

The major goal of the clinic is the early detection of breast cancer. The clinic provides low cost screening which includes a breast exam by a registered nurse trained in breast cancer detection, teaching of breast self-examination and a mammogram. Currently, the most effective method known to win the battle against breast cancer is early detection. Early detection is best done by following the guidelines recommended by the American Cancer Society for breast cancer screening for women who have no signs or symptoms of breast cancer.

GUIDELINES

1. Learn and perform breast self-examinations every month.
2. Have a physical examination every year.
3. Have a mammogram according to recommendations by age:

AGE

- 40--one baseline mammogram
- 40 to 49--a mammogram every one to two years
- 50 and over--yearly mammograms

Women's health

All women who have regular Pap tests face the possibility that sometime the results may come back abnormal. Although this news can be frightening, you probably will learn that you have a fairly minor cervical disorder that can be successfully treated.

Cervicitis, or inflammation of the cervix, is one condition that may be picked up by a Pap test. Cervicitis is usually caused by an infection and can be easily treated with antibiotics.

Some types of genital warts also can be detected by a Pap test. Genital warts are spreading growths that are caused by the human papillomavirus (HPV). The infection can be very stubborn, and repeated treatments may be necessary to make the warts go away. While most HPV infections do not pose a serious hazard to your health, some can increase your risk of cancer. Because of this risk, regular Pap tests are especially important for anyone with HPV.

The most important use of the Pap test is to detect precancerous changes in the cells on the surface of the cervix. These changes are called dysplasia or cervical intraepithelial neoplasia (CIN). Sometimes the term squamous intraepithelial lesion (SIL) is used. Although dysplasia is not the same as cancer, it can possibly develop into cancer over a number of years.

If your Pap tests results are abnormal, your doctor will probably advise colposcopy. This test allows the doctor to look at the cervix through a magnifying instrument called a colposcope. Colposcopy helps in the diagnosis of cervical cancer, dysplasia, genital warts, and cervicitis. Sometimes a procedure called a biopsy is done for a more accurate diagnosis. A biopsy is surgical removal of a small piece of tissue for further study.

Your doctor will help you decide upon appropriate therapy, depending on the type and severity of the disorder. Genital warts, dysplasia and early stages of cancer are often treated with minor surgery. Some of the commonly used techniques include laser treatment--using a high-intensity beam of light to remove abnormal tissue; cryotherapy--applying a problem with freezing agents to the affected area; electrocauterization--using heat to destroy abnormal tissue; and electrocauterization--removing abnormal growths with a thin wire loop and electrical energy. Radiation is considered the most effective form of therapy for most cervical cancers.

To reduce your chances of developing cervical cancer, have a Pap test every year. Thousands of women are healthy today because they found out they had a cervical disorder and got treatment before the condition progressed.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Can Sir Charles become Congressman Barkley? Might Alabamans call him Governor?

Charles Barkley, the princeling of pro basketball, said he may enter politics in his home state when he retires.

"Successful people should help the less fortunate," Barkley said Wednesday, shaking up Phoenix Suns fans with more talk of leaving the game after this season.

The move scored points among some veteran political observers.

"He'd shake up the system for sure," said Birmingham pollster Natalie Davis, who predicts Barkley would start with 20 percent of the vote statewide. "People are cynical enough to think that you have to have a sports background to change politics."

The city of Los Angeles was incorporated in 1850.
