A quick look at today's news

Local Stuff*JUNIOR HIGH

You can see the work of some of our top young students at an open house Tuesday at 7 p.m. at Hereford Junior High. Work from the industrial arts, art, general motor repair and home economics classes will be featured.

WELCOME HOME

There's been a misunderstanding by some folks about the "welcome home" ceremonies being sponsored by Sugarland Mall. Persons wishing to be on the program or participate in other ways should contact Charlotte Skaggs at HCR Real Estate (they manage the mall) at 364-4670.

Meanwhile, if you have any ideas about the July 4th celebration, you can call the chamber of commerce at 364-3333 and they'll pass along your ideas or tell you who you can call. All ideas (and helpers) are welcome.

CHAMBER SINGERS

The Hereford Chamber Singers will present "We're Proud To Be Americans," a special spring concert, at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the Hereford Senior Center, and at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the HHS auditorium. The concert will feature patriotic music selections and will honor those who have served in the armed forces.

Sports Stuff*RED HOT RANGERS

The Texas Rangers are hot as a rocket. Speaking of rockets, Roger Clemens was one of the many pitchers lit up by the Rangers. Get the scoop on the Rangers in Sports, Pages 4 and 5.

TV Stuff*TONIGHT

It's an old television special, but it showcases three special talents: Dean Martin, Frank Sinatra and Judy Garland. You can see it tonight at 9 on the Disney Channel (Ch. 2).

WEDNESDAY

I forgot. Oh, yeah, the American Memory Test will be given at 7 p.m. on Ch. 10. If you're a horror movie fan, check out Nightmare on the 13th Floor on USA (Ch. 15) at 8 p.m.

Weather*RAIN CHANCE

If you'd like to see it rain, keep your fingers crossed: there's a slight chance for rain tonight and Wednesday, and maybe even Thursday and Friday.

Sharing a laugh at Saturday ceremony

Trio honored Saturday

Three Hereford soldiers who served in the Desert Storm operation were welcomed home by family, friends and well-wishers Saturday afternoon at Sugarland Mall.

PFC Brad Harguess, USMC; and E2 Doug Rains and Pvt. Eugene McMorries, both with the U.S. Army, were honored at the program. McMorries was a late addition to the program, arriving home late Friday night.

Jigger Rowland was the keynote speaker for the event, while entertainment was provided by Suzanne Schreiber, vocal soloist; the Crox Sisters, a dancing team, and Keith Flood, a 4-H Club member who presented a special reading on the Pledge of Allegiance.

Rowland praised the soldiers for dedication to duty. He recalled that, prior to the Gulf conflict, he was seated at a mall and watched some of the young men walking by with long hair and earrings. "I remember telling my wife that I hoped we didn't get into a war, because I didn't think our younger generation could handle it."

"I am proud to say that you, and other young men and women like you, have proved me wrong," Rowland said to the trio.

Henry Reid, Sugarland Mall manager, served as master of ceremonies and presented special t-shirts and caps to the servicemen. Carl and Charlotte Skaggs, representing Operation Heartshield, presented gift certificates from Sirloin Stockade to the soldiers. Roy Shave, Central Church of Christ minister, voiced the invocation. Members of the local American Legion Post presented the colors.

Family members placed special medals around the neck of each soldier, and each serviceman expressed thanks for the support shown to the troops in the Gulf War. Harguess gave thanks for the great support and the welcome home. "I thank you for the prayers," said McMorries. "I feel they helped keep me behind the lines and out of the hospital," he quipped.

Rains, a Bronze Star medal winner, said he was "proud to be an American" and proud to serve his country. He received the Bronze Star for "heroism in ground combat, Feb. 27, 1991, while serving as a Bradley driver...his heroic actions and courage were a key to the mission in the destruction of Iraqi forces and the liberation of Kuwait."

Queen wins Texas' heart during visit

AUSTIN (AP) - It took Queen Elizabeth II only hours to capture the hearts of Texans during her whirlwind tour of the Lone Star capital, Gov. Ann Richards and former first lady Lady Bird Johnson said in toasting the monarch at a formal dinner.

Richards and Mrs. Johnson hosted a reception and dinner for 240 people at the Lyndon B. Johnson Library and Museum, located on the University of Texas campus, where the queen and Prince Philip had a private meeting with Mrs. Johnson Monday night.

"On this special evening, we hope that Her Majesty and His Royal Highness have enjoyed themselves in Austin as thoroughly as we have enjoyed their company," Richards said.

"You have gone to the hearts of all the citizens of Texas, and we are so proud to have shared this time with you," she said.

The queen was scheduled to visit San Antonio, Dallas and Houston after leaving Austin today.

The first British monarch to set foot on Texas soil, the queen won cheers from thousands Monday afternoon as she stood in front of the century-old Capitol and praised the well-known Texas pride.

"No state commands such fierce pride and loyalty. Lesser mortals are pitted for their misfortune in not being born Texans," she said.

Survey results

- 47.5% feel things are going "in the right direction" in the area.
- 44.8% feel creation of new jobs is the biggest problem or issue.
- 74.3% "lean favorably" to expansion at Pantex.
- 62% "trust" the Department of Energy.
- 57.3% believe Pantex expansion would have a positive impact on the Panhandle.

The survey of 400 adults in Potter, Randall, Carson and Armstrong counties was conducted May 13-14. The margin for error was plus or minus 4%.

Work on the plutonium-processing was stopped in 1989 because of safety problems. The DOE will make its decision in 1993 on how to consolidate its nuclear weapons plants.

Madden said Panhandle 2000 is "delighted with the responses thus far."

"There will be the hard core who want nothing to do with nuclear energy or anything related to it, and that's fine," he said. "There'll be those, though, who are afraid of the unknown."

Amarillo's bid for the expansion includes several environmental, health and safety oversight requirements that the DOE must meet, Madden said.

Nolen named city manager

By DANEE WILSON
Staff Writer

Hereford City Commissioners selected Chester R. Nolen as the city manager Monday, Nolen will replace the retiring manager Darwin McGill.

Nolen, 41, was selected out of 33 applicants for the position, and was one of six finalists for the post. Mayor Tom LeGate announced the selection and called Nolen who accepted the manager job.

Presently, Nolen is the general manager of the Harlingen Waterworks system in Harlingen.

Nolen was instrumental in persuading the Fruit of the Loom corporation to build a $48 million cotton mill, which provided jobs for 3,000 people, in Harlingen. He has been actively involved in city government for the past 18 years.

"He has had an outstanding career from day one," LeGate said. "He has come through the ranks and was just the best candidate."

"There were several things that attracted him to me," Commissioner Wayne Winget said. "I was impressed with his accomplishments and his communication skills."

Nolen is expected in Hereford around the beginning of August. McGill's retirement day is August 31.

Also Monday, commissioners elected Terry Langehennig as Mayor Pro-tem, and passed a resolution suspending a proposed rate increase submitted by Energas.

Cities are allowed to suspend the request for 90 days to allow time for a comprehensive review of the validity of the proposal.

Commissioners agreed to join other area cities in the Energas rate request. Darwin McGill will be serving on the steering committee for reviewing the request. Hereford is one of 66 cities affected by the rate change.

Commissioners met in closed session to review and consider appointments to Plumbing and Mechanical Board of Adjustments and Appeals, Board of Electrical Examiners and Golf Course Advisory Committee. No action was taken during the closed session and appointments will be made at the June 3 meeting.

County adopts budget, raises

By DANEE WILSON
Staff Writer

After hours of deliberation, the Deaf Smith County Commissioners voted during a special meeting Monday to accept a preliminary $3.77 million budget that would keep the same tax rate and give county employees a four percent raise in pay.

When the county paid off the jail, the tax rate automatically fell back to .42 cents. With the proposed tax rate of .4697 cents, the citizens of the county will not be paying any more in taxes as the rate would be the same as it has been for the past three years.

All county employees and elected officials, excluding county commissioners, will enjoy a four percent pay increase. The commissioners voted to leave themselves out of the pay increases.

Commissioners haggled over the amount of the employee's pay raise. "I would like to see a five percent increase in salaries straight across the board," said Judge Tom Simons.

"We need to take care of the employees," Commissioner Lupe Chavez said. "I would like to see at least a six percent increase for employees. I think the elected officials would rather see more money for the employees than a raise for themselves."

Working with the proposed budget, after numerous cuts, the commissioners were limited to approximately $80,000 to use for salary increases. This limited them to a four percent increase for employees.

"I don't see how we can go any higher than four percent," said Commissioner Troy Don Moore. "I understand that we may have more carry over than this budget is showing, but a raise will be an on-going thing and then we would be looking at raising taxes for the 1992 year."

"I don't think it is the employees fault that insurance costs have risen or that we have to spray weeds," Simons said. "It appears to me that the raise has always been the culprit. We've been telling the employees they'll get a raise when the jail is paid off. We need to make some amends."

"It's been hard on the taxpayers, too," Commissioner Johnny Latham said.

"I think we need to leave the judge and the commissioners out of it and give everyone else a 5 percent raise," Simons said.

Moore's motion for the four percent salary increases to all employees and elected officials, excluding only the county commissioners, passed unanimously.

Commissioners were forced to slice approximately $120,000 out of the budget requests in the general fund and $40,000 from the road and bridge budget.

The county clerk's office had to put a computer that would allow direct retrieval of birth certificates from Austin on hold for another year. Several line items were cut by 10 percent.

The public hearing on the budget will be held in June.

In other business, the commissioners tabled adopting a drug and alcohol policy until it has passed committee inspection.

Commissioners met in executive session to discuss real estate, no action was taken on the matter.

Man jailed here on cocaine charge

A Portales, N.M. man is in Deaf Smith County Jail today in lieu of $50,000 bond in connection with possession of cocaine charges filed against him on Monday.

Jacinto Orazco, 51, of Portales, was arrested Monday by law enforcement officers as he was catering Hereford on U.S. Highway

60. Deaf Smith County District Attorney Roland Saul said authorities acted on a tip received Monday.

Deaf Smith County sheriff's officials and the Hereford Police Department worked together on the arrest, Saul said.

Officials confiscated 20 grams of cocaine, with a street value of $2,000.

WASHINGTON - Hundreds of thousands of people seeking disability pay would be required to take a controversial exercise test under rules that the Bush administration plans to unveil soon.

WASHINGTON - The enactment of a Soviet law liberalizing foreign travel and emigration could prompt the United States to remove trade restrictions that have hampered development of commercial ties between the superpowers for decades.

MOSCOW - The Soviet Union has passed a human rights milestone by giving its citizens the right to emigrate. But some Western countries are shuddering at the possible impact of the measure they have long demanded.

KUWAIT CITY - Twenty-three journalists go before a martial law court and could be hanged for working for the Iraqi-run newspaper that belittled the royal family during the occupation. Their appearance follows the sentencing to 15 years in prison of a man whose only stated crime was wearing a Saddam Hussein T-shirt.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. - The Army is stepping up efforts to improve the Patriot missile system that won wide praise for its performance against Iraqi Scud attacks in the Persian Gulf War. Among the planned changes is an on-board set of "eyes" to make the Patriot less dependent on its ground-based computer system.

WASHINGTON - The American Red Cross is fighting to preserve its image as the dependable collector of half the nation's blood by overhauling the collection system that evolved a half-century ago.

WASHINGTON - Marines who didn't storm ashore in Kuwait have hit the devastated beaches of Bangladesh to disperse food, medicine and even road-building equipment. In Iraq, soldiers cradled babies - and guns - to help refugees in the wake of the Persian Gulf War.

Texas

AUSTIN - Queen Elizabeth II was toasted by Gov. Ann Richards and former first lady Lady Bird Johnson at a formal dinner after a whirlwind tour of the Texas capital.

MATAMOROS, Mexico - State and federal officials are considering whether to conduct a cell-by-cell shakedown of a prison seized over the weekend by inmates in a bloody riot that left 18 dead and eight injured.

FORT WORTH - The 100 top-spending lobbyists at the Texas Capitol have spent $1.6 million since January 1990, an average of $10,841 per legislator, according to a newspaper survey. The state's 181 lawmakers are paid an annual salary of $7,200, plus $30 per day in expenses while the Legislature is in session.

AUSTIN - A $500 million prison plan to get 12 counties to drop their lawsuits against the state has not been approved by any of the counties, the bill's sponsor said. On Monday, the Senate sent the proposal to the House on a 26-4 vote.

DALLAS - The nation's big airlines, still feeling battered by the recession, have started a second summertime fare war. Northwest Airlines started the fare promotion over the weekend, cutting ticket prices by as much as 20 percent and letting children fly along for up to half off. American, Continental, Delta, Midway, United and USAir matched the promotion on Monday.

DALLAS - In a rare judicial move, a federal judge has stripped the lead attorney representing the state in a 17-year-old lawsuit over Texas' mental health care system.

WASHINGTON - If Congress kills the space station, the nation will suffer a five-year to 10-year technological decline like the one it experienced when the Apollo moon program ended, the nation's top space flight official says.

HOUSTON - A doctor who performed the first gene therapy for cancer says he will soon begin shuffling the genes of patients' own malignant cells to vaccinate them against their tumors.

AUSTIN - The Texas House tentatively approved a bill to require no-fault automobile liability insurance in Texas. Such a system provides for people hurt in a motor vehicle accident to collect from their insurer, within certain limits, regardless of who was at fault. But their right to sue is limited.

Lobbyists spend big bucks

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - The 100 top-spending lobbyists at the Texas Capitol have spent $1.6 million since January 1990, an average of $10,841 per legislator, according to a newspaper survey.

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram said a review of Secretary of State records also shows the top 100 lobbyists spent $579,802 in the first three months of the year, an average of $3,203 per legislator.

The surveys come at a time when the Legislature is considering changes in the state's ethics laws. Gov. Ann Richards has demanded tougher rules.

"I think it's a smoldering issue among the people of Texas," Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock said. "It was an issue in nearly every campaign of every legislator that ran and every state official whose name was on the ballot last year."

"I think it's the type of issue where people are waiting to see whether the Legislature lives up to its word on ethics reform that all of us ran on," Bullock said.

Under the current law, lobbyists only must report how much they spend, not on whom or for what specific purpose.

"I think we have the appearance, if not the actuality, of money influencing legislation," said Secretary of State John Hannah, designated by Richards as point man on ethics reform.

"Lobbyists say that the reason they spend money is so they can have access. But if it's buying access, then should only be able to buy so much," he said.

But Hannah said the perception of corruption is inaccurate.

"Most people down here work very, very hard and very, very long hours for amazingly little money and do on the whole an amazingly good job," Hannah said.

The state's 181 lawmakers are paid an annual salary of $7,200, plus $30 per day in expenses while the Legislature is in session.

The newspaper reviewed court records in several counties and found that at least 250 cases have been delayed because defendants' lawyers also are legislators who have been granted continuances while they work in Austin.

"For a line prosecutor, it's very, very aggravating," Harris County District Attorney Johnny Holmes said.

The Star-Telegram said its review of secretary of state records found that former Rep. Ralph Wayne, now a lobbyist for the Texas Civil Justice League, had spent $105,055, mostly for publications and mailouts, in the first quarter, the most of any Austin lobbyist.

Elizabeth Giles, a lobbyist for Philip Morris, has spent $221,323 since January of last year, tops in that 15-month period, the newspaper said. Wayne was second with $110,883.

Although the bulk of Ms. Giles' and Wayne's expenditures were for advertising and publications, most of the remaining money was classified as "entertainment."

The newspaper found that lobbyists have paid for legislators to enter celebrity golf tournaments, go on hunting trips or attend college football games.

Other legislators have used contributions to pay for office staff or personal possessions such as cars, dry cleaning and hairdos.

A conference committee is scheduled this week to reconcile different ethics bills passed by the House and Senate, but critics say neither bill goes far enough to limit abuses.

The bills places some limits on lobbyists' activities, and how legislators may use the money, but only the Senate bill would limit campaign contributions. The House last week rejected including such an amendment.

"The legislation that has been proposed does not speak to some of the conduct the public things ought to be illegal," said Travis County District Attorney Ronnie Earle, who has led an investigation into legislative ethics this term. The investigation has led to the indictment of Speaker Gib Lewis on two misdemeanor ethics violations. He has denied any wrongdoing.

"These proposals simply use new words to protect the status quo in terms of who uses what to get access to power," Earle said in a letter to Richards last week.

The newspaper cited numerous examples of how lobbyists ply their trade, and what happens to the expenditures.

Among them:

- Mario Martinez, a former legislator who now lobbies on behalf of the Texas State Troopers Association, paid the $2,000 entry fee for House Appropriations Committee Chairman Jim Rudd to play in the Legends of Golf pro-am tournament in Austin last week.

- Spencer McClure, a lobbyist for community centers for the mentally retarded, reported spending $1,513 for a reception "honoring Mike Moncrief's contributions to (mental health and mental retardation)." Sen. Moncrief, D-Fort Worth, has sponsored several pieces of legislation involving mental retardation. He also reported giving Moncrief a $135 clock, paying $62 for a lunch with Moncrief's staff to plan the reception and $27 for a corsage for Moncrief's wife.

- The Texas Chemical Council sponsors an annual dove hunt in Mexico.

- Dow Chemical Co. lobbyist Ron Dippery took about a dozen lawmakers to a private hunting lodge in East Texas last May.

- Sen. Eddie Lucio, D-Brownsville, furnished his Austin apartment, paid family members $10,475 for campaign work and gave his staff more than $12,650 in bonuses with money from political supporters.

None of the activities violates current ethics or campaign contribution laws in Texas.

Many in state government say that the attention focused on ethics this session has been unfair and created an inaccurate perception.

"There is an overabundance of thickheadedness in the Legislature, but there is not an overabundance of corruption," said Rep. Al Granoff, D-Dallas. "People keep wanting to believe there is but there just isn't."

Even Richards, who has been critical of legislative ethics, said: "These matters that are described as ethical misconduct are not really that, as far as I'm concerned. They are an error either in interpretation of the law or an error in judgment."

More than 400 people died in 1928 when the San Francisco Valley in California was inundated with water after the St. Francis Dam burst.

Liability legislation pending

AUSTIN (AP) - The Texas House tentatively approved a bill to require no-fault automobile liability insurance in Texas.

Such a system provides for people hurt in a motor vehicle accident to collect from their insurer, within certain limits, regardless of who was at fault. But their right to sue is limited.

House approval is required in another vote before the bill may go to the Senate for consideration. Preliminary passage came Monday on a vote of 80-63.

Rep. Jim Tallas, R-Sugar Land, and backers of his bill said it would give quicker payment to accident victims. It also calls for a 12 percent premium rate reduction in coverage for bodily injury.

"I think it is a consumer bill," Tallas said. Rep. Billy Clemons, D-Pollock, said "ridiculous settlements" in insurance cases have led to high rates.

But opponents argued that the measure would limit consumers' access to courts without guaranteeing a rate reduction. They said rates have not gone down in other states with no-fault systems.

"I don't think that's what we want to do in Texas," said Rep. Curtis Seidlits, D-Sherman. He also said injured people would have to deal with an insurance adjuster to try to get a fair settlement.

Under current law, damages for bodily injury are based on who was at fault in a motor vehicle accident. People who are injured may recover damages for medical expenses, lost wages, punitive damages, pain and suffering, emotional distress and loss of earning capacity.

Tallas' bill would require a motor vehicle insurance policy to carry coverage of at least $20,000 per person, per accident for bodily injury, and $15,000 for liability.

A covered person only could be held liable in a lawsuit for medical expenses and lost wages over $20,000. The person could not be held liable for non-economic loss, such as pain and suffering, except for serious injuries.

Serious injuries would include death, permanent and serious impairment of an important body function, or permanent and significant disfigurement.

Insurers would have 30 days after receiving proof of loss to pay benefits.

In other action, the House tentatively approved bills to:

- Allow judges to order the use of a breath-analysis device on the vehicles of first-time drunken-driving offenders. The devices will not allow the vehicle to be operated if a breath test shows ethyl alcohol. Judges now may order installation of the devices only on second or subsequent convictions.

Another vote is required before the bill goes to the Senate for consideration.

- Authorize the Public Utility Commission to regulate those who use automated equipment for telephone solicitation, in which a voice message is conveyed without a live operator. The bill already has passed the Senate.

- Provide for school districts to coordinate the use of sites for pre-kindergarten programs with existing child-care programs and Head Start programs. The bill already has passed the Senate.

Thomas receives Reba Award

Patsy Rudd Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rudd of Amarillo, granddaughter of Mrs. Paul Rudd of Hereford and Mrs. R.A. Wells of Wheeler, recently received the Supervisory Reba Award for 1991.

Thomas attended schools in the Hereford district until the 9th grade. She then moved to Amarillo and graduated from Tascosa High School in 1971 and from Northwest Texas School of Nursing in 1974. She worked at the pavilion from graduation until May 1990, then transferred to the medical floor at Northwest Texas Hospital.

During 1974, Dr. Richard Archer made a generous monetary donation to the Amarillo Hospital District as the result of the sale of personal property. It was specifically requested that the interest accumulated annually from the investment of funds be used to recognize outstanding performances by Amarillo Hospital District employees. The fund known as "The Reba Fund" has been established and is administered by the Reba Fund Trustees.

Planning concert

The public is invited to attend the Hereford Chamber Singers' spring concert scheduled at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center and at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Hereford High School auditorium. "We're Proud to be Americans" is the theme of the concert which is under the direction of Jan Walser, at left. Dee Anne Trotter is the piano accompanist for the group. There will be no admission charged but donations will be accepted. The concert, which will feature a variety of patriotic numbers, is dedicated to this nation and to the thousands of men and women who serve in the armed forces.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I have had X-rays twice, and they cannot find anything wrong. About three hours after eating, my stomach bloats terribly. Sometimes I even have to loosen my pants because I get bloated so badly. Could you tell me what could cause this to happen? I'm a 73-year-old man, 5 feet 4 inches and weigh 175 pounds.

DEAR READER: You may be surprised to learn that about 10 percent of the population has significant discomfort from gaseous distention. You are not alone. Most of the gas comes from undigested food that is then fermented in the colon by bacteria. It is usually undigested carbohydrates that cause the problem. That includes the starches, breads and fibers.

Everyone forms gas, but the quantity is sufficiently limited that it escapes unnoticed spontaneously. Distention occurs because of a spasm in the colon. That is usually in the lower colon at the sigmoid region. There is a valve where the small intestine joins the colon near its beginning. It is closed. The result is the entire colon — beginning on your right side, across your upper abdomen and down to the rectum — is like a giant, long balloon being distended with trapped gas formed from fermentation.

I have explained how this happens in more detail in Special Report 95, Gaseous Distention, which I'm sending you. Others who want this report can send $3 with a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/95, P.O. Box 787, Gibbstown, NJ 08027-9908.

Food intolerance is usually the cause. A frequent offender is milk. The lactose sugar may not be digested because of the lack of an enzyme. The lactose is then fermented and also acts like a laxative, causing distention and discomfort.

A frequently overlooked factor also is coffee, both regular and decaffeinated. I have discussed the gas-forming foods and how to find the foods you don't tolerate in the report I'm sending you. It should help you change your diet to avoid some of the problem.

Many people think antacids will help. They don't, because they have nothing to do with failure to digest foods and fermentation. Some people get relief from charcoal tablets, taken about an hour after meals. If you could lose considerable weight that may help.

DEAR DR. LAMB: We had a discussion on social diseases, mainly gonorrhea and syphilis. They maintain that gonorrhea, if not treated over a lengthy period of time, evolves into syphilis.

I say this is not true. They are two different germs and that syphilis invades the blood and central nervous system and gonorrhea invades the genital area. Please explain the difference for uninformed friends.

DEAR READER: You are right. They are two entirely different types of bacteria, and gonorrhea will not evolve into syphilis. However, it is possible to get both diseases, and it is not rare for a person who is infected with gonorrhea to also have syphilis, since both are transmitted sexually, sometimes at the same time.

In playoff game here Canyon blanks Friona, 10-0

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Canyon broke open a close game, scoring 10 runs late in the game to take a 10-0 decision over Friona in a Class 3A bi-district playoff game Monday at Whiteface Field in Hereford.

Canyon (18-8), champions of District 1-3A, will now face the winner of today's Graham-Brownfield bi-district game in the area round of the playoffs. There is a chance that game, depending on the winner and potential coin flips, could be played in Hereford.

Canyon pitcher Isaac Padilla shut down Friona, allowing only a fourth-inning double down the left field line by Brice McMurtry. Friona's Cody Simmons drew two walks, and Julian Colunga and Charlie Snead reached on errors. Padilla (10-3), perfect through 3 1-3 innings, struck out 12 Friona batters in the game, shortened to five innings by the 10-run rule.

"I had a lot of control," Padilla said. "I just wanted to throw strikes and let my defense help me." Padilla kept Friona batters off stride with his fastball and a sharply-breaking curveball.

"I had good command of my pitches," Padilla said. "Usually I only have one that's working well, but today I had both."

While Friona's batters went down in order during the first three innings, Friona's Tony Cuevas had to struggle in the first two innings. Cuevas dodged trouble in the first inning by picking off Canyon's Kevin Kraai at first, then avoided giving up a run by coaxing Eric Hall to pop up a 3-2 pitch with the bases loaded to get out of the jam. In the second Canyon had two baserunners, but Cuevas got Kraai to fly out to center.

Friona threatened to score in the fourth when McMurtry blooped a ball down the line in left, almost reaching the "short porch" in the left field corner. Colunga, the next batter, reached when a sharp grounder caromed off Padilla's glove and could not be cleanly fielded. McMurtry advanced to third on Britt Conklin's sacrifice fly to right but was stranded there.

Cuevas had gone 1-2-3 through the heart of Canyon's order in the third, but gave up six runs in the fourth when Canyon sent 11 men to the plate. Canyon combined two doubles, four walks, a fielder's choice, a stolen base and a balk for the half-dozen runs to break the game open.

After Padilla stifled another Friona rally in the top of the fifth with two strikeouts with two on, Canyon marched nine men to the plate to secure the win. Cuevas gave up four walks and three singles in the fifth.

Canyon had just six hits in the game, but Cuevas walked 12 Canyon batters.

"Your adrenalin is up no matter who you're playing," said Canyon coach Gary Hix. "It's fun and it's exciting. This is what high school athletics are all about."

For Friona, the loss ended a 3-13 season, its first in District 2-3A.

"We have a young team and most of these kids will be back for us next year," said Friona coach Todd Lamberson. "Playing in games like this will help the kids and make our program stronger. We really played them well the first three innings, but they were just too tough for us today."

SWC has 3 strong teams in tourney

AUSTIN (AP) - Baylor coach Mickey Sullivan figured his squad had a 50-50 chance of making the final cut for the NCAA baseball tournament.

But even Sullivan was surprised Monday to learn that his Bears not only made the 48-team field, but also would be the No. 3 seed in the Midwest Regional held in Wichita, Kan.

"I really was shocked by our seed," Sullivan said. "I really didn't have any idea. I imagine what helped us was the strength of our conference."

Baylor (40-18) will join Texas A&M and Texas as the Southwest Conference's representatives in this year's tournament.

The Bears are appearing in the NCAA Tournament for the first time since 1978.

"The conference is very good as usual," said Dennis Pope of the NCAA selection committee. "These are three very strong teams as their seeds indicate."

The sixth-ranked Longhorns (46-16) will host the Central Regional for a record 13th-straight time and face Alabama-Birmingham (27-28) in the first round.

Texas captured the SWC regular season and tournament crowns.

"I thought we should have been a No. 1 seed," said Texas coach Cliff Gustafson, who won his 1,200th game Saturday night when Texas defeated Texas Christian 8-6 in the tournament championship game.

"We played well in the conference tournament and it has given us added confidence."

Tournament veteran Oklahoma St. (43-18) plays Rutgers (32-20) and Long Beach St. (40-19) takes on Southern Mississippi in the other two matchups.

The 10th-ranked Aggies (42-21) are the second-seeded team in the South Regional in Baton Rouge. A&M will play Southwestern Louisiana (46-18) in the first game.

Baylor got off to quick start, but fell apart late in the season, losing three of four games against TCU. An injury-riddled pitching staff was one of the main reasons the Bears lost their early momentum.

Baylor will play California (34-25) in their opening game.

Blue Jays edge Oakland

By The Associated Press

David Wells turned things around real fast.

Wells outdueled Bob Welch to give the Toronto Blue Jays a 1-0 victory over Oakland on Monday night. After going 1-3 with a 5.16 ERA in April, Wells is 4-0 with a 0.58 ERA in May.

"I was a one-zone pitcher in April," said Wells, who turned 28 Monday. "Now I'm pitching inside, outside...establishing myself really well."

Wells (5-3) won his fourth straight start, allowing two hits in seven innings, striking out six and walking four. He has allowed two earned runs and 17 hits over 30 innings in his last four starts and has a 0.60 ERA during that span.

"We hit too many balls that were up and out of the strike zone," Oakland manager Tony La Russa said. "Consequently, we hit a lot of fly balls."

Welch (4-3) pitched a four-hitter for his second complete game, struck out three and walked one. Both his complete games - the only ones for the A's this season - have been losses.

"The bad part about it is you lose, so it doesn't help us at all," Welch said.

In other games, California beat Chicago 6-3, Seattle beat Kansas City 8-6, Boston beat Milwaukee 3-0, Detroit beat Baltimore 11-5 and Cleveland beat New York 3-1.

Toronto got its run after Ed Sprague singled to lead off the sixth. Rene Gonzales forced Sprague at second in an unsuccessful sacrifice attempt and took second on a two-out wild pitch by Welch. Mookie Wilson, 3-for-30 lifetime against Welch, followed with a double down the left-field line.

Angels 6, White Sox 3

Mark Langston won his fourth straight start, allowing seven hits in 7 1-3 innings and striking out six. Bryan Harvey got three outs for his 10th save in 10 chances.

Melido Perez (1-4) allowed eight hits in 7 2-3 innings and struck out six. But he gave up solo homers to Gary Gaetti, Wally Joyner and Dave Winfield and a three-run homer to Donnie Hill.

Mariners 8, Royals 6

Jeff Montgomery (1-2) threw a wild pitch that scored the tie-breaking run in the ninth inning and Alvin Davis drove in four runs as visiting Seattle won for the seventh time in eight games. Ken Griffey Jr. followed the wild pitch with an RBI single.

Russ Swan (1-0) pitched three innings of two-hit relief and Mike Jackson, Seattle's fourth pitcher, got three outs for his fourth save.

Red Sox 3, Brewers 0

Jeff Reardon got his 300th career save and Steve Lyons and Jack Clark homered at Fenway Park as Boston ended a three-game losing streak.

Matt Young (3-1) allowed four hits in six innings, struck out four but walked five.

Chris Bosio (4-5) lost despite pitching a six-hitter in his second complete game. He struck out six and walked none.

Tigers 11, Orioles 5

Pete Incaviglia hit a grand slam and drove in five runs, sending the visiting Orioles to their fifth loss in six games.

Incaviglia, who tied his career high for RBIs, hit his fourth career slam in the first after Bob Milacki (1-1) walked four batters, forcing in the game's first run.

Jerry Don Gleaton (2-1) allowed three hits in 3 2-3 scoreless innings.

Indians 3, Yankees 1

Eric King (4-4) allowed one run and four hits in six innings for his first victory in five home starts and Chris James hit a two-out, two-run double in the fifth.

The Yankees, who have lost five of six, have scored five runs in 50 innings. Cleveland, only 4-13 at home, won for the third time in 13 games.

Braves lose, Astros win

ATLANTA (AP) - Ed Whitson threw strikes, and Atlanta hit a lot of them. But the Braves didn't hit the ball as far as the San Diego Padres.

Whitson managed to scatter 11 hits Monday night as the Padres beat Atlanta 7-3. Tony Fernandez, Tony Gwynn and Fred McGriff each had solo home runs for San Diego, whose victory kept the Braves one-half game behind first-place Los Angeles in the National League West.

The Braves, who had won seven of eight at home, scored three runs in the first four innings. Whitson shut out Atlanta after that, striking out four and walking none in his second complete game.

"I made some mechanical adjustments about the fourth or fifth inning," Whitson (3-4) said. "I got on top of the ball more, and that made my slider and palm ball better."

In the only other NL game, Houston beat Los Angeles 4-1.

For Braves starter John Smoltz (1-5), it was the same story - pitch decently but come away without a victory.

"I had good stuff," said Smoltz, the Braves' top winner a year ago with a 14-12 record. "I have had all year. The simple fact is we are not clicking."

Smoltz had a season-high 10 strikeouts in seven innings, but gave up eight hits and five runs.

"I've had quality starts like this that got me nothing. There's nothing to blame it on. It's just gone that way up until now," he said.

Smoltz, however, got himself in trouble early, giving up a leadoff single to Bip Roberts in the opening inning. Fernandez then tripled Roberts home and scored on Gwynn's single. Fernandez hit his first National League home run in the third for a 3-0 lead.

The Braves tied it in the fourth on an RBI single by Greg Olson after Lonnie Smith cracked a two-run homer in the third, but San Diego went ahead to stay in the fifth on Roberts' RBI double.

Gwynn opened the sixth with his second homer of the season and McGriff hit his 10th of the season in the eighth off reliever Mike Stanton.

Astros 4, Dodgers 1

Luis Gonzalez hit a solo home run and an RBI triple, leading Jimmy

Jones and Houston at the Astrodome. Jones (4-1) shut out Los Angeles on two hits for eight innings, but left after giving up consecutive singles in the ninth. Al Osuna finished for his second save.

Jones won his third straight decision. He struck out six and walked four. Kevin Gross (2-4) lasted only four innings.

The Astros scored three times in the first inning, capped by Karl Rhodes' two-run single.

Andretti competing against 2 sons in race

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - Mario Andretti will never stage a farewell tour.

When he decides to retire from racing, he'll step out of the car and walk away. That's it.

"The way I feel now, I want to do it two more years. I'd be 53 then. Right now, I feel I could fulfill that," said the 1969 Indianapolis 500 winner who will start his 26th race on Sunday from the outside of the front row.

Next to him will be four-time winner A.J. Foyt, who last fall announced this would be his final season of racing and, understandably, is drawing increased attention as his 34th and final Indianapolis race approaches.

That's not Andretti's style, though.

But he won't criticize Foyt for it.

"I look to my left (in the lineup) and I see two great racers," he said of Foyt, who qualified in the middle of the front row at 222.443 mph, and three-time winner Rick Mears, who will be starting from the pole for a record sixth time after qualifying at 224.113.

Andretti, known as well for his heartbreaking losses as his success at Indianapolis, qualified at 221.818 mph. On Sunday, he will become the first race driver to compete at Indianapolis against two sons - veteran driver Michael Andretti, who qualified on the second row at 220.943, and youngest son Jeff Andretti, a rookie who qualified on the fourth row at 217.632.

Babbling Brooks

I don't know which is the best movie, really, "Bull Durham" or "Field of Dreams." They both have their moments.

They both have Kevin Costner. I saw Kevin Costner on Saturday. He took about 20 minutes worth of grounders from Kevin Brown at Arlington Stadium before the Texas Rangers beat up on Roger Clemens and the Boston Red Sox, 13-5.

I was sitting along the third base line in the second row, right behind the Boston dugout.

"Isn't that Costner out there?" asked my cousin Sonny, at whose house I stayed Saturday night.

Well, it had to be somebody different. This guy was wearing No. 8 for the Rangers. I looked on their roster. There's no No. 8 for the Rangers.

"Hey, Cos!" Sonny hollered. The guy looked over and waved. He took off his glasses and, sure enough, it was Crash Davis, it was the crazy Iowa farmer, it was Kevin Costner.

Sonny's remark drew a crowd down to see Costner a little more up close and personal. A guy with too much money had a big lens through which he was taking pictures. A woman, probably around age 50, went up to the man.

"Could I look through your lens?" she begged. "I've just got to see him." She looked. She swooned.

"I can die happy now," she said.

Costner admits no athletic prowess in his youth. He says he was a late bloomer, but someone, somewhere, taught him the proper mechanics of fielding ground balls. Brown, who had pitched the night before, hit fungoes to Costner's left and right, some easy three-hoppers, some one-bounce shots. Costner fielded all but three.

He threw the ball with firm grace to his buddy, Rafael Palmeiro, the Rangers' first baseman. There was only one errant toss, a throw well over Palmeiro's head that scattered the crowd near the Rangers' dugout like a flushed covey of quail.

Costner must have known what he was doing in those baseball movies.

For his fans, Arlington Stadium on Saturday was a field of dreams.

Oh, by the way, the governor was there, too, her white hair resplendent behind home plate. She didn't draw near the crowd Costner did, though.

Going into Saturday's game, there was probably a feeling that the Rangers could just phone it in. After all, they were facing Roger "Rocket Man" Clemens. Clemens was 6-0 on the season and had an ERA of 0.95. That's less than a run given up for every nine innings pitched.

So Roger went out and got rocketed. The Rangers banged the Rocket Man for nine runs and 13 hits in five innings plus a handful of batters in the sixth. Since Clemens' game face is a frown, anyway, you couldn't tell that Roger was too terribly perturbed. After all, all the pitchers headed for the Hall of Fame get lit up every now and then.

Roger started off on a bad note. His first pitch was deposited in the stands by Brian Downing. It was the first home run Clemens had given up since last June 8, by the Rangers' Jack Daugherty. It was downhill for the Red Sox from there. Clemens pitched in a little bad luck, as Boston left 15 people on base, but the way the Rangers were hitting the ball, it was not the Rocket's night.

Someone asked me why I sat in the stands instead of in the press box. I could, by all rights, have asked for a press pass and avoided the hassles, but you don't get the flavor of the game from the press box that you get from down amongst everyone.

Except Saturday. It was bat night. Every kid 13 and under with a paid admission got a real live wooden bat. Wooden bats and steel stadiums do not mix. Every time the Rangers got a runner, needed a hit, made an out, there were 30,000 wooden bats thwack-thwack-thwacking on steel. It was a sound I heard in my sleep Saturday night, and going down the road somewhere between Estelline and Hedley I had another bat-thwacking flashback.

Ryan's ailment concerns Texas

DALLAS (AP) - Concern over Nolan Ryan's sore shoulder was serious enough to spark a visit to a Los Angeles orthopedist as well as a call from the Texas Rangers to minor league pitcher Jose Guzman, a newspaper reported.

The Dallas Morning News reported today that the Rangers have put Guzman on standby if Ryan's ailment continues.

Ryan, 44, was examined Monday by Dr. Lewis Yocum, a longtime friend and orthopedic specialist for the California Angels.

Rangers general manager Tom Grieve and pitching coach Tom House didn't know about the visit, the newspaper reported.

Yocum found nothing to change the original diagnosis of strained shoulder muscles, the Rangers said. Grieve said Ryan's Los Angeles trip should not be seen as a sign of trouble.

Ryan removed himself in the fifth inning against the Detroit Tigers on May 13 with the injury. He missed a scheduled weekend start against the Boston Red Sox, and did not throw from the mound as planned Sunday.

Ryan met with Yocum last season when a stress fracture in his back troubled him. Yocum gave Ryan a cortisone injection to counter the back problems.

It was not immediately known if Yocum would give Ryan another injection to counter tendinitis in the trapezius muscle in the back. An injection would delay his return at least five days, the Rangers said.

Ryan was on the disabled list last season from May 21 to June 6 because of the stress fracture. He also was bothered by a sore ankle last year.

Ryan's only physical ailment that concerned the Rangers before the Detroit game was a crack in the skin on his right middle finger. It had limited his throwing between starts, but had not forced him to miss a start.

He was scheduled to rejoin the Rangers in Minneapolis today for a weightlifting and throwing session.

If Ryan cannot make a scheduled start Friday at Seattle, Guzman would likely be called up.

Rangers ride hot streak

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - The Texas Rangers just had the best homestand in their 19-year history, sweeping Detroit and Boston.

"We caught 'em with their pitching short and still couldn't beat them," said Boston manager Joe Morgan. "We didn't have to face Nolan Ryan, Bobby Witt and Scott Chiamparino, and Kevin Brown wasn't effective and we still couldn't do the job. I'm glad to be leaving this place."

Boston saw two of its starting pitchers dropped from the unbeaten ranks.

The Rangers battered Tom Bolton (4-1) for nine hits and seven runs in a 12-4 victory Sunday.

Julio Franco led a 16-hit attack with three hits, including a homer and a double, and four RBI, and Mike Stanley almost hit for the cycle.

Texas scored nine runs off previously unbeaten Roger Clemens on Saturday night.

"I've never seen so many seeing-eye singles," Morgan said. "It happens every time we come here. It's been like this for six years."

The 31 runs scored by Texas in the series was the second most in club history, falling a run shy of the record of 32 in 1976 against Detroit.

Stanley had a homer, triple and double and Steve Buechele homered. Mario Diaz and Rafael Palmeiro also had three hits each.

"With this team you know we are going to score runs but this was something special," Palmeiro said. Stanley had a chance to hit for the cycle but walked on his last plate appearance.

"I was thinking about hitting for the cycle but I never got a pitch close to the plate," Stanley said. "We weren't worried when they got a three-run lead on us, not the way we've been swinging the bats."

"I think we showed what kind of team we are, losing three out of four games in Boston and then coming back here and winning all our games."

The Rangers finished unbeaten on their homestand for the first time in club history.

Texas has had 96 hits and 61 runs in its last seven games as it won its seventh consecutive game. The Rangers moved to within two games of leading Oakland in the AL West.

"It was a heckuva homestand and a heckuva series," said Texas manager Bobby Valentine. "I don't know that we can swing the bats any better. When you win a six game homestand and seven in a row without Nolan Ryan getting a win it's an accomplishment."

Gerald Alexander (1-0) picked up his first major league victory in relief of John Barfield.

"This is almost ridiculous the way we've been hitting," Buechele said. "We get three or four runs down and it doesn't even faze us. Hitting is contagious."

Buechele added "I hope it's like this in September."

In the last seven games, the Rangers' batting average has gone from .259 to .285.

Bolton said the Rangers hit everything he threw.

"I thought I had warmed up properly but boom, boom, boom," Bolton said. "They are hot and very tough to beat right now."

Texas has won eight straight home games and the Rangers are hitting .365 in their last seven home games.

The missing prom baby!

NBA announces Jordan as MVP

CHICAGO (AP) - Michael Jordan's mind was elsewhere when he received the NBA's Most Valuable Player award.

"My thoughts are to win the world championship," said Jordan, the Chicago Bulls' superstar who also won the award in 1988. "The MVP is great, but I won't enjoy it until we accomplish that."

"I'm envious of the Detroit Pistons, the Los Angeles Lakers, the Boston Celtics."

Jordan led the Bulls to their first division title since 1975 and the best record in the Eastern Conference.

After winning the MVP award Monday, he said: "Most of the credit should go to my teammates who have stepped up and put us in this position. When a team wins, all the individual accolades follow."

Jordan received 891 points, including 77 first-place votes, from a nationwide panel of 96 media members. Each voter was asked to select a top five, with the points going on a 10-7-5-3-1 basis.

The Los Angeles Lakers' Magic Johnson, a three-time MVP winner, including the past two seasons, finished second with 497 points and 10 first-place votes. David Robinson of San Antonio was third with 476 points and six firsts. Charles Barkley of Philadelphia had 222 points and two firsts.

Karl Malone of Utah had 142 points, and Clyde Drexler of Portland had 75 points and the other first-place vote.

Jordan averaged 31.5 points to win his fifth consecutive scoring title, although he saw less playing time this year than in past seasons. He shot a career-high .539 from the field, averaged 6.0 rebounds, 5.5 assists and 2.72 steals.

He also was named to the NBA All-Defensive first team last week for the fourth consecutive season as he led the Bulls to a 61-21 record, the best in the franchise's 25-year history.

But Jordan did not consider this or 1988 his best years.

"I felt my best year was two years ago in 1989," said Jordan. "I felt all-around it was my best year."

Jordan scored a career-high 3,041 points in 1987, but said, "I don't know if that was in the best interest of the team."

Jordan also said the team's success made the award possible.

Clark, Rincon attend dietitian seminar

Charlotte R. Clark, M.S., R.D., L.D., dietitian, and Martha Rincon, certified dietary manager at Deaf Smith General Hospital, returned recently from a two-day seminar held at Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

Clark, guest speaker, spoke to the group highlighting "Health Care Trends for the 90s" with emphasis on quality assurance and joint accreditation commission standards in hospital facilities. The goals and objectives for dietary departments in all fields of food and nutrition with enthusiastic guidance of the health care professionals are being planned to face the 90s decade changes. She challenged the participants to accept opportunities in their chosen profession and to build for quality care.

Others attending from Hereford were Gwen Whittaker, supervisor of King's Manor Methodist Home and Rosie Tijerina, chef.

The 11th Annual White Swan Food and Nutrition Seminar was held May 14-15 at the Food Science Tower auditorium with an attendance of over 250 dietitians, dietary managers, food service supervisors and students from West Texas and New Mexico areas.

The theme for the White Swan sponsored program was 2001: A Nutrition and Food Odyssey. Dr. Margarette Harden, Ph.D., R.D., L.D., professor for food and nutrition at Texas Tech University gave the opening address to the group relating the history of Food Service and the Science of Nutrition dating back to 3700 B.C. During the 14th dynasty in Egypt when slaves working on the great pyramid, Cheops, received food and beer rations which appears to be the first record of a government providing food rations.

The theme of a changing food service operation and newer trends in the field of nutrition provided a challenge to all attending the seminar. Professionals must move forward with the 90s and provide services and research to open the doors in 2001 for a greater quality of life for all individuals regardless of age, race, or life style.

Program completed

Roger Eades of Plains Insurance Agency announced that Lily Garza and Dalia Sanchez, agency members, have completed the Accredited Customer Service Representative (ACSR) designation program.

"We are very proud of the personal commitment these individuals have made in order to better serve our customers," Eades said. Each woman attended a minimum of eight days of intensive training and passed four comprehensive examinations.

Garza attained her ACSR designation in the Commercial Lines program and Sanchez attained her designation in the Personal Lines program.

ACSR is a national designation program started by the Independent Insurance Agents of America to recognize agency personnel committed to providing quality customer service. In order to maintain their designation, each ACSR must attend a minimum of six hours of approved continuing education each year.

Hereford Study Club has closing supper

Members of the Hereford Study Club met Thursday evening, May 16, in the home of Mrs. Dean Herring for their annual closing supper and installation ceremonies.

Officers for the 1991-92 club year were installed by the outgoing president, Gracie Shaw, following supper served by Herring and Lois Lemons.

As new officers were installed, Shaw presented each with an appropriate symbol to depict a banquet theme: a cookbook, a menu, a place card, the entree, side dishes and salt. Serving as president will be Mary Stoy; vice president, Nedra Robinson; recording secretary-reporter, Barbara Allen; corresponding secretary, Elizabeth Cesar; treasurer, Morgan Cain; historian, Addie Cunningham; and parliamentarian, Gracie Shaw.

Newly installed president Stoy announced her appointees for the standing committees of the club: finance committee, Elizabeth Cesar and Joan Yarbro; membership committee, Mildred Garrison and Helen Spinks; public welfare committee, Morgan Cain and Hazel Ford; telephone committee, Doris Bryant and Barbara Allen; and cheer committee, Bessie Story and Gracie Shaw.

Serving as hostesses for the meeting were Betty Gilbert, Morgan Cain, Elizabeth Cesar and Bessie Story.

Those present were Jean Ballard, Willie Braddy, Doris Bryant, Morgan Cain, Hazel Ford, Betty Gilbert, Elizabeth Hellman, Nedra Robinson, Gladys Setliff, Gracie Shaw, Helen Spinks, Bessie Story, Mary Stoy, Virginia Winget, Joan Yarbro and Leta Kaul.

Poppy Day planned Wednesday

American Legion Auxiliary Post 192 in Hereford will be distributing poppies on Wednesday. Wearing the poppy is a personal statement which simply says, "I remember."

Poppy Day has become a familiar tradition in almost every American community. This distribution of the bright red memorial flower to the public is one of the oldest and most widely recognized programs of the American Legion Auxiliary.

In 1921, the poppy was adopted as the American Legion's official flower. The resolution read: "Resolved that the poppy be made the memorial flower of the American Legion Auxiliary, and the wearing of it by all citizens on Memorial Day be encouraged; and resolved, further, that contributions be promoted for the sole purpose of aiding in veteran's relief work."

American's veterans, living and dead, deserve to be honored, remembered, and helped when in need. The poppy is a tribute to the deceased veterans and an honor to the living veterans.

The auxiliary poppy is made of crepe paper with each petal affixed by hand by a hospitalized or disabled veteran. The tag which carries the auxiliary and legion emblems clearly states that it was made by a veteran. The Texas poppies are made in Temple.

A thoughtful way to protect your parents' future.

One out of four seniors will require nursing home care after reaching age 55. Many people believe Medicare will cover this cost. On average, only 2% of Long Term Care charges are reimbursed by Medicare.

Our independent insurance agency is helping many families solve this problem with long term care coverage from one of the major insurance companies we represent. The CNA Insurance Companies offer a Long Term Care Plan that is excellent for its flexibility, benefits and competitive premiums.

Contact us to discuss a more secure future for your parents and for you.

Bay View Club meets for brunch

Installation of officers was the highlight of the closing brunch held Thursday morning, May 16, in the home of Betty Rudder of the Bay View Study Club.

Following the theme "Gifts of the Spirit," Nancy Josseland used various bluebirds to exemplify the qualities of the officers being installed. The bluebirds had been gifts to her from Bay View members.

Ruth McBride will serve as Bay View president for the coming year and she will be joined by the following officers: Pat Fisher, vice president; Lois Scott, recording secretary; Ruth Newsom, corresponding secretary; and Virginia Bayne, treasurer. Appointive officers will be: Beth Burran, parliamentarian; Margaret Bell, reporter; and Lois Gililand, historian. McBride also announced the committee structures.

Josseland, speaking for the club members, expressed appreciation to Burran for her exemplary leadership as president for the past two years. Connie McGill, who will be moving to Brownwood in late August, said farewell to the group.

McBride reported the project of placing videos and audio cassettes in the Deaf Smith County Library to record stories of pioneer life here is progressing. Several new additions have been made to the collection which is housed in the Bay View Room at the local library.

Club members were seated at tables laid with cutwork linen cloths and centered with floral arrangements of spring blossoms for the brunch which followed the business meeting. Serving as hostesses were members of the social committee, Rudder, Scott and Mrs. Don Graham.

Attending this final meeting until fall were Bayne, Bell, Burran, Helen Eades, Fisher, Mary Fraser, Virginia Garner, Craham, Nancy Hays, Elizabeth Holt, Josseland, McBride, McGill, Helen Rose, Rudder, Scott, Edna Gault and Gililand.

Conductor Eugene Ormandy, director of the Philadelphia Philharmonic for more than four decades, died in 1985 at age 85.

Diabetes, gum disease linked

You don't normally think of the mouth when you think of diabetes, but infection of the gums and bone supporting the teeth can be a major complication of the condition.

Recent studies show that persons with diabetes, especially those with poorly controlled blood sugar levels, are at a higher risk of developing gum infections. In diabetics, these infections are often more severe and slower to heal than in nondiabetics. Gum infections can lead to loose or missing teeth that make it difficult to eat the right foods. A severe gum infection can also upset blood sugar control.

Changes in blood vessels, an early complication of diabetes, may be part of the reason for increased susceptibility to gum infections. Blood vessels deliver oxygen and nourishment to the tissues of the mouth and carry away waste products made by the cells. Diabetes causes blood vessels to thicken, slowing down the flow of vital nutrients and the removal of harmful wastes. This can weaken the resistance of gum and bone tissue to infection.

Blood sugar levels may also contribute to periodontal infections in diabetics. Many bacteria thrive on sugars, including glucose. When diabetes is poorly controlled, high glucose levels in the mouth may encourage the growth of harmful bacteria and set the stage for gum inflammation.

If you have diabetes, see a dentist for a checkup every six months. Be sure to tell your dentist that you have diabetes and ask him or her to demonstrate procedures that will help you maintain health teeth and gums.

WATER WAYS WITH HAIR

NEW YORK (AP) - Be kind to your hair this summer. Wet it before swimming. Hair acts like a sponge, and if it's wet from the tap it is less likely to become chemically saturated and dried out from swimming.

For extra protection from chlorine or salt, comb conditioner through pre-dampened hair before swimming. Shampoo it out after swimming. This advice from Bryant Renfro, a hair stylist for some of television's top names and a spokesman for Ogilvie, maker of hair-care products.

AXYDLBAAXR L LONGFELLOW

One letter stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Annual picnic held

Deaf Smith General Hospital's third annual picnic was held recently on the hospital grounds. Approximately 100 people enjoyed the meal of hamburgers, hot dogs and homemade ice cream. K-Bob's Steak House assisted with the cookout and Allen Parson and Arthur Hailes prepared the hamburgers and hot dogs.

Cookout held at hospital

Approximately 100 employees, auxiliary members, board members, physicians and friends of Deaf Smith General Hospital enjoyed hamburgers, hot dogs and homemade ice cream at the third annual hospital picnic held recently.

Gary Moore, hospital administrator, said, "The picnic is held each year during Hospital Week to say thank you to our employees, our board, the hospital auxiliary, our physicians and other friends of the hospital."

This year K-Bob's Steak House helped the hospital with the cookout. Allen Parson and Arthur Hailes prepared the hamburgers and hot dogs for the crowd.

Special recognition

Kay Crismon was presented a certificate of appreciation by, at right, Nicky Walser, secretary of the Deaf Smith County Unit of the American Cancer Society. Also, honored was Cindy Caro. The women were recognized for their exemplary service during the annual American Cancer Society Crusade Drive. Crismon is employed by The Hereford Brand and Caro works at KPAN Radio Station.

Harguess receives degree

Pam Harguess of Hereford was among 124 students receiving their bachelor's degree in Lubbock Christian University's spring graduation ceremonies held recently.

Harguess graduated with a bachelor of science in accounting. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Harguess. While attending LCU, Pam was a member of Christliche Damen for four years.

The ballpoint pen was invented by two Hungarian brothers—George and Ladislao—who agreed on the advantage of quick-drying ink for use in pens. They constructed the prototype and in 1938 applied for a patent.

Decorative treatment subject of program

Ruby Sanders and Kay Williams presented a program on "Decorative Treatment for Walls" when members of Xi Epsilon Alpha Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met recently in Sanders' home at 107 Westhaven.

The speakers asked each member to describe a favorite wall grouping that they have in their home or have seen in someone else's home.

President Gaye Reilly presided over the meeting asking members to answer roll call by giving their secret sisters ideas for the revealing party which will be held tonight. Reilly mentioned that the Texas State Beta Sigma Phi Convention will be held in Houston June 14-16 and she has the registration information.

Williams offered a thank you for naming her Girl of the Year at the recent Founder's Day Celebration. Danell Culp thanked her secret sister for the anniversary and birthday gifts and Deann Harris extended appreciation to her secret sister for the Easter bunny.

Marge Bell reported on the May 13 City Council meeting held in the SPS Reddy Room. Outgoing and incoming representatives were invited to attend. Members from all three Hereford chapters were represented at the salad supper which was hosted by outgoing members of the group. Officer election was held for the new club year. Those elected included: president, Brenda Thomas; vice president, Connie Matthews; recording secretary, Marrie Leverett; treasurer, Alene Tindal; and corresponding secretary, Jaime Brorman.

Reilly praised members for attending the Founder's Day Banquet held April 30 at the Hereford Country Club. Forty members were in attendance including 14 members from XEA Chapter.

Treasurer Connie Matthews reported a very successful garage sale held recently. She thanked members who helped load up the excess items and deliver them to the local Red Cross office.

Program and yearbook member Bell noted that tonight's meeting will be hosted by Peggy Hyer, Danell Culp and members of the social committee. Hyer and Culp will be in charge of the program on "The Need To Serve and Its Rewards." Members were requested to bring yearbook covers to be given to the new yearbook chairman. Installation of officers will also be held tonight.

Hostesses Sanders and Culp served dirt cake, coffee and tea to Bell, Holly Bixler, Susan Cardinal, Denise Hafliger, Deann Harris, Melinda Henson, Hyer, Matthews, Reilly, Susan Shaw and Williams.

The real name for the Statue of Liberty is "Liberty Enlightens the World."

NEW YORK (AP) - Infants six months and younger should be kept out of direct sunlight, but when they reach the crawling stage, it's hard to keep infants out of anything. That's the time to start using sunscreen, unless your pediatrician says otherwise, according to Schering-Plough, maker of Water Babies and other sun care products.

Always keep infants' heads covered when in the sun, and allow only limited exposure between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., when the sun is most intense. Use sunscreens when in the shade to protect against reflected sunlight. Likewise, use sunscreens on cloudy or overcast days.

Make sure older children wear a cap with a visor. That should be easy to effect since baseball-style caps are de rigueur for kids of all ages.

Don't stop using sunscreens just because youngsters have begun to tan. Tanned skin isn't sufficient natural protection against the sun's ultraviolet rays.

In addition, research suggests that childhood and adolescent sunburns are twice as likely to lead to skin cancer as sunburns occurring later in life.
