City re-districting asked to be considered, Satellite tabled

There were no comments drawn from city commissioners or from the citizens Monday night when Texas Rural Legal Aid attorney Randall Marshall requested the city to consider revamping elections for the city commission posts.

Only Mayor Wes Fisher spoke, thanking Marshall for his brief request which was translated into Spanish by TRLA attorney Viviano Patino. Fisher several times asked for comments from the commission and the audience.

Marshall said he came at the request of several Mexican American citizens "in the spirit of cooperation" with the city. He said the current atlarge by place system limits the ability for a Mexican American can-test" set forth in the recent Federal Voting Rights Act.

Marshall asked the city to look into dividin into districts and having only persons in those districts elect a candidate. He asked that the city not delay action in the matter, as the Hereford Independent School District did before it revamped its election process.

Representatives of the Hereford Satellite Center were disappointed by the commission consensus that perhaps the city hasn't a role in social programs.

Gary Phipps and Gene Brock asked the commission for $4,500 to help hire a third coordinator for the center since the state's closing of homes for the mentally handicapped didate to be placed on the commis- would mean more clients for the sion, thus falls short of the "affects" center. One question is frequently asked of both Pickens and Hance: "Are you going to run for governor?" Both claim they have not decided, but Hance is already running like a candidate. Pickens says "it's not likely" he'll run for the governor's seat, but he still leaves the door open on that possibility.

Another thing they have in common is that they're both Republicans. Hance switched to the GOP earlier this year after serving as the Democratic congressman for the 19th District, then losing a bid for the U.S. Senate. Pickens was a delegate at the Republican National Convention last year and was chairman of a fund-raising drive for President Reagan.

Since Gov. Mark White turned down an invitation to speak at the TPA meeting, Hance got in a few "barbs" on the issue. "I've had the opportunity lately on many occasions to fill in for Mark White when he won't make a speech," said Hance. "I may get so good as a

Most of hostages flying home today

WIESBADEN, West Germany (AP) - Most of the 39 Americans held hostage in Lebanon for 17 days fly home today wer holding emotional reunions with relatives and being declared fit by U.S. doctors in West Germany.

Navy Capt. Jay Coupe, spokesman for the Wiesbaden U.S. military hospital, said "most" of the exhostages would leave Frankfurt, West Germany, for Andrews Air Force Base, just outside Washington, D.C., at 1 p.m. (7 a.m. EDT) on a chartered TWA plane.

The White House announced that President Reagan would welcome the former hostages around 3 p.m. EDT today at Andrews.

Coupe could not say how many of the 39 were leaving on the TWA flight and said "some may have departed already.

Coupe said the TWA flight would take off from the U.S. Air Force Rhein-Main Base at Frankfurt.

The ex-hostages were flown to the Rhein-Main base Monday at dawn from Damascus, Syria, after they were released Sunday in Beirut by their Shiite Moslem captors who held them for 17 days.

The American Forces Radio Network (AFN) said in itst German broadcasts said the departure was decided on during a meeting of ex-

Building permits may break records May gave the totals a big boost

Construction in Hereford may reach a monetary record this year if the building pace continues for the last half of the year.

Year to date totals for 76 building permits issued by the city are at $5,603,950, according to the city files.

That six-month total already puts 1985 in the fourth place moneywise for permits. The biggest year for Hereford was 1976 when 284 permits were issued for a total of $7,473,850. The second best year was 1978 when 249 permits tallied up $6,095,980 in construction. In 1977, 305 permits meant $5,777,460 in building.

Last year 136 permits were issued for a total of $4,390,680.

The month of June saw 22 permits issued for a $289,500 total. Included in those permits was an addition to George Warner Seed Co. estimated at $129,000 and an addition to Hereford Day Care Center at Sixteenth and Blackfoot, for $53,000. One permit for a new residence was issued for $34,200.

Attorney refuses to represent county

EL PASO, Texas (AP) - County Attorney Luther Jones says he won't represent the county in a lawsuit filed over construction of a drug treatment center because he believes the Socorro residents who filed the suit are right.

The suit, filed in U.S. district court against the El Paso County and others, seeks to halt plans to operate the Aliviane drug treatment center now under construction in the Lower Valley community.

Among other things, the suit alleges that Socorro residents were never notified that a site near the community ball park was being considered for the project.

In a letter to County Judge Pat O'Rourke and the commissioners court, Jones said Socorro residents weren't notified of the construction and that O'Rourke had no legal authority to change the center's

FORT WORTH, Texas  $(\mathbf{AP}) - \mathbf{A}$  body found in a wooded area of north Fort Worth thay be that of an Arlington teen-ager who was reported missing Saturday morning, police said early today.

Allen Edward Bolden, 17, a lifeguard at the Fort Worth Boys Club, was last seen Friday night when he left the club for swimming practice at the University of Texas at Arlington, said city police spokesman Doug Clarke.

Bolden never showed up at UTA.

Clarke said police did not know the cause of death of the man found in a wooded section of Fort Worth Monday night. He said the body was partially decomposed.

Sunday, U.S. Customs officers stopped five men trying to drive Bolden's car across the border at Del Rio. Two Arlington police left for Del Rio Monday to question the men.

Arlington police spokesman Jim Willett called Bolden a "cleancut, all-America type kid."

Irving Sisson, 58, a Texas Department of Corrections inmate in Huntsville, is accused of writing two threatening letters last May to attorney Thomas W. Mills, who handled his 1982 theft cases, Assistant U.S. Attorney Chris Milner said Monday.

In the letters, Sisson demanded the return of the $1,000 retainer paid to Mills and said he was "dead serious" and would pursue the matter to its "final conclusion," Milner said.

Sisson also wrote that he hoped he didn't "have to refer this to a firm in Detroit as a Court of Last Resort," a reference to Sam "The Mustache" Norber, a friend of Sisson and reputedly a one-time member of the "Purple Gang" in Detroit, Milner said.

Milner said the attorney had arranged a 12-year plea bargain sentence for Sisson, but Sisson rejected it and chose instead to plead guilty. The judge then imposed a 50-year sentence.

Man convicted of kidnapping women

BOZEMAN, Mont. (AP) - A man convicted of murder in Texas enced Monday to 20 years in the state prison for kidnapping two Belgrade women in 1983.

District Court Judge Joseph Gary sentenced Danny P. Bible, 33, for binding and gagging Bible's former girlfriend and a babysitter, taking $780 of their money and fleeing in the babysitter's car. Bible pleaded guilty to two counts of aggravated kidnapping and one count of misdemeanor theft.

The sentences on the kidnapping and theft charges are to run concurrently with one another, and also are to run concurrently with the 25-year murder conviction sentence Bible faces from Mineral Wells in Palo Pinto County.

Assistant Gallatin County Attorney James McKenna said he felt the 20-year sentence was not enough. However, he said a tougher sentence may have jeopardized Bible's August 1984 murder conviction in Palo Pinto County.

Lebanese prisoners to be released

JERUSALEM (AP) - Defense Minister Yitzhak Rabin says Israel will release more than 300 Lebanese prisoners soon, but adds e decision is unrelated to the freeing of 39 Americans held hostage Shiite terrorists who hijacked a TWA jetliner on June 14 had demanded the release of 735 Lebanese in exchange for the release of the Americans. The 39 were freed Sunday.

Israel captured the Lebanese during its withdrawal from south ebanon, accusing them of plotting or carrying out attacks on Israeli mits. It freed 31 of them June 24.

Rabin said Monday that at a meeting of the Cabinet's security committee, "I proposed the release of 300 of the Lebanese either tomorrow or the day after tomorrow, as a continuation of our declared policy since we brought them to Israel on April 2."

Letters to the Editor

I would like to thank the volunteer who is responsible for my children being safe and sound in their beds tonight. Who it is, I don't know! So a blanket of thanks goes out to all who volunteer to teach in the Red Cross courses and Scouting programs.

The reason is this:

We just returned from a wonderful vacation in the beautiful, cool mountains of Colorado. While there we went rafting on the Rio Grande. What a thrill! The river was running faster and higher this year because of the unusually abundant snowfall this winter. We had gone through some wild rapids and picked up quite a bit of water in the raft. Instead of going under as with the others, we were pulled into one of the metal supports of the bridge. We were thrown from our raft. Then to be able to breath in spite of the freezing, numbing effect of the water and last of all, the struggle to shore against the swift current. All of these things were working against us. I could hear Rusty yelling for help and I could see Ted ahead of Rusty, But, where was Chris? I yelled for Chris and before I knew it he was beside me saying, "I'm O.K. Mom, are you?" Then he was gone in front of me. He swam to catch one of the three cushions that was thrown from the raft. He got it to Rusty and pulled him on it, all the time he was talking to him and reassuring him that everything was fine. (Rusty had hit his leg on one of the big rocks in the river and he was very scared). Then he swam them both to the shore, where Ted helped them and me out. We were all cold, wet, and

So, who do I thank? The many volunteers who work all summer teaching swimming and water safety to children and adults? Or, the Scout leaders who work with the first aid and aquadics programs? What about the countless others who at one time or another mentioned water salety to my children.

YOU ALL deserve and receive my deepest heartfelt THANKS! Keep up the good work, I am sure there are others who would say the same.

There were eight domestic fights investigated, two of which resulted in violence, and several incidents of criminal trespass or criminal mischief.

Juveniles were accused of discharging fireworks in the city limits and shooting dogs with a BB gun, but no arrests were made. Another youth was taken home to his mother after he was found wandering the streets intoxicated.

Other juveniles problems included a teenager who said he was harrassed and threatened by members of a gang calling themselves "The Convicts", and a father who wanted his unruly son put in jail overnight for letting the air out of the tires of the family's pickup truck.

Arrests included twelve for public intoxication, two for driving while intoxicated, and one each for driving with no liability insurance, driving without a license, paint sniffing, violation of probation and theft under

The city will spend $25,000 less out of its pocket than expected for airport repairs, thanks to an amendment to the Texas Aeronautics Commission contract for previous work. A bid for repair of the runway was awarded for $56,000, but now will be supplemented by the TAC money by $25,000. The damaged runway is to be rebuilt to accomodate heavier jets.

Leftover money from a purchase of a street department loader and estimated costs for equipment rental will be used to purchase a used scraper. The scraper will be used to do the work which would have required a rental unit and become useful at the city landfill. City manager Darwin McGill said specifications on the bids will include a day of use to check out the quality of the scraper before purchase.

The commission gave unanimous approval to allow the architect for the new fire station, Tom Mills, to advertise for bids.

It was also voted to close the culde-sac section of Sunset Drive south of Fifteenth Street so that Rick Brown may begin construction of apartments on the tract.

The annual audit report prepared by Brown, Graham & Co. was accepted. Donna West presented the commission with the audit which covers May 1, 1984, through April 30,

"Having a good time, that's what this God-given game is all about, not strikes or drug-testing," said the Yankee Clipper, who was accorded the largest ovation during pre-game player introductions for the fourth Cracker Jack Old Timers Baseball Classic.

DiMaggio and the other former stars who took part in Monday night's game, won by the National League 7-3, enjoyed talking about their playing days, but a few cast their attention on the strike threat facing the modern game.

"If there is going to be a strike, it will be a long, tough one," said Hank Aaron, baseball's all-time home run king.

Willie Stargell, a recent retiree after two decades with the Pittsburgh Pirates, sounded a note in defense of the players.

"I haven't heard anybody say they can't afford to pay them," Stargell said.

Sandy Koufax, one of 20 Hall of Famers participating in the game, recalled an earlier, two-man strike that he and teammate Don Drysdale staged against the Dodgers over 20 years ago.

"Now that was a very small union, two members," Koufax said. "Just couple of friends who said 'let's see what happens.' It wasn't about money, but self-respect. In those days, money wasn't much of an issue. You either signed a contract or went home.

Aaron, Bill Mazeroski, Joe Torre and Tommy Davis slugged homers for the National League, which won for the third time in four games. Jim Lemon, who played in Washington before the Senators moved to Minnesota, had the only homer for the

NEW YORK (AP) - Second baseman Ryne Sandberg of the Chicago Cubs was named NL Player of the Week for the period ending June 30. Sandberg hit safely in all six Cubs' games last week, going 13-for-26 for a .500 batting average. He also scored eight runs and drove in four.

NEW YORK (AP) - Shortstop Spike Owen of the Seattle Mariners, who hit .464 with two triples and a homer last week, was named American League Player of the American League. "You come out so that the fans can see you do it one more time. It gives them one more thrill," said Aaron, who drilled an Early Wynn pitch over the fence in the first inning for a 2-1 NL lead. "The pitch was a fastball about the same speed my bat was going through the strike zone."

Wynn, who gave up a home run to Aaron last year, took it in stride.

"With all the homers I gave up in my career, I'm not going to be embarrassed about one more," he said.

Cook's baby has been born. But with that exception, the 25-year-old righthander felt almost as good in his second start Monday night as he picked up his second victory, this time a 10-5 triumph against the California Angels.

"I was still a little nervous out there tonight," said Cook. "I made a few mistakes and this is the bigs, so when you make mistakes you usually get penalized. But we scored enough runs so it didn't matter."

Ranger Pete O'Brien backed the rookie pitcher while pulling out of a batting slump, hitting a home run and two doubles and driving in five runs.

Cook pitched six innings, giving up all five California runs on 10 hits, including Ruppert Jones' three-run homer in the sixth. Dave Rozema went 2 2-3 innings before Dave Schmidt came on with the bases loaded and threw a double-play ball to Juan Beniquez for his second save.

Vukovich gave Cleveland a 3-0 lead in the second inning when he blasted a pitch from Ken Schrom 420 feet for his second home run of the season after a leadoff walk to Pat Tabler and one of Tony Bernazard's three singles. In the seventh, Jerry Willard doubled a run home and Brook Jacoby added a sacrifice fly.

Winning pitcher Vern Ruhle allowed seven hits in 6 1-3 innings.

Bochy's homer lifts Padres past Astros, 6-5

Baseball standings

By KEN RAPPOPORT

AP Sports Writer

Nolan Ryan and Bruce Bochy go back a few years. Once a battery on. the Houston Astros, the two don't see quite so much of each other

But Ryan probably won't forget Monday night's meeting. One swing of Bochy's bat deposited a Ryan pitch into the left field stands to lift the San Diego Padres to a 6-5 victory over the Astros.

Bochy's heroics capped San Diego's comeback in which it scored single runs in the eighth, ninth and 10th innings.

"I gave him a pitch he could hit out of the ballpark," said Ryan, who would have given way to a reliever had there been an 11th inning. "It wasn't where it was supposed to be."

Bochy was inserted in the game as a defensive replacement for starting catcher Terry Kennedy after San Diego Manager Dick Williams used a pinch runner for Kennedy late in the Williams said Bochy had predicted a game-winning homer to his bullpen mates early in the game.

"I didn't say it like that," Bochy said. "I told LaMarr (Hoyt) to hold them and we'll battle back. You know how you talk in the bullpen. It was more tounge-in-check than anything. I wasn't even in the game, so you can't predict that."

Bochy said his familiarity with Ryan didn't provide much of an edge. Bochy caught Ryan from 1978 and Carmelo Martinez belted a twoto 1980 in Houston. Ryan, 8-6, struck out seven Padres to bring him to within 10 of 4,000 in his career.

"I played there three years so I know he's a power pitcher and he's going to go after you in that spot," he said. "But as a catcher you see him from a different angle. This was only the second time I've faced Nolan in a game."

The Padres trailed 5-4 going into the ninth inning, but loaded the bases with none out off Ryan and tied the game on pinch-hitter Kurt Bevacqua's sacrifice fly.

Hoyt gave up 11 hits in the seven innings he worked, six of them in the first two innings when the Astros jumped to a 4-0 lead. Rich Gossage, 2-1, picked up the win in relief.

Three of the Padres' hits off Ryan came in the bottom of the second when the Padres scored three runs to cut the Astros' margin to 4-3.

Craig Reynolds, who had three hits, singled to start the Astros' first and was balked to second. Dennis Walling followed with his fourth home run of the year to make it 2-0.

In the Astros' second, Glenn Davis doubled and went to third on a single by Mark Bailey. After Ryan sacrificed Bailey to second, Bill Doran followed with a sacrifice fly and Reynolds then hit a run-scoring single to give Houston a 4-0 lead.

Ryan walked Graig Nettles with one out in the bottom of the second run to cut Houston's lead to 4-2.

When you bounce back against a pitcher like that, you put something in his mind. You let him know 'Hey, we're still here. It's not over yet,' Martinez said of his 11th homer of the Andre Dawson's tie-breaking RBI single in the 10th inning lifted Montreal over St. Louis in a battle between the two front-runners in the East Division.

The victory moved the Expos within a half-game of the division-leading Cardinals. Pirates 1, Mets 0

Rick Reuschel and John Candelaria teamed on a six-hitter and Marvell Wynne lined a run-scoring double in the second inning as Pittsburgh beat New York and sent the Mets down to their sixth straight loss.

Reuschel, 6-1, allowed five of the New York hits, striking out seven and walking two.

The Pirates, making the most of only four hits, scored the game's only run when Wynne doubled off Sid Fernandez, 2-5.

Cubs 3, Phillies 1

Ray Fontenot scattered seven hits in seven innings and catcher Steve Lake squeezed home the winning run with a sixth-inning bunt as Chicago beat Philadelphia.

Fontenot, 3-3, struck out four and walked two before giving way to Lee Smith, who pitched the last two innings for his 17th save.

Smith struck out five batters, including beleaguered slugger Mike Schmidt with runners on first and second with two out in the ninth.

Schmidt, who criticized Philadelphia fans in an article published in Montreal Saturday as "beyond help and uncontrollable," turned boos into cheers when he took the field for warmups wearing a long flowing wig and dark glasses. He had two singles in four at-bats, hitting in his 10th straight game. Dodgers 8, Reds 1

Braves 4, Giants 1 Dale Murphy hit his 19th home run and rookie Zane Smith allowed three hits in 7 2-3 innings to pace Atlanta over San Francisco.

Murphy's homer, a two-run shot off loser Mike Krukow, 5-6, in the third inning, gave the Braves a 2-0 lead and enabled him to tie Pedro Guerrero of Los Angeles and Oakland's Dave Kingman for the major-league lead.

Oilers sign Rozier to 4-year contract

HOUSTON (AP) - The Houston Oilers ended a year-long pursuit of former Heisman Trophy winner Mike Rozier by signing the running back to a four-year contract that will pay him a reported $2.25 million.

Rozier, who finished second among USFL runners this season with 1,361 yards for the Jacksonville Bulls, became available to Houston when he bought out his contract with the Bulls. The Oilers held his NFL rights after they made him their first pick, and the second overall, in the 1984 supplemental draft.

"It had been raining for three days straight," Montoya explained, "and the building caved in." He had been in business for almost eight months in Tucumcari, N.M. when the shop building literally collapsed.

"It was not safe for the customers," Montoya emphasized, "and the building was condemned."

After closing the shop doors in a town that the Montoyas were very fond of, the family relocated to Hereford.

Why Hereford?

Montoya said he had heard shoe repair was expensive in Hereford. "I want the customers to know they can trust their boots with me."

He also claims he has the best shoe repair around. "I repair for a cheaper price, not to mention that I have the shoes ready on time."

Montoya was taught the trade from his father who in turn learned the skills from his father and Juan's great-grandfather.

His shop, El Vaquero, located on Fourth St., is known of its' quality work throughout the area.

Montoya's father manages the original El Vaquero boot repair shop in Plainview. They have been in business for nearly a century and

While in Tucumcari, Montoya received an award recognizing him for outstanding and unselfish service given to the Tucumcari area vocational school for which he made many repairs.

"When a customer tells me, 'this is the only pair of shoes that have ever fit', this is my reward," Montoya beamed. "It is gratifying to know that I have done the best job possible for that person and the person really appreciates my work.'

Because of his respect for teachers, 'teachers form our childrens' minds', Montoya gives a lifelong discount to them.

He feels that teachers help shape children in their early years he likes to give back what he has received. "Instead of taking all the time, I like

Whether its following a doctors prescription for orthopedic shoes, mending a boot or even fixing a trampoline, the Montoyas take great pride in their work. Valerie, his wife, helps Montoya out a lot with shoeing, skills which her husband has taught her. The Montoyas share everything they make throughout the family.

Along with creating all kinds of stitchery and leatherwork, Montoya knows how to repair handbags, even mink coats which takes considerable time to mend. "The fur is so fine you have to cover all the seams, and reline everything," he noted.

Every job done at El Vaquero is satisfaction guaranteed day after day'. Customers return because they know that repairs will be done correctly the first time. "Our prices have not changed in over six years," he explained.

His hobbies include hunting for deer and fishing for bass. He does wood carvings and taxology just for himself and exhibited a handsome pair of deer horns mounted on a wood carving.

John is so courageous. He tries each day to make his life better. He hopes to get a job, marry, have a family like a normal person.

We have had many sleepless nights son is so unpredictable. Every day we tell ourselves tomorrow will be better. Do you have any words of encouragement?--STRUGGLING PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: It's sad that your friends and neighbors are so unsympathetic, but don't judge them too harshly. When they see the police coming to "help" you, they are probably concerned for their own safety.

On the brighter side, medical science has made tremendous strides in the field of pharmacology for the mentally ill. Depressed people on the proper medication are able to lead normal lives. Even though they have occasional episodes of bizarre behavior, they can be extremely productive and highly successful.

An organization for both depressed people and manic depressives was started by two patients and a psychiatrist in Chicago in 1978. There are now 40 groups throughout the United States and Canada. They and their families emotional support and information on the best doctors and other health care professionals.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was amused by "Inquisitive in Long Island," who confessed to snooping in medicine cabinets in every home she visits.

I assume the writer is a woman by her question, "How about ladies who check out closets?" She asks if perhaps something is wrong with her. "I snoop," she says, "to find out if I am a better or a worse housekeeper than the people I visit."

Here's a question for that lady: What difference does it make? You seem to be measuring your selfworth by your housekeeping abilities. Can you imagine someone standing around at your funeral saying, "She was really a terrific housekeeper"?

Most people would rather be remembered for something more significant than tidy closets. I know a few women like "Inquisitive" and I believe they have a problem that will never be resolved until they reexamine their values. They must realize that people are more important than things or they will be compelled to find fault with every housekeeper to convince themselves that they are better .- I LIKE PEO-PLE, NOT CLOSETS (NASHVILLE)

DEAR NASHVILLE: Your letter will be a great upper for a lot of sloppy housekeepers, but that's OK. Better to read to a child or help someone in need than have sparkling mirrors and perfectly organized closets.

Southwestern bell Telephone cares about children. That's why the telephone company is involved in a number of projects to help protect and inform Texas children.

Phone company employees have fingerprinted hundreds of youngsters for identification purcards provide parents with an additional means of identifying missing children. For instance, if someone reports seeing a missing child, police can check for fingerprints to match against the child identification card kept by the parents.

The "Bell Quarter Keeper" further assists child safety. The Quarter Keeper holds a 25-cent piece for a coin call if needed. The Quarter Keeper also has space for recording a name, address and phone number. Southwestern Bell Telephone provides Quarter Keepers at no charge.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Community Relations Teams across Texas have been providing safety talks to local schools and children's groups. The presentations to young audiences include how to use the phone in case of an emergency, how to recognize an emergency, and telephone etiquette. Much of the same materials also is provided to adults.

The company makes wide distribution of a Southwestern Bell Tele-Help booklet about home security measures for the entire family. Several other useful booklets also are available through the Tele-Help program, Southwestern Bell's ongoing customer education program.

DEAR POLLY - Is there any way to remove apple-juice stains from clothes that have already been put through the washer and dryer? Is there a proper way to pre-treat the stain before washing in the machine?

DEAR LAURA — Once the stain has been washed and dried, it probably is set. However, you might try sponging it with 3 percent hydrogen peroxide (test on a hidden place first). The recommended treatment for fruit stains of any type is to stretch the stained area of the fabric over a bowl (securing it with rubber bands or string), then pour boiling water through the stain. This should remove the stain and the garment can then be the stain and the garment can then be washed as usual. — POLLY

Group of deans plan to educate teachers

LUBBOCK - More education to better prepare teachers is a good idea, but the urgent need in Texas is preparing more teachers to curb a shortage, according to Dean Richard E. Ishler, of the Texas Tech University College of Education.

Ishler said he supports the studies being done at some universities to find out how to better prepare teachers through more education, but the goal to extend teacher preparation programs to six years is unrealistic.

A group of education deans from 28 universities across the country are proposing a plan to educate teachers as highly trained professionals. The group, called The Holmes Group, is beginning a five-year study of a plan for educating teachers that requires a six-year training program to certify teachers.

"This is not the answer to the teacher shortage," he said. "The rest of us will try to respond to the times. We will have to prepare more Ishler said he is not against such studies because they may provide answers needed in the future.

"These 28 institutions should be doing the study," he said. "They are leaders in research and should be trying something different."

There are numerous other studies on how to better prepare teachers being conducted in the country, Ishler noted. Among them are studies being conducted at Texas Tech. The mass of research began because problems in schools have been attributed to illqualified teachers, he said.

The major problem with requiring a six-year education program for teachers is the low salary that can be expected at the end of that program,

"It is unrealistic to think that a teacher would settle for a salary of $15,000-$20,000 after spending six years preparing for a career," he said. "They could be engineers, lawyers or doctors and make more money."

There are educators who believe that higher salaries will naturally follow higher teaching standards, Ishler said. Others, including Ishler, believe teachers must be guaranteed an adequate compensation before beginning a six-year program.

The question is whether a school would be able to pay a more qualified teacher more than another first year teacher, he said. Unions and teacher organizations are opposed to differential pay among teachers. The program proposed by the Holmes Group requires a bachelor's degree in any field or subject, but not in education. The teacher would then need a master's degree in education and an internship. Further graduate study could go toward a higher career standing as a professional studied attempts to educate the career teacher.

Ishler believes that four years of education without any courses in education is a mistake. Teachers need education courses concurrent with courses in specialized areas, he teacher all at once, Ishler said. A better system, he said, is continuous education with teachers returning to school to stay current.

A false notion in education, Ishler said, is that teachers who don't succeed don't know their subject. The fact is that teachers who don't succeed don't understand children and how they learn. They lack teaching skills-not knowledge, he said.

Ishler said he is looking forward to the results of the study and would like to hear about other studies on teacher education.

"On one hand, you have to argue for high standards, but on the other hand, if enough teachers aren't available, the schools will hire someone with lesser credentials." Ishler said.

Texas Most Wanted Fugitive

IRVING, Texas - A dying man's declaration has resulted in Marcello Santoya, Jr., being placed on the Texas Most Wanted List.

Investigators say Alan Carner, 19, was fatally shot in broad daylight as he was walking down a street in Irving on January 13, 1982.

While paramedics vainly tried to save Carner's life as he was being rushed to a nearby hospital in an ambulance, the young man told a police officer than Santoya was the person responsible for the shooting.

Detectives say Carner had been dating an acquaintance of Santoya's and that this had created bad blood between the two young men. There had been several altercations involving the pair.

Carner told investigators just before he died that around 4:00 p.m. on January 13, Santoya drove up next to him as he was walking down the street and shot him one time in the

On February 15, 1982, a Dallas County Grand Jury indicted Santoya for Craner's murder.

This week a reward of up to $1,000 is being offered for information leading to the capture of Santoya,, who has eluded police for more than three years.

Anyone with information on the location of Santoya is asked to call the Texas Crime Stoppers Advisory Council toll-free at 1-800-252-8477 or their local Crime Stoppers program. Callers do not have to reveal their identities.

Santoya is 5-6, 130 pounds with black hair and brown eyes. He will turn 24 on July 4.

Detectives say Santoya has a string of arrests and his criminal record includes a conviction for obstructing police. However, since Carner's shooting, Santoya has avoided any contact with the law. He is believed to still be hiding out in Texas.

Texas Most Wanted is a cooperative effort between Texas Crime Stoppers and the Department of Public Safety.

Two companies agree to pay $800,000

DALLAS (AP) - Diamond spokesman Ken Haseley, "par-Shamrock Corp. and a company in ticularly since the complaint which it has an interest will pay an $800,000 penalty for improper handling of wastes containing PCBs.

The Environmental Protection

Agency said Monday it reached a settlement with Diamond Shamrock and SDS Biotech Corp., in which Diamond Shamrock has an equity interest.

The companies will pay the penalty for improper disposal, storage, marking and record-keeping of the polychlorinated biphenyls and will spend $300,000 more to improve storage and handling of the chemicals at their Green's Bayou plant in Houston, according to the EPA.

"We are pleased that we were able to negotiate a fair settlement," said Diamond Shamrock Chemicals Co.

However, Haseley denied that Diamond Shamrock disposed of PCB wastes improperly.

EPA Regional Administrator Dick Whittington said the penalty was based upon "our final assessment of all factors in the matter - including the companies' cooperation and willingness to take actions."

EPA officials cited Diamond Sharnrock last September under provisions of the Toxic Substances Control Act. The agency said SDS Biotech Corp. was included in the settlement because it has owned the plant since July 1983.

Agency officials said the consent agreement details unauthorized disposal of 1,317 drums of PCB waste known to have been sent to the TECO site in Robstown and to the Chemical Waste Management Inc. site in Port

For overpricing

WASHINGTON (AP) - With a new $2 billion decision against the Exxon Corp., the government has collected or received judgments totaling more than $4 billion for over-pricing by the oil industry during the

A special federal court ruled Monday that the world's largest company overcharged its customers by $895.5 million for crude oil from its

Hawkins Field in east Texas from

But the Temporary Emergency

Court of Appeals agreed with the Reagan administration that "it would be impossible to identify the ultimate victims of Exxon's overcharges due to the pervasive system of price controls in the petroleum in-

The court, therefore, ordered Exx-on to pay the $895.5 million plus more than $1 billion in accrued interest to a special Treasury escrow account.

Money from that account should be distributed to the 50 states for energy conservation programs, the court

Homes burn in Palo Alto, Ojai threatened

SAN DIEGO (AP) - An outbreak of fires that has destroyed or damaged nearly 100 houses crackled today across more than 56,000 acres of Arizona and California, spurred by triple-digit temperatures, tinder-dry hrush and erratic winds, authorities

Arson was blamed Monday for the worst residential fire in San Diego history and was suspected in a Palo Alto blaze that burned 10 to 15 houses and briefly stranded 50 schoolchildren.

Thousands of people were evacuated Sunday from Normal Heights in San Diego, where a fast-moving fire destroyed 64 houses and Five new fires broke out across the damaged 20 others, leaving 150 people homeless and doing $8.5 million damage, authorities said. "Without a doubt, it's the largest loss of single-family dwellings in the history of San Diego," said fire spokesman Logan Bellows.

Firefighters had to contend with sizzling temperatures — a high of 107 broke a 101-year-old record Monday in Los Angeles, the second day such a mark had fallen - and it was 117 in state Monday, burning 10 to 15 houses in Palo Alto and threatening Ojai, 60 miles northwest of Los

About 200 firefighters dodged scorpions Monday battling a blaze that burned more than 6,000 acres near the Baboquivari Mountains, 50 miles southwest of Tucson, Ariz. Lightning was the suspected cause, said Dale Brown, a fire dispatcher for the State Land Department's forestry diviAt least 50 firefighters suffered minor injuries in California.

The state's largest fire - a stubborn 20,000-acre blaze that began Thursday near Palm Springs - and an 8,300-acre blaze east of San Diego near Mount Miguel, were expected to be contained today, firefighters said.

The 100-acre Palo Alto fire, 25 miles southeast of San Francisco, briefly stranded 50 schoolchildren. A man was arrested for investigation of arson but was released after being held briefly, city clerk Ann Tanner

In Ventura County, the U.S. Forest Service set up a line to protect the 10,000 residents of Ojai from a 3,500-acre blaze that forced evacuation of the 50 residents of rural Wheeler Springs and people from nearby campgrounds.

Fire spokeswoman Joanna Messer said the threat to Ojai subsided late Monday, but that there was concern it would flare again. The fire was listed as out of control.

Gov. George Deukmejian declared a state of emergency Monday in San Diego County so the state can apply for Federal Emergency Management assistance, such as temporary housing, low-interest loans and grants for fire victims.
