Robbers caught by surprise in Vega

Three men were arrested today, almost by accident, in connection with the armed robbery of the EZ Mart store on West Park Ave. in Hereford.

The robbery occurred at 12:55 a.m. today.

Arrested on aggravated robbery charges were Richard Anthony Hernandez, 19, and Raymond Murillo, 17, both of Hereford. A 16-year-old juvenile was turned over to juvenile authorities.

The trio went into the store and held the clerk at bay with a revolver while taking about $50 from the store.

As they were leaving the store, a customer pulled into the parking lot, saw what was happening and recorded the license plate.

The three fled Hereford and an all-points bulletin was issued for the men and their vehicle.

The men stopped at a convenience store in Vega about an hour after the robbery. Several law enforcement officers were taking a break during their overnight duty. They recognized the vehicle and the alleged robbers and arrested them. The three Hereford men were taken to Oldham County Jail, waived arraignment, and were held for Hereford authorities. The clerk was taken to Vega by Hereford police and identified the men as the robbers. The men were brought back to Hereford this morning for formal arraignment.

Bush would counsel against abortion, but would still have love

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Bush says he would not turn away from a child who was a homosexual but would urge the child not to become an advocate "for a lifestyle that in my view is not normal."

Bush also said he would encourage any member of his family not to have an abortion but "I'd stand by my child" if she went ahead and had the procedure anyway.

The president made his comments in an interview televised Tuesday on NBC-TV in which he also expressed fresh support for Vice President Dan Quayle, who has been urged by some Republicans to drop off the GOP presidential ticket.

"He has my full confidence. And I stand by people, I don't peel off," Bush said. He said he was sure Quayle would offer to step aside if he thought it would help but that "I'm not even considering that."

Bush plans a string of television and magazine interviews as he tries to regroup from months of political disarray and take control of the political line.

In Tuesday's interview, Bush was questioned by correspondent Stone Phillips for the program "Dateline NBC." Bush angrily refused to respond to questions about whether he ever had had an extramarital affair.

"I'm not going to take any sleaze questions," Bush said.

"You're perpetuating the sleaze by even asking the question, to say nothing of asking it in the Oval Office. And I don't think you ought to do that and I'm not going to answer the question."

On another subject, Bush was asked what he would do if a boy or girl in his family were a homosexual. Bush said, "I'd love that child. I would put my arm around him and I would hope he wouldn't go out and try to ... convince people that this was the normal life style, that this was an appropriate lifestyle, that this was the way it ought to be."

Bush said the Bible "teaches compassion and love. But I would say I hope you wouldn't become an advocate for a lifestyle that is not normal, and propose marriages, same-sex marriages, is a normal way of life."

The president said "there's a difference between approving every step of the way and loving and treating with compassion."

New processes keep things cooking at Arrowhead Mills

BY SPEEDY NIEMAN Editor-Publisher

Arrowhead Mills has received "tremendous acceptance" on a new line of cereals being produced from a pilot plant here in Hereford, according to board chairman Frank Ford, and long-range plans call for a new modern plant with computerized mixing capabilities.

Ford said the plans call for new construction and extrusion-baking equipment, as well as additional employees, possibly in 1993. The extrusion-baking process cooks the grain into the shapes desired.

"We have been fortunate to secure consultants who helped make us efficient as possible, and we are able to compete nationally," Ford stated. He said the pilot plant was added at a cost of about $1.5 million, and the proposed addition would surpass that cost.

Ford announced the plans during a meeting of the Hereford Area Food Council Tuesday at noon in Hereford Country Club. Ford initiated the HAFC several years ago as an agribusiness development force composed of food and food-related companies. Its primary purpose is to attract new industry and to promote the "added-value" concept.

The expansion would allow Arrowhead not only to produce its own brands, but to produce labels for other companies. "We have a large number of good, quality grains available in this area, and our climate is great for value-added products," said Ford. He added that the central location also provides distribution effectiveness.

"We have a large number of good, quality grains available in this area, and our climate is great for value-added products. We already have mixes--such as bread, biscuits, muffins and pancake and waffle mixes--that are widely acclaimed as the best in the country."

--Frank Ford, Arrowhead Mills.

As a follow-up to the cereal plant, Arrowhead envisions another plant for "mixes" which would be on the same level as the extrusion-baking cereal plant. It would allow the company to be more competitive in that market and expand the capability for private labels.

"We already have mixes--such as bread, biscuits, muffins and pancake and waffle mixes--that are widely acclaimed as the best in the country," stated Ford.

These mixes, as well as cereals and other natural food products, are available in the Old Country Store at the Arrowhead Mills offices at 110 N. Lawton St.

Ford said Arrowhead is looking at some possible acquisitions in the near future that could strengthen the company's marketing plans, as well as provide sources for some of the best grains in the country.

In addition to being involved in the proposed expansion plans, Ford will be traveling across the nation this coming year as lead speaker for the Nutritional Health Alliance, an umbrella organization that represents over $10 billion in economic interests.

Ford will be appearing on television and radio shows and speaking at public functions for the alliance. Ford said he and his wife, Margie, will rent an apartment in Dallas because of his schedule, "but Hereford remains 's home and our mailing address."

The Hereford Area Food Council works with Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. Members include Holly Sugar, Frito-Lay, Ramirez & Sons, Panhandle Milling, Beef 'n More, Caviness Packing, MW Carrot, Maxwell Orchards, Full Season Farms, Arrowhead, and representatives from the feedyards.

Arrowhead Mills unveils pilot plant

Frank Ford, board chairman of Arrowhead Mills, and Pete Holcombe, vice president, look over an extrusion-baking facility which produces cereal at the company's plant here in Hereford. The $1.5 million pilot plant is expected to be enlarged in 1993, increasing Arrowhead's production of its own brand of cereals, as well as labels for other companies.

New cereals at Arrowhead Mills

Cereals baked by a new process at Arrowhead Mills are shown by Lynda Glenn and Irene Lopez at the company's Country Store here in Hereford. The company plans to expand its facilities next year and enlarge production of cereals and special mixes. The plans were announced at a meeting of the Hereford Area Food Council here Tuesday.

Health care can't get worse, Clinton claims

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) - Bill Clinton has a simple response for Republicans picking apart his health care plan: it couldn't be any worse than the current mess.

The Democratic nominee, pushing for a sweeping plan that would require employers to provide coverage or pay into a pool that insures all Americans, likes to tell stories from voters he's encountered on the trail.

For instance, he told a group of Southern state legislators Tuesday, he met a woman whose son had cerebral palsy, and the small company she worked for was either going to have to fire her or raise her co-workers' premiums by $200 a month.

"I guess you could make it worse, but you could sure make it better," Clinton said, referring to Republican charges that his plan would be a disaster for the nation's health care system.

After addressing a teachers group in Pittsburgh today, Clinton was heading to Washington to meet with Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin as he continues to try to shore up his foreign policy credentials.

Republicans contend that Clinton's health care plan would force a huge payroll tax, drive small employers out of business and send more Americans into the arms of government-provided care.

But Clinton said taxes already are going up because states have had to pick up more of the burden and an exploding chunk of the population is being forced into Medicaid.

"Everybody's shifting these costs to everybody else, just struggling to stay alive in a chaotic situation in America," Clinton said.

The Arkansas governor is making health care a cornerstone of his economic plan. He says that until health care costs are reined in, the nation's manufacturing base will never recover and the deficit can't be controlled.

Serbians show change of heart before UN action

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzegovina (AP) - With the United Nations about to vote on using force to ensure aid gets to besieged supporters of Bosnia's government, Serb military leaders are suddenly making conciliatory gestures.

There is no indication, however, that Serbian forces intend to ease up on their campaign of driving out majority Muslims and Croats through what has become known as "ethnic cleansing."

In fact, United Nations officials reported Tuesday that 28,000 people, mostly ethnic Muslims, were being forced from their homes in northwestern Bosnia in the largest such operation of the 5-month-old civil war.

At the same time, the Serbs besieging Sarajevo announced that they would guarantee mothers and children safe passage out of the capital, which is ringed by snipers and artillery units who daily rain fire on its residents.

In addition, the self-styled parliament of the republic that Serbs have proclaimed inside Bosnia pledged not to impede humanitarian convoys and to open detention camps for inspection.

International outrage has mounted in recent weeks as the world was exposed to images of toddlers killed trying to flee Sarajevo and of emaciated inmates in Serb-run detention camps, where torture and executions are allegedly common.

As the U.N. Security Council prepared to vote Thursday on the force authorization, Western military leaders cautioned that any attempt to force an end to fighting would require hundreds of thousands of troops.

NATO contingency plans call for at least 5,000 to 10,000 soldiers to open a land corridor to the capital to truck in food and medicine. But some military experts say far more would be required.

During a Senate hearing in Washington on Tuesday, a representative of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Lt. Gen. Barry R. McCaffrey, said 60,000 to 120,000 troops would be needed to ensure the delivery of aid.

And he said 400,000 troops would be needed if the West decided to try to force an uneasy peace - an alternative he counseled against.

Maj. Gen. Lewis MacKenzie of Canada, who led the U.N. peacekeeping force in Sarajevo for five months, told the hearing that international military intervention would only "escalate the fighting and more people will be killed."

Nevertheless, the Senate followed the House in backing the U.N. proposal.

Five buses carrying about 200 children and a few mothers were to leave Sarajevo today under the protection of U.N. armored personnel carriers, said Ejub Cehic, an official with the private aid group Children's Embassy.

The trip was made possible under an agreement Tuesday between a Serb officer and a representative of the Children's Embassy.

The arrangement could eventually provide safe passage to tens of thousands of the city's 400,000 residents.

Have a banana for lunch

Ensuring that your children eat healthy meals when they're away at school may be more like child's play if you pack a banana or two in their lunch boxes, experts agree.

Almost all children love the banana. In fact, it's the most popular fruit in America. While bananas alone won't meet all the nutritional needs of a growing child, they do supply fast acting carbohydrates for quick energy and slower natural sugars for longer sustenance. Among the nutrients contained in bananas are vitamins C, A and B6 and the important minerals potassium, magnesium and copper, say the experts at the International banana Association. All of these contribute to the growth and development of healthy, active children.

Research studies show that children who eat a healthy breakfast and lunch are likely to be more attentive in class, learn more and be better behaved. That's why many parents serve fresh fruits such as bananas at breakfast, send the youngsters to school with a banana for a mid-morning snack and tuck an extra banana into lunch boxes for noon time. It's a good way to help children avoid eating unhealthy snacks and maintain good nutrition all day long.

Military Muster

Navy Seaman Serapio S. Cabezuela, son of Serapio C. and Rita Z. Cabezuela of 203 Higgins, Hereford, TX, is currently participating in two major maritime exercises aboard the aircraft carrier USS Kitty Hawk, homeported in San Diego.

The five-nation exercises, RIMPAC (Rim of the Pacific) '92, and Tandem Thrust include sailors, airmen, Marines, soldiers and Coast Guardsmen from Canada, Australia, The Republic of Korea, Japan and the United States.

RIMPAC's training operations are conducted at sea between Southern California and Hawaii while Tandem Thrust's operations are conducted at sea off the coast of California and ashore in Southern California and Arizona.

Cabezuela is involved in a series of joint task force exercises which include more than 60 ships and submarines, 400 aircraft and more than 40,000 personnel.

The 1990 graduate of Hereford High School joined the Navy in June 1990.

Two billion used tires have piled up in the United States, but some may be back on the road - ground up and blended into asphalt for highways, says National Geographic.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am married to a man whose parents think his first wife is still part of the family. They invite "Janet" to every Christmas and Thanksgiving dinner, every birthday party--you name it, she's there.

For 10 years, I've endured stories about Janet and have sat through home movies of her wedding to my husband, "Joe." He finally told his family not to include Janet in any parties that we were attending. Their response was that Janet was part of the family before I was and if it bothered me, I should stay home. To my surprise, he agreed with them.

When we were first married, I was told we had to include Janet "for the sake of the children." That's baloney! Children are quite capable of understanding that their divorced parents don't do things together as a family anymore.

Please, Ann, tell parents of divorced couples not to treat former sons-and-daughters-in-law, as if they are still part of the family because they aren't. -Fed Up in Ore.

DEAR FED: Divorce does not automatically amputate warm and loving relationships, nor should it, but being subjected to movies of Joe's first marriage demonstrates a shocking lack of sensitivity. It's time Joe's family showed some consideration for your feelings and he should insist on it. Following a "family favorite" is never easy and the support of a mate can be enormously helpful.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Last year my husband walked out on me. In an effort to get on with my life I went for counseling. I'm happy to report that I've made excellent progress and am on my way to healing.

I realized that my financial situation had changed drastically and that I had no one to depend on but myself. I concluded that I should invest in disability insurance as one form of protection for my future.

I am healthy, have never smoked and have no familial history of heart disease or cancer. I passed my blood and urine tests with flying colors, have never used drugs and have been completely monogamous. Sounds as if I'd be a good risk for this type of insurance, right? Wrong! I was turned down for a disability policy because I had gone to a counselor for emotional support and guidance when my marriage was breaking up.

Can you believe the insurance underwriters turned me down because I sought help with my problem? Had I suffered in silence and turned into a raving maniac or a violent man-hater, I probably would have gotten the insurance. But because I tried to get help, I've been penalized.

What irks me is that I could have withheld this information and gotten the policy. My financial future is a little dimmer because I was truthful. So thank you, Ann, for doing tow things for e today You let me get this off my chest and you allowed e to warn others.--M.R.P., Buffalo, N.Y.

DEAR BUFF: I'm glad you unloaded in my corner. It gave me the opportunity to tell you, and millions of others, that there is more than one insurance company in the world, and if you don't like the way you are treated, go somewhere else.

I agree it's outrageous to consider people "unstable," "poor risks," etc., because they have sought help with emotional problems. By all standards they are in far better shape than those who have not had counseling. Wake up out there.

Flavor your own honey

Did you know that there are more than 300 unique types of honey available? It all depends where the hard working honey bees buzzed when they were collecting nectar and pollen for their own food.

Billions of bees spend their lives making natural honey varieties from floral sources such as alfalfa, buckwheat, clover, fireweed, orange blossom, sage, tupelo and wildflower - just to name a few.

If you're a honey lover, celebrate the bees' lifework by tasting all the natural honey varieties available in your local specialty stores. Or, create your own "flavored" honey in honor of the hardworking little critters - it's as simple and natural as the honey bees' production of honey itself.

FLAVORED HONEYS

First, begin with a mild honey variety. In general, milder varieties (such as alfalfa or clover) have a lighter color. Use 1 (1-lb) jar honey and add one of the following ingredients. All you need is a saucepan, a strainer and something to do while the flavors settle!

Citrus
Add 1 tablespoon grated grapefruit, lemon, lime or orange peel. Heat mixture on low 10 minutes. Let stand at least 2 hours. Strain and pour honey into jar with lid.

Mint
Add 1/4 cup chopped fresh mint. Heat mixture on low 10 minutes. Let stand at least 2 hours. Strain and pour honey into jar with lid.

Ginger
Add 1 tablespoon julienne fresh ginger root. Heat mixture on low 10 minutes. Let stand at least 2 hours. Strain and pour honey into jar with lid.

Allspice
Add 1 tablespoon whole allspice. Heat mixture on low 10 minutes. Let stand at least 2 hours. Heat mixture on low 10 minutes, a second time. let stand overnight. Strain and pour honey into jar with lid.

Hot Honey
Add 1 1/2 teaspoons dried hot crushed red pepper. heat mixture on low 10 minutes. Let stand 1 to 2 hours. Strain and pour honey into jar with lid. Be careful not to boil or scorch the honey when heating.

Giant yams are the centerpiece of all social activity on the Trobriand Islands of Papua New Guinea, where they represent wealth and prosperity and symbolize life and strength, says National Geographic.

Corn cooks up nice and tender if you use unsalted water to each gallon of which you've added a tablespoon each of sugar and lemon juice.

Make homemade brownies by using your waffle iron

If you're looking for a desert idea that doesn't require heating up your oven on a hot summer day, here's a clever idea you and your kids will enjoy--make homemade brownies in a waffle iron.

Here's how to make the kid-pleasing chocolate treat:

-Beat two eggs in a medium-size bowl. Let your kids measure and add 1 stick (1/2 cup) butter or margarine, softened; 3 tablespoons cocoa; 1/2 cup sugar; 1 cup all-purpose flour and a pinch of salt. Stir.

-Grease and heat the waffle iron. When it's hot, an adult may spoon the brownie mixture onto the waffle iron. Vary the amount according to the size of your waffle iron. When the batter is baked, remove the brownie and cool on a rack.

-Sprinkle each brownie with sifted confectioner's sugar to top with fresh strawberries or chopped nuts if desired. Store leftover brownie in an airtight container in your freezer.

Beef cattle short course scheduled Aug. 17-19

More than 1,000 people are expected to attend the annual Beef Cattle Short Course and Trade Show on Aug. 17-19 at Texas A&M University.

"The short course will provide useful information about industry issues and management practices that can make ranching more efficient," said Dr. Larry Boleman, beef cattle specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Beef specialists and researchers will discuss the "National Beef Quality Audit" and results of the Extension Service's "ranch to Rail" program during the general session on Tuesday, Aug. 18. Additionally, Alan Sobba, director of tax and trade for the National Cattlemen's Association in Washington, D.C., will discuss challenges and issues facing the U.S. beef industry.

Agricultural economists and beef specialists will discuss the National Standardized Performance Analysis program that afternoon. Participants will learn what performance and financial information is needed from ranchers to make use of this national database.

To assist producers with marketing, the latest information on weather, grain supplies and cattle prices will be given in "Falling Rain and Beef Prices," during the morning session on Aug. 19. Also of marketing interest will be the live animal demonstration that afternoon, panelists will discuss the value of cattle based upon type, age, sex, and conformation, and the value of breeding cattle and breeding programs.

Breakout sessions Tuesday and Wednesday will offer smaller, in-depth classes on these topics:

-Reproduction -- The control of reproductive diseases, the value of pregnancy determination in cows and breeding soundness in bulls, adequate herd nutrition, and factors that influence supplemental feeding.

-Health management--Causes, prevention and trace-mineral treatments of common infectious diseases of beef calves, including scours, septicemia and pneumonia. Also, new treatment devices for horn flies.

-Nutrition -- Supplementation programs for young cattle, replacement heifers, stocker cattle, and cow herds. Effective protein supplements, supplemental energy sources and mineral supplements will be described, and recommendations made for various areas of the state. The program will include an update on trace mineral supplementation.

-breeding and genetics--Breeding systems, their relative benefits and ranch resources required for the success. Sources of information for evaluation of genetic potential, such as herd records, bull test results and national sire evaluation Expected Progeny Differences.

The trade show will feature about 50 beef industry exhibits and Texas A&M agricultural department displays. Industry representatives and A&M researchers will be on hand to answer questions throughout the short course.

The program will be held in the J. Earl Rudder Theatre Complex, the Memorial Student Center and the Louis Pearce Pavilion on the Texas A&M campus.

For more information, contact a county Extension Agent, Dr. Boleman or Anne Moody, telephone (409) 845-2051, or write the Beef Cattle Short Course, Rm. 114, Kleberg Center, Texas A&M University, College Station, Tx. 77843-2471. Requests for information may be faxed to (409) 862-2942.

Guidelines offered for checking school's safety

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) - A nursery tale with a bad ending is the real one about your child being injured in nursery school.

Check out the school for yourself before choosing a preschool, advises Dr. Diane Kittredge, associate professor of pediatrics at the University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center.

"Parents should ask to see the playrooms, bathrooms, kitchen and playground," she says. She offers some guidelines of things to look for:

- Check the building to be sure it has working smoke alarms, a posted emergency exit plan, and doors that are easily accessible for escape.
- If there is a wading or swimming pool, make sure it's fenced off and adequately supervised at all times.

- Toys should be safe for the age of children using them. No child under three should have access to a toy that has parts small enough to put in his or her mouth.

- On field trips, each child in the car should have - and use - a safety belt.

- Playgrounds should be fenced, and equipment should be placed on fairly soft surfaces to absorb impact of falls. Good surfaces include sand, dirt, grass or small pebbles.

- Seats of swings should not be made of wood, which might knock out a child's teeth if he or she is hit in the face with it.

Letter to the Sports Editor

Dear Sports Editor:

After reading the article in the July 28th edition of the Hereford Brand headlined "Umps, officials leave game at Babe Ruth Tourney," I felt it was necessary to write and set the record straight.

Your article and reporting of the events of the day was not only incorrect, it did not accurately report what happened. I was the umpire crew chief and believe me, what you wrote in the newspaper did not occur as you reported. Since no one from the newspaper contacted any of the umpires before writing the article, I will attempt to clarify the issue, albeit after the fact.

We did not just decide to leave the game at 1 a.m., and two games plus the incomplete game were not scheduled for Monday.

Since I was responsible for scheduling the umpires for the tournament, I had been in constant contact with Hereford tournament officials. When Sunday's games were rained out, I was notified at 10:10 p.m. Sunday by (tournament director) Manuel Gavina of the tournament officials' request to play three games beginning at 6 p.m. At this time I told Manuel we could not officiate three games beginning at 6 p.m. I told him that would make us leave Hereford at approximately 3 a.m. and because of job responsibilities, we could not stay this late. Manuel stated this was OK and told me they would play the incomplete game plus the regularly scheduled game to follow and would start at 7 p.m. We agreed to this schedule. Further, on Monday, July 27, I was called at work by a Kids Inc. official who left a message confirming the schedule. I called the Kids Inc. complex to verify the message and the gentleman who answered the phone told me the same thing. However, I wanted confirmation of this schedule so I was referred to a Kids Inc. board member, Sherry Blackwell. I spoke with her and she confirmed the schedule of completing the unfinished game plus one complete game with game time of 7 p.m. (This schedule was verified by three different people, three different times.)

However, upon arriving at the game site and preparing for the 7 p.m. game, we were asked if we knew that we were doing two complete games instead of one complete game. I immediately confronted Manuel Gavina who admitted that the schedule we had agreed to had been changed. He stated the coaches didn't want to stay an extra day in the motel, so thus the change. When I asked when the change had been made, he told me the decision had been made at approximately 6 Monday (while we were en route to Hereford from Amarillo). I told him we would attempt to get the games in but I wasn't sure we could. When I left to return to the office, I was stopped by a group of Pampa parents and players who overheard our conversation and, they too, had just found out they would have to stay for an extra game. At this time, they were not happy campers!

We started the games and tried to speed things up, etc., but it became apparent the second complete game was going to be late finishing. At midnight, we approached Manuel and told him that if the game wasn't finished by 1 a.m., we had no choice but to suspend the game and complete it the next day. This was one hour before we finally suspended play.

We are professional umpires. Late games are not unusual and for the most part, are no problem. We are accustomed to these situations. We were upfront with our schedules and time constraints; we expect the same considerations. However, when we are (treated badly) by tournament officials who change schedules without prior notification, it puts us in an awkward situation. Fans, by nature, have a negative perspective of umpires. They don't need the added negative publicity of an inaccurate and incorrect newspaper account.

Please, in the future, gather all the facts before coming to conclusions and writing your newspaper article. Umpires catch enough flak as it is. We don't need negative publicity created for us.

O's move closer to lead; Red Sox share cellar

By The Associated Press

The Baltimore Orioles are working hard at finishing first in the AL East. The Cleveland Indians are working equally hard not to finish last.

Both teams took a step toward their goals Tuesday night. The Orioles shut out first-place Toronto 3-0 while Cleveland climbed into a tie for sixth by beating Boston 3-1 while the New York Yankees were losing 5-1 in Detroit.

Tuesday's game, the second of a four-game series, was vital for the Orioles following an 8-4 loss on Monday.

"We lost the first one, so there's no doubt this one was bigger," manager Johnny Oates said after Alan Mills and two relievers combined on Baltimore's American League-leading 11th shutout, an eight-hitter.

Mills (8-2) won for the first time as a starter, striking out two and walking three.

Todd Frohwrth pitched three scoreless innings and Gregg Olson worked the ninth for his 27th save.

Baltimore got all of its runs in the fourth inning off Jack Morris (14-5).

Glenn Davis led off with a walk, Joe Orsulak, who went 4 for 4, had the second of his four singles and David Segui loaded the bases with a single to right.

Morris struck out Leo Gomez, but Bill Ripken looped a single over second baseman Roberto Alomar to score Davis. Mark Parent walked, forcing home Orsulak, and Brady Anderson's sacrifice fly made it 3-0.

Twins 3, Rangers 2

Chuck Knoblauch singled over the head of right fielder Ruben Sierra with two outs in the bottom of the ninth at Minneapolis.

Kenny Rogers (1-5) allowed Pedro Munoz's pinch-single to start the ninth. With two outs and two on, Knoblauch sliced a fly ball down the right-field line. Sierra took a step in, stopped and raced back but couldn't make the catch in the corner.

John Smiley (12-6) pitched a four-hitter for his second complete game of the season.

Indians 3, Red Sox 1

Moving into a sixth-place tie might not sound like much, but it was no mean accomplishment for the Indians, a team that lost a franchise-record 105 games last year and had been alone in the basement since May 8. It set off an impromptu chant of "Sixth place! Sixth place!" among some of the 15,425 fans at Cleveland Stadium.

Dave Otto (5-8) gave up one run in five innings for the win. Derek Lilliquist got the last four outs for his fifth save.

Loser Frank Viola (10-8) went all the way, allowing nine hits.

Tigers 5, Yankees 1

Two-run homers by Lou Whitaker and rookie Rico Brogna at Tiger Stadium helped Frank Tanana to his 230th career victory.

Tanana (10-7) allowed five hits in 7-2-3 innings, leaving after allowing Randy Velarde's fifth homer.

Brogna hit his first big-league homer and Whitaker added his 13th of the season in a five-run second inning off Melido Perez (9-12).

Feters then walked Ducey on four straight pitches, giving the win to Joe Grahe (4-3), who worked the 10th after Chuck Finley pitched nine scoreless innings.

Royals 9, Mariners 6

Wally Joyner hit a three-run homer and George Brett got his 2,950th career hit, a single, in Kansas City's six-run fourth inning at the Kingdom.

Jeff Conine had put the Royals ahead 4-2 with a two-run triple off Erik Hanson (8-15).

Rookie Hipolito Pichardo (6-4) allowed three runs in five innings for the win. Jeff Montgomery got the last three outs for his 29th save.

White Sox 10, Athletics 6

Newcomer Dale Sveum's two-run single broke a tie and Tim Raines added a two-run triple during a six-run eighth inning as visiting Chicago rallied.

George Bell tied the game at 5-5 by leading off the eighth with his 17th homer. Chicago loaded the bases against Rick Honeycutt (1-3) before Sveum, acquired Monday from Philadelphia, singled off Jeff Parrett to put the White Sox ahead. Raines' triple, his fourth hit, provided some insurance.

Reliever Roberto Hernandez (5-2) got the win.

Padres trio smacks Smoltz around

By The Associated Press

The San Diego Padres are fighting for first place with the help of a guy who may be on his way to a Triple Crown.

Fred McGriff, Gary Sheffield and Darrin Jackson each hit two-run homers off John Smoltz in the first three innings as the visiting Padres beat the Atlanta Braves 8-4 Tuesday night.

The win moved the Padres within 5 1/2 games of first-place Atlanta in the NL West, and Sheffield moved up in several offensive categories by going 3 for 5.

John Kruk of Philadelphia lost the NL batting lead to Sheffield for the second time since April 2 when he went hitless in three at-bats. He trails Sheffield by less than one percentage point, .3373 to .3368.

Sheffield has 79 RBIs to tie the Phillies' Darren Daulton for the NL lead and his 24 homers trail teammate McGriff by only two.

"I've got a game plan and that's to get a hit every time," Sheffield said. "When I'm at my best, I don't care who is pitching. I just pick out a pitch and hit it."

Sheffield has at least two hits in each of his last seven games.

"That's a typical Sheffield performance again," manager Greg Riddoch said. "He and Freddie have just been doing it all year. But the other part is Darrin Jackson. He's been overlooked by what they have been doing."

Bruce Hurst (12-6) won his fourth decision in a row for the Padres, allowing four hits and two runs, striking out four and walking one in six innings. Hurst was replaced after a rain delay of 70 minutes with the Padres coming to bat in the seventh.

Mike Maddux pitched the final three innings for his fifth save, but not without a scare. Maddux made a three-base throwing error on Mark Lemke's comebacker in the ninth, allowing two runs to score.

McGriff hit his NL-leading 26th homer of the season over the right field fence on a 3-0 pitch in the first inning off Smoltz (14-7), scoring Tony Gwynn, who had singled.

Astros 6, Giants 3

At Candlestick Park, Eric Anthony, Eddie Taubensee and Luis Gonzalez each hit home runs.

Rookie right-hander Brian Williams (4-3) allowed three runs, five hits and struck out a season-high seven in six innings. Francisco Oliveras fell to 0-1 in his fifth start.

Will Clark hit a solo homer and Robby Thompson a two-run shot in the sixth.

Dodgers 8, Reds 4

At Riverfront Stadium, rookie Eric Karros drove in a season-high four runs with two doubles.

Bob Ojeda (6-5) got a four-run cushion in the first inning when Karros hit a bases-loaded double off Tim Belcher (9-11) to score three runs and Dave Hansen doubled in a run.

Mets 2, Pirates 0

At Shea Stadium, Eric Hillman pitched eight strong innings in his first major league start.

Hillman (1-0), a 6-foot-10 left-hander, allowed six hits, walked none and struck out four in outdueling Doug Drabek (9-9).

Drabek's only trouble came in the third inning after a two-out error by third baseman Jeff King. Daryl Boston singled on the next pitch, and Eddie Murray and Mackey Sasser followed with RBI singles on first pitches.

Expos 3, Cubs 2

At Wrigley Field, Delino DeShields' broken-bat, run-scoring single with two out in the 17th inning broke a tie.

Darren Reed led off the 17th with a single against Jeff Robinson (2-2), but Tom Foley then bunted foul for a third strike attempting a sacrifice. On a hit-and-run play, Reed reached second while Archi Cianfrocco was thrown out by shortstop Rey Sanchez. DeShields then delivered the go-ahead hit.

Bill Sampen (1-4), the fifth Montreal pitcher, recorded his first win since last Sept. 22.

Cardinals 7, Phillies 6

At Veterans Stadium, Tom Pagnozzi's go-ahead RBI double with two out in the ninth inning lifted St. Louis over Philadelphia.

Andres Galarraga opened the ninth with a single off loser Mitch Williams (3-5) and advanced to second on a sacrifice. Galarraga reached third on Tracy Woodson's fly to deep right and scored on Pagnozzi's drive off the center field fence.

Todd Worrell (4-3) pitched one inning for the victory and Lee Smith worked the ninth for his 27th save.

Magic: year off gave him time to recover

NEW YORK (AP) - Magic Johnson says his year away from the Los Angeles Lakers did him more good than harm.

"I'm healthier and stronger," Johnson told Sports Illustrated in a wide-ranging interview released Tuesday. "During an NBA season, when you might play all the way to June, your body doesn't have a chance to recover. You might get one thing fixed, but then something else is still a problem."

"But this year I obviously didn't have to deal with that. And I started on a serious weight training program, and I feel anywhere from 70 to 100 percent better," Johnson said.

Speculation continued Tuesday on whether Johnson will return to the Lakers for the 1992-93 season.

Teammate Byron Scott said Johnson has already made up his mind to return, but Johnson remained noncommittal.

Johnson said he and his wife Cookie will make the decision together after he confers with his doctor to determine how many games he could play.

In the SI interview, Johnson spoke frankly about his battle with the HIV virus, which causes AIDS, and his medical prognosis.

"My T-cell count is up; that is, it's higher and better than before I found out I had the virus. T-cells help you fight off colds, flu, different things you come down with. What the virus does is beat up those T cells, and that causes you to get AIDS."

"As long as your T-cell count is good, you are beating the disease," Johnson said people have sent him all sorts of homemade potions to fight the virus.

"Somebody not long ago sent a jar of what looked like milk that was two or three months old and said, 'If you drink this, you'll get better.' Can you imagine actually trying that from somebody you don't know?"

"Somebody else suggested that I drink all my blood and replace it with warm blood. I have a whole pile of these 'cures' in my office."

Johnson retired in November after testing positive for the HIV virus, but he played exceptionally well in the NBA All-Star game and for the United States in the Olympics.

The Lakers, whose attendance and winning percentage slumped without Johnson, have said they would welcome him back.

On returning to the NBA, Johnson repeated a statement he made in Monte Carlo - he doesn't want to play for the Lakers if they are committed to a long-term rebuilding effort.

"If they want to go in a different direction - young, building for the future - than maybe that's not the team for me. It would be hard to play for them if they didn't want to go after the championship."

Johnson said he still wants to own an NBA franchise, and will meet with commissioner David Stern in September to discuss it. He said Stern has already told him that being a player-owner is out of the question - it's against NBA rules.

Giants' owner: Simms definitely won't be traded

By The Associated Press
Phil Simms won't be traded by the New York Giants - that's right from the boss's mouth.
"The guy is staying," Giants co-owner and president Wellington Mara said Tuesday.
Mara, answering rumors of an impending trade of his quarterback, held an impromptu news conference at the team's training camp in Florin Park, N.J.
"May I have your attention for a minute," Mara said sternly after bursting into the press room. "I just heard a report that Phil Simms is on his way to San Diego.
"Let me just say as emphatically as I can, Phil Simms is not being traded. Not this year, not last year or in the 20th Century. To San Diego or any other place. Period. O.K.?"

Mara's rush to defuse trade talk was a show of faith to the loyal veteran, who has been relegated to backup quarterback behind Jeff Hostetler, Simms, who led the Giants to the Super Bowl title in 1987, has stated a desire to finish his career with the Giants.
Meanwhile, another quarterback's future was made secure when Mark Rypien signed a four-year contract with the Washington Redskins.
Terms of the agreement were not disclosed. But Rypien, the most valuable player in last year's Super Bowl, had been holding out during the preseason while seeking $3.7 million a year. Washington had been offering $12 million over four years.

"We're prepared to make Rypien one of the highest paid quarterbacks in the league," Washington general manager Charlie Casserly said Monday.
Rypien was not immediately available for comment on his signing. The Redskins left for London Tuesday evening.
Lions
Wide receiver Willie Green signed a two-year contract Tuesday morning and started practicing Tuesday afternoon.

Last season, Green caught a team-high 10 touchdown passes, including three in the playoffs.
Oilers
Bo Orlando, who rose from the fourth team to starting free safety with the Houston Oilers last season, agreed to contract terms.
Orlando tied for second on the team with four interceptions in successive games. He started 16 games and had 59 tackles.
Colts
Indianapolis signed second-round draft pick Ashley Ambrose, ending threats the defensive back would defect to the CFL. Ambrose's agent, Frank Murtha, said the rookie from Mississippi Valley State signed a three-year contract for between $550,000 and $600,000 annually.

Cowboys
Veteran safety James Washington signed a contract, reducing the number of Dallas Cowboys holdouts to five.
Jets
All-Pro wide receiver Al Toon underwent tests Tuesday on the heart palpitations he experienced last week and was cleared to return to practice.
Bengals
David Klingler's holdout has left Don Hollas and Erik Wilhelm to battle for the right to back up Boomer Esiason, but neither has distinguished himself.
Hollas, in his second year, played the second and third quarters in Cincinnati's 13-7 loss to the New York Giants but failed to put any points on the board. He also strained a knee and is questionable for this week.

Wilhelm, beginning his fourth season with the Bengals, played the final quarter against the Giants but also came up empty on the scoreboard.
Falcons
Cornerback Frankie Smith returned to Atlanta Tuesday after spending three nights at the Cleveland Clinic to have the end of his left middle finger reattached. Smith was injured in Saturday night's 7-0 loss to the Cleveland Browns when he collided with teammate Louis Riddick and Cleveland receiver Lynn James, who suffered a back injury.
Raiders
After more than a week of soul-searching, Los Angeles coach Art Shell announced he is reinstating suspended defensive back Elvis Patterson.

Oilers' White just wants to win

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Lorenzo White is ready to make a big impression on the Houston Oilers' run-and-shoot offense.
"I just want to win, and we are a run-and-shoot team so we're going to pass," he said. "But I do want to run the football, and I think we can do well at that too."
White has spent the past four years with the Oilers learning blocking and receiving skills he seldom used at Michigan State, where he was a workhorse I-formation tailback, carrying the ball 30 times per game.
White hopes to put all of his talents to full use this season.
"You hear so much stuff about being a tailback," White said. "My feeling is I want to be a complete back. Everybody labels me as the I tailback.
"People say I didn't know you could catch. I didn't have to catch (at Michigan State). When I was getting the ball 40 times a game there wasn't much chance to catch passes.

Now, however, White is the established superback in the Oilers' offense, and he has plenty of chances to block and catch.
"I think if you look around the league, you've got to be more than a one-dimensional back," he said.
Hill, the Oilers first-round pick in 1988, spent two seasons with little playing time before he replaced Mike Rozier in 1990.
White missed the entire 1991 preseason and first three regular season games as a contract holdout. He started slowly, but finished with a flourish. He averaged 4.2 yards per carry and gained 465 yards in 13 games.
The Oilers have shown interest in adding more running plays to their offense this season. White thinks it will help production.
"My thing is, I'm confident with running the quick traps, and if I get any little light or crease where I can square my shoulder, it's going to be a big collision for the next person coming through," White said.

Running backs coach Frank Novak likes the sound of White's intentions.
"If Lorenzo, with his size, gets into the secondary one on one, I like his chances," Novak said.
The Oilers have shown an interest in improving their running game, something White has preached since arriving from Michigan State.
"There's no doubt they've got confidence, in the passing game but they've got to become confident in the run, too," White said.
Novak prefers to praise White's progress as a blocker.
"It's been difficult for Lorenzo," Novak said. "The biggest thing is the amount of blocking expected in this offense. Look at Lo, he's a pretty good blocker right now.
"He'll be blocking 65 to 70 percent of the time, so he'd better be good at it."

Horned Frogs have new attitude with Sullivan

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Without mirrors and smoke or even black magic, Pat Sullivan and his Heisman Trophy are brewing up a fresh new attitude at Texas Christian University.

It's a mix of hard work, enthusiasm and hope.

"What we've got to do is get the kids playing hard and believing in themselves and getting the confidence that they can compete," says Sullivan.

"We've been very demanding on and off the field, and they have responded well."

Sullivan, 42, the former Auburn quarterback and 1971 Heisman winner, took over Jan. 2 as the Horned Frogs' head coach after six years as an assistant at Auburn.

With his Heisman credentials and reputation as a winner, he brings a touch of class and renewed excitement to TCU's rebuilding program.

Jim Wacker, his predecessor, scrapped the Frogs off the bottom of the Southwest Conference cellar, made them competitive and left for Minnesota on the heels of a 7-4 season.

That's the good news, a winning record enhanced by 16 returning starters. The bad news is that Texas, Texas A&M and Baylor beat the Frogs by a combined score of 102-16.

"We haven't beaten Texas in 24 years or A&M in 19 years," Sullivan said. "We've got to learn how to win those ball games."

If "believing" is the key, the Frogs should be lethal, judging by a stroll through the dressing room and a glimpse at the media guide.

Dozens of players showed up on their own during the long, hot summer to work on conditioning, and here's what some were saying:

Linebacker Brad Smith, a senior co-captain: "It has been a new sensation. We all have felt the attitude now that we can beat anybody we play. As a team, we haven't seen that before."

Flanker Kyle McPherson, a junior: "They threw a lot of things at us in the spring, but the enthusiasm was better than before. It was genuine."

Tight end Mike Noack, a senior co-captain: "You can't help but like coach Sullivan's approach. He has us believing in ourselves, and each other. Spring was a blast."

As important as anything, quarterback Leon Clay says he likes what he's seen of Sullivan and his staff, and David Breedlove, an offensive guard, agrees.

"It almost seems like these guys don't know how to lose," Breedlove said.

For his part, Sullivan says he is more than pleased with the leadership and attitude of veterans like end Tunji Bolden, who anchors the defense, and Clay, the heart of the pro-style multiple offense.

Injuries cut short Clay's 1990 and 1991 campaigns but in just nine games he accounted for 2,244 yards and 27 touchdowns.

"Leon's worked very, very hard this spring and summer in the rehabilitation program, and I look for him to have a full, healthy year," Sullivan says.

"He's our quarterback and our leader and the captain of our team."

With proven targets Stephen Shipley and Richard Woodley at wide receiver and David Lewis and McPherson at flanker, TCU's passing game may be awesome.

"This season we will run the football so we can throw it," says offensive coordinator Hugh Nail. Or as Sullivan puts it: "We do not want to become a one-dimensional offense."

Veteran tailbacks Curtis Modkins and Derrick Cullors give the Frogs a sound running game but Sullivan says he wants a bigger, stronger offensive line and a kicker.

A new, vigorous work ethic may help the former but he says the kicking situation is so bad "I may put a want ad in the newspaper."

Notre Dame could be No. 1

By JOE MOOSHIL
AP Sports Writer

If defenses win championships, as coaches like to say, then list Notre Dame the Midwest's No. 1 contender for the national championship.

Michigan's Wolverines seek a fifth straight Big Ten title and appear to be the league's only logical contender for national honors. That's because Penn State does not become a full-fledged football member of the Big Ten until next year.

Notre Dame is going to be very tough with 10 starters returning on defense to go with an offense headed by quarterback Rick Mirer and battering fullback Jerome Bettis.

Notre Dame and Michigan will answer many questions early. They meet in South Bend Sept. 12. It will be Michigan's opening game. Notre Dame opens a week earlier in Chicago against Northwestern.

The Big Ten hasn't had a national champion since Ohio State in 1968. Notre Dame since has won three national titles, the last being in 1988.

This could be the Irish's best chance since, although there has to be some rebuilding on offense. But even coach Lou Holtz, who would rather weep when discussing his prospects, said: "I think we've got a chance on offense. We've just got to build it over again."

It shouldn't be difficult. Experienced hands are ready to fill the losses on offense. The defense is headed by linebacker Demetrius DuBose and end Devon McDonald.

The comeback 39-28 Sugar Bowl victory over Florida could be the building foundation.

Michigan will be without Heisman winner Desmond Howard, but coach Gary Moeller will field a veteran team that is favored to win the Big Ten.

Quarterback Elvis Grbac is back to add to his 23-5 record as a starter.

Tailback Ricky Powers (1,197 rushing yards) is back, as is Tyrone Wheatley, who scored nine touchdowns as a true freshman.

Moeller knows he has talent. His goal is to return to the Rose Bowl and wipe out the memories of a 34-14 loss to national champion Washington.

Iowa and Ohio State will be Michigan's immediate challengers.

At Iowa, Hayden Fry has what he called "one of the best offensive lines in college football. I can't say enough about them."

All-Big Ten Mike Devlin is at center and is flanked by guards Ted Velicer and Mike Ferroni and tackle Scott Davis.

Matt Rogers is gone, but Jim Hartlieb takes over and "could be the best running quarterback we've ever had."

Iowa has a tough go. The Hawkeyes open against North Carolina State in the Kickoff Classic Aug. 29 and face Miami and Colorado before opening the Big Ten campaign against Michigan.

Ohio State's last trip to the Rose Bowl was the 1984 game. That's been too long for coach John Cooper.

"Yes, definitely," said Cooper when asked if the Buckeyes can win the Big Ten title.

Cooper has a flock of running backs, including the return of Robert Smith, who sat out last season for various reasons after gaining 1,100 yards as a freshman. Kirk Herbstreit is the quarterback.

Indiana seems to be on the brink of contention.

"Last year we had a good team and we were close to being a fine team," said Bill Mallory. "Our program is close but not quite there."

Eight starters return on defense. Quarterback Trent Green, who set school records in passing and total yardage, has some fine receivers in Thomas Lewis, Eddie Beaty and Scott McGowan.

Because of injuries, Michigan State at 3-8 had its first bad year under George Perles. But because of those injuries, a lot of players gained valuable experience.

Running back Tico Duckett returns and Jim Miller will be the quarterback.

Jim Colletto could be putting together a surprise at Purdue. The Boilermakers have 42 lettermen, including 15 starters, returning, including quarterback Eric Hunter.

The running game, led by Jeff Hill, keeps improving and defensive standouts include nose guard Jeff Zgonina and cornerback Jimmy Young.

Wisconsin is another doormat on the rise.

"We're making positive strides with tremendous improvement last year," said coach Barry Alvarez. "We played exceptional defense and hope to build on that."

Jay Macias will quarterback an offense with 10 starters returning, mainly because eight freshmen started last year.

There are three new coaches in the Big Ten and all have new schemes. Lou Tepper takes over at Illinois, Jim Wacker at Minnesota and Gary Barnett at Northwestern.

Despite quarterback Jason Verduzco, Tepper is going to cut down the emphasis on passing and feature more running.

Wacker and Barnett are both going to go to the one-back offense that features the passing game. Both have experienced quarterbacks with Marquel Fleetwood at Minnesota and Len Williams at Northwestern.

Romo will try to play for Ponies

DALLAS (AP) - Southern Methodist quarterback Mike Romo, whose collegiate football career appeared to be over after his fourth knee operation, says he will try to play this fall.

Romo was the Mustangs' No. 1 quarterback before tearing the anterior cruciate ligament in his right knee last September against Baylor. Doctors advised him against trying to play again, saying another injury could affect his ability to walk when he is older.

Romo served as a volunteer assistant coach during SMU's spring drills and said he wouldn't try to come back.

But he said Tuesday that he plans to report with other SMU upperclassmen Saturday for the beginning of fall practice.

SMU orthopedic surgeon Dr. John Baker said Romo has rehabilitated his knee and said he feels comfortable with Romo playing again. Romo is aware of the risk, the doctor said.

SMU coach Tom Rossley has Romo listed as his 1A quarterback, behind Dan Freiburg, who also is coming off surgery for a torn anterior cruciate ligament.

"He's going to be with the team. He wants to feel his way through," Rossley said.

"If he is physically able, we may put him on the field. We have to see what happens in the next two weeks during two-a-days. He may be a senior presence, or he may start. It's hard to say."

Oilers, Orlando come to terms

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - The Houston Oilers agreed to terms Tuesday with starting free safety Bo Orlando.

Although the deal was not finalized, Orlando was expected in camp Wednesday to seal the deal and begin practice.

The Oilers were getting short at free safety. Mike Dumas and Charles Pharms both were injured in last Saturday's exhibition game with the Detroit Lions.

Dumas hurt an ankle and Pharms has a sore knee. Both are on a day-to-day basis and are expected to return to workouts shortly, the Oilers said.

"Bo is the only experienced free safety we have," defensive backs coach Pat Thomas said. "He did a good job last year. He's been in the pressure situation, and he does a good job of communicating."

US, Canada, Mexico okay new free trade agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States, Mexico and Canada today announced a free-trade agreement to link the three nations into the world's largest trading area. "This is a good day for North America," President Bush said.

The pact would eliminate all duties, tariffs and other trade barriers within the three countries over the next 15 years.

The North American Free Trade Treaty, which now must go to Congress where a battle is expected, will spur "economic growth in all three countries," Bush said in announcing the pact in a Rose Garden ceremony.

But, as expected, the agreement drew strong opposition from labor and environmental groups. The AFL-CIO in a statement called the agreement "a bad deal for American workers and consumers and for the long-term health of the U.S. economy."

Bush called it a "historic agreement" that would add the latest chapter to the adventure in the new world Christopher Columbus began 500 years ago.

The most immediate impact of the far-reaching agreement would be to reduce trade barriers with Mexico. The United States and Canada reached a separate agreement with Canada in 1988 to abolish all tariffs.

"Let's face it: right now we have a one-way free trade agreement with Mexico," U.S. Trade Representative Carla Hills told a White House briefing. "This dismantles (Mexican) tariffs 150 percent higher than ours."

Hills said that the pact represents the first trade agreement to eliminate all quotas on textiles and apparel, to grant total market access in agriculture and to establish free trade in services.

It also gives truckers with international cargo "open roads" throughout the continent and permits U.S. banks and securities firms to establish branch offices in Mexico, she said.

One of the last differences to be worked out was the contentious issue of auto trade, particularly what percentage of a car's value must come from North American parts and labor to qualify as duty-free.

The U.S. auto industry initially wanted a 70-percent domestic-content rule. Mexico, anxious for more investment from Japan, wanted 50 percent and Canada wanted 60 percent.

The compromise in the final agreement starts at 50 percent, the current standard, and rises to 62.5 percent for cars and light trucks and 60 percent for other vehicles.

Treasury Secretary Nicholas Brady said the agreement would create a market "that's substantially larger than any other industrial world market, including the European Community."

Bush, who first proposed a free-trade agreement with Mexico during his 1988 campaign, said the pact will create jobs and generate economic growth in all three countries.

He said more than 600,000 Americans are working producing goods being sold to Mexico and that the total sales are expected to increase to $44 billion.

"In the last five years our exports to Mexico nearly tripled," Bush said. He said a quarter-million new jobs were created.

Bush called the proposed treaty an example of what can be achieved when the White House and Congress work together.

"The Cold War is over," Bush said. "The principal challenge now facing the United States is to compete in a rapidly and expanding global marketplace. This agreement will level the North American playing field."

Bush called Mexico "our fastest growing major export market."

The president sought to reassure critics who have claimed the treaty would hurt U.S. labor and lead to environmental problems.

Bush said the agreement included provisions to benefit the environment, going even farther than domestic environmental, health and safety standards by encouraging "all three countries to seek the highest possible standards."

Many critics have complained that the pact could lead to a degradation of the environment because Mexico's controls are less stringent than those of the United States.

"The administration has yet to provide any indication... that it has any intentions of adhering to even the limited promises President Bush made on environmental and labor issues," said John Audley of the Sierra Club. The group Citizen Trade Watch Campaign passed out protest literature outside the White House before the early morning announcement.

The agreement, known as NAFTA, would create the world's largest trading bloc and link 360 million consumers in a $6 trillion market. The United States already has separate free trade agreements with Canada and Israel.

The pact must be ratified by the three nations' respective legislative bodies. Many members of Congress already have indicated reservations about the proposed treaty.

Congress is not expected to consider ratification of the treaty until next spring at the earliest. But the accord, which is a cornerstone of Bush's economic policy, is sure to be politically divisive, particularly in an election year.

Environmentalists contend the treaty could be used to weaken existing U.S. environmental laws and expose the already polluted U.S.-Mexico border to greater damage.

Many labor groups claim the agreement will result in American companies relocating to Mexico in search of cheaper labor at the expense of hundreds of thousands of American jobs.
