School approves $18 million budget

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Hereford school board members gave $66,779 back to instructional costs and approved an $18.4 million budget at Monday's school board meeting.

The budget is $1.2 million higher than the 1991-92 budget, and includes $850,000 set aside for construction and improvements. Board members have approved roofing and air conditioning/heating projects at Hereford High School, Stanton Special Programs Center and Tierra Blanca Primary School.

The board had ordered Superintendent Charles Greenawalt to pare $374,000 from the budget presented at a workshop session Saturday. Greenawalt made the cuts, but suggested the board reinstate $66,779 sliced from instructional costs.

"I ask that your reinstate that money because that is simply too much," Greenawalt told the board. "This could force us to cut out field trips, awards for our students and other classroom programs. Those items may stay in, but everyone would have to do some shuffling."

The board put that money back in, but kept other cuts intact. The cuts include $43,000 from raises that would have gone to teachers who have reached the top of the state scale, and planned three percent raises for all administrators. The budget will give all elementary principals an increase to $40,000; other administrators will get a 1.5 percent raise.

Teachers at the top of the pay scale will get $500 raises instead of the proposed $1,000 increase. Other teachers received raises mandated by the state but paid from local funds.

Much of the budget (73.48 percent) is payroll costs.

The board also approved a request from Shirley Intermediate School to dismiss May 24-26 and a half day on May 27 so faculty may work on the whole language program being implemented at the school.

Principal David Fanning explained that the program ties in one central theme in all subject areas.

"An example might be apples," Fanning said. "Teachers may use something about apples in science, a social studies teacher may talk about Johnny Appleseed, a math teacher will use apples in examples and problems. The kids really love it."

The board also:

--Approved a list of extracurricular activities for the year.

--Accepted an architect's report on heating/air conditioning and roofing projects.

--Appointed Severo Reyna as textbook custodian.

--Designated Mike Veazey to serve on the Tax Appraisal District board.

--Accepted the resignation of District II board member Sylvia Flores. The board will accept applications through Sept. 18 for the vacancy. The district encompasses much of the "older" section of the city; a map is available at the school administration office.

In an executive session, the board approved the hiring of Wanda Sobieszczyk, Debbie Allen and Terri Bennett, Tierra Blanca; Cynthia Peters and John Klattenhoff, high school; Tammy Charest, special education counselor; Bobby Nino and Ray Leasure, junior high; Veronica Anaya, Clint Seward and Charlotte Benavidez, Shirley; Karen Langford and Georgia Kaye Schmidt, West Central; and Cari McCullough, Northwest.

... new police chief

Wagner named new police chief Will begin duty Sept. 16

A lifelong resident of Hereford, David Wagner, will assume duties as police chief on Sept. 16. His appointment was approved Monday night by the city commission.

The 41-year-old law enforcement veteran was the selection of City Manager Chester Nolen, who screened 29 applications for the chief's job after Caydon Brush resigned, effective July 31.

During the special meeting, commissioners spent 10 minutes in an executive session, then heard the recommendation of Nolen. On motion of Irene Cantu and second by Carey Black, the appointment was approved unanimously, without discussion.

Salary for the new chief will be $32,000 per year. Wagner spent nine years in the Hereford police department before taking a position in Deaf Smith County probation department two years ago. After a year in that position, he moved to the criminal district attorney's office as investigator.

Mayor Tom LeGate verbally applauded the choice of Wagner, saying, "He knows our community. He will do well."

Wagner said he plans to begin a study as soon as possible of police department policies and regulations. "I don't want to make any changes until I look at everything," he said Monday night. He said he expects to be "visible" in the city.

Active in many areas of the community, Wagner is a former board member of Big Brothers/Big Sisters, worked with Cub Scouts, YMCA and Kids, Inc., programs, served as an officer in the Kiwanis Club and is a member of First Baptist Church.

During his tenure with the Hereford police department he rose through the ranks to sergeant, lieutenant and lieutenant detective.

Wagner has completed basic as well as specialized courses in law enforcement.

He and his wife, Pam, are parents of three children, D.J., 16; Sarah, 15, and Mitch, 11. His parents, Lester and Viola Wagner, are also residents of Hereford.

CED hears no dissent

With little fanfare, Deaf Smith County Education District board members set a meeting for 8 a.m. Friday to adopt a 13-cent tax increase for the 1992-93 fiscal year.

No one spoke against the proposed tax increase during a brief public hearing held Monday at the Hereford school administration building.

The increase, from 80.9 cents to 93.9 cents per $100 value, is mandated by a state law that will go out of effect next June. The CED is required by the Texas Education Agency to raise $3,843,758. Hereford ISD will get $3.6 million of that; Walcott will receive $218,691.

The 16 percent increase in CED tax is higher than hikes by many other CEDs in the state. Voters here, last spring, approved increases in exemptions for homes, handicapped persons and for senior citizens. That means others must pick up the tab. Hereford ISD's value is $464 million, but there are $56.3 million worth of exemptions and $11.9 million in taxes frozen because homeowners are 65 or over. Persons 65 and over have their taxes frozen at the rate established when they turned 65. Walcott ISD has $317,550 worth of exemptions and $62,352 in frozen taxes.

CED will meet at 8 a.m. Friday to adopt the tax rate. As soon as the rate is formally adopted, Walcott and Hereford school boards may adopt their own individual tax rates.

Pair receive prison terms

Prison terms were assessed two men Monday after probated sentences were revoked by Judge David Wesley Gulley of 222nd District Court. Probation of a third defendant was modified.

Candelario Medeles, 24, was sentenced to six years in Texas Department of Criminal Justice institutional division and fined $1,500. He was assessed a probated sentence on a conviction for aggravated assault on a peace officer in July 1990.

A seven-year term in TDCJ-ID was given Nick Garcia, 21, who was convicted on a forgery charge in February 1991 and received a probated sentence.

Judge Gulley assigned Joaquin Alejandro, 29, to the Panhandle Addictions Recovery Center in Amarillo in modifying his probation. Alejandro was convicted of felony driving while intoxicated in October 1990.

President will take Lubbock's pulse during campaign stop on Wednesday

By CHIP BROWN
Associated Press Writer

LUBBOCK (AP) - Three years ago, President Bush called on Lubbock for some favorable advice, and this windswept West Texas city was immediately dubbed his pulse of America.

These days, Bush may not want to hear what the people in his barometer city have to say.

"I think most of the people in Lubbock are taking their frustrations out on George Bush right now," said Lisa Nowlin, a partner in Southwest Research Associates, which occasionally distributes a poll from Lubbock titled "Pulse of America."

The results of the phone polls, which feature local residents' views on political topics of the day, are sent to the White House, Ms. Nowlin said.

Bush is expected to visit Lubbock Wednesday to console devastated cotton farmers with a disaster relief package. It will be the president's first visit here since a notorious phone call he made in March 1989.

In response to reporters questioning the direction of his presidency, Bush said, "I talked to a fellow from Lubbock, Texas, the other day which was the best phone call I have made. And he said, 'All the people in Lubbock think things are going just great.'"

The next day, headlines deemed Lubbock the next Peoria, Ill.

In choosing Lubbock as his example of middle America, Bush seemingly picked an easy sell.

This city on the South Plains has a population of 186,000 and more than 150 churches, many of them large and conservative. Residents of Lubbock County gave the GOP ticket 69 percent of the vote in 1988.

The friend Bush called is Robert W. Blake, a retired oil investor, who regularly talks to and visits the president. The two have been friends since the early 1950s, when Bush was in the oil business in Midland, 120 miles south of here.

Blake acknowledged Monday the folks in Lubbock may not be as charitable in their state of the union views these days.

Hurricane aid lost in confusion

HOMESTEAD, Fla. (AP) - The homeless and hungry victims of Hurricane Andrew grew impatient as tent cities designed to shelter thousands remained empty today while Army and Marine crews finished building kitchens and latrines.

President Bush planned a return visit to the ravaged area today to demonstrate "we're with them for the long haul."

"We are exploring the medium- and longer-term needs of the hurricane aftermath," he said Monday after meeting with insurers and business leaders. "It's going to take months, literally, to rebuild these communities."

Bureaucratic confusion continued to slow the relief effort, and U.S. Transportation Secretary Andrew Card acknowledged "a significant amount of red tape." A week after the costliest natural disaster in U.S. history, it was unclear who was in charge.

On Monday, an Army spokesman, Lt. Col. Bill Reynolds, said Card was in charge of relief.

But Gov. Lawton Chiles' chief of staff, Tom Herndon, insisted the state and federal agencies were leading their own programs. "There is no single boss of all bosses," he said.

The confusion has led to donated food spoiling and clothing being dumped in the trash after sitting in mud. Health officials worried about rat infestations. Garbage could be smelled from a helicopter more than 300 feet in the air.

As of Monday, the Federal Emergency Management Agency had distributed 80 checks totaling only $16,000, said spokesman Edward Lecius.

Utility officials estimated a half million people remained without electricity on Monday, a week after the hurricane. Thunderstorms hit for a third straight day, drenching families living in their roofless homes.

"I'm shuffled here, there and there," said Mike Phipps, 49, who bicycled to West Homestead

Elementary School in search of food and clothing. "I go to the Army and ask for a tent, they say go to City Hall. I go to City Hall, they said see the Army."

Officials offered no hope that the situation would change soon.

"There's no way you can do it all at once," Chiles said while touring the tent city on a baseball field in hard-hit Homestead, 30 miles southwest of Miami.

Although military personnel worked through the night, officials said it could be Wednesday before people would be allowed to move from shattered homes into the 14-person tents.

Annual football contest begins today in Brand

Another schoolboy football season kicks off this week, and that also signals the start today of The Hereford Brand's Weekly Football Contest. The popular contest is sponsored by local merchants.

Look inside today's paper for the contest pages and try your luck in picking the winners. Locate the games listed in each advertiser's space and pick the winner. You could win one of the weekly prizes of $25, $15 or $10 in Deaf Smith County Bucks. And, if you have a perfect entry-picking all 26 winners, you could claim the jackpot prize of $500.

Weekly winners will also be eligible to compete for the grand prize on the last week of the contest. The grand prize is $100 and second and third-place awards are $35 and $15. All prizes are paid in Deaf Smith County Bucks.

The Brand will also have a special "Scoreboard Page" in each Sunday's paper, featuring a complete roundup of the Friday night schoolboy scores. Beef 'N More is the sponsor for this page.

Watch for the contest pages each Tuesday; join in the fun of trying to pick the winners, and look for the special Scoreboard Page on Sunday.

Deputies investigate shooting

Deaf Smith County sheriff's deputies are continuing to investigate charges of attempted aggravated assault in a weekend shooting.

Employees of Santa Fe Railroad were working outside of town when a car pulled up to a crossing and shot at men on a passing train and at a man working on the switch on the tracks. Despite a very good description, the vehicle has not yet been found.

Deputies are also searching for two concrete culverts stolen from the construction project on North U.S. Highway 385.

Deputies arrested a man, 21, for theft by check; a man, 25, for violation of probation; and two men, 39 and 57, for public intoxication over the weekend.

On Monday, deputies investigated an assault and a domestic violence report.

Wednesday, mostly sunny with a high in the upper 80s. Variable wind 5 to 15 mph.

The extended forecast for the rest of the week: a slight chance of thunderstorms Thursday and Friday, otherwise partly cloudy. Highs in the 80s. Lows in the upper 50s to lower 60s.

This morning's low at KPAN was 58 after a high Monday of 78. KPAN recorded .22 of an inch of rain Monday morning and .10 of an inch overnight. Heavy rains fell in portions of the area, with unofficial reports close to six inches over the past three days at Frio Feeders south of Hereford.

Parents of sophomores to meet

A meeting of parents of Hereford High School sophomores will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday, in the school auditorium. All parents are urged to attend the planning session for the sophomore supper.

Police arrest 12 persons

Hereford police had a busy weekend, with 11 arrests. Those picked up over the weekend included three men, 17, 18 and 30, for public intoxication in the 200 block of Kibbe; a man, 20, at Ranger and Sycamore for public intoxication; two men, 18 and 21, for consuming alcohol after hours; two women, 25 and 28, and two men, 20 and 46, for driving while intoxicated; and a man, 22, in the 300 block of Ave. E for driving while license suspended.

Charges of aggravated assault have not been filed in an incident in the 600 block of Irving. Police were sent to Blue Water Gardens after a call about a fight and shots being fired in the area. When officers arrived, they saw a large crowd of people and found a man who had been stabbed in the back; however, the man refused to give any information. The people in the crowd also said they did not know anything about what happened or who was involved.

Police also investigated a report of a woman screaming in the 500 block of Willow Lane. After officers arrived, they were told the woman was okay but believed she had been possessed by a demon.

Other reports over the weekend included a child custody dispute in the 200 block of Hickory; civil matter in the 300 block of Bradley; dog running loose in the 200 block of Blevins; criminal trespass in the 200 block of James; theft in the 400 block of Ranger, 200 block of James, 500 block of S. 25 Mile Ave., 900 block of E. Park and 200 block of Funston; prowler in the 100 block of Rio Vista; Class C assault in the 500 block of S. 25 Mile Ave. and 100 block of Ave. J; Class A (domestic violence) assault in the 300 block of Adelito Calle; assault by threat in the 200 block of Kibbe; and a suspicious vehicle in the 300 block of Adelito Calle.

Police issued 17 tickets over the weekend and investigated a minor wreck. Firefighters were called Saturday to Blue Water Gardens where a couch was on fire. Only minor smoke damage was reported.

On Monday, police arrested a man, 22, for second offense no driver's license and running a stop sign.

Reports included criminal trespass in the 600 and 800 blocks of Irving; assault in the 600 block of W. First; assault by threat in the 100 block of Lake; criminal mischief in the 500 block of Ave. K; and burglary of a storage building in the 400 block of Ave. G.

Police issued 15 tickets Monday and investigated three minor wrecks.

Fugitive gives up after 11-day siege at mountain cabin

NAPLES, Idaho (AP) - A promise of safe transit and an appeal from his white-supremacist cohorts led a fugitive to surrender after an 11-day siege at his mountaintop cabin that left his wife, son and a U.S. marshal dead.

Randy Weaver, a 44-year-old former Green Beret accused of selling sawed-off shotguns, gave up on Monday, leaving his home with his three young daughters.

Weaver was taken by helicopter from Ruby Ridge, some 40 miles below the Canadian border, and flown by jet to Boise for an appearance in federal court today.

Former Green Beret Lt. Col. James "Bo" Gritz was credited with persuading Weaver to put down his weapons. Gritz, a Populist Party presidential candidate who in the 1980s led unsuccessful commando-style raids into Laos to look for American prisoners of war, began talking to Weaver on Friday.

"I can't tell you how excited we are. I think it's an ending that all of us hoped would come," FBI agent Gene Glenn said.

Gritz (pronounced GRITES) said Weaver indicated Monday morning that he intended to stay holed up until Sept. 9, a date that apparently had some religious significance to him.

But Weaver was persuaded to come out with a promise of safe transit from the FBI and a letter from skinheads belonging to the Christian Identity movement who kept a vigil near a barricade on the road leading to his cabin.

Gritz brought Weaver the letter, which said his fight was "in a courtroom, not up on top of that mountain." Weaver is a devotee of the Christian Identity movement, which combines Old Testament and white-supremacist beliefs.

Weaver had become a folk hero to friends and neighbors who kept him supplied with food in the 1 1/2 years since he failed to show up for trial on weapons charges and retreated to his cabin. Law officers had kept watch on the place but hesitated to risk a confrontation because of the children.

More than 100 federal, state and local law officers and National Guardsmen had surrounded the cabin since the siege began with a shootout Aug. 21 in which Weaver's son, Samuel, 14, and Deputy U.S. Marshal William Degan were slain.

Weaver's wife, Vicki, 43, was shot to death in another gun battle a day later.

Weaver was wounded in the arm that day and a family friend in the cabin, Kevin Harris, 24, was seriously wounded.

Harris surrendered on Sunday and was charged with murdering the deputy marshal. Mrs. Weaver's body was removed from the cramped cabin the same day.

Weaver's weapons included handguns, nine rifles or shotguns, and several thousand rounds of ammunition, authorities said.

The FBI's Glenn credited Gritz and Gritz's assistant, retired Phoenix policeman Jack McLamb, with helping end the standoff without more bloodshed.

Weaver was charged with assault on a federal officer stemming from the initial shootout. His wound was nearly healed, authorities said.

He was carrying his 10-month-old daughter Elishaba as he left the cabin with Gritz. With them came daughters Sara, 16, and Rachel, 10.

Boys Ranch rodeo set

Old West excitement returns to Cal Farley's Boys Ranch this weekend when youths of all ages present the 48th annual Boys Ranch rodeo.

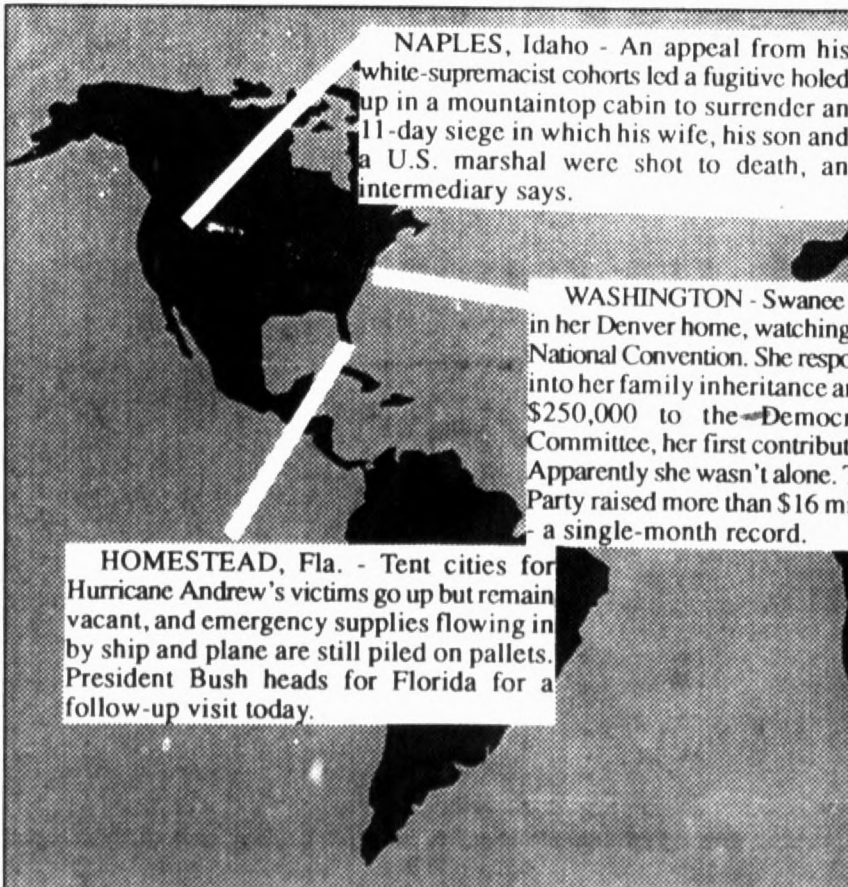

Riding broncs, bulls, calves and steers, about 100 boys will compete for buckles and trophies. Young ladies from Girlstown, and Boys Ranch staff daughters, will be tested on horseback in barrel racing, flag racing and pole bending events. A real crowd-please features the youngest cowboys and cowgirls riding stickhorses.

Boys Ranch President Ted Y. Lokey emphasized the rodeo as an enjoyable event for families. "This rodeo is fast paced, from the colorful Grand Entry to the final exciting bronc ride," he said. May Ranch alumni return with their families during the weekend, making the rodeo especially meaningful.

Other youngsters not riding help out as rodeo band members, chute helpers, clowns and concession workers.

Rodeo action begins at 2:30 p.m. Sunday and Monday. Barbecue lunches, prepared and served by the boys, are available at $3.50 per plate beginning at noon each day. Tickets are $1 to $3.50 each and are still available by calling the ranch at 372-2341.

News digest

WASHINGTON - Mars once could have been a planet shaped by networks of rivers, and home to primitive life forms like those that arose on the Earth. Or it could be a dry place that has been lifeless forever, scientists said at the World Space Congress.

Tri State Fair set Sept. 21-26

The 1992 Amarillo Tri State Fair, scheduled for September 21-26, offered prize money, ribbons, banners and trophies to hundreds of exhibitors who are winners in the thirty-five different divisions of the fair.

Competitive judging will include beef cattle, sheep, goats, swine, poultry, horses and mules, rabbits, art, foods, textiles, vegetables and other educational exhibits in agriculture and homemaking. Over $52,000 in cash will be offered as prize money to exhibitors, according to Lynn Griffin, fair manager.

Hundreds of ribbons, banners and trophies will be awarded to the prize winners. All divisions of the fair are open to participation by the public with certain restrictions on the youth events. Interested parties may find out how to enter these judged events by calling the Tri State Fair office at 806-376-7767 or writing to P.O. Box 31087, Amarillo, 79120.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: I recently read an article you had in your column regarding separating photographs that are stuck together.

While the advice given to you by the professional you contacted is good, the cost of restoration may give some of your readers a bad case of sticker shock.

If the photos were made in the last 10 to 12 years, they are probably on plastic paper. To get them apart, fill a pan large enough to hold the photos and fill it with lukewarm water. Immerse the photos in the water and let them soak.

Don't rush the process. They need to stay as long as it takes to separate them. After they've been soaking for a while, gently start to pull them apart. Stop if there is any resistance. Change the water often to keep it lukewarm. Let them air dry. — Dick Woodhouse, Chicago, Ill.

Thanks for your suggestion; however, a leading manufacturer of film and a professional photographer both agree that this may not be quite as easy as it sounds. You're taking a chance of damaging the photos by doing it yourself, according to them.

They both suggest that a professional photo restorer separate the photos, especially if they are heirlooms or one of a kind. — Heloise

NEAT ADDRESS BOOK
Dear Heloise: A better way to keep a neat address book is to write the name in ink and the address/phone number in pencil.

This way, the names stand out and careful erasing makes updating the addresses easy. — Jane LeVan, Oley, Pa.

Christine Klas feted with bridal shower

Christine Klas of Tulsa, Okla. was honored with a bridal shower Saturday, Aug. 29, in the home of Betty Martin. The honoree and former Hereford resident, Mike Allred, also of Tulsa, plan to wed Sept. 12 in Port Washington, Wis.

Miss Klas and Allred greeted guests with his mother, Joyce Allred of Amarillo, former Hereford resident, and his grandmothers, Aleane West and Mary Allred, both of Hereford.

Barbara Manning invited guests to register. Mysedia Smith and Rene Mason served refreshments of punch, coffee, an assortment of breads, phyllo florentine and fruit tray.

The serving table was covered with a white lace appliqued cloth accented with blue, the bride-elect's chosen color. Also, decorating the table was a garden arrangement in a silver pitcher. Silver and crystal appointments further enhanced the table setting.

The bridal couple received a VCR from the hostesses. They included Mary Herring, Betty Martin, Sammy Lytal, Mary Bartlett, Georgia Sparks, Lucy Rogers, Sandra Saul, Sue Sims, Gladys Merritt, Barbara Manning, Dianne Hoelscher, Carolyn Baxter, Mary Beth White, Marline Watson, Mysedia Smith, Mary Hamby, Rene Mason, Carlee Burdette, Bettye Owen and Carol Gerck.

From Coconuts To Palm Trees

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) - This winter playground of the wealthy is famous for its towering palm trees, but it once was a barren offshore sand spit with no vegetation.

Then, in 1878, a Spanish ship loaded with coconuts and wine went aground and broke up. The coconuts that floated ashore took root, sprouted and grew into palm trees that transformed the landscape.

Attracted by the palms, climate and isolated beaches, a few wealthy Northern families built winter homes here at the turn of the century.

Now, Palm Beach has luxury hotels, expensive shops and restaurants and still attracts the rich and famous.

In 1861, Maryland's House of Delegates voted against seceding from the Union.

Spikers fifth in Amarillo tourney

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

The Lady Whitefaces volleyball team won two matches Saturday to salvage fifth place in the Amarillo Invitational.

The team struggled Friday, splitting all three pool play matches. That gave the Herd an undesirable first round opponent: Amarillo High, which beat the Herd 15-5, 15-4 Friday.

Saturday went better for the Herd as they won close matches over Abilene High and El Paso Hanks.

Coach Brenda Reeh said the difference between the two days was the Herd's increased aggressiveness on Saturday.

"All weekend long in the tournament, I think we saw the difference between when we play to win and when we play not to lose," she said. "I think we saw that we've got to be aggressive. When we played the other team not to lose, we depended on the other team to make mistakes. We've got to be the aggressor to continue to improve."

Saturday's first match was a three-set win over Abilene, 15-13, 7-15, 15-12, then the Herd beat Hanks 15-12, 17-15 to take fifth.

Reeh said her team responded well in the close games.

"We did show some character in being able to not panic when our lead was threatened," she said.

Hereford even came back from a 13-7 deficit to beat Hanks in the second game. Erin Bullard served three points, then Kara Sandoval served four. The game was tied at 14, then Hanks retook the momentum with an ace to make it 15-14. Hereford came back, though, as Robyn Watts had a kill for a side out, then an ace to make it 15-15. Bullard had a kill and Angie Jowell had a stuff block to finish the game and match.

Bullard led the Herd with 10 kills, and Watts had six kills and four stuff blocks. Jill Robinson had six kills and Sandoval and Kathy Hernandez each had five. Jowell led defensively with eight digs and 10 serves passed to setter.

Against Abilene, Sandoval and Bullard each had six kills, and Hernandez and Robinson each had five. Michelle Brock had three aces and 19 good serves with no errors. Sandoval had 11 digs.

Against Amarillo High, Sandoval and Watts led with four kills. Jowell had an exceptional defensive game with 18 digs.

"She (Jowell) was reading their hitters really well and getting to the ball," Reeh said.

The pool play matches start at 4-4, and usually don't last long enough to provide interesting stats. Pool matches don't even count towards a team's record, so Hereford's record is 6-2. In pool play, the Herd went 15-7, 13-15 with Perryton; 6-15, 15-6 with San Angelo Central; and 15-8, 9-15 with El Paso Hanks.

Hereford travels to River Road today for a 6 p.m. match. The Herd will play in the San Angelo Invitational Friday and Saturday. The junior varsity, which was off for the weekend, will play in the Amarillo Junior Varsity Tournament Friday and Saturday.

Turning point

Hereford freshman Brittney Binder tips the ball over the net for the point that tied the second game between the A team and Amarillo High. Hereford went on to win this game, but lost the match, 4-15, 15-13, 15-8 Monday in Whiteface Gym.

Netters start with loss to Rebels

The Hereford High School tennis team started its season with a tough assignment: Tascosa. The Herd lost 17-6 Saturday in Amarillo.

The Herd girls held their own winning 5 of 11 matches, but the Rebel boys dominated, winning every match but one.

"Tascosa's lineup on the boys' side is very tough and that gave us a lot of trouble," Hereford coach Natalie Sims said. "Our girls are stronger than theirs and we proved that in singles."

Sherry Fuston, Emily Fuston, Gabriela Gamez and Lori Schlenker provided four of the Herd's wins in singles. Sherry edged Christian Miner, 7-6, 7-6; Emily defeated Kathy Fong 6-2, 6-1; Gabriela Gamez beat Margaret Forrester, 2-6, 7-5, 6-4; and Lori Schlenker pounded Mel Dockery 6-1, 6-1.

Gamez and Brooke Weishaar teamed to beat Miner and Forrester in girls' doubles, 6-4, 6-2. Greg Coplen was the lone male winner, 6-4, 6-4 over Seth Thatcher.

"We knew our first match of the season against Tascosa would be extremely tough," Sims said. "We played better than what the overall score shows because there were four matches that we should have won."

"Things such as footwork and timing took away most of our points, but time and practice will take care of that," she said. "Some of the doubles played together for the first time, so in time that will improve, too."

In other matches (all Tascosa wins):

Girls' singles: Benjy Priddy def. Bri Reinauer, 6-3, 6-3; Michelle Royal def. Michelle Berend, 6-2, 6-0; and Bella Ford def. Brooke Weishaar, 6-4, 6-4.

Girls' doubles: Priddy/Royal def. Berend/Reinauer, 6-2, 6-3; Ford/Le def. Fuston/Fuston, 0-6, 6-4, 6-1; and Fong/Dockery def. Schlenker/Lezly McWhorter, 5-7, 6-1, 7-5.

Boys' singles: Jave Rush def. Janie Kapka, 6-3, 6-1; Mike Hair def. Donny Perales, 7-6, 7-6; Greg Barnard def. Chris Lyles, 6-3, 6-2; Jason Crabtree def. Tom Jarecki, 6-2, 6-0; Tim Chow def. Richard Drager, 6-1, 6-1; Jason Kirk def. Jay Moore, 6-1, 6-0; and Cody Griffin def. Lupe Perez, 6-3, 6-2.

Boys' doubles: Thatcher/Hair def. Kapka/Coplen, 6-4, 7-6; Rush/Barnard def. Perales/Lyles, 6-0, 6-1; Crabtree/Carrie def. Jarecki/Perez, 6-1, 6-2; and Kirk/Skeen def. Moore/Drager, 6-0, 6-1.

Freshmen spikers fall to Sandies

Hereford's ninth grade A and B volleyball teams lost to Amarillo High teams Monday in Whiteface Gym. Hereford's A team fell 4-15, 15-13, 15-8, and the B team went down 15-8, 15-6.

The Hereford freshmen played in Dumas Saturday. The A team won 8-15, 15-7, 15-8, while the Demonettes beat the B team 15-8, 10-15, 15-6.

On Monday, the action started with the B teams, but the Lady Sandies controlled the action in both games. The Hereford A team gave the Amarillo A team a run after not playing too well in the first game.

Hereford trailed in the second game until Brittney Binder knocked down two consecutive tip kills to tie the score at 12. Hereford took the lead when Tarabeth Holmes made a block that a Sandie dove for and hit over the net but out of bounds. Moments later, Binder served two aces for the win.

The third game was close halfway through, when Hereford led 8-7, but Amarillo High went on a run and didn't allow another point.

A team coach Kristi Lytal and B team coach Loy Triana both said the teams played better in Dumas than they did Monday.

"It took us the first game to get going," Lytal said of the Dumas match, "but we came out in those second and third games and really played well."

Lytal said the A team was more aggressive in the second and third games. They won the second game in just five rotations, then needed seven for the third game. Aimee Alley served for 15 points.

Triana said he thought his team was nervous in its season debut.

"They came out a little scared and shaky because it was their first time on court," he said. "They showed poise coming back in the second game, but in the third they felt a little shaky, not being used to the situation."

Each team will play in a separate tournament this weekend: the A team in the Randall Invitational and the B team in the Amarillo Invitational.

Lewis wins breakaway in Amarillo

Regina Lewis of Hereford won first place and $357 in the breakaway calf roping finals of the Panhandle Stampede Rodeo, which concluded Saturday in Amarillo.

Lewis' time of 2.7 seconds easily beat the field. Imogene Fyffe of Fairland, Okla., was second with a time of 3.3 seconds. Melissa Brillhart of Sinton was third in 3.5 seconds, and Jeanna Brooks of Aldeo was fourth in 3.7 seconds.

Hereford excels in Tri-State opener

Hereford youth was well-represented at the Tri-State High School Rodeo Association's first rodeo of the year. Chasity Rickman won the girl's all-around title, and Justin Henderson and Samantha Winters each won an event at the Canadian rodeo.

Rickman placed in all four girls events; she was second in barrels and pole bending, fourth in breakaway roping and sixth in goat tying. In barrels, her time of 18.918 seconds was bettered only by the 17.775 turned in by Sanja Hicks of Canadian. Rickman's pole bending time of 21.303 was edged by the 20.901 of Kimberly Cloud of Wheeler. Rickman had a 4.546 in breakaway and a 12.92 in goat tying.

Winters won goat tying with a time of 10.327 seconds. She was also third in barrels in 18.214.

Henderson won the bareback event with a score of 60. He was tied for fourth in bull riding with a score of 59, tied with Clint Mask of River Road. Randall's C.W. Weaver won with a 72.

Brady Pool of Gruver was the boys' all-around winner with wins in saddle bronc, steer wrestling and team roping along with Sage Brittan. Canadian's Jim Locke won the calf roping, Pecos Shafer of Hub City won ribbon roping, and Jessica Dean of Wheeler won breakaway roping.

Canseco for Sierra: Rangers make blockbuster

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) - Jose Canseco, the embodiment of the Oakland Athletics' brash, bruising style, took the news quietly. As he readied for a first-inning at-bat Monday night against Baltimore, Canseco was called back for pinch-hitter Lance Blankenship and in the runway manager Tony La Russa told him he had been traded. "I feel awkward and strange right now," Canseco said. "It really hasn't hit me yet.

"I'm disappointed I won't be around to enjoy the A's success the remainder of the season. I can't really feel any positive emotions when I've just been traded from the (organization) I've been with for 10 years."

The deal was one of three Monday night.

San Diego sent left-handed pitcher Craig Lefferts to Baltimore for minor league pitcher Eric Schullstrom, and Minnesota moved left-hander Bill Kruger to Montreal for outfielder Darren Reed.

All players will be eligible for post-season play because they were placed on the rosters of their new clubs prior to the midnight deadline.

Canseco, a two-time AL home run champion who was hitting .246 this season with 22 homers and 72 RBIs, was sent to the Texas Rangers in exchange for outfielder Ruben Sierra, pitcher Bobby Witt, reliever Jeff Russell and cash.

The first-place A's sought more experience and depth in their pitching staff for the pennant stretch run, and they gave up one of baseball's most dynamic players to get it. Sierra is expected to replace Canseco in right field.

"It wasn't one of my happiest days, telling Jose he was involved in a trade," La Russa said. "But I think we're taking our best shot at finishing off the division, and if we can finish it, this sets us up for the postseason better."

"I think our club understands. We've seen Ruben Sierra compete. He's a two-time All-Star. We've also seen the pitchers. I think we're going to be OK."

Canseco, 28, had begun the night playing right field in the game, which Baltimore won 4-0.

After he was told of the trade, he cleaned out his locker. He sat in the lockerroom for several minutes in stunned disbelief and - still dressed in his Oakland uniform - addressed a news conference in the basement of the Coliseum.

"From their view it makes a lot of sense from a business point of view," Canseco said. "Maybe it's an indication it's time to move on."

Canseco's awesome power helped the A's win the AL pennant in 1988 and a World Series title in 1989. The A's also won the AL pennant in 1990 but were upset in the Series by Cincinnati.

Canseco has often had some controversial moments with the A's, including this year when he left a game at Oakland in the eighth inning causing the ire of several teammates.

His off-field demeanor has also been controversial as he received a number of celebrated speeding tickets and had some public domestic problems with his wife.

"It's a sad day really," A's reliever Dennis Eckersley said. "As a team, I think we'll be a better team because we needed pitching and we got it."

"But he's a great player. I feel sorry for him because I know there's a lot of emotions that go with it, regardless of how strong of a person you are. When you spend a lot of time in one place, it's kind of hard to swallow."

The A's are taking a chance because Sierra is currently out with the chicken pox. He also is a free agent at the end of the season and will be looking for more than $25 million over five years.

Sierra, 26, is hitting .278 with 14 homers and 70 RBIs.

The 28-year-old Witt, 9-13 with a 4.46 ERA, gives the A's a much-needed starting pitcher and Russell will be used as a set up man to Eckersley. Russell, who will be 31 on Wednesday, also is eligible for free agency at the end of the season. Witt has signed through 1993 with an option for 1994.

"I'm shocked," Russell said. "I felt pretty secure. I'm optimistic. They've got a good ballclub over here. I'm pretty psyched about it."

Russell is 2-3 with 28 saves and a 1.91 ERA.

Witt was 17-10 in 1990, but has often had control problems in his career.

"About a week ago I didn't have any expectations about being traded, but then I saw something in the paper that I was being shopped around," Witt said. "It's better than sitting here on a fourth-place team."

"We did talk to a lot of teams but this one was very attractive to us and we really didn't know it was going to happen until it did." A's general manager Sandy Alderson said.

Canseco entered the season with 209 career homers and 647 RBIs over his first six full years with Oakland.

He is in the second year of a five-year deal signed with the A's in 1991. The right fielder is making $3.6 million this season and will earn $4.1 million in 1993. Canseco will make $4.4 million in 1994 and $5.1 million in 1995.

When Canseco signed the contract it was the richest in baseball, but has since been surpassed by several.

"Maybe the fans were getting tired of Jose Canseco," he said. "Maybe I have worn out my welcome. I hope they miss Jose Canseco the player, Jose Canseco the person. I will definitely miss the players here."

The trade came on the last day to set postseason rosters. Because Canseco is in the middle of a long-term deal, he can request a trade 15 days after the World Series.

Canseco's agent, Dennis Gilbert, said he did not know if his client would exercise his right to demand a trade.

"It's much too early for that," Gilbert said.

Canseco's best season for the A's came in 1988 when he had 42 homers with 124 RBIs and was selected the AL MVP. Last season, he hit 44 homers with 122 RBIs, but the A's did not make the playoffs.

"In a sense it's the end of an era," Alderson said. "Jose personified that era and he continues to be an extraordinary performer on the field and we all know that."

Canseco should thrive in Arlington

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) - The one remaining Bash Brother says Jose Canseco is about to enter baseball heaven in Arlington Stadium.

"It's going to be mind boggling to see how he puts things together in that yard," said Oakland slugger Mark McGwire, who along with Canseco provided baseball's top 1-2 power punch for six years.

Now that Canseco has been traded to Texas, his new Bash Brother will be Juan Gonzales, whose 37 home runs are just one behind the league-leading total of the disabled McGwire.

The A's obtained outfielder Ruben Sierra and pitchers Bobby Witt and Jeff Russell in the deal, plus cash.

"I would have to say Mr. Maris' 61 might be gone in a year or two," McGwire said. Roger Maris holds the record of 61 home runs set in 1961 with the New York Yankees.

McGwire and the rest of the A's were in obvious shock over the trade, completed in the first inning of Monday night's game with the Baltimore Orioles.

"It's the end of the 1-2 home run punch," McGwire said. "I think we were right there in the top five of all time. But he's got another good one in Mr. Gonzales to start another one with."

"I'd hate to think of what those two could do in that park. That's going to be awesome."

Canseco played the top of the first and was preparing to bat in the bottom of the inning when he was pulled aside by manager Tony La Russa and informed of the trade.

"That isn't the way you like to orchestrate it, you know, right there when you're getting ready to play the bottom of the first inning," La Russa said.

"It would have been nice to improve our ballclub without including Jose (in a trade), but it wasn't possible."

Canseco's best friend on the team, shortstop Walt Weiss, said the trade took him by complete surprise.

"It's a shocker," Weiss said. "You're out there playing the game, and you hear news like that. Unbelievable."

Pitcher Dave Stewart, normally a prolific spokesman for the team, sat by his locker in silence and waved off any attempts by reporters to interview him.

"Not today," Stewart said.

Dave Henderson, who has been traded three times in late-season roster shuffling during his career, ironically will finally return to the lineup Tuesday night after an injury-plagued season. His long-awaited reunion with Canseco and Rickey Henderson will never happen now.

"I've played with probably 100 players out there in my career, so who knows?" Henderson said. "I'll just have to get to know another guy."

Carney Lansford, the captain of the team, put Canseco's contributions to the A's in perspective.

"Jose's a true superstar," Lansford said. "In the late 80s and early 90s, Jose, Mark and the Bash Brothers helped re-vitalize this team. I respect everything he's ever done in baseball. I know I wouldn't be able to wear these rings without his help."

Once the shock of the trade set in, some players started to realize what the A's got in return.

"It's a sad day, really," said Dennis Eckersley. "As a team, I think we'll be a better team, because we needed pitching, and we got it. But he's a great player. I feel sorry for him because I know there's a lot of emotions that go with it, regardless of how strong of a person you are."

After being told of the trade, Canseco returned to the clubhouse and sat by his locker in stunned silence. He met with reporters during a press conference about 30 minutes later, then reportedly dressed and left the park.

"Personally, I've always been a big believer in trades and a change of scenery," said catcher Terry Steinbach, who recently criticized Canseco for taking himself out of a game and leaving the park before the game was over.

"From the minor leagues on up, players come and players go," Steinbach said.

But veteran pitcher Ron Darling knows this was not just another trade.

"Canseco's a blockbuster," Darling said. "They'll be talking about this and analyzing it forever. On his first night in Texas, they'll have stats about his history in the park."

McGwire said the A's players will have a better grip on the trade after thinking about it overnight.

"It's just another thing the A's have to deal with," McGwire said. "Sandy and Tony have a purpose behind it. I don't think anybody here has dealt with this before."

"It just goes to show you anybody's tradeable. It could have been me."

An out-of-town sampling of opinion:

"I think it's a matter of moving money around and structuring yourself for next year for the free agent market," said California Angels manager Buck Rodgers. "I've got to believe that Oakland has talked to the agent of Ruben Sierra and Russell, and maybe Witt will take over for Stewart."

"I thought Oakland made out like a bandit," said Cleveland Indians manager Mike Hargrove. "I heard about it about the second or third inning and I thought the guy who told it to me was lying. That's a lot of talent to give up for one guy."

"Oakland got two pitchers and a quality player." Seattle Mariners manager Bill Plummer said. "That really locks them in to win the West."

Orioles shut out bash-less A's

By The Associated Press
This was weird.

Jose Canseco was sitting at his locker while his Oakland teammates - excuse me, former Oakland teammates - were trying to bash the Baltimore Orioles.

The Athletics' slugger sat down and could only go over the events of the last few minutes: he was near the on-deck circle in the bottom of the first inning, like he usually is at the Oakland Coliseum, ready to take his licks against the Orioles' Mike Mussina.

But then he's called back into the dugout and told by manager Tony La Russa of his stunning trade to the Texas Rangers in return for three players and cash. La Russa hugs him; he cleans out his locker; a press conference is called.

And, oh yes, the Orioles, behind Mussina (13-5) and Todd Frohwrth, shut out the Athletics 4-0.

Things were just as confusing at Kansas City, where the bombshell was dropped in the middle of the eighth inning of the Royals' 5-2 victory over Texas.

The deal overshadowed the KC debut of Chris Haney, acquired Saturday from Montreal. He gave up two-run homer to Juan Gonzalez but settled down to hold off the Rangers through five innings.

Rusty Meacham pitched two scoreless innings, and Jeff Montgomery pitched the ninth for his 32nd save.

Texas starter Roger Pavlik (2-2) gave up all five runs in 5 1-3 innings.

Kevin Koslofski's two-run single in the fourth was his 10th hit in his last 15 at-bats, and offset a two-run homer by Juan Gonzalez.

Elsewhere, it was Toronto 9, Chicago 2; Milwaukee 4, New York 1; Minnesota 5, Detroit 3; Cleveland 4, California 3; and Seattle 15, Boston 2.

Reardon helps Braves in twin-bill

By The Associated Press
It didn't take long for Jeff Reardon to help the Atlanta Braves.

Reardon, acquired Sunday to bolster a beleaguered bullpen, bailed Atlanta out of a bases-loaded jam in the opener, then earned a save in the second game Monday night as the Braves completed a doubleheader sweep of the New York Mets at Shea Stadium.

Terry Pendleton, David Justice and Damon Berryhill homered in the nightcap that ended at 12:59 a.m. EDT for a 7-5 victory. Lonnie Smith, Ron Gant and Jeff Blauser homered in the first game, which the Braves won 8-6 in the 14th inning on Otis Nixon's two-out, two-run double.

Atlanta took a 6 1/2 game lead in the NL West over second-place

Cincinnati, which was swept in four games in New York during the weekend.

Elsewhere in the NL it was Montreal 8, Cincinnati 4; Chicago 2, Los Angeles 0; Houston 9, Philadelphia 2; and St. Louis 6, San Diego 2.

Astros 9, Phillies 2

At the Astrodome, Eric Anthony hit his second grand slam of the season and drove in a career-high five runs.

Butch Henry (5-9) pitched an eight-hitter.

Houston scored five times in the sixth inning. The Astros loaded the bases with walks to Craig Biggio and Steve Finley, and an infield single by Luis Gonzalez before Anthony hit his grand slam.

Andy Ashby (1-3) was the loser.

NL puts off realignment

NEW YORK (AP) - If National League realignment occurs, it won't be until 1994.

Baseball officials said Monday that commissioner Fay Vincent has effectively abandoned realignment for next season because of deadline pressure created by the Chicago Cubs' lawsuit. The league said it is planning a schedule without realignment, and one owner said it probably would be with the so-called "balanced" formula used by the American League since 1979.

Cowboys keep eight rookies on NFL cut day

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Jimmy Johnson harvested another big rookie crop from the NFL draft. He kept eight rookies on Monday when he cut 14 players from the Dallas Cowboys roster. They included cornerback Kevin Smith of Texas A&M and middle linebacker Robert Jones of East Carolina, both taken in the first round; wide receiver Jimmy Smith of Jackson State, second round; safety Darren Woodson of Arizona State, second round; cornerback Clayton Holmes of Carson-Newman, third round; and defensive lineman Chad Hennings, 1988 draft pick out of the Air Force, and free agents placekicker Lin Elliott of Texas Tech and offensive lineman Melvin Evans of Texas Southern. "We have a good group of rookies," Johnson said. "It's a good group to build with." Slow and small Bill Bates made the cut again. He has survived to be a 10-year man in the NFL, living off hard-hitting and special teams. "Bill is valuable to us on the special teams and the nickel situations," Johnson said. "He also gives everything he has all of the time." The 31-year-old Bates, who played collegiately at Tennessee, said "every year I start out in training camp as one of the underdogs with younger, faster players running around. But experience means something in the NFL." Bates has made the Pro Bowl as a special teams member and is valuable to Johnson as a middle linebacker in the Cowboys pass defense nickel package. "Special teams are very important and the Cowboys realize that," Bates. Also a survivor was defensive lineman Danny Noonan, a six-year veteran who was on the trading block until Tony Casillas sprained his knee in Friday's exhibition game against Chicago. Another defensive lineman, Russell Maryland, was hurt two weeks ago. "There was about a 90 percent chance I wasn't going to be on this team until Tony and Russ got hurt," Noonan said. "Now, I think I'll be here the rest of the year. I thought I had been to Texas Stadium for the last time." Two teams had contacted the Cowboys about Noonan and were in serious negotiations when Casillas got hurt. Casillas could miss about a month with a sprained knee.

and running back Chuck Weatherspoon. Shepard is a five-year veteran who has returned kicks for the Cowboys. He became expendable when the Cowboys kept Jimmy Smith and tight end Jay Novacek signed. Jones will start at middle linebacker when the Cowboys play the Washington Redskins on Monday night, Sept. 7. Elliott, a rookie from Texas Tech, beat out Brad Daluiso for the placekicking job which became vacant when Ken Willis went to Tampa Bay in Plan B. Elliott hit both his field goal attempts against Chicago and sent four kickoffs into the end zone. Evans, a 318-pounder from Texas Southern, was a big surprise. He will backup Erik Williams at right tackle.

Oilers keep only two defensive ends

HOUSTON (AP) - Jack Pardee is looking to General Manager Mike Holovac for help in filling his roster before Sunday's season opener against the Pittsburgh Steelers. Pardee made his cutdown to 47 players on Monday, leaving the Oilers with two defensive ends, Lee Williams and Willis Peguese. Either Holovac has to sign holdout William Fuller and coach Sean Jones out of retirement or someone will get a short-course in defensive end. "We kept five tackles so we'll just have to train some of them to play end," Pardee said. Pardee also kept just seven wide receivers for the run-and-shoot offense but he hopes to retain a backlog of receivers on the practice squad. "It's a rainy day in August, a hard day to go through," Pardee said. "We're watching the numbers at each position and hoping to end up with a healthy squad to work with for the start of the season." "We are over at some positions and light at others." The Oilers cut four wide receivers Monday and Pardee hopes to get some of them through waivers and place them on the club's practice squad.

Pardee also decided to go with three running backs, and trimmed Victor Jones. That left the Oilers with starter Lorenzo White and backups Gary Brown and Plan B signee Spencer Tillman. Sixth-round draftee Mario Bailey of Washington was among the wide receivers cut on the final day. The others were Manny Hazard, Wade Hopkins and Elbert Turner. Also cut were: defensive ends George Bethune and Elijah Austin; tackle Bernard Dafney; guards Terry Gray and Erik Norgard; safeties Charles Pharms and Carlton Lance; and cornerbacks Billy Bell and Emanuel Martin. Turner, a seventh-round pick, and Bailey, could end up on the Oilers' practice squad. "Turner worked hard and got plenty of playing time but we just didn't see the progress we were waiting for," Pardee said. "We really didn't get to see Mario enough." Bucky Richardson, who had several clutch drives during the preseason, has replaced injured Reggie Slack as the No. 3 quarterback. Slack was outstanding in the World League but he suffered a knee injury in the final World League game and has been placed on the physically unable to perform list. Richardson was scheduled for several positions before the season started but his performance earned him a chance at quarterback. Pardee's final cutdown also was made easier by waiving injured receivers Jeff Query and Demon Mays on Friday. The Oilers would like to resign both players.

Giants' Anderson among cuts

By DAVE GOLDBERG
AP Football Writer
Joe Montana and Otis Anderson have four Super Bowl MVP awards between them. Their careers may be ending a day apart. But "may" and "be" are the operative words. Anderson, at 35 the NFL's oldest running back and its eighth leading all-time rusher, was released by the New York Giants on Monday, a few hours before San Francisco coach George Seifert said the 49ers would place Montana on injured reserve. That will keep the 36-year-old quarterback inactive for at least the first month of the season with the same sore right elbow that required surgery last fall and kept him out all of last season. Still, nothing is permanent on cutdown day in the NFL, when teams maneuver their way down to 47 players by cutting those least likely to be picked up on waivers. Many of those veterans may be back by opening day on Sunday, like Anderson, the Super Bowl MVP just two seasons ago, whom Giants coach Ray Handley said "would be discussed later in the week." But Montana, MVP of the title game in 1981, 1984 and 1989, won't be one of them. While Steve Young, backed up by Steve Bono, starts Sunday's game against the Giants at the Meadowlands, Montana will be out for at least a month - against his wishes. Bono, a close friend, said the man who may be the NFL's best quarterback ever, objected to going on IR because NFL rules prohibit him from practicing with the team during that period. "I think we all know Joe well enough to know he's competitive, which we know to be a strength," Seifert said. "I would like to think that he understands that we're doing what we think is in his best interest and obviously, the football team's, too." Cutdown day also pointed out how fleeting success can be - players approaching or over 30 are most vulnerable because all things being equal or almost equal, teams prefer younger players with lower salaries. Gone, at least for now, are both starting strong safeties in last January's Super Bowl - Alvin Walton, released by Washington and Dwight Drane, cut by Buffalo. Walton, whose weakness is pass coverage, had led the Redskins in tackles each of the last six years and is another of those players likely to come back. Among the other veterans cut were guard Sean Farrell and wide receiver Stanley Morgan of Denver; running back Johnny Hector and defensive tackle Bill Pickel of the New York Jets; utility man Harry Sydney of San Francisco; running back Albert Bentley of Indianapolis; Seattle safety Nesby Glasbow, and running back Darrin Nelson of Minnesota. Farrell, Morgan, Pickel and Nelson are all former Pro Bowlers - as, of course, are Montana and Anderson. Cuts also work the other way. Some rookies who are celebrating having "made" their teams, may be cut later this week to make way for players picked up on waivers or for holdouts signed in the last two weeks.

Seles, Graf roll at US Open; O'Brien gives Courier battle

NEW YORK (AP) - Whatever Monica Seles did, Steffi did better. Monica Seles may be the top seed in the year's final Grand Slam tournament, but second-seeded Steffi Graf won the statistical battle as the U.S. Open began its two-week run on the hardcourts of the National Tennis Center. Both won their opening-round battles with ease, each losing just 24 points. But Graf swept past Halle Cioffe 6-0, 6-2 in 42 minutes while Seles took three minutes more to blitz Audra Keller 6-1, 6-0. Seles fired one ace; Graf two. Seles hit eight outright winners; Graf 28. Graf even had one more unforced error than the defending champion, 12-11. While the top two women rolled easily into the second round, the men's top seed ran into a minefield named Alex O'Brien, a hard-hitting right-hander from Amarillo. Eventually, after a 3-hour, 20-minute struggle, Jim Courier emerged victorious, 4-6, 6-1, 6-3, 7-6 (7-5). The man who won the first two Grand Slam tournaments of 1992 - the Australian and French Opens - discovered quickly the tenacity and deep groundstrokes of the NCAA champion from Stanford. Before he could even fit his cap comfortably on his head, Courier found himself down a set. The big forehands and backhands he used so successfully at Flinders Park in Melbourne and Stade Roland Garros in Paris came flying back at him on the hardcourts of the National Tennis Center, usually at unreachable angles. But that was the opening set. Courier raised his game, hit harder with sharper angles and easily took the second and third sets. The errors were ones of commission, not omission, with both just missing lines they were forced to go for. Either go for the line or watch the return go sailing past, the point lost. "After I played the first game and I just hung in there and fought out a few points, I realized I could play points with him," O'Brien said. And that he did. It was two heavyweights slugging it out, toe to toe, forehand to forehand, rocket for rocket. And when the fourth set ended, only Courier was left standing, ready to fight another fight. The Stanford Kid, while vanquished, is off to the next tournament. "I didn't know what he was ranked," Courier said of O'Brien, No. 185 in the world. "He is a lot better player than that."

Accent on Health

Most people devote considerable time and effort to planning events and activities in their lives. But, often, when it comes to the matter of starting a family, couples assume that nature will just take its course.

Pregnancy begins one of the most important changes in a couple's lives, so it only makes sense to start off on the road for parenthood by planning for the healthiest and safest pregnancy you can have.

A wise first step when you and your partner decide to have children is to visit your doctor for a pre-conception (or prepregnancy) visit. During this visit, your doctor will find out about your medical history, any past pregnancies, and your lifestyle. He or she also will look for any health conditions you have, such as high blood pressure and diabetes, that may require special care during pregnancy.

The doctor also will find out if you have a family history of birth defects, and if so, may recommend genetic counseling. In addition, he or she will want to make sure you are immune to diseases, such as rubella (German measles), that could be harmful to your unborn baby. If you are not immune, the doctor may suggest a vaccine which you should get at least three months before you become pregnant.

If you don't eat a well-balanced diet, this is a good time to start eating well. Your body will need an adequate supply of nutrients to support the growing fetus. You should choose your meals from the four basic food groups—vegetables and fruit; breads and grains; milk or cheese; and meat, fish and poultry.

Exercising regularly can reduce stress and improve muscle tone and circulation. If you are fit when you become pregnant, chances are you'll have a more comfortable and active pregnancy.

Some habits—drinking alcohol, smoking, and using drugs—can be dangerous for your unborn baby. If you use these substances, you should eliminate them from your lifestyle.

If you can't avoid them entirely, cut back as much as possible.

Many pregnancies occur without advance planning, and, in the vast majority of these cases, babies are born normal and healthy. For couples who know that children are in their near future, however, prepregnancy planning can help prepare them for the experience and have many health benefits.

NEW YORK (AP)—It may be hard to believe, but most cases of hypothermia in the United States each year are not reported in the frosty North and Northeast but in the warm stretch of the Sun Belt.

Medical researchers report that Florida has more hypothermia victims each year than Minnesota, where winter often means temperatures of 40 degrees below zero. Some speculate that the high rate of hypothermia cases in the Sun Belt is the result of Southern sun worshippers not having the experience to cope with a sudden chill.

Carved In Granite
RAPID CITY, S.D. (AP)—The Mount Rushmore National Memorial, located in the Black Hills, covers 1,686 acres of wooded mountains encircling Mount Rushmore.

The memorial was established in 1929. Carved on the face of Mount Rushmore are the features of George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt. Each measures some 60 feet in height, from the chin to the top of the head and is visible up to about 18 miles away.

Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor, began work on the first head, that of Washington, in 1927.

Palaces and Kings
LONDON (AP)—British kings and queens have not always lived in Buckingham Palace.

St. James Palace, the royal mansion in Westminster built in 1532 by King Henry VIII, was the official London residence of British sovereigns until 1837. In that year, Queen Victoria moved the royal household to Buckingham Palace.

The British court, however, is still called "The Court of St. James" and all ambassadors are accredited to it.

Today, St. James is guarded by military sentries in colorful uniforms. It contains several "grace and favor" apartments, so-called because occupancy is at the discretion of their owner, the queen.

On April 30, 1945, with Russian forces approaching his bunker in Berlin, Adolf Hitler committed suicide along with his wife, Eva Braun, whom he had married the day before. One week later, Germany agreed to unconditional surrender, ending Hitler's Third Reich.

Let us show you a Texas you've never seen before.

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.

This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 284,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: As I was walking in the park, I noticed a woman and her teen-age daughter in front of me. Suddenly the woman slapped the girl squarely across the face. The force of the blow nearly knocked the girl to her knees.

I walked up to the mother and told her there had to be a better way to discipline the girl. She glared at me in silence. Five minutes later, I passed them on the way to my car. I stopped and said, "Your children are a gift. They deserve to be treated with respect." The woman said, "Yeah, I know. I got eight of 'em." I then told her that I knew how her daughter felt because I had been on the receiving end of that kind of parental abuse when I was growing up. The daughter, with her swollen, purple face and bulging eye, looked at me and said, "lady, why don't you just mind your own business?"

Child abuse is rampant, and it knows no boundaries. It is a destructive pattern of behavior passed on from generation to generation and will not change without the help of a good therapist who can show people HOW to change. It's not easy to change. I know, because it's the hardest work

I've ever done. All children deserve a mother who is in control of herself. I work on it every day of my life.

No child should be beaten, regardless of what he or she has done. Every time you hit, you teach your child to be violent. If you knock your children around under the guise of "discipline," I beg you to get help and put an end to it.--Bev in Louisville Ky.

DEAR BEV: I, too, have seen mothers--and fathers--punch and slap their children and it breaks my heart. I hope every parent who sees him or herself in my column today will pay attention to what you've written and seek help. It will be the most important move they've ever made.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When I was 17, I got pregnant and ended up with a wonderful daughter. The father, "Joe," also 17, did not stick around.

Two years later, I married "Tim." My daughter considered Tim her real father and I thought we had a nice life.

Last year, Tim last us and I was forced to apply for welfare. I was told my case would be forwarded to the district attorney's office so they could track my daughter's natural father and get a child support order. This was not my intention. I didn't want Joe involved either emotionally or financially.

Well, they found Joe and he insisted on seeing his daughter. He said he hadn't contacted me because he heard we were happy and didn't want to interfere. Joe is now older, married and seems stable. He knows I'm no longer married and he wants to be a father to his daughter.

I don't feel this is fair. Joe was not around when I needed him. I've told my daughter that my ex-husband is not her natural father, but she never really asked about Joe and I didn't offer any information. My daughter is now 8 years old and I think meeting him now would only confuse her.

Am I being selfish? What do you think? -- One Day at A Time in California

DEAR ONE: Please don't deny your daughter the opportunity to have a relationship with her father, merely because you want to punish him.

Joe was only 17 when he bailed out. He's 25 now. Give him a break, and give your daughter one, too. This man may be able to contribute an important dimension to her life and you should not deprive her of it.

Ask about glass lenses

Though many Americans who wear glasses or need them will regularly go to an eye care professional for a check up, fewer will ask questions about the material used in their spectacle lenses. here are some reasons glass is considered an ideal material for ophthalmic lenses and why so many eye care professionals recommend it.

Glass is strong. No other lens material is tested prior to dispensing 100 percent of the time. Why? The drop ball test used for glass would damage all other materials. Glass is tough. It's the most scratch-resistant lens material available.

Glass resists high temperatures and temperature changes. You can leave glass lenses on the dashboard of your car in all types of weather without their cracking or changing color. Glass is also chemical-resistant. Detergents, oils, fruit juices, etc. will not degrade the quality of glass ophthalmic lenses. It can also be permanently colored. If certain wave lengths of light must be filtered, glass is considered the only reliable material, its color never changes, except for photochromatic glass which automatically adjusts to lighting conditions.

Glass also offers the widest range of lenses available. All of these attributes explain why glass is considered by the experts to provide the finest lens material known to man. Simply stated, things look better through glass.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: Please tell people you don't have to have pain in the chest to have a heart attack. I started having pain in my shoulders, and when I had a really bad attack, it would go into my neck and arms. I visited two doctors and had blood and urine tests. Both said their tests showed nothing wrong and to come back in two weeks, which I did again and again. The pains continued until I had a massive myocardial infarction. I died in the emergency room and was revived with paddles. After three days there, I was airlifted to another hospital for heart catheterization. I was told only one-fourth of my heart was working and the rest was dead muscle. They also told me nothing could be done because there was nothing to bypass to.

I have had more hospitalizations and go to cardiac rehabilitation -- which has done wonders for me. I feel if they had done some tests such as cholesterol and triglycerides, I would have a whole heart today.

DEAR READER: You are quite right about not needing to have chest pain to have a heart attack. The pain can be in the jaw with either a heart attack or angina pectoris or, as in your case, in the shoulders and arms.

I have no idea what your blood was tested for. If you were having damage to your heart muscle, certain enzyme tests would have shown the damage. But cholesterol and triglyceride tests do not enable you to make a diagnosis of a heart attack. They only tell if you are at risk of having fatty-cholesterol deposits in your arteries, which can then lead to artery blockage causing angina pectoris or a heart attack. Blood enzymes and an electrocardiogram are the main ways to tell if you are having a heart attack. Of course, the history of symptoms is of major importance.

Evidently you had unstable angina pectoris, which is angina heart pain that occurs for the first time or pain that has changed in character such as being more severe or more frequent. These often progress to total blockage of a coronary artery causing a heart attack. In between attacks, the electrocardiogram and blood tests may be unchanged. That is when exercise tests and even coronary arteriograms to visualize the coronary arteries may be necessary.

I have discussed unstable angina, and the symptoms of angina and heart attacks in my new Special Report 132, Angina Pectoris and Heart Attacks. I am sending you a free copy. Others who want this report can send $3 with a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/132, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, N.J. 08077. Your point about location of pain is a good one and one people should be aware of.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I have very bad spider veins all over my legs. Is there some kind of treatment for this? What kind of doctor would I see? I thought I read that you could have some type of injection for them.

DEAR READER: Those spider veins are harmless, but many people want to be rid of them for cosmetic reasons. They do not mean you have varicose veins. However, they are aggravated by prolonged standing, injury or pregnancy. A person inherits a tendency for them.

They are usually treated by injecting the vein or cluster of spider veins with a 23 percent salt (sodium chloride) solution. This is irritating enough to cause the tiny dilated veins to scar and disappear. The injection procedure is like having a mosquito bite. They are usually treated by a dermatologist.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I have a case of external hemorrhoids, minor according to medical personnel. There are times when the area outside the sphincter muscle controlling the bowel burns and itches and is just plain uncomfortable. Is it possible that acid, from the digestive and intestinal tract can leak beyond the sphincter muscle and burn or irritate the tissue outside the anus?

DEAR READER: Not only is it possible, but that is a frequent cause of the burning and itching complained about by hemorrhoid sufferers. There are a number of irritating secretions formed in the bowel that can do this. Hemorrhoids are more than just protruding enlarged veins. The inner lining of the anal area sags and wrinkles. That increases the formation of secretions from glands in the lining. Mucus is essential for lubrication, but the associated chemicals may cause itching and even a rash around the anus.

Although there are other causes for anal itch, including pinworms and even liver disease, leakage of secretions is the most common cause. The solution is to keep the area scrupulously clean, which requires more than toilet tissue for people who have this problem. It is best to wash the area with a warm, moist cloth after each bowel movement, and in severe cases, at other times during the day. After washing, the area should be dried. Pat the area dry; don't rub. Obviously, a person with protruding hemorrhoids will have more trouble with both leakage and in keeping the area clean.

I have discussed internal and external hemorrhoids and your problem in Special Report 114, About Hemorrhoids, Itch and Anal Fissure, and am sending you a free copy. Others who want this special report can send $3 with a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/114, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077.

The average shower uses between 25 and 50 gallons of water.

To keep molasses, corn syrup or honey from sticking to a spoon or measuring cup, rinse utensil with hot water before using.

Activity takes toll on feet

Today's 63 million older adults are more active than ever. Most exercise routinely, but may not realize how much aging and physical activity take a toll on their feet. In fact, the incidence and severity of these problems generally increase with age, until after the age of 65, three out of four individuals complain of foot pain.

"A lot of the foot problems that we develop over the years result from compounded activity and simple aging. As our skin and body age, so do our feet and it becomes more important to pay attention to them just as we do with other parts of our body," said Dr. Racer LaBarbera, past president of the American Podiatric Medical Association.

The most common foot problems among older Americans are corns, calluses and bunions, which can be debilitating if ignored or improperly treated. People rely on some dangerous or ineffective home remedies to treat these problems, according to a recent Dr. School's survey of foot experts. Although seniors naturally are more vulnerable to foot problems, giving up exercise is not the answer. Better foot care is.

"A daily foot inspection is an excellent way to prevent small problems from becoming major catastrophes," said LaBarbera. "Properly fitting shoes with plenty of cushioning and proper attention to changes in the feet really do go a long way in keeping older people on their feet and enjoying activity."

LaBarbera says that individuals who identify signs of corns, calluses or bunions, should consider during to effective, yet inexpensive over-the-counter treatments. He also recommends consulting a physician or podiatrist if foot pain or problems persist.
