Congress may okay more Gulf action

By BRIAN MURPHY
Associated Press Writer

A senior Republican senator today called for a special session of Congress to authorize action against Iraq, saying Saddam Hussein needs another signal that Americans overwhelmingly back President Bush's military buildup.

A Democratic critic of Bush's decision to send 200,000 more troops to the Persian Gulf agreed that Congress needs to play a greater role in the crisis.

Sen. Richard Lugar, R.-Ind., said Bush needs to show Saddam and the world that U.S. threats of military force are "credible."

In another development today, Saddam dispatched his chief deputy to Morocco to discuss Morocco's call for an emergency Arab summit, keeping hopes alive for a diplomatic break in the 3-month-old standoff in the gulf.

Also today, President Hosni Mubarak of Egypt made a surprise trip to Libya for talks with leader Moammar Gadhafi on the situation.

Lugar, speaking on the NBC's Today show, said: "I think the president must lay out now to the nation and the Congress specifically what our aims are."

"And then he must call for a session of the Congress and set a date for the return of the Congress to debate those issues and vote, affirmatively I would presume, so that we have authorization for what is required."

Lugar, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said Congress need not approve the War Powers act, the congressional mandate for war.

"It occurs to me congressional leaders and the president can agree upon an authorization, but clearly the president needs to have an up-and-down vote by members of the Congress representing the people of this country, so that our unity is clear, our staying power is clear and the people around the world, friend and foe alike, know that we are in this."

Sen. Sam Nunn, who publicly questioned Bush's decision to deploy another 200,000 troops to the gulf, also supported greater congressional involvement.

"If there ever is a casebook example of the constitutional power of congress to declare war, this is it," the Georgia Democrat and chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee said on the same program.

Before leaving Baghdad for Morocco, Iraq's first deputy prime minister, Taha Yassin Ramadan, said he was carrying a letter from Saddam to the Moroccan leader, King Hassan II, noting the "dangers facing the Arabs" by the gulf crisis, the official Iraqi News Agency reported.

Morocco has contributed 1,700 troops to the multinational force that has massed in the Saudi desert following Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait, but the nation has maintained contact with the Iraqi leadership.

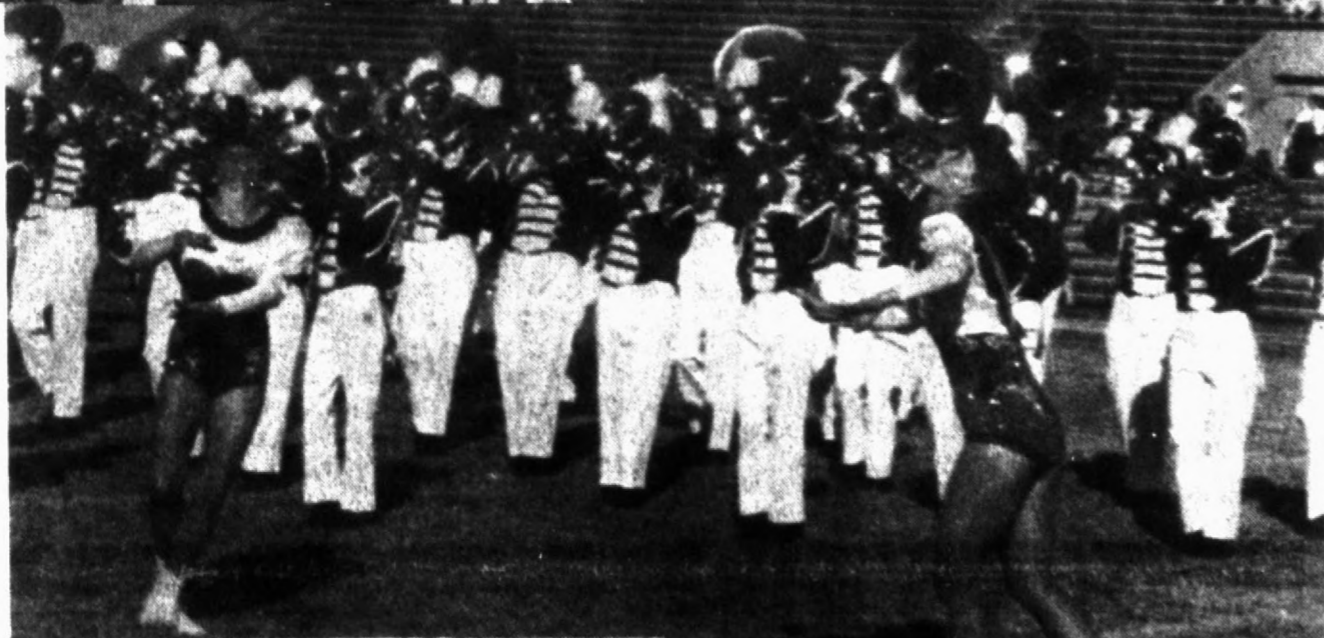

Ramadan said Baghdad "supports any serious Arab effort on any level that will serve the interests of the Arab nation." But he said Arab summits "should not be forums at which the American Pentagon's policies are translated into Arabic."

He repeated the three conditions Iraq has set for attending such a meeting: that Iraq is consulted in advance on the agenda; the timing and location are chosen so that Saddam will be able to attend; and the agenda also include all Middle East issues, including the Palestine question.

Saddam has insisted on tying his withdrawal from Kuwait to Israel's pulling back from the West Bank and Gaza Strip.

Mubarak, who has previously rejected Arab summit proposals, was met today by Gadhafi in the Libyan seaside town of Sirte, 250 miles east of Libya's capital, Tripoli, the Egyptian Middle East News Agency reported.

Egypt has not responded officially to Morocco's call. And a senior Foreign Ministry official said on Monday that Egypt was still studying the issue.

Band performs at state contest

The Hereford High School Mighty Maroon Band performed Monday at the 1990 UIL State Marching Contest at Nelson Field in Austin. The band, drill team and twirlers were the last of 14 Class 4A bands to compete in the preliminaries, then waited impatiently for the judges' decision on the five finalist bands. The contest was won by the Dickinson band, a perennial power.

Band competes at Austin

AUSTIN--The Hereford High School Mighty Maroon band gave what many observers felt was their finest performance of the year Monday at the UIL State Marching Contest in Austin.

The band, however, did not place among the top five bands selected to compete in the finals Monday night at Memorial Stadium.

"The kids really did well," said band director James Maclasky on Monday night as he watched the Class 4A and 5A finals at Memorial Stadium. "They came down and really performed well, I thought. They also got to see for themselves what it is really like to come down here and compete. I think in the future they will be a little better prepared and a lot less nervous."

"I feel like we gave our best performance of the year," said Don Summersgill, one of the band's assistant directors. "We came down here and gave it our best shot and all you can do is come down here and do your best."

The band performed its "Roundup '90" Show which includes themes from Western movies and television shows. The selections included "Oklahoma Crude", "Wagon Train", "The Cowboys", "Theme from the Magnificent Seven" and "How The West Was Won". The performance also included the twirlers and the HHS Drill Team.

The 213-member band, the drill team and twirlers made the school's second appearance in the state contest, having also gone in 1983.

Dickinson, which performed in the preliminaries just before Hereford, won the 4A finals Monday night. Other finalists, in order, were Crowley, Gregory-Portland, Allen and Georgetown. Those five bands have established a strong tradition of competing in a state contest: The Dickinson Band has won the Class 4A State Marching Championship 6 times since the contest began 10 years ago.

The Hereford Band was the last of 14 to compete in the preliminaries at Nelson Field. The band impressed at least one of the judges who ranked Hereford above three of the bands that were selected to compete in the finals competition. Overall, however, the band ranked 14th.

"We are just happy to be chosen to compete," Maclasky said. "It's not a stigma to be 14th, because we had a great performance just like everyone else. There are no bad performances at the state contest."

The competition featured colorful music, colorful bands and a huge crowd estimated at over 3,000 people for just the 4A preliminary competition.

Songs performed in the contest ranged from "Tchaikovsky's 1812 Overture" to "I Can't Get No Satisfaction" by the Rolling Stones, and everything in between. Probably the most popular song performed in the contest was "Georgia On My Mind" performed by five of the bands in the 4A competition. A total of 65 bands participated in the preliminary rounds with the field pared to 25 for Monday night's finals.

About 150 persons from Hereford were on hand to cheer the band and they released maroon and white balloons at the end of the performance. The boosters and the band were to return to Hereford today by chartered bus.

County has good auction

By DANEE WILSON
Staff Writer

County Commissioner Johnny Latham announced at the Monday meeting of the County Commissioners' Court that the County Auction held Saturday was a success, netting over $20,000 for the county's general fund.

The purpose of the auction was to rid the county of surplus equipment such as county vehicles, guns from the sheriff's department and items belonging to the county that have been replaced.

"Commissioners Johnny Latham and John Stribling should be commended for all the work they put into the auction," said Judge Tom Simons. "There was a big crowd and a lot of out of town people showed up, overall it was a great day."

Latham was also appointed by the commission to serve as the county representative to the Community Justice Counsel. The board will serve as the local governing body of the proposed rehabilitation center.

Bids for a new plain paper fax machine were opened, but no action was taken as the commissioners await a full report on the type of fax machines available and what kind will suit the county's needs best.

Commissioners Troy Don Moore and Stribling expressed concern over when the fax will benefit and the possibility of waiting for technology to improve and the prices to go down.

Five applications were submitted to the commissioners for the position of septic tank inspector for the county.

After discussion, the commissioners decided the applicants should be interviewed by all the commissioners after more information is gathered from the Texas Department of Health about the inspector's job and the necessity of an inspector in Deaf Smith County.

The commissioners voted to advertise for bids for two vehicles in the Sheriff's Department and accepted the retirement resignation from the custodian supervisor and voted to advertise for a replacement.

In other business, the commissioners gave Debbie Samples permission to introduce county employees to a supplemental insurance plan. They also granted permission to Energas to cross a county road with a gas line.

After discussion over the method of arriving at figures in the payment to county employees who worked overtime for the election, the commissioners voted to pay the election expenses.

The commissioners met in executive session to discuss an employee who has requested a 60 day leave of absence due to a medical problem.

When the commissioners reconvened, they voted to allow the employee an additional 60 day leave.

Hollingsworth wins contest; deadline close

Kristi Hollingsworth of Hereford missed seven games and was closest on the Hereford-Borger tiebreaker to win last week's Hereford Brand Football Contest.

Hollingsworth will win $25 in Hereford Bucks for her effort.

Placing second, also missing seven games, was Brice Busby of Hereford, who will win $15 in Hereford Bucks. Placing third, with seven misses, was Rich Kendrick of Hereford. He will win $10 in Hereford Bucks.

Also missing seven, but a little further off, was Selena Varner of Hereford. There were eight persons who missed eight games.

Big prison buildup expected

AUSTIN (AP) - Texas would continue its massive prison buildup program under a recommended $4.2 billion budget adopted by state prison officials.

If approved by the Legislature and Gov.-elect Ann Richards, the proposal passed unanimously Monday by the Texas Board of Criminal Justice would add 37,100 prison beds. That would boost the state prison capacity to about 108,000 inmates.

The proposal for the two-year period beginning Sept. 1, 1991, is over 100 percent more than current prison spending, but board members said much of that increase could be reduced by issuing bonds to build the prisons rather than paying for them with tax funds.

Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock, chairman of the Senate budget-writing committee, attended the board's meeting in preparation for the January regular session of the Legislature.

"I'm fairly overwhelmed by the numbers at this point," he said, but added that they are not unrealistic. "I've got to go digest them. I want some Pepto-Bismol first."

Acting board chairman Jerry Hodge of Amarillo said the additional prison beds are necessary to relieve the backlog of state inmates in county jails and to ensure that criminals serve a longer portion of their sentence.

"We got 6,000 or 7,000 inmates backed up in county jail. We're paroling people that probably shouldn't be paroled because we just don't have the capacity. I don't think Texas can not build these beds," Hodge said.

Of the $4.2 billion request, approximately $1.6 billion would go toward building more prisons, but Hodge said the state will have to issue bonds to construct the facilities.

"I think that is the proper way to go. I don't know how the state of Texas can do it if we didn't go that way," he said.

Analysts say Bush needs Americans' support for war

WASHINGTON (AP) - Before committing U.S. troops to battle against Iraq, President Bush must do a better job convincing the American people of the need for a Persian Gulf war, political analysts say.

"I don't think we've done a very good job in the administration of explaining to the American people in depth what this is all about," said Lance Tarrance, a Republican pollster based in Texas.

"We learned from Vietnam that Americans have to be convinced and sold on a rationale for our involvement," said Neil Newhouse, a pollster with the Republican firm headed by Richard Wirthlin.

War worries swept Washington the past week after Bush announced a substantial increase in the U.S. military presence in the Persian Gulf. The announcement also triggered speculation on the impact that hostilities would have on the 1992 presidential election.

During the final days of this year's campaign, Bush stepped up his attacks on Iraqi President Saddam Hussein and was widely credited by politicians with shifting the focus of the debate from domestic issues that were hurting Republican candidates.

Would a war guarantee Bush's re-election? Most analysts said hostilities contained more political dangers than benefits for him.

"Don't overestimate the patience of the American people and don't underestimate the expectations," said Newhouse. He added that most Americans expect a war with Iraq would be won as quickly as the actions against Grenada and Panama, which ended within days.

"I think that's going to be the wild card in this next presidential election," said John White, a former Democratic Party chairman. "If we have a war, if there are high casualties, it will be a referendum on George Bush."

White predicted that in the event of war, the Democrats would have to nominate for president in 1992 "someone who warned or tried to prevent this thing from happening."

Democrats who fit that description are beginning to emerge, among them Sen. Sam Nunn of Georgia, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Nunn said Sunday that "the last thing we need is to have a war over there, a bloody war, and have American boys being sent and brought back in body bags and yet not have the American people behind them."

Nunn frequently is mentioned as a likely contender for the 1992 Democratic presidential nomination.

"We can say here's what we think will happen, or here's how the American people will react," said Democratic pollster Peter Hart.

"Nobody can know. You don't know how you would react; I don't know how I would react."

The one area on which all analysts agreed was the need for the president to explain more compellingly the need for Americans to fight and die in the Middle East.

Conservative David Keene said the impact of a war on the 1992 elections would "depend on how the war goes and how well the president is able to articulate his reasons for taking that step. I think the public will support a winning military effort if it isn't too costly or too long if they understand the reasons for it."

"The problem at this point is that we've gotten ourselves bogged down over there for a long period of time with the president issuing conflicting reasons and rationales for our being there," Keene said. Sometimes it's to deter aggression; sometimes it's energy; sometimes it's democratic values."

Tarrance said, "The politics are too complex and Americans are too used to these complexities to buy simple naked aggression as the only cause."

Iraqi control of 70 percent of the world's oil would "bring Western civilization to its knees ... and somebody better start describing what that means, Tarrance said.

"People look toward the president today as an explainer of events."

Children barred from bars

AUSTIN (AP) - Children should be barred from taverns, the House General Investigating Committee recommended in a package of legislative proposals to stem child abuse.

"I don't think children have got any places in bars," said Rep. Doyle Willis, D-Fort Worth, after Monday's committee meeting.

Willis, committee chairman, said he doesn't drink but has been to Austin's entertainment district along Sixth Street several times during legislative sessions.

"I've seen people in there with children, small children," he said. "The ones that I'm particularly concerned about are the ones that are of an impressionable age ... that might think because Daddy does this, we ought to do it, too."

Asked why the recommendation was included in a report on child abuse, Willis said, "Call it what you will. I just think it's a bad thing to do."

Texas law doesn't prohibit a minor from being on the premises of a bar or restaurant, said Joe Darnall, general counsel of the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission. The legal drinking age is 21.

There is a prohibition against a minor being on the premises of a liquor store without a parent, he said.

"Some bars and restaurants, as a matter of their own control, restrict access to minors," Darnall said. "That's house policy, rather than state law."

There has been interest in restricting access by minors to places that are licensed to sell alcoholic beverages, he said. Part of the difficulty, however, is defining a bar.

"The pure bar that serves nothing but liquor down on the wharves of Houston, and the grand dining room of the Hyatt Regency, hold exactly the same permit and operate by the same rules," Darnall said.

Other recommendations to the Legislature by the committee included:

-Substantial additional funding should be provided to deal with child abuse.

-Someone convicted of child abuse should not be eligible for probation or "good time" credit, and should not be released from a halfway house until treatment "brings his illness under control."

-Required paperwork and documentation of child abuse problems should be substantially reduced.

-A program should be developed to provide training on child abuse problems for judges with jurisdiction over juvenile offenses.

-High-risk parents should be identified and given services before child abuse or neglect occurs.

-A comprehensive program on being good parents should be taught to students in middle schools and high schools.

-A single state agency should be given authority to oversee all governmental activities affecting child abuse.

Gym named for Stormy

WHITE SETTLEMENT, Texas (AP) - Classmates of Stormie Jones planted an oak in her memory and voted to name the gymnasium after the 13-year-old.

Stormie, the world's first heart-liver transplant recipient, died Sunday at Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh.

Doctors undertook lab tests Monday to determine what caused her sudden death, but the tests will take up to two weeks to complete.

The flag flew at half-staff Monday at Brewer Middle School, where Stormie attended class for a few weeks in the fall before being forced home by medical problems.

The student council decided to hang a portrait of the seventh-grader in the hall and hold a pep rally today.

"They decided to dedicate the school yearbook to her, to collect donations all week for her medical bills instead of sending flowers," said student council sponsor Connie Massey.

A marker will be added where the oak was planted in front of the school, Principal Homer Dear said.

"She liked to do things for other people," said Crystal Millikan, 13,

Stormie's best friend. "If you felt bad, she would make your day by saying something funny to cheer you up or by giving a gift and saying, 'I love you.'"

"She was always happy and outgoing," said Steven Beam, 12. "She never made fun of anybody."

Stormie was 6 when she became the first person to receive a transplanted heart and liver at the same time. She received a second liver transplant in February.

Countdown going smooth

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) - The countdown toward Thursday's liftoff of Atlantis with a spy satellite proceeded smoothly, NASA reported.

The five-member, all-military crew was due to arrive at Kennedy Space Center this afternoon from Johnson Space Center in Houston.

Atlantis blasts off sometime between 6:30 p.m. and 10:30 p.m. EST in NASA's fifth night launch of a shuttle. Because the Pentagon flight is classified, the exact time will not be announced until nine minutes before liftoff.

The mission is expected to last about four days, during which the crew will deploy a satellite that reportedly will spy on Iraq.

NASA spokeswoman Lisa Malone said Monday the countdown, which began Sunday night, proceeded without trouble.

Annual Christmas party set

The Golden Spread Foster Parent Association's Annual Christmas party is set for 1 p.m. Dec. 9 at the Hereford Community Center.

Beginning now through Christmas, funds will be collected from groups and individuals to help buy presents for the foster children and buy supplies for the Christmas party. Monies that exceed the cost of the annual party will be placed in a special fund at the Hereford State Bank. This money is used throughout the year to meet special needs of the foster children. The children who benefit from your gifts are children from the Texas Panhandle and West Texas.

If you wish to contribute to this fund, contributions can be made to the Golden Spread Foster Parent Association, c/o Dee Hernandez, P.O. Box 2062, Hereford 79045; or they can be deposited directly in the Golden Spread Foster Parent Association account at the Hereford State Bank. The contributions are tax deductible.

Appreciation extended

Steve McCauley, meteorologist at KVII television station in Amarillo, spoke recently to the fifth grade students at St. Anthony's School. McCauley talked about the unusual weather conditions in the Texas Panhandle and also gave a slide presentation. Following the program, the students extended their appreciation to McCauley. Holding a "thank you" sign are Jeremy Urbanczyk, Jacque Bezner and Nicole Albracht.

Bazaar Saturday

Tyler Keeling and Megan Easley model some of the clothes which will be for sale during the Nazarene Christian Academy's Old Fashioned Christmas Bazaar planned from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Saturday. All sizes of women's and children's clothing will be for sale as well as a large selection of homemade craft items, freshly prepared baked goods made during the bazaar, and numerous articles from the eight featured booths. Also, beginning at 11:30 a.m. that day, a luncheon of beef stew, kraut burgers and vegetable salad will be for sale. Chairing the bazaar are Keith Ann Gearn and Beverly Bryant.

Tips on crime prevention

There's more to crime prevention than locks and lighting. Faact is, concerned neighbors who watch out for and care about each other are the front-line defense against crime.

Here are some helpful tips for your own neighborhood from the U.S. Department of Justice and the National Crime Prevention Council, whose McGruff the Crime Dog "Take A Bite Out of Crime" campaign is celebrating its 10th anniversary:

*Share information. Get to know your neighbors and discuss your concerns about the neighborhood and community.

*Be alert. Things that say "we don't care" invite crime-like poor street lighting, boarded-up buildings, no recreation activities for teens, vacant lots littered with debris, inadequate day care and after-school programs.

*Work together. Help local government do its job. Alert law enforcement to suspicious activities and crimes.

Dumas comeback ends Herd's bid for state tournament berth

By SAM WALLER
Sports Editor

AMARILLO—The Hereford Lady Whitefaces were seven points away from a trip to the Class 4A state volleyball tournament and apparently in total control of their Region I final match Saturday against Dumas.

But somebody forgot to tell the Demonettes as they roared back from a game down and trailing 8-0 in the second game to take a 10-15, 15-12, 15-2 win and earn their third straight state berth before an overflow crowd at Caprock High School Activity Center.

"This was certainly heart-breaking to lose," Lady Whiteface coach Brenda Reeh said. "Our kids played hard but just couldn't hang on to the momentum long enough to win the match. It stung pretty badly to lose the second game when we had a lead. We never really recovered after that."

"We never felt like we had the match wrapped up. We've seen Dumas come from behind time and again. If anything, I think we were a bit too cautious about letting them come back. We certainly didn't have a moment in the match where we were looking ahead."

Hereford jumped out in front quickly in the first game and held off the Demonettes. The Herd took a four-point advantage at 6-2 as Brek Binder, Robin White and Teresa Castillo each served for two points.

Dumas cut the lead to 6-4 and the teams swapped scores before Hereford regained a four-point margin at 10-6. One last Dumas charge brought the Demonettes within a point at 10-9, but Binder served for two and Shantel Cornelius served out the game.

Hereford kept the pressure on to start the second game as White produced a six-point run to open the scoring. Cornelius added another pair to give the Herd an 8-0 lead before Dumas got on the board with two points from Summer Giffin.

With the score at 9-3 for Hereford, Stacy Sandorskey turned the game, and ultimately the match, around with a nine-point run that sent Dumas ahead for the first time in the match at 12-9. Hereford committed seven errors, including three bad service receptions, in the run.

After Dumas extended the lead to 13-9, Hereford made a run behind the serving of Baker. Cornelius had two kills as the Herd closed the gap to 13-12. The next serve produced a rally lasting more than three minutes as both sides refused to let the ball touch the floor. Karissa Lohse finally ended the play and the Herd's service run when she blocked a Cornelius spike. A pair of side outs brought Giffin to the service line and a pair of errors by the Herd evened the match.

Hereford led only once in the third game, at 1-0, as Dumas built on the momentum gained from its comeback in the second. With the score tied at 2-2, Darci Jones served the Demon-ettes to a 6-2 advantage. Dumas upped the lead to 10-2 as Hereford could not get untracked and Jakayla Janow ended the match with a five-point run.

Cornelius led the Herd with a career-high 17 kills in the match as well as 17 digs and six service points. White handled both ends of the serving game with nine service points on offense and the same number of service receptions passed to setter on defense.

Also providing points were Baker with six, Binder with five, Jayme Moore with two and Lori Sanders with one.

Binder added seven kills to the Herd attack with White and Sanders had five each, Jennifer Hicks three, Brooke Seiver two and Cassie Brooks one.

Defensively, Sanders passed 10 service receptions to setter and Baker eight while Moore added six. White joined Cornelius in double figures with 10 digs and Binder added seven with Sanders getting six.

While the defeat was a bitter one for the Lady Whitefaces, several players said the season must be considered a success.

Moore, a senior who had her career end with the loss, said the team's off-court achievements were just as important as what happened on the floor.

"It hurts to know we don't have another chance (to play again)," Moore said. "But it feels good to know what we went through this year, the friendships we made. We knew it would be tough and that counts for a lot down the line."

"It was a good season," fellow senior White said. "We achieved most of our goals. We wanted to go far, we wanted to go all the way to state and we almost got there. It was a great season. We have nothing to be ashamed of."

The Lady Whitefaces finish the year at 21-8, the third straight 20-win season for the varsity, and went beyond the Area round of the playoffs for the first time ever. But Moore said it may take a little while for that to sink in.

"I don't think we can feel good about that right now," she said, "but later after this heartbreak is over it'll hit."

Junior hitter Hicks said the outcome of the match was simply a case of Dumas executing better at the end.

"I think we did a good job of hitting to the places we were told to hit to," she said. "We hit to the places more than we hit hard. On defense we were able to pick up a lot more of their dinks and their hard hits. Our serve was much better than it was the last two times we played them."

"Overall I think we did a good job, we just fell apart at the end of the second game and couldn't get going in the third."

"We played them three times before, so we knew what they did; we knew who their good hitters were and who

Castillo takes silver medal at 4A state meet

Teresa Castillo closed out her high school cross country career Saturday with a second-place finish at the Class 4A state meet in Georgetown.

The senior, who was making her third appearance at the state meet, covered the two-mile course in 12 minutes, 10 seconds to finish behind defending state champion Melony Patterson of Crowley for the silver medal. Patterson claimed her second title in 11:56.

Castillo's time was her third-best of the season and knocked 30 seconds off her previous best state meet time, which came last year when she placed 10th.

Castillo finished the season with wins at six meets, including the District 1-4A meet where she ran a personal-best 11:59. She also had three second-place finishes, two of which came at the Region I-4A meet and the state meet behind Patterson. Her worst finish of the year was third place at the Lubbock Invitational, where she ran a 12:12, her best time ever on the Mae Simmons Park course.

Irish, CU top poll, to meet in Orange

BY RICK WARNER
AP Football Writer

The Orange Bowl may pack a powerful 1-2 punch on New Year's Day.

Notre Dame retained its No. 1 ranking and Colorado moved up from fourth to second in today's Associated Press college football poll. If they hold their positions until Jan. 1, the Orange Bowl will feature a winner-take-all clash for the national championship.

The Fighting Irish (8-1) were a near unanimous pick as the top team after beating Tennessee 34-29 Saturday. They received 55 of 60 first-place votes and 1,495 of a possible 1,500 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Colorado (9-1-1), which beat Oklahoma State 41-22, got the other five first-place votes and 1,419 points. Losses by No. 2 Washington and No. 3 Houston helped the Buffaloes gain their highest ranking of the season.

Miami (6-2), which did not play Saturday, rose two spots to third with 1,349 points. The Hurricanes, who will meet the Southwest Conference champion in the Cotton Bowl, have an outside chance to become the first team to be voted national champion with two losses.

Georgia Tech (8-0-1), the only major team without a loss, jumped from seventh to fourth after edging Virginia Tech 6-3. It's the Yellow Jackets' highest ranking since 1959, when they rose to third before slumping to a 6-5 record.

Brigham Young (8-1) went from eighth to fifth, only one point behind Georgia Tech, after beating Wyoming 45-14. Florida (8-1), which can't play in a bowl because of NCAA probation, moved up four notches to sixth following a 38-7 victory over Georgia.

Texas (7-1) shot up seven spots to No. 7, its best ranking in six years, after handing Houston its first loss, 45-24. Virginia (8-1) jumped from 11th to eighth after beating North Carolina 24-10 and Florida State (7-2) rose from 12th to ninth after mauling Cincinnati 70-21.

King controversy pinches Fiesta Bowl

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) - Notre Dame and Virginia said "no thanks" to the Fiesta Bowl. Louisville apparently is ready to say "thank you."

Although Fiesta officials refused to confirm the choice, No. 20 Louisville told officials of the All American Bowl on Monday that the Cardinals were withdrawing their oral commitment to play North Carolina in the Dec. 28 game in Birmingham, Ala.

"It's our understanding that Louisville is going to the Fiesta Bowl," said Dan Hendley, chairman of the scouting committee for the All American Bowl.

Before he left for Birmingham to speak to the city's Quarterback Club, Louisville coach Howard Schnellenberger was known to have called a meeting of his 24 seniors to ask how they felt about playing in a state which had rejected a paid holiday honoring slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King.

There was no negative reaction, the Louisville Courier-Journal reported.

"He told us he didn't know anything at that point, but there was a good chance we'd be invited to the Fiesta," quarterback Browning Nagle told the paper. "He asked us how we felt and we about went through the roof. It was unbelievable; the guys were just ecstatic."

Schnellenberger told the booster club he hoped sports could be cut off from politics.

"You have to understand that sports is something that is out of the realm of politics, and certainly if done in the right way, politics will not enter into this thing," Schnellenberger said.

Money will, though. By changing games, the Cardinals - who haven't been to a bowl since 1977 - would increase their payday from $600,000 to $2.5 million.

Fiesta Bowl spokesman Brent DeRaad stopped short of saying the Cardinals (9-1-1) were a lock but said officials were confident about solving the dilemma posed by rejections from

No. 8 Virginia, which opted for the Sugar Bowl following last week's vote on the King holiday, and the loss of top-ranked Notre Dame to the Orange Bowl.

"They haven't told us they are firmly in our game. We feel confident about them; we hope that they'll come to some sort of agreement, and we hope to have that agreement within the next 24 hours," DeRaad told The Associated Press Monday night.

"I'm not going to say confirmed, because we don't have anything from their people where they say, 'Yes, we're coming,'" he added. "Hopefully, we'll hear that tomorrow."

Don Meyers, chairman of the Fiesta Bowl's selection committee, told The Associated Press that the competing teams would be announced at a news conference today.

DeRaad said the other team probably would come from the Southeastern Conference - either the loser of Saturday's Tennessee-Mississippi game or the winner of the Auburn-Alabama game on Dec. 1.

Tennessee is ranked No. 14, Mississippi No. 15 and Auburn No. 24. Unranked Alabama is coached by former Phoenix Cardinals coach Gene Stallings, who was popular in the Phoenix area because of his work in charitable causes.

If the Fiesta has to turn to the Southwest Conference, it would get Baylor, which reportedly was committed to play Southern Mississippi in the Independence Bowl. The Holiday Bowl has a firm commitment from Texas and Texas A&M, whichever one does not go to the Cotton Bowl.

Fallout from last Tuesday's vote against the King holiday prompted Fiesta officials to consider moving the game out of Arizona. But they decided Sunday to keep the game in Tempe, where the 19 previous games have been played.

Meyers said the King controversy would not affect the Fiesta's television contract with NBC, which signed a six-year extension in July.

That time of year again

Aldine tops 'regular' 5A bracket that's anything but

By MIKE DRAGO
Associated Press Writer

For Aldine coach Bill Smith, a No. 1 ranking and undefeated regular season are nice, but the real prize is five games away.

"It certainly is an honor to be chosen as the No. 1 team," Smith said. "There's a lot of pressure on you each week and there's a source of pride in keeping it the entire season."

The Mustangs, who have held the top spot in the Associated Press Schoolboy Poll since the season's start, head into the "regular" Class 5A playoffs seeking a state title after last year's 28-14 loss to Odessa Permian in the championship game.

Permian won't be standing in the way this year, but that doesn't mean it will be easy for the Mustangs.

Powerhouses such as Top 10 teams Arlington Lamar, Waco, Huntsville, Lake Highlands, Dallas Carter and El Paso Andress also appear in the 32-team bracket, which has turned out to be more competitive than the 64-team "big school" playoffs.

But there's no need to remind Smith.

"We certainly don't suffer any delusions that it's going to be easy," he said. "Our goal is to reach that, but that's everyone's goal at this point in the season."

A&M Consolidated in Class 4A, Vernon in 3A and Grovton in 2A, also completed their season-long stints as No. 1 teams. Munday, the preseason No. 2 choice in Class A, moved into the top rank early in the season and finished there.

Aldine collected 20 of 23 first-place votes and 227 points overall, leading No. 2 Lamar, which garnered 206 points.

Lamar, No. 4 Waco and No. 10 Andress each received one vote for first-place.

A&M Consolidated received 227 points and 20 first-place votes in 4A. No. 2 Bay City collected 206 points and the three remaining first place votes.

Only two ranked teams lost last week.

Michael Johnson ran for 158 yards and three touchdowns, leading Garland past No. 10 North Garland 45-22. Andress (10-0) replaced North Garland in the poll.

San Saba, previously the No. 10 team in 2A, was blanked by No. 5 DeLeon, 14-0. The Armadillos were replaced by Wellington (10-0).

No. 10 Flatonia tied Charlotte 13-13 in Class A, making way for Throckmorton, which debuted at No. 9.

The only other newcomer in the poll was Class 2A Sinton (9-0-1), which replaced Atlanta at No. 10. Sinton beat Goliah 35-0, and Atlanta snuffed Linden-Kildare 25-0 last week.

Chapel Hill files suit after losing out on coin flip

By MIKE DRAGO
Associated Press Writer

A Tyler Chapel Hill school administrator says he is confident a state district judge will void the coin flip that cost the 1989 Class 4A football champion a chance to defend its title.

Chapel Hill said it would sue the University Interscholastic League to contest Saturday's three-way coin flip with Athens and Corsicana high schools.

The three teams tied with 4-1 records in District 17-4A.

"We know that it's (the lawsuit) going to win," Chapel Hill Superintendent Johnny Johnston said Monday. "We were injured because they circumvented the rule and we're going to win."

Johnston said the district was hopeful for a hearing today to overturn the coin flip, but added that he would pursue the case as long as it takes.

UIL spokesman Peter Contreras said the case would go to a judge today, but he did not know the specific court or judge.

The school district contends that the District 17-4A Executive Committee bypassed its own rules when it allowed the teams to flip coins for playoff berths.

District rules list the coin toss as the last tie-breaking method behind combined scores in head-to-head competition and penetrations and first downs.

Chapel Hill alleges it would have advanced if either method had been used.

their good defensive players were. They just played better."

Reeh said each member of the team put much of themselves into making the year what it was.

"I'm so very proud of each individual on our team," she said. "There was never a time this season when our kids didn't represent our community, our high school and our team with class and the highest standards of sportsmanship."

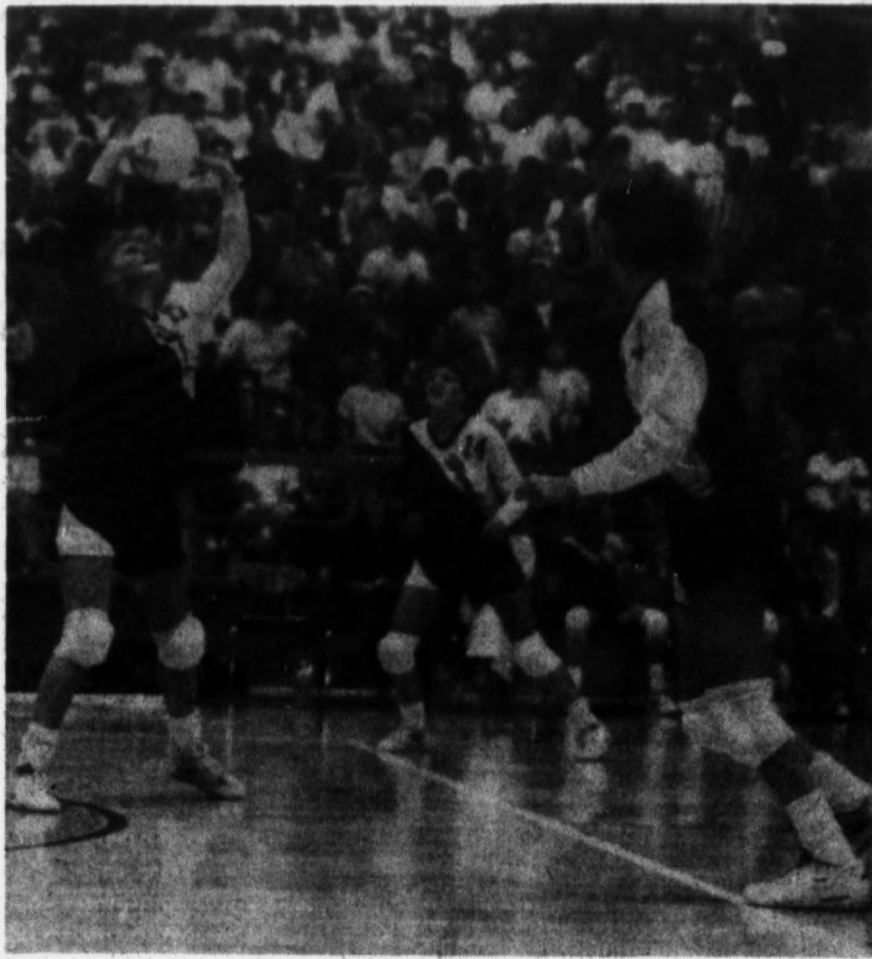

"Each individual sacrificed day-in and day-out to make our team successful. They all took a great deal of pride in achieving more than many thought possible."

"These kids put their hearts into each match and this time we got stung. But if we had never put so much of ourselves into this team, we would have never gone as far as we did."

Reeh added that the fan support the team received meant as much as playing skill.

"We appreciate the support and encouragement from so many who came to our matches this year," she said. "We had a fantastic crowd for this match. We wouldn't get better community backing anywhere else in Texas."

"Nothing can take the place of winning, but if you can't win you want to leave the game knowing you did everything possible to win. We did that. This was a great season and nobody can take that away from us."

Which way will it go?

WLAF may be on hold

DALLAS (AP) - The World League of American Football might not get started on schedule next spring because of the economy, NFL commissioner Paul Tagliabue said.

"It's possible it might not start on time," Tagliabue said Monday. "Today there are a lot of uncertainties. The economy isn't as robust as it was when the idea of the league was launched."

The NFL owners meetings start today in Dallas.

WLAF president Mike Lynn will be on hand today when the NFL "looks at all aspects of the operation," Tagliabue said. "Right now I think we're ready to go in the spring of 1991 but we have to see what's the most sensible thing to do."

Tex Schramm recently was dismissed as WLAF president in what was seen as an economy move and Lynn moved into the job from the Minnesota Vikings.

Teams in Europe and the United States will form the WLAF with players supplied from a common draft pool and a salary cap.

"The world league is going to have to do a lot of promotion and we just have to see if they are ready to do it next year," Tagliabue said.

Also on the agenda of the meeting which will last through Wednesday is a motion to expand the powers of the commissioner.

"There will be a move to reorganize the league office," Tagliabue said.

It would include putting the management council, NFL Films, and NFL Properties under the wing of the commissioner. Jack Donlan's position as executive director of the management council is shaky. Since Tagliabue became commissioner he has handled most of the talks with the NFL Players Association.

Tagliabue said the NFL will be making organizational decisions "not personnel decisions."

Tagliabue also reiterated that the door is still open for Super Bowl XXVII to be held in Arizona "if the people would like to approve the (Martin Luther King Jr.) holiday."

He said NFL owners will likely put off a vote on moving the 1993 Super Bowl until the March meetings.

Tagliabue said owners were backing his recommendation to move the game unless Arizona becomes responsive.

"Owners and players have been supportive," Tagliabue said. "I've heard no criticism within the league from any quarter."

Tech prepares for '90 finale

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - Texas Tech coach Spike Dykes has a special wish for next year's opponents, one he's sure would secure a perfect record for his Red Raiders.

"I guess I need to write everybody and ask 'em to make us their homecoming game next year," said Dykes.

Tech's only three victories this year have come by ruining the homecomings of New Mexico, Arkansas and Texas Christian.

"We have played pretty darn well on everyone's homecoming except ours."

Tech lost its own homecoming, 21-15 to Baylor on Sept. 29.

Tech (3-7 overall, 2-5 in the Southwest Conference) beat Texas Christian 40-28 Saturday, and not only ruined the Horned Frogs' homecoming, but also snuffed any TCU hopes for a conference title and bowl bid.

"I am really proud of our guys," Dykes said. "They suffered two devastating losses to Miami and Texas at home and it would have been easy to throw in the towel."

"But they haven't given up all season and they played a pretty darn good football game against TCU. That's a team that had really been playing well and had a chance to go to a bowl."

Tech's bend-but-don't-break defense gave up 419 passing yards to Matt Vogler, who threw for an NCAA record 690 yards two weeks ago against Houston.

But Raider defenders stole five passes, including a 75-yard return for a touchdown by Ronald Ferguson.

The defense won't get much rest this week in Tech's season finale against the run-and-shoot offense of SMU.

"We want to finish the season on a positive note and win a game at home," Dykes said. "We would like to climb as high as we can on the conference ladder. Three conference wins wouldn't be much. But it keeps you out of the cellar."

Dykes said SMU's 1-8 overall record and 0-6 conference tally is deceiving.

"You never know what to expect from the Mustangs," Dykes said. "You better play some good football against SMU or you are going to get beat. It's that simple."

Last week against Rice, SMU's Mike Romo connected on 40 of 62 passes for 449 yards and four touchdowns in a 30-28 loss.

UCLA's 25-22 upset of Washington (8-2) plunged the Huskies from second to 10th.

Nebraska is 11th, followed by Houston, Iowa, Tennessee, Mississippi, Michigan, Clemson, Penn State, Southern Cal and Louisville. Rounding out the Top 25 are Ohio State, Illinois, Michigan State, Auburn and Southern Mississippi.

Houston and Auburn each fell nine notches. The Cougars went from third to 12th and the Tigers from 15th to 24th after losing to Southern Mississippi 13-12.

Iowa plummeted seven places to 13th after falling to Ohio State 27-26. Tennessee dropped five spots to 14th and Illinois went from 17th to 22nd following a 22-17 loss to Michigan.

Oregon, 20th last week, and Wyoming, which was 25th, dropped out of the Top 25. Oregon was beaten by California 28-3.

Ohio State and Southern Mississippi took their place in the poll. The Buckeyes (6-2-1), ranked as high as 15th earlier this season, are 21st and the Golden Eagles (8-3) are 25th. Southern Miss was 18th last season after upsetting Florida State, but then lost four in a row.

Teams are numbered in ads; check games and mark box number of team selected as winner. Use official entry blank (no copies of the official form will be accepted). Entries must be deposited at Brand office before 5 p.m. Friday. All mail entries must be post-marked no later than Thursday to be eligible. Those post-marked later than Thursday or received late will be disqualified. Only one entry is allowed per person. All entrants must be at least 8 years of age to be eligible. Prize winners residing in Deaf Smith County MUST appear IN PERSON prior to the next week's contest to claim award. Prizes not claimed within 5 working days become null and void. Entrants outside the county can appear in person or enclose a self-addressed envelope with entry. Be sure to guess total score in the tie-breaker game. Members of the Brand staff or their families are not eligible. Decision of the judges is final.

BLONDIE by Dean Young and Stan Drake

Ann Landers

DEAR READERS: Remember the letter from Lynda Paffrath of San Mateo, Calif., who saw Air Force Capt. John Martin's name on the Vietnam Memorial Wall in Washington, D.C.? He was listed as MIA (missing in action). Lynda's sweetheart, who was in the plane with John when it was shot down, knew he could not have gotten out alive. She asked me to help locate John's family so she could tell them the truth after all these years.

I printed Lynda's letter and almost immediately she heard from John Martin's siblings and children. They were scattered all over the globe, as far away as Turkey.

I now have a letter from a member of John Martin's family. It is my pleasure to share it with you:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My name is Cindy Wayson. I am John Martin's oldest child. It's been exactly a week since my sister Pat called and told me about Lynda Paffrath's letter in your column. Thank you for printing it.

Until I read that letter and talked with Lynda, I still believed that my dad might be alive. Over the years I've tried to accept the fact that he died in captivity, wondering if I would ever know for certain. But this I can tell you -- for me, Sept. 27, 1990, was the day my father died.

For the first time in almost 23 years, I can mourn my father's death. At the same time, I feel great peace from finally knowing the truth. I'm grateful that he didn't suffer in one of those camps. As a child, I used to have horrible nightmares of him being tortured.

The best part of all is that I've finally been able to contact my dad's family. I've wanted to see them for so long. I'm planning to visit them soon. Now I'll have a part of my dad back again.

Next month would have been 23 years of not knowing. A tremendous load has been lifted from my shoulders. I am now able to close that door and be at peace. Sept. 27, 1990, the day of your column appeared, is one that my family and I will never forget. Once again, Ann Landers, thank you for caring enough to print it. Sincerely -- Cindy Wayson, New Mexico

DEAR CINDY: Thank you for sharing your intimate feelings. I'm sure all my readers are happy that you have found peace of mind.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The very special man in my life and I have gone together two years and are thinking of getting married. (We're both in our 40s.) He recently refinanced his house to cover the cost of his lawyer's fees (divorce, etc.) and all bill incurred prior to my coming into his life (about $15,000).

We've been discussing how we'll handle our paychecks, who will pay for what, etc. I don't want to begin our marriage by paying his past bills (especially the lawyer's fees). I've never been married and I don't have any bills or kids. He's also financing a daughter in college.

He wants me to handle the finances after we get married. It would bother me to write out all these checks even though our combined income would be $70,000. I want to get married after he pays off the bills but he wants to get married now. What's your advice, Ann? -- Unsure in Illinois

DEAR ILLINOIS: Your judgement sounds a little better than his. I'm inclined to say that he should go along with whatever you decide.

Plans finalized for Christmas

Plans for the 20th Annual Christmas Home Tour were finalized when members of La Madre Mia Study Club met Nov. 8 in the home of Mysedia Smith. Nancy Paetzold served as co-hostess.

Judy Williams and Carolyn Baxter are serving as this year's home tour co-chairmen. The event is scheduled from 2-5 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 2, and will feature the homes of Stan Fry, 401 Centre; Doak Porter, 202 Northwest Drive; and S.L. Garrison, 1704 Plains Ave. Refreshments will be served during tour hours at Inkhoots.

Tickets for the tour are priced at $3 per person and may be purchased at the tour homes or from study club members.

Betty Lady is serving as the refreshment chairman of the tour and Lucy Rogers and Georgia Sparks are co-chairmen of the publicity committee. Mary Beth White is chairman of ticket sales and Betty Taylor and Debbie Bentley are in charge of publicity signs.

Club members who will be serving as hostesses at the featured homes include Merle Clark, Mary Beth White, Debbie Bentley and Gladys Merritt, Stan Fry home; Francyne Bromlow, Ruth Black, Betty Taylor, Georgia Sparks and Debbie Tardy, Doak Porter residence; and Mysedia Smith, Nancy Paetzold, Susan Robbins, Lucy Rogers, Tricia Sims and Marline Watson, S.L. Garrison home. Assisting Lady with refreshments at Inkhoots will be Betty Owen, Mary Herring, Barbara Manning, Lavon Nieman, Nicky Walser and Carolyn McDonald.

Roll call at the meeting was answered with "A fib I told" and Debbie Bentley read the minutes of the previous meeting.

As Merle Clark presided, various committee reports were heard.

Doug Manning gave the program entitled "Depression". He stressed that one suffering from depression should "bleed off anger-allow feelings to come back."

Members present included Baxter, Bentley, Black, Bromlow, Clark, Mary Herring, Barbara Manning, Merritt, Nieman, Owen, Paetzold, Robbins, Rogers, Sims, Smith, Sparks, Taylor, Walder, White and McDonald.

Bread category participants

The 4-H Parent Leaders Association and members of the Ford and Westway Extension Homemakers Clubs recently sponsored the Deaf Smith County 4-H Food Show. 4-H'ers who participated in the bread category included, from left, Rusty Dutton (winner), Staci Betzen (alternate), Krista Warren, Robert Brockman, Jaime Steiert, Christy Haney and Erin Auckerman. Not pictured is Betsy Weaver.

4-H'ers compete recently

Physicians urge anti-smoking

Most smokers--nearly 90 percent--started puffing cigarettes before they were 20 years old, says Texas Medical Association. In November, during the American Cancer Society's Great American Smokeout, TMA urges prevention education targeted to youth.

"Since smoking starts in adolescence, advertisers target kids," says Joel S. Dunnington, M.D., chair of TMA's Ad Hoc Task Force on Tobacco Use Prevention. Two men's brands use images of a rugged cowboy and cartoon character, says the Houston radiologist, while women's brands use glamorous, sophisticated models in their early 20s.

Although cigarette advertising is banned on television, children see brand names on television because tobacco companies sponsor sports events and display huge signs in sports stadiums, explains Dr. Dunnington. Ads also are beginning to appear in video games and movies. Consequently, young people tend to overestimate smoking as socially acceptable. A 1989 survey of Texas middle and high school students showed two-thirds believe 50 percent or more students their age use cigarettes, when only 15 percent smoke daily or weekly.

To help prevent youth from starting smoking, follow these tips:

- * Set a no-smoking example. Children whose parents smoke are four times more likely to take up the habit than other children, Dr. Dunnington explains.

- * Remind teen-agers that the norm for their age group is not to smoke.

Correct misperceptions about the prevalence of smoking. Only 30 percent of adults smoke, according to the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

- * Teach children how to critique ads. What they don't show is that "nicotine is more addictive than cocaine and other drugs," says Dr. Dunnington. What's more, "smoking is the single largest preventable cause of death in the country."

- * Don't underestimate how young children are when they start to experiment. More than half (55 percent) of Texas seventh graders surveyed in 1989 reported having smoked at least one cigarette.

- * When taking children for sports physical or yearly check-ups, ask the physician to stress the immediate effects of smoking on athletic performance and appearance (bad breath, yellow teeth). Sometimes teen-agers will heed the advice of expert adults other than their parents.

Texas Medical Association is a professional organization of more than 29,000 physician and medical student members. It is based in Austin and has 119 component county medical societies around the state.

The Association represents 82 percent of the doctors of medicine licensed and residing in Texas, and its goal is to improve the health of Texans through professional and personal development of its members.

Fundraiser planned Dec. 15

Alpha Iota Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met recently to discuss the baked potato sale and gift wrapping fundraiser set for Dec. 15. Before the meeting, members toured Inkahoots.

President Marrie Leverett reported on the state convention to be held in Houston on June 13-16.

Hostesses for the meeting were Wanda Huseman and Ruby Lee.

The next meeting will be Thanksgiving dinner at K-Bob's, Nov. 15, at 7 p.m.

Members present were Janice Betzen, Jaime Brorman, Patty Frerich, Huseman, Lee, Leverett, Mary Beth Messer, and Teresa Hopping.
