Revell airs reasons for differences

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor
 Dr. Tim Revell listed some of his concerns for the first time in public on Thursday at the Deaf Smith County Hospital District board meeting. Revell announced in March that he would be leaving Hereford in July, but did not list any specific reasons for leaving. On Thursday, with a crowd of about 50 persons on hand, Revell was asked to air his grievances. "I've had some differences of opinion with some folks," Revell said. "There have been differences of opinions between myself and Mr. (Gary) Moore (Deaf Smith General Hospital administrator).

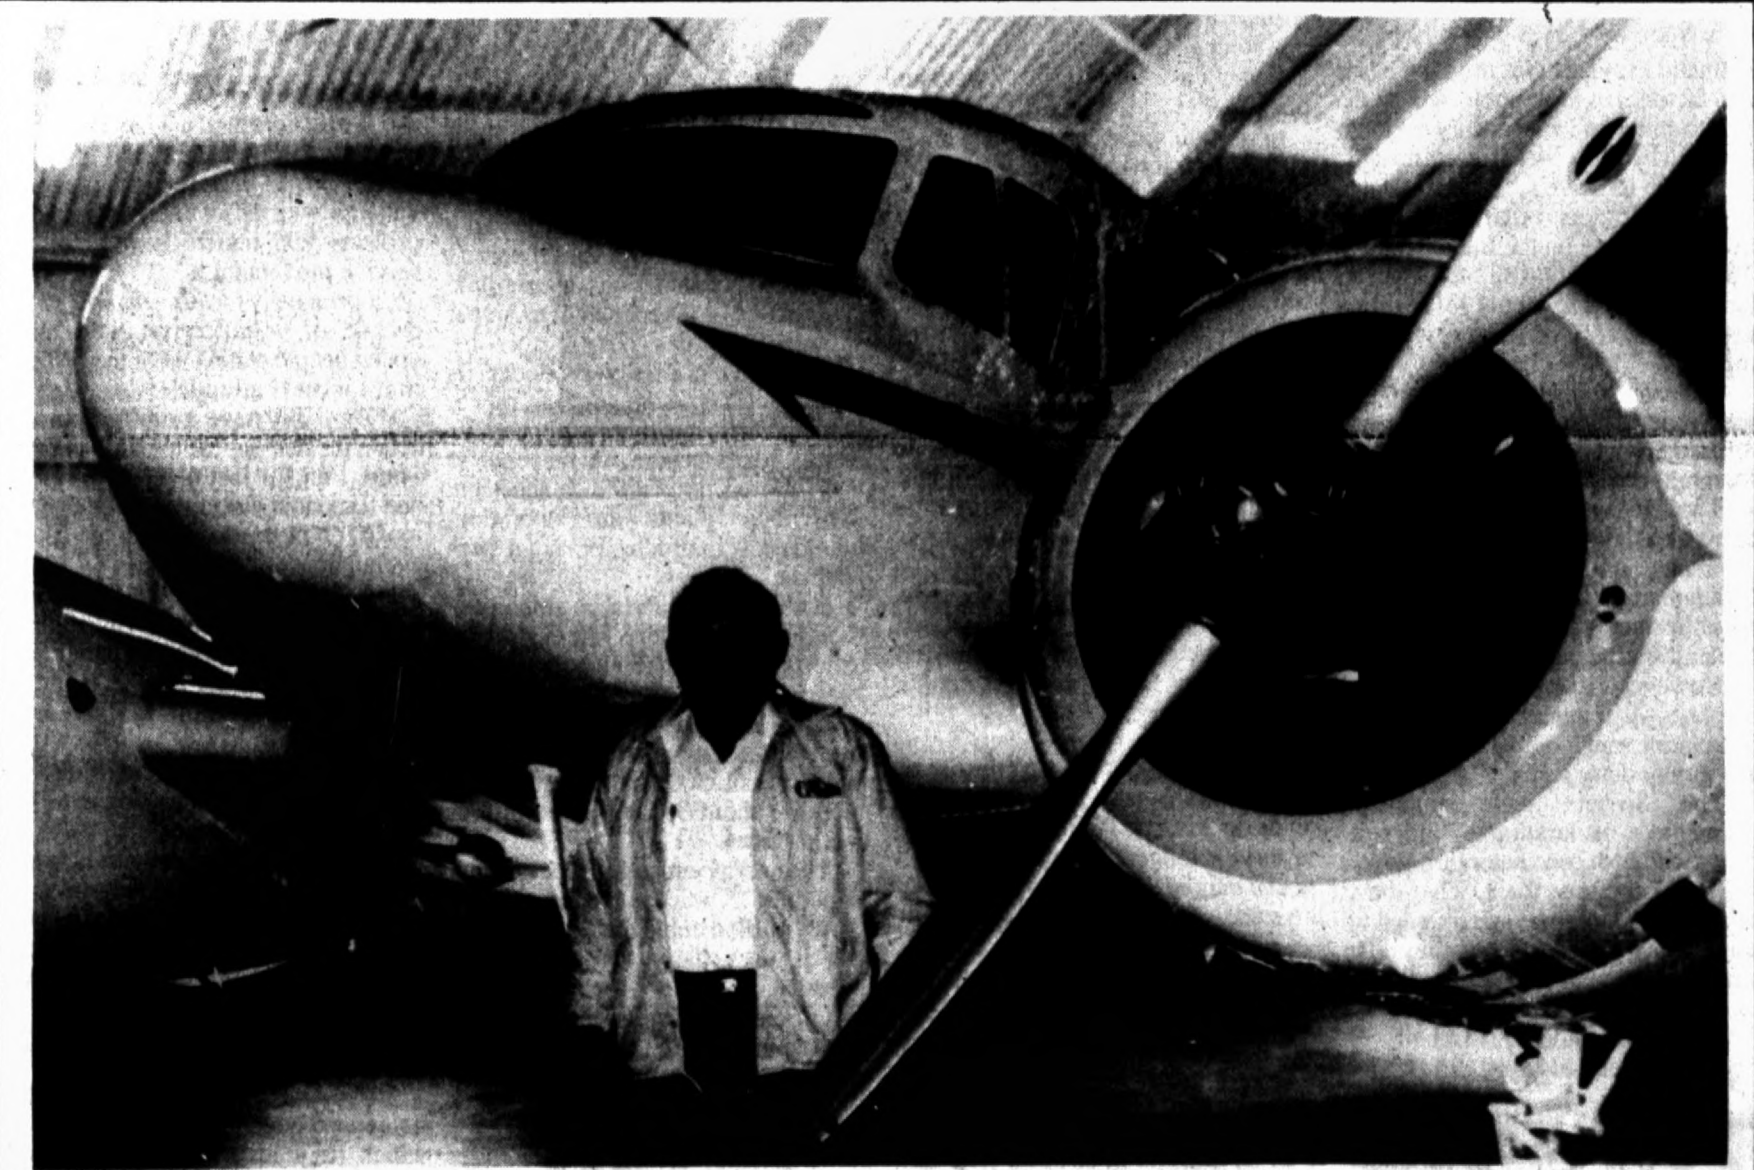

"At the time my decision was made, the philosophy I had and still hold is that if a patient is sick and taken on by a physician, you give that patient the very best care you can give them. I thought some cases were not being done because of some restrictions being put on doctors and others. I feel the restrictions are still there. I think some cases are being decided, decisions are being made, by non-medical personnel and in some cases that jeopardizes us." Moore did not address the conflicting-philosophy issue at Thursday's meeting. In an April 1 story in the Brand, Moore said, "Dr. Revell and I have some basic philosophical differences, but that is not unique. I have some differences with other physicians at times." "On behalf of the board I want to ask you (Dr. Revell) to reconsider your decision and stay in the community," said board President Ralph Detten. "We can sorely afford to lose a family practitioner." Detten later said it was "the consensus of the board that we ask Dr. Revell to remain in Hereford. We have been trying to recruit another family practitioner to move to Hereford and have been unsuccessful. We sure don't need to lose one that we have right now." Debbie Fetsch presented about 50 petitions to the board, with over 1,000 signatures, supporting Dr. Revell.

"We want you to talk to him (Dr. Revell), listen to him with open hearts and minds," Fetsch said. Revell earlier said "there was a possibility I might stay" when the petitions were being circulated. He said in an April 1 story in the Brand that he would stay only if changes were made. "I've been fighting an uphill struggle and I'm tired of beating my head against the wall," Dr. Revell said. "...The impetus for change should not be based on whether I stay or leave, it should be based on whether the hospital is willing to take care of all patients, or not...Some patients would be willing to pay their bills if they weren't treated so shabbily." Dr. Revell also told the audience that he was afraid the hospital "could end up with a deal like Dimmitt" eight years ago, a young Hispanic couple was denied treatment for their sick baby because they could not pay a $300 deposit. They were denied admission even though they were ordered by a doctor to take the baby to the hospital for treatment. The baby died within an hour. The hospital was eventually sued by the parents. The couple, the Aguinagas, won an undisclosed cash settlement and the hospital was forced to change its admissions policy to allow anyone seeking treatment to receive treatment. Financial questions are asked later. Moore, in answer to a question from June Rudd about emergency room procedures, said, "In the emergency room we see all patients with emergency conditions without regard to their ability to pay." "During the week, without full-time emergency room coverage by doctors, a local doctor is called," Moore said. "A nurse looks at the patient and calls the doctor with her assessment, then calls the doctor again. The nurse assesses the patient first.

"On the weekends all patients with emergency conditions are seen by the doctor on duty in the emergency room. Federal statutes define emergencies, and we give the benefit of the doubt to the patient." Moore said that sometimes, after an assessment by a nurse, a doctor may advise the patient to come to his office the next morning or some later time. "I don't want to see us wind up like Dimmitt did," Rudd said. "Well, the emergency room is not a clinic," said board member Margie Ford. Rudd also said she had heard persistent rumors that the obstetrical (OB) unit at DSGH would be closed. "I don't know where that came from," said Detten. "We haven't discussed that at a board meeting that I know of." "Fiona doesn't have OB, other small hospitals don't," Moore said. "We are subsidizing OB to the tune of $10,000 a month, and that is not adjusting for Medicaid losses." Moore said the actual loss would be from $10,000 to $15,000 a month for the unit. Last month, the hospital had seven "drop-in" OB patients who had not made prior arrangements with the hospital or a doctor.

Restored plane is highlight
 Pitt Pittinger of Hereford is dwarfed by his fully-restored 1943 Cessna Bobcat at his shop at the Hereford Municipal Airport.

The Bobcat will be a highlight of a tour by the Experimental Aircraft Association to Hereford on Saturday.

Pilots will fly here Saturday

Pilots from across the region are expected to visit Hereford on Saturday on a "Fly To Hereford Day" from 8 a.m. through the noon hour at the Hereford Municipal Airport. The event is sponsored by the Top of Texas Chapter of the Experimental Aircraft Association. There will be from 35 to 50 planes, including many classic planes, that will be on display. Members of the organization are interested in flying, building and signing aircraft, restoration of antique and classic aircraft, and sport aviation.

The pilots and others will be touring local attractions like the Deaf Smith County Museum and the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center. Another special attraction will be the completely restored Cessna Bobcat rebuilt by Pitt Pittinger. The plane was built in 1943 and was originally used to train pilots in World War I. Over 5,000 of the plane were built, but only around 100 are in existence today. The publi is invited to visit the airport on Saturday and see the variety of planes on display.

McGee praises Kiwanis

Kiwanis Texas-Oklahoma District Governor Jack McGee of Wetumka, Okla., addressed the 40th anniversary meeting of the Hereford Noon Kiwanis Club on Thursday at the Hereford Community Center. McGee leads the second-largest district in Kiwanis International, which is celebrating its 75th anniversary this year. There are 17,000 members in the 480-club district. During a visit with local media on Thursday afternoon, McGee talked about Kiwanis' programs and the Hereford clubs. Hereford has two Kiwanis clubs, a Golden K group for older persons, and Key Club and Keywanette Club for high school students.

DSGH adopts tight policy for records

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor
 Medical records at Deaf Smith General Hospital should be more secure in the future after action taken Thursday by the Deaf Smith County Hospital District board of directors. Debbie Foerster, who supervises the medical records department, has developed guidelines to prevent persons not on the medical records staff from looking through or obtaining the records without following legal guidelines. Medical records are protected by law from being examined or obtained unless certain procedures are followed. Federal and state health authorities can usually look at the records, and they may be obtained by a doctor in case of an emergency for the specific patient. There are very few other cases in which the records may be examined or obtained. A few months ago, Deaf Smith General Hospital was named as a defendant on a suit by two persons on a medical procedure. The Brand has learned that records of other patients who had similar procedures performed on them had their records pulled and examined by attorneys in the case. The name and other non-vital information was "whited out" on copies of each of the forms before the records were turned over to the attorneys. "Our attorney at the time told us this was proper," Hospital District Board President Ralph Detten said Thursday night. "We were acting on his advice and we did what we thought was proper. They needed to examine those records to see if other cases had enough similarities or dissimilarities in them to warrant action or no action." Soon after the records were provided, the hospital was dropped from the suit. The board was provided with information from the state attorney general's office on Thursday indicating the action was probably not proper. The stringent guidelines approved Thursday should prevent improper action with the records in the future. DSGH Comptroller Phyllis Morrison reported that the hospital had 190 patients admitted during March and that the hospital had revenues, after allowances, of $547,000 and listed expenses of $501,000. Morrison said the hospital had a net profit of $40,820 for the month. DSGH Administrator Gary Moore reviewed turnover in the nursing staff and how Hereford's new doctors are coming along. Moore said that since January 1988, 7 licensed vocational nurses and 23 registered nurses had left DSGH. In the meantime, 11 LVN's and 20 registered nurses have been hired. Moore said 13 of those nurses live outside of Hereford. He said three of the registered nurses who had left DSGH who lived in Hereford and had commuted to other hospitals in the area had returned to DSGH. Moore said that Dr. Robert Clark is no longer on a guarantee and his practice is well established; Dr. Dennis Finley, an orthopedist, has a well-established practice and his guarantee period will end in May; Dr. Randall Vinther, an internal medicine specialist, is "going well and told me last week he is as busy as he wants to be," Moore said; and Dr. F. Ray Jones' practice is improving. Dr. Jones is an ophthalmologist. A new doctor will be moving to Hereford in May and the hospital is looking for an ear-nose-and-throat specialist and a family practitioner. The board approved a contract with Southwest Medical Associates to provide weekend emergency room coverage; approved a plan for a new computer software package that will replace the current system since the company that developed the present software is no longer providing updates for the two-year-old system; and the board learned it will not be able to make retroactive payments to local doctors who have been providing coverage in the emergency room on Friday nights for the past several months because of restrictions in the state constitution. The board accepted the resignation of Dr. Nadir Khuri from the board. Dr. Khuri said he was resigning "for personal reasons," and reiterated that he is not leaving Hereford but felt that he had served his purpose on the board. The board will appoint Dr. Trow Mims to the board to replace Khuri.

Lithuanians say Soviet embargo will boomerang

VILNIUS, U.S.S.R. (AP) - Lithuania says Soviet military bases and factories in the republic will be the first to suffer under an energy embargo imposed by Moscow to force Lithuania to give up its drive for independence.

The Soviets tightened their economic noose on the Baltic republic Thursday by shutting off more than 80 percent of its gas supply following a complete cutoff of oil the previous night.

Lithuania, forcibly incorporated into the Soviet Union in 1940, so far has refused Soviet demands to rescind its March 11 declaration of independence.

The British Broadcasting Corp. television program "Newsnight" Thursday quoted an unidentified Lithuanian source as saying the republic might offer to suspend the declaration for two years.

However, Antanas Karoblis, head of the Lithuanian parliament's Secretariat, said today of the report, "I absolutely deny it."

The Soviets have answered Lithuania's declaration of independence with both conciliatory words and shows of military force. They have seized some buildings and rounded up some army deserters, but they also have pleaded with Lithuanian officials to reconsider.

Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev took his most drastic step on Wednesday, when a pipeline to Lithuania's only oil refinery was shut off.

The republic is entirely dependent on Moscow for its oil and gas, which it receives at below-market prices.

On Thursday, Lithuanian officials said that the first to lose their energy supplies will be Soviet military bases and the 96 factories run by Moscow ministries, according to the parliament's press office.

Lithuanian Energy Minister Leonas Asmantas ordered immediate gasoline rationing of 7.8 gallons per month for private cars, according to Daina Kalendra of the parliamentary press office.

Government spokesman Ceslovas Jurcenas said on Lithuanian radio that in the areas of fuel and power, Lithuanians would be put on "a starvation diet."

"Where we can give up the use of gas, gasoline, any heating or lighting, let us do this, and then we will be able to survive longer and, maybe, we will not be intimidated by these sanctions," he said.

Hospitals would be the last to face supply reductions, Ms. Kalendra said.

Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesman Vadim Perfiliev told reporters in Moscow that officials "might have some other restrictions" to impose on Lithuania, but he also refused to provide details.

In Key Largo, Fla., President Bush and visiting French President Francois Mitterrand both said they were "deeply disturbed" by the Kremlin's energy embargo. Bush told reporters he was "considering appropriate measures to be taken in light of Soviet actions."

Lithuania normally produces its own electricity at a nuclear power plant at Ignalina, but it is shut for repairs. Ms. Kalendra said the republic has suffered no electricity shortage, and other plants are operating, including a hydroelectric plant near Kaunas.

Lithuanian Prime Minister Kazimiera Prunskiene was in Norway to discuss contracts for expensive Western oil.

Lithuania has virtually no foreign currency. Asmantas said the republic needs about 500,000 tons of oil a month - about $55 million worth at world prices.

The energy embargo left Lithuania with only 15 percent to 17 percent of the 18 million cubic meters of natural gas it uses daily for homes and industry.

Officials in Vilnius said this week that Lithuania has enough oil to last six weeks to three months.

Threats against Bush's life made by 'nice' guy

LUBBOCK (AP) - Friends of Otto Lakas, the son of a former Panamanian president, say they were shocked to hear "such a soft-spoken and caring person" was charged with threatening to kill President Bush.

Lakas, who is being held without bail in the Lubbock County jail until a Tuesday hearing before a U.S. magistrate, said Thursday he was joking when he was quoted telling a pawnbroker he was planning to "blow (Bush's) head off."

"I was not serious. Not at all. Not at all," Lakas, a 21-year-old architecture student at Lubbock Christian University, said in a jailhouse interview. "I didn't do anything. I am very confused. All I know is that I am in jail."

"This is just ridiculous. Otto is real calm, always polite and very nice," said Lisa Looper, 22, who lives next door to Lakas' girlfriend and spent time with Lakas on several occasions over the past year.

"He is no monster. I know that. He seems like such a soft-spoken and caring person," Ms. Looper said.

Another friend, who asked not to be identified, said, "Otto must have been kidding around. It's the only rational explanation."

According to court documents from the Secret Service, Lakas, while trying to buy a .357 Colt revolver at the Exact Pawn Shop, told clerk Stacy Nichols, "I have a .223-caliber rifle at home and a bullet with Bush's name engraved on it.

"Bush is coming to Lubbock and I will blow his ... head off."

The White House has announced no plans for a Bush visit to Lubbock, although Bush is scheduled to visit Dallas, Houston and Austin in May.

The Secret Service said agents searched Lakas' house and found a stun gun and a BB-gun.

Federal agents say Lakas was upset over last December's U.S. invasion of Panama, which resulted in the arrest of Panama's leader, Gen. Manuel Noriega, on drug charges.

"The U.S. got a bad guy but a lot of good people were hurt," a Secret Service affidavit quoted Lakas as saying to Nichols.

Lakas' father, Demetrio B. Lakas, was figurehead president of Panama from 1972 to 1978, during the time Panama was ruled by Gen. Omar Torrijos.

Lakas' brother, Basilio, on Wednesday told the Texas Tech student newspaper, The University Daily, that "the whole thing is a misunderstanding, and there is no reason to blow it out of proportion."

But Nichols, who twice turned down attempts by Lakas to buy a gun, said Lakas' comments were so startling he waited two weeks to tell authorities of the threats because he feared reprisals.

Nichols notified Lubbock police of the incidents Monday. After a brief Secret Service investigation, about 10 federal agents, most of them with their guns drawn, arrested Lakas at his girlfriend's house, according to witnesses.

"I would not have called in federal agents if I wasn't serious," Nichols said Thursday.

Clash brewing over bill provision

AUSTIN (AP) - School administrators and school boards said a provision adopted by an education conference committee will open the door to collective bargaining, but a teachers' group called that "absolutely ridiculous."

"We believe a teacher's place is in the classroom ... not on the picket line," Patti Clapp, president-elect of the Texas Association of School Boards, said Thursday.

Ms. Clapp, also a member of the Richardson school board, said the administration groups can't support an education bill with such a provision.

But Ollie Besteiro, president of the Texas State Teachers Association, said the proposal has nothing to do with collective bargaining, negotiations between organized workers and their employers. She described the complaints as "absolutely ridiculous."

"This does not speak in any way, shape, or form to salaries or conditions of employment. It speaks to educational decisions that affect what happens in the classroom," such as scheduling, textbooks, curriculum and discipline, she said.

The provision is needed, Ms. Besteiro said, because "We have been left out of the process."

KIWANIS

"I am especially glad to be in Hereford for this celebration," McGee said. "When you see all of these banners with all of their honors and projects you realize how great the service movement is."

"I personally feel the 90s will be the decade of volunteerism with more young people putting aside the 'What's in it for me?' attitude."

"We really have a smorgasbord of activities that appeal to many people. Some join for just a certain project, and some join just to join. We hope we make Kiwanians out of them eventually."

McGee said the Texas-Oklahoma District is the fastest-growing district in the international group, which just chartered a club in Hungary and is looking to establishing clubs in Eastern Europe.

He also said the average age of members is dropping, down to 52 years old in his district.

Many of Kiwanis' programs in the past have focused on young people. McGee said that while that focus will continue, more programs are being designed to help senior citizens besides forming Golden K groups.

"The bottom line is community service," McGee said.

Bobby Owen of Hereford is the lieutenant governor for Division 33, which stretches from Muleshoe and Wellington to the north. There are 15 clubs in the division. Owen is the eighth Kiwanian from Hereford to serve as lieutenant governor.

The club has been served by 43 presidents over 40 years, and 29 of them were at Thursday's banquet.

Other clubs from the division, including the Amarillo Downtown club that helped found the Hereford Noon club, were represented at the event.

McGee said it was the largest banquet in the Texas-Oklahoma District this year.

Gene Brock, the long-time advisor of the Hereford Key Club, is the president of the Hereford Noon Kiwanis Club.

Corporations celebrate Earth Day

Earth Day--April 22-- is a good time for all Americans to think about what they could be doing to help protect the environment. Many companies have already made environmental protection an integral factor in planning, building and operating. These are just some of the companies committed to guarding and enhancing the environment on a daily basis:

Special observance planned

Members of the Kiwanis Club of Hereford will mark Canada-United States Goodwill Week April 22-28. Club President Gene Brock indicated that this annual observance is designed to focus attention on the nearly two centuries that Canada and the United States have lived together in peace. Their 5,000 miles of undefended border are a constant reminder of the friendship that exists between them, and is a pattern for peace for all nations of the world.

Canada-United States Goodwill Week was originated in 1922 by Kiwanis International and now enjoys wide participation in both countries, said Brock. As a result of the observance, Kiwanians have shown a concern for maintaining and appreciating the excellent relations between the two countries by establishing many permanent and continuing projects. The most noteworthy of the permanent projects has been the dedication of some three dozen Kiwanis Peace Markers along the common border.

Last year, Kiwanis clubs raised and spent more than $65 million on community service activities, with a special emphasis on underprivileged children. Today, Kiwanis numbers 8,500 clubs and 320,000 members in 73 nations around the world.

To mark Earth Day, 1990, IBM will focus on the growing role of information technology in the identification, analysis and solution of environmental problems. The corporation's exhibit at Earth Tech, a technology fair to be held in Washington, D.C. during the first week in April, includes a video unit that demonstrates the basics of the Global Resource Information Database (GRID) developed for the United Nations Environmental Programme's environmental monitoring network. IBM contributed $6.5 million worth of hardware and software to support the UN program, which translates information reported by satellite and aircraft into environmental data.

Three months after celebration of Earth Day, 1990, the Everest Environmental Expedition will begin scaling Mount Everest--aided by a major funding grant from Dow Chemical Company. The expedition will clean up trash on the mountain, establish systems for collecting and recycling future trash and inaugurate a model program to reclaim and restore overused mountain areas around the world.

At Monsanto, they say, "every day is Earth Day." The company will conduct tree-planting ceremonies to a number of locations, sponsor essay and poster contests at schools and encourage high school debates on contemporary environmental issues. General Electric (GE) has spent some $150 million on site remediation and pollution control equipment, a figure that may increase to $200 million in 1990. The company's Plastics Division sponsors tree-planting in Massachusetts; is developing a wildlife area among the 6,000 acres that surround the plant in Alabama; has helped develop a recycling center in Ohio; and, a West Virginia University, has funded a master-level education program in environmental science.

Against the backdrop of Earth Day, 1990, the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) and The Boeing Company have signed a unique agreement for a technology exchange program. The objectives are to find alternative chemicals and processes to help solve environmental problems such as ozone depletion, smog and toxic emissions.

Herd spikers sign letters of intent

CANDE ROBBINS
signs with Sam Houston State University with Coach Brenda Reeh and parents Carolyn and Dewayne Robbins

Kosub bound for WT, Robbins for SHSU

Libby Kosub and Cande Robbins became the first Hereford Lady Whitefaces ever to sign national volleyball letters of intent Thursday when they announced their college choices.

Robbins inked with Sam Houston State while Kosub will continue her career at west Texas State.

Lady Whiteface coach Brenda Reeh said the signings were the culmination of years of hard work by the pair.

"These two have really put in a lot of hours on the court trying to improve their game," Reeh said. "They were a big part of the success we've enjoyed the last couple of years."

Reeh added that the overall athletic ability was what attracted recruiters.

"The coaches of both schools (Kim Hudson at WT and Brenda Gray at Sam Houston) were very impressed with their athleticism," Reeh said. "Both Cande and Libby have participated in three sports during their high school careers and have a lot of natural athletic ability."

The duo helped the Lady Whitefaces to back-to-back 20-win seasons, including a 26-6 mark in 1989, and two straight playoff appearances.

The pair also combined to set 12 single-season records in their careers.

Robbins posted the fewest missed serves (9) and the fewest missed attacks (18) as well as setting marks for serving percentage (.951), successful attacks (168) and total attacks (313) in 1989. She also scored the highest attack percentage (.913) as a junior.

Kosub set marks for kills (128) and digs (131) and had three records related to service receptions: total (183), percentage (.831) and fewest misplays (13). All were produced during the 1989 season.

Robbins and Kosub capped their prep careers by being selected to the All-District 1-4A, Texas Girls Coaches Association Class 4A All-State and TGCA 4A Academic All-State teams. Robbins has also been tabbed to play in the 1990 TGCA Volleyball All-Star game.

NFL teams try to improve on draft positions

NEW YORK (AP) - Like Bernie Kosar before him, Jeff George is going home to play quarterback, assuming that he and the Indianapolis Colts can agree to what figures to be a $2 million-plus contract.

The rights to take the Illinois quarterback with the first pick of Sunday's draft were conditionally dispatched Thursday morning from Atlanta to Indianapolis as the opening move in what figures to be a trade-filled lottery.

Indianapolis paid Atlanta what many football people believe is an extremely high price - the Colts' No. 1 pick next year, Pro Bowl offensive tackle Chris Hinton and wide receiver Andre Rison, who was the Colts' top pick a year ago.

That trade and one between San Francisco and Dallas may be only the opening salvos in one of the most active markets in recent years as teams seek ways to take advantage of the influx of 35 college juniors.

With 48 hours to go, the Seattle Seahawks, Detroit Lions and 49ers were trying to move up toward the top of the draft order and the San Diego Chargers, Chicago Bears, Buffalo Bills, Kansas City Chiefs and New York Giants were considering dropping down. The 49ers, meanwhile, got an additional pick in the second and third rounds by sending running back Terrence Flagger and defensive end Danny Stubbs to the Cowboys.

The sides in the George deal stressed that nothing is official until the parties agree on a contract. But the Colts and George's representatives seemed optimistic they could bring home the one-time Indianapolis high school hero, who played at Illinois the past two years after transferring from Purdue.

It was similar to the situation in 1985, when Kosar, who grew up in the Cleveland area, made it clear he wanted to play there. He went to the Browns after the club traded with Buffalo for the first pick in a supplemental draft.

"We want Jeff and Jeff wants us," Jim Irsay, the Colts' general manager, said.

"I think it can be worked out," said George's agent, Leigh Steinberg, who last year got Dallas quarterback Troy Aikman $11 million over six years as the first pick in the draft.

In addition to Hinton and Rison, who caught 52 passes for 820 yards last season, Indianapolis will give up a first-round pick next season and a fifth-rounder this year. Atlanta will give the Colts later 1991 picks depending on Indianapolis' draft position next year.

CORRECTION
In the April 13 issue of The Brand, the composition of the Hereford Junior High seventh-grade girls' 1,600-meter relay team was reported incorrectly. The team was made up of Monica Diaz, Estelita Castillo, Melissa Ship and Raquel Vallejo. The foursome ran a district-record time of 4 minutes, 35.49 seconds at the HJH Invitational held April 12 at Whiteface Stadium.

Hinton, ironically, was involved in another major draft-related trade.

After being taken by Denver with the fourth pick of the 1983 draft, he was sent to the Colts as part of the deal that brought the Broncos quarterback John Elway. Elway had been chosen No. 1 overall by the Colts, then based in Baltimore, but said he would not play for them.

The 49ers' deal Friday involves two relative disappointments.

Flagger was San Francisco's second No. 1 draft choice in 1987 but was hurt for most of his first two seasons and was stuck behind Roger Craig at tailback. He had asked to be traded.

Stubbs was a second-round pick in 1988 after playing for Jimmy Johnson, now the Cowboys' coach, at Miami. But he never started for the 49ers and San Francisco general manager John McVay described him Thursday as "the last defensive lineman to come off the bench."

Johnson said the trade at least partially fills a couple of team needs and gives the Cowboys more flexibility in Sunday's draft. The draft is much deeper with George and 34 other players with college eligibility remaining entered under Commissioner Paul Tagliabue's policy to unconditionally allow underclassmen.

CINCINNATI (AP) - Pete Rose, whose settlement with baseball got him banished from the game, is cutting a deal with federal prosecutors on tax charges that could land him in jail for up to six years.

Rose was prepared to enter a guilty plea in federal court today to charges of cheating on his taxes by failing to report $354,968 of income over a four-year period.

The two felony counts of filing false federal income tax returns carry a maximum penalty of three years in jail on each count. He also could be fined up to $250,000 on each count.

Details of Rose's plea agreement were unsealed Thursday afternoon in federal court. The government agrees not to pursue any other tax charges against Rose in return for the plea.

U.S. District Judge S. Arthur Spiegel was expected to hear Rose's guilty plea this morning. A sentencing date probably won't be set until after the judge receives the customary presentence report, which could take several weeks.

The agreement allows Rose to avoid the possibility of indictment on more serious felony tax charges, but leaves him in danger of a jail sentence. Spiegel has a lot of leeway in choosing a sentence.

Rose said he's not concerned about the possibility of jail.

"I know I'm not a bad person, but I did make some mistakes and it's in the eyes of the judge," Rose said, during his weekly talk show Thursday night on WCKY-AM in Cincinnati. "All you can say is it's up to the judge."

Federal prosecutors declined to comment until after Rose's appearance this morning before Spiegel.

The agreement ends a one-year investigation by federal prosecutors into whether Rose claimed all of his income from gambling, autograph appearances and memorabilia sales.

A grand jury convened last May to hear testimony on Rose's taxes. His plea to a bill of information - which is presented by prosecutors - allows him to avoid indictment and brings the matter to a close.

The former Cincinnati Reds star now has concluded the two major troubles in his life with agreements.

Rose, baseball's career hit leader, accepted a lifetime ban from the game last August after admitting he bet through bookmakers. Although Rose denies ever betting on baseball or the Reds, he accepted the penalty for that offense.

He's been diagnosed as having a gambling disorder, and is getting treatment. Rose views his tax troubles as another symptom.

"This is just another thing that happened because of my gambling problems I had. And hopefully the people understand and we'll get this thing taken care of," he said.

As part of his plea agreement, Rose admits he under-reported his income from 1984-87. He reported a total of $4.6 million in income for those years, paying $2 million in taxes, but hid $354,968 in income from personal appearances, baseball card shows and memorabilia sales.

Rose paid $162,703 in back taxes on the amount this week, plus penalties and interest that bring the figure to roughly $330,000. The Associated Press has learned.

Martinez almost perfect

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer

So what do fans expect for free? A perfect game?

That's almost what they got Thursday night in Philadelphia. A crowd of 23,010, lured mostly by the offer of free tickets, saw Montreal's Dennis Martinez come within five outs of the second no-hitter in the two-week-old season.

Martinez retired the first 18 batters before a leadoff walk in the seventh. He didn't give up a hit until Darren Daulton doubled with one out in the eighth and finished with a two-hitter as the Expos beat the Phillies 5-0.

"Thinking perfect game or no-hitter is selfish. But I knew I had a shot. So, I thought about it," Martinez said.

The game was one of those rescheduled because of the lockout. The Phillies decided to treat their fans and offered free tickets for those who clipped a coupon out of a newspaper.

A total of 14,593 freebies were given out on a first-come, first-served basis. Another 8,417 paid to watch the one-game series.

Elsewhere, New York beat Chicago 4-1, Pittsburgh rallied past St. Louis 5-1 and Los Angeles defeated Houston 7-3.

Martinez (2-0) struck out seven and walked one in his 17th career shutout.

He wound up with the Expos' first complete game of the season and the fifth this year in the majors.

Martinez was trying to pitch the first nine-inning no-hitter in the 20-year history of Veterans Stadium. A week ago Wednesday, California's Mark Langston and Mike Witt combined to no-hit Seattle.

"I realized that I had gotten everybody out. The main thing was that I wasn't thinking about a perfect game, but a no-hitter," Martinez said.

Len Dykstra walked to start the seventh. In the eighth, Daulton doubled over the head of center fielder Marquis Grissom.

Tommy Herr singled in the ninth for the Phillies' other hit.

Bruce Ruffin (1-1) took the loss. He balked home a run in the first and Tim Wallach's RBI double in the fourth made it 3-0.

Mets 4, Cubs 1

At New York, Dwight Gooden won his first game in 304 days, rebounding from two bad starts this season with seven impressive innings.

Gooden (1-2) gave up one run on four singles, struck out seven and walked two. He improved to 19-3 lifetime against Chicago.

Howard Johnson's two-run double in the fifth broke a 1-1 tie and finished Mike Harkey (1-1). The Mets managed just three hits and the Cubs got only four. John Franco finished for his third save.

Dodgers 7, Astros 3
At Los Angeles, Orel Hershiser outpitched Mike Scott and won for only the second time in 13 starts. Hurbie Brooks hit a three-run homer and Kal Daniels homered and drove in three runs in the Dodgers' third straight victory.

Hershiser (1-0) got his 99th career victory. He gave up three runs on nine hits in seven innings, striking out six and walking none. Don Aase finished for his second save.

Scott (0-1) was roughed up for seven runs on six hits and four walks in four innings.

Brooks' third home run and Daniels' first helped the Dodgers take a 7-1 lead after four innings.

Pirates 5, Cardinals 1

At St. Louis, Bobby Bonilla's single broke an eighth-inning tie and Barry Bonds followed with a home run.

Joe Magrane (0-2) took a five-hitter and 1-0 lead into the eighth. But a walk, a triple by Gary Redus and a single by Bonilla put the Pirates ahead.

After Frank DiPino relieved, Bonds hit his first home run of the season. Andy Van Slyke hit his third homer in the ninth.

Doug Drabek (2-1) allowed one run on three hits in eight innings and Ted Power pitched a hitless ninth.

Getting ready
Members of the Hereford Boxing Club work out on the heavy bags in preparation for Saturday's card at the Hereford YMCA. The HBC will host fighters from 11 other cities for more than 30 bouts at the event. The action is scheduled to start at 7 p.m.

Cowboys swap picks for players

IRVING (AP) - The talent-desperate Dallas Cowboys are cashing in some of their numerous draft picks for backup players they hope will play a big role in turning around the team's fortunes.

The Cowboys traded draft picks to the world champion San Francisco 49ers on Thursday for reserve running back Terrence Flagler and defensive end Dan Stubbs.

Flagler and Stubbs were delighted. "It was tough working out during the off-season and not being able to contribute to the team," Flagler said. "I'm ready for the chance to play on a regular basis."

Stubbs said, "I'll be glad to play for coach (Jimmy) Johnson again. I'm ready to be a starter."

Johnson projected both as possible starters. "They both fill needs and could help us right away as potential starters," said Johnson. "They both have excellent ability."

"On draft day we'll take the best athlete available and there won't be as glaring a need for a running back or a pass rusher as there was prior to the trade," Johnson said.

Dallas gave up a second round pick

(No. 47 overall) obtained in the Herschel Walker trade with Minnesota and a third-round pick from Kansas City (No. 68). The 49ers gave Dallas their third pick (No. 81) and an 11th round choice.

Flagler was a first round choice out of Clemson in 1987 while Stubbs was a second round pick out of Miami in 1988.

Flagler rushed 33 times for 129 yards and one touchdown and caught six passes for 51 yards. He returned 32 kickoffs for 643 yards.

Stubbs had 4 sacks and 13 tackles. He made several sacks late in the Super Bowl.

The Cowboys were still dangling quarterback Steve Walsh as trade bait but there were no takers. Dallas lost its No. 1 draft pick when it picked Walsh in last year's supplemental draft. The Cowboys will draft 21st on Sunday with the first round pick obtained from the Vikings in the Walker trade.

"Anything is possible but right now we plan to have Walsh as a Cowboy this year," Johnson said. "Contrary to some reports, we're not actively calling around the league trying to trade him."

Stewart July-hot in April

By The Associated Press
Dave Stewart is tough to beat any time of the year. In April, just forget it.

Stewart ran his amazing April winning streak to 17 games Thursday as the Oakland Athletics beat the Seattle Mariners 5-2.

The first-place A's are on a pretty good streak of their own, winning six straight games and eight of their first nine.

Stewart, who lost the first 11 April decisions in his career, is 3-0 with a 1.86 earned-run average this season and 13-0 against Seattle since joining Oakland in 1987. He's won 17 of 18 April starts since an April 15, 1987, loss to Minnesota, and the A's won his only no-decision, 5-4 over Toronto on April 24, 1989.

"I'm probably more prepared or as prepared as any pitcher can be coming into April," said Stewart, who has never won a Cy Young Award despite three straight 20-win seasons.

Stewart pitched seven innings and allowed one run and five hits. He walked two and struck out two.

Elsewhere in the American League it was Milwaukee 11, Texas 0; Cleveland 1, New York 0 and Baltimore 4, Detroit 2.

"It's obvious April doesn't make a Cy Young winner," Stewart said, scoreless innings and the Indians scored their only run on a passed ball.

Swindell (1-1) bounced back from a horrible first start in which he allowed four earned runs in two innings in a 9-4 loss to Chicago. He allowed three hits to the Yankees, striking out five and walking one. Ceciliano Guante pitched 1 2-3 innings, and Doug Jones got the last three outs for his third save, each reliever allowing a hit.

Tom Brookens tripled off Pascual Perez (1-1) and scored on Rick Cerone's passed ball in the sixth inning.

Rickey Henderson led the A's attack by reaching base five times with two walks, an RBI single, and a fielder's choice. He also scored two runs and stole three bases.

Henderson's three steals leave him 14 short of Ty Cobb's AL record (892) and 60 short of Lou Brock's major league record (938).

Milwaukee hit double-figures for the third time this week, and this time got a four-hitter from Chris Bosio to beat Texas at Arlington. It was the AL's first complete game of 1990.

Greg Vaughn and B.J. Surhoff each homered for the Brewers off Bobby Witt (0-2).

Bosio struck out five and walked one.

Indians 1, Yankees 0
Greg Swindell pitched 6 1-3

Coody recovers nicely

AUSTIN (AP) - Just as Charles Coody was stroking a 10-foot birdie putt on the second hole, the ball rolled.

"It was kind of a downer," the 1971 Masters champion said. "I made the putt, but there was a penalty stroke involved, so it wasn't a birdie."

Dale Douglass, Coody's partner in the Seniors better-ball competition in the Legends of Golf, picked up the story.

"There's only one way to come back from something like that," Douglass said Thursday.

And Coody provided it immediately.

On the next hole he hit a 142-yard 7-iron shot into the cup, beginning the team's remarkable romp through the Texas hill country that Coody capped with a 15-foot eagle putt that completed a record-matching, 13-under-par 59.

Orville Moody and Bruce Crampton were 11 under par when they set the tournament record on the par-70 Onion Creek Country Club course in 1987.

Douglass and Coody came within a stroke of that mark in their last round at Onion Creek last year and now have played their last 36 holes in this event - two rounds separated by a year - in 119.

Coody was the big gun this time on a longer, tougher course, the hilly par-72 layout at Barton Creek.

In addition to his ace and the 18th hole eagle, he had five birdies and was nine under par on his own ball.

"I rode him hard but I won't put him up wet," Douglass said. "It's hard to help somebody who's shooting 63 on his own ball. Charles played an absolutely great round."

Douglass did contribute four birdies that helped his team to a five-stroke, first-round lead in the team competition being held at Barton Creek Country Club for the first time.

"If we can each make four clean birdies the next three days, we might be hard to handle," Coody said.

Chi Chi Rodriguez scored five of his team's eight birdies - including those on the 17th and 18th holes as he and partner Dave Hill put together a 64 for a share of second place with Miller Barber and Tom Shaw.

Shaw, who got into the invitation-only event when Arnold Palmer withdrew early in the week, referred to himself as "an alternate legend."

Defending title-holders Al Geiberger and Harold Henning led a group of four teams tied at 65. They shared the position with George Archer and Don Bies, Larry Mowry and Frank Beard, and the 1987-88 champions, Moody and Crampton.

The pre-tournament favorites, Lee Trevino, winner of three of four starts earlier this year, and Jim Dent were eight back of the leaders after a 67.

'Bad Boys' brawl, 76ers win game

By The Associated Press

When the "Bad Boys" meet the "Bad Boys," don't expect anything good to come out of it.

That's what happened Thursday night when the Philadelphia 76ers clinched their first Atlantic Division championship since 1983 with a 107-97 victory over defending NBA king Detroit in a game marred by a melee in the closing seconds.

"They started the fight and we just defended ourselves," said Philadelphia's Charles Barkley, who scored 36 points before being ejected with 14.8 seconds remaining along with Detroit's Bill Laimbeer and Scott Hastings.

Detroit's Isiah Thomas was ejected for punching Philadelphia's Rick Mahorn with 3:40 left. Mahorn was one of Detroit's so-called "Bad Boys" last year.

Elsewhere, it was Denver 130, Houston 127 in overtime; the Los Angeles Lakers 113, Minnesota 89; Chicago 120, Washington 117; Milwaukee 96, New York 95; Seattle 130, Sacramento 118 in overtime and Dallas 111, Charlotte 102.

Philadelphia's victory was its 13th in the last 15 games and made Sunday's finale against the Boston Celtics meaningless. The 76ers won three of four from the Pistons this season.

The melee broke out when Mahorn was fouled by Detroit's Dennis Rodman as he scored a basket. Mahorn started after Rodman, then, according to referee Jake O'Donnell, "Laimbeer put the ball in Mahorn's face. I clearly saw Hastings sucker-punch Barkley. Every player on both benches will be fined. Otherwise, they'll review the tapes."

"Barkley hit me first," Laimbeer said. "I got hit first. What he says really doesn't matter. It has been building the whole season. My intent wasn't to start anything. When it happens, you don't think, you just react. It happens in sports."

"I guess it was just the intensity of the moment," Mahorn said.

At one point, Barkley, bleeding from a cut on his left temple, went to the bench and grabbed a metal chair but was restrained by an assistant coach.

"I was just going to sit down," Barkley said.

As Barkley was being escorted to the dressing room, he jumped on a railing of the stands as if to go after a fan and the 76ers raced to help him.

The Pistons have lost eight of 14 games since a 25-1 streak from Jan. 23 through March 21 but will have the home-court advantage throughout the Eastern Conference playoffs.

Mike Gminski had 16 points for Philadelphia, including a jumper with 5:18 left in the first quarter that put the Sixers ahead to stay. James Edwards led Detroit with 24 points and Mark Aguirre had 15.

Nuggets 130, Rockets 127
Fat Lever hit two key 3-point baskets, one with five seconds left in regulation to tie the score and another in overtime to give Denver the lead for good. The Nuggets clinched a playoff berth and damaged the Rockets' playoff hopes and spoiled a career-high 52-point performance by Akeem Olajuwon.

Lever led the Nuggets with 22 points.

Lakers 113, Timberwolves 89
Reserve Orlando Woolridge scored 23 points and Michael Cooper also came off the bench to contribute 14 points and 10 assists.

Tony Campbell led Minnesota with 25 points and Tyrone Corbin added 20.

Bulls 120, Bullets 117
Michael Jordan scored 32 points as Chicago completed its home season with a best-ever 36-5 record.

Bill Cartwright's eight-foot hook at 1:09 gave the Bulls a 116-114 lead and Jordan's basket with 27 seconds left made it 118-114.

Bucks 96, Knicks 95
Jack Sikma made two free throws with 32 seconds left and Milwaukee survived three last-second shots.

Jay Humphries matched his season high with 29 points for Milwaukee and Kenny Walker had a season-high 24 to pace the Knicks.

SuperSonics 130, Kings 118
Sedale Threatt scored seven of his 20 points in overtime as Seattle handed Sacramento its sixth straight home loss. Dale Ellis scored 43 points, including seven 3-point baskets, as the Sonics snapped a six-game road losing streak.

Rookie Pervis Ellison had a season-high 25 for Sacramento.

Mavericks 111, Hornets 102
Rolando Blackman scored 12 of his 21 points in the third quarter.

Dallas' Derek Harper scored nine of his 18 points in the third period when Dallas broke a halftime tie and took an 85-74 lead. Armon Gilliam led the Hornets with 20 points.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife and I got a chuckle out of your column about truck drivers and what they see on the road. For those readers who might think some of the stuff is make-believe, let me assure them that it's all true.

I started out driving a truck 25 years ago. I've driven in Europe, the United States and Canada and have witnessed the era of the mini, the granny, the wraparound and so on. Believe me, I've seen it all.

I want to say thanks to the gals who kept me awake and helped the miles melt away on those monotonous long hauls. I now have a higher-paying but dull job, and I miss the fun of suddenly encountering a female in various stages of undress who has gone out of her way to entertain me.

My wife is a prim and proper woman who holds a high-level position. She is pushing 50 but still has a great set of gams. Sometimes when we travel, we both get a kick out of hearing an appreciative blast from an air horn as we pull around one of the big rigs on the interstate, and Momma flashes the driver a nice leg shot.

Here's a little salute to the boys behind the wheel from -- One Who's Been There (Ohio)

DEAR ONE IN OHIO: You'd better make that a unisex salute. Things have changed a lot since you were driving your rig on two continents. Now there are women behind the wheel as well as men. Many wrote to tell me how surprised most of the female flashers were when they discovered the truck driver was a woman! What's next? Don't tell me. I don't want to know.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Could you please reprint your Golden Rules for Living? They appeared in December 1986, and the copy I've been carrying around in my wallet is in pretty bad shape. I'd like to give a new one to each of my grandchildren. Thanks for all the pleasure and good advice you've handed out over the years. -- A Grandma in Burlington, Ont.

DEAR GRAM: Here it is, with pleasure. I hope it makes a dent.

SOMBUNNY LOVES YOU

BUCKLE UP!

Spiff up spring look with jacket

NEW YORK (AP) - If you are limited to just one addition to your wardrobe this spring, you probably should opt for a jacket.

Colors and shapes are many, and details are important. "Color is the major influence to the look this season," says Lucille Klein, fashion director at JCPenney, "so experiment with a color family that you are most comfortable with."

Look for pastels, nudes, black and white patterns, classic navy and white, and fruit and vegetable colors - tangerine, pineapple, eggplant. For evening, try woven metallics.

"If you tend to wear classic navy," Klein says, "this season try on a soft pastel blue jacket for a refreshing change."

Style? Either long or short, and soft, with close-to-natural shoulders. For a relaxed look, try a bomber or baseball jacket. If you want shape, look for a short and swiny number or a jacket that wraps and ties to the side.

Details to set you apart from the crowd include eye-catching buttons, ribbon and pearl trim, lapel collar, no collar, draping, color blocking, lace and pattern.

Put an unstructured blazer with an oversized shirt - tail out - and linen pants. Top white jeans with a fitted military jacket.

Sexy is always in, in moderation, so try a long jacket with a lace bustier and leggings.

Hints from Heloise

Q. You often advise using an old toothbrush for cleaning. How can we tell when a toothbrush is old? Is there a certain time when they should be changed? And is there any danger of spreading germs when the toothbrush is getting old? — Jim Patterson, Durango, Colo.

A. According to the American Dental Association, toothbrushes should be replaced when the bristles start wearing down or begin to look frayed. This depends on the amount of use your toothbrush gets. With normal wear most are good for about three to six months, but check every so often to see how yours is doing.

A worn toothbrush can't remove the food particles which breed bacteria and cause tooth and gum problems, so don't try to save a few dollars stretching the life of a toothbrush. It's not worth it! — Heloise

REMOVING STICKERS
Dear Heloise: I had trouble removing price stickers from books I bought for gifts, so here's what I did: I heated the iron to Medium, put a pressing cloth over the book and pressed the sticker for a couple of seconds. The warmth softened the stickers enough so that they pulled off with very little effort.

The adhesive residue that was left came off easily and the shiny covers weren't damaged. I can't wait to use this method at Christmas! — Jovena Russell, Huntsville, Ala.

HOT MITTS

Dear Heloise: When the non-stick surface of my floating board covers wear out, I use the less-worn parts to make hot mitts and pot holders. I cover the other side with a print to match my kitchen, line with several layers of washable fabric from other scraps, and bind the edges with bias tape.

What other meal can sustain you for a week?
