House, Senate pass school bill

AUSTIN (AP) - With days to spare before the state's next court appearance on school finance, the Legislature approved a billion-dollar bill to reform the way public schools are funded.

"I think some greed, some fear and some desire to do right combined and got a majority vote in both houses," said Sen. Carl Parker, Senate Education Committee chairman.

The House approved the plan 92-57 Thursday, and the Senate followed, 21-10.

Gov. Ann Richards said she would sign the bill into law.

The plan would cost the state $1.3 billion over two years and shift hundreds of millions of dollars in local property tax money from wealthier to poorer school districts.

The Texas Supreme Court twice has unanimously ordered lawmakers to reform the school finance system, which now allows wide disparities in funding among school districts because of its reliance on the local property tax. The system also is funded by state aid and some federal money.

The state faces a Monday hearing before State District Judge F. Scott McCown, who oversees the case and ordered an alternative plan to be drawn up by a court-appointed expert.

Parker, D-Port Arthur, said he did not know whether the bill would be ruled constitutional, in part because it still allows some funding disparities.

But he said, "We've passed something that at least gives us a shot to not have the courts take over public education."

The bill does contain a revenue cap to limit disparities when school districts containing 2 percent of the state's students begin outstripping others in raising money.

Parker said he believes if lawmakers had not passed a bill, the court would have ordered massive consolidation of school districts.

Richards and House Speaker Gib Lewis said they thought the legislation would pass court muster.

"I think it's a solution to have quality education throughout the state of Texas," said Lewis, D-Fort Worth.

Richards said, "This Legislature tried very hard, did a good job (and) produced a bill that I'll sign."

Lawmakers missed an April 1 Supreme Court deadline for reform after the House two weeks ago defeated another school finance reform bill. This plan also came in for its share of criticism.

"The property tax is the most regressive tax that we have, and you're going to impose some real horrendous property tax increases," said Rep. Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale.

Rep. Fred Hill, R-Richardson, called the measure "a bad piece of legislation."

But Rep. Ernestine Glossbrenner, an Alice Democrat who heads the House Public Education Committee, said, "We still have a ways to go, but if we pass this bill, we will have at least begun the journey toward quality education in Texas."

The bill would set a minimum local property tax rate of 72 cents per $100 valuation, rising to $1 in four years. School districts would get a basic allotment of $2,200 per pupil, rising to $2,800.

The plan would redistribute local property tax revenue generated at the minimum rate in new education districts drawn largely along county lines.

The districts could tax another 45 cents to enrich programs and for construction, with each school district guaranteed $21.50 per penny, rising to $28 in four years.

School districts would not share local property tax revenue over the minimum rate. The state would make up the difference if poor school districts could not raise the guaranteed level through local taxes. Another 5 cents of local tax would be permitted on top of the $1.45, but no state money would be available at this level.

The bill also would extend the number of instructional days from 175 days to 180 days, by eliminating five teacher training days.

Lawmakers raised some concern that this might cause more work for teachers, because 40 hours of staff development still are required, during regular hours.

Ceremony is Saturday

Three more Hereford soldiers who served in Operation Desert Storm will be honored at 2 p.m. Saturday at Sugarland Mall in Hereford.

Jesus Morales, Colin Ford and Johnny Garza will be the honorees at Saturday's program, which is open to the public.

The festivities will include special music, a presentation from Operation Heartshield and the mall, and a speech by Gunnery Sgt. Willie Niner of Amarillo, an area Marine recruiter.

Official 'peace' declared

By DONALD W. SWINTON
Associated Press Writer

Official peace dawned on Iraq today. A formal U.N. cease-fire took effect and Western leaders agreed to enforce a "safe haven" for hundreds of thousands of Kurds north of the 36th parallel.

But there was no tranquility for starving, homeless Iraqi Kurds still trudging through bitterly cold mountain passes in northern Iraq, or other refugees in the south, fearful of life without the U.S. troops who have fed and protected them.

The first of 1,440 U.N. peacekeeping troops were to arrive in Kuwait City this morning en route to police the 120-mile border between Iraq and Kuwait, under terms of the permanent truce Baghdad was forced to agree to after losing the Persian Gulf War.

The 32-nation peacekeeping force will maintain a demilitarized zone six miles into Iraq and nearly four miles into Kuwait.

The imposition of the formal cease-fire and deployment of U.N. troops today is just the beginning of postwar life in Iraq under United Nations administration.

U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar, the United States and the European Community agreed Thursday to the establishment of a "safe haven" for Kurdish refugees north of the 36th parallel in northernmost Iraq, presidential spokesman Martin Fitzwater said in Washington.

The territory declared off-limits to Iraqi military encompasses about 10 percent of Iraq's California-sized territory.

British ambassador to the United Nations, David Hannay, planned to meet today with members of the Security Council to discuss a U.N. resolution establishing the safety zone.

The idea was proposed by Turkish President Turgut Ozal and pursued by British Prime Minister John Major.

"We are going to do what's right by these refugees and I think the American people expect that and want that," President Bush said Thursday.

Work underway on mall project

Workers from I&F Remodeling of Hereford work on the west main entrance of Sugarland Mall in Hereford as part of a remodeling project. The outside wood surfaces of the mall are being repaired and covered, and work will be done to refurbish walls, ceilings and skylights at the mall. Looking on at bottom is mall manager Henry Reid.

Richards: 'No sacred cows'

AUSTIN (AP) - One of the jobs of Gov. Ann Richards' special tax study committee will be telling taxpayers what their money buys, the chairman of the panel says.

"There is very little disposition on the part of the people to ever willingly accept new taxes. One of the reasons why - simply they don't understand where their money goes and why it goes where it goes," said former Gov. John Connally, who heads the Governor's Task Force on Revenue.

"Perhaps the specter of an income tax looming on the horizon now will get the attention of the people," Connally told the committee's first meeting Thursday.

Richards told the panel that nothing is off limits as they hunt for solutions to the state's fiscal dilemma.

"Nothing is off-base. There are no sacred cows," Richards told the opening meeting of her Governor's Task Force on Revenue. "This committee must investigate taxes, fees, federal aid and other revenue sources."

Richards wants the panel to make recommendations by July 1 on changes in the state's financial system.

The governor said the current state budget process is hamstrung by taxes and fees dedicated to single purposes, an outdated business tax written in 1907 and court rulings that demand expensive remedies.

As lawmakers seek money for schools, prisons and other programs, Richards said, they face "a Hobson's choice between life-threatening service cuts and justifiably unpopular tax increases."

She said the state no longer can cling to old notions about financing government.

"As we prepare to enter the 21st century, we can no longer trade in pretense and myth. ... There's a conventional wisdom that if you pass one tax or another, you can reduce others. Don't accept any of that as holy writ," Richards said.

How school bill will be paid must still be answered

An AP News Analysis
By MICHAEL HOLMES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) - After weeks of wrangling, the Legislature finally adopted a school finance reform plan. But a big question remained unanswered.

Just how will he state pay the plan's $1.3 billion price tag?

"I suppose with tax dollars, or American currency of some type," Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock quipped when asked that question.

"Very good," Gov. Ann Richards told him.

House Speaker Gib Lewis said taxes will have to go up. Which ones and how much are questions legislators must face in the weeks ahead following passage of the plan Thursday night.

"It's very obvious we will be looking at an appropriations bill in the next few weeks. At the same time, we will be looking at probably a funding bill to try to pay for it. We'll have to see at that time how we do pay for it," Lewis said.

All three leaders praised the compromise reached by legislative negotiators with only days left until the state's next appearance in court.

They said it should satisfy the two Texas Supreme Court decisions which found the current system unconstitutional because of wide gaps between money available to rich and poor school districts.

Lawmakers estimated that the plan would pump an extra $1.3 billion of state aid into public schools over the next two years. The $14 billion-a-year system is funded by state money, local property taxes and some federal aid.

Rep. Wilhelmina Delco, D-Austin, said the bill would give all Texas children an equal chance, no matter where their parents live. "We're not saying that's not painful, and we're not saying that's not going to be costly. But it's right," she said.

The Legislature's budget experts say the state already is short several billion dollars to maintain its current level of services over the next two years. More demands are being made.

"We will definitely have to have some type of revenue increase," Lewis said. He said the additional funds are needed "to not only pay for education, but to pay for additional prisons, additional (welfare) problems and many other areas of concern we have."

Bullock has been urging creation of state personal and corporate income taxes to raise additional funds and make government less reliant on the sales tax. He also proposes property tax relief if an income tax were enacted.

Bullock said that the state waited for a crisis - the Supreme Court's reform order - before acting on the school finance problem, so he expects a similar response when it comes to paying the price.

"Up until now, we have only talked about the bill, we have not talked about the passage of it. And I think that's typical today, because we waited for a crisis for this to come up," Bullock said. "I have no doubt we'll wait until the crisis to finance the bill."

Richards said she felt "very comfortable" that the reform plan was the best lawmakers could write.

"In an ideal world, all the financing will always come from some other source than our own pocketbooks," she said. "But I think that in the real world, we have to recognize that this is a situation in which everyone gives. They did in this bill. And so it has my wholehearted support."

Woman wars against 'gobbledygook'

WASHINGTON (AP) - Carolyn Boccella Bagin is a lonely crusader for plain English in a world that speaks gobbledygook.

Her enemy is the growing avalanche of badly written forms, unintelligible letters and confusing documents that drive millions of Americans nearly bonkers every day. The enemy, she says, is everywhere.

College students can't understand the loan applications they're supposed to fill out. The elderly are stumped by insurance claims. Telephone bills are a puzzle. Sweepstakes entries are verbal jungles of legal jargon.

Think those Form 1040s from the tax people are a headache? Try tackling Form 171, the accordion-like federal job application that's a bureaucratic nightmare in small, green type.

"If you have the persistence to fill out this form, you ought to get the job anyway," Ms. Bagin says.

A former high school English teacher from suburban Philadelphia, Ms. Bagin is director of the Document Design Center at the private American Institutes of Research.

Her job is to transform the unintelligible paperwork of government and corporate clients into user-friendly models of simplicity and clarity.

"What's wrong with being direct and clear?" she asks. "Why isn't simplicity the goal?"

The center has redesigned Pennsylvania Electric's customer bills and Citicorp's collection letters. One of its biggest projects was a top-to-bottom rewrite of the owner's manual for Ford Taurus automobiles.

That job was commissioned after a senior Ford executive couldn't understand the old manual's instructions for setting the digital clock in his new car.

His frustration is shared by many other Americans, especially the elderly, according to a survey Ms. Bagin conducted last year for Modern Maturity, the bimonthly magazine of the American Association of Retired Persons.

"The forms we now use would make the Marquis de Sade wild with envy," a Florida woman wrote about her insurance carrier's paperwork.

"I've reached an age when Chinese puzzles are no longer any fun," another respondent wrote.

Complaining of small type, one woman wrote: "I've just noticed a teensy-weensy statement in one margin that says something about a felony. When I'm arrested, maybe someone can read it to me along with my rights."

Ms. Bagin says many forms are incomprehensible because they are written for the convenience of their authors - lawyers, engineers, marketing executives - without regard for those who are answering the questions.

She has a suspicion that some form-writers deliberately avoid asking simple questions because they might look stupid. "So they cloud the issue to appear smart, complex and educated, and to add some mystery to their profession," she says.

How can they public fight gobbledygook?

"Complain, and complain loudly," Ms. Bagin advises. "Pick up the phone and argue about it. Speak to the people who gave you the forms, speak to their bosses, speak to the CEOs (chief executive officers). The worst thing is to do nothing."

Church News

DAWN BAPTIST CHURCH

A native of Dawn and a former pastor are among the speakers scheduled for the spring revival at the Dawn Baptist Church.

The revival, which begins Sunday morning and ends Wednesday night, has as its theme "Good News-For Today and Forever." During the meetings, five speakers will explore the meaning and implications of the gospel.

REV. JERRY STEWART

The Rev. Jerry Stewart of Happy, son of Ray and Arless Stewart of Dawn, will be speaking during the 11 a.m. Sunday service. Stewart, the pastor of the First Baptist Church of Happy, is a 1971 graduate of Hereford High School and a 1990 graduate of Wayland Baptist University. He is presently doing graduate work at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary.

Stewart worked with his father and uncle as a farmer-rancher until 1978 when he joined the Amarillo Fire Department. He was a certified fire driver when he left the department in April 1987 to accept the pastorate at Happy. Prior to this he was a deacon at the South Georgia Baptist Church and part-time associate pastor at Olsen Park Baptist Church in Amarillo.

In 1971, Stewart married Cindy Boren, daughter of Fred and Billie Boren and a 1971 HHS graduate. The couple has four children.

The Rev. Charles Davenport, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Tulia, was pastor of the Dawn Baptist Church from 1958-64. His pastorate was marked by growth and prosperity.

A recent graduate of West Texas State University when he came to the church, Davenport left to complete the residency requirement for his seminary education.

Davenport and his wife Valois, both natives of Amarillo, have three children, two of whom were born while the couple resided at Dawn.

Prior to accepting the Tulia pastorate, Davenport served churches in Claude and Tucumcari, N.M.

Davenport, who baptized Jerry Stewart in 1962, will speak during the Wednesday evening service.

REV. RIX TILLMAN

Sunday night the Rev. Rix Tillman, associate pastor of the San Jacinto Baptist Church in Amarillo, will be speaking. Tillman is a multi-talented minister, musician and author. In 1982, while serving as associate pastor of the First Baptist Church of Albuquerque, N.M., Tillman won the Angel Award for the "Best Locally Produced Christmas Television Special in America." The award was given by the Hollywood-based Religion in Media.

Tillman has been active in evangelism, missions and denominational youth work. He holds degrees from Idaho State University (B. Mus. Ed. and M.A. Ed.) and the International Bible Institute and Seminary. He is a candidate for the doctor of ministry at International Seminary, Orlando, Fla.

Dr. Travis Hart, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Plainview, will speak Monday evening. Hart is familiar to many Texas Baptists as the writer of Sunday school lesson comments appearing in the weekly magazine The Baptist Standard.

The Rev. Bill O'Dell, chaplain of the Veteran's Hospital in Amarillo, will speak Tuesday evening.

Mavin Lewis, minister of music at the Lamont Drive Baptist Church of Amarillo, will lead the music and provide some of the special music for the revival. This will be the third time Lewis has led music for a revival at Dawn.

The services will include testimonies and special music by area residents. The Sunday morning service begins at 11 and each evening service begins at 7.

For additional information, call the church at 258-7330.

ST. THOMAS EPISCOPAL CHURCH

St. Thomas Church will continue the celebration of the Easter season with the celebration of the Holy Eucharist. Father Charles Threewit will preach on John's proclamation in his first letter that "God is light and in Him is no darkness at all."

Sunday at 2 p.m., St. Thomas will sponsor the Amarillo Little Theatre production of "Pump Boys and Dinnettes" in the Hereford High School auditorium. The play is musical, set in the present. The public is invited and urged to come see this excellent family entertainment.

Maroon JV mauls Caprock

Hereford's Maroon junior varsity team broke out of a 6-5 game in a big way, playing 14 runs in the fourth inning on its way to a 20-8 destruction of Caprock JV Thursday in Amarillo.

Although the game was close at first, the Herd led all the way. Ralph Holguin walked in the first inning and came around to score on Richard Wilbanks' base hit, giving the Herd a 1-0 lead.

The Herd scored five in the second, taking its first big lead at 6-0. Kyle Hansen was hit by a pitch, Holguin doubled and both scored on Richard Rodriguez' triple. Rodriguez scored on an error.

Later in the same inning, Chris Lopez singled and stole second, Hansen knocked him in with a double, and Holguin knocked Hansen in with his second double of the inning.

The Longhorns soon closed the gap to 6-5, getting two in the second and three in the third, but the Whitefaces' fourth inning rendered the Horns' comeback pretty much moot.

The Whitefaces batted around twice while Caprock struggled against a strong wind and committed five errors.

"The wind helped us a bunch," said

Coach Henry Perez, "and it destroyed them."

Perez was subbing for regular Maroon coach Bill Bridge, who was attending a football clinic, Perez said.

Rodriguez went all the way on the mound in earning the win for Hereford.

"It's tough going against the wind," Perez said. "He did a good job."

Rodriguez gave up three meaningless runs in the bottom of the fifth to provide the final score. The 10-run rule was enforced after the fifth inning.

Hansen, Holguin, Rodriguez,

Lopez, Michael Melendrez and Richard Wilbanks all hit safely twice. They might have gotten more hits, but Perez began substituting liberally in the fourth.

Hansen was robbed of a home run in the game, Perez said. An umpire ruled that Hansen's long drive bounced inside the fence before leaving the yard.

Perez said it didn't appear that way to him, and several people who were near the outfield fence told Perez that the ball had gone over cleanly.

The Maroon team hosts one of Plainview's JV teams Monday at 4:30 p.m. at Whiteface Field.

Last chance for Kids Inc. registration on Saturday

Saturday is the last chance to register for the 1991 Kids Inc. season. Registration is open from 9 a.m.-3 p.m. for boys' T-ball, minor, major and Babe Ruth leagues and for girls' softball. The registration fee per player is $35 for Babe Ruth players (ages 13-15) and $25 for all others.

The registration session will be held in the Lounge Room in the west end of the Hereford Community Center.

Prospective players should have proof of age with them at registration, and should be at least six years old by Aug. 1 to be eligible.

Members of the Hereford High School baseball teams may sign up for summer league play, but are prohibited by the University Interscholastic League from taking part in practices or games before the end of the high school season.

The Kids Inc. season will begin in mid-May.

Faldo falters; Bear in hunt

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) - Frustrated Nick Faldo had to watch an amateur hit shots he wished he could in an uncertain start to his quest for an unprecedented third consecutive Masters title.

Then came six-time champion Jack Nicklaus with his best opening round in the Masters since 1965 - enough to give any history-seeker pause.

U.S. Amateur champion Phil Mickelson, who beat Faldo 69 to 72, and 29 other players had a better score than the defending champion under perfect conditions at Augusta National Golf Club in the opening round of the 55th Masters. It was enough to make Faldo snippy and brusque.

After trying to rediscover his putting stroke on the practice putting green, he would only say, "I played good and didn't make the most of it."

Of his chances to get back on his game, Faldo said, "I'll give it a go. I'll give it a go."

Then he snapped, "Have a good day," and left the grounds.

Unanswered were questions about an un-Faldo finish that included two bogeys over the last five holes and a par on a hole many players birdied.

Nicklaus had predicted Faldo would win his third consecutive title if he could beat Nicklaus.

"I'd be surprised if I don't win," Nicklaus said earlier this week.

On Thursday he showed why. Nicklaus was mentally into his game, saying, "I was as composed on this course as I've been in a long time."

He scrambled early, then settled down for a 4-under-par 68 that put him a shot behind leaders Mark McCumber, Jim Gallagher Jr. and Lanny Wadkins.

Faldo had other world-class players to contend with the final three days, including two-time Masters champion Tom Watson, Fred Couples, Spain's Jose Maria Olazabal and Jumbo Ozaki, all tied with Nicklaus.

Joining Mickelson at 69 were former U.S. Open champion Scott Simpson, 1990 PGA Player of the Year Wayne Levi and Mark Brooks, a fifth-place finisher in the 1990 U.S. Open.

There were 22 players who matched Faldo's par. Out of the top 12 players, only two were foreigners. No U.S. player has won at Augusta since Larry Mize in 1987.

It was a bad day for some other foreigners, including Greg Norman, who shot 78; two-time Masters champion Seve Ballesteros, who had 75, and 1988 Masters champion Sandy Lyle, who shot 77.

Mickelson, a senior at Arizona State and playing his first competitive round at Augusta, matched Faldo shot-for-shot, including his eagle on the 465-yard, par-5 No. 13.

Then Faldo fell apart, flubbing a short chip on the 14th and missing a 10-footer for bogey. A poor chip gave Faldo only a par on the 500-yard, par-5 No. 15, a hole Mickelson birdied. Faldo missed the green on 18th and couldn't get it up and down.

Mickelson, who became the first left-hander in history to break 70 at the Masters, said he didn't think Faldo had done unrepairable damage to his chances.

"He's just setting himself up; he's not thinking about just one round; he's very into his game," Mickelson said.

Faldo started out 71-72 last year before he closed with 66-68 to get into a playoff he won over Ray Floyd.

Battling a bad cold, Nicklaus holed an 80-foot sand wedge for a birdie duce on the 205-yard, par-3 No. 4 to get his round jump-started.

Watson, who brought four putters to the tournament, found one that worked. He also got lucky when a wayward shot on 18 hit a lady in the ankle and kicked toward the green, helping him save par.

Hi-Plains club plays here

The Hi-Plains Golf Association had a Playday at Pitman Municipal Golf Course in Hereford Wednesday.

Three women tied for medalist honors: Jerri Payne of Tulia, Marge Morgan of Canyon and Linda Stevens of Hereford.

Linsa Elder of Muleshoe took the award for having the low net score--which is the score after the handicap is deducted.

Championship flight: Low gross - Alice Doshier, Farwell, 92. Low puts - Doshier, 32.

First flight: Low gross - Theresa Albracht, Hereford, 95. Low net - (tie) Pat Goforth, Hereford, and Sandy Jones, Canyon, 80. Low puts - Albracht, 31.

Second flight: Low gross - Karen Marsh, Hereford, 93. Low net - Jerri Horton, Dimmitt, 82. Low puts - Mozelle Lilly, Dimmitt, 30.

Third flight: Low gross - Bernice Norton, Farwell, 100. Low net - (tie) Beverly Lockmiller and Shirley Phillips, Clovis, 82. Low puts - Colleen Meyers, Hereford, 34.

Fourth flight: Low gross - Sharon Simpson, Tulia, 105. Low net - Norma Coffey, Hereford, 78. Low puts - Connie Gilbreath, Dimmitt, 36.

Fifth flight: Low gross - Melissa Carpenter, Dimmitt, 113. Low net - Cari Anderson, Farwell, 84. Low puts - Althea Herrington, Farwell, 34.

Sadler made Tech assistant

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - James Dickey, who was named Wednesday as Texas Tech's new head basketball coach, named Doc Sadler, 30, as an assistant coach Thursday.

Sadler served as an assistant coach at Westark Community College in Fort Smith, Ark., the past three years.

"Doc understands the system we want to run and he understands the type of young men we are looking for in recruiting," Dickey said.

Home health care coverage can make recovery more comfortable.

Full recovery from a serious illness can take much longer than a stay in the hospital... especially if the patient is elderly. Recuperation at home can be more comfortable and secure. It can also cost your parents or your family a lot of money for which Medicare does not reimburse you.

That's why the CNA Insurance Companies, one of several major companies our independent agency represents, created a new Home Health Care Plan. It provides coverage your parents and your own family may need to help pay the costs of professional health services performed at home.

Contact our agency for a discussion that can make your whole family more comfortable about the future.

Warriors put on foul shot clinic

By JOHN KREISER
AP Sports Writer

The Golden State Warriors and Los Angeles Lakers' star Magic Johnson both had perfect nights at the foul line. So did Houston's Larry Smith - he was perfectly awful.

The Warriors set a team record by going 33-for-33 from the foul line Thursday night against Houston and Johnson tied the Lakers' team mark with an 18-for-18 performance in a 110-95 victory over Utah.

Smith was the wrong kind of perfect. He missed all six foul shots after being intentionally fouled by the Warriors in the fourth quarter. Golden State capitalized on the misses to break the game open and beat the Rockets 111-99.

Coach Don Nelson ordered his team to intentionally foul Smith, a 54.4 percent career foul shooter entering this season, three times. Smith, an ex-Warrior, missed all three pairs of free throws and Chris Mullen turned the first two sets of misses into five of his 26 points.

"We thought it would break their momentum," Nelson said. "I've only tried to put someone on the line two times in my career. I've been thinking about it a long time, and tonight I thought I could help us win by coaching."

"Tonight, I coached a perfect game."

In other NBA games, it was Milwaukee 111, Boston 92; Minnesota 112, Atlanta 98, and Sacramento 104, Orlando 96.

Lakers 110, Jazz 95
Johnson, who finished with 31 points, tied a team record and was one short of the NBA mark for most free throws without a miss. He hit five in a row to start the fourth quarter after the Jazz cut a 15-point deficit to two points late in the third quarter.

The Lakers took command early by harrasing Utah into 14-for-48 shooting in the first half. Terry Teagle added 20 points for LA.

Bucks 111, Celtics 92
Fred Roberts scored 26 points and Frank Brickowski added 22 as Milwaukee tied Detroit for the Eastern Conference's No. 3 playoff spot.

Milwaukee's Adrian Dantley moved past Elgin Baylor into ninth place on the NBA's career scoring list. Dantley scored five points, giving him 23,152 for his 14-year career.

The Celtics were without Larry Bird, who was out with back spasms. Kevin McHale scored 16 points and Brian Shaw 15.

Bench-clearer mars Astros' 4-1 victory

By The Associated Press

The Houston Astros have made a promise to the Cincinnati Reds and reliever Rob Dibble.

"I don't think this will be the end of this," Houston's Ken Caminiti said after the Astros beat the Reds 4-1 Thursday night.

The loss knocked Cincinnati out of first place in the National League West for the first time in more than a year. And the Reds went down fighting.

Dibble gave up an RBI single to reliever Curt Schilling in his first major league at-bat to score the final Houston run in the ninth.

Dibble's next pitch, a fastball, sailed at least a foot behind Eric Yelding's back. The shortstop charged the mound, threw his batting helmet at Dibble's left shoulder, then took a swing that failed to connect. A pile of players then covered the mound and order was restored in about a minute.

"They should suspend the guy," Astros manager Art Howe said of Dibble, who was ejected along with Yelding.

Dibble, one of the Reds' three "Nasty Boys" relievers, lived up to his title when reporters approached for an explanation.

"I don't got nothing to say. Don't even come near my locker," he said, snarling. "Don't even bother."

After a pause, he added, "You should all come to Houston."

The Reds play there later this month.

The fight overshadowed a wild three-hitter by three Astros pitchers. Pete Harnisch (1-0) pitched five hitless innings but walked eight in his NL debut. Xavier Hernandez gave up two hits and Schilling finished with one-hit relief for the save.

Harnisch, who joined Schilling in moving to the Astros from Baltimore in a trade for Davis, walked four batters in the fourth to give Cincinnati its only run.

Mets 6, Expos 3
Wally Whitehurst marked his 27th birthday by pitching a career-high seven innings in his first victory as a starter for the Mets.

Giants 11, Padres 9
Will Clark and Kevin Mitchell hit RBI singles in the 10th inning for San Francisco, which recovered after blowing a six-run lead.

Cardinals 5, Cubs 4
Lee Smith retired Shawn Dunston on a fly ball with the bases loaded to end the Cubs' two-run rally in the ninth.

Dodgers 4, Braves 2
Ramon Martinez started his season with eight strong innings and Brett Butler had three hits as Los Angeles swept the rain-abbreviated two-game series.

White sparks Jays past Brewers, 7-3

By The Associated Press

When the Toronto Blue Jays look around and see Devon White starting things off, they figure their offense will create some problems for the opposition.

"When you've got guys like Devo getting on base all night, you're going to score some runs," winning pitcher David Wells said after White sparked Toronto to a 7-3 victory over Milwaukee Thursday night.

Offseason acquisitions White and Joe Carter continued to spark the offense and Wells pitched eight strong innings.

"Right now I'm swinging at mostly high pitches and staying away from the low ones," White said. "I used to swing at a lot of the low ones."

"I don't mind doing whatever it takes to help us win," he said. "If it means leading off, then that's what I'll do."

Carter, acquired from San Diego, drove in two runs, giving him five in four games while batting .400 for the Blue Jays. White, traded by California, went 3-for-5 and scored three runs, giving him five for the season to go with a .389 average.

In other American League games, Oakland beat Minnesota 3-0, California defeated Seattle 5-0, Cleveland beat Boston 6-4 and Detroit downed New York 11-5.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

THE VILLAINOUS NAME OF HEROD!

THE NAME OF KING HEROD IS SYNONYMOUS WITH CRUELTY AND MURDER IN THE BIBLE—BUT NOT TO JUST ONE MAN! HEROD WAS THE FAMILY NAME OF SEVERAL KINGS; A FAMILY IN EDOM WHERE, IT IS SAID, THEY WERE FORCIBLY CONVERTED TO JUDAISM ABOUT 125 B.C. THEY RULED IN PALESTINE FROM 46 B.C. TO A.D. 100. HEROD THE GREAT (73-4 B.C.) WAS THE RULER WHO, WHEN HEARING A FUTURE KING (JESUS) WAS BORN IN BETHLEHEM, ORDERED ALL MALE BABIES UP TO AGE THREE IN THAT TOWN BE SLAUGHTERED SO THERE COULD BE NO THREAT TO HIS THRONE! BUT....

....IT WAS HIS SON, HEROD ANTIPAS, WHO ORDERED THE BEHEADING OF JOHN THE BAPTIST AT THE INSTIGATION OF HIS WIFE, HERODIAS, WHO HATED JOHN FOR VILIFYING HER MARRIAGE TO HEROD ANTIPAS WHILE SHE WAS STILL THE WIFE OF HALF-BROTHER HEROD PHILIP! HEROD AGRIPPA I, A GRANDSON, KEPT FAMILY TRADITION ALIVE BY KILLING THE APOSTLE JAMES AND IMPRISONING PETER. HIS SON, HEROD AGRIPPA II, COMPLETED THE FAMILY ROLE OF VILLAINY BY FIGHTING ON THE SIDE OF THE ROMANS WHEN THE JEWS BEGAN THEIR REVOLT AGAINST ROME IN A.D. 66—A RECORD OF WHICH ONLY A HEROD COULD BE PROUD!

MR. AND MRS. VANCE CRUME

Reception planned

All friends and relatives of Vance and Avie Crume are invited to attend a reception from 2-4 p.m. Sunday, April 14, at the Hereford Camp Fire Lodge.

The event will honor the couple's 50th wedding anniversary. No gifts are requested.

Hosting the reception will be the couple's daughters, Judy Palmer of Cimarron N.M. and Prissy Galley of Amarillo.

The Crumes were married April 11, 1941, in Farwell. The wedding was held in the home of Mrs.

Crume's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hop Graham. They had lived in Friona before moving to Hereford on April 2, 1952. Both are retired. Mr. Crume was employed by Deaf Smith County Appraisal District and Mrs. Crume formerly managed the Hereford Credit Bureau Services.

The couple has been involved in Camp Fire for 15 years and extends an invitation to all Camp Fire acquaintances. Members of the Camp Fire will be serving refreshments, during the event.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: My daughter and I read your article about putting slides onto videotape. We did about 35 boxes of slides ourselves.

Just set the video camera on a tripod and project the slides onto a good screen. Experiment until you get the distance just right.

Working with two people, have one show and focus the slides while the other operates the video camera and says when it's OK. The video operator turns on the camera and counts to four, then turns the camera off while the slides are being changed. One of them could even explain the photo.

Ours really turned out well. — Lola Gabriel, Prosperity, S.C.

That's sure using your head for something other than a hat rack. It may take a little practice, but once you get the hang of it you can zip right along. If your video camera has a freeze-frame feature, you are one step ahead.

Another reader wrote about a machine that will transfer photos or slides onto videotape. If you're interested, try calling photo-equipment stores. — Heloise

MISSING HALF

Q. I have been a fan of both you and your mom (and by the way, my husband swears by your column). Keep up the good work!

I have a favor to ask. Many years ago you printed an essay that I fell in love with. I lost the first half of it. Can you reprint it? Sure would appreciate it! — Mrs. Luke Morgan, San Antonio, Texas

A. I am so sorry but I haven't been able to find a complete copy of that column. Below is the part you sent me. If any of you have the rest, please send it on to me at P.O. Box 795000, San Antonio TX 78279. Keep watching for the complete article.

"Return to kitchen and find Johnny. Remove his hands from bowl. Wash shortening, etc., etc., off him. Take up greased pan and find nut shells in it. Head for Johnny who flees, knocking bowl off table.
