By BOB NIGH
Managing Editor
Drilling has been halted at one of two Department of Energy (DOE) test holes being drilled in Deaf Smith County, and results of the work should be known within a few days. The well, located northwest of Dawn on the Gaylor Friemel property, has been capped and drilling logs as well as core samples are in the hands of scientists for analysis.

According to Leo Martin of Webster & Harris Engineering, the firm contracted to do the drilling, a major salt bed was discovered between 1,850-2,146 feet at the site, with other layers found in the last 200 feet or so. The well reached a depth of 2,710 feet before drilling was halted. Work at the other DOE test hole within the county is also nearing completion, and is expected to be finished within the next couple of weeks. That well is located east of Milo Center on the Ralph Detten property, and is reported to be at the 2,274-foot depth.

A much deeper test hole is scheduled to be drilled within the county, similar to one which will be started near Tulia this week. Those wells are designed to be drilled to the 8,500 foot level. The Swisher County well site is located on land owned by Swisher County Commissioner Charles Zeeck. Zeeck, who has come under fire for his decision to allow the well to be drilled on his property, is not seeking reelection to his office.

Martin said that the data collected at the site near Dawn is being analyzed by scientists with the Texas Bureau of Economic Geology, and will also be surveyed by officials with the Battelle Memorial Institute in Columbus, Ohio, the overall manager of the DOE testing procedure.

In 1983 the DOE expects to begin constructing the first three exploratory shafts at sites in three different types of rock where studies are the furthest along: two federal reservations, the Nevada Test Site and Hanford, Wash., and a site chosen from among those currently under study.

If the information received through the test hole near Dawn suggests that the area is suitable for further study the third exploratory shaft could be drilled there. By 1985, shaft construction will reach repository depth (2,000-4,000 feet) and onsite studies will begin to collect data at depth.

Drilling Complete

This Department of Energy (DOE) test hole located northwest of Dawn has been capped after salt core drilling was completed this week. The cores obtained from the hole will be analyzed, with results expected to be available within a few days. The hole reached a depth of 2,710 feet before drilling was halted. A second test hole near Milo Center is also nearing completion. (Brand Photo by Bob Nigh).

Teen Jailed For Michigan Murders

YALE, Mich. (AP) — A 16-year-old "friend of the family" has been jailed as a suspect in the rural killings of a woman and her four children, who were shot in the head with a rifle in Michigan's third mass murder in two months.

The unidentified boy had attended high school with one of the victims and lives within a mile of the home where the five bodies were found Wednesday, police said.

A powerful storm that buried Michigan under 8 inches of snow shut down the rural Yale schools Tuesday and Wednesday, and town schools superintendent Albert Kimmel said they would remain closed today because of the killings.

"I don't know what time the slayings occurred, but it's possible the children might have been in school had it not been for the storm," Kimmel said. "Everyone here is in a state of shock."

"There are no charges formally filed at this time but the juvenile subject is being held in custody" pending a decision on whether to charge him in Probate Court, Prosecutor Robert Cleland said.

He identified the victims as Betty Giuliani and her four adopted children, Erick, 19, Kathleen, 16, Cindy Joe, 13, and Dino, 9.

Mrs. Giuliani's husband, Richard, was at work at the General Motors Corp. Tech Center in the Detroit suburb of Warren during the morning when the slayings are four sports. He was an first team All-State end and a member of the North team in the 1957 THSCA All-Star game.

He played end for the Baylor Bears, ranking number eight in the nation in receiving in 1958, and seventh nationally in 1960, the year he captained a Baylor squad which played in the Gator Bowl.

Reagan Ends Work Half of Vacation

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — President Reagan winds up the business half of his working vacation today at a meeting in Barbados with leaders of the eastern Caribbean after accusing Cuba of trying to undermine democracy in the region.

Missing from the working luncheon the president had scheduled in Bridgetown, the capital of Barbados, was Grenada, an island U.S. officials say will be excluded from Reagan's proposed Caribbean Basin aid program because of its close ties to Cuba.

Flying to Bridgetown this morning after an overnight stop in Jamaica, the president was to meet with Prime Ministers Tom Adams of Barbados, Mary Eugenia Charles of Dominica, Vere C. Bird of Antigua-Barbuda, Milton Cato of St. Vincent and the Grenadines and Premier Kennedy Simmonds of St. Kitts-Nevis.

Reagan's proposals to aid their region and Central America includes trade concessions, investment incentives and $350 million in additional aid this year. But the majority of the funds are proposed for Central America and the larger islands, and the smaller islands say they would like a bigger chunk.

Foreign Minister Lester Bird of Antigua-Barbuda said the $10 million in supplemental aid for the eastern Caribbean should be increased to at least $6 million for each of the "lesser developed countries," and there should be greater effort to channel funds to them for such "infrastructure" projects as roads and water supply needed to attract industry.

Bird said the prime ministers would stress that last year their imports from the United States totaled $282 million, or eight times what the United States imported from them.

Haig Seeks End of Falkland Crisis

LONDON (AP) — Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. flew to London today seeking a peaceful end to the crisis over the Falkland Islands, but Britain threatened to start sinking Argentine ships around the disputed territory on Monday.

Haig, who U.S. officials said wanted to be an "honest broker" between two friends of the United States, was to confer with British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher and Foreign Secretary Francis Pym. He will go to Buenos Aires later in the week to talk with the generals running Argentina's military government.

The Foreign Office said

Pym welcomed Reagan's decision to send Haig as a mediator. It said he came as a "friend and ally."

Haig met in Washington with Argentine Foreign Minister Nicanor Costa

U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, campaigning today in the Panhandle area, is scheduled to visit with Hereford and Deaf Smith County citizens from 3 to 4 p.m. at the community center.

Bentsen, a Democrat seeking his third term as one of Texas' senators, was in Lubbock yesterday and told interested citizens that chances of Congress passing a revised farm bill this year "are not good."

The senator's visit will provide an opportunity for local citizens to discuss critical issues facing the nation. The public is invited to the reception at the community center.

Costa Mendez told the interviewer an arrangement like that of Hong Kong — with Britain recognizing Argentine sovereignty over the islands but continuing to administer them — "could be negotiated."

He also did not rule out compliance with Britain's demand for withdrawal of the invasion troops before negotiations, saying only that he wouldn't discuss it before Haig's visit to Buenos Aires.

Meanwhile, Defense Secretary John Nott announced a blockade of the Falklands starting at midnight local time Sunday (11 p.m. EST Sunday) to limit reinforcements and supplies reaching the Argentine troops who seized the wind-swept archipelago 250 miles off Argentina's southern coast last week.

Nott proclaimed a "maritime exclusion zone" of 200 nautical miles around the islands. He told the House of Commons any Argentine warship or support vessel found inside that area would be considered hostile and could be scuttled by British forces. The Argentine government replied by declaring a "South Atlantic theater of operations" extending 200 miles from the Falklands and Argentine coasts, and said any ship considered hostile to the nation's security would be attacked.

Argentina's interior minister, Gen. Alfredo Saint Jean, said the islands will be defended "to the last Argentine soldier." A "partial recall" of draftees who (See HAIG, Page 2)

TABS: More Than Just A Soft Drink

Editor's Note: If you've been hearing parents, teachers and school kids talk about TABS Scores lately, they're not talking about how many diet soft drinks they've consumed. They are talking about test scores. This article is the first of three articles examining the role Minimum Competency Testing (MCT) and the Texas Assessment of Basic Skills (TABS) play in all Texas public schools and in the Hereford Independent School District in particular.

The final article in this series will be accompanied by a short opinion poll. Readers are encouraged to complete the poll and return it by sending it to their child's school office with their child. It may also be returned by bringing it in person or mailing it to the high school office. The results of this poll will be reported in a later issue of The Brand.

These articles and the opinion poll are part of a research project for a graduate course at West Texas State University currently being taken by John Walch, the principal of Hereford High School.

In 1979, the Texas Legislature, following a national trend, instituted a statewide testing program to measure how well Texas public school students were mastering basic skills in the three important areas of reading, writing and mathematics. This annual testing program is called the Texas Assessment of Basic Skills (TABS). In February of 1980, all fifth and ninth graders took the tests. Beginning in 1981, third graders were also tested.

The purpose of TABS is to give local schools two kinds of information. First, it profiles each third, fifth and ninth grader's strengths and weaknesses in the three R's, Reading, Riting and Rithmatic. The schools use this information to remediate that child's individual weaknesses. Secondly, by giving overall results, it helps schools identify curriculum objectives that they need to emphasize. But TABS is not just designed to give schools this information. The parents of the students tested are provided with their child's individual confidential results and the community is informed of the district's overall results. TABS thus informs communities how well its schools are teaching minimal basic skills.

The TABS test are criterion referenced tests. This means that a student's performance is measured against a fixed standard or criterion. The TABS test measures most objectives with four multiple choice questions. The standard of mastery for these objectives is getting three out of the four questions correct.

When results are received they indicate which objectives were mastered and which weren't. This is in contrast to norm referenced tests which compare a student's score with other students' scores and report results with percentiles. The TABS results simply do not give percentiles.

Salvadoran Army, Guerrillas Clash

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — El Salvador's army has clashed for the second time this week with leftist guerrillas trying to capture the strategic transit point of San Vicente, a military official said.

Fighting ended early Tuesday when the army drove the guerrillas from the provincial capital 37 miles east of San Salvador, the army reported. But the rebels returned Tuesday night, and fighting continued Wednesday, the official said.

Late Wednesday night, there was no word available in San Salvador on the outcome or of casualties.

San Vicente is at the junction of the Pan-American Highway and a road to the coastal highway. It has been a focal attack point for the guerrillas fighting the U.S.-backed civilian-military junta.

Guerrilla bands also were stopping motorists on the western portion of the Pan-American Highway, demanding payment of a "war tax" and emptying buses at gunpoint and shooting out the tires, travelers said.

But residents of San Francisco Gotera, near the Honduran border, reported there was no fighting in their area for the first time in 10 days. They said they had been without water since Friday, when guerrillas blocked the source of their supply three miles to the north.

"It's been pretty ugly," one resident told The Associated Press by telephone. "The damages are great."

With all government offices and most businesses closed for Holy Week, many people ignored the threat of violence and flocked to the beaches.

The guerrillas' Radio Venceremos (We Shall Overcome) announced special daily broadcasts of Roman Catholic Masses today through Saturday. But San Salvador's Church of the Conception canceled the nightly "procession of silence" it usually holds through the city. A spokesman said church officials feared a large crowd after dark would attract violence.

Meanwhile, a U.S. congressional delegation was expected today to assess the civil war that has taken more than 33,000 lives in the past 29 months.

Hunts Ordered To Pay Growers $25.3 Million

DENVER (AP) — The Hunt brothers' empire in Dallas has been ordered by a federal judge to pay Western sugar beet growers $25.3 million, and the judge denied efforts by the Hunts to modify the award, saying there is "no just reason for delay."

A jury in January had found for the growers in a lawsuit stemming from the Hunts' alleged refusal to share profits with the growers that the Hunts had made on the commodities market in the mid-1970s.

U.S. District Judge Zita Weinshienk's order on Wednesday made final the jury's award of $11.8 million in actual damages and $13.5 million in punitive damages in the case.

Every grower who had more than 10 acres of sugar beets during 1974 and 1975 and who had contracts with the Hunt companies will be eligible for part of the award, according to the judge's order.

Ms. Weinshienk's order said that N. Bunker Hunt and W. Herbert Hunt are to be directly responsible for paying a little more than $4 million apiece in damages.

Disaster Declaration May Not Help Paris

PARIS (AP) — Even if President Reagan issues a disaster declaration for tornado-torn North Texas, it will not help the victims who need help the most, a state legislator said.

State Sen. Ed Howard, D-Texas, said Wednesday poor and elderly people left homeless by Friday's killer storm would not qualify for the Small Business Administration loans made available by a federal disaster designation.

"My concern is that there not be a false hope out there. I hope we can get the type of programs that will benefit the majority of people," Howard said.

Many of the victims were "... low income, retired, on social security, on welfare," he said.

Tuesday Gov. Bill Clements sought a major disaster declaration for Lamar County and Paris City Manager Bob Sokoll wants residents to telegram Reagan asking to approve Clements' request.

Friday's tornado caused an estimated $50 million damage to Paris' north side. A presidential disaster declaration would make available a variety of assistance programs, including SBA loans, Farmers Home Administration loans, income tax deductions and individual and family grants of up to $5,000 each for people that cannot qualify for the loans.

Cronkite Criticizes Press Restrictions

DALLAS (AP) — Battle lines that separated reporters and government officials during the Vietnam war are being drawn again because of the strife in El Salvador, according to veteran broadcaster Walter Cronkite.

The former CBS-TV news anchorman drew that comparison Wednesday in a speech to the National Association of Broadcasters. He said "bad news clashing with happy lies" tore the nation apart in the Vietnam era and "I very much fear we may be in for more of the same."

"I don't intend to liken El Salvador to Vietnam in any way except in this — that official reports and explanations often are woefully unconvincing, transparently wrong and often in conflict with reports from experienced and reliable American reporters on the scene," Cronkite said.

The results are "echoes of that earlier battle between the press and officialdom," he added. "The reporters are 'naive,' 'romantic,' 'leftist,' 'subversive,' 'anti-American.' 'Why the hell can't they get on the team?' Yes, we've been down this road before."

Prosecutor Says Drunk Killed Seven In Wreck

HOUSTON (AP) — Tests show the lone driver who survived a traffic crash that killed seven members of a family had more than twice the level of alcohol in his blood necessary to determine legal intoxication, authorities said.

"There was a blood test taken at the time he arrived at the hospital that showed his blood alcohol content level was .22 percent. In Texas the legal presumption of intoxication is .10 percent," said Assistant District Attorney Nick Vincent.

John Anthony Jent, 28, of Pasadena, Texas, was arrested Wednesday night on a warrant accusing him of involuntary manslaughter and driving without a valid license, Vincent said. Bond was set at $20,000.

Sheriff's deputies who investigated the Saturday night crash in western Harris County said Jent's car was going between 92 and 107 miles an hour on a county road with a 35-mph speed limit.

The seven victims in the other car, including three children, were returning from a family picnic. They all had broken necks, a medical examiner said.

Mathematics tests are composed of multiple choice questions. The Writing test also has a multiple choice question to measure how well students capitalize, punctuate, spell and use correct grammar, but it in addition, has a writing sample to measure how legibly students write and how well the students follow directions, organize their thoughts, and express themselves. Handwriting is rated not ratable, illegible, hard to read or acceptable. The writing sample is rated from 0 to 4 for organization and clarity of thought: 0 for no response, 1 for a weak one-sentence response, 2 for two or three related sentences, not well developed, 3 for at least one good paragraph, and 4 for a well developed piece of writing.

In addition to measuring the mastery of many specific objectives, the ninth grade test measures overall mastery in each of the three areas. To achieve overall mastery in Mathematics and Reading, a student must get 30 of the total 44 multiple choice questions correct. Overall mastery in Writing requires a minimum score of 15 on a weighted average of the multiple choice score and the writing sample score. The writing sample score must be 10 or more for mastery.

The ninth grade test is considered an exit level test. This means that the legislature feels that all high school students should have mastered the objectives tested by the time they exit school, that is, graduate. The law requires all schools to give every student who does not master a ninth grade test an opportunity to retake that test the following year. Many school districts including Hereford, require students to retake each test until they pass.

An important idea to remember when discussing minimum competency testing is that the objectives are minimums. The great majority of students accomplish these objectives, and go on to master more advanced skills in these basic areas or in other areas such as science, social studies, music, art, drama, business, speech, journalism, industrial arts, physical education, health and vocational areas. But these basic objectives continue to be learning goals for low-achieving students.

A goal of the Hereford schools and all public schools in Texas is that every student master these skills at least by the time he graduates. But another important goal of

They are to be joined by more warships from Gibraltar.

British army paratroops, trained to fight as seaborne commandos, left for the Falklands Wednesday aboard the 45,000-ton cruise liner Canberra. Artillery and helicopter landing pads also were put aboard.

The Argentines have at least 2,500 troops on the Falklands and swear they will not retreat. After claiming the islands for the 150 years they have been a British colony, they invaded them last Friday, installed a military government, decreed Spanish the official language and threatened jail for any of the 1,800 islanders who resisted.

Most Falklanders are shepherds of English and Scottish ancestry who speak no Spanish and say they want to remain British subjects.

"These people are British and we mean to defend them," Nott told fellow Conservatives who cheered him in Parliament. "We are in earnest and no one should doubt our resolve."

Nott also told the House the 81 Royal Marines of the Falklands garrison who were overrun by the Argentine invaders will return to the South Atlantic after a short Easter holiday. The marines surrendered after a three-hour fight, were deported to Uruguay and flown to Britain.

Twenty-two other marines were captured when Argentina invaded the Falklands dependency of South Georgia, 800 miles to the east. Britain has asked the International Red Cross to find out what happened to them.

Better Off At Home

No place in the world would you be better off.

Americans cannot blame Reaganomics. Recession is everywhere and most everywhere worse than here; more layoffs, more bankruptcies.

Let's not overlook the bluebird in the back yard.

U.S. News recently audited the big six Western nations. Stay where you are!

Every industrialized country is in economic trouble and it is spilling over on the oil-rich countries of the Third World.

In Belgium, steel plants shut down, steelworkers riot. In Denmark, 15,000 farmers who can't pay steep interest rates face foreclosure.

So little construction in West Germany that 1,500 construction firms failed last year and 250,000 construction workers are out of work.

Even in Japan, economic decline, reduced exports. New housing is down 10 percent from a year ago.

The Paris-based organization for Economic Cooperation and Development predicts for its 24 member nations unemployment totalling 28.5 million by this summer; the most since the Great Depression of the '30s.

In Britain, 12½ percent unemployment; far more than ours.

Industrial output is the least in 14 years.

Socialism is not the answer. French money is worth less compared to ours than any time ever; the Socialist government is losing Parliament and will soon lose the presidency.

In Italy, unemployment is more than 9 percent, inflation more than 16 percent.

So condemnation of Reaganomics reflects mostly election-year rhetoric, does not acknowledge that our nation's economy—compared with other nations—is downright vigorous.

The whole world is suffering the same hangover from years of overindulgence. But historically, capitalism recovers its own fumbles—then helps others.

Already the United States is in the lead in shrinking the annual inflation rate, currently 3 percent.

That's half the annual rate in Britain, France, Canada.

Our nation's industrial production improved 1.6 percent last month.

Our shipments of durables jumped 1.9 percent.

Housing starts gained 6.5 percent.

Personal income increased half a percent.

And recovery prospects improve as inflation declines.

Hans Mast, of the Swiss Credit Bank in Zurich, has charted seven recessions since World War Two.

He expects, "A business upturn in America the second half of this year will spread to the rest of the world."

Arbor Day Planting Literature Offered

Free information on obtaining trees to plant during the Arbor Day Centennial is now available from the National Arbor Day Foundation, a non-profit organization dedicated to tree planting and care.

The idea for Arbor Day originally came from Nebraska. An early pioneer, J. Sterling Morton, advocated tree planting on the Nebraska prairie.

Morton proposed a tree-planting holiday to be called "Arbor Day" at a meeting of the State Board of Agriculture. Arbor Day was first observed in Nebraska in 1872 with the planting of more than a million trees.

During the 1870s other states passed legislation to observe Arbor Day, and the tradition began in schools in 1882. Today the most common date for state observances is the last Friday in April.

People can obtain free information on obtaining low-cost trees to plant by sending their name and address to: CENTENNIAL TREES, National Arbor Day Foundation, Arbor Lodge 100, Nebraska City, NE 68410.

Crime Declines 1.5 Percent

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas' crime rate declined last year, but the total number of major crimes rose by 22,110 from the previous year, according to director Jim Adams of the Department of Public Safety.

The 1.5 percent decline in the crime rate, which is based ed on the number of major crimes per 100,000 population, was the first drop since 1977, Adams said Wednesday.

The 1981 crime rate was a fraction over 6,042 crimes per 100,000 population. The number of major crimes, however, rose to 891,549 last year.

Adams said in a statement 21 percent of the major crimes were cleared by arrests.

The figures, he said, were compiled from data submitted by 737 law enforcement agencies representing over 97 percent of the state's population.

Violent crime, which increased 14.8 percent in 1980 over the previous year, increased less than 1 percent last year. Robbery cases declined by 3.4 percent in 1981, while murder, rape and aggravated assault increased by 2 percent, 1.8 percent and 3.6 percent respectively.

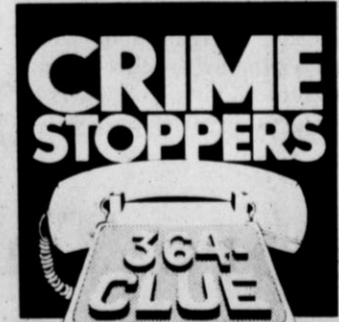

Property crimes — burglary, theft and motor vehicle theft — rose 2.7 percent in 1981.

"The estimated value of property stolen during the commission of all major crimes in 1981 totaled over $945 million," Adams said. "Approximately $188.4 million worth of property was recovered by law enforcement agencies last year."

Of the 829,042 arrests last year, 52,458 were drug arrests, a 16.7 percent rise over 1980.

Arson cases reported to the DPS in 1981 totaled 8,424, a decrease of 1,178 from the previous year. Property loss from arson last year was estimated at $94.4 million.

Now You're Cookin'

By LINDA CAUDLE AND JERI CURTIS

Set in an old building on Main Street, which still has the floor, ceiling, and brick wall of the original drugstore, The Deli is like a glimpse of something you might find in a large Midwestern city right in the middle of Hereford. The quaint atmosphere adds a fanciful touch to a business which is unique in this community.

Co-owners Chris Shaddle and Keith Ann Gearn pooled their knowledge of gourmet cooking and business management to open a downtown delicatessen chocked full of foods foreign to most West Texans.

The Deli opens at 10 a.m. six days a week, serving customers until 5 p.m. on weekdays and 2 p.m. on Saturdays. But it's not just lunch at The Deli-it's almost like a museum for food.

The first exhibit is a three shelf refrigerated case holding all shapes, smells, and colors of cheeses. Unusual mixtures of wine-cheeses, chocolate, and fruit cheeses can be test-tasted and purchased by the pound.

The approximately 25 different varieties of cheeses are special ordered once a month from New Jersey. Several are regular ingredients in the Deli sandwiches.

After tiring of the cheeses, a customer may sneak over to the coffee bin and sniff around at the bean blends. A specialty coffee is brewed daily and the beans can be purchased and ground by the pound.

At the back of The Deli, across from the antique door room dividers, is a shelf higher than heads-full of pickles, marmalades, salad dressings, cooking wines, tea blends, olives, and condiments. Stuck all between the jars are boxes of crispy crackers and specialty breads that compliment the cheeses up front.

Another large deli case holds mild and spicy meats and sausages, which are sliced off by the pound according to the customer's desire. "A lot of mothers are beginning to come in and have lunch meats sliced for their kids," says Chris.

All of the meats are shipped here from Chicago, as well as the cheesecake and several other items. The breads and bagels come from Dallas.

Chris, who moved here two years ago from the suburbs of Chicago, is quite familiar with the delicatessens, ethnic restaurants, and international cafes found in cities, but not often located in smaller, rural towns.

"We have been amazed at how many people here have been to a place like this somewhere else, and how many people from the East and Midwest live here," comments Chris.

The mother of a nine year old daughter and a four year old son, Chris has always enjoyed cooking and collecting recipes as a hobby, but this is the first time she has been in the business. "I sit and read cookbooks like other people read magazines," she says.

Chris' husband is employed at Jake Die, and he supports her in an endeavor which she undertook since moving here. To compensate for not having a lot of "different" restaurants, Chris started a gourmet club.

The six participating couples trade off having the others in their home and preparing a traditional ethnic dinner every other month. "Both my husband and I especially like Middle Eastern foods," says Chris, "and really look forward to the dinners."

Chris is also a wine connoisseur, and enjoys helping people choose wines and giving advice on entertaining.

Keith Ann has resided in Hereford for 11 years. Her husband owns TAGCO Industries and the couple has twin sons who are eight years old. "I had been thinking about doing something like this for a long time," says Keith Ann, who also works as a contractor and designer here and in Oklahoma.

Keith Ann is good with bookkeeping, financial matters, and management, as well as having the means and know-how to renovate the building and handle the ordering. Although The Deli carries unique foods that are shipped long distances, good distributors were found that make the ordering easier, notes Keith Ann.

So with their combined resources and skills, the pair opened The Deli at 240 Main Street in February and have been very successful since then. "We know we're a success because people continue to come back," comments Keith Ann. "We have a lot of repeat business and are building up a group of steady customers." Currently, about half of their business is sandwich sales at lunch and the other half is divided between over the counter sales of meat, cheese and other items, and a catering business which is becoming so popular that Chris and Keith Ann cater an average of one party per day. "Each party we do is different," says Chris, "and that makes it more fun and interesting."

Future plans are in the making, even though only two months have passed since The Deli opened. This summer Chris and Keith Ann plan to add more salads and cold soups to the menu, as well as coolers and picnic fare including small sandwiches.

They hope to get a large oven hooked up soon so they (See COOKIN', Page 5)

Rookies Replacing Familiar Game Announcers

By LARRY SHIBSONS AP Sports Writer

There's a new sound this season for fans of a dozen major league baseball teams.

On the field, their favorites may be in for another year of near-misses or miracle rallies. But on television and radio, they'll get the news from a different set of voices.

As is often the case with the players they are covering, some of the new play-by-play and color announcers are rookies, replacing veteran voices. Others are experienced pros putting down roots in a new city.

And in one case, it's a long-time broadcaster moving across town.

Harry Caray, for the past few years the voice of the Chicago White Sox, travels back to the Windy City's North Side to rejoin the National League Cubs.

The White Sox, meanwhile, unveil a greatly revamped broadcast team, heavy with former major league stars who in recent years have been announcers in other cities.

Don Drysdale, the one-time Los Angeles pitcher, came to the White Sox from the announcers' booth of the California Angels. He's joined by former Boston slugger Ken Harrelson, who was a Red Sox's broadcaster, and former White Sox's 300-game winner Early Wynn, coming in from Toronto. Also in the White Sox's booth will be Joe McConnell.

Harrelson's place in Boston is taken by another former big-league player, Bob Montgomery, while Jerry Howard replaces Wynn in Toronto.

In Milwaukee, Bob Uecker moves into the No. 1 spot on radio, with partner Dwayne Mossely and newcomer Kevin Young.

Wes Stock is the new voice with the Seattle Mariners this season. The former pitcher joins Cal Niehaus and Ken Wilson.

The Texas Rangers have new broadcast teams on both radio and TV. Mark Holtz and Eric Nedel take over on radio, with Steve Busby and Carl Cherkin doing TV.

Both New York teams made changes in their broadcast lineups during the off-season.

The American League Yankees fired former catcher Fran Healy, replacing him with John Gordon, who was once a broadcaster for the Baltimore Orioles.

The National League Mets, meanwhile, dropped Steve Albert and Art Shamsky, replacing them with Lorn

Browne and Steve LaMar. Brown teams with Ralph Kiner on TV, and LaMar with Bob Murphy on radio. A former Mets broadcaster, Lindsey Nelson, has retired as the voice of the San Francisco Giants. His place is being taken by Hank Greenwald on radio and TV. Guy Ferron, who had broadcast the Montreal Expos on their French language network since their first year in 1969, died during the off-season.

Spurs Scramble To Stay In Playoffs

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD AP Sports Writer

The San Antonio Spurs, their once-comfortable lead now dangerously thin, are having to scramble to stay in the National Basketball Association playoff race.

The Spurs took the Midwest Division lead early in the season and for a long time they were the only team above the .500 mark.

But improved play by Denver, which recently won 12 games in a row, and cross-state rival Houston narrowed San Antonio's margin so drastically that the Nuggets got within one-half game of the Spurs and the Rockets as close as one game.

In fact, the Spurs were only two games ahead of Golden State in the race for a Western Conference playoff berth after losing their fourth straight game Sunday.

The Spurs rebounded Wednesday night, however, by snapping their longest losing streak of the season with a 118-113 victory over Kansas City.

"Everyone had us buried and had thrown the dirt on us," said Spurs Coach Stan Albeck. "But our team kept its confidence and we've got the harness from around our necks. I hope the albatross has been lifted."

In other NBA games, Denver outlasted Golden State 129-121, Washington beat Indiana 97-85, Philadelphia edged New Jersey 116-113, Chicago beat Cleveland 122-105, Detroit topped Atlanta 120-115 and Dallas defeated Utah 123-109.

San Antonio beat the Kings despite getting only 14 points from NBA scoring leader George Gervin, whose average is 32.8. Mike Mitchell offset Gervin's low output with a 40-point effort for the Spurs.

Gervin had to spend most of the second half on the bench with foul trouble, but the Kings also were plagued by officials' whistles.

"My team gives a good effort all the time, every night," growled Kansas City Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons. "If a team doesn't come out playing hard against us, they'll get beat. But foul trouble really hurt us. Our entire front line (Leon Douglas, Reggie King and Reggie Johnson) fouled out."

San Antonio led only 108-107 with about three minutes left, but the Spurs scored eight straight points over a two-minute span to clinch the victory.

"Everybody goes through a bad streak sometime during the year," Gervin said. "I hope we are over ours. We've got pressure on us to win games but so does everybody else."

Mike Woodson led the Kings with 21 points and Larry Drew added 20. Nuggets 129, Warriors 121.

Denver stayed only a game behind San Antonio in the Midwest Division and knocked Golden State a half-game behind Phoenix in the battle for the final Western Conference playoff spot.

Dan Issel scored 28 points and Alex English added 24 for the Nuggets.

The Warriors, who got 35 points from Bernard King, led 111-109 with seven minutes remaining, but Denver scored 12 of the next 13 points as Golden State went more than four minutes without a field goal.

Pistons 126, Bulls 118. Kelly Tripucka scored 27 points as Detroit pulled to within two games of Atlanta in the race for the final Eastern Conference playoff spot.

The Pistons scored the first seven points of the final quarter to take a 96-84 lead. An eight-point run later by the Hawks cut the deficit to 115-113, but five free throws, four of them by center Bill Laimbeer, kept Detroit ahead.

76ers 116, Nets 113. Julius Erving scored 18 of Philadelphia's final 26 points and finished with 38 overall to help snap New Jersey's four-

Erving scored eight points during a 16-2 7ers rally that turned a 40-45 deficit into a 61-48 edge just before halftime.

Two three-point field goals by Ray Williams, who led the Nets with 29 points, kept the pressure on Philadelphia late in the game, but Erving kept the 76ers ahead.

Bullets 77, Pacers 85.

Frank Johnson scored 21 points and Rick Mahorn pulled down 17 rebounds as Washington pushed Indiana to the brink of elimination from playoff consideration.

The Pacers now must win all six games remaining to have a chance for the playoffs. One Pacer-led are tied with New Jersey for the fourth of six Eastern Conference playoff spots.

Kevin Grevey scored 10 of his 14 points in the third period as the Bullets built a 72-70 lead and were ahead the rest of the way.

A's 'Billy Ball'
Turns 'Silly Ball'

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

The Oakland A's like to play "Billy Ball."

But Wednesday night, the California Angels made it look like silly ball.

"You almost have to get a lead to beat that club — it takes a lot of their game away from them," said Geoff Zahn after pitching the Angels' to a 7-0 victory over Billy Martin's team with a classy four-hitter.

The night before, the A's clawed out an 11-inning, 3-2 victory with their usual style, which includes a lot of daring baserunning. But they weren't able to play Martin's wide-open game Wednesday night, after falling behind early.

Fred Lynn and Rod Carew, each of whom had three hits and scored two runs, paced the Angels to a 4-0 lead after three innings.

The shutout was the eighth of Zahn's major-league career, but only his first since he pitched a three-hitter against the A's two years ago.

"We haven't had a lot of success against them recently," he said. "I lost to them last year in April and they hit me pretty good."

Brian Downing also was an offensive star for the Angels, driving in two runs, with his second homer of the year and a sacrifice fly. The loser was Mike Norris, who was reached for five hits and four runs in 41-3 innings.

In the only other AL game Wednesday night, the Minnesota Twins defeated the Seattle Mariners 7-5. The Kansas City-Baltimore game was postponed by cold weather.

In the National League, it was Atlanta 6, San Diego 4; Cincinnati 6, Chicago 2; Houston 3, St. Louis 2 and Los Angeles 9, San Francisco 2.

Twins 7, Mariners 5
Jim Eisenreich's two-run single and Kent Hrbek's solo home run lifted Minnesota over Seattle. The single was Eisenreich's first major league hit and it keyed a five-run fourth inning. Hrbek smashed his first homer of the season in the fifth inning to cap the Twins' scoring and give them a 7-2 lead at that point.

Another Twins' rookie, designated hitter Randy Johnson, had two doubles and a single for his first major league hits.

A crowd of only 5,213 witnessed the Twins' victory at the Hubert H. Humphrey Metrodome after a state-record audience of 52,279 saw the Mariners win 11-7 Tuesday night.

Jim Maler, Seattle's rookie first baseman, had his second homer of the season and now has six runs batted in.

Notes, Householder Fued Goes Big League

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

In the minor leagues, Paul Householder and Dickie Noles had a running feud going.

It's still going strong in the majors, and Wednesday night Householder got some licks in with his bat.

"I wanted to get him — I wanted to hit him good,"

Nicklaus May Be Masters Contender

By D. BYRON YAKE AP Sports Editor

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Three weeks ago, Jack Nicklaus wasn't particularly looking forward to playing in the Masters, a tournament he has mastered five times.

He had missed the cut in two consecutive tournaments and needed a tonic for a golf swing gone awry.

"I had to go back to basics and find them myself," Nicklaus said Wednesday, the day before play was scheduled to begin in the 46th Masters Tournament.

He said he found the flaw and that his game is "better than it's been in a long time."

If his game is back, he figures to be a contender for this prestigious event, won last year by Tom Watson.

Rain was predicted for today, and tournament officials said if the round is washed out, the 76 participants will play 36 holes Friday.

The sun shone Wednesday on the splendor of the Augusta National Golf Course and talk centered on the slick greens — so slick that Calvin Peete was putting three feet for a birdie during a practice round and wound up with a 20-foot putt back for a par.

Even Hord Hardin, the tournament chairman, said workers had been ordered to change the speed of two greens, now in their second season with bent grass.

Nicklaus favors the longest drivers because they will be able to use a shorter iron on

Householder said after hitting a home run and triple off Noles to lead the Cincinnati Reds to a 6-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs. "I had a little more incentive tonight."

It was a measure of revenge for a minor league incident that triggered antagonism between the two. Householder said that he and Watson and Tom Kite differ. They give the edge to the best putters, but not necessarily the longest drivers.

All three agreed, however, that pin placement was the key to whether scores will balloon.

So the key will be to keep the approach shots below the pin.

Kite, one of the most consistent players on the tour, likes the chances of Bill Rogers, the PGA Player of the Year in 1981 and winner of the British Open.

Watson, who won the Heritage Classic two weeks ago and is the only two-time winner this year, likes his chances of repeating — with one question. He won the tournament last year with a 280 total, eight under par.

Kite, for one, thinks 5-under-par will be a good score this year if the greens remain as quick as they are.

Both Watson and Nicklaus said the mental part of the game will be an especially critical factor.

Nicklaus scored a record low 13-under par 271 in 1975 when he won the tournament. The following year, Raymond Floyd matched the score.

Noles exchanged words during a Class AAA game last summer, when Householder was with the Reds' Indianapolis farm club and Noles was on the disabled list playing for the Philadelphia Phillies' farm club in Oklahoma City.

"The next day in the outfield during batting practice he stopped me, challenged me and we threw punches," Householder said.

Householder said Noles later hit him in the ribs with a pitch in a minor league game, nearly setting off an on-the-field fight.

Householder hit a two-out homer in the fourth inning and a run-scoring triple in the
