SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 16 (AP)—Rep. Douglas Stringfellow (R-Utah) tonight repudiated his story of wartime service with the Office of Strategic Services.

Lodge Charges Risks Kept On UNESCO Staff

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 16 (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations, charged today that eight American employees of doubtful loyalty were being kept on the UNESCO payroll by Dr. Luther Evans, American head of the organization.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

We've had a week of winners. Norman Spears, Coahoma, won first place in Permian Basin oil essay contest and with it a $500 scholarship. Billy McIlvain, Big Spring, was up there mighty close in final judging with one of the few papers selected for honorable mention.

Saturday, Billy Fryar, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Fryar, exhibited the champion steer of the junior division and the 4-H Club class at the American Royal in Kansas City. His heavyweight Hereford will show against the open champion Monday and it could be Howard County would come up with its second consecutive grand champion there which would be unprecedented.

We finally got our "Artisan" well plugged during the week. The hole drilled by our forebearers before the turn of the century has been exuding salt water since courthouse square changes have been started. Pressure all but blew out an old mesquite tree plug, but finally an oil well cement outfit managed to cement in the old casing and plug. Apparently we will be spared a salt water geyser.

In case you haven't obtained your ticket for the Big Spring Concert Association serves, get in touch with Mrs. Arch Carson or Mrs. Clyde Angel. There won't be any single admissions at the door, so if you want to hear the piano team of Ferrante and Teicher, the Don Cossack Chorus, or the Caine Matiny Trial with Paul Douglas, Wendal Corey, Corey Ford and Steve Brodie, act promptly.

Harley Sadler wasn't a Big Spring resident, yet every place he had been almost claimed him as a home-towner. His untimely death this week was felt throughout West Texas as possibly no other has.

the Army Times which questioned his service record.

He also said he has told Utah Republican leaders he will step aside as nominee for re-election from the Utah 1st Congressional District if they wish him to do so.

With him in the studio when he made the broadcast was Sen. Arthur V. Watkins (R-Utah).

The announcement by the 32-year-old disabled war veteran from Ogden stunned his Utah listeners. He was chosen one of the top 10 men in the United States by the Junior Chamber of Commerce last year.

His nomination for his honor pointed to World War II activities which it said resulted in the capture of German scientist Otto Hahn and the unbalancing of the Reich's timetable in trying to perfect the atomic bomb.

Stringfellow, who still walks with braces as the result of a wound suffered while clearing a mine field in France, is married and has two children. He was first elected to Congress in 1952.

Stringfellow said his story of cloak and dagger operations just grew as he embellished it during the course of more than 200 speeches.

"I fell into the trap, which in part had been laid by my own glib tongue. . . I became a prisoner of my own tongue," he said.

"I never participated in any secret-behind-the-scenes mission for our government.

"I never captured Otto Hahn or any other German physicist. . . I came before this radio and TV audience tonight a humble, contrite and very repentant individual. I have made some serious mistakes for which I am truly sorry. . . I wish before my Heavenly Father that I might undo this wrong. I ask your forgiveness and I assure you I will spend a lifetime repenting and trying to make amends. . .

"I have already told the officers of the party that, if they wish, I will willingly step aside to permit them to certify another candidate. If another is chosen, I will support him wholeheartedly. If they ask me to continue, I shall carry on my campaign on my record in the 83rd Congress. . . I shall humbly abide by the decision of my party and the people of the 1st District.

The Army Times in its current veterans edition had devoted most of three pages to a copyrighted article captioned "The Strange Case of Congressman Doug Stringfellow."

The article dealt with Stringfellow's accounts of his wartime service, as given, the paper said, in articles in Pacific Coast newspapers and on a television show ("This is Your Life, over NBC") last Jan. 24.

Stringfellow had called the Army Times account an "unfounded attack. . . politically inspired."

$100,000 Blaze Destroys Building In Wichita Falls

WICHITA FALLS, Oct. 16 (AP)—A $100,000 fire raged through a downtown business building here today—the second major fire in Wichita Falls in a week and the fourth in a month.

Today's blaze destroyed a building housing five concerns and a warehouse.

A loud explosion, its origin undetermined, rocked the building soon after the fire was discovered. Later smaller explosions popped as tires burst on vehicles in the burning structure.

Destroyed were the Automotive and Industrial Supplies firm, two Morton Foods distributing houses, the American News Co., the Harold Farris Sales firm and a warehouse used by a service station equipment dealer.

Cause of the blaze has not been determined, but police were working on the possibility of arson.

BET HE WISHES HE WAS, THOUGH

ODESSA, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Odessa American says this really happened:

A Negro boy, 14, was arrested for breaking into a vacant house and taken to police headquarters.

Lt. Bill Silvey asked: "Where does your mother live?"

The boy replied, "She stays in Odessa."

"Where does your father live?"

"He stays in New York City."

"Oh," said Silvey, "is he a Yankee?"

"No sir," the boy replied, "he don't even play baseball."

English Strikes Blamed On Reds

LONDON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Another Deakin, boss of Britain's biggest trade union, tonight blamed the Communists for London's crippling bus and waterfront strikes.

The strikes, the greatest labor challenge to the Churchill government since it came into power three years ago—reached a grave stage with no sign of a solution in sight. The Cabinet held its third meeting in as many days but announced no new measures.

Deakin, secretary general of the Transport and General Workers' Union, whose membership is 1½ million, said both London strikes have arisen from a policy propagated by the Communist party.

More than 15,000 members of Deakin's union are striking—against the orders of officials—in sympathy with more than 7,000 members of the stevedores union who are on official strike. In addition there are 8,000 ship repair workers on strike against the dismissal of five electricians.

About 4,500 tugboat and barge men will strike tomorrow in sympathy with the stevedores.

The strike began as a protest by the stevedores against the present system of compulsory overtime. The employers agreed to consider the demand but said the stevedores had to return to work first.

The busmen's strike is in protest against new schedules introduced by London transport management to try to straighten out schedule disorganization caused by a ban which the workers placed on overtime. The workers objected to the overtime to back up a demand for more pay.

Boilermaker Strike Ends In Southwest

HOUSTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—A strike of boilermakers in 5 states ended tonight, union and company spokesmen said.

No details of the settlement was given. The strike began Sept. 25. One report was that the settlement was for a 7½ cent welfare fund and 7½ cent an hour wage increase.

BLAZE EXTINGUISHED Election Day Mobs In Jordan Set Fire To American Agency

AMMAN, Jordan, Oct. 16 (AP)—Stone-throwing election day mobs battled police in the streets today, smashed into the U.S. Information Service library and set fire to the building. At least three persons were killed and 40 injured in the rioting.

A government communiqué blamed Communists and anti-government National Socialists for the disorders.

Firemen extinguished the library fire after police reinforcements.

Martial Law In Jordan Reported

DAMASCUS, Syria, Oct. 16 (AP)—Syrian press reports said a state of emergency was declared today in Amman, Jordan, following disorders in which several persons were wounded and the U.S. Information Office burned.

The reports said Jordan's army has occupied crossroads and important centers in Amman and placed Western embassies under heavy guard.

Howard Steer Named Junior Champ At K. C.

James Fryar had established one leg Saturday toward repetition of an all-Howard County final at the American Royal Livestock grand championship.

His heavyweight Hereford was named as the junior champion steer of the American Royal Livestock and Horse Show. In addition, the animal was named champion steer of the 4-H division before going on to the junior title.

Monday, the animal, bred by Edgar Phillips of Big Spring and Donald Lay of Coahoma, will compete for the grand championship of the show against winner of the open class.

Showing in the open division will be Lloyd Robinson, a former titlist at Chicago's International in his club boy days and winner of the open class at Kansas City last year. Robinson also won at Eastern National near Baltimore last season.

As a matter of fact, Robinson was named in the final judging at Kansas City last fall by the Hereford exhibited by James Cable of Big Spring. That was the first time anyone could remember that the champion and reserve had come from the same county. While the odds would be against it, a duplication of this uncanny pattern is not out of the realm of possibility Monday.

County Agent Durward Lexter, under whose direction the big steer was fed, said that the final judging would take place around noon Monday. He was optimistic but cautious over his chances for the title.

Only two steers were taken to Kansas City, the one exhibited by James and the other by Robinson. Other animals readied for the fall circuit were taken to Dallas for showing at the State Fair.

New York Area Teamsters Go Out On Strike

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—More than 23,000 AFL teamsters struck today in a wide area in and around New York City, seeking a 25-cent hourly wage-increase hike.

They threatened to throttle the multimillion-dollar daily flow of commerce.

Before the day was out, however, the union said that about a third of the drivers were slated to be back at work after the weekend as a result of employers agreeing to union demands.

There was no immediate comment from the truckers on the union claim.

UF To Launch General Canvass

The United Fund campaign gets into high gear this week. With solicitation under way on three fronts, the general canvass will get a sendoff Tuesday, when a special noon luncheon session will be at the Settles Hotel.

Hundreds of workers, representing all divisions of the big drive, are expected to be present.

They will hear an address by one of the Southwest's leaders in united welfare work, W. G. Vollmer of Dallas, president of the Texas & Pacific Railway Company.

Vollmer, intensely interested in United Fund activities, has served as head of the Dallas Community Chest and is a director of the National Council of Community Chests. His company has made an enlarged contribution to the local UF this year, and his administration has set a strong pace in encouraging all employees to participate with contributions.

The T&P authorizes a salary-reduction plan for its employe give to the UF.

Vollmer has been a frequent visitor to Big Spring, and his appearance here again is expected to attract a large crowd.

The Tuesday session will be the launching of formal solicitation for these divisions:

The general drive, headed by R. H. Weaver; the area division, headed by Walker Bailey; the women's division, headed by Mrs. Norman Read, and the Webb Air Force Base participation, directed by Lt. Col. Jack P. Goode.

In addition workers in the advance gifts, the special gifts and the employe gifts divisions are urged to attend the Tuesday session to make reports.

Two of these had report meetings Friday. And these showed fair progress with the start of the solicitation. The advance gifts group had reported $20,715, representing 50.4 per cent of its assigned quota. Adolph Swartz, K. H. McGibbon and Truman Jones, co-chairmen of this group, said that considerable cards remained to be worked, and urged their solicitors to complete these at the earliest possible date.

The special gifts division, with Dan Krause as chairman, reported $10,000.

How To Create A Waiting Line

"Snowed under with applicants," said this Want-Ad user after running a Herald ad just two days. There was a waiting line at the office the next morning after the ad appeared.

114 Known Dead In Storm's Path

The nightmare Hurricane Hazel howled into northern Canada last night (Saturday), leaving behind a lethal sequel of savage flood waters.

At least 114 persons were known dead in the ugly 200-mile swath of destruction the tropic-bred storm cut across the eastern United States and southern Canada. Hundreds more were missing.

The 1,200,000 people of Toronto were virtually isolated as the fading but still deadly hurricane dumped its heavy load of rain. Rivers and streams leaped their banks.

On a single street in Toronto, rescue workers estimated that 25 persons may have drowned in their homes. Estimates were that property damage in the area totaled at least 100 million dollars.

This was the last fatal lash of the savage shrieking disaster that bore the gentle name of Hazel.

Across a dozen eastern seaboard states earlier the storm had left jagged rubble where trim homes once stood.

Floods also plagued parts of the Carolinas, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia and New York. Firemen and volunteers risked their lives time and again to pluck struggling flood victims from the swirling waters around Toronto.

Some lost their lives in the selfless effort. Five volunteer firemen drowned at suburban Etobicoke when their truck was washed into the Humber River.

More than 1,000 persons, dispossessed by the raging torrents, huddled in gas stations and private homes in the high spots of Bradford.

A fertile truck garden area north of the city became a 6,000-acre lake 10 feet deep.

Boats and helicopters searched the rivers and searchlights stabbed the darkness as the crest of the flood began to recede at nightfall.

As the reports of hurricane damage and distress poured in, governors of three states—Maryland, North and South Carolina—appealed to the federal government for emergency aid. They said parts of their states were major disaster areas.

The storm hit hardest at the coastal states, but it also did widespread damage inland before its remnants plowed into Canada. There, new storm centers gave it a second spur of violence, before it faded into the northlands.

Many persons were missing, and thousands were refugees from flooded, demolished or damaged homes. Many communities were isolated without power or communications.

Platoons of emergency workers—ranging from the Red Cross, departments—moved into the stricken towns.

All along the wide wind-ravaged strip and on its fringes were

Key Hagler Case Witness Might Have Been In City

FORT WORTH, Oct. 16 (AP)—An Oklahoma City witness known only as "Georgia" today entered the case of David Hagler Jr., Fort Worth businessman charged with the murder of an unidentified man in Oklahoma last weekend.

Attorneys for Hagler said the witness could prove that Hagler left his 1954 Mercury car at a tourist court near the death scene so that she could pick it up.

Hagler's burned station wagon was found near Davis, Okla., about two miles south of the court, last Sunday. In it was the charred body of a man who at first was thought to be Hagler.

Meanwhile, Gov. Johnston Murray of Oklahoma requested Gov. Allan Shivers to return Hagler to Oklahoma, where he the murder charge was filed.

The governor's office said the request was received today but it would be Monday before a hearing date would be set.

Hagler is being held in jail here. He sent a plea to his lawyers today to make the $10,000 bond for him, but they said they preferred that he remain here a while.

Agent Steele Westbrook of the Oklahoma Crime Bureau said Hagler has told officers he remembers waking up near the death scene overnight Saturday, Oct. 9.

dangling power and telephone lines splintered trees and battered buildings.

Probably the hardest hit were the coastal communities of North and South Carolina, where the mighty blow trumpeted in from the sea yesterday.

Only communications with some of these communities was by portable radio. Scanty reports told of whole towns laid waste, of hotels

Ohio River Goes Over Its Banks

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Ohio River, overflowing with torrential rains, spilled flood waters over a small area of Pittsburgh today then rushed on toward Wheeling, W. Va., where heavy damage is expected tomorrow.

The backlash of Hurricane Hazel poured heavy rains into streams and tributaries feeding the Allegheny and Monongahela Rivers all of yesterday. The two rivers merge in Pittsburgh to form the Ohio.

Above Pittsburgh, along the route of the Allegheny and Monongahela, damage has been estimated in the millions of dollars. At least five persons are dead from drowning, two are missing and an undetermined number are victims of heart attacks.

The Weather Bureau at first said the Ohio would crest in Pittsburgh at 6 p. m., five feet above flood stage. Later, the estimate was revised upward with the crest expected at 8 p. m. at about 7½ feet above flood stage.

Even at 7½ feet above flood stage the Pittsburgh district wouldn't be hit hard. A few dwellings along the river bank and a huge parking area are all that would be flooded.

Flood preparations went ahead at full speed in Wheeling and in other towns along the Ohio between Wheeling and Pittsburgh. The Weather Bureau said it expects damage to be extensive in Wheeling.

At East Liverpool, flood observers expected a 40 to 41 foot crest late tonight.

Disaster agencies began evacuating hundreds of families living in the path of the Ohio's swirling waters.

Above Pittsburgh 6th grad 151. Some 35 miles north of Pittsburgh, the town of Butler worked to remove debris from its entire eastern district. Much of the town was under eight feet of water last night.

Officers were seeking new leads as to the identity of the charred corpse.

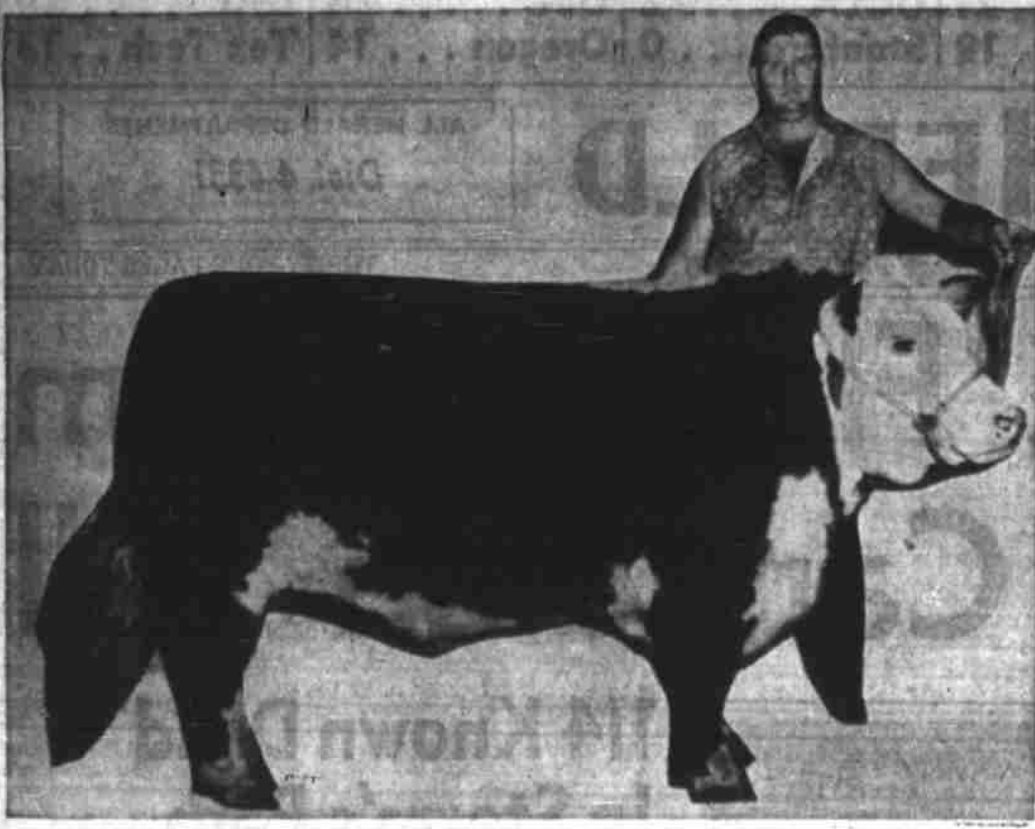

Westbrook said he was sure it wasn't a man named Hearn because of a difference in physical size.

A nose-ident dental plate found in the casket may be the key clue to final identification.

The search for the woman turned to West Texas after the ex-husband of a waitress named "Georgia" contacted officers. The man said his former wife had been in Big Spring, Slaton and Abilene recently.

The Wise County Sheriff told police here he is checking dental records to see if the victim could be Joseph Weldon Shaver of Bridgeport, missing since Oct. 3.

Big Spring law enforcement officials stated Saturday night that they know of no waitress here named Georgia, but that the local restaurants are being checked. Neither the police department nor the sheriff's office have been asked officially to cooperate in the search for the woman, officials said.

Junior Champion At Kansas City

James Fryar, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Fryar, Saturday won the junior championship with his heavy-weight Hereford steer at the American Royal Livestock and Horse Show in Kansas City, Monday his steer has a chance at the show's grand championship. The steer, which probably weighed in past 1,150 pounds, was bred by Edgar Phillips and Donald Lay of Howard County.

Police Report 333 Arrested In September

Police arrested 333 people in September for felony and misdemeanor crimes. More than half of these—190—were charged with drunkenness.

The month's report, compiled by Chief E. W. York, shows that patrolmen also issued 1,231 traffic tickets.

September fines in Corporation Court totaled $6,447.25, but only $3,851.25 was collected in cash. Individuals served out time in jail to pay off the remainder of the fine total.

The crack down on traffic law violations led to $1,528.75 being levied for moving violations. An additional $320 was assessed against people not having drivers licenses, while mechanical and parking violations accounted for $58.50 in fines.

There were 435 other people who paid $1 each at the police department because of overtime parking.

Police arrested nine people on charges of driving while intoxicated, and three were apprehended for allegedly committing aggravated assault.

Others arrested for felony charges included two for carrying deadly weapons, two for burglary, two for investigation of stabbing, one for investigation of theft, one for theft over $5, one for forgery, one for attempted murder, and one for assault with a motor vehicle.

The 150 drunks were assessed fines totaling $3,170. Two who displayed fire arms in the city were fined $100, and 10 arrested for at-fay were fined $100.

Thirty eight people charged with disturbance were fined $67.16, charged with vagrancy were fined $152, two charged with destroying private property were assessed $50, and two charged with petty theft were assessed $35.

Other arrests were for indecent exposure, vagrancy by prostitution, zoning violations, and simple assault.

Department records show that 1,500 calls were made to and from the police radio station. The four police cars traveled a total of 21,451 miles during the month.

Man Treated For Wound After Fight

A Latin-American had to be treated in a local hospital Saturday night for a head wound following a fight in Northwest Big Spring.

Police arrested three people in addition to the injured man, and all are in jail on charges of affray and drunkenness. The man's head was cut when hit with a rock.

Krause was out a steak dinner for the team of workers headed by Tommy Jordan, which group reported best percentage of its quota completed. Jordan's workers are Kelly Lawrence, James Edwards, E. F. Driver, Matt Harrington and Sam Burns.

General Campaign Chairman Dick Simpson stressed again that more volunteer workers are needed, and said they could be assigned to the general drive starting Tuesday. Those who will help are asked to call the United Fund of-ice, 4-7471.

"We're getting started in satisfactory fashion," said Simpson in a statement of review Saturday. "Our goal now is to step up the tempo and complete the drive quickly. Nobody wants to see the campaign drag along. The only answer is to make the contacts on schedule and to report on schedule. That way, success is assured."

The United Fund is asking $82,131, to take care of 13 agencies.

AEC Claims No 'Windfall' Possibility In Power Pact

BY RUSSELL BRINES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission says that, "after considerable negotiation," it succeeded in writing provisions into the controversial Dixon-Yates power contract "which should remove the possibility of 'windfalls' to the company."

In a still unpublished report to Congress, read today by an Associated Press reporter, the AEC described as not excessive contract terms permitting the Dixon-Yates group to make a tax-free return of 9 per cent or more on its proposed $1/2 million dollar investment in a new power plant near the Tennessee Valley.

The AEC said, however, the 9 per cent is not guaranteed and could be higher or lower if changes in construction cost estimates modify the group's investment.

The commission said it balked at the group's original proposal under which "the company would have received any profits in excess of a 9 per cent return on its equity (investment) with the AEC being obligated to pay the income tax."

Instead, the AEC said it inserted five provisions in the current and probably final draft of the contract.

designed to eliminate possible excessive profits. It said that the commission, "through negotiation, has obtained major concessions from the company."

The detailed report was sent to Congress to explain final negotiations for the politically explosive contract. The AEC has not released either document, although both are unclassified and pressure for their publication apparently is mounting.

An Associated Press staff writer read both the printed contract and the mimeographed AEC report, furnished to him by an official source.

The 25-year contract—the center of a political storm—calls for the Dixon-Yates group to furnish 600,000 kilowatts of power from a new steam plant at West Memphis, Ark., to be built at an estimated cost of 107 million dollars. The power would be supplied to the Tennessee Valley Authority to replace some of the TVA electricity used by AEC.

Under present cost estimates, the AEC would pay $20,746,000 a year for the power, including federal income and state and local taxes. The commission would absorb any major increases in the cost of coal and labor and would be credited for decreases.

The commission has approved but not yet signed the contract, which now is before the Senate-Atomic Energy Committee.

The congressional group meets Nov. 4 for open hearings on it and to decide whether to insist upon a provision that would postpone signing the contract until next February.

The administration has asked the committee to waive the provision and clear the contract for immediate implementation. Opponents of the proposal—many Democrats and some Republicans—want it postponed.

Bank's Suit Against Eberleys Is Sent Back For A New Trial

A decision of the 118th District Court in a case filed by the First National Bank of Stanton against Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eberley has been reversed by the Court of Civil Appeals.

Chief Justice Clyde Grissom, who rendered the upper court's decision, directed that the case be remanded to the district court for retrial before a jury.

The bank must prove in the new trial that it was damaged by the Eberleys and show the amount of damage, according to the Appellate Court ruling.

The bank originally sued the Eberleys on a note for $81,000 and sought to foreclose a deed of trust lien on two and a half sections of land. The trial was held in Big Spring.

The trial jury found Mrs. Eberley did fraudulently obtain $81,000 from the bank by signing notes and passing worthless checks.

However, jurors also found that Jim Tom, bank president, intended to pay the debt of the Eberleys by giving checks to the bank totaling $33,500. Another check for $27,500 given the bank by W. C. Houston was not meant to pay the debt of the Eberleys, the jury found.

Following the jury trial, the bank filed a motion to disregard the decision which found that Tom intended to pay the Eberleys' debts.

District Judge Charlie Sullivan then ruled that the bank did not receive or accept the money paid by Tom with the intention of extinguishing the Eberleys' debt.

This ruling caused Eberleys' attorney, Clyde Thomas, to appeal the case to the Court of Civil Appeals.

The Appellate Court agreed with Judge Sullivan that there was no evidence that Tom paid his money to the bank with the intention of extinguishing the Eberleys' debts.

He jibed at Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Sen. William F. Knowland, and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

"Mr. Nixon expresses his views on foreign policy, and everything else, freely and frequently, and changes them in the same manner," Stevenson said.

"Sen. Knowland tells off President Eisenhower and denounces Secretary Dulles, also freely and frequently and loudly, which is the more remarkable considering that he is the President's leader in the Senate."

"While the President talks about peaceful coexistence with the Communists, Sen. Knowland talks of war with Red China. When he publicly demands that we sever diplomatic relations with Russia the President has to issue a quick and angry 'no.'"

"In the current Republican parlance this is what is known as 'team play.'"

"In March Mr. Nixon, the administration's chief spokesman these days, took to the television to tell us that massive atomic retaliation is the key to peace and we want no more small wars, no more Korea; we are not going to be 'nibbled to death.'"

"Yet the following month he was in favor of sending American forces to fight in Indochina. Then after the Communist triumph, he blamed the French disaster in Indochina."

"But meanwhile the President was talking amiably about bipartisanship. This, I understand, is known as the smile and smear technique of campaigning: the President smiles while the vice president smears."

floating out to sea, of boats and pilots piled in fragments.

At Garden City, S.C., a businessman estimated 10 million dollars worth of damage, done alone, with 400 houses demolished. At Ocean Beach, S.C., two long rows of 395 houses were reported wiped out.

Damages in the two states will run into "fantastic figures," a reporter messaged by radio. Everywhere, he said, the violence of the storm was evident.

The hurricane vented its cruelty on inland areas, too.

It ripped off rooftops, tumbled church steeples, uprooted trees, smashed warehouses, knocked ships off their moorings and wreaked other damage all along its path.

The death toll quickly exceeded that of the previous two hurricanes that swept the northeastern United States earlier this summer and fall.

At the end of August, hurricane Carol claimed 85 lives, with damages in the millions. Two weeks later, hurricane Edna killed 20 people as it ground across New England.

That region only caught the peripheries of the blow this time, but several towns suffered some damage.

Before it hit the U.S. mainland in South Carolina, the hurricane stampeded across Haiti, killing more than 100 persons there.

It slammed the U.S. coast with winds up to 130 miles an hour.

Early reports showed these deaths by:

New York 17; North Carolina 18; Pennsylvania 11; New Jersey 7; Delaware 4; Washington, D.C. 3; Massachusetts 1; Connecticut 1; Canada 30.

After the winds abated, even communities where damage was less severe still were sluggish from the impact. Much of New Jersey was in a virtual blackout, without power.

Telephone lines also were a mess in that state, as well as in the Carolinas, Virginia, parts of Pennsylvania, New York, Delaware and Maryland. Broken trees littered streets and yards.

From Suffolk, Va., came this terse description: "A wreck."

In Pennsylvania, where flooded streams poured into nearby towns, hundreds were evacuated—400 from the town of Turtle Creek alone. West Newton's business district was a lake.

The rising waters gave a major scare to the industrial city of Pittsburgh, where the swollen Allegheny and Monongahela dump into the Ohio. But later reports indicated only flooding of small sections.

That city—like a string of other major cities, Philadelphia, Washington, D. C.; Richmond, Va.; Wilmington, N. C. and Baltimore—look a beating from the wind, with trees uprooted, porches caved in and some roofs and chimneys shattered.

Ships broke loose from moorings at Philadelphia and Annapolis, Md., where two vessels sank. Part of the roof of Washington's National Airport was torn off. Some empty planes were tossed about. A big chunk of a historic church steeple crashed in Richmond.

As the wind ground northward across New York State, its still-powerful shafts struck down a 40-foot television tower at Elmira and blew off a roof and caused an explosion in Horseheads, toppled a church steeple in Big Flats, picked up an anchored plane and smashed it at Syracuse.

From Saranac Lake in the northern Adirondacks southward to Norwich, many communities were without electric power. In New Jersey, a half million homes were blacked out, and 175,000 telephone lines down.

Adlai Accuses GOP Of Smile, Smear Tactics

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson tonight pictured the Republican party as being torn internally, and with increasing "wild and fears of America's" belligerence while steadily reducing America's effective strength.

Speaking at a Democratic rally in the Civic Auditorium, the 1952 presidential nominee said the Republicans were more concerned with appeasing their right wing members than with the welfare of the job.

He jibed at Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Sen. William F. Knowland, and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

"Mr. Nixon expresses his views on foreign policy, and everything else, freely and frequently, and changes them in the same manner," Stevenson said.

"Sen. Knowland tells off President Eisenhower and denounces Secretary Dulles, also freely and frequently and loudly, which is the more remarkable considering that he is the President's leader in the Senate."

"While the President talks about peaceful coexistence with the Communists, Sen. Knowland talks of war with Red China. When he publicly demands that we sever diplomatic relations with Russia the President has to issue a quick and angry 'no.'"

"In the current Republican parlance this is what is known as 'team play.'"

"In March Mr. Nixon, the administration's chief spokesman these days, took to the television to tell us that massive atomic retaliation is the key to peace and we want no more small wars, no more Korea; we are not going to be 'nibbled to death.'"

"Yet the following month he was in favor of sending American forces to fight in Indochina. Then after the Communist triumph, he blamed the French disaster in Indochina."

"But meanwhile the President was talking amiably about bipartisanship. This, I understand, is known as the smile and smear technique of campaigning: the President smiles while the vice president smears."

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 16 (AP)—Harry S. Truman beseeched the American people tonight to elect a Democratic Congress and what he called a Republican spectacle of "blunder after blunder" in foreign policy and tragic surrender at home to "selfish interests."

In less than 20 months, the former President said, the Republican administration has "shown its incapacity to govern."

Truman stepped into the political arena with his only speech of the campaign, a fighting speech prepared for delivery at a Midwest Democratic political rally in Municipal Auditorium.

In his old, "give 'em hell" form, the former chief executive ripped the GOP for what he termed "frenzied diplomacy" that has cost us the confidence of friends and allies, for serving special interests instead of those of the people, for a "shocking give-away" of the nation's resources, for "waiting for a miracle while millions are jobless."

And under the new administration, Truman said, farmers have received just what he warned about in 1952—lower income and a cost of living at an all-time high.

Man Shot 3 Times In Stomach; Charge Filed In Incident

SHAMROCK, Oct. 16 (AP)—J. L. Nipples, about 37, a seismograph crew worker, was shot three times in the stomach today. He was in serious condition at a veterans hospital in Amarillo.

Wheeler County Atty. Guy Hardin said a charge of assault with a deadly weapon had been filed against A.W. Kohler, Pampa insurance salesman.

Hardin said Kohler gave this account:

About 1:40 a.m. Kohler was in a cafe at Wheeler, 17 miles north of here, drinking coffee when two men entered. One of them, for no apparent reason, started cursing Kohler and told him to get out of town.

Kohler left, and the pair followed him to an all-night service station here. One got out and told Kohler to get out of the county, Kohler tried to call police and the man grabbed him.

Hardin said assault charges will be filed against the two men of whom Kohler spoke.

The county attorney said Nipples is from Amarillo and had been working at Wheeler.

Memphis' Boss Crump, 80, Dies, Power Waning

E. H. CRUMP

MEMPHIS, Oct. 16 (AP)—E. H. (Boss) Crump, the nation's last old-time big city political boss, died today. He was 80.

His Memphis "machine" made—or broke—Tennessee governors, senators and representatives for more than 20 years.

Death was due to a heart ailment. He died at home, still the "Boss" here although no longer able to swing the entire state.

Neither Crump nor his candidates were ever beaten in his own backyard—Memphis and Shelby county (pop. 520,300).

But he lost much of his statewide influence in the 1948 Democratic primary. He never gained it all back.

The bushy-browed, white-haired politico, wealthy head of a real estate and insurance firm, died after a gradual decline in health first noted last August.

His smooth machine was considered a model by organization politicians throughout the nation. But it was strictly a one-man show.

In dying with his political boots on, Crump left no heir apparent. Just who would succeed him, if anyone, posed a major question in City Hall circles.

His policy was to crack down on any organization man he suspected of "getting too big for his britches." Three lieutenants who broke with him found it desirable to move to other cities.

Death ended a turbulent 54-year political career in which iron-fisted discipline was frosted with ironic comedy, and political vitriol contrasted with pleas that citizens feed the birds in winter.

He never made a political speech. He never took the stump in a state campaign. In later years he seldom appeared at political rallies.

He made his views well known through statements—often sulphurous—to the press. He often bought advertising space to give an opponent an especially sharp blast.

To those who accused him of lust for power, he answered that his sole interest was good government. "We give Memphis good, honest government," he said. "As long as we do that we can stay in. If we didn't, the people would kick us out."

The "boss" was often accused of favoritism. There was little business or patronage for those who didn't "get along."

But even his worst enemies agreed the city-county government were efficient. Tax dollars went a long way. No major graft was uncovered for at least the past 20 years.

The machine's statewide power pivoted on the fact that for years bloc voting in "Big Memphis" made the city, in relation to the state, the tail that wagged the dog.

For decades, any reasonably close state race could be swung by Crump's avalanche of ballots.

Delinquent Tax Collections Up

Tax department receipts for the City of Big Spring during the first six months of this fiscal year exceeded collections during the same period last year by $8,480.81.

Tax Collector C. E. Johnson Jr. pointed out that the bulk of increase came from the collection of delinquent taxes.

Since April 1 of this year, the starting of the fiscal period, collections of delinquent taxes have totaled $10,970.08 in the same period last year only $4,645.78 were collected.

Credit for the increased collection for this year has been given to Attorney Harvey Hooser Sr., who was hired by both the City of Big Spring and the Independent School District for that purpose.

Current taxes for the last year which were collected through September totaled $3,515.93, which is $1,877.18 more than the amount collected through September of 1953.

Collections for the tax department during September totaled $2,425.72, which is quite a bit more than the $1,482.15 brought in during the same month last year.

A breakdown of the collections through September follows: current taxes per $100, $122.37; delinquent taxes, $10,970.08; interest and penalties, $2,352.92; occupation taxes, $1,353.92; dog taxes, $70; tax certificates, $69; bus franchise, $266.42; taxicab franchise, $751.97; and taxibus drivers licenses, $62.

Graveside services will be held at 10 a.m. Monday for Judy Faye Kuykendall, 13-day-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Kuykendall who died early last Friday morning.

Interment will be in the Laurel Land Cemetery at Fort Worth, and Eberley-River Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Funeral service was held at the Eberley-River Chapel at 4 p.m. Saturday, with Lyle Price, minister of the Church of Christ, officiating. Judy Faye is survived by her parents and two sisters, Jo Ann, 3, and Jayne Lee, 18 months, all of Big Spring.

been. It was such a shock that there has been virtually no speculation about a successor as state senator.

Prospects of another new oil pool were bright at the end of the week with recovery of gas and oil cut mud on the Cosden No. 1 Simpson in extreme northern Howard. The Luther Southeast pool inched to the southwest with a probable producer.

Genuinely good response has greeted the United Fund in appeals thus far. Most divisions are now in the soliciting stage and early reports are most encouraging. Your help both as worker and giver will insure quick success if you really open up this week.

The National Guard unit, which has won several outstanding awards in the past, came up with its best last week. Following federal inspection, the battery was designated as "superior." The record of having 63 of 64 men out for inspection was something, too.

If you have any ideas or suggestions for community activity, the Chamber of Commerce is having the first of a series of monthly membership meetings at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Permain Building. You'll be welcome to express your thoughts.

Flanders Applauds Censure Vote Delay

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) said today that neither he nor Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) had been asked by top Republicans to take part in the current political campaign, and added:

"I think it's a good thing."

Flanders, just back from a California vacation, said that it was "wise" for the Republican National Committee to keep the McCarthy censure controversy out of the campaign.

"The Republican National Committee has not encouraged either of us to make political speeches," he said. "Nor have I sought it."

Although he first urged a Senate vote before the Nov. 2 election on the censure charges which were unanimously recommended by a special six-senator committee, Flanders said he now is convinced that it was wise to delay the Senate session until Nov. 8 six days after election.

He explained that this was a decision for Senate leaders and senators who are candidates for re-election and that the delay kept the censure issue from being brought actively into the campaign.

"In the interests of straightening out this situation it is a good thing that it has been this way," he said.

It was Flanders who made the original move in the Senate for censure.

Talking about the present political campaign, Flanders said:

"I would vote for every Republican Senate candidate running for election this time."

Vietnamese Woman Tells Of Jailing For Aiding GIs

By FORREST EDWARDS
SAIGON, Viet Nam, Oct. 16 (AP)—A sick and haggard 34-year-old Vietnamese woman said today she spent 9½ years in Japanese and Vietminh prison camps because she helped hide 11 American airmen from Japanese soldiers during World War II.

She told of being forced to leave her 2-month-old daughter with Vietminh jailers when they released her and her French army prisoner of war husband on Aug. 31 of this year.

She did not weep. Her tired, drawn face seemed drained of all emotion. But her thin blue-veined hands clutched at the small crucifix on a chain about her neck as she spoke of the baby she does not expect to see again.

She first told her story to American Embassy officials, and presented supporting letters about her aid to the Americans written by leaders of the French-Vietnamese underground which opposed the Japanese in central Viet Nam during the war. The Americans had no official comment on her story.

Unofficially they donated the plane equivalent of $247 to help pay her fare to France with her husband, Pvt. Andre Pagnon of Paris.

Pagnon said the French army was rotating him home but would not pay his wife's fare. They leave for France Monday aboard the Jamaica.

Mrs. Pagnon said the 11 Americans included four officers—a plane commander Stevenson, radio officer Charles or Charley, Patterson and Queen. She recalled the seven enlisted men as Grady, Vendette, Douglas, Fred, Gowan, Flesch and Tamy.

She said she never knew their full names nor where they lived in America. She said their plane was a four-engine American Navy craft. She believes it crashed in the sea off central Viet Nam on Feb. 26, 1945, the day which she remembers them as coming ashore in a rubber liferaft.

She recalled today the 11 hid out in the hills and that she took them food. She found that "Capt. Charley" was weak and sick and she took him into her family home. The others stayed hidden in the hills.

Three days later an American submarine surfaced offshore and Capt. Charley was taken to it in a native boat. The others boarded it the next day.

An hour later she was seized by Japanese soldiers who had been searching for the Americans. She thought then she would be killed and thinks now she was not only because the Japanese were not certain she had helped the fliers.

At the end of World War II, she said, the Japanese turned her over to the Vietminh with a recommendation she be kept imprisoned because she was both pro-American and pro-French.

Pagnon was thrown into the same prison camp after his capture they were married. Their daughter, Monique, was born in the prison camp in early July this year.

When they were released, Pagnon said, the Vietminh took the baby from its mother's arms and refused to give it back.

Wednesday Marks Decade Since Leyte Was Invaded

By RUSSELL BRINES
By The Associated Press

Americans roared back into the Philippines with power — and luck — 10 years ago next Wednesday. They struck at Leyte Island, the heart of the archipelago, in a gigantic gamble that has left echoes still audible in Asia today.

For seven months, the campaign was fought on land. It exploded at sea into the flaming Battle of Leyte Gulf, one of the war's climactic engagements.

Before it ended, the United States was in position to liberate all the Philippines, fulfilling what most Filipinos believed was a pledge of honor.

On the anniversary of the Leyte invasion, Oct. 20, there will be few speeches and no pilgrimages back to the rugged frontier island 300 miles from Manila. Leyte has slipped into the backwash, for history no longer needs it.

But perhaps the best monument to the more than 3,500 American soldiers who died there is the conviction that, partly because of Leyte, the Filipinos will continue standing firm with Americans against communism.

A decade later, the story of Leyte remains linked to a vision, a hunch and a strange decision. The vision was born in 1942 in the tunnels of Corregidor, when Gen. Douglas MacArthur knew he was defeated and started planning his comeback.

Despite MacArthur's promise, "I will return," it was not until July 1944 that top American strategists definitely eliminated the possibility of bypassing the Philippines for other Pacific targets.

MacArthur argued that recapture of the Philippines was necessary to keep faith with the Filipinos and to shorten the war by completely cutting vital Japanese supply lines to Southeast Asia. Some admirals said American lives would be saved by jumping directly to Formosa or concentrating on a drive across the central Pacific to Japan proper.

The general was given authority for return to Mindanao, the southern-most Philippine island after a dramatic meeting in Honolulu with President Roosevelt.

Then the hunch came to Adm. William F. (Bull) Halsey when carrier pilots of his roaming 3rd Fleet reported in September that Japanese defenses on Leyte were weak. Halsey recommended a swift thrust at Leyte to springboard attacks against the northern islands, eliminating the preliminary assault on nearby Mindanao.

This meant taking MacArthur's forces beyond the immediate range of land-based aircraft. But he agreed, gambling on surprise.

So, 29 months after ragged American defenders surrendered the Philippines, an armada of more than 800 ships crept back into Leyte Gulf for the big push.

The Japanese, stunned and dispersed by the pre-invasion bombardment, fought only lightly at first, except for murderous mortar and artillery fire that raked late waves of the 24th Division.

But from the first day, Leyte was a vicious, frustrating campaign, fought house-to-house in fortified towns, cave-to-cave along jagged cliffs, and mountain-to-mountain through seemingly impassible central ranges.

The Japanese weakened other Philippine defenses and stripped garrisons as far away as Manila and artillery fire that raked late waves of the 24th Division.

after American troops won control of the Philippines.

On the third day of the campaign, MacArthur proclaimed the re-establishment of the Philippine government under President Sergio Osmeña, who accompanied the invasion force.

"I have returned," MacArthur said.

Modern Ranges Available For Any Kitchen

Constant research by appliance manufacturers has resulted in a wide variety of improvements in the modern automatic gas range so that a prospective buyer can find one to suit any kitchen plan.

The most outstanding idea in gas range construction is separation of top-of-the-range cooking from the baking and broiling sections. This is so very new that many home-makers have not yet adopted it, but if you are building a new house or renovating your kitchen, might be well to take a look at the wide variety of automatic gas ranges that are available today with top-burner arrangements, simmer burners, griddles, auxiliary ovens, smokeless broilers and automatic controls.

In fact, the manufacturers have not forgotten that thousands and thousands of us live in apartments or small quarters, where of necessity the kitchen must be planned for maximum efficiency in limited space. For instance, there is the 24-inch range which combines a quality cooking with compactness while its more glamorous cousin, the 30-inch range, has an extra large oven big enough for the festive turkey with room to spare for other dishes and plenty of room above for top-burner cooking.

Compared to older models, this space-saving gas range means more room in the kitchen for food preparation without sacrificing any of its "big brother's" cooking, baking or broiling ability.

All new designs in gas ranges stress ease of cleaning and have streamlined surfaces without those hard-to-get-at corners which collect dirt and grease. You can keep your new range a pride and joy by acquiring a few good house-keeping habits. Even though you are using an older model in your apartment, these pointers will ease your work in keeping your gas range presentable.

After use, wipe the range with a dust cloth, and if you happen to have a spillover, use a paper towel to clean off all traces of foods or liquids. If you give your gas range the same daily attention you give your dishes and pots and pans, you will find that it takes only a couple of minutes to keep your range in condition to give you maximum efficiency at all times, and to make it a tool from which you derive complete satisfaction.

Plea Is Not Guilty

The story carried in Friday's issue of the Herald which said that Brigido Villarreal, operator of an establishment at 305 N. Bell, had entered a plea of guilty in County Court was in error. The story should have said that he entered a plea of not guilty to the charge of selling beer to a minor on Oct. 6. Bond, correctly stated in the amount of $500, was posted. No trial date has been set.

To Replace The Old—

Cleaning in modern design, and representing the last word in cooking efficiency are today's automatic gas ranges, examples of which are pictured here. They have an unusual appeal to thrifty housewives now, since it's "Old Stove Round-Up" time, and gas appliance dealers, in conjunction with Empire Southern Gas Co., are sponsoring a campaign of trade-ins of the older models for the new designs.

Most Car Dealers Set For New Models; Few '54s Still On Hand

Most Big Spring automobile dealers are optimistically awaiting the delivery of 1955-model cars with their 1954 stocks exhausted or nearly depleted.

Almost without exception, the local dealers say they are in "better shape than in a long time" on the eve of the arrival of new models.

Sales for most distributors have been good all year, and the demand for 1954 cars is holding strong as the vintage fades. In another month there'll be few '54 models in the showrooms, and the 1955 cars are expected to start moving promptly and steadily.

Drastic style changes for some makes and more powerful engines for practically all brands are due to make next year's cars "look numbers" from the sales standpoint. Several additional manufacturers—Notably Chevrolet, Plymouth and Pontiac—are due to join the trend to the V-8 engine.

Plymouth and Chevrolet will maintain their six-cylinder engines as their fields are widened to the six- and eight-cylinder scope of Ford, Dodge and others.

The majority of dealers here say the used car market also is in better condition than in a long time. Stocks of used cars are relatively low, prices of the machines have stabilized, and used car sales have picked up in the last few weeks. Some second-hand cars were worth nearly as much as the same machines were a year ago.

Ah a result, the new car distributors say they will be able to make better trade-in offers. Dealers don't expect any hold-over 1954 models to be "sacrificed" after the 1955 cars arrive, either. Few will be left in the dealers' hands.

Of course, prospective buyers probably can make a better deal for a new 1954 automobile now than they'll be able to get on a 1955 model six or eight weeks later. Sales manager for one concern pointed out that a 1953 car will become two years of age—instead of one—the minute the new models hit the display rooms. Consequently, they'll be worth a little less on a trade-in after the 1955's arrive.

One Big Spring car man, whose make this year has sold like hotcakes, says he hopes all the manufacturers get out "hot selling" automobiles for the next year. He explained that when one dealer has a hard-to-sell car, he is forced to reduce prices to the "cut-throat" point merely to keep stocks moving and hang on to his business, even though he doesn't make enough on the trades to pay the overhead.

This takes some sales away from other dealers; consequently, all of them may be hard pressed to meet expenses which may run as high as $10,000 or $12,000 a month for a modern auto agency that must attempt to provide complete automotive service for the vehicles it puts on the market.

Studebaker already has put its 1955 models on the market. Other new models are to start hitting the showrooms late this month and early in November and the new-car parade will extend into December with one company or another introducing its '55 lines practically every week.

The 1955 sales are to start the same day the new cars are shown at agencies here.

CRMWD Points Linked By Radio

The 100-mile system of the Colorado River Municipal Water District has been linked by short wave radio.

While all installations have not been completed the key units are in operation. Eventually, there will be six stationary two-way units and five mobile ones.

The base unit is at the headquarters office in Big Spring, said E. V. Spence, general manager for the CRMWD. There will be units at the well field in Martin County, the Big Spring-Odessa pump station and the Snyder pump station at Lake J. B. Thomas, at the SACROC receiving station and the filtration plant in Snyder.

Mobile units connect with the manager's car, the production engineer, and two maintenance trucks, as well as the Big Spring filtration plant. No unit will be required at Odessa for the reason that terminal storage is sufficiently elastic as not to require precision timing in cutting supplies on and off.

Spence pointed out that the radio communication setup has linked the entire system closely for the first time.

Efficiency Goal In Designing Of New Gas Ovens

Gas range ovens are constructed to give the American homemaker the ultimate in perfect results and liberal capacity. The conventional "oven-above-broiler below" arrangement is widely accepted and produced by practically all manufacturers. Gas range ovens are designed to give good results through well-ventilated, insulated construction, producing even heat distribution, throughout the area. Quick warm-up and precise temperature control make oven use a pleasure on the modern automatic gas range.

Double ovens: In the trend toward providing more range with all zones used for cooking and less emphasis on storage compartments, a growing number of gas ranges are available with double ovens and double broilers.

Clock controlled ovens: Ovens whose operations are clock controlled are becoming a greater factor in the trend toward more automatic appliances, and giving consumers added convenience. Wide impetus to their sales has been provided through their promotion, not only by the manufacturers and their dealers, but also by gas utilities, the American Gas Assn., and the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Assn.

Practically all leading gas range manufacturers now have clock controlled ranges in their lines of models.

Oversized ovens: Several manufacturers of modern gas ranges have introduced the 20-inch range with the "oversized" super oven of about 25 to 27-inch width. Although this type range was initially introduced by competition, gas range manufacturers were quick to capitalize on the selling features that this model offers.

In its current development stages on improved oven burner and broiler automatic ignition systems, the gas industry is making strides in attaining the goal of a cold oven when not in use. Two such systems are currently being marketed: the gas jet tube system, by which the oven burner is lighted automatically from the tiny top burner pilot through a slotted tube to valve, and the electric coil system.

Many manufacturers are marketing one system or the other, and some provide the choice of either.

Special Values In Gas Ranges Offered In Old Stove Round-Up

It's Old Stove Round-Up Time. Which means that the time is favorable for you to exchange the outmoded model that no longer fills the needs of your home cooking for one of the sleek, efficient, automatic gas ranges that add so much to convenience and beauty in the kitchen.

Natural gas appliance dealers in Big Spring are cooperating with Empire Southern Gas Company for this annual joint merchandising event.

It's under way now, with special emphasis being placed on outstanding trade-in offers during this week.

Dealers have the latest models available to meet every household demand.

Champ Rainwater, Empire Southern manager, said he believes the 1954 sales event will be one of the most outstanding merchandising programs of all.

"Our local appliance merchant friends have come to look forward to the Old Stove Round-Up every fall," he said. "And the public is well aware of this event too, because of special values obtainable during the campaign."

"Past records show a fine public acceptance of these really important sales offers, and we feel that there will be fine acceptance again this year."

"Today's modern homemaker is looking for efficiency, convenience and economy. She can get them all in a modern natural gas range. The automatic features, the beauty of design, the cleanliness and control in proper cooking, the easy-to-clean features—all these are indeed a part of the new gas ranges. The housewife need only to see for herself."

Whether your corral is large or small, when you choose your new range for your home, you can be sure that your natural gas appliance dealer has model that will fill the bill.

Empire Southern Gas Co.'s annual Old Stove Round-Up campaign, being held in cooperation with local natural gas appliance dealers, is featuring all types of modern ranges. Ranges are available now to suit every possible type of kitchen plan.

Manufacturers have not forgotten the thousands of Americans who live in apartments or small quarters, where the kitchen must be planned for maximum efficiency in limited space. For instance, there is the 24-inch range which combines quality cooking with compactness while its more glamorous cousin, the 30-inch range, has an extra large oven, big enough for the festive turkey with room to spare for other dishes and plenty of room above for top burner cooking.

Compared to the more traditional models, these space savers provide the same efficiency in top burner cooking, broiling and baking.

All new designs of ranges stress ease of cleaning and have streamlined surfaces minus hard to get at corners which collect dirt and grease.

Empire Southern is joining the appliance dealers in a special advertising campaign in The Herald. Special window and floor displays have been set up, and the local campaign is bolstered by national advertising at the manufacturer's level.

"It's the time of year for a new range," said Rainwater. "And it's the time when dealers have their most advantageous offers available to the public."

The Bad News

Commissioner of Internal Revenue T. Coleman Andrews, left, and Roy S. Eastin, acting public printer, examine the first of millions of 1954 federal income tax forms to come off the press at the government printing office in Washington. More than 143 carloads of paper will be used on the job — biggest ever done at the government's print shop. Distribution starts Dec. 26. (AP Wirephoto.)

Millions To Use Card Form For Income Tax

By FRANK O'BRIEN
WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—The government today unveiled its new income tax forms, including a simple 15-line card for wage earners receiving less than $5,000 a year.

Internal Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews estimated that 35 million of the more than 60 million U.S. taxpayers are eligible to use the card form—a stripped down version of old 1040A—but he said a lot of them will tackle the more complicated 1040 form instead.

Under the general tax revision law enacted this year, all returns must be in by April 15, one month later than the previous March 15 deadline, but the tax collectors will welcome them any time after Jan. 1.

The new law overhauling the tax structure made no change in general rates, although it provided cuts for millions of individuals and nearly all corporations. A 10 per cent reduction in personal taxes went into effect last Jan. 1 under previous legislation.

Most of the new forms were merely revised to fit changes in the general tax structure, but the 1040A card form is something brand new. Andrews said it may be the first step toward relieving taxpayers earning under $5,000 a year from filing any return at all.

Those using this form may not take more than the standard 10 per cent deduction, nor itemize their deductions.

In the past it has been a full sheet of questions, front and back. This has been reduced to a card about the size of a bank check, with 15 lines of information to be filled in. An accompanying sheet of instructions gives detailed directions, and also serves as a guide to whether the taxpayer would be better off to use the simple 1040A form, or the more complicated 1040 form.

As in the past, the Revenue Service will calculate the tax for taxpayers using the simple form, and send them a bill or a refund.

Andrews said "we are putting emphasis this year on use of the simple form." As part of this campaign, the 1040 form this year starts off with a suggestion that taxpayers consider if they would not be better off using the simpler form. The card can be handled speedily, as a punch card, in revenue offices which have the necessary equipment.

Andrews told newsmen experience this year with the card will help determine if next year the Revenue Service could put into practice a plan whereby taxpayers eligible to file the simple tax form would not have to file at all. In effect, he said, they would give the same information as now required on the card to their employer, who would pass it along to the Revenue Service with the employee's record of income tax deductions.

The Revenue Service would then bill the taxpayer, or send him a refund.

"But the card may be so successful," Andrews said, "that we might continue using it."

Andrews told reporters the Government Printing Office will turn out 191 million tax forms this year. Mailings to taxpayers will start Dec. 26, instead of in October as last year.

The four main types of individual returns, in addition to the 1040s returns, have been redesigned with the help of artists and public relations specialists, Andrews said, in an effort to make them more attractive and easier to understand.

Each package of forms and instructions is distinguished by a color band on its face—terra cotta pink, yellow, green or blue. The pink return is for taxpayers whose 1953 returns showed income from wages and other sources, except their own business, of less than $10,000. The yellow stripe return will go to taxpayers whose 1953 return showed nonbusiness earnings over $10,000. The green striped package will go to farmers. The blue-striper is for businessmen—proprietors and members of partnerships. All these are variations of the 1040 individual income tax return.

With each set of returns goes a 16-page instruction booklet.

With Franklin Reynolds

John P. (Pete) Hines, instructor in vocational agriculture in the Westbrook High School left Friday afternoon with a school bus loaded with members of that chapter of the Future Farmers of America for a State Fair visit. The bus was driven by H. C. Moody.

Boys making the trip included Billy Smith, B. F. Self, Leon Byrd, Mike McKinney, Trinidad Rosas, Walter Johnson, Danny Swafford, Bobby Butler, Roy Iglehard, Johnny Dorn, John Matlock, Curtis Clemmer, Kerry Sweet, Jimmy Moody, J. E. Bailey, Alton Raschka, Charles Robus, Lloyd Hart and Emmett Matlock.

Pete reports the chapter has been very well organized for the year's work and has its program under way. Chapter officers are B. F. Self, president; Lonnie Wyrosdick, vice president; Carl Bacon, secretary; Emmett Matlock, treasurer; Jimmy Moody, sentinel, and Kerry Sweet, reporter.

This year as projects the chapter members have 37 lambs on feed; two drylot show calves; six commercial steers; five commercial hogs, and expects to soon have 20 show pigs.

One of the very biggest, and one of the very best things about Westbrook is its FFA chapter. They are also making plans for their annual community show. None of their animals, the boys agreed, were ready for the State Fair this time, and so they just decided to go to Dallas and have a good time without having to worry about livestock.

The Coahoma FFA Chapter is also going to be represented at the State Fair.

Four of the members, Ted Thomas, Bill Tindol, Arlon DeVaney and Larry Young are taking five lambs and one steer. The lambs include two Fine Wool; one Southdown cross, and two Crossbred lambs.

The boys will be accompanied by Wayne White, instructor in vocational agriculture and chapter advisor. They will leave tomorrow morning and don't expect to return until after the lamb sale on Saturday.

Tomorrow (Monday) night at 9:30, President Eisenhower will give the signal for the official lighting of the giant plastic Whiteface bull atop the 90-foot pylon that arises from in front of the new headquarters of the American Hereford Association, on Hereford Drive (by authority of the Kansas City Council, if you please).

The President has made a special recording to be played back tomorrow evening during the ceremony, which will precede the official opening of the new building. President Eisenhower dedicated the new building, while he was in Kansas City, last October to address the national convention of the Future Farmers of America.

The evening's principal address will be made by Harry Darby, former U. S. senator from Kansas. The day's schedule for Hereford breeders from all over the country will start with the business meeting tomorrow afternoon. The banquet, tomorrow evening, will be held in the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel Muehlebach. The guest speaker on this occasion will be Dr. Kenneth McFarland of Topeka. Hereford breeder and one of the nation's outstanding scholars and educators.

Climaxing the program in the ballroom will be the first showing of the new Hereford film which was produced by Larry Madison, who also produced "The American Cowboy" and the wildlife film, "Out of the North." This film, which will include several Howard County boys and girls and their prize-winning Hereford steers fed out under the supervision of County Agent Durward Lewter, will be available for public showing and television use shortly after its premiere at Kansas City tomorrow night.

Immediately following the showing of the film, banquet guests, among whom are expected to be several Howard Countians, will board buses and travel to the front of the new headquarters building, where following a brief program on the entrance steps, the building will be officially opened, and the guests will be escorted on a tour, concluding in the the cafeteria where Jan Garber and his orchestra will play for an evening of dancing and festivities.

Bill and Mitsy Davis, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Davis of Sterling County, and grandson and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Davis, who live east of Big Spring, are both members of the Sterling 4-H Club and both, and particularly Bill, have rolled up some outstanding honors as lamb feeders. Now they're off to the Texas State Fair with some of those good lambs.

In all Sterling County 4-H Club members are taking nine lambs to the fair. These include three Rambouillet-Corriedale crossbreds; four head of Suffolk-Rambouillet crossbreds, and two Rambouillets.

Other club members going to the fair to show their share of the lambs include Bobby Dunn, Tony Allen, Lynda Allen and LeRuth Reed.

The group will be accompanied by County Agent Fred Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Davis, Lee Reed and Mr. and Mrs. Worth Allen.

No counties report more than 90 per cent harvested except Smith, McCulloch, South Coleman, and Johnson. Only one county, Tarrant, reports 100 per cent harvest.

Weather over the state everywhere was reported as favorable for harvesting.

Farmers Warned Of Biological War

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Civil Defense Administration warned farmers today that they would be vulnerable if an enemy should resort to biological warfare.

It published a handbook telling farmers how to detect and fight attacks by enemy agents or airplanes carrying disease-laden pellets and destructive chemical. Any such attacks would be designed to deal a blow at the production of crops and animals.

The handbook calls on farmers to report immediately to county agents or state veterinarians any sign of unusual crop or animal diseases, or any increase in native diseases.

Among other steps, the booklet also urges normal sanitation measures to check the spread of disease, isolation of all sick animals, and cooperation with disease control officials.

Army Plans New Continental Command To Cover Country

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Army said today it will establish an overall continental Army command, headed by Gen. John E. Dahlquist, responsible for "the ground defenses of the United States."

While the Army's announcement made no reference to the matter, the new continental Army command appears related to a Defense Department order of last summer. That established a joint command of all military services in the United States—Air, Army and Navy—for defense of the country against air attack or invasion.

Under the plan announced in August, the Air Force has been designated as the executive agency for the top "Continental Air Defense Command" and Gen. Benjamin W. Chidlaw appointed its chief.

Dahlquist now is chief of Army Field Forces, which is responsible for the training of individuals and units utilized by a field army.

The new command will include the functions of the Army Field Forces, but now will also embrace the operations and defense responsibilities of the six continental armies and the Military District of Washington.

Headquarters of the new command will be at Fort Monroe, Va., location of headquarters for the present Army Field Forces organization.

The direct relationship of the Army to the overall "Continental Air Defense Command" is through the Antiaircraft Command which works closely with the Air Defense Command of the USAF. Heading the Army's Antiaircraft Command is Lt. Gen. John T. Lewis. His headquarters is at East Air Force Base, Colo., also headquarters for the new Continental Air Defense Command.

The new set-up of the Army represents a return to the "Army ground forces" type of command used in World War II days and which continued until 1947.

Missing Tulsa Girl Is Found Unharmed

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 16 (AP)—A 6-year-old Tulsa girl, missing since Friday afternoon, was found unharmed today, police detective Earl Beddoe said.

He said the youngster, Norma Jeanne Pearce, was discovered walking down a residential street. She explained to officers she had spent the night with a school girl friend.

Later, police said, the parents in the home where Norma Jeanne stayed overnight reported their visitor told them she had her own parents' permission to sleep there.

One of the largest searching parties ever organized here scoured the area in which the missing child lived.

Area Doctors To Attend VA Hospital Clinical Day

West Texas doctors are scheduled to gather at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital next Thursday for a "Clinical Day" to be conducted by two of this country's outstanding medical speakers.

The speakers are Dr. Arthur Grollman, chairman of the department of experimental medicine at Southwestern Medical School, and Dr. Bromley Smith Freeman, Houston plastic surgeon and instructor at Baylor University School of Medicine.

The meeting is being sponsored jointly by the Permian Basin Medical Society and the VA Hospital, and it is the first of its type in this area.

Invitations have been sent to all practicing physicians in the immediate West Texas area, said Dr. Floyd R. Mays Jr., chairman of the program committee. A large turnout is expected, both of doctors and their wives.

An all-day program has been planned, which in addition to the lectures calls for a noon luncheon at the hospital and a dinner session at Carlos Restaurant. Tour of the VA Hospital and a movie have been scheduled for the physicians' wives.

"The Hypothalamus and Its Disorders" will be the subject of Dr. Grollman's lecture, and Dr. Freeman will talk on "Plastic Surgery of the Hand."

Dr. Grollman, a graduate of Johns Hopkins Medical School, is much in demand as a clinician both in the United States and Europe. He is a Guggenheim Memorial Fellow of the University of Berlin, University of London and Heidelberg University.

In addition to his university duties, Dr. Grollman is an attending physician at Parkland Memorial Hospital in Dallas and consultant in internal medicine at Baylor University Hospital and the VA Hospital in Dallas. He has been an associate professor at Johns Hopkins Medical School and a professor of medicine at Bowman Gray School of Medicine.

Dr. Freeman, a graduate of the College of Physicians and Surgeons at Columbia University, is certified by the American Board of General Surgery and the American Board of Plastic Surgery. In addition to his university association, he is attending surgeon at Jefferson Davis Hospital and St. Joseph's Infirmary, all in Houston.

Hope was expressed by both Dr. Jackson H. Friedlander of the VA Hospital and Dr. Carl B. Marcum, president of the medical society, that the Clinical Day will become an annual event.

GLOBAL STRATEGY Russia May Oppose Attack On Formosa

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
 WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—U.S. officials are now largely convinced that Russia is opposed to any Chinese Communist attack on Formosa, for this reason:

The Kremlin does not want anything to interfere with its diplomatic offensive aimed at splitting the Western alliance and wrecking new plans for rearming West Germany.

The Soviets are assumed here to be following a carefully calculated global strategy, with the prevention of German armament as its immediate major purpose. And authorities think that the Red Chinese are going along with this. Hence the danger of a new outbreak of large scale warfare in the Far East seems to have receded greatly.

Secretary of State Dulles will get a first hand report on the Formosa situation from Asst. Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson after Dulles' return here tomorrow from a week's vacation at his Duck Island retreat in Lake Ontario. Robertson has just come back from a flying visit to Chinese Nationalist leader Chiang Kai-shek on Formosa.

In Dulles' time schedule, as apparently in Russian policy, the Far Eastern and the Western European issues are closely related. Parallel with his studies of Robertson's trip, Dulles will make final preparations for a mission to Europe Tuesday for further negotiations on German rearmament. He will meet with British and French foreign ministers—Anthony Eden and Pierre Mendes-France—on the German problem on Wednesday, with other European leaders on Thursday and with representatives of the 14 nation NATO alliance on Friday—again on Germany.

The purpose of Robertson's trip to see Generalissimo Chiang remains at least an official mystery on which no light has been shed by his own statements that they talked about diplomatic, military and economic problems of the region. Robertson has denied reports he got any promise from Chiang not to attack the mainland or even that he sought such a commitment.

However, in advance of his trip it was learned here that the United States had suggested that Chiang cease bombing attacks on Red China targets. He had started such attacks with American agreement and support several weeks earlier, after the Reds assaulted the Nationalist held island of Quemoy.

School District Tax Payments Pick Up

Tax payments have picked up sharply during the past week at the Big Spring Independent School District tax office.

Totals for the month stood at $65,879.30, said J. O. Hagood, district assessor-collector. Of this $33,350.17 was in delinquents, a gain of about $1,000 for the week and representing about one third of the year's estimate in this field.

Current collections aggregated $62,305.83, including $45,325.31 for local maintenance and $15,980.44 for interest and sinking. Discounts allowed amounted to $1,872.08. Total current levy is $478,057.63.

Schools Represented At Library Meeting

Both the senior and junior high schools of Big Spring were represented in the district meeting for library assistants Saturday in Snyder.

Dr. Willis Sutton, superintendent emeritus of the Adams, Ga., schools, was the speaker. Mrs. Miller Harris, high school librarian, and Ruth Beasley, junior high librarian, accompanied the assistants. These included Sharon Billy King from the high school and Rayford Trammell and Addison C. Rawlings from the junior high.

Legion Post Sets One-Day Whirlwind Membership Drive

A whirlwind one-day membership campaign by the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary has been set for Wednesday.

Charles Butts, general chairman, said that a kick-off breakfast had been planned for 6:30 a.m. Wednesday at the St. Mary's Episcopal Parish House at 505 Runnels. All Legionnaires and Auxiliary members are urged to attend. Butts and Ed Fisher, post commander, are going to prepare a breakfast of bacon, eggs, toast and coffee.

Booths will be operated in both

The State National and the First National Banks during the day by Auxiliary members.

Probably teams will be organized to expedite contacts during the one-day effort.

Headquarters will be maintained in Butts' office at 505 Permian Building, where prospect cards may be obtained or memberships reported. If those wishing to join or renew memberships in the Legion will call 4-4790, arrangements will be made for the contact, said Butts.

English Nudists Plan Half-And-Half Drive On Beaches

LONDON, Oct. 16 (AP)—British nudists announced today they will send flying squadrons of pretty young women to the beaches next summer wearing bikini shorts, but as bare as they were born above the waist.

"Briefly, the plan is to form groups of pretty young women who will visit selected beaches and who will dispense entirely with brassiere tops when they don bathing attire," said a bulletin from the British Sunbathing Assn.

This bold step is being taken, it was explained, to induce more girls and women to join the nudists.

"The interest and envy these sun-tanned bodies will arouse in other young women on the beaches will bring crowds of new members to the nudist ranks," the announcement said.

Facing up to other bare facts, the nudists admitted that in most British clubs men outnumber the women by at least two to one. And among registered subscribers of the association, there are more than 10 men to every woman.

Most local laws covering dress on British beaches provide men may swim without tops to their bathing suits but women may not.

North Howard Prospect Has Oil On Test

Cosden Petroleum Corporation's No. 1 Modesta Good Simpson, wildcat which yielded oil on a drillstem test Friday, looks as another Howard County discovery well. The prospector, located practically on the Howard-Borden County line, showed 360 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut drilling mud. The bottom 180 feet of this was 50 per cent oil and 50 per cent mud. Test, which was for an hour, was in the zone between 8,610 and 8,638 feet. Gas surfaced in 29 minutes, and the volume was estimated at between 50,000 and 100,000 cubic feet per day. Open flowing pressure was 100-125 pounds, and the 30-minute shutin pressure was 1-225 pounds. Electric logs were to have been completed Saturday, and Cosden officials were to decide as to whether pipe should be run for completion. It is possible that the project will be drilled deeper before testing.

Deep Explorer Is Spotted In Andrews

Hill-Meeker and Robert Aldridge No. 1 Bryant-Link Company is to be a wildcat prospector in Northwest Andrews County about 14 miles northwest of the community of Andrews. Operations on the 9,000-foot project will start at once. Operator plans to test the Permian lime and possibly other zones. Drillsite is 1,980 from south and east lines, 7-A-48-psl survey.

New Wells Added To Deep And Medium Andrews Pools

A new well was added to the Means field of Andrews County this weekend, and it was announced that a new producer is assured for extension of the Block A-34 (Ellenburger) field. Swabbing operations were being prepared on an Andrews wildcat.

Quarter-mile south extension and second producer for the Block A-34 (Ellenburger) field of Northwest Andrews County was assured at Delbasin Oil Corporation, Fort

East Howard Pair Started

Two projects, one a wildcat, have been started in the Snyder field area of Howard County.

Warren-Bradshaw of Tulsa No. 1-A TXL, wildcat about one and three quarters miles southwest of the field, has spudded. This venture is to be drilled by Duncan Drilling Company of Big Spring.

Lipkin and Devine No. 2 Susie B. Snyder, located in the pocket between the Snyder pool extension, the Snyder pool and the East Howard Field—set 8 1/2 inch casing at 150 feet this weekend. Plug was drilled, and operations are continuing deeper.

ALASKA GETS PLAY

Cold Regions Hot For Explorations

By CHARLES HASLET WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Oil activities are increasing rapidly in Alaska.

A report on what's going on up there was given this week by Ralph Browne of the Anchorage Chamber of Commerce. In urging the Civil Aeronautics Board to authorize more air service for Alaska, Browne said petroleum exploration is part of a "terrific economic expansion" under way in the territory.

"Eight major companies are actively interested in petroleum exploration in the territory," he said. An increasing number of independent operators also are taking active interest in Alaska, he added.

More than three million acres, all within the Anchorage trading sphere, have been taken up under lease, Browne said.

He added the Bureau of Land Management has reported that some 12 million acres, in "areas where geologic conditions are favorable for the occurrence of oil," remain to be taken under lease.

Drilling is being carried on at three points, he said, with "more wells being scheduled for drilling next spring."

"The picture changes so rapidly that it is difficult to keep abreast of new development," Browne said. "As a matter of fact, on the day I left Anchorage, a new million dollar firm—the Far North Oil & Gas Co.—was organized. This new company is backed by Texas interests. A drilling program will get under way in the spring."

The opening up of a new field in Alaska would result in a tremendous

Oil Essay Pays Tuition

It was a year ago that Donald McCarty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton E. McCarty, 435 Dallas Street, won a $300 award with a second place in the Oil Industry Information Committee's essay contest, sponsored in connection with Oil Progress Week. Now, young McCarty is a freshman physics major at Texas Western College, El Paso, and his OIIC prize has been presented to the college in payment on his tuition.

Prize-Winning Essay Stresses Place Of Oil Industry In Nation

Following is the essay that won $300 for Norman Spears, Coahoma High School senior, as the first-place entry in a West Texas-wide contest sponsored by the Oil Industry Information Committee as a feature of Oil Progress Week. The essay is titled "The Oil Industry's Role in the American Way of Life."

Today we look at America as the greatest and most powerful nation. It is the richest in freedom and opportunity, the most abundant and the most wonderful to live in. Why? The first and most important reason is that of our heritage—a country founded by Christian men on Christian principles, giving the individual personal rights to progress and improve. And because of these rights industry grew and is now the power of our nation.

Oil played a very important role in World War II in the way independent companies worked together to supply the vast amount of oil necessary to move war machines. These companies also united together and, through research developed for us a very suitable substitute for rubber.

Discovery In Simpson Will Deepen For Ellenburger Try

Gulf Oil Corporation announced Saturday that its No. 1-L Scharbauer Cattle Company will be deepened to the Ellenburger in spite of the oil flow from the Simpson sand. This project flowed a total of 48.96 barrels of 50.5 gravity oil in seven hours Friday, to indicate as a discovery. There was no water.

The test yielding oil was in a Simpson sand zone from 12,615 to 12,690 feet. Gas surfaced in nine minutes at the rate of 294,900 cubic feet per day. Oil hit top in three hours and 50 minutes.

The first 60 minutes of flow saw the oil heaved to pits with no gauges or estimates. Then the oil was directed to tanks for seven hours. There has been no report on the recovery when the tool was pulled.

Luther South Edger Shows As Producer

Lone Star Producing Company No. 1 W. A. Rawlings, southwest edger to the Luther Southeast Field, has indicated for production.

The project flowed an unreported amount of oil during a drillstem test of the Siluro-Devonian, and operator was pulling test tool Saturday. Observers say the project will make a well.

The one and a half hour test was in zone from 9,872 to 9,887 feet. Gas surfaced in three minutes, and drilling mud with oil flowed after 13 minutes. Flow during remainder of test was unestimated, and gauges were not taken.

Top of the Siluro-Devonian at the No. 1 W. A. Rawlings is 9,848 feet. Total depth is 9,887.

The venture is on the extreme south end of the field and is a west offset to Goldston No. 1 Morton, present producer. Location is in the northeast quarter, section 27, block 32, sp. 2-north, T&P survey.

N'West Outpost To Moore Plugs

An extreme northwest stepout to the Moore field was plugged and abandoned this weekend after tests showed that oil could not be produced commercially.

Holmes and Holmes of Amarillo No. 1-A Wilkinson was the project abandoned. It is located about eight miles west of Big Spring, some 330 feet from south and east lines of the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter, 25-34-in, T&P survey.

Drilling operations have started on another North Moore project in the Doyle Vaughn area. Intex No. 1-10 Guitar Trust Estate is the venture which has spudded. It is about six miles northwest of Big Spring, near the recently completed DeCieva No. 1 Vaughn.

Location of the Intex try is 467 from north and west lines, southwest quarter, 10-A Bauer and Cockrell survey.

Wilbanks To Final Spraberry Venture

Completion of Wilbanks and Ruler No. 1-C Proctor in Reagan County is due in the next few days.

Total depth is now 7,715 feet in Spraberry, where operator set oil string. The plug will be drilled this weekend, and the pay zone will be sanfraced prior to completion.

Location is in the south half of section 46, block 37, sp. 5-south, T&P survey.

Neches Oil Field Shows Fruits Of Depletion Factor

By BO BYERS AUSTIN (AP)—The Neches Oil Field, one of the most important discoveries in the nation in 1953, is frequently called the field that dry holes found.

It's the perfect example of what Ernest O. Thompson, Texas Railroad Commission chairman, has preached for years: that free enterprise, encouraged by the 27 1/2 per cent oil depletion allowance, will find oil to meet the nation's needs.

The Neches is less than a mile and a half from Boggy Creek Field, but it took more than 20 years of research and numerous dry holes to find the Neches after Boggy Creek was discovered.

The story of the persistent effort to locate this new reservoir in "old" oil country is told in a recent issue of the company's trade publication, the Humble Way.

The Neches lies in one of the most thoroughly explored oil areas in the world and is sliced in two by the Neches River.

When Humble discovered Boggy Creek in 1927, it set off a flurry of East Texas drilling. But every stepout in the direction of what is now the Neches Oil Field produced nothing but dry holes.

Eighty wells were drilled at that time in and around the Boggy Creek Field. Forty-one were dry holes. This had a discouraging effect on wildcatting in the immediate area, but Humble did not give up.

Humble made three distinct expeditions—counting its stepouts from Boggy Creek—and the third time was the charm.

Surface geologists found indications in 1934 of a possible "high" favorable for the accumulation of oil east of Boggy Creek, but Humble did not consider it a strong enough basis for drilling another

Fortunes are made

If you want to be financially independent some day, ask yourself this question:

"Am I giving my savings a break?"

Instead of making 3 or 4 or 5 percent per year, your savings may be increased many times over through stock ownership in a good life insurance company. This type of long term investment has been building fortunes for others for years. It will continue to do so. But those who make these fortunes, as always, will be men and women with foresight and courage... foresight to see the great future possibilities of a sound, well-managed life insurance company—and the courage to grasp an opportunity to become part owner of such a company in its early days.

DO IT YOURSELF New Table Design Is Away From 'Modern'

By BILL BAKER
Do you like provincial furniture? If you do, then today's do-it-yourself design will be of special interest to you. The design is a handsome provincial table that has dozens of different uses.

Don't stop reading if your taste runs to strictly modern, however. Interior decorators today are stressing more and more the use of mixing periods in smartly furnished rooms. The provincial table might be just the accent you need to give your modern home a unique touch of elegance.

You'll find that you can own this provincial table at just a fraction of the cost it would take to obtain one in a custom furniture shop. You'll own the table by building it yourself with your only investment being a few dollars for materials and a few hours of workshop effort.

The full story is found in Bill Baker's extra-simple Pattern Number 128.

Before I tell you about the pattern, though, let me tell you about the table itself.

With its wide drop-leaves lowered you have a surface measuring four feet long by more than two feet wide. Small enough in its

Provincial Table

To add the provincial table to your home you'll first want a copy of Bill Baker's Pattern Number 128, and here's how to get it: Send your name and address (clearly printed), together with only one dollar ($1) in check, cash or money order, to Bill Baker, Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1111, Los Angeles 53, California. Be sure to request Pattern Number 128.

closed position to take up little floor space, the table is still large enough to offer a wide surface for displaying art objects.

The table more than doubles its size when opened. The drop-leaves extend solidly making the table ideal for dining. It also makes the perfect game table for cards.

Authentic provincial design makes the table a real conversation piece. One look at the above picture will convince you that its graceful appearance couldn't be improved.

Perhaps it's hard to believe, but the table is easy to build.

All of the building problems have been taken out of the pattern you'll use to construct your provincial table. Exact-size paper pattern pieces are taped to the wood and then traced. With a straight saw or coping saw you'll easily sail through the cutting phase. Or, if you'd rather, your lumber dealer can cut the wood out for you on his power equipment.

Assembling is also made easy when you follow the easy-to-understand instruction sheet. Suggestions for adding surface finish are also included.

And you'll end up with a table that will become one of your most treasured possessions. The table's elegance and usefulness, combined with the knowledge that you built it yourself, is a combination that is hard to beat.

Elegance and solid usefulness are combined in this provincial table, newest of Bill Baker's do-it-yourself designs. Lovely motion picture and TV actress Adele Mara is shown with table that has many uses.

Dr. Sheppard's Trial Set To Open Monday

By MILES A. SMITH
CLEVELAND, Oct. 16 (AP)—Did Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard murder his wife Marilyn?
A long legal battle to reach a verdict on that question will begin Monday in a small courtroom of a gray stone building on East 21st St.

A conviction could mean the death penalty.

The young osteopath, tall, of athletic build, will be brought down from his cell in an upper floor and will sit beside a deputy, within reach of his battery of attorneys.

On the other side of a small table will be the prosecution, whose aim it will be to prove to a jury that the 30-year-old doctor committed first degree murder—without premeditation and malice.

Marilyn Sheppard was 31, a pretty young matron who was busy caring for their six-year-old son "Chip," taking golf lessons and making herself part of the suburban life of Bay Village.

"I loved my wife. We rejoiced that we were to have a second child," said Dr. Sheppard after he had been indicted. They had selected a boy's name—Stephen Allen.

But the state charges that in the early hours of Sunday, July 4, the doctor struck his wife at least 27 crushing blows across her head and face, with some instrument which has not been identified. Her body was found in her blood-soaked bed.

What would be the defendant's motive?

The investigators point to a signed statement made by Miss Susan Hayes, 24. This Auburn haired, freckle faced young woman formerly was a laboratory technician at Bay View Hospital, where Dr. Sheppard, his two brothers and his father—all osteopaths—are on the staff. She moved to the Los Angeles area and was there last March when Dr. Sheppard arrived to take a postgraduate course.

At first she denied having any intimate relations with him. But the county prosecutor says she later changed her story, after coming back to Cleveland voluntarily as a witness.

The detectives working on the case say the defendant had some flirtations with other women. Miss Hayes is expected to be a major witness for the state, and some of the other women may be called.

The accused man has told his story several times, to detectives, from the witness stand in a coroner's inquest, and in a written public statement which proclaimed his innocence.

His wife was murdered by a man who was tall and bushy haired, he says. He grappled with this intruder and was injured "severely." For weeks Dr. Sheppard wore a heavy orthopedic collar.

He related that he had fallen asleep on a downstairs couch and was awakened by his wife's screams.

The membership affair will be held in the Howard County Fair Barn and will start at 8:30 p.m. with a short business session.

Members of the Home Demonstration Club will serve the dinner to begin at 7:30 p.m., and afterwards there will be a program of entertainment.

White was anxious to have as many of the 700 members and their wives take part in the meeting. It is perhaps the most important of the year, he said.

Porkers Smell Bowl Sugar, Punish Longhorns, 20 To 7

Texas Never In Contention

By BO BYERS
AUSTIN, Oct. 16 (AP)—The first Arkansas Razorbacks, a band of fast moving opportunists, took a long jump toward their first Southwest Conference title in eight years today, smashing the once proud Texas Longhorns, 20-7.

The convincing triumph, the first for Arkansas over Texas on the Longhorn field since 1938, gave the Razorbacks their fourth straight victory—three of them in conference competition.

Two fast interceptions and recovery of a Texas fumble sent Arkansas rocketing to a 20 to 0 half time lead, the biggest a conference opponent had held over Texas since 1939. Preston Carpenter, blocking back of the only league team using the single wing, set off the fireworks with a first quarter interception. He picked it off on the fly at the Texas 20 and raced across for a touchdown.

Sub Henry Moore intercepted a Texas pass on his two and returned to his 19. Arkansas was set back on two plays, then Moore burst through on a quick opener and went winging 82 yards, almost before Texas knew what was happening.

Texas got its touchdown on a one yard smash by Don Maroney at the end of a 35-yard drive.

They Wounded The Longhorns

AERIAL ATTACK DOES IT

Vernon Rallies To Gain 25-25 Tie With Steers

VERNON, Oct. 16 (SC)—Ever the opportunist, the Vernon Lions overcame a two-touchdown deficit in the last half to gain a 25-25 tie with the Big Spring Steers Friday night.

Though some fans are inclined to regard the stalemate as a moral defeat for the Longhorns, the Big Springers themselves showed great powers of recovery and, in the end, the Lions seemed very happy to settle for the tie.

Jerry Pearson came close to bombing the Steers into defeat, just as his champions said he'd do. Given fine protection by his teammates, Pearson had plenty of time to spot his receivers downfield and he hit them with uncanny ability. He had to yield the spotlight on individual performances, however, to Big Spring's Frosty Robison, who scored all four Steer touchdowns and made more yardage in lugging the leather than the entire Vernon backfield combined.

Big Spring is getting a notorious reputation for getting off to a bad start and Friday night was no exception. Jerry Barron had the opening kickoff jarred from his hands on a vicious tackle. Robert Bailey recovered the loose pigskin on Big Spring's 25 to put the Lions in business.

Pearson saw to it that the Vernons did not miff the chance. He sought out Gene Miller with a touchdown pass before one minute had elapsed on the board. Keith Morris booted the point, the only one he made all night.

Things looked bad for Big Spring and they were to get worse.

The Steers mounted a drive but bobbled the ball and Miller was there to recover on Big Spring's 35.

The Lions carved out yardage to the Steer 20, from which Pearson hit Bob Goodrum with a payoff pitch and Vernon was out in front, 13-0.

Such a dreary start could have demoralized most any team, but not Big Spring.

Very methodically, the Steers took the kickoff and roared to a TD, eating up 76 yards in doing it. A couple of nice pass plays pushed the Steers into Vernon territory and they maneuvered on down to the one, from which Robison knifed across.

Big Spring was to score three more times before the half was out and looked so good that everyone outside of Coach Spill Collins and his Lions conceded victory to the Bull Elephants from Big Spring.

Jerry Graves, who played a great game throughout for the herd, recovered a fumble by Robert Pigg on the Big Spring 42 early in the second round. Don Reynolds, Tommy McAdams, Brick Johnson and Robison alternated at moving the ball down to the Vernon one, from which point Frosty barreled over.

A short time later, Calvin Daniels intercepted a pass thrown by Pearson in midfield and tip-toed his way down to the 12 before the Lions overtook him.

The Steers lost two on the first try but Robison then took the oval and raced wide to the left and beat two would-be tacklers to the flag. Big Spring was ahead for the first time, 18-13. Glenn Jenkins kicked the vital point.

Shortly before the half ended, Big Spring got another chance and made good. Vernon tried for a first down in midfield and missed. Given good blocking in the line, Robison bolted through and outdistanced everyone to the payoff window.

Reserve List Is Sent In

In compliance with baseball law, Manager-Club Owner Pepper Martin of the Big Spring Broncs forwarded his reserve list of players to Ford Frick, baseball commissioner, Saturday. It included 15 names.

Frick calls for the list at this time annually in order to prepare for the draft of minor league players, which will be held at the Minor League Convention in Houston Nov. 29 through Dec. 3.

Players included on the reserve list here include Aramis (Titto) Arechibia, Bert Baez, Luis Caballero, Jeff Davis, Bob Doe, Jimmy Hollis, Floyd Martin, Pepper Martin, Tony Martinez, Tommy McKeena, John O'Neil, Orlando Perdomo, Lee Sneed, Jim Zapp and Glen Woodward.

Arrechibia, Baez, Davis, the Martins and Doe are listed as veterans. Zapp, Caballero, O'Neil, McKeena and Martinez are limited service players. The others are rookies.

Martin plans to leave for Albuquerque Monday night, where he will attend a re-alignment meeting called by George Trautman, president of the minor leagues.

Fishing Outlook Improves At Lake J. B. Thomas

Fishing outlook at Lake J. B. Thomas is definitely on the upgrade, according to a Texas Game and Fish Commission study.

Larry Campbell, representing the commission in a sample catch at the lake during the past week, said that 56 per cent of the mature fish captured were of the desirable and edible variety. Another 29 per cent were classed as forage types, and hence indirectly desirable. Only 15 per cent were of obnoxious types.

Even more encouraging said Campbell, was the growth exhibited by fish. A good per cent of the crappie were half a pound or better while some of them weighed up to two pounds. The larger ones were put in last year but most of the crappie had made the half pound growth since April.

Channel cat are coming on steadily, and two of those netted weighed five pounds. A large number of small bass were caught but Campbell only counted three nice sized ones.

By next spring the lake will be hitting its stride and come into peak quality within another year, he thought. Meanwhile, fishermen are reporting excellent catches of crappie, good luck on channel cat and fair luck with bass.

Campbell and aides put out 500 feet of net in the experiment. They took 234 fish of counting size. Of these 131 were crappie, 24 channel cat, one flathead carp, three nice bass, several sunfish, 65 shad, 33 drum (the largest up to four pounds), and only four carp but 81 carp suckers. Desirable and forage fish caught were returned to the lake after being counted. Campbell said fishing conditions at the lake would be studied regularly.

The recent order under which setting for minnows at Lake J. B. Thomas was permitted has been rescinded.

Experience since the modification of regulations has proven the arrangement to be impractical, said E. V. Spence, general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Numerous abuses were noted not alone in throwing an small fish other than minnows on the banks rather than returning them to the water, but also in joining sections of 20-foot seine in sections. It became impossible to police against this sort of thing and the only resort was to abandon the practice altogether.

In addition, the modification of Article III of the rules and regulations, under which the change was made, was in conflict with Article IX which empowers the peace officers of the CRMWD to confiscate prohibited items such as seines, nets, snag lines, traps, etc.

Where Are Quail, Hunter Wonders

The dove hunting season ended last Sunday but Henry Long managed to get seven birds then. He reports he used up a lot of ammunition in getting them though, for the birds were flying fast and high in bunches.

Coy Loving reports he found dove hunting good up until the last few days. Sunday, he said, four or five went by so high a 20mm. cannon wouldn't reach 'em.

His experience in dove hunting leads him to wonder about quail season. He saw only one covey of quail during a number of dove hunting jaunts. He hopes more will appear with colder weather.

He has been over to Lake Colorado City recently had found small crappie biting like mad.

Long reports that Greyhound bus drivers have been telling him of good fishing at Pecos Kingdom with top-water lures. One driver reported 33 black bass in two and a half days fishing there.

Walter Grice, Dr. H. M. Jarrail, Al Page and Paul Vaughn found the fishing out at Moss Creek Lake Thursday night cold but not entirely in vain. They got ten or twelve nice crappie and three small catfish.

Baylor Routs Washington Huskies By 34 To 7 Tab

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
WACO, Oct. 16 (AP)—Billy Hooper's greatest game carried penalty-ridden Baylor to a 34-7 triumph over Washington today as the once-maligned quarterback passed for three touchdowns and scored one himself.

Faking the Huskies like a card sharp on a river boat, the squat young man with the buggy-whip arm hurled the ball for a tremendous 244 yards, with scoring shots to Henry Gremminger, Charley Smith and Del Shofner. The other Baylor touchdown came late in the game after an intercepted pass with Reuben Saage hammering over from one foot out.

Washington scored on Baylor reserves in the final period with a 76-yard drive engineered by passing Bob Cox. The score came after Baylor was penalized to its one and Jack Kyllingstad smashed over.

STAR IS INJURED

Gainey, Wolfpack Topple Andrews

ANDREWS, Oct. 15—Colorado City's Wolves found a tough breed of Broncos in the Andrews Mustangs, Friday night, but managed to top the critics, 21-14, with Holley's "Hoss" Gainey in the role of chief bronze buster.

The Wolves were outgained on the ground for the first time this year as they netted 185 yards to 211 for the Mustangs. The Mustangs gathered 144 yards rushing.

Gainey carried a rushing average of better than 13 yards per carry into the game but was able to average only four yards on 21 tries at the line, Friday night. He was carried from the field in the final quarter with a leg injury.

Gainey opened scoring in the second quarter as the Wolves capitalized on a 52-yard march; Gainey contributing 36 yards on eight plays and going over from the two. The sure toe of Frank Mackey converted the first of three extra points.

Andrews promptly knotted the score as the result of a 55-yard march. James Durbin carrying over from the one-yard line on a quarterback sneak and Pilgrim converted his first of two.

In the next series of plays, Wolf quarterback Billy Williams lofted a pass to Gainey in the left flat, at the Wolf 46. Behind perfect blocking, Gainey set sail for the goal line for the "go ahead" score for the Wolves.

On the second play of the third quarter, Bud Windham ran 65 yards for a touchdown which was called back and the Wolves received a 15-yard setback. The two teams exchanged fumbles and Windham almost duplicated but was nabbed at the 19. Four plays later, and in the fourth quarter, Windham went over from the one-foot line.

Jimmy Dorland took the kick off and weaved through the Wolfpack for 85 yards and a TD, to wrap up scoring for the evening.

The Wolves camped on the Mustang's doorstep for the remainder of the quarter but were never able to score. With a first down on the seven, Gainey, who had already been taken out, went back in for one play, but was cut down at the six and had to be carried from the field.

Defensive standouts for Andrews were tackle Luther Hale and Guard Mack Stewart, for Colorado City, Arlis Parkhurst at Center and guard Weldon Ennis.

Colorado City will begin its conference season next week playing 4-AA Hamlin at Hamlin.

Green Indians Are Defeated, 13-7

HANOVER, N.H., Oct. 16 (AP)—Colgate remained in the thinning ranks of the unberaten major football teams today by coming from behind in the second half to earn a 13-7 victory over Dartmouth on a sustained 99-yard march and then turned back an exciting last-gasp passing threat by Bill Beagle.

Stiffening on its own goal line in a brilliant defensive stand, Colgate took the ball from Dartmouth on downs when the Green had four cracks from inside the 3 midway in the third period.

A crowd of 22,000 watched the intersectional game played in Indian summer weather.

Two times in the first half p and Jack Kyllingstad smashed over.

A crowd of 22,000 watched the intersectional game played in Indian summer weather.

Two times in the first half penalties wiped out Baylor touchdowns and on another occasion prevented an apparent score.

The tricky Huskies threatened twice in the first half and another time got past midfield, but in the last half they never had a chance except for the one scoring drive with the lowliest Bears in the lineup.

Baylor appeared entirely too anxious to alone for two defeats in a row. The Bears were continually offside or the backfield was in motion. A pass from Hooper to James Ameyett for 27 yards and a touchdown was wiped out by an off side penalty. A throw from Hooper to Weldon Holley in the end zone was taken away by another offside penalty and another time, when a pass from Hooper's understudy, Bobby Jones, had moved the ball to the Washington 2-yard line. The gain was erased by a backfield in motion penalty.

Baylor managed for only one touchdown in the first half but it was sensational. It came on a 51-yard gain.

Baylor rolled up a prodigious 435 yards with 234 of it in the air. Washington had 333 with 144 rushing and 188 passing. Cox threw for all of the Huskies' aerial gain.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Modern athletics being what they are, where a good offense is about the only defense, a team cannot afford to let the opposition gain the initiative. . . The Big Spring Steers did that in the last half against the Vernon Lions Friday night and it almost cost them a ball game. . . In the 25-25 stalemate, Frosty Robison had one of his greatest games but it wasn't the first time he had scored four touchdowns in one game. . . Remember Snyder last year? . . . District 1-AAA, which likes to have itself referred to as the Little Southwest Conference, is going a lot more to form than is 1-AAA, where upsets are common-places. . . Jerry Graves, Big Spring center, couldn't keep anything on his stomach before the Vernon game but still turned in a whale of a performance. . . Jerry Pearson of Vernon and Doyle Chapman of Lamesa are both fine quarterbacks but, of the two, I'd still take Chapman. . . Vernon supports its club very poorly. . . Of the 3,000 people on hand, considerably more than 800 were from Big Spring. . . Vernon must have the worst press box facilities in the state. . . Wives of school officials and children are allowed to occupy the seats placed there for the working press. . . It makes one appreciate the way Pat Murphy and Louis Maneely run things here. . . Wichita University, which upset Oklahoma A&M recently, has players on its roster from Pennsylvania to California and lists five from Oklahoma. . . What a ball game the Stamford-Colorado City tussle is going to be. . . It comes up a week from Friday night. . . Stamford's confidence borders on arrogance. . . The feeling there seems to be that Gordon Wood's Bulldogs will take the game without trouble. . . J. W. Thompson, the former All-State tackle from Big Spring, witnessed the Lion-Steer game in Vernon. . . He missed North Texas College's trip to Chattanooga due to a fractured jaw.

Turley Troupe Sought Local Date

Pepper Martin had a chance to book the Bob Turley Major League baseball troupe here Oct. 27 but couldn't because many of the lights at Steer Park have been moved to the football field. . . Too, Pepper didn't want to take a chance on the weather at that time. . . The big leaguers would have commanded 85 per cent of the gate. . . Turley is the star of the troupe who is regarded as one of the most promising hurlers in the big show. . . Wayne Ward, a native Texan who pitched a Bloomington, Ill., team to third place in the World Softball Tournament several weeks ago, will hurl for a Dallas team in 1955. . . Ward allowed only one earned run in 35 innings in tournament competition. . . Influential citizens of one of the cities to the west of Big Spring tried to talk the father of the Steer Park's first football players into moving there several years ago, only to find out that the parent already had a fine job and was well satisfied with the set-up here. . . Bennett Watts, the talented quarterback for the Breckenridge Bucs, is a former resident of Coahoma. . . He would have been a regular at Breck last year, had he been eligible. . . The shoulders of the UCLA football players aren't that broad. . . The athletes wear hoops under their uniforms. . . The Big Spring Steers outweigh many a college team, including Texas A&M. . . Bob Garrett, Coahoma High School's stellar center, played four games before missing a point after touchdown for the Bulldogs and then it wasn't his fault. . . The opposing line didn't give him time to get the ball away. . . Mike Sotelo, who hurried for the Odessa baseball team last season, is now performing for Guadalajaras in the Mexican Pacific Coast League. . . He recently pitched a two-hit shutout against Culiacan. . . Marcelino Sotelo, who formerly hurried for Sweetwater, recently broke an arm in Mexico.

Alo Leilani Was Unshod Footballer

The Steers have played only three football games here, but the center section of the south end of the Steer Stadium turf is entirely without grass. . . A practice field would improve the situation in future years, a practice field and a new stadium would be even better. . . Alo Leilani, the talented Samoan who wrestles here Monday night, is an ex-student of Weber Junior College, Utah, which played HJJC in basketball here last year. . . When Alo played football in the Hawaiian Islands, he did not wear shoes but it was all right. . . No one else in the conference did, either. . . Dick Laswell of Big Spring, a member of that very fine Texas Christian University football team, has been favoring an ankle injury. . . Frosty Robison, Big Spring's All-State halfback, is a boy who believes in making his own bed. . . Frosty turned carpenter in Shop at school to build a bed four inches longer than the ordinary model, due to his height. . . Did a good job on it, too. . . Pat O'Dea, who played football for the University of Wisconsin a long time ago, laments the foot has gone out of football. . . Pat may have grounds for criticism. . . He once booted a ball 110 yards over the Minnesota goal end, on another occasion, punted 100 yards in the air against Yale. . . Maroons Spring A Major Upset

Ernest Talbert's Kate Morrison Maroons sprang the biggest upset of the Ward School Football League when they toppled College Heights, 6-0, here Saturday morning.

Before the contest, the Maroons had not won a game this year, the Heights eleven had not lost one. Crable Subia circled end for 30 yards and the only score of the game in the third period.

Up front, Martin Devolos, Roger Reyno and Don Martin sparked for Morrison.

Airport and West Ward remain tied for the top spot by scoring wins.

The Fliers toppled Washington Place, 7-0, in a fine battle while West Ward was getting Park Hill, 14-6.

Charles Madry raced 76 yards for Airport's only TD in the third quarter while Gary Wiggins added the extra point.

Buster Reed, Herman Wagner, Tom Welch, Richard Bang and Don Drake were among outstanding linemen for the Fliers.

The Colonials never got inside the opposition's 40-yard line.

In the West Ward-Park Hill game, Charles Goodin got a first quarter touchdown for the West-erners and Anthony Pelache the second one on a 50-yard kickoff run in the second period.

Donald Mills ran across both extra points.

Park Hill threatened on numerous occasions but could not advance when it really counted.

David Pelache, Wesley Rawls and Earl Owens all played fine ball for Earl Penner's team.

East Ward toppled Central, 13-7, for its second win in the morning's other games.

Phinney Paces 'Dogs To Win

COAHOMA, Oct. 16 (SC) — Coahoma had to go all out to get by Grandfalls, 6-0, in a non-conference football game played here Friday night.

The Bulldogs got their lone score in the fourth period when Ricky Phinney made it into the end zone from the four. Bob Garrett's try for a placement kick was wide.

Coahoma had an edge in statistics, getting seven first downs to five for the visitors, 142 yards rushing to 98 for Grandfalls but the invaders kept Coahoma from completing a pass and gained 11 itself on two completions.

Most of the play occurred in the center of the field, Coahoma was playing short-handed, since several of its players were ineligible and others were hurt.

Coahoma plays in Denver City next weekend.

FOURTH IN ROW

Wisconsin Trips Purdue, 20 To 6

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 16 (UP) — Wisconsin's Badgers, outplayed sorely during the first two periods, capped a second half explosion with a 98-yard pass interception touchdown today to whip Purdue 20-6 before a record Camp Randall Stadium crowd of 53,131.

Sophomore Billy Lowe grabbed a Lenny Dawson pass on his own two and sprinted through the whole Badgers' team to wrap up the Badgers' fourth straight triumph of the season—second in Big Ten play.

Lowe's brilliant run, helped by the smart midfield blocking, came on top of a pair of long-scoring drives as the Badgers, knocked back on their heels in the first half, came to life following the intermission to wipe out Purdue's one-touchdown lead.

The Badgers, second-ranked team in the nation, drove 69 yards in five plays for the first score, with six minutes to go in the third period, quarterback Jimmy Miller ramming over from the one and Paul Shwalke kicking the point.

Alan (The Horse) Ameche, again the work horse of the Badger ground game, got the second on a smash over his own left tackle to wind up a 70-yard march with less than a minute to go in the third period. The try for the point never got off the ground as holder Pat Levenhagen fumbled the pass from center.

Purdue, with Dawson at the controls, was on the march as the fourth period got under way. The Boiler-makers, ranked fifth nationally at game time, had frown from their own 35 to the Wisconsin nine when Dawson cranked up again. This time Lowe, a 176-pound halfback, picked off the ball and wheeled off on his 98-yard touchdown sprint. Shwalke again converted.

Ohio State Buckeyes Win Over Fired-Up Iowans

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 16 (UP) — Ohio State staged three long touchdown drives today and made two great goal line stands in the final period to retain the top spot in the Western Conference race with a 20-14 victory over a fired-up Iowa team. A crowd of 82,141 saw the game.

Iowa scored a pair of touchdowns on two great runs by halfback Earl Smith, 20-year-old junior from Gary, Ind., who went 67 yards on a pass interception and 75 on a punt return.

The Bucks went 61, 72 and 64 yards for their touchdowns, mostly on the ground as the alert Hawkeye defense stymied the usually potent Ohio aerial attack.

With Ohio leading 20-14 going into the final quarter, Iowa made two valiant attempts to pull the game out of the fire. The Hawks went 76 yards in 13 plays, only to lose the ball on downs on the Ohio 11. Then they surged back from Ohio's 35 to the Buckeye six where they again lost the ball on downs.

Bielski Dazzles As Maryland Wins

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 16 (UP) — Fullback Dick Bielski carried Maryland almost alone for 30 minutes on his broad back and churning legs before the rest of his team could get rolling to a 35-0 victory over North Carolina today.

Bielski, 207-pound senior from Baltimore, bulled 21 yards in three straight rushes for a touchdown the first time Maryland had the ball.

In the second quarter, he carried the ball seven times for 50 yards to get Maryland to the 5. He workhosed the ball again to 16 before a penalty and fumbled pitchout gave North Carolina the ball.

Maryland finally went 92 yards in eight plays to score with Bielski doing the key blocking late in the third quarter. The second and third teams made it a rout with three touchdowns in the last quarter.

Bielski toted the ball 13 times in his little more than half a game and gained 102 yards.

Fumble Ruins Plainsmen

ATLANTA, Oct. 16 (UP) — A goal line fumble by Fob James cost Auburn a touchdown today and Georgia Tech defeated the Plainsmen 14-7 in a Southeastern Conference football battle.

With Tech failing to gain a yard by passing, touchdown runs by little Jimmy Thompson and Johnny Menger gave the Engineers their fourth victory in five starts this year. It was Auburn's third straight defeat.

Auburn scored in the final minute of the game after Bobby Freeman intercepted a pass by Menger. The Plainsmen drove 48 yards in seven plays with fullback Joe Childress smashing over from the one and adding the point.

Tough breaks robbed each team of a touchdown. James' fumble right at the goal in the fourth quarter squirted into the end zone and was recovered by Tech fullback Johnnie Hunsinger. In the third period a beautiful 24-yard touchdown run by Tech's Hill Teas was nullified by a holding penalty.

Thompson, a 5-foot-6 halfback, put Tech ahead in the first period with a 55-yard scoring scamper. He slipped between Auburn's right guard and tackle, broke clear and outran Auburn pursuers to score untouched.

Crusaders Stopped By Warriors, 19-14

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 16 (UP) — Marquette's Warriors, apparently beaten by their own mistakes, lost and battered their way for three touchdowns in the final period through a firing Holy Cross team to score a 19-14 come-from-behind victory today at Fittion Field.

Bob Girman slammed the final half-yard at 14:05 of the fourth period for his second touchdown of the day to climax the tremendous closing burst.

Purple Hangs On To Win Over Texas A&M, 21-20

By JOE BENHAM

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 16 (UP) — The first-half fitness of Ronnie Clinkscale and the second-half power of Ray Taylor and James Swink kept Texas Christian in the Southwest Conference race today as the Horned Frogs outlasted fired-up Texas A&M, 21-20.

Some 15,000 fans saw the Frogs grab a quick lead and hold on to break a six-year lull at Kyle Field with the triumph. The victory kept the Frogs, once-beaten in conference play, in the midst of the hectic chase for the conference crown. It left A&M with defeat in its only conference outing of the year.

Clinkscale, TCU's brilliant senior quarterback, guided the Frogs to a pair of first-quarter touchdowns that hinted at a rout of A&M.

But the Aggies stiffened in the second half and came back to score three touchdowns of their own against the jittery Frogs.

Time ran out on a fourth TCU scoring threat when the first half ended with the Frogs having a first down on the A&M 10.

It was generally a TCU first half. The Frogs gained 121 yards on the ground and 72 in the air, compared with 42 yards rushing and none passing for the Aggies. First downs stood 16 for TCU and 2 for A&M at intermission.

A&M wound up with 14 first downs to 15 for TCU, however, and 263 yards rushing to 289 for the Frogs.

TCU 14 0 7 0-21
Texas A&M 0 0 6 14-20

TCU scoring: Touchdowns, Clinkscale, Ingram, Swink. Conversions, Pollard 2, Crouch.

Texas A&M scoring: Touchdowns, Kettler 2, Kachtik. Conversions, Kettler 2.

Big Spring was inside Abilene's ten-yard line three times but could not score.

Jimmy Welch scored one Abilene TD on a 25-yard run. Charley Bradshaw got another after intercepting a Big Spring lateral and moving 20 yards.

Cleon Jones went ten yards for a six-pointer and Alan Sides moved across on a 25-yard dash.

Bill Barefoot scored twice on sprints of 30 and 40 yards. Kenny Schmidt took one across on a pass play.

Bill Teague added four extra points for Abilene.

Stanton Buffaloes Swarm Over Denver City, 40-7

STANTON, Oct. 16 (SC) — The Stanton Buffaloes warmed up for their important Nov. 12 clash with Sundown by swarming over Seagraves, 40-7, here Friday night.

Jimmy Butcher, Conrad McCasle, Jimmy Henson and Reggie Myrick all had big hands in the rout.

Stanton led, 19-0, at half time and steadily added to its aggregate after the intermission. The Buffaloes rolled up 369 yards rushing and added 43 passing Seagraves was held to net gains of 101 paces, 94 of which came on the ground.

McCasle ran 65 yards in the second period on the longest dash of the game.

Seagraves, which upset Stanton last year, escaped a shutout when end Buddy Harper raced 30 yards on an end-around play in the final period.

Coach Melvin Robertson of Stanton played his reserves much of the time.

Stanton visits Whiteface in its next game and is a heavy favorite to topple that club.

Knott Rambles Past Klondike

KLONDIKE, Oct. 16 (SC) — The Knott Hill Billies, capitalizing on a strong defense, trounced the Klondike Cougars, 42-7, here Friday afternoon.

The game was fairly close until the final periods, when the Billies turned two pass interceptions into touchdowns.

The first period was scoreless but Knott picked up two TDs in the second round.

Woody Long bruised over for the first six-pointer and passed to John Shanks for the second. Klondike's Jerry Kimbrell went across the double stripes before the half was over.

Knott was on Klondike's four-yard line when the half ended.

In the third period, Richard Parker traveled ten yards for a Knott tally and Shanks booted the goal for two points. Franklin Shaw then tackled a Klondike ball carrier in the end zone for a two-pointer.

In the fourth Delano Shaw scored on a short pass from Long and Shanks added two points with a kick.

Tennessee Crushed By Alabama, 27-0

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 16 (UP) — Alabama, with quarterback Albert Elmore doing the pitching, uncorked a brilliant passing attack today to crush Tennessee, 27-0, in a Southeastern Conference football game.

A partisan crowd of 41,800 sat in stunned disbelief as the Crimson Tide, rated no better than an even choice, rolled over the Vols for the first time since 1947.

It was the worst licking Alabama ever gave Tennessee on Shields-Watkins field. The margin of victory was the widest since 1906 when the count was a whopping 51-0.

Elmore, handling Alabama's split-T offensive faultlessly, connected for three touchdown passes to six many receivers. He also picked up 107 yards on 10 runs to grab individual rushing honors.

Tennessee made only one serious scoring gesture. It came in the fourth period after one of the few breaks the outclassed Vols got.

Forsan Toys With Hornets

FORSAN, Oct. 16 (SC) — Forsan toyed with Merton in a District Seven six-man football game here Friday night, winning, 44-6.

Harold Hicks led the assault on the Hornet goal, crossing it four times.

His longest run was 79 paces. He also ran 60, 14 and five yards for TDs.

When Forsan found it couldn't move on the ground, it took to the air with great success.

Albert Oglesby and Don Starr scored on slips from Johnny Baum. Oglesby covered 30 yards and Starr four on their plays.

Baum converted three times for the Buffaloes while Tony and Tommy Henry each scored a point that way.

Martin scored Merton's touchdown on a 35-yard run.

Moore Keeps Busy

Terry Moore is keeping himself busy adjusting one of the automatic pitch-setting machines in his bowling alley in St. Louis after he received word that he had been let out as manager of the Philadelphia Phillies baseball team. His only comment was "I wish the new manager luck—he probably will need it." (AP Wirephoto).

LSU Spills Red Raiders, 20-13

BATON ROUGE, Oct. 16 (AP)—With speedy Chuck Johns leading the posse, Louisiana State University outgalled Texas Tech tonight for a 20-13 football stunner and LSU's first victory of the year. Johns, a 21-year-old halfback scored three touchdowns in the second, third and fourth quarters, ripping 111 yards in 21 carries. For the opening score of the game, he dominated a 70-yard touchdown drive with 52 yards in eight carries and then went over for the score.

Texas Tech, defeated for the first time this year, fought back brilliantly in the fourth period to draw into a 13-13 tie on almost identical plays that went 52 and 72 yards.

Lonnie Graham was on the scoring end of the play and James Sides carried the mail for Tech's final score.

LSU quarterback Al Doggett made two conversions on three attempts. Jerry Johnson missed one for Tech, but Rick Spinks came through on the second try.

Texas Tech 0 0 6 7—13

Iowa State Loses To Buffs, 20-0

AMES, Iowa, Oct. 16 (AP)—Colorado's undefeated Buffaloes, blessed with raw power and blazing speed, poured through Iowa State 20-0 today for their fifth straight football victory.

Colorado's single-wing offense, led by sophomore John Bayuk, crunched out two first-half touchdowns, and Carroll Hardy, on a neat reverse, dodged 25 yards for the third counter with four minutes left in the game.

It was the second Big Seven Conference triumph for Colorado and Iowa State's second league loss in three contests.

Harvard Defeated By Lions, 7 To 6

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 16 (AP)—Columbia's football team, which had dropped its first three games, fashioned a last quarter 7-6 triumph today over Harvard, the winning margin being the extra point boot by end Bob Dillingham.

End Bob Cochran put Harvard into the lead by intercepting a Claude Benham pass near the Columbia 20 and fleeing into the end zone shortly after the third quarter began.

Boston University Tramples Orange

BOSTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Boston University quarterback Tom Gastall bombed Syracuse's highly-rated pass defense with four first-half touchdowns today and the undefeated Terriers withstood a second half rally by the Orangemen for a 41-19 decision and their fourth straight victory.

VICTORY-STARVED PITT UPSETS NAVY, 21-19

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 16 (AP)—Cory Salvaterra, playing only his second college football game, scored twice and passed for another touchdown, to direct the victory-starved Pitt Panthers to a 21-19 upset victory over previously unbeaten Navy today.

Alling Pitt Coach Lowell Dawson listened to the game by radio.

The Panthers, directed by Tom Hamilton, a former Navy coach and now athletic director at Pitt, stormed back after trailing 6-0 in the first period by scoring two touchdowns within three minutes in the second quarter and another in the final period. But Pitt almost saw the victory go out the window in the closing minutes with a fumble fief in their territory.

Salvaterra, a sophomore quarterback, tallied on a one-yard sneak and an eight-yard scamper. He also pitched 23 yards to halfback Henry Ford in the end zone for the other score.

Navy struck for its touchdowns in the first, second and fourth periods. The difference was in the conversions. It could have ended in a tie. George Texler missed one and Dick Eckard the other. Bugs Bagamery made all three for Pitt.

Oklahoma Crushes Kansas Jayhawkers By 65-0 Tab

LAWRENCE, KAN., Oct. 16 (AP)—Like a fat cat toying with a crippled mouse the Oklahoma Sooners smashed the Kansas Jayhawkers 65-0 today in one of the most crushing victories ever scored in a Big Seven Conference football game.

It was Oklahoma's first start in pursuit of its seventh straight Big Seven title. The Sooners, who gained ranking as the Nation's No. 1 team after victories over California, TCU and Texas, had little more than a warmup before an estimated 20,000 fans in perfect football weather.

Kansas, suffering its fifth loss, tried hard but could do little against the Sooners. Oklahoma's first unit scored four touchdowns. The second and third teams got three apiece.

The Oklahoma score was biggest in the series and second highest in history of Big Seven teams. The Sooners' third stringers were in the game midway of the second half. Oklahoma led only 7-0 at the first quarter but quickly organized to score as it pleased.

Flock Upset By Mustangs

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Southern Methodist's Mustangs combined second half goal line stands with the passing of Duane Nutt and the running of Don McIlhenny tonight to open their Southwest Conference campaign with a 20-6 victory that maintained their Houston jinx over the Rice Owls.

A crowd of 63,500 saw Nutt throw three touchdown passes after the Owls had taken a 6-0 first-quarter lead. The powerful Mustang line then provided brilliant second half protection by stopping Rice threats on the SMU 7, 4 and 4-yard lines.

Nutt's touchdown tosses to halfback McIlhenny and ends Doyle Nix and Ed Bernet climaxed drives of 83, 80 and 37 yards.

The clever SMU quarterback mixed his passes effectively with halfback Frank Eldom.

McIlhenny had a net of 108 yards in 23 carries, Eldom 97 in 20.

Rice got its lone touchdown midway in the opening period on a 42-yard pass from quarterback Pinsky Nibset to end Lamotte Hoiland.

Bernet kicked two out of three extra points for SMU. Reserve quarterback Phil Harris missed on Rice's lone attempt.

SMU 20 0 0 0 6—26
Rice 6 0 0 0 0—6

SMU scoring: Touchdowns, McIlhenny, Nix, Bernet. Conversions, Bernet 2.
Rice scoring: Touchdown, Hoiland.

Notre Dame Wins Over Spartans

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 16 (AP)—Notre Dame's Fighting Irish, trailing 13-0 after 12 minutes, outlasted Michigan State 20-19 as the underdog Spartans missed an extra point in the final 65 seconds of a rain-soaked thriller today.

Battling vigorously to prevent a modern Notre Dame disgrace of losing four straight to the same team, the Irish rallied for touchdowns in each of the last three periods and staggered to victory only because Michigan State failed to convert after a dramatic closing touchdown.

After the Irish seemingly had the game under control with two touchdowns by halfback Joe Heap in the second and third periods and halfback Paul Reynolds in the fourth, Michigan State struck 58 yards for a third Spartan touchdown in two plays.

Thus with 1:05 left, fullback Jerry Planutis had it in his kicking foot to tie the score.

But his kick went wide of the goal posts and the Irish gained their third victory against an undefeated team.

Javelinas Shaded By Sam Houston

HUNTSVILLE, Oct. 16 (AP)—Sam Houston State College won its second Lone Star Conference game today before a 5,000 homecoming day crowd by defeating the Texas A&I Javelinas of Kingsville, 14-0.

Bearkat scores came from two touchdowns and a safety they picked up in the second quarter when Javelina quarterback S. T. Bridges was trapped in his own end zone.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16 (AP)—Roy Mack is expected to decide for keeps tomorrow whether the Philadelphia Athletics are to go to Kansas City or stay here under the guidance of a syndicate which says it has offered all the Macks "more than they could get for the franchise anywhere else."

A meeting with the syndicate of seven wealthy Philadelphians is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. in a lawyer's office in downtown Philadelphia. Roy is expected to say yes or no to the syndicate at that time.

One of the members of the syndicate who declined to be quoted by name, said "I think we're going to be successful. We've offered the Macks everything they want. I don't see how they can turn us down."

Roy, executive vice president of the A's, has until Monday morning to notify American League President Will Harridge what he in-

Stanford Indians Shellacked, 72-0

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 16 (AP)—UCLA's unbeaten Bruins buried Stanford today under a 72-0 score, the worst drubbing in the history of one of the oldest schools in the West.

A deadly pass defense and a spectacular ground attack by the team rated No. 3 in the nation last week literally crushed the Indians under an avalanche of 11 touchdowns.

As the UCLA homecoming day crowd of 70,555 filed out of the Coliseum historians dug back into the record book to find a parallel.

"They had to thumb clear back to 1901 and the first Rose Bowl game to find the next worst Stanford licking, a 49-0 score rolled up by Michigan.

Mack Meets With Would-Be Buyers Of Club Monday

Black Knights Drub Devils

DURHAM, N. C., Oct. 16 (AP)—black magic for Army's Black Knights today and the fast improving Cadets knocked Duke out of the undefeated ranks with a 28-14 upset victory. It was Army's third straight triumph after an opening loss to South Carolina.

Vann, best known as a passer, gave a remarkable display of ball handling and blossomed out as a hard-to-stop runner. But it was a fast charging Army line and an alert defense which shackled Duke's running attack until late in the game.

Duke, losing the ball twice on fumbles and once on an intercepted pass, failed to come close to the Army goal. And when the powerful Blue Devils finally got rolling it was too late.

Army, hitting with lightning speed, scored two touchdowns in the second quarter and another at the start of the third to pile up a lead that Duke threatened but couldn't beat.

When Duke got its second touchdown in the final quarter to cut Army's lead to 21-14, Vann sneaked over for his second touchdown to put it beyond Duke's reach.

Class B Status Voted By WT-NM League

EL PASO, Oct. 16 (AP)—West Texas-New Mexico Baseball League members voted to advance to Class B status and doubled the veteran limit at the annual winter meeting today.

The jump from Class C will require approval of the executive committee of the National Assn. of Professional Baseball Leagues.

The League consists of six West Texas and two New Mexico members. It voted to restrict clubs to no more than six veteran players and no fewer than three rookies.

In keeping with its advance to Class B the league adopted a salary limit of $4,600.

The league awarded Plainview the 1955 all-star game and re-elected Hal Sayles of Abilene to a three-year term as president.

The league adopted a 140-142 schedule for the 1955 season, to start approximately in the third week in April.

At the time of the meeting the league revoked El Paso a franchise. Other members in attendance were Albuquerque and Clovis, N.M., Amarillo, Lubbock, Pampa, Plainview and Abilene.

There are four other Sunday games. The New York Giants, tied with Pittsburgh for the runner-up spot to the Eagles, open their 30th home season at Polo Grounds against the Chicago Cardinals. Pittsburgh entertains the Cleveland Browns; San Francisco will play the Chicago Bears in Chicago, and the Los Angeles Rams tangle with the Green Bay Packers in Milwaukee.

Vanderbilt Loses To Georgians

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 16 (AP)—Joe Graff's 24-year field goal today gave Georgia a 16-14 triumph over weary Vanderbilt and snatched victory from the winless Commodores in the waning minutes of a slashing Southeastern Conference football battle.

Graff, a reserve guard from Trenton, Pa., kicked the three-pointer from a slight angle with four minutes of the hectic fracas remaining and with Vanderbilt ahead 14-13. Two conversions by Bobby Goodall, Vanderbilt' great guard, had spelled the difference until Graff wrote the climax.

Desperate Vanderbilt rode back to the Georgia 10 in the last seconds, but Goodall's field goal attempt failed just before the game ended.

Georgia scored late in the first quarter on a 14-yard pass from reserve quarterback Dick Young to halfback Charlie Madison and got another less than four minutes later on fullback Bobby Garrard's 59 yard run. Madison made the first extra point but missed the second.

HSU Cowboys Lose To Cincy, 27-13

CINCINNATI, Oct. 16 (AP)—Coach Sid Gilman's University of Cincinnati football team ground out a methodical 27-13 victory today over Hardin-Simmons, the 13th straight triumph for the UC Bearcats.

Backs Dick Goist, Mike Murphy, Dick Pardini and Joe Miller accounted for the Cincinnati touchdowns with short plunges.

Punchless Illini Downed, 19 to 6

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 16 (AP)—Unbeaten Minnesota, marching back to oldtime grandeur under a new regime, smashed punchless Illinois 19-6 with a merciless ground attack today for its fourth straight victory.

The loss, Illinois' fourth straight, plunged the defending champions to a new low over the last decade and marked the first time in 65 years of football that the Illini lost their first four games.

Minnesota, 11th ranked in the nation, ran rampant against a bewildered Illinois line that never solved the brutal power plays of Bob McNamara, John Baumgartner and reserve fullback Ken Yackel.

Detroit Smashes Colts, 35 To 0

DETROIT, Oct. 16 (AP)—Quarterback Bobby Layne, forced to fight for his job for the first time in six years, came off the bench and pitched three touchdown passes tonight to lead the Detroit Lions to a 35-0 victory over the Baltimore Colts before 48,272 in Briggs Stadium.

Stolen Money Is Recovered

All but approximately $300 out of $1,000 in cash stolen from the glove compartment of a car Thursday night had been returned Saturday.

Sheriff Jess Slaughter said that members of his staff, the police department and juvenile officer, A. E. Long, had cooperated in rounding up several juveniles implicated in the theft from Willie Garcia.

Garcia reported the loss from his car, which he had parked in front of a cafe at 302 NW 4th Street shortly after midnight Thursday. The money was in $20, $10 and $5 bills.

One of the boys had made purchase of a used car, having an adult make the actual purchase for him. Another had acquired some expensive clothes.

Despite a trip to Lamesa to pick up a suspect, returned to the Latin-American area here empty-handed and ran right into their suspect.

After extensive questioning and conferences, Slaughter said Saturday afternoon that all but $95 taken by one of the boys and $112 by another had been returned to Garcia, who lives five miles north on the Snyder highway.

Part of the missing funds was lost in a dice game and other revelry.

Army Chooses Two Divisions For Atomic War Experiments

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Army has picked an armored and an infantry division for its first large-scale experiment in streamlining big combat units to meet new battlefield requirements imposed by atomic weapons.

It said today the 1st Armored Division at Ft. Hood, Tex., and the 47th Infantry Division at Ft. Benning, Ga., have been selected to "conduct experimental field testing of limited modifications to the existing unit organizations."

The advent of tactical-size atomic bombs, atomic artillery and guided missiles with nuclear warheads has confronted ground forces with the necessity of much wider dispersion of men and units and with the need for stepping up mobility of the units.

Obviously with this in mind, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Army chief of staff, said in a recent speech that two veteran divisions, which he did not identify at the time, would conduct extensive tests "under simulated atomic conditions seeking answers to the questions as to the influence of new weapons upon Army organization and tactics."

He said that in maneuvers, various size combat formations would be tested.

Reports had been current long before Ridgway's cryptic reference to the new tests that the Army was giving serious study to reducing the size of its infantry division, which now has a strength of 17,500. This thinking was directed toward smaller size regiments, deployed in greater depth along a divisional front.

Although units would be smaller, the reported plan does not contemplate an over-all reduction in the use of Army manpower in any future war. Ridgway has said atomic war would require more, not fewer, soldiers.

Ridgway, in his address last month, referred to the tests beginning this fall. Army spokesmen said today the experimental "field testing" would be conducted in early 1955.

The assumption, therefore, is that during this fall the two divisions will be reformed into tactical units smaller than present size and trained to operate in those new formations. (The 1st Armored and 47th Infantry probably are at less than currently authorized strength.)

When the experimental reorganization and training is completed the divisions will go into the field to maneuver, working both with friendly atomic support and in defense against simulated nuclear attack.

In offense, one of the new atomic battlefield problems is to occupy and exploit swiftly an enemy area hit by an atomic shell or bomb. This could be a zone from a mile or two or more miles wide. In this maneuver, Army tacticians are placing premium upon the use of new transport equipment, including recently developed armored personnel carriers and helicopters — to rush forces into the blasted area before the enemy can recover and regain control.

The test maneuvers probably will change midway in the reorganizational test program. The Army has announced that in December the numerical designation and colors of the 47th will be returned to Minnesota and North Dakota, from which the Guard division of that designation was federalized during the Korean War. Personnel and equipment then will be transferred to the regular 3rd Infantry Division, with headquarters at Ft. Benning.

Arthur Martin Dies, Formerly Lived In City

Arthur Martin, for three decades a resident of Big Spring, died unexpectedly in San Diego, Calif., at 8 p.m. Friday.

He had undergone brain surgery and his condition suddenly worsened.

Rites have been set for 9 a.m. Wednesday in the Pacific Beach Mortuary in San Diego, Calif.

Mr. Martin was born in Gorman, Eastland County, Texas in November of 1901 and moved with his parents here in 1908. He farmed in Howard County until 1938 when he moved to Johnson City and ranched for three years. Afterward he entered defense work in California and following the war opened a nursery business.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Frances Martin; two brothers, Dewey Martin and Reuben Martin, Big Spring; four sisters, Mrs. Shirley Fryar and Mrs. Lou Ella Edson, Big Spring; Mrs. R. L. Bull, Fort Worth, and Anne Martin, Santa Barbara, Calif.

Among the nephews and nieces are Frank Martin, Big Spring, Fred Martin, Odessa, Mrs. Billy Hughes, Seminole, Okla., and Mrs. Gertrude Gillespie, New York City, Charles Stovall, Mrs. R. C. Thomas, Billy Fryar, Martin Fryar, Marilyn Martin, Gaynelle Martin, Alice Ann Martin, of Big Spring, Richard Bull, Ft. Worth.

In 1906, four-fifths of New York taxicabs were French cars.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

KITZBUHEL, Austria—In a recent account of my visit in England, I told about some of my speak of some Austrian relatives — or maybe I should say English cousins. Now I wish to ative-in-law.

One of my younger brothers (first name, Paul) entered Austria with Allied forces at the close of the last World War. He tells me now (perhaps playfully) that he knew only four German words at that time. The words were "Kommen sie hier, Fraulein," meaning "Come here, young lady" or "Come here, Miss."

In Kitzbuhel was the widow of a brilliant Austrian engineer, who had been honored for designing tunnels through the mountains. Living with her were four daughters, and one of them, Tonika, decided to adopt the name of Mary. She also persuaded her sisters to adopt names which English-speaking soldiers would understand.

About a year after their first meeting, Paul and Tonika were married. They have three children, and have added two nephews and a niece to my list. One of the nephews has the name of Ray Lee.

Here in Kitzbuhel I have talked with the kindly mother of Tonika. "All of my daughters are married," she remarked proudly. Tonika (she speaks excellent English) is the only daughter who married a man from another country.

One of the husbands tells me that he may cross the Atlantic in years to come. Perhaps he will visit both Canada and the United States, but he asked a question which showed that he was worried.

"Is it dangerous to make a trip through the United States?" he inquired.

I assured him that the United States is safe enough, despite gangster and Wild West motion pictures. It has been a long time since men with six-shooters have fought battles in Western towns. As to American gangsters, they never have offered one tenth as much danger as automobiles.

Kitzbuhele is famed for its winter sports. The chief sport is skiing down nearby mountains. Those who ski are pulled to a high level, and then are able to take an exciting slide.

Bids Are Opened On Webb Contract

Cooper Construction Company of Odessa was the apparent low bidder on the hangar and base maintenance shops project for Webb AFB, the U. S. Engineers announced Saturday.

However, bids are being rechecked and the announcement should be firm on Monday.

Bids are to be opened at 10 a.m. Wednesday in Albuquerque, N. M. by the engineers on a new post exchange building which is estimated cost in the neighborhood of $100,000.

Youths Admit 9 Burglaries

Two 15-year-old boys have admitted burglarizing nine Big Spring residences, A. E. Long, juvenile officer said Saturday.

One of the boys is on parole now from the state school of correction for boys. Long said he would be returned. The other, formerly a Big Spring lad but now of Midland, will be turned over to Midland authorities for action in connection with half a dozen breaking and entering cases there.

None of the losses here were significant, said Long, for the total was in the neighborhood of $12 to $14.

Among the places the two told Long they had entered were 1304 Main, 1700 Scurry, 700 W. 17th, 702 W. 17th, 701 W. 16th, 607 W. 15th, 609 W. 15th, 1409 Scurry and 1202 Pennsylvania.

Apparently they took nothing but small change. Entry was gained in various ways after the two ascertained that no one was at home. Most of the deprecations occurred on Wednesday.

Cotton Ginnings Of 12,000 Bales Reported Saturday

Cotton ginnings in Howard County continued at a brisk pace through Saturday with the harvest approaching the half-way mark.

On the basis of reports from four gins operating in Big Spring, it appeared that total for the county now stood at 12,000 bales. The four had a combined output of 5,802 bales. Reports here and from other points showed gins turning at the rate of 50 to 75 bales per day.

Grade had trailed off some, going at middling, strict low middling. Staple was pulling around 28-32nd and 29-32nd with an occasional 30-32nd.

Seed quality appeared good and seed was bringing $58 per ton across the board.

Warned GIs, Now Shunned

By REINHOLD G. ENSZ
 GEISSEN, Germany, Oct. 16 (AP)—Nine years ago, Walter J. Bogus crept over to the American lines near Cologne to warn U.S. troops of an ambush the Wehrmacht was planning.

He was credited with saving hundreds of lives and was given a hero's reception by the Americans. But what of the Germans?

"Perhaps I am suffering from a persecution complex," he says, "but I don't think so."

Almost forgotten at 58, a patient in a state tuberculosis hospital, Bogus says some of the others jeer at him: "What have you got now? Where are your American friends?"

Somewhat, he says, the other patients learned who he was when he first entered the hospital and for awhile "they even refused to sit at the same table with me."

"This sort of thing will eventually happen to everyone who has to deal with the occupation forces," Bogus believes.

He worked for the Americans until 1948, when he was released for health reasons. He went looking for another job, but he says a city official told him:

"Go sweep the streets. That is your reward for having been a traitor to your country."

Why did Bogus warn the Americans? Because, he says: "When war came I was more American than German."

He lived in the United States after World War I and worked as an engineer for several auto companies. General Motors sent him to Germany in the early 1930s, and he remained until Pearl Harbor. He escaped wartime service in a German labor battalion by, as he put it, "faking tuberculosis."

His deed, he explains, was based on a desire to bring the lost war to an early end. He realized Germany was defeated and couldn't understand why Hitler—whom he calls a "hooligan" — ordered a last-minute stand.

"I didn't want to see Germany destroyed. I wanted to help my country."

John H. Sewell Dies In St. Paul

Word has been received here of the death of John H. Sewell, 83, in St. Paul, Minn. Mr. Sewell, who had visited here a number of times, is survived by three Big Spring relatives, his mother, Mrs. G. R. Sewell; a brother, Marvin, and a sister, Mrs. O. E. Couch.

Marvin Sewell left Saturday for the services, to be held at St. Paul, with another brother, J. C., of Big Lake.

Mr. Sewell had been in ill health but his death came unexpectedly. He had been in military service most of his adult life.

These Families Are New In Town

BIG SPRING HERALD

Sec. II Big Spring, Tex., Sun., Oct. 17, 1954 Society

The music and concert-loving Frank Sainburgs are eagerly looking forward to the three productions scheduled here by the local concert association.

The young couple and their three children all seem to go for music. Mrs. Sainburg entertains the three tots by singing and playing the piano for them.

She is fond of chess and the doctor is the bridge expert, so they have a working agreement that each teaches the other the fine points of the games.

Dr. Sainburg, a new surgeon at the VA Hospital, is a graduate of Cornell Medical College and Cornell University and trained in surgery in New York City. He is a Diplomate of the American Board of Surgery. Before coming here he practiced in Ithaca, N. Y., and Longview. Mrs. Sainburg graduated from North Texas State College where she was a music major.

So far, the family has managed to take in most of Big Spring on a sightseeing trip. But they're still looking for the "Big Spring."

American swing and jazz, clothes and the big American cars have especially impressed Mrs. Grayson Spurlock, an English wife, who arrived here just a few weeks ago with her husband, S-Sgt. Spurlock, who is stationed at Webb Air Force Base.

The couple was married about a year ago in England—Swansea, South Wales, to be exact, the home of Mrs. Spurlock. Then they spent some time at Chateaux, France, near Paris. They flew here from there.

Before she married, Mrs. Spurlock attended art school in London and also studied modeling.

She says she and her husband are exact opposites. He is a country-lover and she has a city background. He's from Monroe, La. He is a radio technician, loves cars and planes. He plans to own a private plane someday and then

A TEAM (at right) — are Mrs. Lola Gardner, son Mendon (drying a cup), daughter, Marjorie, and her brother, C. H. Vickers. They all cooperate in the household tasks since the two adults work and the children go to school. Mrs. Gardner and her brother are employed at the State Hospital.

THE R. A. MARTINS (above) — They probably don't take the plea on Bobby's overalls seriously sometimes, but at the moment of this photograph he was a little angel. Martin is the new assistant manager of J. C. Penney Co. He and his family moved from Dallas and are residing here at 1606 Scurry.

THE HERB HOES FAMILY (above) — Both native Texans, Mr. and Mrs. Hoes are graduates of North Texas State College. He recently came here to be chief accountant at Webb Air Force Base. The 16-month-old blonde cherub on the rocking horse is daughter Sheila, who likes the horse especially because of a bell her dad made for it.

DRESS PARADE

Mrs. Jordan Grooms is ready for a tea, for church, or even shopping in her dress of Pacific Blue acetate. It's one of those fashions that are "just right" anywhere, and it delights in a change of accessories. The wide collar is set off with an Ascot scarf of Alpine pink, and the double-breasted effect is continued to the bottom of her skirt. Her black velvet берет has an ornament which complements her antique gold bracelet and earrings. Her clutch is of black velvet to match her suede pumps.

HI--TALK

By PEGGY HOGAN

The first four days of this week were rather dull and drab as the distasteful subject of six-weeks exams hovered over every student's head. About the only thing that livened the steady buzz of BSHS was talk of the Vernon game and the possibility of going to see it.

There was certainly a fine representation of Big Spring High at Vernon. It was really wonderful that so many kids were able to go and back the Steers in person. And, of course, we're thankful for all those who listened to our mighty game by radio, too.

Some more thanks to all the kids with spirit-plus who came out early to give the Steers a great send-off before they left at 9:00 Friday morning.

Shirley Thomas was elected Sweetheart of the DE Club at their regular meeting last Thursday. You might say she was re-elected because this is her second year to hold the honor. Shirley's picture will be sent to the State Distributive Education Clubs of Texas convention committee on Sweethearts. There she will be judged again. A picnic is slated for tomorrow night for all the DE members.

In observance of Oil Progress Week, the Oil Industry Information Committee and the Chamber of Commerce sponsored a speech contest in connection with KBST. Our student body president, Glenn Rogers, won the first place prize of $7.50; Charles Long won second of $5.00 and Robert Morehead was next with $2.50. The subject of the speeches presented at 7:00 Thursday night was "The Oil Industry's Role in the American Way of Life." Congratulations, boys, and Mr. McComb, speech director.

After five weeks of play, the Girls PE Classes concluded their basketball program with an Intramural Tournament. Optional teams were gathered from 11 girls' classes and the finals resulted in the second period Monday-Wednesday class defeating the fourth period Monday-Wednesday class, 20-8. Captains of the winners were Janice Williamson and Evelyn Hanson. The rest of the team was composed of Sylvia Mendoza, Beverly Echols, Shirley Wilson, Adrienne Smith, Betty Lou Long, Joann Lambert, Myrtice Jones, and Arlene Hartin. These girls were awarded blue ribbons while the second place team, led by Lois Spivey and Charlotte Jensen, received red ribbons.

About 125 Hi-Y delegates from several West Texas towns met in Midland Sunday afternoon for an officers' training course. A bus load of Big Spring club members made the trip. They report a good meeting—discussing the problems of the different club offices and learning from other clubs and leaders the obligations of each office. Both clubs have unanimously elected Glenn Rogers as their candidate for Governor for Youth-in-Government. Elections of this district will be held in Lubbock the last of this month.

The Key Club is sponsoring a Leadership Banquet next Saturday night at the Settles Hotel. This is especially for all the organization leaders of BSHS. All the presidents, vice-presidents and secretaries of all clubs are invited to hear Mr. Melvin Munn of Dallas who is known as one of the best speakers in the Southwest. Tickets for $1.50 may be purchased from any Key Club member. This is one of the service projects sponsored by the Key Club and they expect about 100 to attend.

The "Corral" staff, led by editor Glenna Coffey, has really been "having a ball." They have been letting out with several good editions of the school paper, conveying all the news. Lots of individuality and originality has been expressed, too. Keep it up, kids, we really appreciate the fine job you're doing.

The yearbook staff isn't exactly sailing smoothly. They are working hard to overcome the many problems that confront their task. There are countless decisions to be made in planning art work, layouts, etc., but that little redheaded editor, Ginger Hatch, is steering things along very nicely.

Congratulations to the Triple Trio for winning first place on the Teen Times Talent Show sponsored by Foremost Dairy Products. Their prize was a Zruith radio or the equivalent in records.

If you saw a man running around the school last Tuesday with an anxious and rather nervous look on his face, it probably was Mr. McComb, play director. There was a big mix-up. The playbooks for the fall play, "Gramercy Ghost," failed to arrive, and he was busy mimeographing the first act so that rehearsals could begin. They did. The cast has already begun serious work even with six-week tests going on.

Frosty Robison is our Senior-of-the-Week. A long line of honors and offices already follow Frosty through two years of high school. He has been a member of the Hi-Y, DeMolays and Key Club. Serving as president of the Junior class last year, he very efficiently ushered us through all the complications of the Junior-Senior Prom. He was junior favorite and an outstanding student in shop. This year he seems to be matching his great record in football, having made the All-District and All-State teams last year. He is serving as a co-captain of the Steers now. By the way, two of his favorite nicknames are "Iron Man" and "Toothless" — good luck to ya, Frosty!

Lynn Maxwell Has Birthday Party

ACKERLY — Lynn Maxwell celebrated his sixth birthday Wednesday afternoon with party which included eleven of his friends. Cupcakes and soda pop were served to Pat Eubanks, Ricky Kemp, Ronnie Smith, Jimmie Glascock, Ruth Lemon, Ann Lemon, James Lemon, Pat Grigg, Joe Grigg, Dennis Wells, Sandra Wells and Ken Maxwell. Horns and toy crickets were favors.

Sandra and Dennis Wells spent a few days with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Moore, in Lamesa.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Johnson and children of Lubbock spent a few days with his brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Johnson.

Look Ma, It's Standing

Rita Kay barely has to hold her red velvet-trimmed petticoat to make it stand alone. This washable, wrinkleless plastic petticoat does everything a petticoat should and it could double for a window screen in a pinch.

Mrs. Hester Hull rolls off a few yards of the fast-selling plastic screen that is holding out many a skirt these days.

Local Hardware Stores Feel Petticoat Fever

By CAROL MITCHELL

When is screen wire not screen wire? When it's plastic and when it's made up into a petticoat.

Petticoat fever has turned up in such epidemic proportions that anything that's stiff enough will probably get made into a petticoat by ingenious teen-agers and their mamas.

Whoever discovered plastic wire for petticoats did the local hardware stores a favor; they can hardly keep it in stock.

The biggest advantage of the wire is that it is permanently stiff and washing doesn't make it go limp. One mother who had made a petticoat said when she gets ready to wash it she'll just hang it on the line and turn the hose on it.

Rita Kay Rogers' mother, Mrs. F. D. Rogers, 1301 Wood, made her daughter quite a creation out of the plastic wire. It's tiered and bound with pretty red velvet. Rita Kay's won't fit in her closet, so she keeps it standing in a chair at night.

Mrs. Rogers says that the next petticoat she makes will be easier now that she has the knack of it. She made the first one on a sewing machine. The material is too stiff to gather, so it has to be pleated. You can't use elastic in the waist, but you have to make a band instead. All raw edges must be bound to keep the wearer from being stuck.

Each week Mrs. Rogers says she notices another teen-ager with one of the petticoats. So, there must be dozens of plastic under-pinnings being worn by the younger set.

Rita Kay and her mother are looking forward to being able to buy wire in colors. Now it is only available in a sort of gray color.

It should be a real consolation to hardware and builders' supply concerns to know that if the building boom drops and with it the demand for screen wire that petticoats will keep things going.

MRS. CARL L. COCHRANE JR.

Marie Love Is Bride Of Carl Cochrane Jr.

Wearing the gown worn by her sister, Mrs. Harry McBride, in her recent wedding, Marie Love, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Love, became the bride of Carl L. Cochrane Jr. in a ceremony Saturday at 3 p.m. at First Baptist Church.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cochrane Sr. of Kingfisher, Okla.

Reading the double ring vows was Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the church, before an altar decorated with a white arch laced with fern and yellow daisies. A colonnade on each side of the altar supported sunburst arrangements of yellow gladioli and golden chrysanthemums. White latticed candles were also laced with fern tied with yellow satin ribbons. As a background for these arrangements were emerald trees and tall baskets of yellow gladioli and golden chrysanthemums.

Mrs. R. L. Heith, sister-in-law of the bride, sang "Because." A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. C. W. Norman, organist.

Tapers were lighted by Wendell Brown, cousin of the bride, and Billy Gage.

Mr. Love gave his daughter in marriage. Her gown was an original of white imported lace and tulle. It was waist-length and was designed with lace bolero with Peter Pan collar and sleeves tapering to points over the wrists. Her fingertip veil of tulle was attached to a cap of lace which featured iridescent sequins, pearls and bead trim. In the wedding tradition, the bride wore a turquoise pin belonging to her paternal grandmother, a blue garter made by the bridegroom's grandmother and a strand of pearls given her by the bridegroom. Her bouquet was of yellow roses surrounded by white feathered carnations, roses and carnations cascaded on streamers.

Mrs. McBride attended her sister as matron of honor. Sue Cochrane, sister of the bridegroom, was the only other feminine attendant. They wore identical dresses of coffee brown crystallite over matching taffeta fashioned with

Sixth Grade Gives Program For P-TA; Frazier Is Speaker

The three six grade rooms presented a program for College Heights P-TA at a meeting Thursday at the school.

Mrs. Jack Wilson's sixth grade students represented the different races and nationalities that make up America by wearing various costumes. James Farris gave a poem, "The Meaning of Americanism." Mike Worley sang "Home on the Range" and Elaine Moore, of Lula Bell Daniel's room, presented a piano solo. Mrs. Wilson's room sang "America."

As speaker of the evening James Bruce Frazier discussed "More Perfect Union Between School and Home." He said that what is done in the home influences the way children behave in school and vice versa. He stressed that parents work with the children on their homework and other school projects.

During a business meeting it was announced that College Heights P-TA would sponsor a first aid course to begin Nov. 1 at Junior High School. It will be taught by Leslie Snow and will be held for two hours, two nights a week and will last for three weeks.

Mrs. W. S. Goodlett Jr., president, was elected delegate to the state convention Nov. 17-19 at Corpus Christi.

Mrs. Clayton Coates reported that the unit now has 232 members. Mrs. Maurice Keger's room won the membership contest prize of $5. Room count was won by Mrs. Keger's and Mrs. Nan Alexander's rooms. Seventy-five members attended.

These Families Are New In Town

"we can go to Houston, Dallas and Louisiana," says Mrs. Spurlock, who has yet to meet his family.

It takes the four of us to make the team says Mrs. Lola Gardner, 1200 Lamar, about her family. She, her brother, C. H. Vickers, and her children Marjorie, 12, and Mendon, 8, all pitch in to keep things going.

Mrs. Gardner works in the beauty parlor at the State Hospital and Mr. Vickers is bookkeeper at the hospital. While they are working the children take over the housework even to the cooking, which young Mendon says he can do.

On weekends the group likes to visit Rankin where the mother of Mrs. Gardner and her brother live. Their brother is on the Rankin High football team and they are his biggest fans.

Two of the family are musical. Marjorie, who plays the piano and Vickers, who leads singing at the Church of Christ in Coahonga, Rankin and formerly in Stanton.

"Sort of TV fans" is the way the Herb Hoeses, 1307 Stanford, characterize themselves. They arrived here about four weeks ago when Mr. Hoes was assigned as chief accountant at Webb Air Force Base.

Mrs. Hoes is a former first grade teacher and Mr. Hoes was a public accountant with a CPA firm before coming here.

Their little blond daughter, Sheila, is 16 months old and looks like a "living doll." The young couple are both Texans—he's from Bartlett and she's from James. They are both graduates of North Texas State College and that's where they met.

The Hoeses spent their honeymoon in Berchtesgaden, Germany. Uncle Sam conveniently stationed Mr. Hoes there for 10 months during Army duty.

New assistant manager for J. C. Penney Co. is R. A. Martin, 1606 Scurry. He and Mrs. Martin and son, Bobby, 11 months, moved here from Dallas, which is Mrs. Martin's home.

Ice skating is a favorite with strawberry blonde Mrs. Martin. But until West Texas comes up with an ice rink, she'll have to be frustrated for a while. She'd look good on skates, too.

Mr. Martin is an avid reader—when he finds the time, which isn't often.

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Halley have returned after a visit with their daughter, Mrs. Eugene Searcy, and her family in Fort Worth. They also visited Mr. Halley's sister, Mrs. W. E. Brooks, in Lott.

I am purchasing family tickets to the Big Spring Concert Association series because this affords an opportunity for my family to enjoy first class entertainment here that otherwise would be impossible unless we traveled as far as Dallas.

Something I think is more important is the cultural value to our community. It is an excellent opportunity not only for the adults of our city, but especially the youth to grow in cultural stature.

November Wedding Planned

Mrs. Bill Everett, 1402 1/4 Main Street, is announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Billie Pat, to Dudley McKaskle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mon McKaskle of Stanton. The wedding, which is to be in the bride's home, is planned for Nov. 10.

Two Ways To Plant Fall Bulbs For Winter Safety

There are two methods of planting fall bulbs. When planted in the perennial border, among other plants, a hole should be dug for each bulb with a trowel. Be sure that the hole is large enough so that the bulb rests on the soil, and there is no air pocket beneath it.

The soil should be packed firmly around and above the bulb, and planting may be done as late as this is possible. Even if there is a frozen crust on the surface, so long as the soil beneath will crumble easily, planting can continue. But when the ground freezes deep enough to prevent this, it is too late to plant.

If an entire bed, or border space is to be planted to bulbs, it may be excavated to the required depth, and the bulbs placed on the floor of the excavation in the desired arrangement. This is a necessary method when tulips are to be used to form a pattern, in the style still popular in Europe and formerly practiced here.

Even if no pattern is desired, this is a good way when there are no established plants in the area to interfere with it.

When the soil is filled in above the bulb, it should be heaped up an inch or two higher than the surrounding surface to allow for settling, and prevent a depression in which water might stand.

Wet soil is the great enemy of all garden bulbs. They will not grow in wet soil, and soon decay. They should never be planted in a place from which water does not drain away quickly.

If there is no such place in your garden, then make an elevated bed, six inches above the garden level, in which to plant your bulbs. Cold does not injure hardy bulbs; but wet soil will destroy them so take no chances.

One of the chief hazards for all bulbs is "frost heaving," due to alternate freezing and thawing of the soil, which may lift shallow rooted plants out of the soil.

Bulbs planted so late they cannot make roots in the fall are likely to suffer from it; and large bulbs not set deep enough will often be injured. A mulch placed over the bulbs after the ground has frozen will keep the frost in, and reduce frost heaving.

When it is intended to allow tulips to remain where you plant them several years rather than dig them up after they have blossomed and their leaves have turned yellow each summer, they should be planted two or three inches deeper than the normal depth.

Deep planting may cause flowering to be somewhat later. All bulbs which shall blossom at the same time should be planted the same depth.

Appearing in the skit will be Del McComb as George, a somewhat aggressive and cynical young man; Mrs. John Coffey as Kate, a sarcastic woman; Mrs. Ruth Burnam as Betty, an attractive teacher, and Glenn T. Guthrie as Quovadis, a crystal gazer.

A demonstration of flower arranging and a discussion of how flowers may benefit a schoolroom will be given by Mrs. Schley Riley, president of the Big Spring Garden Club. She will be assisted by other representatives of the various garden clubs, including Mrs. W. D. Caldwell, Mrs. Obie Bristow, Mrs. D. M. Penn, Mrs. J. B. Knox, Mrs. R. E. Satterwhite and Mrs. C. M. A Bible Thought For Today—

Airport Drive Would Logically Trail Base Permanency Campaign

Attention of the city commission has been called to the need of more adequate flying facilities here. Hamilton with its unimproved and too short runways, is hardly suited for other than light planes. Its proximity to the city and its availability has provided a measure of interim relief which cannot correctly be assumed as a permanent solution.

Further than this, knowing whether the base might be counted upon for a long time or whether it would become permanently federal property would enter into design of a private airport. Were we to be acquiring land and constructing runways for an interim period, emphasis might be upon cutting corners until the larger facilities could be regained. On the other hand, if the port were to be permanent, emphasis might be upon long range planning and upon building for the future or deliberately providing for the future.

Confident Living—Norman Vincent Peale

An Essential For Success And Happiness: Believe In Yourself

I once knew a man whose job it was to help people when they got into business difficulties. In his career, he must have rescued dozens of firms and individuals. One day he told me that the best way to rescue a firm was to rescue individual people in it; that nine times out of ten a firm would be failing because the men who worked for it didn't believe in themselves.

He pointed to a man sitting behind a glass door labeled, "Sales Manager." "Do you see that desk?" he asked. "That is going to be your place because that man is going to be advanced. That's where you belong, and that's where you're going to be one of these days."

Success Of London Conference Comes As Surprise To Molotov

ROME — Mr. Molotov seems to have been as much surprised as were the rest of us by the success and by the speed of the London conference. He had supposed, it would seem, that the rejection of EDC would mean months of confusion in Germany and in the allied capitals. During that time no difficult decisions would have to be made in Moscow. The London conference presented him with something very nearly like an accomplished fact long before he had time to decide what to do about it.

ment worked out in a conference can be anything but a defeat for the Soviet Union. The Western allies and Dr. Adenauer will not agree to unite Germany under one government unless it is freely elected in all parts of Germany. Such an elected government would be strongly anti-Soviet. It would, moreover, open up wide and subsversive contact with the Poles and the Czechoslovaks.

Sure It Would Work!

Business Outlook—J. A. Livingston

New Development In Western Germany Will Have Effect On U.S. Business

A new political and economic force is being created in the world: An Independent Western Germany, a Germany with an army of 500,000 men, a Germany which will be a military restraint against Soviet Russia, a Germany which will take its seat as an equal in the councils of statesmen of the west.

Germany will need supplies from abroad—cotton, wool, steel, scrap, copper—the raw materials of equipment. There'll be demand for tanks and guns and planes, some of which will be made in Germany, some of which may be purchased.

As Harrison Salisbury noted in his distinguished series of articles in the New York Times, the new rulers of Russia, Malenkov, Molotov, and Khrushchev—have a greater interest than Stalin in improving the life of the Russian worker and peasant. To that end, they would want to cut down on armament expenditures so as to provide more and better food, clothing, shelter. They want—at least for the short run—peace.

Bible Words for Today

1 PETER 1:3-5 — "We have been born anew to a living hope through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead...to an inheritance which is imperishable, undefiled, and unfading, kept in heaven for you by God's power are guarded through faith..." (RSV)

The Apostle is saying here that, in spite of Calvary, Jesus of Nazareth had renewed His person and His message in the life of His friends. We do not know exactly how it happened, but we do know that His resurrection was something glorious and tremendous. And this is still true for all believers. This power of Jesus Christ to renew His spirit in our life from generation to generation is at once an abiding source of perennial hope and the marvel of the ages.

Unexpected Reaction Occurs To Protest Of Batchelor Sentence

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald. — Editor's Note.

If the Claude Batchelor case becomes more of a cause celebre than it is, Hack Wright of Big Spring may have been a contributing factor.

This is indicated by the completely unexpected volume of correspondence that has poured in upon the Big Spring man since he resigned his chairmanship of the local draft board in protest against the life sentence assessed against the young corporal in that San Antonio court martial.

The response came from all over the U. S. The stack of mail I thumbed through came from 29 of the 48 states, from Massachusetts to California, from N. Dakota to Florida. About half the communications are from Texas. California is next with 12 letters, there are five each from Michigan and Connecticut, and so on down the list.

The letters are remarkably similar in tenor. I picked up a few at random: ROCHESTER, N. Y.: "I feel that justice should be tempered a bit with mercy."

PASADENA, Tex.: "I am 73 years old and it's my first time to hear of anything like that in this free country."

In a hurried run through Wright's mail, it looks like an unusual number of the letters are from mothers of young men. The lads either have been in service, or are scheduled to serve. These are the people, of course, who hold great concern.

The letters are mostly from good Americans. They have made him a rallying point.

Status Of Auto Industry Can Have Its Political Implications

DETROIT — An event that has just taken place here is likely to dwarf in significance anything that the political candidates may say in the campaign now being waged in Michigan.

While every automobile company offers new models about this time every year, there was a special reason in the up-heaval going on in the automobile industry why this showing would have attracted such wide attention.

The brilliant new models of the Chrysler, De Soto, Dodge and Plymouth are meant to recapture the share of the auto market lost this year. They are a challenge to the increasing concentration in General Motors and Ford, the two giants accounting through sales of all their models for a fraction more than 84 per cent of the total market at the beginning of September.

quently remarked, this is the last thing they want to do since they are fearful of the accusation of monopoly power.

It can be demonstrated that this is more economical and more efficient. But whether it is also in the best interests of national security in the atomic age is a question that can be rightfully raised whether in political season or out.

Graceful Girl

Oscar-winning Audrey Hepburn, currently being seen in Paramount's "Sabrina," gives ballet training credit for her grace and equilibrium. In an exclusive interview with Lydia Lane, Audrey also stresses the importance of femininity and appearance.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Audrey Hepburn Talks About Exercise, Diet

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — The first time I met Audrey Hepburn was when she was starring in the play "Gigi." This was before "Roman Holiday" had been released and before she had received the coveted Oscar. Audrey was modest and uncertain about how she would be received by the American public, but to me there seemed little doubt that this girl with the melodious voice and provocative face would fail to register in a big way.

When I told this to Miss Hepburn recently, just before she went to Europe and married Mel Ferrer, she countered with high praise for William Wyler who directed her in both "Roman Holiday" and her new picture, "Sabrina," and it was clear that she attributes to him a great measure of her success.

I repeated to Miss Hepburn a compliment which a famous producer had paid her voice — he called it the most outstanding since another Hepburn, Katherine, had made her debut.

"My speech has given me some difficulty," Audrey confessed. "You see, my mother is Dutch, my father English, and I was born in Belgium. Dutch and English were spoken inside my home and I heard a great deal of French spoken outside. We were visiting my mother's family in Holland when Hitler marched in, and we went underground. For eight formative years I spoke Dutch. Then as soon after the war as we could we went to England. With each move my ear had to adjust to a new language. It is because I have no mother tongue that the critics have accused me of 'curious' speech."

Audrey remarked that living in an occupied country taught her, the painful way, the relation of diet to health. "Often we were days without food — a full meal was unheard of. We kept going with a daily slice of bread made from green peas and a watery broth made with one potato. There were no fats, meat, milk or fresh fruit. I lost weight and became so anemic that when we arrived in London even though meat was rationed, the doctor ordered that I have a pound a day. Proper food made a big change in the way I felt, looked and in my attitude toward life.

"Ever since," Audrey explained, "I've tried to eat well — three full meals a day with at least one serving of red meat. But I can't enjoy large meals — I suppose my stomach must have shrunk permanently."

Miss Hepburn moves with such grace that I was not surprised to learn that she had been a dancer. She studied ballet in London and aspired to be a professional. "Even if you don't intend to make a career of ballet," she pointed out, "the training develops grace, equilibri-

Mrs. Notgrass Given Shower In Stanton

STANTON — Mrs. Burl Notgrass of Midland was honored with a pink and blue shower in the home of Mrs. Leslie Hull. Co-hostesses were Mrs. S. E. Cross, Mrs. J. F. Fields, Mrs. Thearl Creech, Mrs. L. R. Shoemaker, Mrs. Charlie Pinkerton, Mrs. Earl Creech, Mrs. Johnny Murdock, Mrs. Billy Smith and Mrs. Alice Angle. Mrs. Notgrass is a former resident of the Courtney community.

that Colette saw me and offered me the lead in the New York company of 'Gigi.' I was thrilled but frightened at the thought of having a starring role in my first play on Broadway. But Colette insisted that anyone who was dedicated to the ballet knew how to work and encouraged me to accept. She was more than anything else in my capacity for hard work — my desire to take advantage of every opportunity to improve myself."

I noticed that Miss Hepburn has an extraordinarily tiny waist and I told her so.

"My ballet training, again," she confided. "But sitting up straight is equally important. Nothing is worse for the waistline than slumping. And I recommend stretching and bending every day to keep a mid-section slim."

We chatted on about European and American women. Miss Hepburn feels that women in this country are too competitive and that this detracts from their femininity.

"The French women are efficient," Audrey said thoughtfully, "but they do not play up the fact." She was quick to add, however, that she had enormous respect for the energy of American women and their pride in accomplishment.

"My greatest ambition," Audrey confessed, "is to have a career without becoming a career woman. I love to indulge in helpless femininity and have men do things for me."

Audrey feels there would be fewer divorces if the boy and girl went to as much trouble to be well-groomed and to please each other after marriage as before.

"When a girl is dating a man, she wouldn't dream of letting him see her in pin-curls, but after marriage she becomes careless about such things — and this must be a shock to him. I don't have the nerve," Audrey added, "to be seen unless I am looking my best."

CAMPUS CHATTER

The yearbook staff met with Mr. Walter Richner, the Steek Publishing Co. representative, Friday to select the cover and color for the '55 "Jayhawk."

The choir will sing for the TSCW meeting Wednesday for the student body in an assembly Friday morning at 9:45.

Streamers of red and gray crepe paper and various colored balloons provided an appropriate background for the Athletic Club dance staged in the SUB Friday night. Now is the time for all loyal students to come to the aid of their yearbook staff. The photographer will be here tomorrow to take individual pictures. This will be your last chance to have your picture in the yearbook. Many valuable memories may be gained by only a few seconds of sitting for a picture. Club group pictures will also be taken this week. The student council picture is scheduled for tomorrow at activity period; the "El Nido" staff for tomorrow at 2 p.m. and the Lass-O Club for Wednesday at 9:45 a.m.

Don't forget to have your picture made for the yearbook tomorrow!

All adults are invited to attend Training Union each Sunday night at 6:30.

MISTER BREGER

Fun While It Lasts

Gregory Peck plays a penniless American given a million-pound note as part of a bet between two eccentric Britishers in "The Man With A Million." Without cashing the bill Peck manages to lead a nice life on the cuff and even gets pretty Jane Griffiths as a secretary. The comedy film is in Technicolor and plays Wednesday and Thursday at the Ritz Theatre.

Typhoon

One of the highlights of "The Cruel Sea" Technicolor film which is showing through Tuesday at the Ritz Theatre, is the typhoon which nearly results in disaster for the minesweeper, U.S.S. Caine. Humphrey Bogart stars as the captain, showing Lt. Marky. Also in the cast are Jose Ferrer and Fred MacMurray.

'The Cruel Sea' To Show Through Tuesday At State

"The Cruel Sea," film version of the best-selling book, shows today through Tuesday at the State Theatre. The picture made by the J. Arthur Rank Organization but released in the U. S. by Universal-International features the ocean as the villain and the men who man the corvette "Compass Rose" as the heroes.

Jack Hawkins has the role of the captain of the ship, Lt. Commander Elson, the only professional naval man among the officers. Donald Sinden plays Lt. Lockwood, who turns from journalism to the Navy when war comes.

Virginia McKeena plays Julie Hallam, the beautiful Wren from the operations room, with whom Lockwood falls in love.

Nicholas Monsarrat wrote the book, said to be largely autobiographical, served five years with the British navy during World War II, part of the time as commander of a corvette. Eric Ambler, famed mystery writer, wrote the screen play adaptation.

Background of the film is the famed Battle of the Atlantic, the struggle to keep Britain's lifelines open against German submarines.

'Man With A Million' Is Mark Twain Story

A Mark Twain short story was adapted for the screen to make "The Man With A Million," Technicolor film which stars Gregory Peck—and shows Wednesday and Thursday at the Ritz Theatre.

Name of the short story is "The Million Pound Note" and it pokes a little gentle fun at our cousins, the British.

Peck plays a penniless American launched on a series of fantastic adventures when he is given a million pound note by two eccentric Englishmen as part of a bet. The bet between the two Englishmen is whether or not a penniless man, if given the million pound note, can live like a lord without ever cashing the note or spending it in any way.

Peck finds merchants over-eager to extend credit to him because they get wind of the one million pound note and soon is living in a swanky hotel dressed like a king.

Jane Griffiths plays Portia, the girl he meets and falls in love with but nearly loses when the hoax comes to an end.

A million pound sterling, still a huge sum of money, was worth even more at the turn of the century, when the film takes place. With the pound then worth $5, the note represented approximately $5,000,000. Today the pound is worth $2.80, American, but the note would still be worth over two million dollars.

The picture, a J. Arthur Rank Organization production, is released by United Artists.

Richard Widmark's First Film, 'Kiss Of Death,' To Show

The film which first introduced Richard Widmark to the screen, "Kiss of Death," will show Wednesday and Thursday at the State Theatre.

Widmark has the role of the psychopathic killer, Tommy Udo, with the fiendish laugh.

Others in the cast are Victor Mature, Brian Donlevy and Coleen Gray. Mature plays a gangster who, when his friends in the underworld forget to keep their bargains while he's taking the rap, agrees to help the law bring the others to justice. Miss Gray plays the neighborhood sweetheart who becomes Mature's second wife and his children's second mother. Donlevy plays the assistant district attorney who gets Mature to talk.

The picture is a Twentieth Century-Fox encore release.

'Bounty Hunter' To Show At Ritz

Randolph Scott plays the title role in "The Bounty Hunter," Warner Bros. adventure film in Technicolor which shows Friday and Saturday at the Ritz Theatre. "Bounty Hunter" was the name given men who made a profession of hunting down men with a price on their heads.

Scott, in the role of Jim Kipp, is hired to track down three bandits who making away with a big swag have settled down in a Western village and attempted to hide their crimes.

Dolores Dorn and Marie Windsor have the top feminine roles in the film, Miss Dorn playing a doctor's daughter to whom Kipp is attracted and Miss Windsor playing a dance hall queen. The two ladies, in a shift from the usual Western plot have a rough and tumble fight.

Andre de Toth is the film's director. This marks the seventh time De Toth has directed Scott in a film, some of their earlier collaborations including "Carson City," "Thunder Over the Plains," and "Riding Shotgun."

'Black Dakotas' Set For State

An attempt to keep the mighty Sioux nation peaceful in the midst of the Civil War forms the background for action in "The Black Dakotas," Columbia Technicolor outdoor drama to show Friday and Saturday at the State Theatre.

All the whites are not united in wanting peace, however. The Confederate sympathizers would like to see the Indians on the warpath, thus diverting badly needed Union troops from the front.

Gary Merrill plays a Confederate agent who comes in possession of a proposed treaty between Lincoln and the Sioux. In which a shipment of gold from Lincoln is to assure the treaty. Wanda Hendrix plays the daughter of the Dakota rebel leader, who is unmasked and hanged as a traitor. John Bromfield plays the Union agent who falls in love with her. Noah Beery Jr. plays a Confederate sympathizer betrayed by Merrill.

Also appearing in the CinemaScope film are Rory Calhoun, Robert Mitchum and Tommy Rettig. Miss Monroe sings several numbers in the film including the title song.

'The Outcast' Due At Jet Drive-In

John Derek and Joan Evans star in "The Outcast," film which shows Thursday and Friday at the Jet Drive-In. This picture, in Technicolor, features Derek as the rightful heir to a vast ranch but denied his inheritance by his usurping uncle.

Miss Evans plays the daughter in a poor white family, trying painfully to learn the ways of a lady. Derek, of course, is her idol.

The picture is a Republic production.

2 CinemaScope Films To Show At Jet Drive-In

Two CinemaScope movies are slated to show this week at the Jet Drive-In. To show tonight and Monday is "River of No Return" with Marilyn Monroe and Robert Mitchum. To show Tuesday and Wednesday is "The Student Prince" with Ann Blyth and Edmund Purdom.

"River of No Return" is set in Canada during gold rush days. Miss Monroe plays a saloon entertainer with Rory Calhoun as her gambler boy friend. Mitchum plays a widowed farmer and Tommy Rettig has the role of his son. The four come in contact when Calhoun attempts to flee the boom town to evade those who might possibly want to settle scores with him. In his haste to get away with a valuable claim, Calhoun heads down the dangerous river with Miss Monroe accompanying him.

They run into trouble near the farm of Mitchum. Calhoun abandons Miss Monroe and steals Mitchum's horse, Mitchum, Miss Monroe and the boy then head down the river to try to catch up with him.

"The Student Prince" is based on the famed Sigmund Romberg operetta about life in Old Heidelberg as a student. Featured are such familiar songs as "Serenade" and "Drink, Drink, Drink."

Miss Blyth has the role of the pretty barmaid with whom Prince Karl, played by Purdom, falls in love.

Both films are in color.

Prince Valiant
IN THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR
By Harold R. Foster

Our Story: EACH MORNING ALETA, QUEEN OF THE MISTY ISLES, MARCHES HER FAMILY DOWN TO THE SEASHORE FOR THEIR SWIMMING LESSON, AND THEY LEARN QUICKLY, FOR THEIR MOTHER IS EQUALLY QUICK WITH THE PALM OF HER HAND OR AN ENCOURAGING SMILE. IT IS ALSO RECORDED THAT MANY YOUNG GALLANTS BECAME INTERESTED IN SWIMMING INSTRUCTION AND CAME TO OBSERVE THEIR LOVELY QUEEN (IN A WET BATHING SUIT) GIVE LESSONS TO HER BLOOD.

IT HAS BEEN CLAIMED, AND WITH SOME LOGIC TOO, THAT ALETA'S MOTHER HAD BEEN A MERMAID, FOR BOTH WERE AS MUCH AT HOME IN THE WATER AS IN THE PALACE. NOW, THE LESSON OVER, ALETA GUIDES FAR OUT TO SEA.

PRINCE VALIANT COMES SAILING HOME FROM THE PILGRIMAGE TO THE HOLY LAND. AS THE SHIP NEARS THE MISTY ISLES HE SEES A SPOT OF GOLD GLEAMING AMONG THE SPARKLING WAVES.

WITH A SHOUT OF JOY HE FLINGS ASIDE HIS CLOTHES, HIS GARS AND HIS COMMON SENSE AND LEAPS INTO THE SEA.

IT IS A WET AND SALTY KISS, BUT QUITE SATISFACTORY.

NOW THAT HE CAN TAKE HER IN HIS ARMS, WHAT DOES THE POOR FOOL DO? HE KNEELS BEFORE HER, TONGUE-TIED, DUMB, HIS HEART POUNDING. BUT THEN HE NEED NOT SPEAK, HIS EYES ARE SAYING QUITE PLAINLY, "I LOVE YOU!"

"NOW THE BAND THINKS I'M GRAND! TAKE IT FROM ME - Halo is the Shampoo that Glorifies Your Hair!"

NOW IN NEW GOLD AND WHITE PACKAGE

THE LOON RANGER AND TONTO ARE INVESTIGATING RUMORS THAT CHIEF EAGLE WING HAS BOUGHT RIFLES FROM GUN-RUNNERS

LOOK! TRACKS OF INDIAN PONIES GO SOUTHWEST FROM CHEYENNE VILLAGE

WE'LL FOLLOW THEM. I'D RATHER QUESTION A FEW INDIANS THAN RIDE INTO EAGLE WING'S VILLAGE.

ME WONDER WHERE THEY GO?

THEY'RE RIDING TOWARD THE WAGON ROAD BETWEEN FORT SALLEN AND OSAGE.

HERE, TAKE THE REINS! TRY TO OUTDANCE THE INDIANS! I'LL USE THE GUN!

THESE ARE FAST HORSES. WE MAY GET AWAY--

I'LL DO MY BEST, BUT I CAN'T HANDLE HORSES!

STAY ON THE ROAD, GATES!

BUMP

CAN'T HELP HIM BY STOPPING! THE INDIANS WILL GET US BOTH!

ADVERTISMENT

"My neighbor is a perfect LAMB!"

What a darling baby! He's a darling--but what a job to keep him clean!

Look! I washed this suit 3 times, it's still stained!

But my dear, why not do what GOOD HOUSEKEEPING recommends? Use a heavy-duty chlorine bleach!

PUREX is grand for baby things. It sanitizes as it bleaches.

PUREX works! See how stain-free this suit is now!

PUREX will whiten your husbands shirts too. Sheets, towels... So many things!

YOU'RE A LAMB!

Use PUREX! It gets clothes so white...so safely!

The difference between a fairly clean wash and a spotless, dazzling white, germ-free wash is PUREX! Just a few pennies' worth works wonders. And you can trust even your delicate all-Nylon and Dacron underthings to PUREX--thanks to the exclusive Injradis process that makes PUREX 99.99% pure. Simply follow the directions on the label for perfect results. You couldn't ask for a better bleach!
