Valdez appointed to chamber board

BY SPEDY NIEMAN
Editor-Publisher
 Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce directors approved a financial audit report, welcomed a new board member, and heard committee progress reports during a regular monthly meeting Thursday afternoon at the chamber office.

Yolanda Valdez joined the board after being appointed to fill out the unexpired term of James McDowell, who was board secretary. Ken McLain was elected as secretary. Valdez is manager of McDonald's.

The audit report, presented by Chris Leonard of Gerhardt & Puckett, showed 1991 income of $129,038 and expenses of $132,435. The C of C had a beginning cash balance of $7,777 and an end-of-year balance of $4,380.

Charles Greenawalt, board president, announced that the executive committee is preparing a "mission plan" as a means of redefining the goals of the chamber. It will be presented to directors at the August meeting.

Plans for the annual Town & Country Jubilee were presented by Mike Carr, executive vice president. The event is scheduled Aug. 9-16, with many activities set for Friday and Saturday, Aug. 14-15.

Carr also reported on committee projects the past month, including the Great American Race and a breakfast hosting Texas Ag Commissioner Rick Perry. The chamber also participated in a bike race program, hosting riders at a booth at Town & Country Food Store. He announced that director Mauri Montgomery is the chamber's representative to the new Beautification Alliance which was formed here. Carr also reported that the industrial development committee has been working on several prospective industries.

Rita Bell, Women's Division president, reported on the group's activities for the past month. She said the Coffee Memorial Blood Bank praised the community for giving 31 pints of blood on July 22. The division held a quarterly meeting in July and reported 10 new members had been added. The women will host a style show during the Jubilee.

Oil in Deaf Smith County?

No, it's a brine well about five miles northwest of Hereford. The pump jack has been there for several years and is one of the haunts of the jackrabbit to the left of the pump.

Man caught with goods from burglary

A 32-year-old Hereford man is in Deaf Smith County Jail after being caught with several thousand dollars worth of stolen goods in his car.

Ignacio Silvas was charged this morning with theft over $750 and under $20,000. He was stopped at about 2:15 a.m. today with several thousand dollars worth of equipment from Hereford Livestock Trucking, 132 Ave. G.

Silvas' vehicle was stopped on Dairy Road by Deaf Smith County sheriff's deputy John Arzola. Arzola was suspicious of the contents of the vehicle, and saw "Hereford Livestock Trucking" stamped on several items including an engine stand and space heater. Clarence Kelly, owner of the business, verified they were his.

Police were called to the office location. They discovered the west door of the business had been pushed open. The burglary happened around 1:50 a.m. today.

A 17-year-old man who had walked away from the Deaf Smith County Jail was also arrested last night and is back in jail.

Antonio Ortiz was found Thursday in Hereford and arrested on an escape warrant by deputies.

Ortiz was serving a three-month sentence for resisting arrest and was due to be released in August. Ortiz was working as a trustee on a road crew when he walked away from the jail on July 20 after being returned from work.

State considers closing 11 parks

AUSTIN (AP) - The state's top elected officials have blasted a Texas Parks and Wildlife Department budget proposal to close 11 state parks.

"This is a perfect example of an agency attempting to economize by acting like a bull in a china shop," Gov. Ann Richards said Thursday.

"The staff of the Parks and Wildlife (Department) cannot close these parks without consulting with their own board and without consulting members of the House and Senate as well as this office," she said.

Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock added, "They should be cutting back on toilet paper before they cut back on parks and the personnel needed to operate them."

The plan, which would reduce or consolidate operations at an additional 18 parks, must be approved by the Parks and Wildlife Commission before taking effect, said Ron Holliday, public lands director for the department.

An Aug. 26 public hearing is scheduled by the commission, the day before it considers the proposed fiscal year 1993 budget containing the cuts, he said. Holliday said the staff had consulted with the commission.

The department said it would redirect the $1.1 million saved by the "proposed cuts to other areas in an effort to improve the park system."

Officials hope to transfer management of closed parks to other government entities or private groups, the department said. Until other arrangements can be made, the department would provide security, but close the sites to the public, according to the department. Changes would begin Sept. 1, the department said.

"Texas has an outstanding state park system. It's one of the best in the nation. We're here today to announce some rather drastic actions, from our standpoint, to keep it that way," Holliday said.

The department said in a statement it would redirect the money to such items as opening or expanding parks near major urban areas and developing "high potential sites" like Big Bend Ranch State Natural Area.

In addition, the agency said it wants to provide better management of cultural and natural resources such as historic sites and wildlife habitat on public lands, and enhance interpretive programs to entertain and inform visitors.

The department said the 44 permanent employees whose positions would be eliminated under the move could seek jobs elsewhere in the department.

In choosing specific parks, the department said staff considered annual visitation, cost per visitor, economic impact, the intrinsic value of each park site and the consideration of broader initiatives to improve the overall system for visitors.

Bullock said the department's 1992-93 two-year operating budget

Bush begins fighting back

LOS ANGELES (AP) - President Bush's support appears slim in this economically depressed state - in fact no one's ever been so far behind. But his aggressive, customized message here this week suggests he's just begun to fight.

"We've been here before," Bush reassured Californians who paid $15,000 per couple to attend a Thursday night fund-raising dinner at a fancy private home.

With his poll numbers in decline and his campaign under siege by fellow Republicans, Bush earlier Thursday unleashed his most pointed attack yet against Democratic presidential nominee Bill Clinton.

The Arkansas governor and his party, Bush told cheering robotics workers at Odetics Inc. in Anaheim, would cut the defense budget recklessly, endangering the nation's safety and eliminating 1 million jobs.

"They want to gut the defense and we cannot let that happen," he said to rousing applause.

"You're going to hear a lot of talk about change, but to me this election, like every other one, is also about trust," Bush said in Anaheim. "Who do you trust to change America? Who do you trust not to do what's easy or sounds good ... but to do what is right?"

291 escape fiery jet crash in New York

NEW YORK (AP) - All 291 people aboard a TWA jet escaped to safety on a runway at Kennedy Airport within minutes of an aborted takeoff and fire that gutted the rear half of the plane. At least 55 people were injured.

"It's amazing no one died on that thing," said Tom Middlemiss, an airport spokesman.

The Lockheed L-1011, bound for San Francisco, caught fire Thursday as it sped down the runway. The takeoff was aborted, causing the plane to veer off the runway and crash through a barrier.

The fire prevented escape from the plane's rear four exits, but passengers were able to escape from the front four by sliding down emergency chutes, said Bob Fulton, a spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration.

"The stewardess opened the rear exit ... and a ball of flame came into the cabin," said passenger Julia Elhauge, 31, of Berkeley, Calif.

"The evacuation went extremely well. The pilot really knew what he was doing," said Frank Huever, chi-supervisor of operations for the Port Authority, which operates the airport.

The cause of the fire was not immediately determined. The National Transportation Safety Board was to continue its investigation today. NTSB investigator Gregory Feith said it was "perhaps an engine problem" that caused the pilot to abort the flight.

Bill Kistner, a retired police officer from San Jose, Calif., said the plane was in the air for about 10 seconds when he heard a pop. Kistner, seated in the 32nd row, saw flames coming from the engine. Two of the L-1011's engines are mounted on the wings, and the third is in the tail.

"People were panicking. We were all trying to get away from the flames. It was very hot," he said.

He credited the crew with doing "a fabulous job" of evacuating the plane. "The captain was helping everyone out. He was the last to go," Kistner said.

The nightmarish ordeal lasted no longer than two minutes.

Duncan Pardue, an FAA spokesman, said the plane veered during takeoff and burst into flames after going about 100 feet off the runway. He said the plane never was airborne.

The plane, Flight 843, was carrying 280 passengers, including five non-working TWA employees, and 12 crew members, said Don Fleming, a Trans World Airlines spokesman.

Charles DeGaetano, an Emergency Medical Service spokesman, said 55 passengers and a dozen rescue workers were treated for minor injuries, including some broken bones. Forty-two of the passengers were hospitalized.

Flames engulfed the plane from the wings to the tail, and firefighters needed about 50 minutes to extinguish them. Frank McCabe, a spokesman for the Fire Department, said the rear of the plane was completely destroyed.

The fire was reported at 5:42 p.m. The airport was closed for several hours.

WCBS-AM reporter Tim Scheld, who was a passenger on the plane, said: "Everything was calm, as calm as it can be when you know you've got to get out of there because you can see flames and smell smoke."

Striking workers confronted by New Mexico authorities

LA MESA, N.M. (AP) - Hundreds of striking farm workers complained they were sprayed with Mace during a confrontation with law enforcement officers, but Dona Ana County Sheriff Ray Stormont and a state police captain denied it.

Stormont said deputies sprayed harmless pepper gas on the ground at dawn Thursday to contain about 250 farm workers who were "becoming more and more vocal and pushy."

"If the cops come to attack us again, some of the strikers aren't going to be so peaceful," said Carlos Marentes, director of the Border Agricultural Workers Union. "We're trying to be calm and controlled. We don't want violence. But, our people have to protect themselves."

Union organizer Sandy New estimated the number of striking demonstrators at closer to 500 and said they were sprayed with Mace, threatened with arrest and forced to leave the area.

New said workers were picketing the Loyd Anderson farm south of Las Cruces around 7 a.m. when confronted by at least 15 state police cruisers, sheriff's cars and U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service vans.

"It would've been a good day to rob a bank out there," New said. "It was ridiculous. They were super-aggressive, threatening us and spraying Mace. We weren't being violent or anything. It was just our presence and they wanted us out of there."

State police Capt. John McNich said officers were called to quell a confrontation between union members and non-union workers at the Anderson farm in La Mesa.

Nobody was reported arrested, but New said seven people were treated and released at local hospitals and clinics for the effects of chemical Mace.

McAnich denied state police officers sprayed anyone with Mace.

The Border Agricultural Workers Union went on strike early Monday to protest an 85-cent-a-bucket wage for harvesting jalapenos at Anderson's La Mesa farm. The workers say the wage should be raised to $1.25 a bucket so workers can earn minimum wage.

Anderson's office manager, LaRae Gillette, said most of the workers returned to their jobs after the incident.

"It was a handful of people causing this kind of commotion," she said. "They were using sticks and throwing rocks at the other people trying to work."

Anderson told reporters that after police dispersed picketers early Wednesday, workers had slashed tires on his tractors, stole farm equipment keys and blocked roadways leading to his farm.

The strike is also targeting at least five contractors who they say exploit workers. The union ultimately wants to eliminate the use of labor contractors.

Farmers hire contractors as middlemen to recruit and transport workers, and most handle pay and tax records. The farmers set wages and designate which fields are harvested.

More than 10,000 workers are employed in southern New Mexico chili fields during the harvest season, which begins in early August and sometimes lasts until January.

Centro Legal Campesino attorney Olga Pedroza, who represents the farm workers and the union, said her office plans to sue the sheriff's department and Anderson.

"What the workers were doing was well within their rights and the law," Pedroza said. "As far as we know, there was no violence on their part, so what they (police) did was a violation of their civil rights and uncalled for."

Pedroza accused Anderson of violating the federal Migrant Seasonal Agricultural Workers Protection Act, which guarantees a minimum wage. She has said laborers earn $4 to $7 an hour working at his farm.

The union last year signed a contract with Anderson that spelled out a minimum wage of more than $1 a bucket, a system of arbitration, and guaranteed water and bathrooms for workers in the fields.

The union and Anderson, the only farmer in the area to sign such an agreement last year, earlier this year failed to reach a new agreement on wages.

Union leader Marentes said Anderson was targeted for the strike because he was the first grower hiring this harvest season and would set the precedent for how much pickers would be paid in Dona Ana County's chili fields.

Trooper shot after walking into robbery

LAREDO, Texas (AP) - A state trooper is hospitalized today with gunshot wounds from a foiled bank robbery in which the suspect died.

Hector Rodriguez Jr. was in guarded but stable condition in the intensive care unit of Doctor's Hospital in Laredo after exploratory surgery late Thursday, said R.A. Arredondo, a supervisor.

A 43-year-old man was shot to death Thursday by bank security guard Jose Luis Olvera.

Laredo television station KGNS reported police first identified the man as Harry Monroe of Arizona, but then said identification found on him may be false.

The suspect died at Doctor's Hospital, officials said.

Authorities were checking a report that the suspect may have belonged to the Aryan Brotherhood, a white supremacist group based in Idaho.

"Money was taken in the robbery but later recovered," said Texas Department of Public Safety spokesman Mike Cox in Austin.

He said he did not know how much cash was involved. But the television station reported that two stolen bank bags contained $87,000.

'Love Bandit,' wife arrested

PHOENIX (AP) - The "Love Bandit," who stole more than hugs and kisses from three Texas women, is awaiting extradition.

The man, who identified himself Randy Lee Fuchs, 37, was arrested Wednesday in suburban Tempe by the FBI on fugitive warrants out of Williamson County, Texas.

Ed Nendell, an investigator for the Williamson County District Attorney's Office said from his Georgetown, Texas, office that Fuchs swept the women off their feet, proposed marriage, and then stole as much as $40,000 from each of them.

The FBI also arrested the Love Bandit's alleged accomplice, a woman who gave her name as Lois Elaine Fuchs.

The couple used a variety of aliases, and their relationship as well as their true names are unknown, authorities said.

The man is charged with theft, while the woman is charged with larceny, authorities said.

The couple will be extradited from Arizona early next week, Nendell said. In the meantime, authorities are holding both in a Maricopa County jail.

Lois Fuchs was being held in lieu of $14,000 bond, but hadn't waived her right to an extradition hearing late Thursday, said Sgt. Jay Ellison of the Maricopa County Sheriff's Department.

The opposite was true of Randy Fuchs - bond had yet to be set, but he has waived his right to a hearing, Ellison said.

After being alerted by the FBI's Albuquerque, N.M., bureau that two people allegedly were trying to obtain false identification, agents here got Randy Fuchs to consent to being fingerprinted, Callahan said.

Nendell said the "Love Bandit" met his victims through singles ads, presenting himself as a Harvard-educated lawyer and investor. After initiating a quick romance, he would propose marriage and allegedly bring in his accomplice for the scam.

Calling her his "aunt" or "business partner," the bandit would persuade his victims to invest in a fake real-estate deal before disappearing, saying he had a fatal disease, Nendell said.

House committee looks at Border Patrol activity

WASHINGTON (AP) - Immigration and Naturalization Service Commissioner Gene McNary vigorously has defended his agency against claims that improper pursuit policies led to the deaths of six bystanders during an auto chase in California.

The pursuit policies of the U.S. Border Patrol, which is part of the INS, have been under scrutiny since last month when six people died in Temecula, Calif., after being struck by a vehicle carrying a dozen illegal immigrants. The vehicle had been pursued by Border Patrol agents.

"Despite some reports to the contrary, the Border Patrol acted responsibly," McNary testified during a House government operations subcommittee hearing on Thursday.

"Those who argue that these agents are wild and reckless are badly mistaken."

McNary defended the need for chases but denied that Border Patrol agents were in pursuit at the time of the crash in front of a high school. He said the chase was ended after the Border Patrol vehicle's sirens and flashing lights malfunctioned a few minutes before the crash.

But Temecula Mayor Kay Birdsall disagreed.

"There's an obvious question of whether or not there was a pursuit. Our law enforcement says there was," she said.

An internal investigation concluded the Border Patrol agents acted responsibly and adhered to policy, McNary said.

INS data shows that the Border Patrol was involved in 3,664 high-speed chases in southern California in the past 18 months. Those chases resulted in 121 accidents in which 12 people died and 44 were injured.

The Border Patrol is writing new guidelines that would place tighter restrictions on chases. Under the plan, agents would have to obtain go-ahead from a supervisor to engage in a chase as well as notify state and local law enforcement agencies.

The National Border Council is opposed to those changes on grounds they are too restrictive, the union's president testified.

McNary and several House members used Thursday's hearing as a platform to stress that the nation's immigration policies - not chases - are hurting people.

"Washington's ongoing indifference to the problem of illegal immigration is the real villain in the Temecula incident," said Rep. Ron Packard, R-Calif. "The tragedy is that illegal immigration is costing innocent people their lives."

McNary said an unsupportive Congress and outside critics are making the Border Patrol's job more difficult. In addition, many local law enforcement agencies refuse to cooperate with the Border Patrol, including Los Angeles, San Francisco and Chicago, he said.

"The Temecula tragedy is one sad result of an ill that will continue to plague the nation as long as uncontrolled masses of people enter along the southern California border," McNary said. "The real solution is control of illegal immigration."

McNary noted that both House and Senate committees in recent weeks have shot down a request for 200 additional Border Patrol agents.

"We should have the resources and the personnel and the equipment to hold the border," said Rep. Duncan Hunter, R-Calif.

Rep. Byron Dorgan, D-N.D., has introduced a bill that would stiffen penalties for those who flee from law enforcement officials and ensure national uniformity in some pursuit guidelines.

Escaping from an abusive relationship

If you often feel helpless, restricted, unsure of yourself, and alone, take a closer look at your home life"

-Does your partner criticize you frequently about your clothes, your weight, or the way you do things around the house?

-Are you often discouraged from making phone calls or planning activities with friends outside the home?

-Do you find yourself keeping secrets from your partner, because you are afraid of the consequences?

-Do you feel coerced into acting in ways that you normally would not act?

-Are you ever pushed, hit, choked, thrown down, or threatened with a weapon?

If these circumstances sound familiar to you, chances are, you are involved in an unhealthy and abusive relationship. Although your world may seem isolated and hopeless, you are not alone. Millions of other women are struggling with similar difficulties. And many women have found the courage and support to escape to a new and rewarding life.

There is certainly a brighter and more fulfilling life for you, if you want it. The key to making a change is facing the problem and seeking support. For the short-term, find someone in whom you can confide—a friend, relative, a doctor, a nurse, or a clergy member. Arrange to contact him or her if you are in danger.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This little verse appeared in our Sunday bulletin recently and I thought you might enjoy sharing it with your readers.

If "No Excuse Sunday" wakes up some of the fallen-away churchgoers, it will have made a valuable contribution.--A.L., Oak Lawn, Ill.

DEAR OAK LAWN: Thank you for thinking of me, but I have already shared this piece with my readers. The date was April 6, 1991.

It's good enough to run a second time, however, so here it is:

No Excuse Sunday
In order to make it possible for everyone to attend church next week, we are planning a special no-excuse Sunday.

1. Cots will be placed in the vestibule for those who say, "Sunday is my only day for sleeping in."

2. Eye drops will be available for those whose eyes are tired from watching TV too late on Saturday night.

3. We will have steel helmets for those who believe the roof will cave in if they show up at church.

4. Blankets will be furnished for those who complain that the church is too cold. Fans will be on hand for those who say the church is too hot.

5. We will have hearing aids for the parishioners who say, "The pastor doesn't talk loud enough." There will be cotton for those who say, "The pastor talks too loud."

6. Score cards will be available for those who wish to count the hypocrites.

7. We guarantee that some relatives will be present for those who like to go visiting on Sunday.

8. There will be TV dinners available for those who claim they can't go to church and cook dinner, too.

9. One section of the church will have some trees and grass for those who see God in nature, especially on the golf course.

10. The sanctuary will be decorated with both Christmas poinsettias and Easter lilies to create a familiar environment for those who have never seen the church without them.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm writing in the hope that you might print this before autumn, when so many young people return to dormitories all over the country. Two young people here died recently because they didn't know about upholstery fires.

Not long ago, a friend was smoking in an upholstered chair when she accidentally dropped her cigarette. When she retrieved it, she noticed two scorch marks on the cushion. She doused the cushion with a pitcher of water and carried the chair outside to the concrete patio.

At 3 a.m., she was awakened by loud knocking. A policeman driving by had seen the chair in flames and wanted to be sure everyone was okay.

It only takes a little effort to put a pillow, mattress or upholstered piece of furniture outside if there has been any chance of scorching. If nothing happens by the next day, you still have the item. If, however, it does burn, you'll have saved your home and some lives--A Friend in Connecticut

DEAR FRIEND: Thank you for reminding us all that upholstery fires can smolder, undetected, for hours and cause not only damage but death.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is for anyone with a friend who is at home all day caring for someone who cannot be left alone due to illness or disability.

Instead of saying, "Let me know if I can do anything for you," please say, "I have a few free hours Saturday. I'd be happy to come over and stay with your mother while you go shopping or take in a movie."

Most care givers are reluctant to respond to statements that are so patently superficial, but they would be extremely grateful if you volunteered in a way that seemed genuine. Only those of us who are house-bound can know the stress of caring for someone 24 hours a day.--Jane Doe, Oakland, Calif.

DEAR JANE: Beautiful. I hope a great many of my readers will act on your generous suggestion.

Gem of the Day: Anyone who can swallow a pill at a drinking fountain deserves to get well.

HIV-infected patients should seek treatment with therapies whose efficacy have been established in clinical trials, a recent research report concludes.

Biondi sizzles; Zmeskal fizzles

BARCELONA, Spain (AP) — Adios, Matt Biondi. Your teammates gave you quite a send-off - and you didn't do too badly yourself. Hasta la vista, Kim Zmeskal - things didn't work out this time, but at least you have 1996.

Biondi and his swimmates sizzled while Zmeskal fizzled Thursday. Shannon Miller salvaged silver for the gymnastics team after her world champion teammate stumbled at the start.

The swim team, in surpassing its Seoul performance with six races to go, rang up an impressive eight medals and two records Thursday. Biondi grabbed a silver in his last Summer Games solo, the 50-meter freestyle.

He didn't make an official announcement, but Biondi spoke like a man who knew the end was at hand.

"I didn't catch Mark Spitz, but I now have 10 Olympic medals and I don't think many people even dream of doing that. I have it. It's done," he said.

The 26-year-old from Castro Valley, Calif., could tie Spitz's 11-medal mark as a preliminary swimmer on one last relay team - a role which seemed impossible four years ago when he dominated in Seoul. His totals now: seven gold, two silver, one bronze in three Games.

Zmeskal, going for gold two days after her coach announced his retirement, simply ran out of miracles in the all-around competition. She stepped out of bounds on her floor exercise, dashing any hope of sending Bela Karolyi out a winner.

"It wasn't the best night of my life," said Zmeskal, who received a hug from her mentor after the first-event stumble. Although Karolyi may be gone, Zmeskal could come back - she'll be 20 for the Atlanta Games.

She could still win a gold here on the individual apparatus, but gymnastics' most prized medal slipped away.

It went instead to unheralded Tatiana Gutsu of the Unified Team, a late substitute for an injured teammate. The 15-year-old Ukrainian outdueled Zmeskal's rival and teammate Miller, who finished second.

"I came in tonight to do the best that I could and try to win a gold medal," said Miller, 15, of Edmond, Okla. "I'm very proud to bring the silver medal back to the United States."

Day 6 of the Summer Games ended with the Unified Team atop the medals chart with 36 (18 gold, 8 silver and 10 bronze); the United States second with 32 (11, 11 and 10); and China third with 21 (7, 10 and 4).

At the pool, the swim team held a medal marathon: six races, each ending with at least one medal.

With six races left today, the U.S. swimmers have nine gold, eight silver and six bronze medals in Barcelona - five more than they won in Seoul.

Kicking off the rush Thursday was the bad boy of the butterfly, Melvin Stewart of Charlotte, N.C. His father once worked for Jim and Tammy Faye Bakker, which created some family conflicts; Melvin was once caught naked in a girl's dorm at 2 a.m.

But he was all business Thursday, zipping to a gold and an Olympic record in the 200-meter butterfly. After winning, he chomped down on his medal in an impromptu check to make sure it was real.

"It's the Olympic Games. It's not a party, it's a celebration," said Stewart, who knows the difference. "It's a celebration of just hard work and who you are and what you want to do in life. ... It's an incredible feeling."

The women's 400-meter medley relay team did Stewart one better, smashing a world record set by the East Germans in 1984. The team of Lea Loveless of Crestwood, N.Y., Anita Nall of Towson, Md., Crissy Ahmann-Leighton of Tucson, Ariz., and Jenny Thompson of Dover, N.H., bettered the world mark by 1.15 seconds, finishing in 4:02.54.

Janet Evans, the sweetheart of Seoul with her three golds, won her first of the '92 Games with a lopsided win in the 800-meter freestyle.

The Americans weren't the only hot swimmers; two other Olympic marks and one world record were set. Lin Li of China, in the 200 individual medley, wiped out the oldest swimming record on the books, East German Ute Geweniger's 2:11.73 set in 1981. Lin, who also has two silvers, finished in 2:11.65.

Canada's Mark Tewksbury won the 100-meter backstroke gold medal in an Olympic-record 53.98 seconds. Alexandre Popov of the Unified Team established himself as the fastest man (submerged) with an Olympic record against Biondi in the 50 meters. Popov now has two golds and a silver.

Winning isn't everything for the U.S. volleyball team - it may just be a sign they're about to lose. The team, still sporting its attractive cue ball haircuts, stumbled to a five-set victory over Spain that raised more eyebrows than hopes.

"We knew Spain would be fired up for the match and that they would be ready," team leader Steve Timmons said. "But most of the problems were on our side of the net."

While the volleyballers struggle to win their third straight gold, the women's basketball team, a two-time

Falcon homers

Andrews' Gabe Falcon is congratulated by teammates after his three-run homer. Falcon batted in six runs as Andrews swept a doubleheader from Graham and won the West Texas 13-year-old Babe Ruth State Tournament at the Kids Inc. Complex.

Andrews sweeps Graham to win Babe Ruth tourney

By JAY PEDEN

Coming out of the losers' bracket, Andrews needed two wins for the championship of the West Texas 13-year-old Babe Ruth State Tournament, and they got them. They never trailed in either of the championship games against Graham, winning 9-3 in the first and 7-4 in the second.

The first game wasn't a must-win for Graham; they were undefeated in three games, and they knew Andrews would have to beat them twice to win the tournament.

Andrews scored once in the first inning, then three times in the second to take a 4-0 lead. In the second inning, Graham walked the first two batters, setting up Dustin Haigood's RBI double and Mark Kidd's two-run double.

Graham edged closer with two runs in the bottom of the second and another in the fourth—closing to 4-3

--but Andrews answered with two runs in the fifth. A three-run home run by Gabe Falcon iced it in the seventh.

In the second game, Falcon's two-run single gave Andrews a 2-0 lead in the first. Andrews tacked on three more runs in the fourth on an error and four consecutive singles.

Andrews seemed ready to run away with the title, but Graham came back with single runs in the fourth and fifth. Trailing 6-2 in the sixth, Graham got a rally started. They scored twice before Andrews could

Brewers' win knocks Twins out of first place

By The Associated Press
Kirby Puckett isn't worried that the Minnesota Twins have dropped out of first place for the first time since June.

"Some people might be panicking, but we aren't," Puckett said after Thursday night's 5-2 loss to the Milwaukee Brewers. "Our time will come and somebody is going to have to pay."

For now, the Twins aren't costing other teams very much. They've dropped four straight, their longest losing streak since April 1991, and fallen from the AL West lead for the first time since June 28.

Milwaukee, meanwhile, won for the fifth time in seven games and remained five games behind Toronto in the AL East. Chris Bosio (8-5) scattered seven hits in his third complete game of the season.

"He got his job done," Puckett said. "He did what he had to do."

Bosio held the Twins to two hits through five innings and led 5-0. But he gave up three straight singles starting the sixth and found himself facing Puckett with runners at the corners and no outs. Puckett grounded into a run-scoring double-play and Bosio was back on track.

"I needed to get back to the game plan and challenge them," Bosio said. "I tried to trick them. I was ridiculous."

For Bosio, retiring Puckett was the key.

"There's the guy who's probably the MVP, and they've got one run in and guys on first and third," Bosio said. "If he gets a hit there, it's trouble. That was the biggest out of the game."

Franklin Stubbs' RBI single gave the Brewers a 1-0 lead in the third, and Milwaukee broke open the game in the sixth on B.J. Surhoff's run-scoring single, Scott Fletcher's RBI double and a two-run single by Pat Listach off Carl Willis.

Blue Jays 3, Royals 0
David Wells (6-4) allowed three hits in seven innings, and Duane Ward and Tom Henke finished with hitless relief.

Henke got three outs for his 18th save in 21 chances.

Luis Aquino (1-2) gave up three runs - two earned - and seven hits in 5 2-3 innings. Visiting Kansas City lost for the fourth time in five games.

Angels 6, Mariners 5
Pinch-hitter Gary Gaetti capped a five-run eighth inning with a three-run homer at Anaheim Stadium.

Junior Felix greeted Russ Swan (3-7) with a two-run single off the glove of shortstop Omar Vizquel and Gaetti, batting for Von Hayes, followed with his seventh homer of the year.

Mark Eichhorn (2-4) pitched a perfect eighth and Joe Grahe finished for his 10th save.

Kevin Mitchell hit a three-run homer and Vizquel doubled in two runs for the Mariners.

Yankees 6, Orioles 3
Curt Young (3-2) gave up four hits in eight innings, winning his second decision for the Yankees since he was cut by Kansas City on June 10. Mel Hall contributed a home run at Yankee Stadium.

Rick Sutcliffe (10-11) lost.

Steve Farr gave up pinch-hitter Chito Martinez's run-scoring single in the ninth before popping up Sam Horn with two on for his 13th save.

Bucs shut out Cards; halt slide

By The Associated Press
Maybe the season isn't slipping away from the Pittsburgh Pirates after all.

The Pirates, who lost their season-long grip on first place in the NL East during their just-completed 2-7 road trip, defeated St. Louis 4-0 at home Thursday night to halt a three-game skid.

The shutout, the 15th of the season for the Pirates, kept them even with the Montreal Expos, who made up five games while Pittsburgh was reeling on the road.

Pittsburgh manager Jim Leyland said the trip really wasn't as bad as it looked.

Or was it?

"I don't ever think you're ever as bad as you look when you're losing, or as good as you look when you're winning," Leyland said. "As bad as it seemed - and it was bad - we weren't out of many of those games. A base hit or sacrifice fly in the right place in four of those games and it's not such a bad trip."

Whatever, the six-game homestand got off on the right foot behind left-hander Danny Jackson (5-10), who won his first game as a Pirate.

Jackson, acquired from Chicago on July 10 for Steve Buechele, shut out the Cardinals on eight hits over seven innings to lower his ERA to 1.29 in three starts with Pittsburgh.

The Pirates had scored only three runs in 24 innings for Jackson until they finally got to Cardinals starter Mark Clark (2-5) in the seventh.

Bob Patterson pitched the final two innings for his seventh save.

Clark had checked the Pirates on one run over 14 innings this season until Mike LaValiere doubled, Jose Lind singled and Alex Cole tripled over Rex Hudler's head in right field to break open the scoreless game.

Expos 7, Phillies 2
Mark Gardner won his 10th game of the season and Larry Walker hit a two-run homer, but the Expos suffered a severe setback when star outfielder Marquis Grissom suffered a hairline fracture of his left hand.

Grissom, who leads the major leagues with 54 stolen bases, was hit by Phillies pitcher Cliff Brantley in the sixth inning and will be lost to the team indefinitely.

Gardner (10-8) allowed six hits, struck out four and walked two in 6 1-3 innings. Mel Rojas finished, allowing one hit and striking out three.

The Expos went up 2-0 in the first when Grissom drew a walk off Greg Mathews (0-1) and scored on Walker's 18th homer. Mathews gave up five hits and four earned runs, struck out one and walked three.

Len Dykstra drove in both Philadelphia runs with his fifth home run and a sacrifice fly.

Giants 5, Braves 0
John Burkett pitched a four-hitter and Matt Williams' singled three times and scored four runs as the Giants began their crucial five-game homestand.

Burkett (7-6) retired 11 in a row over one stretch and did not allow a runner past second base.

He outdueled Charlie Leibrandt (8-4). Leibrandt went seven innings and allowed eight hits and three earned runs.

Craig Colbert drove in three runs for the Giants, two with a triple.

Cowboys, Oilers prepare for game

By The Associated Press
Sleep could be as important as training when the Dallas Cowboys and Houston Oilers take the field for the American Bowl in Tokyo.

Both teams had jet lag after a 19-hour flight from Texas. They are scheduled to play Saturday.

"I couldn't believe how long the trip was," said Oilers offensive tackle David Williams. "I couldn't sleep much because I couldn't get comfortable. I read and watched some movies."

Meanwhile, Cowboys players had to watch a tape of last season's 24-21 victory over the Washington Redskins. The charter flight also featured movies such as "Cape Fear" and "City Slickers."

"I'd already seen them all at home on my (satellite) dish," Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson said. "So I just watched the Redskins game."

The teams worked out together

Thursday, with another workout scheduled today in preparation for the game. Cowboys quarterback Troy Aikman said he was eager to continue working through the trip.

"Some guys want to go out and have a lot of fun and I think we'll do some of that, but we have to keep in mind this is training camp, and we've got some work to get done," said Aikman.

On arrival in Japan, Johnson immediately whisked players off to the practice field for a 30-minute workout consisting of stretching and running. Then came an evening team meeting.

"I hope the people are glad we're here," guard Nate Newton said. "I just hope they know what we went through. I wouldn't wish it on anybody."

Oilers players also worked out briefly after arriving on orders of coach Jack Pardee. Although it was 8 p.m. in Tokyo, their body clocks read 6 a.m.

"I don't really know what time it is back in Houston or how many hours we've been up," he said. "We want to do everything we can to help them get over the jet lag."

The practice was grueling after the long trip, said Houston linebacker Al Smith, who was still glad to have gone through it.

"I still don't feel real well, but I feel a lot better than I did," said Smith. "Right now, all I want is my bed. I'm sure I'll feel better in the morning."

Pardee plans to follow the Oilers' training-camp routine as much as possible.

"This is an experiment for everybody, and I'm sure they'll appreciate it once they get over the jet lag," he said. "It's not every day that you travel to Japan."

Harris to play football only 2 years

DALLAS (AP) - Two sports careers are too much for Dallas Cowboys rookie Donald Harris, who says he'll only stay in football two years and then resume playing baseball.

The safety, who has signed a two-year contract with the Cowboys, made the surprise announcement Thursday in Tokyo where the team was scheduled to play the Houston Oilers in the American Bowl.

"At this time, that's the way I feel about it," Harris said. "If I play football, it won't be for more than two years."

The Texas Rangers' starter for a time in center field until a recent demotion to Class AA Tulsa, Harris said he did not want to compete in both sports.

Harris, despite apparent differences with Rangers' general manager Tom Grieve and manager Toby Harrah, said he has decided to pursue a long-term baseball career.

His statement surprised both Cowboys and Rangers spokesmen.

"I don't even know what I'm going to be doing two years from now," said Cowboys coach Jimmy Johnson. "I haven't even talked to Donald about it."

The Rangers have had no contact with Harris since July 24 in Baltimore, when the team optioned him to Tulsa, said Sandy Johnson, Texas' assistant general manager for player personnel and scouting.

"If things were going great in baseball, I probably would have stayed because that was what I wanted to do," said Harris.

He said the only promise he made the Cowboys earlier this week was not to return to the Rangers this season if he makes Dallas' 47-man roster.

"If I make the team, I would play out the season," he said. "It's not been as easy as I thought it would be. I forgot about all the practices and the sitting in the boring film rooms."

Napoleon Lajoie won the American League batting title with an average of .422 in 1901.

Jimmy Foxx won American League batting championships for both Philadelphia and Boston.

Jack Chesbro pitched 48 complete games for the New York Yankees in 1904.

Congratulations to Benny Swires of Randall County for winning the July 16 Fun Tournament on Lake Greenbelt. At the weigh-in ceremonies, Benny sounded just like a professional fisherman when he gave credit for the victory to Berkley's new Power Worm and to his brand new Astro boat. He won a trophy and $385 for his efforts.

Second place and $165 went to Lowell Rusher of Hereford, who caught a nice 2.25-pound bass. The $110 third place prize money went to Pampa angler David Turner.

Despite the north winds of an unusual July cold front, 55 anglers from 16 Panhandle towns competed in this three-hour Thursday evening event. The highlight of this tournament was the participation of 17 kids who fished free. The adults might forget this tournament but these kids will remember that night for the rest of their lives.

Don't forget that all kids under 17 can fish free with an adult entry at any Fun Tournament during the rest of 1992. In August, that includes: Sunday morning, Aug. 2, at Lake MacKenzie Thursday evening, Aug. 6, at Lake Meredith Thursday evening, Aug. 20, at Lake Greenbelt

The BASS Masters Classic is underway at Lake Logan in Alabama. I am pulling for Tommy Biffle of Oklahoma and Lendell Martin Jr. of Nacogdoches because they both have attended our February Outdoor World sportsman's shows.

Another personal favorite is Joe Yates from Arkansas. In 1986 on Lake Broken Bow, he was the first professional angler who shared his boat with me during the pressure of a bass tournament. Joe, who loves the fishing but dislikes the media hype of professional fishing, just might be the nicest guy on the BASS tour.

Other Texans at the Classic include Gary Klein, Zell Rowland, Lonnie Stanley, Jay Yelas and Rick Clunn.

Quote of the week--From Jimmy Houston: "There is no such thing as too many bass in a lake. Look at a feedlot--those cows are shoulder to shoulder and getting fatter every day. Instead of worrying about too many bass, the 'experts' should start providing more food for the bass."

Circle Aug. 22 on your fishing calendar. Plans are underway for a special fishing tournament to benefit the victims of the Fritch tornado. Sandy Carroll and the Pampa BASSMasters Club report that cash and prizes total $2,000. Anyone wanting to help or donate should contact Sandy at 665-1870. My special thanks to the members of UDCW Local #1000 and Homeland for donating a $200 shopping trip. Like I said, mark your calendar: Aug. 22.

Andrews got an insurance run in the top of the seventh. In the bottom, Waller let two Graham runners on, but struck out the side for the save and the championship.

If a most valuable player were selected, Falcon would have been a good choice. He went 3-for-8 with six RBIs and three runs scored. He pitched the last four innings of the first game and the first three of the second game, allowing only one run. Andrews will go on to the next round of tournaments in Santa Fe, N.M.

The distaff Dream Team was joined in its straight shooting by Lani Meili of Cheney, Wash., who became only the second American woman ever to win a gold medal in the rifle.

Avoid unnecessary service calls on refrigerators

Summer is just around the corner, with children out of school, warm days, an abundance of fresh vegetables from the garden - and a not-so-nice service call required for the refrigerator.

The first items on the list are obviously seasonal; but how does the appliance service call fit into this category? "While it may not seem logical, there is a noticeable increase in consumer calls for refrigerator service during the summer months," say home economists from Whirlpool Corporation. Some of the service calls are necessary, but many could be avoided with a few simple in-home checks, according to the home economists.

"In fact," they note, "some summertime service calls for refrigerator-freezers are caused by the first three seasonal items: children out of school, hot weather, and good things from the garden." Refrigerators do run frequently (even constantly!) with heavy summer usage. Hot, humid weather means many trips to the appliance for ice and beverages, with doors being opened and closed frequently. And if the youngsters are snack "shoppers," they may hold the door open until all snack decisions are made.

A secret may be sometimes best kept by keeping the secret of its being a secret.

An estimated one in ten children have symptoms of asthma or eczema at any one time.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

KINGDOM WITHIN A KINGDOM

LANDOWNERS WERE THE MEN OF WEALTH AND AUTHORITY IN THE DAILY LIFE OF THE TYPICAL BIBLICAL VILLAGE. THEIR DOMAIN COULD BE CALLED A KINGDOM WITHIN A KINGDOM. THEY SET THE RULES OF BEHAVIOR IN THEIR OWN COMMUNITY AND USUALLY INTERPRETED THE LAWS IN A MANNER WHICH WOULD BENEFIT THEM. AS CAN BE SURMISED, THERE WERE HONORABLE MEN AND THERE WERE VILLAINOUS MEN AMONG THIS CLASS OF AFFLUENT CITIZENRY. THE BEST OF THEM MADE SURE THE POOR WERE ALWAYS FED AND CARED FOR. BOAZ (THE BOOK OF RUTH) WAS THIS TYPE OF GENEROUS LANDOWNER. AT THE OTHER END OF THE SCALE WE FIND THE TYPE OF RICH MAN OF WHOM JESUS SPOKE SO DISDAINFULLY, TAKING ADVANTAGE OF THE NEEDY AND HAGGLING OVER THEIR MEAGER WAGES WHILE CHEATING THEM IN THE BARGAIN. HOWEVER--HONORABLE OR VILLAINOUS--THE WEALTHY MEN OF THE VILLAGES INFLUENCED THE LIFE OF EVERY INHABITANT WHO CAME UNDER THEIR JURISDICTION.
