Heavy rains 'timely', lightning hits Stanton

Deaf Smith County farmers say the one to three inches of rain in the past 48 hours came just the way they like it — slowly.

"My rain gauge showed 1.30 this morning," said Eldred Brown of the Bootleg community. "It fell nice and gentle, and the ground soaked it right up."

Brown said the rain was good for wheat which is just beginning to turn golden, and also beneficial to newly planted milo. He said farmers hope for the weather to clear soon, however because wheat harvest should begin by the middle of the month.

For sugarbeet farmers, it was "a very timely rain," according to Cal Jones of Holly Sugar. "Most beets were up past the thinning stage. We were ready for an irrigation, and this sure helped."

While damaging winds and heavy rains were reported in some parts of the Panhandle, Deaf Smith County apparently escaped with few adverse effects from the two days of storms. The only damage report came from Stanton Junior High School, where a tall brick chimney was struck by lightning around 1 p.m. Tuesday. The precarious structure was dismantled by a crane because school district officials feared the damaged chimney would fall apart and send bricks tumbling to the ground. The tin roof of a metal walkway at the school caved in due to the few bricks that did fall.

While water did accumulate in Hereford's usual low spots, there were no reports of roads being closed as in Hale, Motley and Lamb counties.

The Deaf Smith County Sheriff's department had to contend once again with flooding, caused by open areas under construction.

The KPAN studios gauge showed 2.02 inches of rain since 7 a.m. Tuesday, a follow-up to the .11 inches received Monday in downtown Hereford.

The biggest rainfall report, three inches, was from the Owens Farms five miles east of Hereford.

Easter reported a two-inch rain, while 1.15 was recorded at the McCabe farm east of Dawn.

There was just over two inches gauged at Summerfield, while Adrian had only .09.

There is a 30 percent chance of showers through tonight with rain expected to end by morning.

TDA hopes to use funds for retraining farmers

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Department of Agriculture hopes some federal job training money the state receives can be used to help thousands of farmers and ranchers driven off the land by the agricultural recession.

The department is proposing that a share of the $7.5 million in federal funds Texas should get this fall for dislocated workers can be used for training, career counseling and job placement for farmers.

"Texas continues to lose more than 100 family farmers and ranchers a week," Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower said Tuesday. "Many of the producers we're losing are age 35 or younger."

Gary Keith, an agriculture department official, said officials aren't certain how many farmers might need the help, but said, "Certainly it has to be in the thousands."

At the department's request, the state's Job Training Coordinating Council has agreed that retraining services are needed by the displaced farmers and ranchers, Hightower said.

Seven states already offer such assistance to farmers, he said. They are Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, North Dakota and South Dakota.

Andy Welch, a spokesman for the agriculture department, said TDA officials will make a formal proposal to the Job Training Coordinating Council in August for extending job training services to displaced farmers and ranchers. A request for funding also will be made at that time, Welch said.

Hightower said he hoped some of the state's federal job training money then will be made available so programs for farmers and ranchers could begin on Oct. 1.

Job training, counseling and placement would be coordinated by the Texas Department of Community Af-

Lightning Target

The bolt of lightning that damaged this chimney on the west side of Stanton Junior High School Tuesday was heard by "everyone in the neighborhood," according to assistant school superintendent Larry Wartes. He said several construction experts around town told him they had never seen brick so badly damaged by lightning. The bolt, which struck shortly before 1 p.m., sent bricks through a metal walkway canopy at left. Wartes guessed that the smokestack, which was in use, was about 18 feet tall. He said the replacement for the 60-year-old structure probably will not be quite so tall.

Views vary on Tuesday's prayer in school ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some members of the religious right are so outraged over the newest Supreme Court ruling on prayer in the schools that they are calling it "an act of war against this nation's religious heritage."

But to civil libertarians, Tuesday's decision is "a major victory to keep religious activity out of the nation's public schools."

The court fueled the controversy anew with a ruling that forbids daily moments of silence if students are told they may pray during that time. The decision, 6-3, strongly reaffirmed the court's 1962 ban on organized prayer in public schools.

Among conservative members of Congress, the immediate reaction was a vow to renew the push for a constitutional amendment to allow group prayers in public schools. "We must hold hearings as soon as we can ... on the silent prayer amendment," Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, said. "The real issue isn't the form of the prayer. It's ending the governmental ban on school prayer ... which is what is offensive to most people."

At the Justice Department, spokesman Terry Eastland said, "We regret that the court did not agree with our position in the

Construction to start in July

Construction on the new Smith Food & Drug Center, to be located at Hwy. 385 and 15th Street, is scheduled to start in July, it was announced here Tuesday by Tom Gilmore, Smith's southwest region project manager.

Gilmore, based in Albuquerque, N.M., said he planned to let bids in June and start building in July. He and Gary Polage, project architect, were in Hereford Tuesday to visit the site and discuss construction details with City of Hereford officials.

Smith's Food & Drug Centers, with headquarters in Salt Lake City, has about 90 stores in six states—Utah, Nevada, Wyoming, Idaho, New Mexico and Texas. Gilmore said the company is expanding in Texas, with other stores currently being planned at Plainview and Brownfield.

Gilmore said the Hereford store would be the largest in the company's southwest region, which includes New Mexico and Texas.

The Hereford store will have almost 50,000 square feet of space and will include a pharmacy, bakery and deli. The building will be of masonry construction with steel frame. Smith's has 17 stores in Texas—15 in EL Paso and one each in Fort Stockton and Pecos.

Smith's announced plans for a

Travels promoting tax plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — As President Reagan embarks today on another trip to promote his tax simplification plan, a Democratic leader is accusing him of "preaching one thing and practicing another" by making partisan speeches on the tax issue.

Reagan was to speak today and Thursday at fund-raising events for Republican senators seeking reelection in Oklahoma, Georgia and Alabama. That, according to Sen. George Mitchell of Maine, chairman of the Senate Democratic Campaign Committee, smacks of partisanship.

"The president is preaching one thing and practicing another," Mitchell said Tuesday. "In Washington,

Four juveniles arrested

Hereford police arrested four juveniles Tuesday, one for drunkenness and the other three in connection with criminal mischief at Blue Water Garden Apartments.

There was also one arrest for no driver's license and no liability insurance. Incident reports included a domestic disturbance and a civil dispute over money owed.

A woman was treated and released at Deaf Smith General Hospital for minor cuts to her wrists after she apparently attempted suicide.

Shotgun reported stolen

The Deaf Smith County Sheriff's office took one report, that of a stolen shotgun.

Ray Brown of Summerfield said the gun, valued at $300, was taken while his pickup was parked on South Hwy. 385 in Hereford.

City spraying to begin

The city's first aerial application of insecticide of the season will be Friday or Saturday morning if weather permits.

The city spraying helps in control of mosquitoes and flies.

Hollywood has noticed the plight of family farms and making box office hay with some films about life on the farm. The movies supposedly tell how tough things can be for those who till the soil.

America's farmers certainly need some sympathy and all the support they can get, but the situation is not so simple as Hollywood makes it out to be. The film-makers still have the idea that farmers are getting a free ride on government money, but they seem to conclude that it is okay because the family farm deserves to be saved.

Three of these films have been in the spotlight—"Country", "Places in the Heart", and "The River". The story of "Country" is about an Iowa farm wife whose family is being forced off their land for failure to pay back a government loan. The film portrays the triumphs of faith and family over greed and official indifference.

Jessica Lange stars in the picture and claims she has become sympathetic with the plight of the farmers. As evidence of this, she appeared before a congressional committee last month to make an emotional plea for the small family farm.

What some of the city slickers can't get through their heads is that the farmer is not after a government handout—he's after a fair price for his products. The government continues to maintain a cheap food policy in this country, and we believe that's the big hurdle in coming up with a solution to the ag problems.

Congress needs to solve the problem, but if Hollywood can come up with a solution, more power to 'em!

Axle Deep Street

Heavy rains always mean axle deep puddles at Moreman and U.S. 385 in Hereford. "Swimming holes" such as this may become a thing of the past once the State Department of Highways commences a road renovation project on U.S.

385. Hereford city manager Darwin McGill said the department will resurface the highway, while the city will provide new curb and guttering and a revamped storm drainage system. The work is expected to begin later this year.

Judge won't ban polygraphs

HOUSTON (AP) — A state employees union should have acted sooner if it wanted to protest the administration of lie detector tests to Texas prison guards, a federal judge says.

The Texas State Employees Union filed papers with U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice in January arguing the polygraph tests violated guards' constitutional and privacy rights.

But Justice on Tuesday refused to halt the tests, which are given to both guards and inmates when investigating prisoners' brutality complaints.

"It seems clear that the applicants (union) have been, at the least, less than diligent in asserting their interests in this civil action," Justice wrote.

Justice said the union should have raised its arguments against the tests earlier, and added that attorneys for the state and plaintiff inmates signed an agreement over the issue 14 months ago.

The court agreement, part of an attempt to end assaults against prisoners by Texas Department of Corrections officers, allows the tests during brutality investigations. Under the agreement, an employee will be fired for refusing to comply with a TDC order requiring him to undergo a polygraph test.

Inmate says "love" reason for slaying

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — A Texas prison inmate told investigators he stabbed a female guard to death because he loved her and "couldn't live without her," an officer investigating the case says.

Minnie Houston, 41, was found dead about 9:30 p.m. Monday in a bathroom adjoining an employee dining room near the Texas Department of Corrections Ellis I Unit outside Huntsville.

Billy Linville, who investigates TDC matters for the Walker County sheriff's office, said Ellis inmate Ramon Mata Jr. admitted to the slaying Tuesday in a six-page confession.

Mata, 36, serving 30 years for a Pecos County murder, was transferred to Walker County Jail, where he was being held on a capital murder charge in the guard's death.

According to his confession, Mata claimed he killed Ms. Houston because he loved her and he "couldn't live without her," Linville said. "I guess he had some kind of intimate feeling toward her ... He's living in a fantasy world. That's my opinion."

Ms. Houston, a TDC employee since October 1979, was assigned to supervise the seven-member crew of inmate trustees — which included Mata — at the dining area, TDC spokesman Charles Brown said.

Mata was spotted leaving the building at the time of the stabbing, Brown said. He then drove Ms. Houston's automobile to the main prison unit where he turned himself in to prison officials, Brown said.

Investigators said the guard had been stabbed about 10 times from behind with a 15-inch butcher knife. The weapon was found in Ms. Houston's car, and Mata's clothes were bloody, officials said.

Teacher turns over bonus check

AUSTIN (AP) — As her first official act, the new president of the Austin Association of Teachers turned over her career ladder bonus check to help fund a legal battle with the school district over the bonus system that many teachers say is unfair.

Donna New, who took office over the weekend, said her first official act was to help start the Career Ladder Fairness Fund. She gave it her $1,145.38 check — a $1,500 bonus less taxes and retirement.

She said the association will use part of the fund for a planned legal fight with the Austin Independent School District to obtain selection criteria used by the district's five-member career ladder committee.

The career ladder, one of the major elements of last year's state school reform law, rewards better teachers with additional money above their regular salary levels.

Ms. New said district officials told the association that they would not issue the selection criteria because the requirements are so complex they wouldn't be meaningful to anyone unfamiliar with them.

The remainder of the money may be used to support what Ms. New called "friends of education" for the school board.

Last week, the Austin school district sent bonus checks to 1,340 teachers and placed them on the second step of a four-level career ladder.

Bush touched by tornado survivors

WHEATLAND, Pa. (AP) — A shirtless Irvin Moldovan sat on a chair before a heap of scrap that was once his home and offered a strawberry to Vice President George Bush, who was touched by the courage of survivors in this tornado-battered industrial hamlet.

"I'm alive. My family's alive. You don't stand back and feel sorry. You have to push ahead," said Moldovan, 62.

Bush, touring the destruction Tuesday from last week's killer storms, took the fruit and gave the white-haired man, who offered to sell his house for 27 cents, an autographed pocketknife stamped with the vice presidential seal.

Later, speaking in front of the roofless ruins of a church, Bush praised those digging out.

"In spite of the devastation, you can't help but feel a sense of pride at the courage of the people as they fight back. It inspires the whole country," a coatless Bush said after a one-hour walk through the rubble. "We must do everything we can to help the human suffering and help this courageous community that wants to fight back."

Sixteen counties in Pennsylvania and Ohio were declared federal disaster areas by President Reagan on Monday, making them available for federal money and low-interest loans.

The vice president walked with Gov. Dick Thornburgh and Mayor Helen Duby through the ravaged borough near the Ohio border. Seven people in the area were killed, 57 families were left homeless and a dozen plants and businesses were wrecked, costing an estimated 600 jobs.

Hughes gets multibillion-dollar offer

DETROIT (AP) — The Howard Hughes Medical Institute, owner of aerospace giant Hughes Aircraft Co., has accepted a multibillion-dollar acquisition bid from General Motors Corp., GM sources said today.

General Motors, the nation's largest automaker, along with Ford Motor Co. and Boeing Co., had been considered the leading bidders in the competition which began Monday. Only Ford had announced making a bid.

Directors of the Hughes Medical Institute met into the evening in New York City on Tuesday to consider the bids and the GM sources, who spoke on condition they not be identified, said the automaker had submitted the winning bid.

No prices were disclosed, but Hughes had been expected to bring between $4.5 billion and $6 billion, making it one of the costliest acquisitions ever outside the oil industry.

GM has more than $8 billion in cash and marketable securities on hand.

GM spokesman Donald Postma would not comment, but said that GM Chairman Roger B. Smith had scheduled a news conference today in New York City to discuss a "major development."

4 million have access to U.S. secrets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government officials are concerned that too many people are being given access to secret documents, and a recent security report to President Reagan warned that "far greater efforts are needed to limit national security clearances."

Some 4.3 million Americans have the right to read classified information, government officials say.

Concern over the proliferation of security clearances has been heightened by the unfolding Navy espionage case in which four men — including John A. Walker Jr., his son and brother — are charged with selling secrets to the Soviets.

"We have an absurd number of people who are being cleared," Georgia Sen. Sam Nunn, ranking Democrat on the Senate Armed Services Committee, said Tuesday.

Michael I. Burch, the Pentagon's chief spokesman, said the Defense Department has been studying ways of tightening its procedures for awarding security clearances for three years, but has yet to make any specific changes.

The number holding clearances has sparked concern by the Information Security Oversight Office, a 2-year-old agency which operates at the direction of the National Security Council.

"There's been a recognition that there's a lot of reform to be done in the personal security area," says director Steven Garfinkel.

In an annual report submitted to the president six weeks ago, the oversight office expressed concern "that far too many individuals receive clearances for access to national security information."

"All too often, agencies grant clearances by habit, or as a badge of prestige, rather than as a requisite of job responsibilities," the report said. "Far greater efforts are needed to limit national security clearances to persons whose work necessitates access to national security information."

Of the 4.3 million with clearance for classified information, the vast majority are eligible to see documents labeled no higher than "secret."

George Woloshyn, associate director of the Office of Personnel Management's compliance and investigations group, which monitors clearances, said 800,000 people have "top secret" clearances.

Of that number, 135,000 have the highest clearance, for what is called special compartmentalized information.

More than 3.1 million hold "secret" clearance and the lowest clearance, "confidential," is held by about 350,000 people.

Eighty-five percent of the clearances are granted by the Defense Department, Woloshyn said. The remainder are granted by a variety of agencies such as the CIA, National Security Agency, State Department, Energy Department and others.

The Defense Department said Tuesday that of the clearance it has granted, nearly 1.1 million are held by civilians working in private industry. And it said all clearances have increased from 3 million in 1979.

Adm. Bobby Inman, former deputy director of the CIA, said the numbers with clearances mean the system of investigating and reviewing those seeking or holding clearances is swamped.

"I think we really have to relook our priorities," Inman said. "You're never going to be able to surveil the 4.3 million Americans with security clearances ..."

Investigators say Walker had a top secret clearance while serving in the Navy. His brother Arthur and son Michael also had security clearances.

In its report, the Information Security Oversight Office said the spread of security clearances poses obvious security threats. Moreover, it said, it contributes to a laxity in the system and a "widespread indifference to the 'need-to-know' principle," in which only those with a need for certain information have access to it.

Because of the large numbers of people with clearances, Woloshyn said, periodic re-investigations of those holding them have been confined to those with top-secret or higher clearances. If one holds only a secret clearance, there is no periodic investigation, he said.

he is asking Democratic leaders for bipartisan support on his tax program. At the same time, his trips, which are billed as selling the tax program to the American people, are highly partisan. How can he ask for bipartisanship on the one hand and lead political pep rallies on the other?"

Mitchell, a member of the Finance Committee that considers tax legislation, said Republican incumbents in all three states, where Reagan's appearances are expected to reap an estimated $850,000, are regarded as vulnerable. So, he said, are GOP senators who appeared with Reagan at tax simplification rallies in Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and Florida last week.

Reagan's remarks at a fund-raising dinner for Sen. Paula Hawkins, R-Fla., in Miami last week were sharply partisan, accusing Democrats of "pitting white against black, women against men, young against old."

Houston, Dallas top growing towns

WASHINGTON (AP) — Houston and Dallas have grown the fastest since 1980 among U.S. urban areas with more than 1 million people, while Salt Lake City joined that select million-plus population club for the first time, the Census Bureau reports.

The new Census study of metropolitan areas released Tuesday reflected a continuing Western and Southern population shift, with the Houston-Galveston-Brazoria region becoming the nation's fastest-growing major metropolitan area with a 15 percent population spurt between 1980 and 1984.

That growth, to 3,565,700, pushed the Houston area past Washington, D.C., and its suburbs on the list of large metro areas. The nation's capital dropped from eighth to ninth place despite a 5.5 percent growth to 3,429,400 residents.

In the growth sweepstakes, close behind Houston was Dallas-Fort Worth, with 14.2 percent growth to bring its population to 3,348,000. It ranked 10th in both 1980 and 1984.

On a percentage basis, the bureau listed the fastest growing metro areas as: Midland, Texas, 113,600, up 38 percent; Anchorage, Alaska, 226,700, up 30 percent; Naples, Fla., 110,800, up 29 percent; Ocala, Fla., 155,600, up 27 percent; Fort Pierce, Fla., 190,200, up 26 percent;

Also Bryan-College Station, Texas, 117,400, up 25 percent; Odessa, Texas, 144,500, up 25 percent; Fort Myers-Cape Coral, Fla., 252,900, up 23 percent; Melbourne-Titusville-Palm Bay, Fla., 329,500, up 21 percent; Austin, Texas, 645,400, up 20 percent; West Palm Beach-Boca Raton-Delray Beach, Fla., 692,200, up 20 percent.

Of the 37 largest metropolitan areas, besides Houston and Dallas, eight others grew by 10 percent or more between 1980 and 1984, all in the South or West.

They were Atlanta, San Diego, Tampa-St. Petersburg-Clearwater, Fla.; Denver-Boulder; Phoenix, Ariz.; Sacramento, Calif.; San Antonio, Texas, and Salt Lake City-Ogden.

I am the mother of a disabled child. One can see at a glance he is not like other children and will spend the rest of his life in a wheelchair.

His mind is good and he understands everything that is said to him. At times he has trouble responding, but when people are patient and treat him as they would any other child, he does very well. Please tell curious strangers not to stop us on the street and ask personal questions.

For example: "How old is he?" "Will he grow to be normal in size?" "Is he in pain?" "Whatever he has, does it run in your family?" "If I speak to him, will he answer me?"

I have seriously considered ordering printed copies of a poem by John and Edna Massimilia of Hatboro, Pa., so I can hand one to anyone who approaches us in a restaurant or supermarket with a rude or insensitive question. Here is the poem and I hope you will print it in your column. Thank you.

A Mother in Philadelphia.

DEAR MOTHER: I'm pleased to do so. Thank you for sharing.

DIFFERENT

"He's not just right," someone did say.

"He walks and talks in a different way."

"But, what is right?" asked a different voice.

"What type of person? Is there a choice?"

Tall, short, frail or strong? Who is right and who is wrong?

The shy, the mighty, or those with fame?

No two persons are just the same.

Jeffrey R. Barnes received his bachelor of music degree during commencement services held recently at MacMurray College in Jacksonville, Ill. The ceremonies were held before a capacity audience in the college's Annie Merner Chapel.

Barnes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Barnes of 344 Douglas and had been awarded the United Methodist scholarship.

Dr. Daniel Gilbert, president of Eureka College, spoke on "An Affirmation of Values" in his feature address to the graduates.

"He's not just right?" Can we not see God makes us all quite differently? And should some need our extra care It's up to us—this burden to share.

Dear Ann Landers:

"Deeply Concerned in Georgia" wrote for help concerning her stepdaughters who live with their mother and stepfather. She suspects he has or will sexually abuse the girls.

Frankly, my dear, your advice stank. It's unrealistic to expect the mother to speak to her husband "in very plain language." You would not believe how many mothers know what's going on and refuse to "make waves" because they don't want their home disrupted.

You should have told the stepmother to talk to the girls and get the facts. She should then call a social worker, or a lawyer, a physician, a clergyman, someone who has the authority to move in on the situation. A man who French-kisses his stepdaughters is a bomb ready to go off. The welfare of the children is of utmost importance. They must be protected NOW, or those who suspect and do nothing will carry the guilt to their graves. I know because I was Abused and the Mother of Abused Children.

Dear Mother: I thought my answer was pretty good, but yours was stronger—and therefore better. Thanks for writing. Thurs. soc 2-30 Senior Cit.

MRS. KEITH EDWARD BELCHER
...nee Elise Diane Powell

Grandson of couple marries in Alabama

Elise Diane Powell became the bride of Keith Edward Belcher, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Terrell of Hereford, in a wedding ceremony recently performed in First Presbyterian Church in Tuscaloosa, Ala. The Rev. Larry Nunnally officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Dee Powell of Tuscaloosa and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Keith Belcher of Dallas.

Sharon Belcher, sister of the groom, was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Sherry Flora of Tuscaloosa, Karen Deal of Montgomery, Ala.; and Leah Norton of Pell City, Ala.

Following a reception at the Country Club of Tuscaloosa, Mr. and Mrs. Belcher left for a wedding trip to the Virgin Islands.

Tom Cash of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., served as best man and groomsmen were Danny Belcher of Dallas, brother of the groom; Donnie Corsino of Montgomery; and Craig Robertson of Tuscaloosa. Stephen Belcher of Dallas, the groom's brother, escorted guests.

Ethnic Missions scholarship given to Hereford resident

Lucie Amar of Hereford has been awarded an Ethnic Missions Scholarship from the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Amar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Amar, plans to attend Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, where she will major in special education.

The Ethnic Missions Scholarships were established to help worthy Texas Hispanic and Asian students secure a college education, according to Roberto Garcia, chairman of the Ethnic Missions Scholarship committee.

Since its beginning in 1956, more than $1.2 million has been invested in the education of 1,000 ethnic youth attending eight Texas Baptist universities and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary.

The Women's Missionary Union of Texas provides funds from the Mary Hill Davis Offering for State Missions to finance the scholarship program. The more than 4,900 Southern Baptist churches and missions in Texas promote the special offering each fall.

In addition to scholarships, the special mission offering assists the Hispanic Baptist Theological Seminary in San Antonio, the Valley Baptist Academy in Harlingen, ministries to youth and retirees and other state missions causes.

LUCIE AMAR

In 1985-86, a special Mary Hill Davis Centennial Offering will help finance the construction of 2,000 new churches and missions in Texas by 1990 as part of the "Mission Texas" challenge.

Reading club to begin

Deaf Smith Library will begin its summer reading club, "Awesome Adventures", June 10.

Activities for the summer include a balloon launch and jungle maze, designing an "Awesome" bookmark, films such as "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea", making jungle masks, an "Awesome" clay sculpture, and Totem-Pole art.

To register, each child must go to the library to sign up. Upon registering, the child will receive a calendar of events, a log to record the books they read, a bookmark, an information sheet, and a special "boarding pass" with the entrant's name. Prizes to be awarded will include ribbons, stickers, certificates for ice cream cones, and certificates of achievement.

The blue whale can go up to half a year without eating—it is maintained by its blubber.

6th straight home victory

Rangers stop White Sox, 7-3

By DICK BRINSTER
AP Sports Writer

The Texas Rangers have won two straight games, six straight at Arlington Stadium, and Manager Bobby Valentine, for one, believes there is something building.

"We're just playing good baseball, and it's lots of fun," Valentine said after the Rangers defeated the Chicago White Sox, 7-3, Tuesday night. "And I'll tell you, the fan support here has been tremendous."

With the help of an error by White Sox third baseman Tim Lulett, the Rangers staked starter Charlie Hough to a 4-0 lead in the first inning and delighted the crowd of 14,249.

"It gets the players pumped up when they get a big ovation when they head into the dugout or they're introduced at the beginning of the game," Valentine said. "It's positive enthusiasm, and every performer does better when he gets that type of appreciation."

Hough, who allowed four hits, raised his record to 5-4 and got his fifth complete game of the season, agreed.

After a double play ended Chicago's first inning, rookie Oddibe McDowell got the crowd going by drawing a walk off Tom Seaver, whose record dropped to 5-4 with the loss.

Seaver, who gave up six hits, walked five and struck out six, then walked Toby Harrah. Buddy Bell hit into a fielder's choice and Larry Parrish struck out, but Hulett booted Gary Ward's bouncer and McDowell scored the game's first run.

Bobby Jones, a late substitution at designated hitter with Cliff Johnson nursing a jammed shoulder, singled to center to drive in Bell and Pete O'Brien doubled home Ward and Jones.

The White Sox took advantage of two Texas errors to score in the sixth. Hulett reached base on a throwing error by shortstop Wayne Tolleson, stole second, took third on a groundout and scored on a fielding error by first baseman O'Brien.

Chicago added a run in the seventh when Greg Walker and Oscar Gamble walked and Daryl Boston singled.

In the Rangers' seventh, Tolleson singled, McDowell walked and Harrah drove in Tolleson with a single. Gene Nelson relieved Seaver and, after a strikeout and an intentional walk, gave up a two-run single to Ward.

Jerry Hairston hit a home run, his second of the year, in the eighth inning for Chicago's final run.

Mariners 7, Tigers 6
It was a night Seattle's Phil Bradley will always remember and one Detroit's Willie Hernandez would just as soon forget.

With relatives and friends totaling 30 in the ballpark, Bradley wanted to do something unforgettable. And that he did, hitting a 12th-inning home run Tuesday night off Tiger relief ace Hernandez to lift the Mariners to a 7-6 victory.

"I've had some thrills, but I'd have to say this was one of the biggest," Bradley said.

Hernandez, 4-2, won't soon forget Bradley's homer — the first the American League Cy Young Award winner has allowed in a regular-season game since July 24, 1984 — or what followed.

After the homer, Bradley's ninth, Hernandez hit Alvin Davis with a pitch and then engaged the Seattle dugout in an exchange of obscenities that resulted in his ejection.

Hernandez had worked four perfect innings and had one out when Bradley jumped on the 1-0 pitch and hit it into the upper deck in left field. One out later, Hernandez hit Davis.

Blue Jays 9, Twins 2
Willie Upshaw hit a two-run homer to highlight Toronto's three-run fourth inning, and Jim Clancy scattered four hits over eight innings.

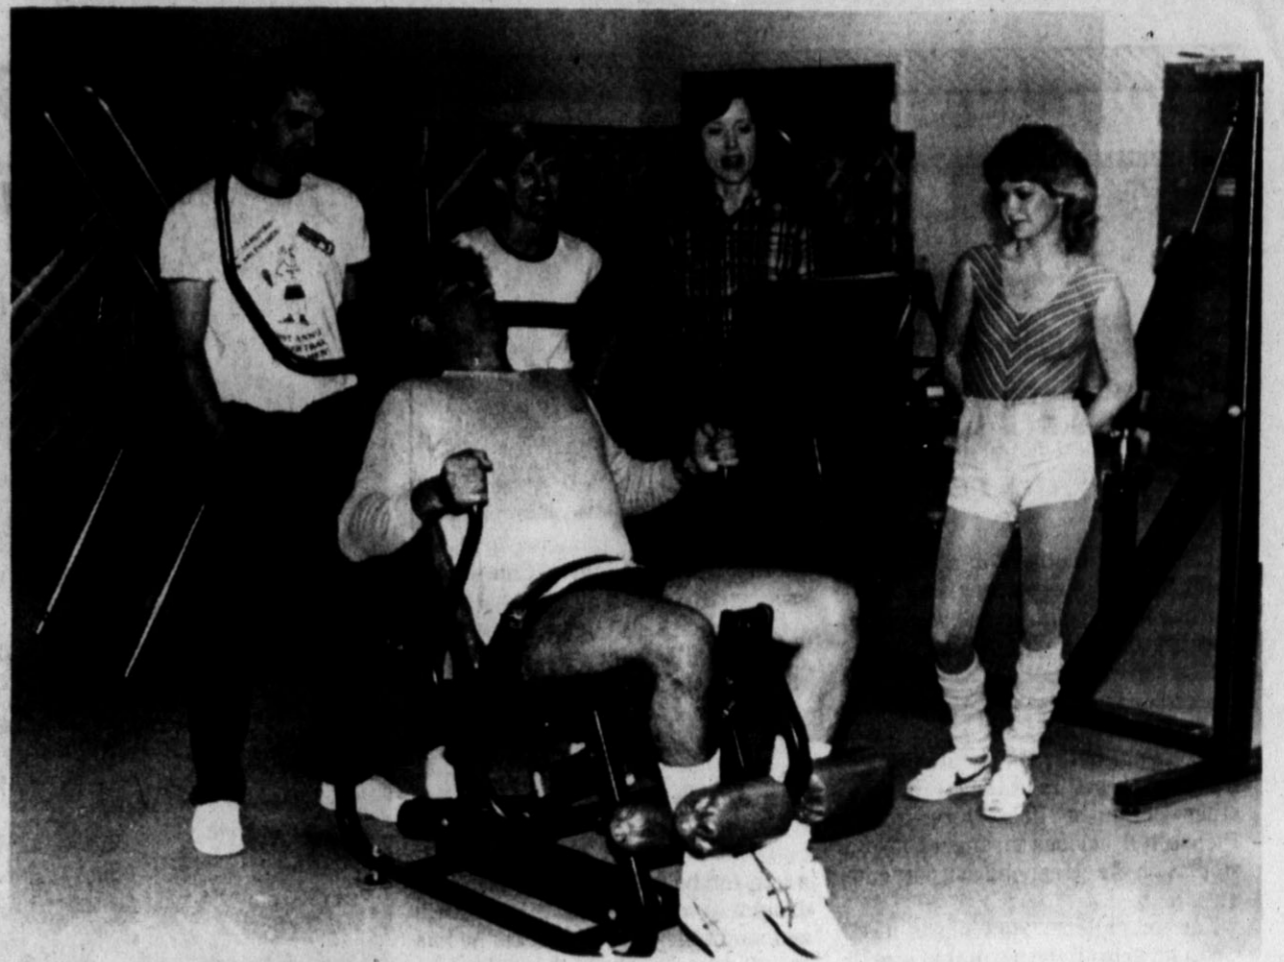

George Bell added a three-run homer for Toronto and Buck Martinez, who had three hits, hit a solo shot for the Blue Jays, who extended their lead in the AL East to five games over Detroit.

Angels 6, Orioles 5
Baltimore lost ground to Toronto when California's Ruppert Jones walked on a 3-2 pitch with two outs in the 15th inning, stole second base and scored on Mike Brown's single.

The game lasted five hours, four minutes, the longest of the season in the AL.

Reggie Jackson had two RBIs, giving him 1,537 for his career, tying him with Joe DiMaggio for 23rd on the all-time list.

Red Sox 5, Indians 0
Bob Ojeda, making his second start since being recalled from the bullpen, scattered six hits, struck out three and didn't walk a batter in

Tonight in NBA title series

Rough, physical battle expected in Game 4

By KEN PETERS AP Sports Writer
INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — It was envisioned as a matchup of Boston's rugged and determined blue-collar workers against the laid-back, frolicking quiche-eaters from Beverly Hills.

But there's been a weird role reversal in the National Basketball Association Championship Series.

The Boston Celtics suddenly are implying that the Los Angeles Lakers are playing too rough in their best-of-seven National Basketball Association Series, now led 2-1 by the Lakers.

"There's a fine line between physical and dirty," Boston Coach

K.C. Jones said after the Lakers' 136-111 victory in the third game. "They're crossing that line."

Los Angeles Coach Pat Riley, whose club lost the 1984 NBA title to the Celtics in seven games, said, "He's responding the same way I did last year when I called them thugs."

"We're playing Celtic-style basketball," Riley said. "That means we're playing aggressively, but I never saw any of my players clothesline another player."

Sunday's game at the Forum was marked by numerous scuffles involving practically every player from each team at one time or another.

And it may get even more physical in Game 4 at the Forum.

"On Wednesday night, I'm sure they'll bring their clotheslines with them," Riley said, alluding to a controversial play last year when Boston's Kevin McHale hacked the Lakers' Kurt Rambis with his forearm.

The Celtics trailed 2-1 at that point of the series — same as now — and some thought that was the turning point as Boston went on to win the title.

"That was the most insidious, vicious, malicious play I've ever seen in basketball," Riley said.

"All the attention now has been on our hard play," continued Riley, whose club in the past has been known for its fast-break, finesse style of offense. "... But the problem was that they (the Celtics) wouldn't let go of us after there was contact."

Laker forward Rambis, bearing some nasty welts on his arm, said, "I think Wednesday's game will be very intense and physical."

"It's only natural," he added.

Bird mired in shooting slump against Lakers

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD AP Sports Writer
INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Any hitter would be happy with a .393 batting average. As a shooting percentage in basketball, it's worse than mediocre.

For the NBA's Most Valuable Player, Larry Bird, .393 is a total disaster.

"For the past several weeks, I've been shooting the ball extremely well in practice," Bird says. "It's just that in games, the shots haven't dropped."

In his last five National Basketball Association playoff games, including the first three of Boston's championship series with the Los Angeles Lakers, Bird has made only 35 of 89 field-goal attempts.

If the Celtics are to rally from a 2-1 deficit in tonight's fourth game of the best-of-seven series, they need Bird to snap out of the doldrums.

"Of course Larry is vital for us," Coach K.C. Jones said Tuesday. "He's the MVP of the league, isn't he? But if we have to depend solely on Larry, we're in trouble."

"Larry is the guy to carry us," said center-forward Kevin McHale, who is leading the Celtics in scoring against the Lakers with 24 points per game. "We go with Larry and he can take us anywhere."

"When you want something really bad, that's just the way it is in this game. It's even that way on the playground."

Cedric Maxwell of the Celtics said, "When we get pushed and shoved around, we always come back real strong."

Said Boston's M.L. Carr: "They (the Lakers) have been the aggressors and that bothers me, because we're always the aggressors. If they want to play that way, so be it. In Game 4, it's time for us to meet it head-on."

"As long as we can bang and still play our game, we're in good shape," said the Lakers' Earvin "Magic" Johnson. "We've just been playing aggressively."

Los Angeles reserve Bob McAdoo, a key figure in the fourth game with 19 points and six rebounds, said the Celtics have a purpose for talking about the Lakers' aggressive play.

"Boston's crying out about our being too physical is to get the officials to watch us more closely," McAdoo said.

The fifth game is scheduled for Friday night at the Forum, with the series then switching to Boston, if necessary, for contests on Sunday and next Tuesday.

Coleman's hits, speed lead Cardinals past Houston, 6-1

By PAUL LeBAR AP Sports Writer
With results that defy dispute, rookie Vince Coleman continues to adhere to good advice as a key to his whirlwind major league start.

A textbook case in point for the St. Louis Cardinals speedster was demonstrated Tuesday-night. Not only did he rap out four hits but he stole three bases and scored four runs as he was the catalyst for a 6-1 triumph.

"He had four singles, and he hit the ball hard every time," said an awed Houston Astros coach Denis Menke.

"The kid is simply amazing. He's the fastest thing I've ever seen. When he gets on base, it totally disrupts the other team. If he keeps it up, he's going to have one heck of a season."

League's leading hitter, doubled home Coleman in the first. Coleman resumed the attack in the second with an RBI hit, and Willie McGee afterward joined in with three hits that accounted for two RBIs.

Herr, who also singled home two runs in the fourth while pushing his batting mark to .380, said having Coleman get on base followed by McGee creates openings for St. Louis.

tended his National League-leading strikeout total to 101. "In those situations, that's when you become a pitcher. I tried to put more on my fastball and get it up."

Valenzuela went 8 2-3 innings, allowing nine hits and all four runs.

Elsewhere Tuesday, it was San Diego 6, Philadelphia 5; St. Louis 6, Houston 1; Cincinnati 9, Pittsburgh 3; San Francisco 5, Montreal 1, and Chicago 5, Atlanta 3.

As Herr was belaboring Houston to take the NL lead at 46 RBIs, the Astros were unable to solve teammate Joaquin Andujar, 10-1.

Andujar became the second pitcher to reach the 10-victory plateau by holding Houston to four singles. Two came in the fourth, when Terry Puhl scored on Kevin Bass' forceout grounder.

Mets 4, Dodgers 1
For once, the hype was right, the advanced billing was accurate.

Dwight Gooden and Fernando Valenzuela, two of baseball's master pitchers, hooked up for the second time in 11 days Tuesday night. This time, Gooden avenged a loss to Valenzuela by hurling an eight-hitter, striking out 12 and contributing three hits to New York's 4-1 victory.

Kevin McReynolds's two-out, two-run triple in the ninth lifted the host Padres past Philadelphia in a game marred by a bench-clearing brawl. With one out, Tony Gwynn beat out an infield hit but Kent Tekulve struck out Steve Garvey, who earlier had homered. After Graig Nettles walked, McReynolds lined a 1-2 pitch to the center-field fence to score Gwynn and pinch-runner Jerry Royster.

3 1/2-mile run set Saturday in Dumas

A three and one half mile run, the Dogie Days Gallop, is scheduled Saturday in Dumas.

The event begins at 10:45 a.m. at First Street and Dumas Avenue, and ends at McDade Park at Sixteenth Street and South Maddox Avenue. Runners may register the day of the race at the starting line.

After the Mets broke a 1-1 tie in the ninth on Danny Heep's sacrifice fly and RBI singles by Rafael Santana and Gooden, Mets Manager Davey Johnson praised his 20-year-old fireballer.

"Dwight is my security blanket," said Johnson. "I used to get goosebumps watching him pitch... at least I'm over that now."

Cincinnati's bats continued to sizzle, piling up 15 more hits, including two by player-manager Pete Rose, who is 52 hits shy of breaking Ty Cobb's all-time mark of 4,191. Gary Redus belted a home run and an RBI double as the Reds upped their run production to 26 in three games.

Mario Soto, 8-3, scattered six hits over seven innings before yielding to Ted Power. One of the six hits was a two-run homer by George Hendrick.

Other activities that are part of the annual Dogie Days celebration include a parade on Saturday at 11 a.m. on Dumas Avenue, rodeo performances at 8 p.m. Friday and 8 p.m. Saturday at the rodeo arena just south of Sixteenth Street, and western dances at 9 p.m. Friday and 9 p.m. Saturday in which the Younger Brothers of Nashville, Tenn., will perform.

Gooden was better than Valenzuela Tuesday, earning redemption for a 6-2 loss in New York to Fernando on May 25. Gooden was at his best in the eighth, when he pitched out of a bases-jammed, no-out hole.

"I knew in the eighth, when they had the bases loaded, I had to go for strikeouts," said Gooden, who ex-

Jim Gott threw a six-hitter for his first complete game of the season, striking out seven and walking two. Jose Uribe paced the offense with a pair of doubles and three RBIs.

Cubs 5, Braves 3
Jody Davis had three hits, including a tie-breaking single in the sixth inning, and Ron Cey and Keith Moreland homered for Chicago.

Thursday events include a barbecue beginning at 11 a.m. at McDade Park and a square dance at 9 p.m. at the Moore County Community Building.

For more information on the three and one half mile run, or any other of the Dogie Days activities, call the Moore County and Dumas Chamber of Commerce at 935-2123.

Entertaining Guests

Elizabeth Rudd, at right, was among performers who entertained guests during the West Texas State University school of nursing's pinning ceremony held in May. Ron Schwoerer of Sherman was tenor; Mary Mullin of Amarillo, soprano; and Rudd played the violin. All three received bachelor of science in nursing degrees this year. Rudd is a member of Sigma Theta Tau, a national nursing honor society.

Specialist gives cleaning tips to remove house mildew

You may have to endure the summer heat and humidity, but you don't have to live with the unsightly mildew growth it produces on the exterior of your house.

"Mildew most often grows on areas of the outside walls that receive little sunlight," says Dr. Peggy Owens, a housing specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

Ideal places for mildew are the north side of the house, carport and porch ceilings, and areas behind trees or shrubs where air movement is restricted, she explains.

Mildew is usually black, Owens says, but some forms may be green, red or other colors.

The specialist suggests a cleaning solution of one quart liquid chlorine bleach, one-third cup of powdered laundry detergent and three quarts of warm water. Use the solution with a fairly soft brush to scrub affected areas and then rinse well with clear water.

Another way of applying the solution is to use a garden sprayer for the solution, a long-handle brush for scrubbing and the full-force of a water hose to rinse.

Because this cleaning solution is strong, she advises wearing rubber gloves and protective clothing to avoid contact with the skin. Shrubs and grass should also be covered with plastic sheets.

"If you're going to paint the clean surface, allow it to dry thoroughly and paint immediately before recontamination occurs," Owens says.

To minimize future mildew problems, the specialist suggests treating the cleaned area with a water-repellent preservative or other fungicide before repainting with a paint containing zinc oxide and mildewcide.

Educator gives signposts

It is estimated that about 18 to 20 percent of children will need some type of special help during their school years.

"There are more curricular demands made on children now that have not been made in the past," said Laura Lee Crane, director of the Starpoint School for children with learning disabilities at Texas Christian University.

"This can range from a lot of parental help at home to a self-contained class in a special school. There is a wide range of resources available just as there is a wide range of problems," she said. "The important thing is for parents to recognize that some difficulty in learning ability exists and seek help."

The most common problem is that the child cannot learn to read well. A parent can detect a learning disability in a child if there is a wide discrepancy between the intellectual capability of the child and the academic performance, she said.

Often reading problems begin in the first through third grades, and children can get by at that time.

If you haven't checked John Deere's deal, you haven't gotten the best deal

Shop around. There are all kinds of "deals" floating around out there. And most of the benefits of those "deals" disappear after the dollar sign. Our "better" deals go far beyond the dollar sign. We're going to be very competitive price wise, but we can offer you so much more. We're ready to show you just how sweet a deal you can make—right now.

DEAL 1. 4WD TRACTORS

Thousands of dollars in pass-along savings on every new John Deere 4WD tractor in stock. No interest for 9 months from date of sale. (or 1 May, 1986 depending on Ser. # See us for details) with John Deere financing. * Or in lieu of the finance waiver take an extra discount worth thousands more!

DEAL 2. 100- TO 190-HP TRACTORS

Huge pass-along savings on new 100- to 190-hp tractors plus interest-free financing for 9 months from date of sale. * If you prefer, take an additional discount in lieu of finance waiver.

DEAL 3. 40- TO 85-HP TRACTORS

Get unheard of savings - like factory-direct discounts worth up to $2700 - on new John Deere 40- to 85-hp utility tractors. Then get interest-free John Deere financing for 9 months from date of sale. * Or, take an additional discount in lieu of finance waiver.

DEAL 4. COMBINES

Take advantage now of fabulous off-season savings on all new Titan combines. Thousands of dollars off PLUS INTEREST-FREE FINANCING TO THE FIRST OF THE 1985 USE SEASON when the combine is purchased with new header equipment. There's also a discount in lieu of finance waiver available.

DEAL 5. IMPLEMENTS

Make your best deal on a MOLDBOARD PLOW • STANDARD DISK • DuraCushion DISK • ROLLER HARROW • FIELD CULTIVATOR • CHISEL PLOW • SPREADER. Then we'll add a pass-along discount allowed by the John Deere factories.

DEAL 6. HAY AND FORAGE EQUIPMENT

Buy a new baler, mower-conditioner or PTO forage harvester and get pass-along discounts worth hundreds of dollars. Discounts on self-propelled windrowers are worth up to $3000. Save even more with interest-free financing from John Deere until July 1, 1985, on new and used hay equipment, and until September 1, 1985, on new and used forage equipment. There are discounts in lieu of waivers on new equipment.

DEAL 7. PLANTERS

Psychologist gives several tips for relieving stress

Because most major diseases of this century are stress-related, a psychologist at Texas Christian University believes it is very important to learn how to manage stress in day-to-day living.

"No one is free from stress," said Dr. Jack Scott, director of TCU's counseling center. "Stress is a result of the mismanagement of our reactions to stressors, whether they be cultural stressors, job, family, personal, social, spiritually-related." Anything we think or experience that creates an unpleasant, uncomfortable kind of feeling or sensation can be identified as a stressor, Scott explained.

Feelings of fatigue, loss of energy, inability to sleep, restlessness, difficulty in concentration, irritability, a rapid heartbeat, tension, headaches, backaches and other body aches may well be signs of stress reaction, he said.

One of the most important things in dealing with stress is to know what your stressors are, what kind of things really bother you, said the psychologist.

Regular exercise and proper nutrition are two ways to help your body deal with stress. Another very important way is learning how to relax. "I'm talking about relaxation training, a process by which an individual learns how to have an effect on the physiological system. Relaxation training decreases the heart rate and the respiratory rate and has other functions as well upon the physiological system."

"I'm not talking about the guy who says, 'Gee, I'm going to take off this afternoon and go play golf.' That's not what we talk about when we say learn how to relax," Scott said.

"One of the main struggles that people are having today is the fact that they don't have a really clearly developed value and attitude system," he added. The spiritual aspect, one's sense of meaning and purpose in life, is an important area in dealing with stress.

While managing stress is work in itself, Scott believes it pays off in the quality of each day and in life expectancy.

DR. GOTT

Peter Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT—I am interested in learning more about the man-made growth hormone. I have a grandson who is 19 and is 5 feet 3. He was a normal-size baby. When he was three weeks old he had surgery for pyloric stenosis. His doctor told us that he might be a little slower in maturing due to surgery at that age. His height is the only thing that seems slower.

DEAR READER—Your grandson will have to learn to put up with being short. Growth hormone is useful in certain short-statured individuals, but it must be administered before a youngster's bone-growth centers have closed. By 19, most young people have lost the ability to gain height; therefore, the use of a hormone would serve only to modify their bones without lengthening them.

I suggest that he be encouraged to emphasize the really positive things in his life. Is he creative, bright, honest and outgoing? What are the many goals he is equipped to achieve? Many happy and successful short men have become great successes by "accentuating the positive."

Undercover in FBI

You and I can scarcely imagine what it's like to be undercover for the FBI inside Hell's Angels. In wartime, heroism on the battlefield may be demonstrated in a single courageous instant when adrenalin overwhelms fear. But a man you may never meet named Kevin Bonner was three years of days and nights risking the wrath of the most vicious of our nation's motorcycle gangsters—midst the murder, the rape, the brutality — tediously gathering evidence on these crimes and on the narcotics traffic which financed this nationwide underworld. If the FBI's efforts to preserve our nation's internal security resulted in some excesses under Hoover... Under Webster, the centuries and the agents of the Bureau are demonstrating disciplined valor which may be unequalled in the history of law enforcement. Hell's Angels will not forget the morning of May 2, 1985. Until then they were their own law. They were the wheelers and dealers and enforcers, and with violence and threats of violence they caused decent Americans to cower, kowtow or flee. Until the dawn came like thunder over 14 cities. And before high-noon 133 of the suspect gangsters—including the high and the mighty—were behind bars. Today's FBI does not risk embarrassment. You may be sure that the evidence is adequate to convince any grand jury that these felons are felons. But now... The FBI did a similarly thorough job documenting cases against 1,044 Mafia leaders and major drug dealers last year. The Bureau presented more than enough evidence to convict that bunch of gambling, racketeering, loan-sharking, prostitution, extortion, pornography, arson, infiltration of legitimate businesses and corrupting public officials. But when the hard evidence got to court, judges turned soft. Seventy-four percent of those accused did NOT get the maximum sentence. Sixty-eight percent were not even fined as much as the law allows. Of these baddest of the bad 102 could have been sent up for life; only one was. So I don't know what's going to happen to the bikers. We can't yet be sure that our law will prevail over theirs. But let history record that the Bureau did its job right, and that Kevin Bonner put his life on the line believing in us. (c) 1985, Los Angeles Times Syndicate.

School cafeteria lady recalls 40 years of meals

By LEIGH HOPPER The Brazosport Facts
LAKE JACKSON, Texas (AP) — If you remember scraping the detested and runny meatloaf off your school cafeteria tray into the garbage, rejoice. Your protests paid off. The Brazosport Independent School District Food Service no longer makes meatloaf because kids won't eat it, Esther Bachus said. Ms. Bachus probably knows better than anyone what kids like for lunch. She has worked in food service since 1948 when she began working at Lake Jackson Junior High and later became assistant food services supervisor, a position she has held since 1960. She is retiring because she'll be 70 years old this August. In her time, Bachus has witnessed the rise of chicken nuggets and the fall of lemon meringue pie, as well as a few other changes in the lunchroom. For instance, chocolate milk used to be offered to students in all grades. Now, it's just the high school students who get chocolate milk with their meals. The chocolate makes many of the younger children hyperactive, Ms. Bachus said. Red food coloring went out with the discovery that certain types may cause cancer. School cooks have started using less salt. Thanks to Ronald McDonald, bite-sized bits of chicken are in with the elementary crowd because they can eat it with their hands, Ms. Bachus said. Carrots are popular for the same reason. Salad bars at both high schools are popular with health- and weight-conscious students and teachers. But chicken fried steak remains king. "Chicken fried steak is their very favorite," Ms. Bachus said. "For a long time, roast over rice was another." Ms. Bachus is a chicken fried steak fan herself and also likes fried chicken, which BISD schools don't serve as often. She's been surprised at the popularity of taco salad, a fairly new item. "I eat that pretty often," she said. Hot rolls, sweet rolls, peanut butter and butter cookies are among the tried-and-true foods. So are french fries, mashed potatoes and corn "cobbettes." In general, kids are good eaters, Ms. Bachus said. Broccoli and frozen mixed vegetables go over well. There are fried okra eaters and even loyal followers of the monthly liver-and-onions lunch, but the stewed tomato recipe they recently tried out was definitely a flop, Ms. Bachus said. "It doesn't take you long to know what they like and don't like," Ms. Bachus said. The food service workers try to keep "plate waste" at a minimum. Sometimes cafeteria cooks test a new recipe by giving out small samples instead of a full serving. At many schools, instead of receiving a full lunch tray as they go through the lunch line, students are served the meat for the day and then pick their side dishes. Each meal consists of five components and students are required to check out of the lunch line with three, Ms. Bachus said. This means that on certain days, like when hamburgers are served, students can easily avoid vegetables they don't like: the hamburger patty counts for one component, the bun makes two, and french fries or milk make three.

Ms. Bachus says good food and her co-workers have kept her in the food service. She claims the high quality of BISD cafeteria meals has kept her healthy enough to work as long as she has. The kids although notorious for complaining generally appreciate the food, Ms. Bachus said. "Once in a while you get aggravated with them," Ms. Bachus said. Sometimes she answers their gripes with, "Well, bring your lunch." "But we're not supposed to say stuff like that," she said. Ms. Bachus says feeding children "has been a challenge. I tell you," and she looks forward to more free time. "From now on, I plan to blow and go." But her career may be a hard thing to leave: "It's been the most important thing in my life to see kids fed right."
