A quick look at today's news

Local Stuff

STATE CHAMPS

•Zach Walker, in persuasive speaking, and Camille Betzen, in informative speaking, won the UIL Class 4A state championships at Austin on Saturday. We'll have a complete feature on their accomplishments in Wednesday's Brand. Hereford was the only school, regardless of class, to win two state championships in the numerous speech events. It's also thought to be the only time Hereford has won two state championships at the same state meet.

PET SHOW

•Entry forms are available now at Class Act in Sugarland Mall and at the Chamber of Commerce office for the children's pet show to be held at 3 p.m. May 11 at the Mall. The show is sponsored by the Women's Division.

BLOOD DRIVE

•The Hereford High School National Honor Society will sponsor a blood drive May 15th from 2:30-7 p.m. at the HHS auditorium. High school students participating will be entered in a contest for a new car; adults will be entered in a drawing for a trip to Mexico, shopping spree at Furr's, a freezer with a 1/4 beef, color TV and 200 gallons of gas.

Sports Stuff

COMING UP

•The road between Hereford and Austin is a busy one this week, with the Hereford girls' golf team taking off today for Jimmy Clay Municipal Golf Course in Austin. See how the girls think they'll do, and the promise of the future, in today's Brand.

BULLS TAKE LEAD

•The Chicago Bulls took a 2-0 lead in their series with the Philadelphia 76ers with a win Monday. Get the details on all the NBA and Major League Baseball, plus much more, in today's Sports in the Brand.

TV Stuff

TUESDAY

•No wonder things are screwy in Washington. Tony Danza is off to Washington to lobby against Social Security cutbacks on Who's the Boss, 7 p.m. on Ch. 7.

WEDNESDAY

•Scott Bakula is someone different every week on Quantum Leap (9 p.m., Ch. 4). This week he is one of "the Battling Rooskies, a professional rassler.

Weather

STORM CHANCE

•As we went to press today the sky looked promising for some moisture sometime, somewhere. Maybe it will be here. We have a chance for some showers and thunderstorms this evening, and there's a chance for more Thursday and Friday.

LeGate wins mayor election

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor
Hereford voters elected Tom LeGate as the city's new mayor Saturday, and elected two new hospital board members and three school board members in the municipal elections.
The job isn't over for some Hereford-area voters, however; there will be a May 25 runoff election between Joe Flood and Steve Wright for the District 5 school board seat. Flood was tops in the three-man race with 184 votes, but that was only 42 percent of the vote. Wright was second with 139 votes, while David Bone was a close third with 119 votes. Flood would have needed 50 percent plus one vote (in this case, 222 votes) to claim the seat outright.

LeGate outpolled challenger Paul Hamilton, 773-491, to claim the mayor's post. LeGate's lead was not so great among Saturday's voters, 424-301, but LeGate salted the election away with a strong showing among persons who voted early, 349-190, for the easy win.
"I'm relieved that it's over," said LeGate on Monday. "I'm glad we've gotten through this stage."
"We've got quite a bit of work ahead of us, starting with hiring a new city manager. We need to hire one pretty soon, because August (City Manager Darwin McGill) plans to retire August 31) will be here before we know it. I'm anxious to get my sleeves rolled up and get to work on this. It is our No. 1 priority before we get on to other things."

"We have a lot of things to do, the final screenings and interviews before we can actually get somebody on board. We would like to have them here during August for a smooth transition."
Sylvana Juarez (Place 1) and James McDowell Jr. (Place 3) were unopposed in the city election. Juarez, an incumbent, had 55 votes, while McDowell, a political newcomer, garnered 259 votes. McDowell will fill the post formerly held by LeGate on the city council.
Mal Manchec and Dr. Randal Vinther were elected to the Deaf Smith County Hospital District board of directors along with incumbent Raymond Schroeder, but Ralph Detten was defeated as he sought another term on the board of the troubled hospital district.

Vinther led all candidates in Saturday's county-wide election with 882 votes, while Manchec was second with 738 votes. Schroeder, who has served on the board for one term and is the current hospital board president, was third with 731 votes.
Detten, who had served two terms on the board, was fourth with 606 votes, while Seletta Gholson was fifth with 436 votes.
In the other school board races, District 3 incumbent Raymond Schlabs defeated challenger Martha Rincon, 164-57, to earn a second term; and Mike Veazey upended William Gromowsky, 278-137, to earn the District 4 seat.
Officials were pleased with the total election turnout, with over half of the votes actually cast before Saturday's election. Many persons took advantage of the early voting period, which ended on Tuesday before the election and which prevented long lines on Saturday.

Cortez is group's top citizen
Steve Cortez, right, was named the Hereford Public Service Association's Citizen of the Year at the annual Cinco de Mayo Celebration held Saturday. Congratulating Cortez on earning the recognition is Joe Soliz Jr.

Cortez wins HPSA honor

Steve Cortez was honored for his volunteer efforts in Hereford as the Citizen of the Year of the Hereford Public Service Association.
Cortez, an Energas employee, was presented his award at the annual Cinco de Mayo Celebration in Hereford on Saturday. He was presented with the award by Edward Maldonado, the 1990 recipient.
"This year's citizen of the year is really a role model, even for," said Maldonado. "He does a lot of things for people in the community, and a lot of people don't realize all of the things that he does. This guy really deserves this award and a lot more."

Cortez is a certified EMT and works with the Hereford Emergency Medical Service, and is active in St. Anthony's Church. He has also worked for several years with the Christmas Stocking Fund, which benefits hundreds of disadvantaged persons in the community during the holidays.
Maldonado said Cortez's work is not confined to Hereford: He pointed out that Cortez helped a disadvantaged Dimmitt woman to discover a gas leak, doing the work on his own time and at no charge.

"I don't know what to say except thank you," Cortez said. "Hopefully I can continue to do whatever it is I do for the community. It means a lot to me."
Hundreds of persons enjoyed the annual celebration, which featured food and refreshment stands, mariachis and other live entertainment during the day Saturday.

Barringer is honored
Ensign Greg Barringer, right, was honored Saturday at Sugarland Mall. Barringer recently returned from action in Operation Desert Storm. Visiting with Barringer is Henry Reid, the master of ceremonies for the event. The celebration for Barringer included presentations from the Sugarland Mall Association and Operation Heartshield, a speech by Joe Weaver, and songs by Vickie Ortiz, the Nazarene Christian Academy fourth graders, Lesley Woodard and the Chosro and Bright Sparks Camp Fire groups.

City pares manager list to 6 persons

By DANEE' WILSON
Staff Writer
During executive session at the Monday City Commission meeting, commissioners narrowed down applicants for city manager to six candidates.

The short list includes: Beelee Goodwin, Friona; Fred Hayes, Oklahoma City, Ok.; Kenneth Taylor, Portland; Michael Moore, Cisco; James Murray, Spearman and Chester Nolen, Harlingen.
Commissioners will start interviewing the six candidates sometime the week of May 13, said Mayor Wes Fisher.
Commissioners hope to have a new city manager hired and on the job by August 1 to allow the new manager to work with current City Manager Darwin McGill, who will be retiring on August 31.
City Commissioners voted, during regular session, to put a lien on the Fellowship of Believers property for paving of the west side of Kingwood Street and the intersection of Plains and Moreman.
The church will pay for the paving by setting up a four year payment plan. The plan will include interest.

"There is plenty being done about enforcing the ordinance," McGill said. "We don't know about all the business, but we enforce the ordinance when we know about it."

The ordinance signed in 1957 and revised in 1987 specifically states that "Customary home occupations shall not include...electrician's shops" and numerous other occupations.
"You have our sympathy," Fisher said. "But we can't bend the rules. I hope you understand where we're coming from."
Donna Weaver stated that she and her husband own a business that have to pay overhead, so it is only fair to stop home businesses.
Commissioners approved a zoning change at 401 West Holly Sugar Road from R-1 to heavy industry. The property is occupied by Poarch Brothers' new facility.
After discussion at an earlier meeting and a traffic study, it was determined that the traffic lights at Second and Main and Fifth and Main could be removed. Commissioners voted to remove the lights from this area and use the old lights for parts.
A two-way stop sign, stopping the east-west traffic, will replace the signals.

The city received one bid for the scraper and one bid for the compactor for the Health Department.
Commissioners agreed to spend $267,117, with a $70,000 down payment and the balance to be paid out monthly for four years, for a scraper. The compactor will cost $174,390 with a $49,000 down payment and same terms as the scraper. The items were purchased on a lease-purchase agreement with a guaranteed buy back.

The ordinance allowing the implementation of the Texas Municipal Retirement System was signed by commissioners. The change was approved earlier this year.
Dr. Howard Johnson was reappointed as the city's health officer.
The commission accepted the election results from the May 4 elections. Tom LeGate was pronounced winner of the mayoral race and Sylvana Juarez and James McDowell Jr. were named winners of the two commission seats.

Students compete in Amarillo

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I are European. We have resided in the United States since 1981. My husband's son by a former marriage has been living with us for the past year and is now a senior in high school. We felt that this final year in an American school would make him more sophisticated.

As you know, high schools sponsor dances during the year, including a winter formal and the famous prom. "Gerard" wanted to attend the winter formal but balked at the $50 cost, which we agreed was quite an expenditure. He was somewhat disappointed to miss the affair but did not complain.

A few weeks ago, we received information about the senior prom. Gerard really wanted to go and the cost seemed reasonable -- $40. However, after talking with friends, he learned it would be closer to $400 for the tuxedo rental, a limousine, tickets for him and his date, the girl's corsage, a meal for two at a fancy restaurant and professional photographs.

I am shocked at this figure. I run my own business from home and have an infant to feed and clothe. Four hundred dollars is almost a week's earnings for me. It's what I spend for food in an entire month. I cannot imagine spending this sum of money on an evening out for my husband and me, much less a teen-ager. My husband said it was "insane."

We originally agreed to pay half the cost of the prom, since Gerard pays for gas, phone and entertainment out of his earnings from baby-sitting his half-brother and running business errands for me. Now we've all decided it's too costly.

Gerard is disappointed to miss what would have been the highlight of his social life as a teen-ager. I wonder how other parents feel about spending this kind of money on their teen-agers. I worry, too, about what this does to a young person's values. If they have all this fancy stuff at 18, what is there to look forward to?

I am well aware of the importance of celebrating life's milestones with appropriate ceremonies. The high school prom commemorates a rite of passage from childhood to adulthood. My gripe is the price tag. Can only the rich in America have fun? -- Anaheim

DEAR ANAHEIM: I, too, find a $400 evening for teen-agers outrageously expensive and have for a long time suggested that the schools put a stop to this sort of thing. High school kids don't need tuxedos, limousines, fancy dinners in a downtown hotel and professional photographs. In some cities the prom is held in the school gym, a lovely catered dinner is served right there and everyone has a wonderful time. (And there is no booze.)

The problem is that a great many teen-agers work these days and make very good money. If they want to spend it on what we consider outrageous luxuries, no one has the right to say they can't. Unless the school changes the system, parents are helpless.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently you printed a letter from the mother of a redheaded boy who was a standout in any crowd. People kept asking the same dumb questions about the origin of his hair color. My nephew had that problem when he was growing up.

One day while shopping, Jimmy became especially annoyed when someone asked, "Where did you get that red hair?" He blurted out, "Neiman Marcus." -- Ann Fan

Perez talks of childhood to extension club members

Margaret Perez spoke of her early childhood and her desire to learn the English language when members of Wyche Extension Homemakers Club met May 2 in the home of Louise Axe.

Perez, a former member of the Ford 4-H Club, told how her family made plans to make their home in the Panhandle and seek their fortune. She joked, "That was 31 years ago, so I guess the 'temporary' move may be permanent."

President Carol Odom opened the meeting by leading a prayer and reciting the pledges to the American and Texas flags.

It was announced that Argen Draper will give a program on the 911 telephone line at the May 16 meeting after which the club will disband until Sept. 5. Marcia Ginn will serve as hostess and Beverly Harder, Deaf Smith County extension agent, will also speak.

Those present were Virgie Duncan, Ginn, Camelia Jones, Pet Ott, Louise Packard, Audrey Rusher, Brenda Rusher, Clara Trowbridge, Dorothy Lundry, Shirley, Brown, Mary Stufflefield, Draper, Odom, Axe, Mary Lou Aven, Ruby Carmichael and Perez.

Banquet planned Saturday

Dr. Marvin L. Lamb, dean and professor of the school of Music at Baylor University, will be the featured speaker during the Panhandle Baylor Club Spring Banquet planned at 7 p.m. Saturday in Amarillo.

Area alumni, friends of the university and interested guests are invited to attend the banquet in the Harold Smith auditorium of High Plains Baptist Hospital, 1600 Wallace Boulevard.

For additional information, call Ernie Boyd at his office, 1-374-3662 or 1-354-9475.

Better Business Bureau (BBB) offices are a wealth of information. They can provide helpful consumer assistance at no charge. Unfortunately, they are often misunderstood.

The BBB is not:

- a government agency
- a consumer protection agency
- supported by tax dollars
- a source of legal assistance
- allowed to make recommendations or endorsements concerning businesses.

The BBB is:

- a private, nonprofit organization
- supported by business members' dues
- a source of information regarding complaints lodged against businesses
- a mediator of complaints between businesses and customers
- a resource for consumer information to aid customer decision making.

Better Business Bureaus handle inquiries and complaints. The BBB offers general consumer information through reports and pamphlets containing summaries of business practices. A report may focus on a particular company's customer experience record or may give an overview of an industry.

The BBB will also inform consumers of complaints which have been brought to their attention regarding a particular company. The bureau can usually respond to inquiries for information regarding charities or philanthropic organizations which have requested contributions.

The BBB assists in resolving complaints against businesses. Bureaus do not handle complaints concerning legal matters, credit matters, collection of accounts or wages owed. When written complaints they can handle are received, the Bureau sends them to the company concerned for review and reply. When the company responds, the BBB will help to resolve differences between the business and customer.

Whether or not complaints are answered or resolved, each complaint becomes a part of the history on that company. Because of this, complaints which cannot be resolved are still helpful to other consumers who call to request information on a company before doing business.

Better Business Bureaus do not offer judgements regarding businesses. They offer factual information designed to allow the consumer to make informed decisions. This means the consumer may have to interpret warning signals in Bureau responses. For example, a response of "There is a pattern of no response from that company," means the company has ignored previous attempts by the BBB to intervene on behalf of dissatisfied customers and may ignore complaints.

While the consumer must be alert to warning signals, it is unfair to assume that any company with a complaint filed against it is unscrupulous or that all complaints filed against a company are valid. Likewise, the fact that a company has no complaints filed against it does not automatically mean it is a reputable business. A business history takes time to develop, and only a fraction of consumers will take the time to file a complaint with the BBB.

By providing consumer information and handling complaints, local Better Business Bureaus serve as useful community consumer resources.

Aluminum recycling conducted Spring cleaning can mean a little extra cash to West Texans as well as a cleaner garage. It can also mean fewer items left on the curb for landfills.

The Hereford buying locations are tractor-trailer business units, staffed during business hours by a uniformed Reynolds employee. The tractor-trailer is located at 535 North 25 Mile Avenue, 2:30 p.m.-5 p.m., Tuesday through Friday; 9 a.m. to noon and 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. on Saturday.

Reynolds Aluminum Recycling Company, which has been rewarding conscientious recyclers nationwide for more than two decades is taking extra steps to help area residents clean up this spring.

"There is no reason for any recyclable aluminum to wind up in a landfill," said Donald V. Brodmerkel, area business manager for the Reynolds Metals Company subsidiary. "It's really a matter of education and starting new habits."

In addition to all-aluminum beverage cans which people have grown accustomed to recycling even at the workplace, Reynolds recycles items as small as aluminum foil to siding and building materials.

"We have increased our work with school programs this year," Brodmerkel said, "to teach the benefits of recycling at an early age. In addition, our buying locations are staffed with employees trained to help customers identify aluminum items."

Reynolds purchases almost anything made of aluminum, plus copper and brass. For more information, consumers may call (806) 372-2092, or toll-free, 1-800-228-2525.

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) - What would you get if you crossed a dolphin and a cellular phone? A phone with a lot more channels, says University of Rochester Professor Edward Titlebaum.

Titlebaum is searching for ways to increase the number of channels available to users of sonar, radar, cellular telephones and satellites. He takes his research cues from dolphins and other animals such as bats whose sonar systems are much more sophisticated than manmade systems.

VACATIONS POPULAR WITH AMERICANS

NEW YORK (AP) - The saying "all work and no play" is not the rule for most Americans, according to a new annual national behavioral study.

Survey results indicated that 91 percent of Americans packed their bags and set off on a vacation last year, with visiting family and friends the most popular type of vacation (39 percent).

The study was conducted for the North American Advertising Agency Network by Message Factors, Inc., a national research firm.

Accent on Health

The Texas Department of Health (TDH) and other government and private groups concerned with drinking water quality are observing the fourth annual National Drinking Water Week which concludes Saturday, May 11.

According to James Pope, director of the TDH Division of Water Hygiene, "The observance is meant to enhance public awareness of drinking water issues. The public should recognize that the health, safety and quality of life we enjoy depend upon drinking water quality."

Pope said that the drinking water in the U.S. is "the best on earth," thanks to advances in purification and high government standards. "However," he said, "the problems of providing safe drinking water are becoming increasingly complex."

He explained that only 25 years ago, "We didn't have the technology to detect everything that was in our drinking water. But with today's sophisticated testing instruments, we know more about our water than ever before."

TDH and other water quality authorities use their advanced technology to ensure the safety of treated water and curb a growing list of would-be pollutants in the state's water supplies.

The TDH Water Hygiene Division has enforcement authority in Texas of the Federal Safe Drinking Water Act of 1974 and its amendments of 1986. The Act mandates national guidelines for preserving and improving drinking water nationwide.

According to Pope, since the law requires testing for and control of many contaminants not previously regulated, many municipal water systems throughout the U.S. will need modernization.

Among the Water Hygiene Division's duties are:

- Inspecting the state's 7,246 public water systems to protect the safety and quality of drinking water. Inspectors submitted more than 9,322 water samples for chemical testing at the TDH laboratories last year.

- Monitoring construction, operation and maintenance of public drinking water systems.

- Certifying more than 10,535 water works operators statewide.

- Reviewing engineering plans for new and existing water treatment systems, completing 738 reviews late year alone.

- Maintaining chemical and bacteriological sample records from all public water systems, totalling some 321,335 such records by the end of 1990.

-Providing technical assistance (about 30,000 times in 1990) to owners and operators of both public and private water supply systems.

Partnership tournament May 11

The Hereford Ladies Golf Association will be holding a Two-Ladies Scramble Tournament scheduled for Saturday, May 11, at the City Golf Course.

Registration forms are available at the Golf Pro Shop. For further information, contact Brent Warner at 364-2782.

Following the event, awards will be presented during a luncheon at the Hereford Country Club at 2 p.m.

To perform Friday

Jeremiah People, a musical comedy group, will present a special program for the entire family at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the First Church of the Nazarene, located at 1410 La Plata St. According to the group's spokesperson, "The program gets to the heart of the things that pull our families apart and reveals the source that puts them back together again." There is no admission charge and the public is invited to attend.

Senior parents needed

All parents of Hereford High School seniors are desperately needed to help work on decorations for the class prom.

According to Linda Daniel, "We will need as many parents as possible during the next two weeks to get the work completed in time for the prom. In conjunction with the prom's theme of 'Underwater Fantasy', we have been recycling many items for decorations including cleaner bags, foam packing used for furniture, packing for clothing received from local stores and even tumbleweeds."

Tonight and Thursday evening, parents will be decorating at Sugarland Mall. Beginning Saturday, May 11, those helping decorate will meet at the Hereford Community Center. The schedule is as follows:

- May 11: 7:30-10 p.m.
- May 12: 2-5 p.m.
- May 14: 6-11 p.m.
- May 15: 6-11 p.m.
- May 16: 1-5 p.m.
- May 17: Beginning at 1 p.m.
- May 18: Finish decorating, time will be announced.

The prom is scheduled Saturday, May 18, from 9 a.m. until 1 a.m. at the Hereford Community Center. For additional information, contact Linda Daniel at 364-2701.

Q. What's an easy way to remove the thin layer from shelled peanuts?
L.A., Ortonville, MI

A. Just before you use the peanuts, roast them in a 350 degree oven for three to five minutes. Remove from oven and cool slightly. Rub peanuts between fingers to remove skins. You can also freeze shelled raw peanuts several hours or overnight. Then remove a few at a time from freezer and slip off skins with fingers.

Q. When I roll my peanut butter balls in chocolate with added paraffin wax, the mixture remains sticky. What do you recommend?
A.V., Greenville, NH

A. First, we don't recommend using paraffin to firm your candy because the wax isn't intended for people to eat. The stickiness probably is caused by humidity in the air. Making the recipe this time of year in a northern climate should pose no problem. But, in a humid climate, the stickiness is almost impossible to prevent.

Q. Why does the crust pull away from the filling for pumpkin pie?
E.G., Oklahoma City, OK

A. The pie is overbaked when the crust separates from the filling. Test the pie for doneness near the end of baking time by inserting a sharp knife near the center. When it comes out clean the pie is done. There is no need to wait for pie to brown or set further.

Cinderella HHS girls' golf team hopes for good state showing

The Hereford High School girls' golf team is on the road to Austin today, preparing to compete in the State Class 4A Golf Tournament to be held Thursday and Friday at Jimmy Clay Municipal Golf Course in Austin.

The team of Paula Britten, Dusty Saul, Jennifer Prater, Jo Jo Lytal, Stephanie Walls and Cecilia Albracht. The team surprised the field at the Region 1-4A Golf Tournament two weeks ago in San Angelo, storming back on the second day to take second place in the tournament. Hereford shot a round of 400 on the first day, then cut its score to 371 on the second day to wrap up the second regional berth behind Andrews.

It's the second time in recent years the HHS girls have played at state: the 1988 team finished fourth at Austin, also playing at Jimmy Clay. "I don't think any of us thought this would happen (go to the state meet)," said Saul.

Albracht said the realization of going to state had not really hit the team, yet.

"But the coaches have told us it will probably hit us on the way, or when we get to Austin," said Saul. "When we get nervous I think we all play a little better. That's what happened at regional. We were all sitting there shaking before we teed off. I think we'll play real well."

Playing well will be needed at the course, noted for sand traps and bunkers and water on most holes.

"This is a super hard golf course," said HHS golf coach Stacy Bixler. "It's not a Panhandle course. There is sand around all the greens, water on the holes, out of bounds on every hole. It is just about as tough as you can find anywhere."

While defending champion Andrews is almost guaranteed another state title with its veteran team, the rest of the field is wide open. Besides Hereford, teams at state and their state-qualifying scores at the regional meets included Henderson (759), Sulphur Springs (747), Little Cypress-Mauriceville (788), Wharton (795), Bastrop (731) and Corpus Christi Tuloso-Midway (786). Hereford qualified with a 771, while Andrews fired a 680 at regional.

"Andrews is going to be the team to beat, but any team that comes out of our region does pretty good at state," Bixler said. "Our region has a history of making a good showing when they go down there."

While the Hereford girls are looking forward to a good showing this year, they feel the experience will pay dividends in the future.

"We're all sophomores except for Paula, and a lot of people didn't think we could do it," said Lytal.

"A lot of people didn't think we could do this as a team," said Britten, a junior who paced Hereford with a two-day total of 176, including a second-day 82 that was the best score of the day at regional. "...Pampa wanted us to re-add our scores."

"Pampa was more worried about Andrews and Snyder than they were about us," said Saul. "This is going to help us try a lot harder next year, because we want to beat Pampa in district and Andrews at regional."

The girls were scheduled to leave for Austin after school today and will arrive in Austin on Wednesday. They are accompanied by Bixler and assistant coach Donnie O'Rand.

"I want to give some credit to Coach O'Rand," said Britten. "She's really helped us a lot this year. She does more than she has to do to help us."

Lewis wins goat tying

The Hereford High School Rodeo Team participated in the Gruver Tri-State Rodeo on May 4-5 at Gruver.

Regina Lewis of Hereford won the only first-place award for Hereford, winning the goat tying in 10.997 seconds. Chasity Rickman was second in 12.016.

Rickman was fifth in the barrel racing in 18.040 seconds, and paced three Hereford competitors in pole bending, placing fifth in 21.926 seconds. Regina Lewis was sixth in poles in 22.109, and Jennifer Smith was seventh in 22.2 seconds.

In breakaway roping, Smith was fourth in 23.699 seconds, while Rickman was seventh in 42.952.

Amy Hill of Channing, with 26 points, was all-around girl, while Casey Overturf of Floydada, with 18 points, paced the boys.

Cabbiness is saddle winner

Chris Cabbiness of Hereford was the saddle winner in a saddle roping held Saturday, sponsored by the Hereford Riders Club.

Justin Hogue and Lloyd Lujan won the pre-roping in 18.94 seconds, while Cameron Burruss and Pat Padilla were second in 20.77.

In the No. 5 jackpot, Cabbiness and Red Padilla were first in 31.5 seconds, while Red Padilla and Tammy Valdez teamed up to take second in 37.61 seconds.

In the No. 7 jackpot, Charles Romero and Jessie Valdez were first in 26.2 seconds, with Ray Archer and Jessie Valdez taking second in 27.47 seconds.

Bulls hold off late 76ers' surge, take 2-0 lead in play-off series

CHICAGO (AP) - The Chicago Bulls defended their turf. Now it's the Philadelphia 76ers' turn.

The Bulls held off a late surge by the 76ers Monday night for a 112-100 victory and a 2-0 lead in the best-of-7 series that now goes to Philadelphia for games Friday night and Sunday.

"We defended our home court as we knew we would have to do. Now the pressure is on them," said Michael Jordan, who scored 29 points to lead the Bulls.

"We took their punch, held them off and succeeded," said Horace Grant, who rebounded a Jordan miss and scored after the 76ers had cut a 14-point deficit to 103-98 with two minutes left. That started a six-point surge that clinched the outcome.

"Their backs are against the wall," Grant added.

Two other semifinal series open tonight with Detroit at Boston in the Eastern Conference and Utah at Portland in the West. The Los Angeles Lakers, who lead 1-0, will play host to Golden State in Game 2 of their conference semifinal Wednesday night.

The 76ers, who never came close in Saturday's 105-92 loss, were in it this time. The teams were tied 33-33 after the first quarter and the 76ers went ahead 37-33 to start the second quarter.

The Bulls then went on a 7-0 run to go ahead to stay, but they were unable to put it away until the final two minutes.

After Grant's put-back basket, Scottie Pippen, who finished with 23 points, scored the next four points to give the Bulls an 11-point lead with 1:02 to play.

"Grant's stickback was the big play of the game," said 76ers coach Jim Lynam. "We came out and played a better offensive game, but we missed too many second shots. We have to play better defense if we're going to beat these guys. Specifically, we have to go home and win two games."

The 76ers had better offensive balance than in the opener. Hersey Hawkins scored 30 points, Armon Gilliam had 22 and Charles Barkley 20.

All five Chicago starters scored in double figures.

Jordan was pleased that the Bulls did not falter when the 76ers made their late run.

"We did not lose our poise, and that's a sign of a mature and positive team," Jordan said. "We're doing well right now. We have to go to Philadelphia focused and unified."

The big surprise was that the Bulls rebounded the 76ers 42-27.

Pirates beat Reds, Cubs edge Astros

PITTSBURGH (AP) - A lot has changed in the 160-plus days since the Cincinnati Reds and Pittsburgh Pirates last played several meaningful games in Three Rivers Stadium.

During the National League playoffs that Cincinnati won in six games last fall, Pittsburgh couldn't score runs. Now it's the Reds.

Back then, two of the Pirates' biggest weapons were Doug Drabek and Barry Bonds. Now they're Orlando Merced and Vicente Palacios.

One thing was the same before the Pirates beat the Reds 3-1 Monday night behind Palacios' three-hit effort over seven-plus innings: Both teams were in first place.

"It's early in the season, but you've got to be a little excited to play the defending champions," Pirates manager Jim Leyland said.

Few would have guessed the Pirates would be anywhere near first place, much less in possession of the majors' best record (16-9) on May 7, if they knew Drabek would be 1-5. Or that Bonds would be hitting .159.

"That's why it's a team game," Leyland said. "That's why you have 25 players ... not just your stars."

In the only other games played in the National League Monday, Montreal beat San Francisco 10-4 and Chicago edged Houston 4-3.

Palacios (2-0), who has a staff-leading 1.52 ERA, limited Cincinnati to one hit until Eric Davis homered in the eighth. The right-hander walked seven and confronted bases-loaded, one-out jams twice in the first three innings, yet pitched out of trouble both times.

Palacios is in the rotation only because Bob Walk has a pulled groin, but he's pitched so well that a jokester taped "Pipp" over Walk's locker nameplate. Wally Pipp was the New York Yankees first baseman who had a headache one day and was replaced by Lou Gehrig.

Davis said the Reds had no right squandering two good scoring chances, despite a season-long slump that's seen them score just 78 runs in 24 games. Only Houston has scored fewer runs.

"We knew (Palacios) wasn't throwing strikes, but the only thing we did was bail him out of jams,"

Cubs 4, Astros 3

Dave Smith got a save in his first game back at the Astrodome and George Bell hit a two-run homer in Chicago's four-run fourth inning as the Cubs beat Houston.

Smith, who signed as a free agent with the Cubs, pitched 11 seasons in Houston and is the Astros' all-time save leader with 199. He received a polite ovation while taking the mound in the ninth inning and retired the side in order for his sixth save, striking out one.

Greg Maddux improved to 4-1, allowing three runs and four hits in seven innings before Paul Assenmacher relieved.

Davis said. "We're not hitting and everybody wants to be the guy who gets the hit that breaks us out of the drought, and everybody's trying too hard. It's happening to all of us."

That's evident by the Reds' averages: .164 (Billy Hatcher), .192 (Paul O'Neill), .103 (Glenn Braggs), .190 (Luis Quinones), .188 (Mariano Duncan) and .189 (Jeff Reed).

"I'd like to see somebody get hot, because I'll play him," Reds manager Lou Piniella said.

One player who isn't having an average season is Merced. Since he was recalled April 15 to replace Walk on the roster, few pitchers have gotten him out.

Merced is hitting .350 with two homers and seven RBIs.

He doubled off Jose Rijo (1-2) to lead off the first and scored on the first of Bobby Bonilla's two run-scoring singles. Rijo lost despite allowing three or fewer earned runs for the fifth straight start. Expos 10, Giants 4

Delino DeShields, Marquis Grissom and Tim Wallach each hit home runs in the fourth inning, powering Montreal past visiting San Francisco. Kevin Mitchell hit two homers for the Giants, giving him a major league-leading 10 for the season.

Don Robinson (0-1) was roughed up for seven runs and eight hits in three-plus innings. The Expos scored five runs in the third inning, sparked by starter Dennis Martinez' leadoff double. Martinez (4-2) gave up four runs and 12 hits in seven innings.

Griffeys lead Seattle victory

SEATTLE (AP) - When the Seattle Mariners signed Ken Griffey Sr. as a free agent last August to play in the same outfield with his son, they insisted it was a solid baseball move.

On Monday night, the 41-year-old Griffey showed once again it was no public relations gimmick.

Batting cleanup, just behind his son, No. 3 hitter Ken Jr., the elder Griffey produced his 152nd career home run to lead the Mariners to their third straight victory over the New York Yankees, 4-2.

"I'll tell you, these guys have some people to get you out with," the Yankees' Don Mattingly said. "I don't think there's anyone who throws any better than their right-handers do."

"If that team over there can score some runs, they're dangerous. I mean big-time dangerous."

And if the Mariners are going to score runs, the Griffeys have to produce at the plate.

Griffey Jr. had his second consecutive three-hit night, including a double, and raised his batting average to .337.

In Monday's only other American League game, Baltimore blanked California 7-0.

Griffey Sr. became the sixth Seattle player to hit in the cleanup spot this season. The Mariners are still shy a power hitter, but they're getting solid pitching and playing good defense since an 0-6 start.

A crowd of 24,210 watched the Mariners even their record at 13-13 to bring the attendance at the four-game series to 125,240, a single series record in the Kingdome. The Mariners are 13-7 since their feeble start and have won nine of their last 10 at home.

Griffey Sr. knows he has to drive in runs when he bats cleanup.

"When I hit fourth, I just try to hit the ball in the gaps and try to drive in some runs," he said. "But I'm not thinking about home runs or anything like that."

Griffey Jr. said he hasn't gotten over the joy of being on the same field with his father.

"It's a big thrill any time my dad gets a hit," he said. "But it's a big thrill just to be out there on the field with him and to see him play."

The Griffeys helped Erik Hanson (3-1) get the victory, although Hanson needed relief help from Rob Murphy and Bill Swift after struggling in the eighth inning. Hanson gave up six hits and two runs in 7 1-3 innings, striking out nine and walking one.

Rockets want better end

HOUSTON (AP) - The Houston Rockets won a team record 52 regular season games, but still made another first-round exit from the NBA playoffs.

Now they have the entire off-season to figure out why it happened and how to write a happier ending for 1992.

"I think the most important thing is we are on the right track, building a fine team for the future," Coach Don Chaney said.

"We were beaten by a great team that's been on a roll. We'll be better served for this next year."

The Rockets have been to the playoffs seven straight years, but since reaching the NBA finals in 1986, they've advanced past the first round only once, losing in the second round.

The Los Angeles Lakers swept the Rockets in three games in their first round series, benefiting from two controversial calls that helped them win games one and three.

But the Rockets weren't blaming officiating completely for their disappointing finish.

"We had a great season and I hated to see it end this way," forward Otis Thorpe said. "You hate to see a series end on an officials' call instead of a great play."

Byron Scott's basket in the final seconds of the first game helped the Lakers to a 94-92 victory. The Rockets claimed Scott's shot came after the 24-second clock expired.

Another controversial call with 16.9 seconds to play helped the Lakers end the series with a 94-90 victory in the finale when Thorpe couldn't get the ball inbounded and referee Wally Rooney gave possession to the Lakers.

"I didn't expect to be packing my bags this soon and thinking about a contract situation," guard Kenny Smith said.

Smith will become a restricted free agent July 1, but he is only one part of what promises to be an off-season of activity.

Chaney is without a contract and guard Vernon Maxwell is due to have his contract renegotiated.

Rockets owner Charlie Thomas has the team for sale and the Rockets would like to improve their small forward position, possibly using guard Sleepy Floyd in a trade to move up in the draft.

The Rockets also are trying to obtain former University of Houston forward Carl Herrera, currently under contract in Spain.

Smith, who was a key in Houston's second half surge, doesn't want to change addresses.

"First and foremost, I'd like to be back in Houston next season," Smith said.

"But the decision is 10 percent mine and 90 percent out of my hands."

The Rockets have reason to be encouraged about their latest first round departure. They overcame severe obstacles last season and still won a team record number of games.

Hakeem Olajuwon sat out 25 games with a fractured eye socket, but instead of folding, the Rockets united and posted a 15-10 record in his absence. Houston had a 13-game winning streak in March and was 14-1 for the month.

But that's where they peaked, missing chances in the final month of the season to win the Central Division title and positioning in the playoff bracket.

"I look at a team that won 52 games and played 25 without Hakeem Olajuwon," General Manager Steve Patterson said. "I don't think you want to break up a team like that."

The Rockets have the No. 20 selection in the first round of the June draft.

SWC to decide baseball tourney berth

DALLAS (AP) - The Southwest Conference said a conference call today would decide the fourth and final qualifier for the SWC post-season baseball tournament.

Texas Christian, Arkansas and Houston ended the SWC season with 10-11 records in conference play and tied for fourth behind Texas, Texas A&M and Baylor. After a review of tie-breaking procedures, SWC commissioner Fred Jacoby announced Monday that TCU would get the tournament berth.

But Arkansas and Houston appealed the league's application of the tie-breaker, which threw a final determination into the hands of the SWC executive committee. The SWC said the vote would be by conference call today.

League officials originally named Arkansas as the qualifier, but decided to wait for Jacoby's interpretation on Monday of the tie-breaking rules. Jacoby cited Appendix J of the league's bylaws, which stipulate that the first tiebreaker among three or more tied teams is determined by the winning record among the other tied teams.

TCU won all three games from Houston, and lost two of three to Arkansas. Arkansas lost two of three to Houston. Thus, the overall head-to-head record in games played among the three teams was TCU 4-2, Arkansas 3-3, and Houston 2-4.

League officials cited previous tiebreaking procedures in basketball as precedent. In 1988, a three-way tie among Houston, A&M and Texas Tech was settled by Houston's 3-1 record against the other two.

TCU athletic director Frank Windegger said he was among a group of baseball coaches who wrote the tiebreaking rule after a 4-way tie for first in 1966 was decided by a coin flip.

"We were perturbed about it being decided that way, and we came up with the language of a tiebreaker. The conference later adopted it for all sports," Windegger said.

Windegger is one of the five members on the SWC executive committee, but said he would abstain from voting on the question because of TCU's involvement. Others on the committee are SMU faculty representative Paul Rogers, Texas Tech faculty representative Bob Sweazy, Texas faculty representative James Vick and Texas A&M athletic director John David Crow.

TCU has never played in the SWC post-season tournament, now in its 15th year. The tournament will be discontinued in 1992 in favor of a 36-game double round-robin schedule.

The tournament will be held May 16-18 at Texas A&M.

Tarpley free after incident

DALLAS (AP) - An attorney for Dallas Mavericks forward Roy Tarpley predicts that misdemeanor assault charges against his client won't affect drunken-driving cases pending against him.

Tarpley was released Sunday afternoon from the Houston City Jail on $500 bond after being charged with assaulting Ardia Preston, 30, who claims to be his girlfriend. If convicted, he could face up to one year in jail and a $2,000 fine.

The arrest is the latest in a string of brushes with the law for the troubled player. Tarpley was arrested March 30 in Dallas on a charge of driving while intoxicated. He was suspended indefinitely without pay for violating his NBA-mandated aftercare program for substance abuse.

The suspension was imposed by the ASAP Family Treatment Program in Van Nuys, Calif., which runs the NBA's anti-drug program.

It was the second suspension leveled by ASAP against Tarpley, who is a two-time offender of the NBA's anti-drug program. After a DWI arrest in November 1989, Tarpley was suspended without pay for 33 games, costing him $225,365.

Following his March arrest, Tarpley was charged with felony DWI, his second offense.

Jay Ethington, Tarpley's attorney, said a probation revocation hearing hasn't been set yet. An initial appearance has been scheduled May 16, the same day as his DWI trial, he said.

Ethington said he expected the weekend incident to have little effect on the other pending cases.

"(The authorities) are looking at this, but I think they'll see it's not worthy of taking to court," he said. "It's a minor situation that's not worthy of their attention."

Dallas Mavericks officials said Monday they'll withhold judgment on Tarpley's status with the team until the charges are settled.

"I was more encouraged talking to Roy last week than I've been since he won the Sixth-Man Award (in 1988)," general manager Norm Sonju said. "If it's true what happened this weekend, it just flies in the face of all that. I can't even think about that. When that happens, we'll be able to comment."

Sonju said the team's owner, Don Carter, was dedicated to helping Tarpley overcome his troubles.

"Roy has some problems and we've been trying to work with him," Sonju said. "Working with a man like Mr. Carter, it's always been our feeling that you just work with that asset first to make him a productive member of society, then a contributing member of the team."

Police said the altercation began when Preston told Tarpley that she planned to move back to Dallas.

The woman called police from Tarpley's apartment at 4:16 a.m. Sunday to report the beating, said police spokesman Richard Retz. After making the call, she waited for assistance in the apartment complex's parking lot.

Ethington termed the incident a "domestic-type squabble."

"Right now, talking to the woman, the evidence shows he didn't do it," Ethington said. "There was an argument, she slammed a few doors in the apartment, announced she was leaving, wasn't going to have anything more to do with him ... she fell over the door and fell down on the threshold area.

"She's got a history of a dislocated shoulder, so it popped out," he said.

Preston, who had a dislocated right shoulder and bruises on her back and forehead, was treated at a hospital emergency room and released.

Arnsberg goes on DL

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - The Texas Rangers placed righthanded pitcher Brad Arnsberg on the 15-day disabled list because of pain in his right elbow, apparently bone spurs.

Team physician Dr. Mike Mycoskie examined Arnsberg Monday, and Arnsberg will go Wednesday to Birmingham, Ala., for further examination and likely arthroscopic surgery.

Arnsberg was removed in the fifth inning of Sunday's game at Detroit because of the pain.

To replace him, the Rangers purchased the contract of lefthanded pitcher Jim Poole from their Class AAA farm club, Oklahoma City, of the American Association. Poole, 25, had no record and 3 saves and had allowed no runs in 12.1 innings over 10 appearances with the 89ers.

Poole, acquired in a trade with the Los Angeles Dodgers, will join the Rangers in Toronto Tuesday.

The Rangers also announced the signing of former Seattle righthander Mike Campbell to a contract with their Class A farm club, Tulsa, of the Texas League.

The 27-year-old Campbell replaces righthander Bobby Reed, who has been placed on Tulsa's disabled list with a stress fracture in his back.

Campbell was 8-16 with a 5.74 earned-run average in 34 major league starts, all with Seattle from 1987-89. He spent all of 1988 with the Mariners, going 6-10 in 20 starts.
