Hereford High Homecoming was being observed this week, with the climax coming when the Whitefaces host the Randall Raiders tonight. Special dress-up days were held each day this week; the pep rally, crowning of the Homecoming Queen and King, and parade were to be conducted today.

There should be a capacity home crowd tonight, and Randall--now coached by former Whiteface standout Alan Cornelius--is expected to have a good following in this all-important District 1-4A clash.

Our prediction: Hereford to win by 23-21 in a thriller.

Have you heard the old story about the college football coach who was out on a recruiting trip? He was leaving a country town and spotted a young man, about 6-5 and 250, trotting down the road. The young man veered into a field and chased down a rabbit, much to the astonishment of the coach.

When the big lad came back to the road, the coach was waiting. Introducing himself, the coach learned the boy had just graduated from high school but hadn't played football. In fact, he had not seen a football game. The coach was not discouraged and told him the value of a free college education.

"Do you think you could pass a football?" the coach asked. "I'm not sure," replied the young man, "but if I can swallow it, I can pass it!"

Continuing my weekly trip down memory lane, I remember getting a real indoctrination in covering baseball games as a young sportswriter in Lamesa in the '50s. The Lamesa Lobos were in the West Texas-New Mexico League, a Class C professional baseball league.

The Sporting News at that time labeled Lamesa as the "biggest little town in organized baseball." Lamesa had a population of about 6,000, and when the Lobos played the Lubbock Hubbers there might be 3,000 fans at a game.

A veteran baseballer taught me how to keep all the statistics on games so I could serve as official scorer. The scorer sent all the statistics--hitting, fielding, pitching--

Some red top cane really is orange and black

These round bales of red top cane on the Joe Ed Andrews farm, south of Hereford, had a little more color than others. The pumpkin's face matched the colors of a for sale sign for the bales just down the road on FM 1055.

Bad news for Bush: no slips by Clinton

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) - A studious second presidential debate among President Bush, Bill Clinton and Ross Perot was rich in substance but short on sparks, and did not provide the dramatic shift Bush needs to strip Clinton's lead.

The 90-minute encounter was run by uncommitted voters who made it clear from the outset they wanted talk about issues.

At the same time, the format - all questions from the audience - kept Bush from striking the aggressive tone his aides had promised and Vice President Dan Quayle had set up in the running mates' debate on Tuesday.

When it was over, Bush aides acknowledged privately that the president had done little to help himself or hurt Clinton.

With three days before their final debate on Monday, Clinton and Bush were heading out to campaign today - Bush in New Jersey and Clinton in Virginia and Louisiana - while Perot headed home but on to the airwaves with a new, half-hour national television ad.

So subdued was Thursday night's forum that Bush was twice shown on television checking his watch.

"The drama in the presidential race up to now has been whether George Bush can turn the election around. But I think there is an equally plausible drama ... about whether George Bush is facing electoral disaster," said Democratic pollster Geoffrey Garin.

There were hints of Republican frustration, too. Bush needed to express some passion and energy - and failed, said William Hudnut, the former GOP mayor of Indianapolis. "He remained above the fray."

Clinton aides left the University of Richmond debate ecstatic, arguing the audience's overwhelming focus on economic and other domestic issues was proof the Bush campaign's character attacks were falling on deaf ears.

"You have to decide whether you want change or not," Clinton said at the close of the nationally televised forum. "We do not need four more years of an economic theory that doesn't work."

In his closing, Bush tried to steer voters to ground barely covered in a debate dominated by questions about jobs, health care, the deficit, crime and education, and a format more typical of daytime television talk shows than any past presidential debate.

"If in the next five minutes a television announcer came on and said, 'There is a major international crisis ... my question is: Who, if you were appointed to choose one of the three of us, who would you choose?'"

Bush said. "Who has the perseverance, the character, the integrity, the maturity to get the job done? I hope I'm that person."

Perot's closing echoed his can-do debate answers.

"If they just want to keep slow dancing and talk about it and not do it, I'm not your man," the Texas billionaire said. "I am results oriented. I am action oriented."

The only personal attack came early, when Bush raised anew Clinton's role in overseas protests against the Vietnam War 23 years ago, in response to a man who asked why the candidates were "trashing their opponents' character" instead of talking issues.

Bush said character was important and criticized Clinton for taking part in protests, and also, Bush said, for reversing himself on major issues.

"I do think you can't turn the White House into the Waffle House," Bush said.

But the discussion turned tame for good when the very next questioner chastised the candidates again: "Can we focus on the issues and not the personalities and the mud?"

Answering a question about crime, Clinton endorsed a waiting period before handgun purchases, while Perot and Bush opposed it.

Air control officials douse stubble burners

Corn farmers who want to burn stubble in their field this year need permission from the Texas Air Control Board.

TACB officials are writing tickets across the High Plains for unauthorized outdoor burning. Without permission, farmers could be fined up to $1,500 on the first offense, with fines as high as $10,000 per day after that, according to the TACB.

"They began writing tickets around here last week," said Carl King of Dimmitt, executive director of the Texas Corn Producers Board. "It is obvious (TACB) wants to cooperate and work with us, but there are certain restrictions that must be followed."

Those restrictions include:
--No burning drifting toward a town.

--Smoke can't drift toward a highway or road (paved or unpaved).
--Wind speed must be less than 23 mph.

TACB understands there may be need for burning crop residue for double cropping (when corn is followed by wheat) or control of noxious weeds, but as farmers and good managers the guidelines must be followed and the privilege of burning must not be abused," said Harold Bob Bennett, executive assistant at Texas Corn.

"We just need some education," said King. "You don't have to burn when you can use other, good, practices. There's been some indiscriminate burning, and that's what brought this on."

"We are responding to the concerns of the citizens," said Gerald Hudson, director of the TACB office in Lubbock. "They are telling us that the smoke is causing them health problems, everything from headaches to asthma attacks."

"Although people in rural areas used to routinely burn crop stubble, neighboring citizens are less tolerant today with regard to anything that impacts their health, including outdoor burning."

King said farmers needing permits should call Jack Benton at TACB in Lubbock at 796-3494.

School, police ready in case of violence tonight

Some children asked not to attend classes

Police officers patrolled the halls of Hereford High School and Hereford Junior High today in connection with a flurry of threats and rumors about violence in Hereford.

Several students who were rumored to be targets of violence were asked by school officials not to attend school today, or attend tonight's game at Whiteface Stadium against Randall High School. Hereford superintendent Charles Greenawalt said this morning the students did not go to school today.

"We thought it would be in the best interest of those children, and other students, if those students didn't attend school," Greenawalt said.

Rumors have run rampant through the week, Hereford police said. "None of the stories have been verified," the department said in a press release. "The department is concerned as are most citizens."

Greenawalt said the usual security patrol of eight armed, uniformed peace officers would be substantially increased for tonight's game. Greenawalt and other school personnel met with Hereford Police Department, Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Office and Texas Department of Public Safety officers this morning to set a firm plan of action for today. The plan will include:

--Armed officers patrolling at today's pep rally, which was scheduled for 2:15 p.m. at the HHS gym.

--Officers will be present, in force, along the Homecoming parade route.

--Officers will be stationed throughout the stadium tonight, including in the stands, under the bleachers, and in the parking lots.

--Faculty and administration members will be watching for any signs of difficulty.

--Officers will be at the Homecoming dance tonight at the HHS gym. --Trucks from the Hereford Fire Department will be stationed at each end of the football stadium. Greenawalt said the high-powered lights on the trucks will be on hand "in case we have any difficulty with lights during the game."

"We hope that everything goes well, there are no incidents, we win the game and everyone has a good time," Greenawalt said.

Seniors: SS increase is too small

SUN CITY, Ariz. (AP) - The $19 or so by which Lorraine Figge's monthly Social Security check will increase next year won't go far for her and her husband, she says.

"That will pay for one pill," the 67-year-old said over a free breakfast Thursday at the Oliver Branch Senior Center. "We have to pay $600 for prescriptions. It's killing us."

"We have to come here to eat in order to survive."

The Figges are among 44 million Americans whose monthly Social Security benefits will increase 3 percent next year, the smallest cost-of-living hike since 1987, when benefits rose 1.3 percent.

On average, monthly benefits will rise to $653 from $634. The maximum monthly benefit for a worker retiring in 1992 at age 65 will rise $40 to $1,128.

Mrs. Figge once owned an ice cream store and worked a variety of jobs before retiring. Her husband, Earl, is a retired auto body worker. They will see a $30 increase in their combined $1,000-a-month Social Security benefit. They also receive a monthly pension of $400.

She and others at the government-subsidized Oliver Branch Senior Center, which provides free meals and a place to meet, said the cost-of-living increase won't keep up with rising costs.

Medical expenses - a big factor for the elderly - have jumped 7 percent in 12 months, more than twice the 3 percent increase in overall consumer prices. Higher property taxes also are hitting them hard.

And the stalled economy is dealing many retirees another blow: Lower interest rates have dramatically cut payouts from investments that many depend on to supplement their income.

The average interest rate on a six-month certificate of deposit is 2.96 percent per year, down from more than 7 percent five years ago, according to Gale Liberman at the Bank Rate Monitor in North Palm Beach, Fla.

"All we have left is $20,000 from our savings and with the low interest rates it's not earning very much," Mrs. Figge said. "I would rather have more interest than an increase in Social Security."

Elizabeth Shapiro, 81, a retired government worker whose annual income of $9,600 includes $700 a month in Social Security, said many elderly in this retirement community west of Phoenix didn't think it would be like this.

"When we retired we thought we would be very comfortable, but right now we are living on the poverty level," she said.

The Social Security adjustment, legislated by Congress, is based on increases in the national inflation rate. The government said the raise is equivalent to recent pay raises negotiated by labor unions.

Social Security benefits rose 3.7 percent in 1992 and 5.4 percent in 1991.

The adjustment also affects Supplemental Security Income, the welfare program that provides a minimum income for poor people who are elderly, blind or disabled. SSI payments will increase by 3 percent, boosting the maximum monthly payment for individuals to $434 from $422 and for couples to $652 from $633.

In the Fairway Recreation Center, which offers classes and activities to seniors who can afford them, Alice Giannotti said she was angry with the pittance given to the needy elderly - even though she and her husband are financially comfortable.

"I would like the percentage of the increase to be the same the congressmen gave themselves in pay raises," she said.

Members of Congress will see their paychecks go up 3.2 percent, or $345 a month for an annual salary of $133,644, it was announced Thursday.

BULL

to the league headquarters in Albuquerque. My young bride didn't care much for my job at that time, because I'd spend six to eight nights in a row, at times, covering home games. I quickly discovered that a few players would come to me after a game and argue that they got on base with a hit, not an error as I had ruled on a specific play. They were biased, of course, for it affected their batting average. The same thing happened at times on defense--a player would argue that the ball "was too hot to handle" and shouldn't have been ruled an error. Fortunately, it was usually a good-natured attempt to get me to make a change.

One of the unusual sights at these games was the collection of "chicken-wire money." When a Lobo hit a home run, many fans would poke money--$1 up to $20 bills--into the screen wire that covered the area behind home plate. When a player hit a homer, especially in a crucial situation, you could see him eye the chicken wire and start a slow trot as he rounded second base! He would then make his way around the wire, plucking the bills between the fingers of both hands. It provided a pretty good bonus for some of the players who weren't too well paid in the Class C league. Some of the players and managers were real characters. Grover Seitz, manager of the Pampa Oilers, was a feisty pilot who would argue with the ump's and jaw with some of the fans, as well.

Some Lamesa fans who had box seats near the visitor's dugout, took pleasure in harrassing the visitors. Grover was a favorite target, and he would interact with the fans at times. Once, when a few fans were really giving him a hard time, he walked over to the chicken-wire in front of the box seats, pulled a gun from under his shirt and shot one of the fans. It was a water pistol, but it sure had some of the fans scrambling out of their seats in a hurry!

Survivor found in quake rubble

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) - Rescuers using dogs and electronic equipment today found a survivor beneath the rubble of Monday's earthquake, and pulled him from shattered apartments that had become a tomb for his wife and daughter. The official Middle East News Agency quoted its reporter, Abdullah Hassan, as saying Aksam Sayed Ismail screamed in pain as he was pulled out, and later asked for water. Rescuers also discovered the bodies of his Italian wife and 4-year-old daughter Samira, MENA reported. A round-the-clock search since Monday continued early today at the site, though there was no estimate on the number missing under the 70-apartment building. Other searches for survivors in smaller buildings ended earlier in the week.

Ismail said he heard knocking from a possible survivor nearby, but that the sounds stopped Thursday. The quake's overall death toll rose to 519 people, after 40 more bodies were found Thursday. Those injured numbered 4,109. Egyptian and French rescuers first located Ismail at 1:30 a.m. today. As they dug toward him, he was given oxygen, water and glucose through a small opening cut through the ruins of the 14-story building, MENA said. Scores of onlookers chanted "Allah Akbar," or "God is great," as Ismail, who MENA said is in his mid-30s, was pulled out and carried to a waiting ambulance. Egyptian television said Ismail suffered a broken leg but it gave no further detail on his condition.

The earthquake, and hundreds of smaller subsequent aftershocks, have seriously damaged or destroyed more than 500 homes. Seismologists expect more tremors for another two to four weeks, which could destroy many of the capital's old dwellings. Costs for relief is estimated at $140 million, and pledges of foreign aid have been pouring in from Arab and Western countries totalling more than $690 million. The German government donated $345,000 Thursday to help victims of the earthquake, the German Foreign Ministry announced in Bonn. President Hosni Mubarak's government has promised housing for all whose homes were lost in the earthquake, and has chosen the desert city of Madinat el-Salam to provide dwellings.

Study: death rate slows with age

WASHINGTON (AP) - Two life span studies of insects published today show that the rate of mortality is slowed down for the oldest of the old and suggest that nature sets no outer limits on aging. The studies, using Medflies and fruit flies, dispute theories that predict death after a set passage of time. Reports on the studies are published today in the journal Science. James Curtsinger, a University of Minnesota researcher who is lead author on the fruit fly study, said that as a result of the work there is a pattern emerging "that there is no well-defined precise limit on life span."

"There's not an alarm that goes off and then you drop dead," he said in an interview. James R. Carey of the University of California at Davis, said the research shows "you can't say that there is an age out there that nobody can ever obtain. You can't draw a line." Carey is first author of the study on Medflies. Whether or not the findings can be applied to humans is not known, Curtsinger said, but it does suggest that the standard ideas about aging and death may be wrong. "The standard gerontology model is that there is a predetermined life span. When you reach that limit you are dead," he said. "For instance, if you're 80, you've got a certain probability of death and there is nothing that anybody can do about it." The insect studies show that, in some species at least, nature created no such firm upper limits to aging. Commenting on the studies Thursday, Dr. Richard Suzman of the government's National Institute of Aging said that if the concept is proven it would mean improvements in health care for the elderly could routinely extend life well into the ninth decade and beyond. Suzman, whose agency is a part of the National Institutes of Health, said the two studies "are important leads, but not the whole story" on aging.

Randall hands Herd JV 1st loss

By JAY PEDEEN
Sports Editor

Randall's junior varsity handed Hereford's JV its first loss of the year, 20-8 Thursday at Randall.

"They beat us mentally and they beat us physically," coach Ron Young said. "They were prepared, and we were not prepared. They had a high level of intensity, and we had a low level of intensity, and we went over there and they beat us."

Chris Vallejo scored Hereford's only touchdown on a three-yard run in the fourth quarter, and Stacey Sanders threw to Hayden Andrews for the extra points. That cut Randall's lead to 14-8. Hereford elected to kick off deep, but Randall drove 70 yards and scored to ice the game.

Randall had scored on an eight-yard run in the second quarter and a 40-yard run in the third.

"We had our chances offensively, but we just could not convert our big plays into touchdowns," coach Craig Yenser. "When you get inside the 20, you have to score. We did two or three times without any points."

Yenser said the loss would help the JV, now 6-1, to stay focused for the rest of the season.

"I have a lot of confidence that these kids will come back and finish the season 9-1," he said. "They'll learn from the game and make sure it doesn't happen again."

Both of Hereford's freshman teams played in Amarillo Thursday, and the sophomore team was off, so there were no sub-varsity football games in Hereford.

The ninth grade White team scored 13 fourth-quarter points and shut out Palo Duro White in the second half for a 27-6 win. The White improved to 5-1 on the season.

Hereford's first score was on a halfback pass that was extremely wide open, coach James Salinas said. Marquise Brown threw it and Ronald Torres caught it for a 65-yard play. The run for extra points failed.

In the second quarter, Brown ran 39 yards for Hereford's second TD. Todd Dudley's pass to Martin Martinez added two more points for a 14-6 Hereford lead at halftime.

In the fourth, Brown ran 72 yards for one score, and Josh Urbanczyk went two yards for the other.

Martinez kicked an extra point after the final TD.

The ninth grade Maroon team fell 12-7 to Amarillo High's Gold team. Colby Christie caused a fumble on the opening kickoff, which led to Armando Zambrano's 28-yard touchdown run and extra point kick. That was all Hereford could get, though. The Maroon is now 4-2.

Ross gets JV award

Eric Ross is the Player of the Week for Hereford's junior varsity football team. The defensive lineman returned an interception for a touchdown and forced a fumble to key a 61-0 rout of the Borger JV Oct. 8 in Hereford.

Lions continue nightmare season

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - Four weeks ago, the Minnesota Vikings left the Silverdome smoldering, while the Detroit Lions appeared headed for another season atop the NFC Central.

After Thursday's rematch in the Metrodome, the Vikings (5-1) are smiling, not smoldering, about their playoff chances. Meanwhile, the Lions (1-5) are wondering if it's already too late to salvage the season.

"It's tearing everybody up. We're still looking for answers," Detroit's Chris Spielman said after his team's 31-14 loss. "When you've got big expectations and you don't reach them, it hurts."

The Vikings, who squandered a 17-point lead in the final seven minutes against Detroit last year, never gave the Lions a chance this time. They jumped to a 24-0 lead before quarterback Rich Gannon left early in the second quarter with a

After going 14-18 the last two seasons, the surprising Vikings are now 1 1/2 games up in the NFC Central. The last time they had a better start was 1976, when they went 5-0-1 en route to the Super Bowl.

"Once you start winning, it's kind of contagious," said Vikings running back Terry Allen, who scored one of his team's three first-quarter touchdowns. "Just like losing's contagious. Once you get used to it, it's easier to lose."

Detroit, the defending division champion, has already lost once more than it did all last season. Its fortunes have mirrored those of Barry Sanders, who scored the Lions' first touchdown but continued to struggle, gaining 52 yards on 16 carries.

"It takes a total team effort against somebody like Sanders," Vikings linebacker Jack Del Rio said. "It takes a bunch of guys swarming to the ball. You have to stay focused, and we did this time."

Sanders, who averaged 4.9 yards per carry while rushing for 4,322 yards in his first three NFL seasons, has averaged only 3.0 yards since opening the season with a 109-yard performance. He was used as a decoy early in Thursday's game and was virtually ignored while Detroit played catchup late.

When he did get the ball, the Vikings were there to greet him. The Vikings used linebacker Mike Merrilweather to "spy" on Sanders, daring Rodney Peete to pass. Peete struggled, too, completing 13 of 23 passes for 171 yards before being replaced by Erik Kramer in the fourth quarter.

The Lions' offensive line has been decimated by tragedies in the last year, with Eric Andolsek dying in the offseason and Mike Utley suffering a paralyzing injury last year. Their replacements haven't played well, giving Sanders little room to run and giving Peete little room to hide.

Gannon completed 8 of 10 passes for 146 yards before his exit. He is expected to return for the Oct. 25 game against defending Super Bowl champion Washington.

His replacement, Sean Salisbury, struggled early but clinched the victory with a 29-yard touchdown pass to Cris Carter 1:26 into the fourth period.

Carter, who tied a club record by catching a TD pass for the fourth consecutive game, was one of three Minnesota receivers with long scoring receptions. Gannon hit Anthony Carter from 47 yards and Hassan Jones from 43.

Cowboys' Bates' career may be over

IRVING, Texas (AP) - It was probably the 1,000th time Bill Bates had been clipped in his NFL life of living dangerously on the special teams. It could have been the last.

"I came down on the kickoff real aggressively just like I had done a trillion times," Bates said. "I got deep downfield then I was pushed from behind by somebody I never saw. I've been hit from behind tons of times. But this time it happened just as I was planting my leg."

Bates, the Dallas Cowboys' special teams captain, was in his 10th year when he was injured Sunday against the Seattle Seahawks. It was 10 years more than anyone thought he would play as a free agent out of Tennessee.

The 31-year-old Bates played in 81 consecutive games for Dallas. He's had 608 career tackles for the Cowboys.

He will undergo reconstructive surgery on his left knee Oct. 22. Then he'll have at least nine months of rehabilitation.

"I'm through with mourning over it and now I'm into denial," Bates said. "I was shocked the knee was damaged as much as it was. I walked off the field. I told the doctors there was no way that it was as bad as they said it was. I was wrong. It's bad."

Bates will be at the Cowboys game against Kansas City on Sunday as a spectator on the sidelines.

"I've never done that before," he said. "It will be strange. But maybe I can help by just being down there. I'm willing to volunteer to do whatever the coaches want me to do. I can still help the younger guys."

Bates said he doesn't even want to think about possibly coming back.

"I've got to put that out of my mind right now," Bates said. "We've got to see how the surgery goes."

The injury will cost Bates about $170,000. Bates opted for a split contract that would pay him more

A living legend who calls Plainview home is Joe Don Scott. Mr. Scott is an authority on catching bass, and some of his favorite fishing holes are located in Mexico. He regularly leads groups of anglers on bass expeditions down to the hottest bass lakes in Mexico: Lake Baccarac or El Salto. If you need more information about a dream trip, call Joe Don at 923-1807 or write him at 1307 Amarillo Street, Plainview, Texas 79072.

Canyon postman Jay Friemel is much too young to be considered a living legend, but his ability to catch bass is phenomenal. During the 1992 tournament season, Jay entered four tournaments sponsored by Southwest Outdoors and won three times! His most recent victory was at Lake Baylor where he caught, weighed and released the biggest bass of the tournament, a 5.97-pound largemouth bass. Second place went to Nickie Gage of Vernon for catching a nice 4.22-pound bass. Third place went to Nickie's fishing partner Rudy Koch, also of Vernon. Other hourly winners included Canyon's Jim Simpson and Spearman's Mike Hulett, an enthusiastic angler who publishes the Hansford County Reporter.

Get the lead out—If you plan to hunt pheasant at the Buffalo Lake refuge near Umberger, new rules prohibit the use of lead shot. "Deposition of toxic lead shot in refuge habitats is simply not acceptable," said Michael J. Spear, regional director for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Department. "Lead poisoning continues in waterfowl and it must be reduced." Pheasant hunts at the dry lake bed at Buffalo Lake are by permit only. For additional information, call 499-3382.

Playa Pete dreams that the fishing in Lake Meredith will someday be as good as the glory days of Buffalo Lake. In order to make his dreams come true, Playa Pete donated $50 to the Bass-in-Lake-Meredith program. He encourages you to support a fall stocking of three-six-inch long Florida bass while lake conditions are perfect for rapid growth and excellent survival. Each dollar will buy three bass. Donations may be sent to 3214 Parker, Amarillo, Texas 79109.

My old fishing buddy Curgus Lowe reports that the strippers in Lake Texoma have started their annual fall feeding. Catching a 20-pound striper is the goal of many anglers, but hooking a huge fish on a topwater lure is the thrill of a lifetime. If you want to book a striper trip or just want some accurate fishing information, call Curgus at (405) 564-3898.

Jordan admits gambling debt

CHICAGO (AP) — Michael Jordan has admitted publicly for the first time that the $57,000 check he gave a North Carolina man was to pay off gambling debts, a newspaper reported today.

"I lost it gambling," Jordan told the Chicago Sun-Times. "That's all there is to it. And that's what I'm going to say in court. I'm going to tell the truth."

Jordan lost the money playing poker, dice and golf in October 1991 while his Chicago Bulls teammates were visiting the White House, receiving congratulations from President George Bush for winning their first NBA title, the Sun-Times reported.

Jordan has been subpoenaed to testify in the trial of convicted cocaine dealer James "Slim" Boulter. The trial is scheduled to start Tuesday in U.S. District Court in Charlotte, N.C.

Jordan and Boulter had said the money was a loan to help Boulter build a golf driving range. Court documents filed by U.S. Attorney Tom Ashcraft allege it was a payoff for a golf gambling debt.

Boulter has pleaded not guilty to 12 federal charges accusing him of laundering drug money for the Charlotte cocaine ring led by James Edward "Ned" Johnson. Johnson is serving a 20-year sentence and is cooperating with prosecutors.

Jordan said he kept referring to the money as a loan because "I was caught off-guard by the question and I was too ashamed of what I had done. But when I realized my mistake and discovered the background of the people I had been with, I told the truth and offered a public apology."

Jordan said he told the NBA and federal authorities at a meeting last March that the checks were for gambling debts.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

"JEERING AND GIBING"--THE ANCIENT ART OF "PSYCHING YOUR OPPONENT OUT!"

WHAT WITH COUNTLESS BOOKS WRITTEN ON THE SUBJECT OF PSYCHOLOGY, ITS USE IN DAILY LIFE, AND ITS RESULTING EFFECTS ON OUR FELLOW MAN, IT MIGHT SEEM THIS SCHOOL OF THOUGHT WAS INVENTED IN THE LAST HUNDRED YEARS. NOT SO! THE ANCIENT BIBLICAL ARMIES JEERED THEIR OPPONENTS AS THEY APPROACHED IN BATTLE FORMATION, HURLING THE MOST HORRIBLE INSULTS THEIR TONGUES COULD CONTRIVE! WHEN THE EMISSARIES OF THE KING OF ASSYRIA STOOD BEFORE THE WALLS OF JERUSALEM AND SHOUTED AND JEERED AT THE INHABITANTS OF THE BESIEGED CITY BOASTING OF THEIR POWER TO MAKE JERUSALEM A PILE OF RUBBLE, THE PROPHET ISAIAH STANDING ON THE BATTLEMENTS OF THE WALL GAVE THEM AS GOOD AS HE GOT WHEN IT CAME TO INSULTS! WHEN THE PHILISTINE ARMIES CONFRONTED KING SAUL AND DEMANDED THE ISRAELITES SEND A CHAMPION TO GIVE COMBAT TO THEIR FEROCIOUS GIANT GOLIATH, THIS PROPOSAL WAS ACCOMPANIED BY A CHORUS OF TAUNTS AND THREATS! SO THE NEXT TIME YOUR OPPONENT ON THE GOLF COURSE OR TENNIS COURT TRIES A LITTLE "PSYCHING OUT" TO GET YOU OFF YOUR GAME JUST REMEMBER HE IS ONLY PRACTICING A VERY ANCIENT ART!

SAVE THIS FOR YOUR SUNDAY SCHOOL SCRAPBOOK.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I saw your recent column on family leave legislation and was disappointed to see that it told only one side of the story. I strongly support family leave—the ability to take time off for a birth, an adoption, or to tend to a sick family member. But the real question is how to achieve that goal.

The family leave bill that I recently vetoed takes one approach—another government mandate. My alternative approach is to provide an incentive tax credit for all small and medium-sized businesses, those with 500 or fewer employees. My approach would help employers pay for benefits that continue while an employee is away. Thus, my tax credit encourages companies to adopt family leave policies.

This is similar to the child care program I proposed and Congress passed. It puts power in the hands of parents, not bureaucrats. It lets families, not the federal government, choose their child care.

My tax credit approach has another big advantage: The proposed bill covers only businesses with 50 or more employees, leaving out millions of employees of small firms. My solution covers these small businesses as well.

And, Ann, two out of every five working Americans work for an employer who has 50 or fewer employees. Small business is the backbone of our economy. We should be making it easier for them to provide family leave, not more difficult.

I hope you will use this letter to give your readers the whole picture, Ann. Sincerely—George Bush, president of the United States.

DEAR PRESIDENT BUSH: Thank you for an excellent letter. It makes a great deal of sense to me. In the spirit of even-handedness, however, I asked my own Sen. Paul Simon from Illinois to express his point of view. Here it is:

DEAR ANN: It's wrong to force a worker to choose between helping at home or keeping a job. We all know families who have faced that choice. For these families and their employers, the Family and Medical Leave Act is a solid answer. It's not complicated or burdensome. It sets a federal minimum standard to allow a worker to take up to 12 annual weeks of unpaid leave so he or she can care for a newborn baby or adopted child, or help a seriously ill child, spouse or parent. It protects the employee's job while he or she is away.

Family leave benefits everyone, including businesses. The bill exempts firms with fewer than 50 workers, and a federal study says the cost to employers would be just $5.30 a year for each covered employee. Sixty-four nations have such laws. U.S. firms that have led on this say they enjoy better productivity and morale and lower turnover and training costs because of their family leave policies.

The president's bill promises businesses a new tax break for giving time off without pay. That would cost an estimated $2.7 billion over five years. His proposal does not assure workers they can return to the same or comparable jobs. The next generation will surely take family leave protection for granted. Sen. Paul Simon, chairman, Senate Subcommittee on Employment and Productivity

DEAR SEN. SIMON: I appreciate your response. And now I would like to say to my readers, you've heard both sides of the story. It's up to you to decide whether you are for or against this bill. It has been vetoed by President Bush but will be coming up again early next year. This means, of course, the fate of his bill is in your congressman's hands.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm on the side of the woman in Sarasota who complained about the cardiologist who always arrived in his office an hour late. I'm especially angry because you slapped her down and made excuses for the doctor.

I work for a surgeon and you would not believe what goes on in this man's office. "Dr. D" sits at his desk, feet up, talking to his broker, his kids, his mother or a golf buddy for an hour while patients are waiting to see him. If anyone complains about waiting, we've been instructed to say, "Dr. D. is consulting with another doctor."

Sometimes, between patients, Dr. D. goes to his desk and counts the checks and money while people are waiting to see him. When he strolls in late because he overslept, we are told to say he was delayed in surgery.

Granted, doctors do get backed up and run late now and then, but nonsense like this occurs on a daily basis. Meanwhile, those of us who work for this character often get home one or two hours late. No name, city or state, please. Just—Plain Fed Up

DEAR FED: You can't do much about your employer's unconscionable lack of professionalism, but you certainly have a right to complain about the hours.

To expect people to work an hour or two after quitting time on a continuing basis is outrageous. I hope you will band together and make your case.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been reading your column ever since I was in junior high. I've followed you from Detroit to Pittsburgh to Philadelphia, and now I read you in the Memphis Commercial Appeal.

A while back, you printed a piece called "Just for Today." I've based my entire philosophy of life on it. My copy is so worn out that I can barely read it. Would it be possible to print it again, not only for me, but for the people who may have never seen it? When I tell you it changed my life, I'm not exaggerating.

Thanks so much, Ann.—Ellen J. in Memphis

DEAR ELLEN: What a lovely letter. It means a lot to know that I've been such an important influence in your life. Here's the essay. Thanks for asking.

JUST FOR TODAY

Stress of farm life linked to accidents

Contrary to the popular image of farm life as an idyllic refuge, agriculture is one of the most stressful occupations in America.

According to the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA), stress caused by everything from bad weather to unsafe working conditions is a major reason for many illnesses and injuries on U.S. farms.

A study released in September during National Farm Safety Week found that farmers and farm laborers had one of the highest rates of death due to stress-related illnesses. Heart and artery disease, hypertension, ulcers and nervous disorders topped the list of killers, according to the study by the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health.

Stress also can be linked to farm accidents that caused 1,400 deaths and 140,000 disabling injuries in the United States last year, the National Safety Council reported.

The council urges farmers to "take charge" and find ways to reduce stress in their lives by:

-Keeping farm machinery in good condition. Fewer breakdowns means less stress on the job.

-Recognizing that stress exists and reacting to it appropriately. If you bury it inside, stress can create mental and physical problems.

-Talking out problems with family, friends, clergy or professional counselors. Open discussion can clear your head and reduce anxiety.

-Eating a balanced diet and limiting consumption of caffeine and alcohol. If you smoke, try to quit.

-Getting a full night's sleep. Light reading or relaxing music can help insomnia.

One in five U.S. residents own stock or invest in stock mutual funds.

Sunday school class has auction in Thomas home

Members of the Kingdom Seekers Sunday School Class met recently in the home of Luella Thomas for their annual fund raiser, an auction.

During the auction, a crocheted shawl, made by Kim Mills and donated by her mother, Nell Mills, was featured. Proceeds from the auction are used for the activities of the class.

President Erma Bain called the meeting to order and Fannie Townsend voiced the prayer.

Members were encouraged by Pauline Landers, teacher of New Happenings, to participate in upcoming activities.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 10 in the home of Trudie Gray.

Refreshments were served to Bain, Wilma Bryan, Velma Carroll, Maxine Coleman, Gray, Juanita Houle, Landers, Dorothy Sargent, Ruby Skelton, Ruby Stevens, Thomas, Coy Tice, Townsend and Rosie Wall, who served as auctioneer.

Little hands should be watched

Where medications and children are involved, accidents can happen. Parents need to know that children should not have access to items in the medicine cabinet.

NARD, the association representing the nation's 40,000 independent retail pharmacies, says every medicine cabinet should have a child-proof section that locks.

If that's not possible, set aside a locked space for storing items such as drugs, laxatives, astringents, mouth washes, antiseptics, sleeping tablets and other medications.
