Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Some time ago I remember reading a comment you made about how difficult it can be for children to adjust to the second marriage of a parent.

My sister married a handsome but somewhat irresponsible young man when she was 18. Within a year she gave birth to twins. Two years later, she had a second set of twins. Four years after that her husband left her. We were a close family and everyone pitched in to help this dear girl and her four darling youngsters.

Six years later my sister met and married a wonderful bachelor who was not only willing but eager to take on a ready-made family. It was a lovely wedding. He wrote a special ceremony to include the children. This soon-to-be stepfather promised at the altar to care for them as his very own and he then gave each child a birthstone ring. The children in turn promised to love and obey this man as they would their mother. The minister then announced, "I now unite you as a family and ask God's blessing."

Of course, it wasn't "legal" in the strict sense of the word, but it had a tremendous impact on everybody, especially the children. Instead of feeling left out, as children often do when their mother marries for a second time, they felt very much a part of the mother's marriage and it got them off to a splendid start.

I hope you agree that this was a wonderful idea and that you will share it with your readers. -- Long-time Fan in America's Breadbasket

DEAR LONGTIME FAN: I agree wholeheartedly. Writing the children into the ceremony and presenting them with little rings was a sure way to make them feel a part of it. Thank you for sharing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I hope you will print this letter and help educate a large percentage of the general population. The subject is twins. I have twin girls (age 2) and I would like to get a few points across.

1. It does not matter if twins run in my husband's family. The male determines only a baby's sex. The female determines the number of babies born from the pregnancy.

2. It is absolutely none of your business if I took fertility drugs. Multiple births occurred long before fertility drugs were invented.

3. When you notice that one twin is smaller or thinner, please do not ask, "What's wrong with that one?" In fact, mothers would appreciate it if you would refrain from making any comparisons whatever. (That one is lighter or darker, livelier, prettier, quieter, friendlier, etc. etc.)

Thank you, Miss Landers, for letting me unload. -- Fed Up in Philly

DEAR FED: It is I who should "Thank you." Being a twin, I can tell you that your comments are right on.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I laughed when I read Lewis Grizzard's song title, "When my Girl Returns From the Ladies Room Will I Be Too Old to Care?"

Here's another one: "When My Boyfriend Gets Through Blow-Drying His Hair Will He Have Any Left?" -- "Proseville" in Sacramento

Planning a wedding? What's right? What's wrong? "The Ann Landers Guide for Brides" will relieve your anxiety. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Brides, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. ## Over 400 attend Harvest Festival

Recently, approximately 400 members of St. Anthony's Parish Family of Hereford dropped their tools and climbed down from their tractors and combines to gather together for an evening Harvest Festival. The Indian Summer type weather accommodated the celebration.

Beginning with the Liturgy Mass at about 6:15, the evening's events also included a supper and dance at a barn on the farm of Donald and Ann Meyer north of Hereford.

The theme centered around a developing consciousness of gratitude to God for His blessings: the bountiful harvest, completion of the Renew Faith Sharing program, the success of the stewardship program and a rewarding school year.

Members of the Knights of Columbus Council set up chairs and tables for both the Liturgy and the supper. They also cooked the barbecued beef and potatoes and beans for the meal. St. Anthony's Womens Organization members decorated the banquet table used for the Liturgy and also served the meal.

Msgr. Orville Blum, pastor, officiated at the Liturgy and was assisted by Deacon Jonny Cloud, Fr. Dick Scully and Parochial Vicar. The opening procession included the parading of banners from the various organizations and activities within the parish.

The Table of the Word was located near the entrance of the barn while the Table of the Eucharist was set up at the opposite end of the building. Extending through the center of the barn was the long banquet table, covered with dark brown burlap fabric. This table was decorated with fall vegetables, fruits, field crops and leaves. Six Eucharistic settings placed along this table for the serving of the Eucharist featured stoneware vessels. Chairs for the parishioners were placed "choir style" along the sides of the barn.

Three groups from St. Anthony's, the guitar choir, the organ choir and the newly formed youth choir, sang together, under the direction of Sharon Cramer and accompanied by a keyboard, two guitars and several brass instruments. The music ranged from traditional to folk hymns.

Following the buffet style supper, the Campbells of Amarillo provided the music for the dance.

Those planning the event, the Renew Committee and the Liturgy Committee, along with Msgr. Blum and Fr. Scully, anticipate an annual celebration of this type.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Actress Jaclyn Smith, one of the original "Charlie's Angels" TV sleuths who moved on to serious roles in such dramas as "Windmills of the Gods," now has a star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame.

More than 200 fans and friends, including actors Mel Ferrer and Ralph Bellamy, cheered during Monday's unveiling of the sidewalk star, the 1,903rd dedicated along Hollywood Boulevard and Vine Street.

Universal Studios sponsored the star and paid the $3,500 cost.

HJH grididders conclude seasons

Trick play time

Tailback Jacob Lopez (26) of the Hereford Junior High seventh grade White "A" team pulls up to launch a pass during Tuesday's 28-8 loss to Borger at Whiteface Stadium.

Top teams stay at No. 1

By The Associated Press

Converse Judson in 5A, West Orange-Stark in 4A, Southlake Carroll in 3A, Groveton in 2A and Munday in A, had little trouble holding onto their top billings in The Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll.

Southlake Carroll beat Whitesboro 63-0 and was the biggest vote-getter among the AP's panel of sportswriters and sportscasters.

Southlake was the unanimous selection, receiving all 23 first-place votes and a 230-168 point margin over runner-up Cameron.

All teams won in Class 3A but there was minor shuffling. Gladewater dropped from fifth to sixth, Barbers Hill jumped from sixth to fourth and Daingerfield dropped from fourth to fifth.

Converse Judson got 16 first-place votes and 223 points as the top five teams in 5A held their positions.

There were two losers, No. 6 Amarillo Palo Duro and No. 9 Plano East. Both teams dropped from the top 10 and were replaced by No. 9 Lake Highlands and No. 10 San Antonio Sam Houston.

West Orange-Stark survived a fourth-quarter scare for a 42-36 victory over Nederland and received 16 first-place votes and a solid 223-191 margin over No. 2 Jasper, which beat Lumberton 42-6.

Fourth-ranked Belton dropped to No. 9 after a 38-24 loss to Taylor and

No. 9 Bay City lost to Lamar Consolidated 12-7 and was replaced by No. 10 Tomball.

The biggest change in 2A involved Eastland, which was forced to forfeit four games because it used an ineligible player. Eastland dropped from No. 4 to No. 7.

Eastland (5-4) beat Jim Ned 43-0 last week.

In Class A, No. 4 Union Hill fell to No. 9 after a 14-13 loss to Lone Oak.

Other teams receiving votes included: 5A, Victoria 19 points, Marshall 14, Amarillo Palo Duro 13; 4A, New Braunfels 16, Terrell 10; 3A, Freer 22, Crockett 19, Montgomery 13 and A, Frost 15, Coolidge 12.

O's Olson top AL rookie

BAaltimore (AP) - Gregg Olson's 1989 Rookie of the Year season was a series of small steps that led up to a final rush of success.

Olson did not win a spot on the Baltimore Orioles' Opening Day roster until the final weeks of spring training. He grew into the Orioles' closer over the first two months of the season.

And, as the Orioles battled to the final weekend for the American League East Division title, he finished with 21 consecutive scoreless appearances, a streak that clinched the award.

"Staying in contention as long as we did, that made the whole season fun," Olson said by telephone from Louisville, Ky. "We had such a great season. I don't think those two games ... it wasn't like we choked up and gave away those games. We fought until the end."

Olson finished with a 5-2 record and a 1.69 earned run average, and wound up converting 27 saves in 33 chances that were as much learning experiences as confidence boosters for Olson and his manager, Frank Robinson.

"There really wasn't one certain point, it (his confidence) kind of evolved," Olson said. "Frank's confidence grew in me and he started putting me out in more pressure situations and my confidence grew the same."

His 27 saves set an AL rookie record, breaking the mark of 23 by Doug Corbett in 1980. The total was eight more than the rest of AL rookies combined this year. He is the first relief pitcher to win the AL honor.

Olson, the Orioles' first-round draft choice (fourth overall) in 1988, struck out 90 and walked 46 in 85 innings. He gave up 57 hits as opponents batted .188 against him, while left-handed hitters batted .135, the lowest in the majors.

After making an adjustment and mixing more fastballs with one of the sharpest breaking curve balls in the majors, Olson did not allow a run after July 31. In those 21 appearances, the right-hander gave up 11 hits and struck out 23 in 26 2-3 innings, getting 11 saves.

He also was the toughest major leaguer to hit a home run against. He faced 365 batters and allowed only one homer, to Dwight Evans in Boston on April 15.

Olson averaged 9 1/2 strikeouts per nine innings. Only four other AL pitchers - Nolan Ryan, Tom Henke, Lee Smith and Bryan Harvey - had more strikeouts than hits allowed.

Olson received 26 first-place votes and two seconds from a 28-member panel of the Baseball Writers Association of America for 136 points. Kansas City Royals pitcher Tom Gordon got one first, 19 seconds and five thirds for 67 points. Seattle Mariners outfielder Ken Griffey Jr. got one first, two seconds and 10 thirds for 21 points.

The Hereford Junior High football teams concluded their seasons Tuesday with a slate of games against teams from Dumas and Borger.

In seventh grade games, Dumas swept the Hereford Maroon teams by beating the "A" squad, 34-22, at the Junior High Field and edging the "B" team, 14-6, at the South Field.

In the "A" game, tailback Michael Brown scored on a 25-yard run in the first quarter and quarterback Ashley Noland hooked up with O.J. Rodriguez for a 60-yard touchdown in the second. Noland ran for both conversions to give Hereford a 16-14 lead at the half.

The teams traded scores in the third period with Noland going over from the 8-yard line to give the Herd a 22-20 advantage before two fourth-quarter scores gave Dumas the win.

In the "B" contest, Marc Haney scored Hereford's only touchdown on a 12-yard run in the second quarter. The Herd had two other scoring opportunities slip away with fumbles inside the Dumas 20-yard line.

Borger took a pair of wins from the White in games played at Whiteface Stadium with a 28-8 decision over the "A" unit and a 44-0 romp in the "B" game. Jacob Lopez returned the second half kickoff 72 yards for Hereford's only touchdown in the "A" game after Borger built a 20-0 halftime lead.

In the "B" game, Borger scored on its first two possessions of the first half and added touchdowns every time it had the ball in the second, including returning the second half kickoff. The visitors took advantage of two fumble and an interception that set up three scores.

The HJH eighth grade teams took to the road for their final contests. The White teams split two at Borger with the hosts taking the "A" game, 25-0, while Hereford won the "B" tilt, 28-22.

Quarterback Andy Stevens scored touchdowns on runs of nine, seven, and 21 yards and threw to Brock Brinkman as Hereford won the "B" game. Justin Lueb ran for a pair of two-point conversions to ensure the victory.

The Maroon teams traveled to Dumas, where the "A" squad fell, 24-0, and the "B" unit dropped a 20-6 decision. Frank Sierra put the only Hereford points on the board with a 26-yard dash in the "B" game.

The HJH coaching staff expressed pleasure with the amount of progress made by their teams during the year.

"The boys played extremely well," said Coach Henry Perez, who handled the seventh grade Maroon "A" team. "The entire team improved a lot throughout the season."

"They played hard all year long," Coach Greg Hazelwood, in charge of the seventh grade Maroon "B", said, "and that's what we were looking for. They played much better today than their first game."

Coach James Salinas, who led the eighth grade Maroon teams, added that the amount of playing time each player received will payoff down the line.

"The way we split our talent up (into four teams in each grade) makes it tougher to win," Salinas said. "But everybody gets experience."

Dallas Carter heads back to courtroom

AUSTIN (AP) - Almost a year to the day that Dallas Carter first went before the University Interscholastic League, the troubled high school will try once again to remain alive in the schoolboy football playoffs.

Carter, 8-1 overall and 6-0 in district, was banned from the Class 5A football playoffs Oct. 30 by the District 11-5A executive committee for using an ineligible player in its Oct. 13 game against Grand Prairie.

If the ruling stands, Carter would be ineligible for the playoffs.

The Cowboys beat South Grand Prairie 25-12 on Friday.

Carter is the first UIL team to be disqualified from playoff competition since the Post High School girls basketball team received a similar penalty three years ago for holding off-season practices.

The Carter appeal was scheduled for Wednesday at 1 p.m. by the UIL's 24-member State Executive Committee. The appeal was filed by Dallas Independent School District Athletic Director John Kincaide.

Carter was first placed on probation for failure to report a grade change by school principal Clarence Russeau during the 1988 school year. The grade change was the basis for a lengthy court battle between the school and the UIL.

After the UIL and Texas Education Agency director William Kirby disqualified the team from the playoffs, Carter appealed and state District Judge Paul Davis of Austin ruled in Carter's favor.

While the dispute raged, Carter breezed through the playoffs and won the Class 5A state football championship.

Johnson still undecided on QB

IRVING (AP) - Nobody wants to earn their keep more than quarterbacks Troy Aikman and Steve Walsh, two rich rookies fighting for one magnificent job.

Each has today and Thursday to emerge as the Dallas Cowboys' starting quarterback, not only for Sunday's game against the Phoenix Cardinals, but for the remainder of the season, coach Jimmy Johnson said.

Johnson maintains he isn't leaning either way, although he praised both of them Tuesday. Aikman for his superior athletic abilities and Walsh for his lack of turnovers and uncanny knack for confusing defenses.

Johnson said his decision will come Friday. "We've got to go with the quarterback that will give us the best chance to win," he said.

Aikman has sat out five weeks with a broken index finger on his non-passing hand.

Walsh has been less than spectacular in spelling Aikman, but did lead the Cowboys to their first victory under the new regime, a mistake-free 13-3 upset of the Washington Redskins last Sunday at RFK Stadium, the same place former coach Tom Landry got his last victory.

Some say Aikman should get the nod because he was the starter when he got hurt. Others say Walsh ought to be rewarded for the victory. Johnson said he'll base his decision only on their performances in practice this week.

"We'll approach that no different than what we would with any other position," Johnson said. "We'll go with the best player that gives us the best chance of winning."

"It's obviously a close call because it was a close call when we originally made that decision."

Walsh was only 10 of 30 passing for 142 yards against the Redskins.

Johnson, however, praised the "intangibles that fans don't really see," such things as "his cadence, his ability to draw the defense offside, dealing with the pass rush - these sorts of things."

The Cardinals, 4-5, will be after their first season sweep of the Cowboys, 1-8, since 1970. Phoenix beat Dallas 19-10 at Texas Stadium on Oct. 29.

But Johnson said he likes his team's chances, especially with its improving defense which hasn't allowed a touchdown in nine quarters.

The Cowboys' victory over the Redskins followed a 30-7 loss to Washington at home six weeks earlier.

"I like playing a team that we've seen before," he said. "It really helps ... you know their style and system."

Dallas' defense hasn't allowed a touchdown since former Cowboys quarterback Steve Pelluer scored on a five-yard run in Kansas City Oct. 22. It's the longest streak since 1980 when they also held opponents without a touchdown for nine straight quarters.

Johnson credits the players' newfound aggressiveness, something he said was lacking earlier when his players were trying to adjust to a new system. "Now they understand the full-scope of our defense," he said. "Before they were confused, and if you're confused, you're not going to be aggressive."

Johnson originally decided to start Aikman against the Redskins, then changed his mind, saying Aikman's finger was still sore and another week of rest would be beneficial.

But Johnson said Aikman's injury is no longer a factor.

Time to hoop it up

The Lady Whitefaces outscored the opposition in each of the four periods they played. The Lady Whitefaces will return to their home floor at 3 p.m. Saturday for a scrimmage with Happy while college basketball action comes to Hereford at 7 p.m. Thursday when the West Texas State University Lady Buffs will hold an intrasquad scrimmage at Whiteface Gym.

'Pokes give Ruzek boot

IRVING (AP) - A prolonged slump that began last year led to the release of kicker Roger Ruzek, Dallas Cowboys coach Jimmy Johnson said.

The Cowboys on Tuesday released Ruzek and replaced him on the roster with Luis Zendejas.

"Roger had been struggling with his kickoffs and his field goals," Cowboys coach Jimmy Johnson said. "He has been in a slump that was a carry-over from a year ago."

Ruzek, a third-year player, was 5-of-11 on field goal attempts this season and missed a 35-yarder Sunday night in the first quarter of the Cowboys' 13-3 victory over Washington. He later kicked field goals of 20 and 43 yards.

Ruzek was released during training camp in 1987, but re-signed before the start of the season. In 1987, Ruzek set club records for field goal accuracy in a season (22-of-25) and field goals in a game, with five against the Los Angeles Rams. He tied the NFL record for field goals in a quarter with four in the fourth quarter of a game against the New York Giants.

His 88 percent accuracy in 1987 led the NFL.

Last season, Ruzek held out of training camp and missed the Cowboys' first two games. He was 12-of-22 on field goal attempts.

In three seasons, he converted 66 of 67 extra point attempts, his only miss coming in the Cowboys' fifth regular-season game against Green Bay.

Zendejas was released by the Philadelphia Eagles earlier this season. He signed with the Cowboys as a free agent in 1987, but was released during training camp.

The Cowboys re-signed Zendejas for three strike games in 1987; he was 3-of-4 on field goal attempts and made all 10 extra-point attempts. But when Ruzek returned, Zendejas was waived and claimed by the Eagles.

Zendejas had made all 23 of his extra-point attempts with the Eagles this season but was only 9-of-15 in field goal attempts.

Prior to this season, he had made

44 of 45 extra point attempts and 23 of 31 field goals, with a long of 50 yards.

IS THERE AN IRS/TEC CONNECTION?

Dear Commissioner Nabers, When the TEC performs an audit of a company and determines that people who have been paid as independent contractors are really employees, does the TEC then notify the Internal Revenue Service of this decision?

COMMISSIONER
Mary Scott
Nabers

TEXAS BUSINESS TODAY

the free housing and utilities as wages to the TEC?

G.B.
Tuscola, Tx.

Dear G.B., Yes. The requirements for wage reporting do not vary among taxed and reimbursing employers. All wages, including the "cash value of all remuneration paid in any medium other than cash" must be reported on your quarterly reports.

Commissioner Mary Scott Nabers represents all Texas employers. If you have any questions you want answered, please write Commissioner Nabers at: TEXAS BUSINESS TODAY, 614 TEC Building, 15th and Congress, Austin, Tx. 78778.

Dear G.T., TEC does not notify the IRS of the outcome of individual audits performed. There is, however, a cross matching system in place which works as follows: The TEC provides the IRS with a computer tape of all employer accounts in Texas, showing wages paid and taxes collected. The IRS then runs this tape through their computer. If employer information on our records does not match the information on their records, the IRS assigns an agent to find out why. These two computer systems also talk to the one located at the Comptroller of Public Accounts Office.

No recession seen, but no 'boom' either

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) - In a survey of chief executives a few weeks ago about 60 percent said that over the next two years recession, not inflation, was the biggest threat facing the economy.

At the same time, a Commerce Department survey shows, businesses were expressing optimism about the economy by raising their capital outlays 7 percent over a year ago, with much of the money going for expansion.

The same dichotomy shows up in consumer surveys: those interviewed express fear of a recession but then go out and buy cars and houses, strengthening those industries at the very time economists are warning of turndowns.

Everyone talks about recession, economists, business people, consumers, government officials, academics, students. But do they really believe a recession is imminent? That, it seems, is an entirely different matter.

Part of the explanation lies in the conviction that after seven years of expansion, an unusually long growth period, the economy MUST have a recession. Hasn't it always been that way? Aren't recessions necessary to restore balance?

Throughout this century, at least, recessions have indeed been viewed as antidotes to excesses in buying, borrowing and expectations, and there is lots of circumstantial evidence to suggest officials have deliberately created them.

But there is nothing sacred or inevitable about recessions - nothing in the books that says economies must have recessions, which generally if not officially are said to involve two successive quarters of economic shrinkage.

Many economists believe that in some instances an economic slowdown might accomplish all the correction necessary - reduce expectations, discourage debt and overspending, lessen strains on capacity - without shrinking output.

In fact, the possibility of doing that very thing is the current aim of the Federal Reserve Board - its reason for tightening or loosening the money supply, for raising, not raising or even lowering interest rates.

That effort, as some economists view it, might very well result in a "growth recession," a contradictory term that nevertheless suggests an economy continuing to move forward but at an almost imperceptible rate.

More and more economists today speak of rolling recessions, in which the economy never shrinks as a whole while separate industries within the economy go through private downturns at different times.

In such a situation the national statistics never show a recession, but for practical purposes something did occur that had a similar impact. Within the past seven years there are indications that it actually has happened.

Something similar occurs when the economy in some geographical areas of the country shrinks while expansion, even boom, occurs elsewhere. Averaged out, the national economy does not have a recession, but recession has occurred.

Within recent years, for instance, large areas of the country experienced severe downturns because of simultaneous problems in energy, agriculture, manufacturing and mining, but coastal booms prevented an official recession.

For those who continue to fear a recession simply because the current expansion is so old there might be some solace, therefore, in the notion that, official statistics aside, the economy might already have had its recession.

In 1984, one analyst, Sindlinger & Co., estimated that 34 states involving a majority of the nation's land area had fallen into recession, some of them very deeply. Offsetting booms elsewhere hid the fact, at least statistically.

For practical rather than statistical purposes, those downturns may have accomplished the same results. If so, the current economic expansion might not be so sold as it seems, and things might even be looking up.

The University of Michigan economic outlook, which has a pretty fair record for anticipating events over the year to come, calls for the current slowdown to bottom out by the end of the year without turning into recession.

No boom, say the Michigan economists, but no recession either - official or unofficial.

Names in the News

NEW YORK (AP) - Singer Tina Turner, who turns 50 on Nov. 26, says she's a practicing Buddhist who lives "like a monk," doesn't like being a sex symbol and takes no drugs - not even aspirin.

"I live a very quiet life," Turner said in an interview in the Nov. 13 issue of US magazine. "There's no television, no music blaring. I live like a monk, almost. A monk with red lips, short dresses and big hair."

For the past three years, Turner, whose latest album is "Foreign Affair," has been romantically involved with a German record executive, Erwin Bach, 17 years her junior.

NEW YORK (AP) - Actor Mel Gibson and actress Kim Basinger topped US magazine's list of sexiest stars, followed by actor Tom Cruise and actress Michelle Pfeiffer.

Other women on the list were "When Harry Met Sally" star Meg Ryan, singer Cher, actress Kathleen Turner, model Christie Brinkley, actress Farrah Fawcett, actress Jaclyn Smith, singer Madonna and Donna Mills, who just left the CBS series "Knots Landing" after nine seasons.

The top ten hunks included Kevin Costner, Dennis Quaid, Patrick Swayze, Mark Harmon, Tom Selleck, Harrison Ford, Rob Lowe and Kurt Russell.

The fourth annual list of 10 men and 10 women, published in the magazine's Nov. 13 issue, was based on a mail-in survey from readers.

The old man on the list is Ford, at 47; Lowe is the youngest at 25.

Two favorites from previous surveys who failed to make the list this year: Don Johnson and Cybill Shepherd.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - June Forester of the country music Forester Sisters has announced that she eloped Sept. 17 with the group's road manager.

She and Joel McCormick were married at an undisclosed location during a private ceremony, spokeswoman Merissa Ide said Thursday.

The couple is living in Trenton, Ga., their hometown.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: Your discussion of a leaky mitral valve is similar to my problem. My internist says I have a heart murmur and that I've had this all my life. I'm now 75. As a youngster I often wondered why I had no ruddy complexion, why my muscles ached in basic training and why I couldn't run over long periods of time.

Was the leaky valve robbing my lungs and body of needed oxygen? Why didn't any of the doctors ever mention lack of oxygen was hindering any physical activity? Is a heart murmur and mitral valve enlargement one and the same? You medical men have us at a big disadvantage.

DEAR READER: A murmur is a sound, like a "murmuring brook." When used in conjunction with the circulation it means the sound caused by flowing blood — usually rapid or turbulent flow. When a heart valve is abnormal, it can affect the blood flow and cause such a sound. Since there are four valves in the heart, it can be caused by any of the four valves, not just the mitral valve between the upper and lower chambers of the left side of the heart. And the murmur can be caused by a constricted valve as well.

Murmurs can also be caused by certain congenital defects in the heart. That may be why your doctor said you had had your murmur all your life. I would have to know the location and timing of your murmur to know the actual cause.

Depending on the type of defect, valvular or congenital, it can limit a person's physical capacity by failure to provide enough oxygenated blood to the working muscles when needed.

Some murmurs are soft and not easily heard. That is one reason why such murmurs can be missed. And they may become louder as you get older because of progressive changes.

I am amazed how few people have a very good concept of how the heart works, since heart disease is a major health problem. But I'll try to remove some of that advantage we "medical men" have by sending you a free copy of Special Issue 31-04, Understanding Your Heart. Others who want this issue can send $1 with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/31-04, P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713. Although Dr. Lamb cannot reply to all letters personally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.

Student Center to be dedicated Nov. 12

The students of West Texas State University will formally dedicate the Jack B. Kelley Student Center on Sunday, Nov. 12. Tours of the newly renovated $3 million facility will begin at 2 p.m.

The public is invited to attend. Program speakers include Russell Hart, student government president; Ann Duncan, student; Dr. Robert Sawwell, faculty senate president; Dr. Ed D. Roach, University president; Dr. Winfred Moore, pastor of First Baptist Church of Amarillo; and Lisa Braxton, student.

The 55,000-square-foot complex is an outgrowth of the May 1986 Strategic Plan and involved renovation of the Administration Building and the Classroom Center. Located in the high-trafficked heart of the WTSU campus, the center was designed for students by students, and their input was instrumental in everything from the basic architectural drawings to the selection of furnishings.

The center houses the bookstore, post office, a copy center, meeting and conference rooms, vending machines, food courts, a fountain/dell, a game room, television lounge, study lounge, student services offices, student government offices, meeting and conference rooms, an Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic office and a returning students' lounge. The center, nicknamed the "JBK" by students, opened Oct. 4.

"The response from the students has been incredible, and it has, I think, drawn all of us closer together," Hart said. "It is a casual, yet very nice, place to congregate and that is something we didn't have before. It is something we are very proud of."

A generous endowment from the Jack B. Kelley family will be used to enhance the facility, ensuring that the "JBK" remains a source of pride for generations of students to come.

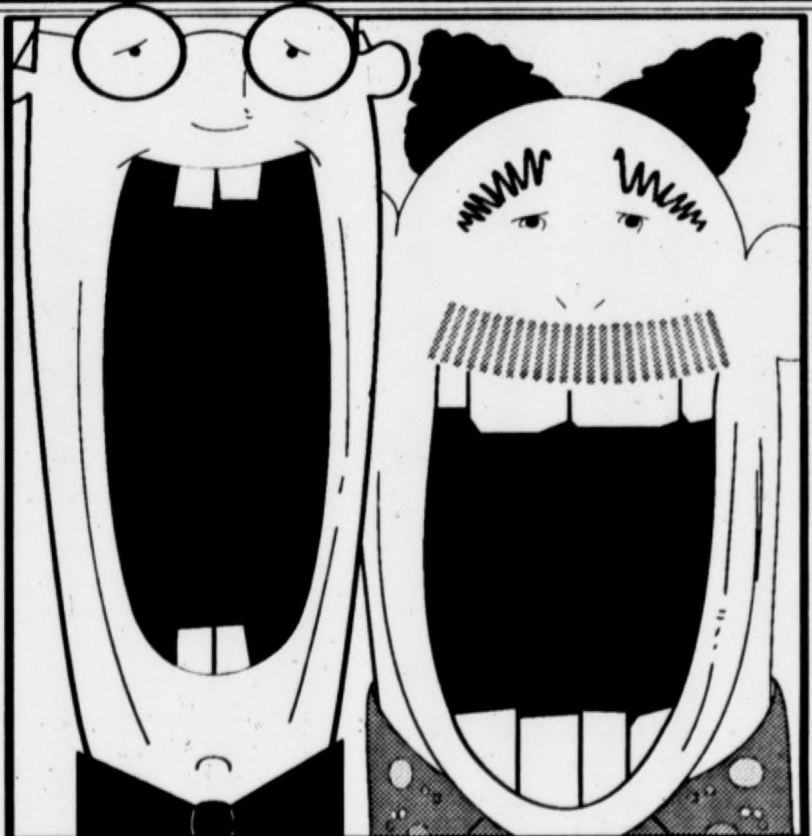

"The Crucible" to be presented at WTSU

John Hale), freshman theatre major from Everman; Missy Pillow (Elizabeth Proctor), junior speech major from Odessa; Grant Stone (Francis Nurse), freshman radio/television major from Dallas; Tim Hollar (Ezekiel Cheever), freshman theatre arts major from Fritch; Kenny Wright (John Willard), freshman from Fritch; Andy Nies (Judge Hawthorne), freshman theatre arts major from Fritch; Lee Colette (Deputy-Governor Danforth), senior theatre major from Canyon; and Trudy Baker (Sarah Good), senior theatre arts major from Wellington.

The production is directed by Royal R. Brantley, assistant professor of speech at West Texas State University.

"This is one of the most powerful scripts I have ever dealt with," Brantley said. "'The Crucible' is a rollercoaster of truth and lies. It is an important lesson in fear, sin and honesty that will last for ages to come."
