

Clinton-Gore talk to King; Perot makes prime time tonight

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) - One caller wanted Bill Clinton's view on Ross Perot's re-entry into the presidential race, another his assessment of a trade agreement with Mexico. The woman calling from Las Vegas just wanted to say hello to her son, the Democratic presidential nominee.

For Clinton and running mate Al Gore, 90 minutes on "Larry King Live" Monday night offered a national television audience for a grab-bag discussion of their ideas and criticism of President Bush on issues ranging from his veto of the cable TV bill to his pre-war treatment of Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein.

But, for a show billed as an opportunity for voters to question the candidates, only six callers got through as King did most of the asking - and one of the callers was Clinton's mother, Virginia Kelley.

Clinton and Gore made the latest foray into TV-talk politics after a daylong bus caravan across central Florida as they tried to pad a narrow lead in a state that last supported a Democrat for president in 1976.

The Democrats were wrapping up their Florida trip with a morning rally at the University of Florida before heading onto Nashville and another unorthodox campaign appearance - this time on "Donahue."

Bush was taking his campaign to the airwaves too, appearing on ABC-TV's "Good Morning America."

With the election exactly four weeks from today, three new national polls showed Clinton holding leads of 8 points, 13 points and 17 points over Bush. Independent Ross Perot ran a distant third in all three.

A Harris Poll of 1,015 likely voters nationwide put Clinton's support at 53 percent to 36 percent for Bush and 9 percent for Perot. The ABC News-Washington Post poll had Clinton at 48 percent, Bush at 35 percent and Perot again at 9 percent. A New York Times-CBS News Poll showed 46 percent for Clinton, 38 percent for Bush and 7 percent for Perot.

The polls were taken Friday through Sunday, after Perot re-entered the campaign. The margin of sampling error was plus or minus 3 percentage points for Harris; 4 points for the ABC-Post poll of 799 likely voters; and 3 percentage points for the CBS-Times poll of 934 likely voters.

As Clinton and Gore fielded questions Monday night, Clinton told a Vermont caller that he had some worries that Perot's late entry could split the anti-Bush vote, saying it was "easier for Bush to win a three-way race." Still, Clinton said: "We're prepared to debate all comers on the merits of our ideas."

With the first of three presidential debates set for Sunday in St. Louis, Clinton said he was eager to engage Bush. And he disputed the president's assertion, made in Florida over the weekend, that Bush's military service made him more qualified to be commander-in-chief.

"That's a matter of honest disagreement. But I just disagree and history indicates we have had a lot of good commanders in chief with no military service," Clinton said.

Clinton also upped the ante somewhat in his rhetorical war with Bush over the president's dealings with Saddam Hussein prior to the Persian Gulf War, saying a special prosecutor should investigate the Bush administration's favorable trade dealings with Iraq and the extent to which Bush continued helping Saddam after his administration learned he was using agriculture credits for military purposes.

Asked by King if there should be "a special prosecutor, special investigation," of the administration's pre-war trade agreements with Saddam, Clinton responded, "I think there should be."

In his rally speeches Monday in Florida, Clinton mixed promotion of his economic ideas with urgings that voters ignore new Bush attack ads that Clinton said distorted his views.

Fire destroys trailer today

Ramona Haney consoles her young sons as a fire destroyed their house trailer this morning at 8 a.m. at Countryside Mobile Home Estate north of Hereford. The fire began in a humidifier in the home. Haney and her boys, 3 and 5, were awakened by a smoke detector in the trailer. "Everything I had was in that trailer," Haney said. The Deaf Smith County Chapter of the American Red Cross and others were immediately called on to lend assistance. Her young daughter was spending the night with a friend.

Lueb wins Brand football contest

Raymond Lueb missed just five games and came out closest of five persons on the tiebreaker to claim first place in last week's Hereford Brand Football Contest.

Lueb will receive $25 in Hereford Bucks.

Earning $15 in Hereford Bucks for second place was Keith Kalka of Dallas. James Cano of Hereford was just a little further off and will get $10 in Hereford Bucks for third place. Also missing just five games, but not as close on the Hereford-Levelland tiebreaker, were Bernadette Kalka and Hap Cavness.

This week's contest appears in today's Brand.

Winners are paid in Hereford Bucks, provided by the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. They may be spent as cash at any business in Deaf Smith County.

Also at stake each week is $500 in Hereford Bucks paid to anyone who correctly picks the winner in each of the 25 high school, college and pro games and in the tiebreaker. Persons placing first, second or third in the weekly contest are eligible for the grand prize contest at the end of the contest. The Brand will pay $150 in prizes to the top three finishers in the grand prize game.

There were 13 persons who missed six games last week: Gayle Cotten, B. Lynn Jones, Clint Seward, George Loerwald, Pat Nunnally, L.F. Shannon, Kelly Christie, Pete Vargas Sr., Gina Kalka, Mel Kalka Jr., Joani Guyer, Larry Cothrin and Jim Hillwig. Another 19 misses seven games.

City appoints 2 to boards, okays bids

City commissioners okayed cleaning bids and made appointments to two boards in a brief meeting Monday night.

Georgia Auckerman was named to the District 3 position on the Texas Panhandle Mental Health Authority, and Wayne Keeter will fill the seat vacated by Richard Zinser on the Plumbing and Mechanical Board.

The city accepted the low bid of $600 a month by Tuneup Janitorial for cleaning City Hall and the police department. A bid of $600 was also made by Gloria Arsula, but hers did not include providing supplies.

Commissioners also approved a change in the city's retirement plan including service credits.

Meno recommends school changes

AUSTIN (AP) - Initiatives costing at least $2.18 billion over two years, including higher teacher salaries and more class days for some students, are being recommended by the state education commissioner.

The State Board of Education this week will consider whether to recommend Commissioner Lionel "Skip" Meno's proposals to the Legislature, at a time when state leaders have said per-pupil state aid to schools over the next two years will at best remain constant.

"As commissioner, I fully understand their concern, but I believe I am obligated to bring to the State Board of Education's attention to those critical investments which will be required to achieve excellence and equity in student performance," Meno said in a memo to the board that was released Monday.

The "minimum first step" recommendations by Meno include: - 9 percent annual pay raises for teachers at a cost of $607 million next school year, and more than $1.29 billion the following year. This is meant to reduce the gap between Texas salaries and the national average, and is essential to attract and retain qualified teachers, Meno said.

- Requiring 30 additional half-class days for certain kindergarten students next school year at a cost of $40 million, and adding first-graders the following year at a total cost of $90 million. These classes would be for students who need the help and could otherwise be held back a grade, said Texas Education Agency spokeswoman Della May Moore.

To go beyond the minimum recommendation for such students, Meno is proposing 30 additional full instruction days for kindergarten through grade four next school year, and through eighth grade the following year. This would cost $407 million the first year, and $749 million the next.

- Set up a fund for campus-developed proposals for staff development and collaboration, at a cost of $50 million the first year and $100 million the next.

A broader proposal, which goes beyond the minimum recommendations to add such items as more staff development days, would cost $181 million the first year and $370 million the second.

Ms. Moore said the board had directed Meno to develop recommendations to improve academic performance.

Figures presented by Meno also show that student growth and inflation would result in costs of another $1.7 billion over the next two years.

Meno also attached to his memo letters from Gov. Ann Richards and Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock emphasizing the need to hold down public school costs in tight budget times.

"It is important that no one be misled about the budget. We believe we may be able to provide an additional $645 million for public education in the upcoming biennium and stay within available revenues. It would be unrealistic for the board to prepare a budget that exceeds these bounds," Richards said.

She said she has directed her staff to work with those of the lieutenant governor and House speaker on ways to direct more education to teacher salaries.

"We have to do more with the dollars we currently spend in our schools," she said.

Bullock said leaders would appreciate help from Meno and the board in educating school districts and the public on the budget.

"If you or the board would like to call for a higher level of spending, my staff is available to assist you in developing a comprehensive proposal by identifying budget cuts or tax increases necessary to fund it," he said.

The program can help eligible applicants with college or place them with local businesses for on-the-job training.

Businesses participating in on-the-job training will be reimbursed for part of the cost of employing new workers through a contract. Training positions must be at least 35 hours per week and develop the skills of the person to be trained.

Vocational college in certain occupations can also be paid for by JTPA. The program targets youths through age 21 and persons 22 or older who will benefit from new or additional training. Current students at any level, as well as new ones, are encouraged to apply for financial aid. Many medical, technical, clerical and management programs are covered.

Hints from Heloise

Q. I and the ladies I know have a question we need answered. We buy bread in bulk and freeze it. What can we do to keep ice crystals from forming in the bread? — Jackie McNeill, Divide, Colo.

A. Don't do a thing! The ice crystals are moisture that has escaped from the bread while freezing. During thawing, the ice crystals will be absorbed back into the bread. Afterwards, the bread will be as fresh as when it was first frozen.

Otto Richter, who has been in the business 25 years, says, "You should make sure bread is at room temperature before freezing it. If it is 'sweating' from warm temperatures, excessive ice crystals will form."

He should know; his family has been in the business 110 years. Now that's experience! — Heloise

DATING REFRIGERATED FOODS

Dear Heloise: I always get so frustrated when it comes to cleaning out the refrigerator, trying to decide if an open jar of salsa or some other not-so-often used condiment is still good or safe enough to use.

I've come up with the idea of placing a date label on the jar with the month, date and year when I open it. (The label can be a self-sticking label or just a piece of paper affixed with transparent tape.)

With a dated label, it is easier deciding what to use and what should be disposed of. — Jeanette Merrill, North Berwick, Maine

Oh, a wonderful idea! But the year? I'd love to hear from readers with tales of "the oldest thing I have in my refrigerator." Please send a postcard with what, why and how old. I'll print the top 10. — Heloise

TOMATO PASTE

Dear Heloise: If getting all of the tomato paste out of a can has been a problem, try my latest discovery.

I open both ends of the can and push the paste through. No time is wasted scraping the can trying to get it all out and no paste is left in the can. I only wish I had thought of this idea years ago. — Eleanor Galway, Springfield, Va.

This hint does work well and can be used on canned dog and cat food or any other thick or jelled canned product. — Heloise

CRACKER STORAGE

Dear Heloise: I buy crackers in the box with four individually wrapped packages. After taking out a stack of crackers and eating a few, I fold the wrapper over the remaining crackers and store them in an empty, tall cylinder-shaped potato-chip can.

It keeps them fresher, and I covered the container with decorative paper to make it more attractive. — Vera Schiefen, St. Petersburg, Fla.

Dear Heloise: To keep short plant clippings from slipping around in the jar of water, I use two pieces of florist's tape (transparent tape will also work). I criss-cross the tape over the top of the jar, in an X pattern, and let it stick to the side, then I insert the clippings into the holes this makes. It's an old florist's trick that works great. — Amber, St. Augustine, Fla.

CLEAN CEMENT

Q. How can I clean bird droppings off of a concrete porch and wrought-iron railings? Any suggestions would be greatly appreciated. — Freda Lifshutz, Washington, D.C.

A. Before starting to clean the concrete, rinse it well. This washes away any surface dirt and helps the cleaner lather. Then using warm-to-hot water, wash with a household cleaner and a stiff brush. Rinse well when finished.

Scrub metal surfaces with a soft bristle brush and warm water. Heavy dirt may require the use of a household cleaner. For best results, work on metal surfaces early in the day while the surface is still cool and out of direct sunlight. — Heloise

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A neighbor of "Simon & Simon" TV star Jameson Parker pleaded innocent to attempted murder after the actor was shot and wounded in what police said was an argument over a vulgar remark made to Parker's wife.

Robert St. George, 52, was ordered held on $100,000 bail, Deputy District Attorney James Baker said Monday.

Parker, 44, was shot in the arm and upper body on Thursday. He was hospitalized less than a day.

The shooting occurred after St. George warned Parker's wife, Darlene, against allowing her three dogs to foul his yard and made a vulgar comment, Detective Mike Coffey said.

Parker later confronted St. George and was shot.

Roden takes Men's City Championship tourney

Tournament winners

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

Rick Roden claimed the Men's City Championship in golf Sunday by beating Don Leverett over 18 holes of match-play golf at Pitman Municipal Golf Course.

Roden also beat Jerry Stevens in the first round of the championship flight, then outlasted Ron Weishaar in a match that required three sudden death holes. Roden clinched the win in the finals by being three holes up on Leverett with two holes to go.

"It feels real good," Roden said. "I had three extremely tough matches. I'm just real glad James Salinas wasn't able to play, because he's as tough as their is."

Salinas, the defending champion and 10-time winner of the event, was not entered.

Match play was a different format for the tournament this year. Match play pits golfers in head-to-head match-ups instead of putting everyone in a field. Score is kept by holes, not by strokes, and the winner is the golfer who won the most holes.

Pitman pro David Kaesheimer said he thought it worked well.

"Match play gave a lot of people an opportunity they otherwise wouldn't have," he said. "The beauty of match play is if you have one bad hole you're not out of it."

Kaesheimer said he was pleased that the tournament was able to have three flights. He said some quality golf was played in the last week at Pitman, and not just by the winners.

"We had four matches that went into sudden death," he said. "I had the opportunity to see a lot of good golf shots over the weekend."

In the championship flight, Leverett beat Paul Hubbard, then Tom Coneway, to get to the final match. In the other first round matches, Coneway beat David Workman and Weishaar beat Stacey Bixler. Hubbard came back to beat Bixler and win the consolation bracket.

Robert Jones won the first flight, beating Corey Newton in the finals and beating Jerry Hodges and Mike Hatley along the way.

Newton beat Harvey Torres and Tom Simons to get to the finals. In the first round, Hatley beat Clay Cantrell and Simons beat Bill Allen. Torres won the consolation bracket, beating Cantrell on the second playoff hole.

Leo Hollowell took the third flight with a win over Larry Brackett. Hollowell beat Steve Stevens and Tim Northcutt, and Brackett defeated Linda Stevens and Bill Brown to get to the finals. In the first round, Brown beat Scott McGinty in 19 holes and Northcutt beat Steve Sanders. Sanders came back to beat Linda Stevens in the consolation bracket.

Spikers whip 'Horns; face 'Dogs

The Hereford High School volleyball team beat Caprock 15-11, 15-8 Saturday, setting up a showdown for second place tonight in Borger.

Dumas beat Borger 15-2, 15-12 Saturday, so Dumas still leads District 1-4A at 3-0 and 18-4 overall. Borger and Hereford, which meet tonight in Borger, are tied for second at 2-1. Borger is 12-6 overall, while the Lady Whitefaces are 12-8.

Caprock and Randall are 1-2 in district play, and Pampa is 0-3.

Randall beat Pampa 15-4, 15-12 Saturday.

Hereford match in the Caprock Activity Center featured some strong serving or some weak service receiving--depending on how you look at it.

Hereford got three aces from Kara Sandoval, two from Jessica Evers and one from Jill Robinson. Sandoval accounted for eight of Hereford's points, and Robinson served for seven.

On the other side of the net, seven of Caprock's 19 points came on aces.

"We just didn't move early enough to the ball," Hereford coach Brenda Reeh said.

Robyn Watts led the team with nine kills, and Kathy Hernandez chipped in five kills.

"Robyn had a good day at the net," Reeh said.

Hereford's junior varsity also won, 15-6, 15-10.

Tonight's action in Borger starts at 6:30 with the JV match. The varsity match will follow, starting 20 minutes after the conclusion of the JV match.

Netters hurt Harvesters

The Hereford High School tennis team took 11 out of 18 matches from Pampa Saturday in Pampa, all but assuring the Whitefaces of the district championship.

Hereford still has district matches left with Dumas and Caprock, but those two are not the caliber of Pampa or Borger--teams Hereford has beaten. The Herd also has beaten Randall.

"We all felt really good defeating Pampa," Herd coach Natalie Sims said. "Our toughest matches are over with, but we're still going to work hard."

Two of Hereford's key wins were Emily and Sherry Fuston's doubles match and Bri Reinauer's singles match, both of which went three games.

"Those third sets were very important to us, and those girls definitely took care of business," Sims said.

"Donny Perales and Chris Lyles played some outstanding doubles points and won their match easily. Jamie Kapka and Greg Coplen played well in doubles and singles. It's nice to have some consistent winners when playing a good team."

Hereford's fourth district match will be Saturday at 9 a.m., when the Herd hosts Caprock. Hereford's junior varsity will play Canyon's JV at 4 p.m. Thursday at Whiteface Courts.

Here are complete results from Pampa:

Champion roper

Cloudy Meason-Kidd shows off the trailer he won as high money winner at a team roping contest Saturday in Amarillo.

Hereford youth lassoes trailer

Cloudy Meason-Kidd of Hereford took home a two-horse trailer as his winnings in the Make-A-Wish Foundation Team Roping held Sunday in Amarillo.

Meason-Kidd, 16, was the high money-winner of the day. His roping partners included Jesse Valdez, Jerry Don Thompson and Steve McConnell. He is the youngest to win the event in its eight-year history.

It was a pretty good weekend for Meason-Kidd. On Saturday, he teamed up with Dusty Drake of Wheeler to win the team roping event at the Tri-State High School Rodeo Association rodeo Saturday at Wheeler. He was the only one from Hereford to place.

Meason-Kidd and Drake had a time of 5.193 seconds beating the 5.896 turned in by Jim Locke of Canadian and Ben Blue of Gruver.

Meason-Kidd is a junior at Hereford High School. He is the son of Sandra and Harvey Kidd.

Eagles rout Cowboys

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - It took three years, but Herschel Walker finally got the revenge he has insisted he never wanted.

The 30-year-old Walker ran for 86 yards and a pair of touchdowns on 19 carries Monday night as the Philadelphia Eagles routed the Dallas Cowboys 31-7.

Meanwhile, the Eagles' top-rated defense frustrated Troy Aikman and the Dallas offense with two interceptions and a fumble recovery, leading to 21 points. Another interception in the end zone snuffed a Dallas drive.

It's well documented history how Dallas traded Walker during the 1989 season to the Minnesota Vikings for five players and eight draft choices. The Cowboys used Walker's talent as bait to get started on a massive rebuilding program.

Walker, a taciturn type who rarely shows emotion on or off the field, sort of gave away his intense feeling after scoring a third-period touchdown that gave the Eagles a 17-7 lead. He raised the ball above his head as if to spike it, then stopped abruptly.

"This was just another football game," said Walker, who during the week before the game consistently tossed aside any revenge motive.

He said of the aborted end zone spike: "Everything is sort of spontaneous in football."

"As I said when I joined this team in preseason, my mission is to help win and go 16-0," he said. "The Cowboys are a good football team, but I haven't been with them for three years."

"We've been playing well, but what is so good about that is that we didn't play great tonight and we can get better."

The Eagles' defense held Emmitt Smith, the NFC's leading rusher, to 67 yards on 19 carries and harassed Aikman into an ineffective night. Aikman completed 19 of 38 for 256 yards, most of it when the game was out of hand.

"Right now I feel a little sore," Aikman said. "Their defense gave us a lot of fits. This is a tough loss. We have to get over it and come back."

Aikman hasn't had much luck against Philadelphia. In 1990, they put him out of action with a separated shoulder, and last year sacked him 11 times in the first two games between the rivals. He's now 0-6 vs. Philadelphia.

The Eagles came out of the game 4-0 and the lead in the NFC East. Dallas lost for the first time and is 3-1 after having their regular season eight-game winning streak snapped.

"It was a big-hitting football game, and we put pressure on them which eventually paid off," Eagles coach Rich Kotite said. "We were swarming to the ball and we played smart with a lot of good judgment."

Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson said his team "made too many mistakes. There is no way you can make that many and expect to win. We gave them too many opportunities and they have too much talent for us to turn the ball over as much as we did. Philly is the most talented team in the league. Nothing they did surprised me."

On Walker, Johnson said merely, "I thought he did a good job."

The Eagles took a 7-0 lead when John Booty intercepted Aikman on Dallas' first series and returned 22 yards to the Cowboys' 14. Cunningham scrambled 11 for a first down at the 3, then scored on a 2-yard bootleg run.

Dallas took the ensuing kickoff and drove 84 yards on eight plays to tie the game. The key play was a 59-yard completion from Aikman to Michael Irvin that went to the Eagles' 25. Aikman threw seven yards to Jay Novacek for the score.

Philadelphia went ahead 10-7 on Roger Ruzek's 40-yard field goal. They held on with the help of an interception in the end zone by Wes Hopkins that aborted a Dallas drive.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A recent letter from "Heavy-Duty Problem in Atlanta" described the conflict between a husband and wife over their daughter's weight. The mother was concerned because the girl is overweight and a borderline diabetic. The father felt she was being picked on by her mother. You replied that the father should support the mother's efforts to help "Sue."

Where in the world did you get the idea that the mother is helping the girl? However well-intentioned and sincere she believes her concerns are for her daughter's health, it is obvious from her reference to "excess blubber" that the daughter is receiving a lot of negative, judgmental and accusatory vibes.

If Sue is sneaking food, it's because she lives in an environment of disapproval where she is unable to deal with whatever problems she may be experiencing. Her mother is not helping. If the girl has never had a date, she probably feels inferior to her friends and it may be these feelings that are inhibiting her social life. Sue, like all overweight girls, is told repeatedly by the media that she is inadequate, so she doesn't need to hear it at home, too.

The issue here is not Sue's size. She has inherited the tendency of heaviness from her father. Her mother would be doing Sue a greater favor if she encouraged her to love herself exactly as she is, rather than go on a humiliating, unhealthy and ultimately failing diet.

The most important issue is the diabetes and what can be done about it. If a change in eating habits can be approached from that angle, with no mention made of looks or weight, the family will be amazed at what a change will take place in Sue's attitude and health.

You are correct that this family needs counseling. But it is the mother who needs it most. When her focus changes, she will be able to help her daughter achieve a lifestyle that is healthy both physically and mentally. -Long Beach, Calif.

DEAR LONG BEACH: You've made some insightful observations, for which I thank you. The next correspondent picks up where you left off. Read on:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You were right in your advice to "Heavy-Duty Problem," whose daughter was grossly overweight and a borderline diabetic. You told her to seek family counseling.

It sounds as if the mother is oblivious to the pressure she is putting on her overweight daughter, but it comes through loud and clear to the girl's father, who understandably resents it.

While the mother pretends to be concerned about the girl's health, the most revealing clue is the line, "This girl has never had a date." This indicates the mother's major concern is that the daughter should be popular--maybe in order to make up for the mother's anger at being trapped with a husband whom she describes as "carrying 60 pounds of excess blubber."

The mother has a great deal to say on the subject, the father somewhat less, but the daughter doesn't express herself, except of course, by eating. Let's hope someone will listen to HER.--V.J. in Belmont, Mass.

DEAR V.J.: I appreciate what you have written and hope both parents will pay attention to your letter and the one that preceded it. They got an awful lot of good advice today.

Gem of the Day: Nothing makes you more tolerant of a neighbor's party than being there.

Extension agent gives program on stress

Deaf Smith County Extension Agent Beverly Harder presented a program entitled "All Stressed Out and a Million Places To Go" when members of Wyche Extension Homemakers Club met recently in the home of Louise Packard.

Harder asked the questions, "Have you ever been stressed out? Are you at the end of your rope?" She said, "There is hardly a day that you aren't distressed. Write down one goal you want to accomplish each day. Take some deep breathing exercises and other exercise each day to help eliminate stress. Do what you can do and enjoy life and avoid stress."

Louise Axe led the T.E.H.A. prayer and the pledges to the United States and Texas flags.

Packard gave the opening exercise by leading the group in repeating the T.E.H.A. Creed then reading a poem entitled "A Friend." The 12 members present answered roll call to the question, "What I do when stress begins to mount?"

During the business session with President Jo Lee presiding, Carol Odom gave a report of the Extension Homemakers Council which met recently for a covered dish luncheon.

During the council meeting, delegates made reports of the State T.E.H.A. meeting. There were eight clubs present at the council meeting with six having 100 percent attendance.

Before the conclusion of the meeting, six members exhibited baskets that they had made at a recent workshop.

The next meeting will be held at 2:30 p.m. Oct. 15 in the home of Louise Axe with Clara Trowbridge serving as co-hostess.

Those present were Mary Lou Aven, Axe, Argen Draper, Virgie Duncan, Marcie Ginn, Camelia Jones, Lee, Carol Odom, Coreen Odom, Packard, Mary Stubblefield, Trowbridge and Harder.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I am very concerned about my breast implants. I understand that as long as they don't leak, they won't be a problem, but how can you be sure whether they are leaking or not? Can I feel anything if they leak? Should I have regular mammograms to find out?

DEAR READER: A large leak may cause a lump that can be felt. A mammogram is helpful, but may not reveal a small silicone leak.

Dr. Kathleen M. Harris at the University of Pittsburgh, Pa., School of Medicine has reported that ultrasound could detect leaks not found by mammograms. The problem is distinguishing between a small leak next to the implant and a deformity of the implant that is not a problem. When the silicone gel leaks into the surrounding breast tissue, it causes an inflammatory reaction that Dr. Harris says looks like a snowstorm on ultrasound.
