CSF drive underway

Fundraising for the 1990 edition of the holiday charity Christmas Stocking Fund kicks off today. The effort seeks to help the community's less fortunate during the holiday season.

CSF is looking to better last year's record campaign, which netted $20,718 and helped make Christmas brighter for almost 1,000 residents of Hereford and Deaf Smith County.

An anonymous committee of volunteers administers the charity and screens applications for assistance. All help provided by CSF comes either in the form of groceries or vouchers for such items as utility assistance, clothing and medicine. Recipients of assistance from CSF do not receive cash.

Efforts on behalf of CSF have already begun in the community. The CSF committee has already held its initial planning meeting and will be coordinating efforts with local churches and schools. Several local businesses are also expected to boost the effort.

The Hereford Brand is once again serving as the collection point for donations and will publish the list of donors. Contributions to CSF may be mailed to the newspaper office at Box 673, Hereford, or donations can be left at The Brand office at 313 Lee.

Hereford schools have made food drives quite a success in recent years, and the tradition should continue this holiday season. Food items donated by local students have greatly increased the amount of food assistance extended by CSF the last couple of years, a CSF volunteer leader said.

Applications for assistance from CSF will open Monday, Nov. 26, and will continue through Dec. 7 at the county Red Cross offices, 224 S. Main. As in recent years, the local Red Cross office is assisting CSF by receiving applications, and will pass them on to the CSF committee, which is not affiliated with any organization. The county Red Cross also coordinates its toys for needy children program with CSF to make the best use of volunteer labor. Donations may also be made to this project at the Red Cross office.

Those applying for assistance from CSF need to bring proof of county residence, such as a driver's license or utility bill receipt. If applicants are requesting assistance with utility bills, or with pharmacy or doctor bills, they will need to provide complete information as to the account number, the name and address of the doctor or pharmacy.

Delivery of assistance packages from CSF is scheduled Friday, Dec. 21.

Shooting for another victory

Monroe Timberlake shows his opinion of who's No. 1 in Class 4A football at the end of last week's 14-14 tie with Lubbock Estacado. The Herd advanced in the playoffs on a 5-2 edge in penetrations. The Herd will tackle state-ranked Big Spring at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Lubbock's Jones Stadium.

Bush says force pact is close

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) - President Bush declared today "the world is getting tired" of Iraq's continuing occupation of Kuwait and said he was closing in on agreement for a U.N. resolution authorizing the use of force in the Persian Gulf crisis.

"I think we're very very close now," Bush said at a news conference with Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak.

Bush, fresh from a Thanksgiving Day visit with U.S. troops in the Persian Gulf, made his comments as he sought to tighten the Arab coalition against Iraq's Saddam Hussein. From Cairo he was traveling to Europe for a controversial meeting with Syria's President Hafez Assad, whose nation is on a State Department list of nations that sponsor terrorism.

Bush defended his decision to meet with Assad, whom he said "is lined up with us for a commitment to force."

He said the international coalition demanding Iraq's withdrawal from Kuwait "will not rest" until Iraq pulls its forces out. "So-called partial solutions" are out of the question," he said.

Mubarak's declarations sounded identical. "The Iraqi invasion must be reversed and Kuwait must be liberated," the Egyptian leader said. "For both of us it's a matter of principles and moral courage."

At the same time, Mubarak used the news conference to call for greater international effort to deal with the "plight of the Palestinian people." He added, "The holy shrines of Jerusalem must be respected and protected."

Bush, asked about that, said the United States is eager for an overall Middle Eastern peace agreement. But, he swiftly said, "What I am equally determined to do is to keep these two questions separate. There is no linkage."

During a picture-taking session before the talks commenced, Mubarak said all peaceful means to end the crisis should be exhausted. He declined to say when or if force should be used.

Asked how much time Iraq should be given to pull out from the country it invaded on Aug. 2, Mubarak said: "We will discuss this with the (U.S.) president."

He said he was pessimistic about a peaceful solution because Iraq was not willing to compromise.

Bush got a red carpet greeting, bands played the two countries' national anthems and the two leaders posed briefly for pictures before plunging into discussions about the Persian Gulf crisis.

Later, Bush was flying to Geneva - his last stop on an eight-day trip - to confer with Syrian President Hafez Assad, a bitter foe of Iraq's Saddam Hussein.

Bush is the first U.S. president since Jimmy Carter in 1977 to meet with Assad, whose government has been denounced by the United States as a supporter of terrorism and oppressor of human rights. The president said he was seeing Assad simply because of their common stand against Saddam.

Bush's difficulty in maintaining an Arab coalition was underscored Thursday when Secretary of State James A. Baker III was rebuffed in efforts to get Yemen, the only Arab nation on the United Nations Security Council, to support a resolution authorizing the use of force against Iraq.

Yemen's president, Gen. Ali Abdullah Saleh, criticized the military buildup in the region and called for an Arab solution to the crisis. Yet, a State Department official said, "They didn't say no" to a new U.N. measure.

Bush was in high spirits Thursday after hop-scotching by helicopter across eastern Saudi Arabia to spend Thanksgiving with troops who someday may be ordered to war to drive Iraq out of Kuwait.

The president, accompanied by his wife Barbara, came within 65 miles of the border with Kuwait, stopping at an encampment for U.S. Marines. Bush called it "an unforgettable experience."

It was a scene of endless desert, marked only by clumps of camouflage netting that concealed combat vehicles and other equipment. Altogether, the president saw about 5,000 to 6,000 of the 230,000 American troops in the Persian Gulf.

The Bushes, joined by the four top congressional leaders, ate two Thanksgiving dinners with troops at desert outposts and attended worship services on a ship in the Persian Gulf.

Sunday deadline for packs

Items to be sent to 26 soldiers serving in Operation Desert Shield are needed by 3 p.m. Sunday by area youth groups.

The groups will meet Sunday afternoon at First Presbyterian Church in Hereford to package goods. Items needed include canned snack foods and personal toiletry items. No glass containers, religious items or pork products may be included in the items sent to the soldiers in Saudi Arabia.

Persons wishing to donate items are urged to take them by the First Presbyterian Church on Sunday.

Many of the soldiers to receive the packages are from Hereford. Some of them have their families here with relatives while they are serving in the Persian Gulf area, and two of the soldiers have no family.

Characters reinforce reading

Students dressed up as robots at the book character parade held this week at Northwest Primary School in Hereford. The parade featured an assortment of characters gleaned from books read by the students and reinforced the fun in reading. The event is part of the special reading month activities continuing through Nov. 30 in all Hereford schools.

Saddam pays visit to troops

By JOCELYN NOVECK
Associated Press Writer

Saddam Hussein has answered President Bush's trip to the Saudi desert with his own morale-boosting mission to Iraqi troops in Kuwait, telling them he is ready to fight "the evil blasphemers" if attacked.

The U.S.-dominated force in the gulf got a boost, meanwhile, with Britain's announcement Thursday that it was nearly doubling its forces, bringing its contribution to 30,000 - the second-largest contingent after the United States.

Sharing a turkey dinner with U.S. troops in the sands of the Saudi desert, President Bush promised them that "We are not here on some exercise."

"And we're not walking away until our mission is done, until the invader is out of Kuwait," he said. "And that may well be where you come in." The troops cheered with approval.

The president also cautioned that Iraq was developing nuclear capability, and he warned that Saddam "never possessed a weapon he didn't use."

Bush flew on to Cairo, Egypt, where he met today with President Hosni Mubarak. The Egyptian leader has led Arab opposition to Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait in a dispute over oil, land and money.

The Egyptian president told reporters that all peaceful means to end the crisis should be exhausted. He declined to say when or if force should be used.

Bush was to fly next to Geneva to meet with President Hafez Assad of Syria, who also has joined forces with the United States in its confrontation with Saddam.

The Chinese and Soviet foreign ministers held talks today on the Persian Gulf crisis, and afterward the two reiterated their opposition to Iraq's invasion of Kuwait and their demand that it withdraw.

Neither Qian Qichen of China nor Eduard Shevardnadze of the Soviet Union disclosed whether they had reached agreement on the next step to defuse the crisis. They met in the remote Chinese city of Urumqi, near the two countries' Central Asian border.

Brits battle to pick new prime minister

LONDON (AP) - Hailed as the end of an era that transformed Britain, Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's decision to resign has angered supporters, pleased opponents and left three men battling to succeed her.

Ex-defense secretary Michael Heseltine, whose challenge precipitated her resignation announcement Thursday, was joined in the Conservative Party leadership race by Foreign Secretary Douglas Hurd and Treasury chief John Major.

A new poll today indicates the party, led by Mrs. Thatcher for 15 years, stands a better chance of winning an election now that she agreed to step down when the party picks her replacement next week. The Conservatives had lagged behind the opposition Labor Party in recent surveys as a result of high inflation and interest rates as well as an unpopular per capita tax.

Mrs. Thatcher, a staunch U.S. ally whose tough free-market policies dismantled much of Britain's welfare state and sold off government industries, survived a no-confidence vote Thursday that was drawn up by Labor Party leader Neil Kinnock.

Margaret Thatcher

The motion of censure, which could have brought down the government, was resoundingly defeated by a 120-vote majority in the 650-seat House of Commons, with no defectors among the 372 Conservatives.

More than 250 jubilant leftists celebrating the resignation announcement gathered outside gates leading to Mrs. Thatcher's office and official residence at 10 Downing Street on Thursday night, police said.

Scotland Yard said officers arrested 13 for minor offenses. No injuries were reported.

Mrs. Thatcher, 65, prime minister since May 1979, keeps the post until a successor is chosen by secret ballot Tuesday among the 372 Conservative legislators in the House of Commons.

She said in a surprise statement Thursday: "I have concluded the unity of the party and prospects of victory in a general election would be better served if I stood down to enable Cabinet colleagues to enter the ballot for the leadership."

On Wednesday, a day after she failed to end the challenge by 57-year-old Heseltine in a vote among Conservative members in Parliament, Mrs. Thatcher said she would "fight on" to a second round of balloting. But Cabinet members told her she could not win.

She told the Cabinet Thursday of her decision to resign, then got on with other business. It included a decision to send 14,000 more armed forces personnel to the Persian Gulf, boosting the number of British ground troops, sailors and air crews there to 30,000.

The Independent reported today that a tearful Mrs. Thatcher told the Cabinet she had been forced out despite her three general election victories and widespread support among Conservative Party members outside the Commons.

Decaying fluoride issue flares up in San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - Five years after voters rejected a campaign to fluoridate the city's water, pro-fluoride forces will try again to convince the public of its dental benefits.

But anti-fluoridation forces, convinced the chemical poses great risks to human health, have said they will continue to oppose its use.

San Antonio is the only major Texas city without a fluoridated water supply. Proponents claim fluoridation could translate into a 40 percent reduction in tooth decay and a $6 million annual savings in tax dollars spent on public dental care.

The dentist who helped lead the 1985 drive, which was rejected by 52 percent of San Antonio voters, is armed with new research he says shows fluoride would benefit local children.

Dentist John Brown, chairman of the department of community dentistry at the University of Texas Health Science Center, spent three years in Edgewood School District elementary schools rinsing the mouths of 600 children with fluoride each week and applying sealant to young teeth. The results showed tooth decay was cut in half, he said.

The children Brown treated averaged 1 1/2 cavities each during the three years of the study, while another group of 600 Edgewood elementary students who were not given fluoride treatments had an average of three cavities each, Brown said.

While routine dental rinses alone could prevent decay, Brown said such a program would be expensive and require considerable medical manpower. Adding fluoride to the water supply would cost less than $1 per year per resident, he said.

Brown said he will use his study results in a public education effort before moving on to a political drive to get fluoridation on another ballot.

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) - In a bizarre Thanksgiving celebration at an exclusive country club, a dozen American hostages and a few relatives who came to see them sat down to eat with some of the Iraqi captors.

The hostages, who were being held as "human shields" at various strategic sites, were brought Thursday to Baghdad's Hunting Club in the fashionable Mansour district of the capital.

Iraqi government officials joined the Americans for lunch - turkey, chicken, ham and cranberry sauce - which was arranged by the American Red Cross Society. The Iraqis provided the wine for the meal.

The hostages were brought in from unidentified strategic locations as far as 280 miles west and north, officials said. No guards were seen at the club.

Bill Stevenson said he, his brother, James, and sister, Mary Trundy, came to Baghdad to speak of peace, to see their brother John and to take him home with them.

The first two they have done; the third and most important will have to wait.

Iraqi officials did release some hostages on Thanksgiving. But none of them were American.

Stevenson, 54, was among several Americans who have flown to Baghdad since Saddam Hussein invited relatives of hostages to visit them.

He said he got no encouragement for his private mission from his neighbors, co-workers or the government. He said he had to quit his job in Panama City, Fla., to travel to Iraq.

His brother, John, 44, a computer specialist who had worked in Kuwait for more than 10 years, was picked up in October in Kuwait and eventually taken to a military site in Iraq.

"We are a very close, tight-knit family," said Bill. "I am here for my brother."

Despite the circumstances, the atmosphere at the Hunting Club was convivial. Some of the hostages had known each other in Kuwait before they were seized during the Iraqi invasion Aug. 2.

They embraced as they met for the first time since then.

They mingled on the well-manicured lawn outside the club, sipping soft drinks before moving into the dining room for lunch. Some passed on the wine, and ordered beer.

The Iraqis gave them presents of bottles of liquor.

Local boys fly to Eagle Scout rank

Four boys attained the rank of Eagle Scout during ceremonies Sunday at the Hereford Community Center.

Keith Sinnacher, Kent Sinnacher, Jason Brumley and T.J. Garza received the award, the highest in Boy Scouting, during a court of honor held by Troop 51.

Brumley, the son of Mike and Janice Brumley, became a member of Troop 51 on Jan. 8, 1986. He served the troop as patrol leader and assistant patrol leader. His Eagle service project was the installation of a drip water system and planting of 100 cottonwood trees for the Walcott Independent School District.

T.J. Garza is the son of Andrew and Phile Garza. T.J. joined Troop 51 on Oct. 22, 1984 and has served as Patrol Leader and Assistant Patrol Leader. His Eagle service project was the repair and painting of the fence at Holy Family Cemetery in Nazareth.

Keith Sinnacher, son of Al and Pat Sinnacher, joined Troop 51 on June 4, 1984. He has served the troop as quartermaster, assistant patrol leader and senior patrol leader. He also served as den chief of Pack 54 for 3 years. His Eagle project was presenting and organizing the underground watering system and preparing and planting flower plots and grass areas in front of St. Anthony's Church.

Kent Sinnacher, son of Al and Pat Sinnacher, joined Troop 51 on June 4, 1984. He served the troop as quartermaster and assistant senior patrol leader. His project was the preparing and landscaping of the highway divide at U.S. Highway 60 and Park Ave.

Following the ceremonies, the boys were hosted at a reception by their families for the large crowd of family and friends that attended the court of honor ceremonies.

Four inducted as Eagle Scouts

Jason Brumley, Keith and Kent Sinnacher and T.J. Garza were inducted as Eagle Scouts during ceremonies held Sunday in Hereford. The honor is the highest award in Boy Scouts.

Gorbachev urged to sign agreement

MOSCOW (AP) - The national legislature today asked President Mikhail S. Gorbachev to quickly sign temporary agreements with the 15 Soviet republics to prevent the further breakup of the country and stabilize the economy.

The Supreme Soviet, bogged down in negotiating a new union treaty while the country's republics increasingly disregard Kremlin authority, called on Gorbachev sign temporary agreements with republics within a month.

The resolution was approved 272-88 with 40 abstentions.

Amid fears that food will be in short supply this winter, the resolution also calls for "immediate steps to improve the food situation."

"The situation in the country continues to worsen and is approaching a crisis condition ... The balance between goods and money has been destroyed by severe mistakes," the resolution says.

Last Saturday, Gorbachev himself had promised to announce emergency food measures within two weeks. In the past month, he has been touring Western Europe in search of foreign food aid, and he has received several offers.

In a 10-minute speech today, Gorbachev told the 542-member legislature that "every day is precious" and urged them to move swiftly toward a new union treaty to replace the 1920s accord grouping the republics.

The lawmakers, however, told Gorbachev to act first. Their resolution said the provisional agreements would help stabilize the "social and economic situation in the country."

So far, each republic has been acting independently of the others and of the central government in introducing reforms to switch to a free market economy. All but one of the country's 15 republics have declared sovereignty from the Kremlin.

The result has been what many call a "paralysis of power" that has hindered any reform and caused a breakdown of the country's political and economic life.

The Supreme Soviet said in its resolution that agreements should be reached with the republics to stop legal contradictions. In their drives for sovereignty or outright independence, the republics have been passing laws that ignore or even contradict national legislation.

Some politicians have suggested a temporary moratorium on republican legislation that contradicts national laws.

Gorbachev's main political rival, Russian Federation President Boris N. Yeltsin, has been urging the republics not to wait for approval of a new union treaty and to create their own new economic structure.

Yeltsin's Russia, the biggest republic, has signed four bilateral treaties with other republics that bypass the Kremlin and govern trade, cultural and political ties.

In his speech, Gorbachev appeared to take a swipe at Yeltsin, his political rival and frequent critic.

Gorbachev warned the lawmakers that "there are forces that don't want to normalize the situation." He blasted people who criticize his reforms as an attempt at "dictatorship, an attempt to go for the jugular ... to take advantage of the situation." Opponents, he said, really want to "let the paralysis of power continue."

Gorbachev's restructuring proposals are aimed at ridding the power structure of officials resistant to radical reform and bringing in representatives of the republics.

Life!

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have two small children and a husband who works from 12 to 14 hours a day. When he is off on the weekend, he goes golfing with his friends. When he is at home, he is "busy" reading the paper and watching TV.

Ann, I know he loves the kids, but he doesn't pay any attention to them. I've asked him to put the paper down until they go to bed, but he never does it. I'm sad because I feel as though he is missing an important part of their lives and one day he will regret it.

Our children need a father who shows some interest in them. I don't know if I can bear to watch him ignore these lovely little ones much longer. What can I do? I am at the end of the line. -- Everything Isn't OK in Oklahoma

DEAR OKLAHOMA: You have hit on a problem that plagues millions

Reception planned for Fuhrmanns

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Fuhrmann will be celebrating their 50 wedding anniversary Saturday, Nov. 24, from 2-4 p.m. at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center.

Ronald and Mildred Fuhrmann were married Dec. 1, 1940 in First Methodist Church in Oklahoma City, Okla. They have lived in Hereford 34 years, moving from Adrian. They formerly lived in Mayfield, Kans.

Friends of the couple and of their children are invited to attend the reception and visit them in their home at 129 Ave.D.

They request no gifts.

of mothers. How sad that so many fathers fail to realize that if they don't establish a caring relationship with their children early, it will never happen. When the children are toilet-trained, civilized and interesting, they will have no interest in "Dad."

I have seen this happen repeatedly and sad to say, there is no way to turn back the clock.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I know that you frequently ask your readers to show consideration for others by not bringing young children to weddings. Would you ask them also not to bring them to art galleries and museums?

Recently, my husband and I traveled over 1,000 miles to see some art exhibits in New York. Our trip was ruined by families with toddlers and babies. The smooth floors, high ceilings and echoing walls are terrific amplifiers of childish shrieks, hard shoes and squeaky pram wheels.

No matter how adorable and smart a child is, he or she cannot absorb art through the skin by osmosis. An excited, fidgety or overtired child of three is not learning anything about the French Impressionists.

Out of consideration for others, young children should be left at home with a competent sitter, so others can enjoy the atmosphere of peace and concentration that galleries try to create. Please tell them, Ann. -- Kitchener, Ont.

DEAR KITCH: You did and I'm sure millions of Americans and Canadians will thank you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The following advice is for all adult children who no longer live with their parents:

If you have any cherished mementos from your childhood stored in your parents' home, reclaim them before it is too late.

When people get on in years they frequently become forgetful. The day may come when Mom and Dad no longer remember whose belongings are up in the attic or what they are doing there. Sometimes they are unaware that those items have any value (either monetary or sentimental) and throw them away or give them to charity.

Aging parents eventually die. If you are not there to reclaim your belongings, whoever is may have no way of knowing that those items belonged to you and you will never see them again.

I'm writing this letter, unfortunately, after a sad experience. Perhaps it will help someone for whom it is not too late. Sincerely -- Alaska

DEAR ALASKA: Most people would never give it a thought. Thanks for the tip.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My father died recently. He had been a family physician for many years and it was his wish that his body be given to the medical school from which he graduated. The funeral home arranged for a lovely memorial service in our church.

When the bill for the funeral home arrived, I was amazed to see that the total cost for all their services was less than $300. This included transportation of the body from our home, arrangements with the church, ushers and a memory book. Since there was no casket, there was no need for a hearse, no limousines for the family, and of course, no need to buy a burial plot.

My mother said that she and Dad had discussed this at length and agreed that it was a sensible and generous thing to do, but she wondered how she would feel when the time came. When the time did come, she said she knew their decision was the right one and she felt good about it. Mom had come to terms with the reality that Dad was no longer in that body and that he wanted some young medical students to be able to learn from it when it was no longer of service to him.

It would be wonderful if more people would consider this sensible and benevolent option, Ann. Please print my letter and add a few words of your own. -- C.D., Junction City, Kansas

DEAR C.D. IN KANSAS: I agree with you wholeheartedly and have printed letters in the past recommending this alternative to a funeral. This final "gift" should make the family proud.

Herd, Steers in playoff rematch

By SAM WALLER
Sports Editor

The Hereford Whitefaces will be in a familiar setting when they take on the Big Spring Steers in a Class 4A Area playoff (aka the Battle of the Cattle II) at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Jones Stadium in Lubbock.

Hereford enters the game at 5-4-2 as the No. 1 seed from District 1-4A while 3-4A champ Big Spring is 8-1-1 and ranked No. 7 in Class 4A by the Associated Press.

The game will be a rematch of last year's Area game, which the Steers won 22-19 on the way to the state semifinals, and the third playoff meeting between the teams since 1986. Hereford won the '86 contest on its way to a semifinal appearance.

Herd coach Don Cumpton said this year's matchup should be just as good as the past two.

"I think it will be real similar to last year," Cumpton said. "They've got a lot of their players back and we've got several of our players back. We've got more seniors than they do."

"Statistically the teams match up pretty even. I think it'll be a great game, I really do."

As for those statistical matchups, things couldn't be much closer. Both averaged just over 300 yards of offense per game during the regular season with the Steers holding the edge 312.3 to 303.3. Big Spring also has the advantage defensively having allowed just 142.9 yards per game, including less than 75 rushing, while the Herd has given up 191.9. The Herd has held its last four opponents under 200 total yards.

Both teams also have some of the area's best individuals. Big Spring's Jermaine Miller has rushed for 1,047 yards and 12 touchdowns in eight games compared to the Herd's Matt Bromlow's 1,316 yards and nine TDs.

Wingback Neal Mayfield has 21 catches for 750 yards and six scores for the Steers while Hereford counters with the receiving combo of Art Allemand (17 receptions for 207 yards and three TDs) and Chad Brummett (15 for 167, one TD). Hereford has made efficient use of the pass with four other receivers averaging at least 10 yards per catch in Derek Mason, Louis Mungia, Leo Brown and Sean Smith.

At quarterback, T.J. Head has completed 54.5 percent of his passes (36 of 66) for 452 yards and seven TDs since taking over as the starter in the sixth week of the season. Head has also rushed for 251 yards on 28 carries. Big Spring counters with junior Gerald Cobos, who is 50-100 for 1,119 yards and seven TDs.

Mayfield and Miller have topped most of the scoring punch for the Steers, combining for 25 touchdowns on the year. Mayfield, who also handles the kicking chores, has put more than 100 points on the board during the season.

While the Steers ended the regular season last week with a 15-14 win over Monahans, the Herd is coming off what may be its biggest win since knocking off No. 1-ranked Sweetwater in the 1988 Area game at Jones Stadium. Hereford played No. 8 Lubbock Estacado to a 14-14 tie, advancing on penetrations 5-2.

Cumpton said there is no doubt the game gave the Herd a massive dose of momentum for this week.

"I think we picked up a bunch because that showed us we can play with anybody," he said. "On any given night we can beat any team we play, we've just got to play well."

And playing well will again be the key against the Steers, he said.

"We've got to play great defense. We've got to control ol' Mayfield and Miller. Offensively we've got to get our helmet on the right guy and block 'em and make some plays when the opportunities present themselves."

Cumpton added that memories of last year's loss to Big Spring should also provide a boost for the Herd.

"There's probably a little extra incentive there," he said. "We felt like we were the better team last year and we got some bad breaks. We'd kinda like to show we are the better team this year."

And, Cumpton said, there is no danger of an emotional letdown after getting past the Matadors.

"Good night, no!" he said. "Not when you're playing another Top 10 team!"

"You don't get these opportunities very often to play two ranked teams in a row. We have that opportunity and if we knock off two in a row, that'll get some peoples' attention."

"To tell the truth, I don't think this game is any different than last week in that the mental preparation for the game will be critical. I think we have to play with a tremendous amount of intensity, we have to play with a tremendous amount of concentration and we have to have a great, great effort every time the ball is snapped."

"I don't think it's hard at all (to get ready mentally). I think you learn how to do that and then you're able to do it easier and better the next time out."

"If we'll do those things and execute our game plan, we've got a chance to beat them."

As for the physical end of things, Cumpton said while the Steers may not have the individual talent possessed by Estacado, their offensive and defensive schemes have worked extremely well.

The Steers have shown a variety of defensive sets not used in last year's game, and Cumpton said that has put the onus on the Herd linemen.

"Defensively they're doing some different stuff from last year. They're stunting a lot more and things like that. They do a lot of overshiftings and run their stunts out of that."

"I think the key is we have to be extremely, extremely alert to pick up all of their stunts and stuff. We've done a pretty good job this week in practice, so I feel pretty good about that."

"The thing they do do when they do all that stunting is they give the chance to break and make some big runs and big plays."

On the other side of the ball, Cumpton said Big Spring hasn't changed things much and the Herd defense will have to keep Mayfield and Miller contained.

"Offensively they're pretty much what they were last year. They run out of multiple sets. They run the T, the I, one-back - they do a lot of things."

"Miller is more the guy they use every down. Mayfield is the guy they go to try to make a big play."

"Now last year they hurt us with their fullback. That's something we've tried to concentrate on that and make sure that doesn't happen again."

"They've thrown quite a bit. They run a lot of play-action stuff and the thing your secondary has to do there is really key well and make sure they don't bite on the play fake."

You're goin' down!

Hereford Whiteface linebacker Oscar Garcia (56) wraps up Lubbock Estacado's Robert M. Johnson (22) for one of his team-leading 141 tackles during Saturday's Class 4A Bi-District playoff at Whiteface Stadium. The Herd advanced on penetrations 5-2 after the game ended tied at 14-14 and will meet Big Spring at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Texas Tech's Jones Stadium in Lubbock in an Area contest. The game will be a rematch of last year's Area game, won by Big Spring 22-19. Advance tickets for the game are $5 for adults and $2 for students with tickets at the gate being $6.

Arkansas, Arizona play for NIT title

NEW YORK (AP) - It's a long way from New York to Indianapolis, and even longer from November to April, but second-ranked Arkansas or No. 3 Arizona could pull off an NCAA-NIT Grand Slam - sort of.

It has been 40 years since CCNY became the only team to capture the postseason NCAA and NIT tournaments in the days when they were eight-team events - both at Madison Square Garden - and a school could compete in each.

That is no longer possible, but it wouldn't be surprising if the winner of tonight's Arkansas-Arizona game for the preseason Big Apple NIT championship wound up in the NCAA final, as well - especially with top-ranked UNLV on probation and ineligible to defend its title.

Tonight's game pits Arkansas' strength and quickness against Arizona's speed and size.

"They're quicker, we're bigger," said Arizona coach Lute Olson, whose Wildcats crushed Notre Dame 91-61 in Wednesday night's semifinals, the worst loss for the Irish in almost nine years. "The biggest thing is the quickness aspect, but I don't think we're slow."

In the other semi, Arkansas beat No. 6 Duke 98-88.

Arkansas is averaging 105 points per game to Arizona's 100.3.

"We're playing good basketball, but we've got to keep up the intensity level against Arkansas," said Arizona's Chris Mills, who scored 25 points, including five 3-pointers, against Notre Dame.

"I don't think they can stop our big guys (Sean Rooks and Brian Williams) and we probably can't stop their running game. The key is to slow down the tempo in the first half."

Todd Day, Arkansas' leading scorer last season, was held to 5 points in the first half but scored 16 in the second. Meanwhile, Arkansas' tenacious defense forced Duke into 18 turnovers, including seven by playmaker Bobby Hurley, who made only two of 11 shots.

Arizona's defense is no slouch, either. The Wildcats held Notre Dame to 36.1 percent shooting (26 of 72), forced the Irish into 18 turnovers and shut down their two big scorers, LaPhonso Ellis and Elmer Bennett.

3 Hereford wrestlers triumph

Three Hereford wrestlers claimed championships at the Maverick Clubs novice tournament in Amarillo recently.

Harry Ford took first place in the Division II 52-pound weight class. Ford had a 3-0 record for the tournament.

Robert Castillo went 2-1 in the Division II 78-pound class and won the title on a tie-breaker.

Jeremiah Beltran won the Division III heavyweight title with a 3-0 record.

Trenton Shepard, Michael Castillo and Arturo Elizondo each finished second in their respective classes. Shepard was 2-1 in the Division III 72-pound class, Castillo was 1-1 in the Division III 77-pound class and Elizondo was 1-1 in the Division V heavyweight class.

Patrick Mejia finished third in the Division IV 78-pound class with a 2-2 record.

The local grapplers will compete next on Dec. 8 at the West Texas State University Activities Center in Canyon.

The team is coached by John Shumate and Dan Odell.

Cowboys scalp 'Skins

IRVING (AP) - Not only do the 1990 Dallas Cowboys bear no resemblance to their hapless 1989 one-victory counterparts, they are suddenly chasing a wild card in the National Conference playoffs.

"We're not just trying to have a break-even year," said quarterback Troy Aikman. "We're looking to win the rest of our games. Our goal is 9-7."

Rookie Emmitt Smith rushed 23 times for 132 yards and scored two touchdowns Thursday as the Cowboys defeated the Redskins 27-17 for their first back-to-back victories since 1987.

Dallas increased its record to 5-7, best since the team won seven three years ago. Washington, which has lost all four of its Thanksgiving games against the Cowboys, dropped to 6-5.

Both teams are chasing the three NFC wild card berths. Philadelphia is 6-6 and Green Bay 5-5 with the only NFC records better than the Cowboys.

Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson said the Cowboys aren't going to make the mistake of thinking playoffs. In fact, he ordered conditioning work for the team the day after Thanksgiving.

"We want to stay close to our routine," Johnson said. "We'll let 'em off over the weekend. I think we're going to continue to improve." Johnson said he knows Smith is improving.

"What can you say about Emmitt Smith?" Johnson said. "He's going to be a great player in the NFL."

Washington cornerback Martin Mayhew said Smith "is the best back we've faced this year. The turf was slippery and it affected everyone's play except his."

Smith said he wants to become more of a force in the Dallas offense.

"I got the ball in my hands enough today and I'm satisfied," he said. "I know this, winning two in a row, is really going to help the confidence of this team. It's the first time in a long time."

Washington coach Joe Gibbs said Smith "is a very, very good back. We also missed some tackles, too, that helped him out."

Dallas had lost four straight games on Thanksgiving Day. It's now 15-7-1 on the holiday.

Gibbs said Dallas is becoming a force under Johnson.

"You can see Dallas coming on in leaps and bounds," Gibbs said. Johnson wouldn't declare the victory extra special.

"All victories count the same," he said. "But I'm extremely proud. We've gone through some difficult times."

Smith scored on runs of 1 and 48 yards.

"That last run just killed us," said Washington linebacker Wilbur Marshall.

"Smith is phenomenal, no question," Aikman said. "He doesn't have great speed but he's tremendously quick."

Washington's Mark Rypien hit 26 of 54 passes for 267 yards and a 6-yard scoring pass to Ricky Sanders, but the 'Skins were held to only 36 yards rushing, lowest total of the year.

Aikman finished with 20 of 31 passes for 222 yards and a 12-yard scoring pass to Michael Irvin.

"We beat a very good football team," Johnson said. "We just wanted to get the football to Emmitt today."

Irvin said it was the sweetest victory yet.

"I've been here three years and this is the victory of all victories," Irvin said. "They scored 17 straight points and we could have folded. But we wanted to win two in a row, win a division game and win on Thanksgiving. We did all three."

The Cowboys have 10 days to get ready for New Orleans at Texas Stadium Sunday week. Dallas is 16-6 on games after Thanksgiving.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

BY HOLDING UP HIS ARMS, THE BATTLE WAS WON!

THE FIRST BATTLE THE ISRAELITES ENGAGED IN, AFTER THEIR ESCAPE FROM EGYPT, IS RECORDED IN EXODUS: CHAP. 17. THE AMALEKITES THREATENED THEIR SAFETY WHILE ENCAMPTED AT REPHIDIM. MOSES TOLD JOSHUA TO PICK HIS BEST MEN AND DRIVE THEM OFF WHILE HE, MOSES, WOULD HOLD ALOFT HIS ROD ON A HILLTOP TO ENCOURAGE THEM. WHILE HE HELD IT HIGH, THE BATTLE WENT WELL. BUT, AFTER A NUMBER OF HOURS, HIS ARMS TIRED AND DROPPED—THEN THE AMALEKITES BEGAN TO WIN. AARON AND HUR SAW THIS AND, SEATING MOSES ON A ROCK, THEY HELD HIS ARMS ON HIGH AND.....

...ONCE AGAIN, THE BATTLE WENT WELL AND THEY CONTINUED TO HOLD MOSES' ARMS ALOFT THROUGHOUT THE LONG DAY UNTIL THE AMALEKITES WERE DECISIVELY BEATEN!

NEXT WEEK: WHEN THE BIBLE WAS WRONG!

The celebrant and preacher will be Father Charles Threewit, rector. His sermon will deal with the need for surrender and the acceptance of God's grace before recovery can begin.

Some of the compulsive/addictive disorders which may be lumped under the term "alcoholism" are the addiction to any drug, including alcohol, illicit drugs, prescription drugs, or any mind or mood-altering substance, overeating, bulimia or anorexia, gambling, inappropriate sexual behavior and probably smoking. The recognition that these behaviors are illnesses which the victim cannot control without help is a very large step forward for the church.

Transportation may be arranged by calling 364-0249 or 364-0215.

The president with the most children was Tyler, who had 15.
