Cumpton accepts new HISD post

By JAY PEDEEN
Sports Editor

Hereford High School will have a new head football coach effective March 4 as Danny Haney becomes the new coach and athletic director.

Don Cumpton, head football coach and athletic director at Hereford High School for ten years, will be promoted to Assistant Superintendent of Support Services.

Hereford Independent School District Superintendent Charles Greenawalt made the announcement at a press conference Wednesday afternoon at the administrative building.

"Coach Cumpton came to me about the possibility of getting out of coaching two years ago," Greenawalt said. "The district was going through a process of re-organization and we thought Cumpton would fit in nicely."

"We're very pleased with the job Don has done. He has a fantastic program. It's one of the largest in the Panhandle."

Cumpton's new duties as assistant superintendent will include supervising the food service, maintenance and transportation departments, Greenawalt said.

Cumpton said he was just ready for a change.

"I've been coaching for 23 years," Cumpton said. "Everybody goes through this."

Cumpton's career record stands at 115 wins, 64 losses and 6 ties, including a 78-31-4 record during two terms at Hereford.

Cumpton started coaching in 1967 as an assistant at Tulia. He coached there for three years, then assisted at Hereford for four years before getting his first head coaching job at Sanford-Fritch in 1974.

His Eagles went 4-6 his first year and improved to 8-4 the next year, after which he moved on to Muleshoe. There he improved another team, going 1-8-1 his first year and 9-1 his second year. Then he moved to Hereford for the 1978 season.

Cumpton's ten years in Hereford were split into two five-year tours. Between those he coached Abilene High to a 15-14-1 record over three seasons (1983-85).

Cumpton's best season came in 1981, when the Herd went 13-1, losing only in the state 5A semi-finals to eventual champion Richardson Lake Highlands.

In 1986, Cumpton's first year back from Abilene, the Whitefaces made another trip to the state semi-finals, falling to eventual 4A state champion McKinney.

Haney was an assistant on both these teams. He was an assistant coach to every one of Cumpton's Hereford teams, and spent three years assisting here before Cumpton's first run. Before moving to Hereford, Haney assisted four years in Canyon and one year in Spur. Haney was out of coaching during the three years Cumpton spent in Abilene.

Haney acknowledged the fact that he has some big shoes to fill.

"Coach Cumpton has set the standard for coaching in the Panhandle," Haney said.

Haney said Cumpton had talked to him about the possible change earlier this year. Haney also said he was looking forward to working with the existing coaching staff and planned no personnel changes.

Greenawalt also said the assistant coaching position being vacated by Haney will not be filled.

Soldiers earn Bull Chip

The Deaf Smith County men and women serving in the Persian Gulf were named Honorary Bull Chippers at the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Fun Breakfast this morning at the Hereford Community Center.

Pat Robbins, chamber president, accepted the Bull Chip plaque on behalf of the troops from Speedy Nieman. The plaque will be hung at the chamber office as a tribute to the armed forces serving in the Persian Gulf theater.

"We award each Bull Chip to those who have gone beyond the call of duty," said Nieman in presenting the honor. "No one is giving more to their community or their nation than the troops in the Persian Gulf."

The breakfast was sponsored by Deaf Smith General Hospital. Raymond Schroeder, president of the Deaf Smith County Hospital District board, introduced other board members and hospital staff present at the breakfast.

"Our staff really does see you as a person, as a neighbor," Schroeder said, reflecting on the "Neighbors caring for neighbors" theme. "It means a lot when your neighbors take care of neighbors."

Hospital officials also said the hospital will begin providing a new service, skilled nursing beds, in about 10 days.

Several visitors graced the Community Center stage, including Betty Lou from Broadview; Dr. Karnack, a doctor and seer from California; and Dr. Red Puke, a Texas doctor. They shared the stage with "patients" and co-emcees John Stagner and Charlie Bell.

The large crowd also met Sergio Saenz, a fifth grader at Shirley School in Hereford who will present the Texas Bluebonnet Award at the Texas Library Association convention April 11 in Fort Worth.

Among the announcements made at the breakfast were:

Bull chip for troops

--The quarterly meeting of the Women's Division will be held April 4 at the Caison House, with a style show by the Ginger Tree and a program by Hereford Travel Center.

--Super Sports Weekends are planned March 9 (boys track) March 15-16 (girls track and golf) and March 29-30 (tennis).

--The Hereford Keywanettes will hold a blood drive March 5.

Troops gird for battle

DHAHRAN, Saudi Arabia (AP) - In barren border encampments and ornate halls of government, the war vigil ticked today toward "G-Day"

- the start of the allied ground offensive in the Arabian desert. An escalating series of clashes suggested the call to battle was near.

Iraqi Foreign Minister Tariq Aziz was expected in Moscow today with an answer from President Saddam Hussein to a Soviet peace proposal. However, President Bush was reported to have told Mikhail S. Gorbachev that the proposal needs additional conditions to be acceptable to the United States.

In Iraq, meanwhile, official Baghdad radio announced that Saddam was to deliver an "important speech" to the nation this evening. It gave no further details, but the address appeared timed to coincide with Aziz' expected arrival in Moscow.

Iraqi media said today that Saddam and his inner circle, the Revolutionary Command Council, had studied the Soviet proposal and decided on a response.

In a military communique, the Baghdad government said Iraq is a "sincere advocate of peace."

But today's Baghdad newspapers took a warlike tone.

"All Iraq is one army," said the state-run paper Al-Jomhuriya. "They are all ready for the biggest, the fiercest battle ever."

After two nights of heavy bombardment, weary residents of Baghdad had a night free of allied air attacks. The Iraqi occupiers of Kuwait did not.

In a midday communique, Iraq's military said the allies had carried out more than 320 raids on military targets in the southern war zone over the past 24 hours - more than three times the number reported the previous day.

The Iraqi communique also claimed Iraqi forces inflicted "substantial losses" on the allies with missile strikes on front-line positions.

As of early afternoon, allied commanders in Saudi Arabia had not offered reporters any information on new engagements, though the French said their Jaguar fighters has targeted artillery units in Iraq and southern Kuwait today.

On Wednesday, the U.S. military reported intensified fighting along the northern Saudi frontier, including artillery duels and allied incursions into enemy territory.

In one clash, Iraq lost five tanks, 20 artillery pieces and an unspecified amount of men, while one American was killed and seven wounded by Iraqi fire, the U.S. military command said Wednesday.

DESERT STORM

In another action, two teams of Army helicopters, each composed of a Kiowa scout and an Apache gunship, destroyed a complex of more than a dozen Iraqi bunkers across the border Wednesday afternoon, capturing 476 Iraqi soldiers, the command said. Iraq today called the mass surrender claim a lie, saying such things "only happen in American movies."

U.S. commanders refused to say whether the two engagements took place in or near Kuwait or Iraq and would not name the units involved. Military analysts have said a key element of a ground assault could be an allied end run through southern Iraq to cut off Saddam's forces in Kuwait.

In another allied strike, the command said U.S. aircraft hammered a cluster of Iraqi vehicles parked in Kuwait, 60 miles north of the frontier, destroying 28 tanks, 26 other vehicles and three big guns.

Haney new head football coach

Danny Haney, right, accepts congratulations from Don Cumpton after Haney was named the new head football coach and athletic director at Hereford High School. Haney will replace Cumpton, who will become the assistant superintendent for support services.

"Shop at Home" has become a familiar slogan, and the implications of doing so are serious. They are serious not only for the retailer but also for local residents. No one wants to see failure and that's what the loss of any business in the community represents.

Two items in an article entitled, "Ten Pillars of Economic Wisdom", caught our eye. --"In our modern exchange economy, all payroll and employment comes from customers, and the only worthwhile job security is customer security; if there are no customers, there can be no payrolls and jobs."

--"Customer security can be achieved by the employee only by cooperating with management in doing things that win and hold customers. Job security, therefore, is a partnership problem that can be solved only in a spirit of understanding and cooperation."

It's basic in that it requires a satisfied customer for a business to succeed. Unfortunately, it also takes only one unpleasant experience to destroy what previously may have been a satisfying business relationship.

Such incidents, of course, can occur in all size retail markets, but customers tend to have longer memories if the incidents occur at home.

It should be just as easy to understand that job security also is based upon a viable business community. When there's fewer of anything, there will be less need for jobs like mine and yours.

Senate approves school reforms

AUSTIN (AP) - A "Robin Hood" plan to shift local property tax revenue from rich to poor school districts won Senate approval and was sent to the House, which may vote next week on school finance reform.

Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock hailed the Senate measure, passed 20-7 Wednesday, as "the finest piece of legislation that's been passed in the Texas Legislature in its history."

The bill sponsor, Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, said, "What we have done basically is created a new system of public school finance that gives every child in Texas access to the same amount of property wealth for his or her education."

House Speaker Lewis, D-Fort Worth, said he expects the House measure to be similar to Parker's.

When fully implemented in four years, Parker's bill would take an estimated $481 million a year in local property tax money from wealthy school districts and spend it in poor ones.

The legislation is in response to a Texas Supreme Court order requiring the state to equitably fund poor school districts.

The $14 billion-a-year school finance system declared unconstitutional by the court relies on state aid, local property taxes and some federal money.

The wealthiest school district in Texas draws funds from a local property tax base that is about 450 times greater than the poorest district, creating disparities, said a bill analysis.

World, National

DHAHRAN, Saudi Arabia - In bare border encampments and in ornate halls of government, the war vigil goes on, counting down to "G-Day" - the start of the ground war in the Arabian desert. An escalating series of clashes suggests the battle is about to be joined.

WASHINGTON - A gift shop operator in Michigan confesses she "went from being a dove to a hawk overnight." A conservative Republican congressman frets that a ground war would send American troops "into a meat grinder." Pollsters and academics guess that if a ground war starts, Americans will rally around the flag and their president. But how long that support will last is as difficult to predict as war itself.

WASHINGTON - Iraq obtained night vision equipment, built with American parts, from a Dutch firm that apparently sold it illegally, government and corporate officials say.

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio - The orange, wooden name tags clack together in the afternoon breeze like a muted wind chime as the names of more than 300 soldiers twist among yellow ribbons on the tree.

WASHINGTON - Americans flocked to big metropolitan areas near the nation's coasts in the 1980s, at the expense of the heartland, census figures show.

NEW YORK - Quincy Jones became the second top Grammy winner in the history of the awards, walking away with six trophies for his album, "Back on the Block."

SANTIAGO, Chile - A jetliner with 72 people aboard, mainly U.S. tourists bound for Antarctica, overshot a runway and plunged into a chilly waterway near Cape Horn, killing at least 19 passengers, authorities said.

LJUBLJANA, Yugoslavia - Slovenia's parliament votes in favor of sovereignty and its president says the non-communist republic will secede from Yugoslavia if the Communist-dominated country does not split up by June.

AUSTIN - A "Robin Hood" plan to shift local property tax revenue from rich to poor school districts won Senate approval and was sent to the House, which may vote next week on school finance reform.

AUSTIN - Lawmakers say a sweeping insurance reform bill they are unveiling today would repeal the insurance industry's antitrust exemption. In addition, the bill would end the practice of using industry data on losses and premiums to determine rates for auto and property insurance.

WASHINGTON - El Paso Mayor Suzie Azar is urging the government to give "front line communities" on the Southwestern border a major role in drafting a free trade agreement with Mexico.

MOUNTAIN HOME AIR FORCE BASE, Idaho - A Texas airman and his Arkansas crew member, killed in the crash of their Idaho-based reconnaissance jet while returning from a combat mission in the Gulf War, were eulogized Wednesday as "true Americans."

DALLAS - A Dallas executive survived the plane crash that killed her husband and 18 others when the chartered airliner plunged into a freezing channel near the southern tip of Chile.

WHARTON - The latest case of cattle rustling, the crime that refuses to go away, involved 298 head of cattle worth about $300,000 and is the largest single cattle theft case in Texas in the past 10 years, an investigator says.

WASHINGTON - Sen. Lloyd Bentsen says ships in the Gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean will be barred from dumping their garbage overboard after July 1992.

Commission battles rural health care

AMARILLO (AP) - One of the benefits of the recently-formed Texas Rural Economic Development Commission will be a hot line for residents in rural Texas trying to find help to combat health care woes and sliding economies, a state official said.

"In the past, when someone wanted to know what programs were available at the state level, they would call and get shuffled around before they ever got anything done," said former Republican state Rep. Dick Waterfield, who helped create the rural development commission.

"Part of what this will do is establish a toll-free number to give the people a place where they can call get crucial economic information."

Waterfield said the commission recently submitted a 71-page report to state lawmakers filled with concerns aired during 11 public hearings last year in rural areas across the state.

"People were just so glad the state came out to hear what they had to say," Waterfield told the Amarillo Daily News. "I'm sure some meaningful legislation will come out of this report."

Waterfield, who ran unsuccessfully for the Panhandle's U.S. House seat last fall, authored the bill to create the commission while a state representative from Canadian in the 71st Texas Legislature.

Waterfield said landfill, health and economic problems were the foremost topics at the public meetings.

Residents said rural hospital and medical office closings have placed an even greater emphasis on the availability of emergency medical technicians in rural areas.

The commission recommended that EMTs should no longer be required by the Texas Department of Health to be retrained every four years, Waterfield said.

"The EMTs came before us and said in most cases they are far away from the training sites and that retraining is an unnecessary financial burden," he said. "We recommended they be retested only every two years, with retraining only when they fail the test."

Commission member Joe Cook of Perryton said the commission's report recommends adoption of a statewide policy to establish better telecommunications in rural areas.

Cook said the state could help economic growth by purchasing the federally insured portion of loans made to rural businesses and increase the funding in the Linked Deposit Program.

He said such a step would leverage private sources of capital with state funds in rural banks and encourage investment in rural Texas.

In addition, those same financial institutions would be encouraged to make loans to small businesses.

The commission also proposed intensified efforts to increase tourism as a way to stimulate economies.

Tickets are $5 per person at the door and children under three are free. Doors open at 6 p.m. for pre-show. Advanced tickets are available.

Environmentalists voice concern, Mexican trade faces problems

WASHINGTON (AP) - El Paso Mayor Suzie Azar is urging the government to give "front line communities" on the Southwestern border a major role in drafting a free trade agreement with Mexico.

Azar suggested Wednesday, during a hearing of the Senate Finance Committee, that negotiators meet in each of the major cities along the 2,000-mile border during the talks.

"Any change of border law or policy activated in Washington, D.C., or in Mexico City is immediately felt at the border city level," she said.

The mayor said her concerns include population growth, environmental issues, increased traffic at ports of entry and on streets and highways.

El Paso will need federal help to build low and moderate-income housing to accommodate an increase in demand due to worker migration to the border, more inspectors at border crossings, and more roads and highways around the city, she said.

Governments at all levels, she said, must also address the "massive health threat" posed by the lack of any sewage treatment in Ciudad Juarez, across the river from El Paso. Escalating population growth will also accelerate the use of water resources in both cities, which rely on the same underground water source. It is now being depleted faster than it can be replaced.

Pollution along the border will only worsen if the free trade agreement fails to address the environmental implications of increased industrial development in Mexico, environmentalists cautioned.

Environmentalists said the FTA will set the course for the future of the environment along the border for years to come.

The FTA could also have broad implications for the environment and public health in the interiors of both countries, said Mary E. Kelly, director of the Texas Center for Policy Studies, in testimony endorsed by five other environmental groups, including the National Wildlife Federation.

Ms. Kelly urged Congress to ensure that environmental considerations are addressed in any trade agreement with Mexico.

"It is difficult to conceive of any separate track agreement or process that could adequately address this problem," she said.

Including environmental concerns in the trade negotiations and the agreement is the most direct way for the two governments to address the issues, "and to demonstrate to Congress exactly how they propose to deal with the problems," she said.

Committee Chairman Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, said he was not sure whether environmental issues would become part of the actual trade negotiations, "but I do know they must be addressed. We have to press the administration and the Mexican government to solve the problem."

The Bush administration hopes to begin formal negotiations for a North American free trade agreement with Mexico and Canada in June and to conclude them by year's end.

Ms. Kelly warned that a failure to address the environmental implications of increased investment in Mexico could result in the same type of pollution problems that occurred with the growth of the maquiladora industry along the border.

She said the growth of the maquiladoras - plants in Mexico that assemble U.S.-made components - has resulted in the dumping of raw sewage and toxic wastes into scarce water supplies; air pollution that threatens public health; a woefully inadequate supply of livable housing; and congested border crossings.

Ms. Kelly said the pollution problems developed because neither the United States nor Mexico considered the restrictions necessary to ensure the maquiladora program would result in sustainable and environmentally sound development.

"The result of failing to address these issues simultaneously with the institution of the maquiladora program is impossible to ignore - and now it is going to be very expensive to clean up the mess," Ms. Kelly said.

"Already, one hear talks of a 'Superfund' for the problems caused by the maquiladora industry's irresponsible management of its hazardous waste."

Grammys, Jones wins big

NEW YORK (AP) - "Back on the Block," an ambitious recording project that interwove the musical virtues of a divergent group of artists from rappers to Sarah Vaughan, was named album of the year at the 33rd Annual Grammy Awards.

With its magical journey to the worlds of jazz, rap, rhythm and blues and pop, "Back on the Block" won eight Grammys altogether on Wednesday night, including six for composer-musician-producer-arranger Quincy Jones.

Phil Collins, who had been nominated for eight awards at the ceremony at Radio City Music Hall, won record of the year for his bleak song about the homeless, "Another Day in Paradise."

Mariah Carey, with her extensive vocal range, was named best new artist and best female pop vocalist for her slow-grind ballad "Vision of Love."

The late Roy Orbison was named best male pop vocalist for "Oh Pretty Woman."

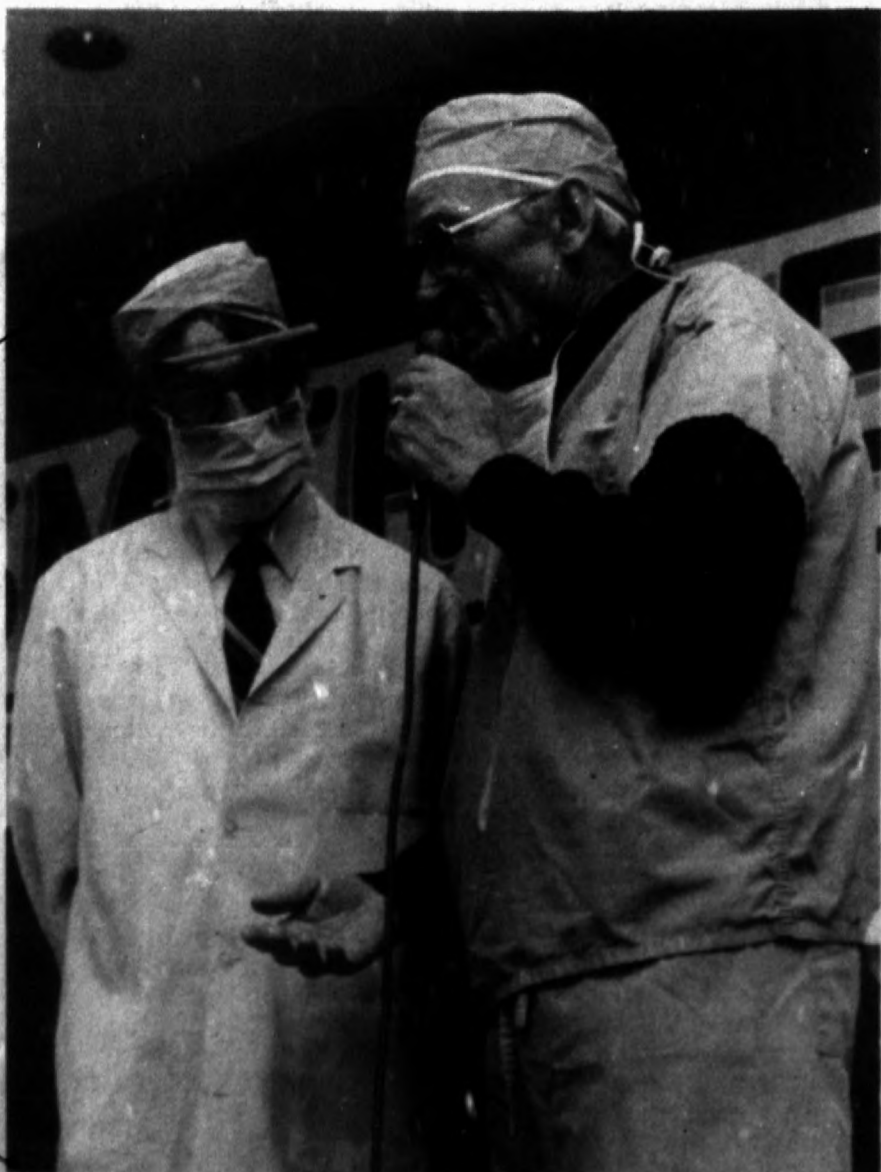

Song of the year honors went to Julie Gold for "From a Distance," a ballad recorded by Bette Midler.

Academy president Michael Greene, commenting on the song of the year, said the National Academy of Recording Arts & Sciences "ends up being a sentimental bunch of people when it comes to message songs."

Still, the night belonged to the 57-year-old Jones.

Besides album of the year, Jones won non-classical producer of the year; best jazz fusion performance for the LP's "Birdland" track; best arrangement of an instrumental for "Birdland"; best instrumental arrangement accompanying vocals, for "Birdland"; and best rap performance by a duo or group for the title track, along with Ice-T, Melle Mel, Big Daddy Kane, Koolha Moe Dee and Quincy D. III.

Rebekahs plan chili supper

Members of the Hereford Rebekah Lodge met Tuesday evening to finalize plans for their chili supper set from 5:30-8 p.m. Saturday at the Odd Fellows Hall.

Supper tickets are priced at $3 for adults and $1.50 for children under 12 years of age. The menu will consist of chili, pie and drinks. Proceeds will benefit the Arthritis Foundation and the World Eye Bank and Visual Research, both organizations sponsored by the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. Seventy-five percent of all money raised will be used in Texas.

Noble Grand Jo Irlbeck presided at the business meeting. Members decided to donate to the American Red Cross. Also, 11 visits to the sick, 27 cheer cards, three dishes of food and four flowers were reported.

Odd Fellow and Rebekah members will send kool-aid and lemonade mixes to the military troops stationed in the Persian Gulf as part of a national project.

Dorothy Lundry was hostess to Irlbeck, Lydia Hopson, Tony Irlbeck, Anna Conklin, Ben Conklin, Erna Loving, Jim Loving, Mary Lou Weatherford, Marie Harris, Stella Hershey, Susie Curtsinger, Irene Merritt, Connie Ivey, Gene Ivey, Ocie Bolton, Leona Sowell, Faye Brownlow, Genevieve Lynn, Peggy Lemons, Rosalie Northcutt and Shirley Brown.

Things that happen in March

March 1 was New Year's Day in ancient Rome and it was the first month of the year until January and February came into being in 713 B.C.

On March 3, 1847, Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone was born.

The first film produced in Hollywood was released on March 10, 1910. It was called "In Old California." On March 12, 1945, Anne Frank, the Dutch Jewish girl who hid from the Nazis and wrote her famous diary, died in a concentration camp. She and her family hid in rooms at the top of a building in Amsterdam.

March 17 is St. Patrick's Day--the patron saint of Ireland. March 1 is St. David's Day--the patron saint of Wales.

On March 18, 1932, Sydney Harbour Bridge was opened in Australia. At the time, it was the largest single span bridge in the world. March 21 is called the Spring Equinox. It's the day when the sun crosses over the equator and our days and nights are roughly the same length.

March 25 is rock star Elton John's birthday. He was born in 1947 and his real name is Reg Dwight.

Julius Caesar was assassinated on March 15, called the "ides of March."

The famous Eiffel Tower was completed in Paris on March 31, 1889. The construction took two years, two months and two days to complete. It stands 986 feet tall and is named after its designer and builder, Gustav Eiffel.

Bride-elect honored

A bridal shower was held recently for Rhonda Dahl, March 16 bride-elect of Terry Watson. Guests were greeted, from left, by Marlene Watson, the prospective groom's mother; the honoree; Jean Dahl, the bride-elect's mother; and Elizabeth Vogel, hostess.

Bridal shower held for Rhonda Dahl

Rhonda Dahl was honored with a bridal shower Saturday, Feb. 16, in the home Elizabeth Vogel. The honoree and Terry Watson plan to exchange wedding vows March 16 in Omaha, Neb.

Welcoming guests with Miss Dahl were her mother, Jean Dahl; the prospective bridegroom's mother, Marlene Watson; and hostess, Elizabeth Vogel.

Julie Dahl, sister of the honoree, and Kayla Schilling served refreshments of cinnamon rolls, miniature fruit kabobs, cookies, coffee and punch. The table was covered with a peach tablecloth and a Batten lace overlay. Also, decorating the table were a silver service set and an arrangement of lilies and frusia.

The shower honoree was presented Faber Ware cooking pans by hostesses: Betty Taylor, Joyce Allred, Gladys Merritt, Judy Williams, Carolyn Baxter, Pat Manchec, June Owens, Mary Beth White, Lucy Rogers, Carol Gage, Delores McCuistian, Merle Clark, Billee Landrum, Betty Martin, Elizabeth Vogel, Loretta Urbanczyk, Kamille Martin, Marie Stringer, Nancy Paetzold, Mysedia Smith, Kayla Schilling, and Marian Yosten.

Reinauer named finalist in scholarship program

Brenna Reinauer, a senior at Hereford High School, is one of 1000 finalists in The Jostens Foundation Leader Scholarship program for 1990-91.

Reinauer was one of more than 38,000 high school students throughout the United States who applied for one of Jostens' $1,000 scholarships made annually to 300 students. Scholarship winners will be announced in late April.

"The students selected as scholarship finalists are the leaders of tomorrow," said Ellis F. Bullock, executive director of The Jostens Foundation. "They stand apart not only because of their superior academic achievements but because they've taken leadership roles in bettering their communities."

Selection of the finalists and winners is based on outstanding achievements in school and community activities, leadership experience and academic excellence.

Jostens' Leader Scholarship program, which is administered by the Citizens' Scholarship Foundation of America, St. Peter, Minn., has awarded $2.3 million in scholarships since the program's inception in 1977. The program has grown to include the United States, its territories and American schools overseas, and Canada as well.

Funds for The Jostens Foundation are provided annually by Jostens Inc., a leading provider of products and services for youth, education, sports award and recognition markets.

Accent on Health

More than 24 million Americans suffer from osteoporosis, a condition in which the bones become fragile and can easily fracture and break. Osteoporosis primarily affects people over age 45 and is more common among women than men.

The consequences of osteoporosis can be devastating. For some older persons with osteoporosis, simple daily activities--bending over to tie a shoe or picking up a bag of groceries--can cause brittle bones to fracture.

Osteoporosis occurs when bone loss, a normal part of aging, becomes too rapid. Eventually, so much bone tissue is lost that the bones become weak.

Some of the early signs of osteoporosis include loss of height, back pain or tenderness, and a slight curvature of the upper back. As the spinal bones continue to weaken, they can collapse under the weight of the upper body, causing a marked curvature, often called a "dowager's hump." Certain people are at greater risk for osteoporosis than others. Women, are about four times as likely as men to develop the condition. Thin, small-framed people have a greater risk because they have less bone to lose than big-boned people.

Early menopause and removal of the ovaries are also linked to an increased risk of osteoporosis. This is because the hormone estrogen, which is produced by the ovaries until menopause, seems to protect against bone loss.

The most effective way to slow boneless for women at risk is through hormone replacement therapy. This long-term treatment helps replace the estrogen which the ovaries stop producing at menopause. If you have reached menopause or have had your ovaries removed, you may want to discuss the benefits and possible side effects of this treatment with your doctor.

Lack of physical activity, insufficient calcium intake, and cigarette smoking are also believed to play a role in the development of osteoporosis. By making changes in your lifestyle to eliminate these risk factors, you can help reduce your chances of developing this condition later in life.

To keep bones healthy, you should make sure to get enough calcium (about 1,000 milligrams per day before menopause and about 1,500 mgs after menopause). Avoid cigarettes, caffeine and alcohol. And do regular weight-bearing exercise, such as walking and jogging, to slow bone loss.

The smartest way to help ensure and active life well into older age is to make changes now to help keep your bones strong and healthy.

Single, free copies of "Preventing Osteoporosis" (AP048) are available by sending a stamped, self-addressed, business-size envelope along with the name of the booklet to: The American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, Resource Center, 409 12th Street, SW, Washington, DC 20024.

Hints from Heloise

Q. Can you give me some pointers on writing a letter of complaint? I'm never sure what to say. — Angel Ramirez, El Paso, Texas

- Be as businesslike as possible and include all pertinent information.
- Include your name, address and work and home telephone numbers.
- Mention the date and place of purchase.
- Don't forget the serial or model number.
- Include the name of the person who did the work if it is a service complaint.
- Tell them what you want.

It's always best to use a typewriter; if you must hand-write it, be sure the writing is legible.

Make copies of all documentation to send with the letter. Don't forget to keep copies of the letters of complaint and allow a reasonable amount of time for a response.

This should bring you greater success. — Heloise

Hereford girls make All-District teams

Two members of the Hereford High School girls' basketball team were recognized for excellence this week by being placed on the District 1-AAAA All-District teams.

Jennifer Bullard, a junior, made the second team, and Donna Grotegut, a senior, gained honorable mention.

A Randall team that went through district play undefeated dominated the teams with four players honored, including three on the first team. Juniors Amanda Sandlin and Corey Norman and sophomore Sandy Parker were the Lady Raiders on the first team.

Juniors Susan McGregor of Borger and Nikki Ryan of Pampa rounded out the first team.

Melinda White, a junior from Borger, was named the Most Valuable Player in the district. Amber Seaton, a junior from Pampa, was the Newcomer of the Year, and the Coach of the Year was Borger's Jill Schneider.

Along with Bullard, the second team consisted of seniors Christa West of Pampa and Jakayla Janow of Dumas, and juniors Tandy Dunivan of Caprock and Kristen Becker of Pampa.

Joining Grotegut on the Honorable Mention list were Angela Littlejohn, a junior from Randall; Angela Miller, a junior from Dumas; and sophomores Lisa Hodges of Caprock and Erica Scott of Borger.

Tisch purchases football's Giants

NEW YORK (AP) - The feuding of the Maras will be just another part of the New York Giants' storied past now that Robert Tisch has purchased 50 percent of the Super Bowl champions.

That aside, the former postmaster general who heads the multibillion-dollar Loews Corp. says Giant fans should relax. His presence will barely be noticeable.

On Wednesday, the brother of CBS president Laurence Tisch bought the stock owned by Helen Mara Nugent, her son Tim and daughter Maura Mara Concannon. The remaining stock continues to be held by Wellington Mara, Tim's uncle, who does not speak to his nephew.

"There won't be any changes," Tisch said of his conditional purchase, to be voted on by NFL owners next month in Hawaii.

"Well, Mara will be running the operation," Tisch said. "I'll be involved, but not in the day-to-day operations."

What is perhaps of more interest to Giant fans is that general manager

George Young - who rescued them from years of failure fueled by the Mara feud - will remain as chief of football operations.

"George Young is an outstanding person in football, and the job that he has done is absolutely fantastic," Tisch said.

Wellington Mara will be president, co-chief executive officer and chief operating officer. Wellington had been owner-president.

Tisch's title will be chairman and co-chief executive officer. His purchase must be approved by 21 of 28 owners, but he isn't worried.

"I appeared before the finance committee today, and there doesn't appear to be any problem with the vote," he said.

Tisch will not say what he paid for his share of a team generally considered to be the third most valuable sports commodity behind baseball's New York Yankees and Los Angeles Dodgers.

Palmeiro happy with contract

By BILLY WATKINS
The (Jackson, Miss.)
Clarion-Ledger

Wayne Krivsky, assistant general manager of the Texas Rangers, telephoned Rafael Palmeiro a few days ago and asked him - if he wasn't too busy - to please drop by the office and sign his 1991 contract.

"I hung up the phone, ran to my car, drove as fast as I could and signed the contract before they had a chance to change their minds," Palmeiro said from his home in Arlington, Texas.

The contract was reportedly worth $1.4 million, or more than three times his 1990 salary.

That's wrong. It's actually worth $1.475 million. The difference is a nick year's paycheck for most of us, but small-time change these days when it comes to pro sports salaries.

Along with money comes attention. Palmeiro, who was playing baseball at Mississippi State just six years ago, recently received a letter from Sen. Robert Dole, asking for a contribution to the Republican Party.

"I've got a stack of letters over the past two months from people who want me to contribute to something or another," he said. "If I gave to everybody who has asked me for money, I'd have to get a loan to pay the bills."

"Now, if I get a letter and it starts out asking me about making a contribution, I automatically throw it away. I mean, where were those people when I needed a donation?"

Two things to understand:
1) Palmeiro, 26, is no Scrooge. He merely is choosing his donations carefully.

"I know I'm going to give to a children's cancer organization," Palmeiro said. "That's one thing I want to do, that I need to do. It's a decision (wife) Lynne and I made together. She lost her dad and brother to cancer."

2) There were times when Palmeiro could've used a donation. Life has not always been easy.

His parents moved their family from Cuba to Miami when Rafael was only seven. They left behind everything they owned.

"When I got to State (in the fall of 1982), I was broke," he said. "All I had was a little spending money."

In 1985, as a rookie in Class A ball, Palmeiro made $700 a month. A year later, in Double A, he earned $1,100. "It was a struggle to make ends meet," he said.

The struggling days are over.

"I'm not a big spender," he said. "And Lynne doesn't go out and blow a lot of money. We should be able to live off this one contract for the rest of our lives."

He has hired a prestigious money-management firm, which deals only with millionaires, to handle his investments.

Handling obnoxious fans may be a bigger challenge.

"I know it's coming ... I know some fans are gonna come up to me and say, 'Why are you getting paid all that money for playing baseball?'" he said. "If they do, that's fine. But it'll show they don't really understand how things are."

"We're entertainers. That's all we are. People pay $4 to go to a movie. They pay $20 to go to a concert. And they pay $10 to see us play baseball. What's the difference?"

"If Oprah Winfrey can make $40 million a year, then why can't a baseball player make $1 million? I think it's harder to play major league baseball than to do whatever it is she does."

"The odds of making the major leagues are unbelievable. There are only 600 or so of us. It's an elite group. We deserve the same money other entertainers get."

Palmeiro, who hit .319 to finish third behind George Brett (.329) and Rickey Henderson (.325) for the 1990 American League batting title, said the new contract won't change his approach to the game.

"If anything, it'll motivate me to work harder," he said. "But I don't really think I can go at it much harder than I have been."

The only difference will be on the 1st and 15th, when the checks arrive.

"I promise, I don't even open the envelope," he said. "I give the checks to Lynne and she mails them to our accountant."

And this year?
"Well," he said, "I might open the first one, just to see how much it is."

Survey shows that women, men like different sports

An AP Sports Extra
By STEVE WILSTEIN
AP Sports Writer

American men and women may work side by side in the office, fight together on the battlefield and share dishwashing duty at home. But when it comes to watching sports, they prefer to go their own ways.

In the man's world, football, baseball, basketball and boxing dominate. Women delight in ice skating and gymnastics.

So different are men's and women's tastes, in fact, that they disagree strongly about every Top 20 sport except the Olympics, swimming, skiing and thoroughbred racing.

Those are some of the findings of the most detailed survey ever of America's attitudes about sports, breaking down preferences by sex, age, income, race, job, household status, education and region to serve companies in the $20 billion sports marketing industry.

"There's so much money at stake in sports marketing and advertising, all deals are being carefully scrutinized. We needed all the information we could get," said Nye Lavalley, chairman of the Sports Marketing Group in Dallas, who released results of the survey Wednesday to The Associated Press after keeping them secret for proprietary reasons since last year.

Americans share a passion for sports, loving some and hating others with equal intensity.

They love football, the Olympics, baseball, basketball and figure skating, making those the most popular spectator sports overall in the country.

They hate to watch wrestling, golf, boxing, Roller Derby and hockey - or at least enough people do to put those sports atop the most unpopular list.

But many of those feelings are related to gender. For example, three of five men say they love the NFL - the most popular sport overall - compared to only one of five women.

Nearly one-third of all men are big fans of boxing, which is a favorite of only 7 percent of women. That polarity largely accounts for boxing's unique standing high on the lists of the most popular and unpopular sports.

Ice skating ranks high overall largely because of women, who favor it by a 3-1 margin over men.

Auto racing may pack huge crowds at the tracks, but Indy-CART ranks only No. 26 in popularity, just behind NASCAR. And floating somewhere between mild interest and general indifference are tennis and World Cup soccer.

In interviews at homes in 175 key census areas nationwide, 2,060 people were asked to give their opinions of 71 participant sports and 114 spectator sports they might attend, follow on television or radio or read about in newspapers or magazines.

The choices included "love the sport," "one of my favorites," "dislike," and "hate the sport."

The survey, which had a margin of error of plus or minus 1.5 percent, differed from attendance studies that didn't account for repeat spectators. Television ratings showed viewer strength but didn't indicate how people felt about sports that weren't televised in their area.

"The most televised sports aren't necessarily the most popular sports, and the United States is not made up entirely of major markets like New York, Los Angeles, Chicago and Dallas," said Lavalley. "High school and collegiate athletics, especially football and basketball, are very, very popular. There are a lot of small cities out there - places like Des Moines, Iowa, and Odessa, Texas - where people identify with their local teams."

PGA golf, shown nearly every week on national television because it appeals to wealthier, older viewers important to the sport's sponsors, ranked No. 43 in overall popularity - behind tractor pulls and body building. The LPGA was even farther behind at No. 69.

Football is so hot that even high school games outrank the booming NBA in popularity.

The NFL topped all sports with 39 percent of Americans saying they loved it or considered it one of their favorites. College football ran second, followed by the Winter Olympics, Summer Olympics and major league baseball, high school football, the NBA and figure skating.

Some major sports flopped in the survey. The NHL ranked No. 40, men's pro tennis No. 68, women's pro tennis No. 71 and World Cup soccer No. 75.

Pro wrestling topped the unpopularity list, drawing "dislike" or "hate" responses from two out of five people. Not far behind were the LPGA, PGA Seniors, pro boxing, intercollegiate wrestling, PGA and amateur boxing.

Golf fared better as a participant sport, though at No. 21 it lagged far behind the leaders - home exercise, swimming, camping, beach games, bowling, walking, billiards or pool, fishing, bicycling and baseball.

KEEP TRYING
NEW YORK (AP) - One of the timeless axioms of the ages advises you that if at first you don't succeed, try, try again.

The great race horse Alysheba, the 1987 Kentucky Derby winner, took heed of that advice.

Alysheba ran in the 1986 Breeder's Cup Juvenile race and finished third. In 1987 he ran in the Cup Classic and was second.

Back for another try in 1988, Alysheba splashed through the mud of the Churchill Downs stretch to finish first in the Classic.

Hogs overcome Ponies

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

Do the Arkansas Razorbacks still have a Nevada-Las Vegas hangover? The No. 3 ranked Razorbacks haven't been the same since they lost to Nevada-Las Vegas on Feb. 10, but they showed Southern Methodist they can still turn it on when they get scared.

SMU raced to a 45-37 halftime lead Wednesday night but Todd Day and Oliver Miller led a second-half charge that overwhelmed the Mustangs 79-70 in a Southwest Conference game.

In other SWC games Wednesday night, Texas A&M edged Baylor, 66-61 in overtime and Houston defeated Texas Tech, 74-59.

"That Vegas game was built up for a month and after it our fans were flat, the players were flat and it seemed like the season was over," said Arkansas coach Nolan Richardson. "We'd already beaten everybody in the conference. We're human, too. All we thought we had to do was put on our clothes and win. SMU had another idea."

After Arkansas lost 112-105 to the No. 1 ranked Runnin' Rebels, they trailed at halftime before defeating Texas Tech 87-69 and downed Texas Christian 97-61.

"I wouldn't say we are struggling but it's been a long season and we might be feeling it a little bit," said Day, who scored 20 points. "It will get better once we move into tournament time."

Arkansas, 26-2, and 13-0 in the SWC, had to dial "The Big O" for help against SMU, 11-14 and 6-8. Center Oliver Miller answered the call with 17 points in the second half. He finished with 21 points on 8 of 11 shots from the field and 5 of 8 free throws.

Miller also contributed eight rebounds, two assists and two blocked shots. "I was very upset with the way we played in the first half," Richardson said. "Our big guys didn't rebound well at all. Nobody even tried to get a board. And 'The Big O' didn't get the ball enough."

SMU outrebounded the Hogs 25-16 by intermission.

Richardson said SMU "did a great job. I was just glad we were able to pull off the victory."

Day only hit 5 of 14 shots from the field but was 8 for 8 from the free throw line.

"The difference in the second half was we were able to get the ball to Oliver and he wasn't double teamed," Day said. "We never panicked. We might have at this time last year."

Tim Wilson scored 21 points and Todd Day added 20 for the losers.

SMU coach John Shumate said the Mustangs gave it their best shot. "Arkansas can start five great ones and have five great ones coming off the bench," Shumate said. "We're making strides but we don't have the depth you need to play at Arkansas' level."

Shumate added "I don't believe in moral victories. A win is a win and loss is a loss."

Brooks Thompson scored 24 points and had six steals to lead Texas A&M to a 66-61 overtime victory over the Baylor Bears.

The win gives the Aggies a 7-17 record, with 2-11 in conference, while dropping the Bears to 11-12 and 4-10. The Bears are now 0-7 at home in conference play.

Neither team led by more than five points in the game.

Thompson's performance overshadowed a good effort by Baylor's Kelvin Chalmers. He led the Bears with 16 points, pulled down eight rebounds and blocked three shots. Willie Sublett also had 13 points and pulled down seven rebounds for the Bears.

Byron Smith scored 22 points to lead Houston to a 74-59 victory over Texas Tech.

Houston, fresh from an 82-73 upset of then-ranked No. 24 Texas on Saturday, improved to 16-8 overall and 8-5 in SWC play. Texas Tech, which shot a only 37 percent from the field, fell to 8-19 and 4-10.

Texas Tech was able to neutralize the Cougars' 7-foot-1 Alvaro Teheran, who finished with only eight points. But Houston fell back on the strength of its outside shooting to pull away from the Raiders.

Darrell Mickens scored 14 and grabbed 12 rebounds for Houston. Derrick Daniels had 12 points and Derrick Smith added 11 for the Cougars.

Steve Miles led the Raiders with 20 points and nine rebounds. Barron Brown had 14 and Derex Butts added 13 for Tech.

Colorado upsets Kansas

By The Associated Press

The Colorado Buffaloes know how tough life is on the road in the Big Eight Conference.

It was only last Saturday that they broke a 56-game regular-season road losing streak, edging Iowa State 84-78.

So Kansas might have been upset 79-71 Wednesday night in Boulder, but they weren't surprised.

"They held their poise, scored and went back ahead and we could just never get back in the game," Kansas coach Roy Williams said after his eighth-ranked Jayhawks were beaten by a team that they had demolished 95-62 at home earlier in the season. Stevie Wise scored 32 points, including six 3-pointers, as the Buffaloes extended their winning streak to three and snapped the Jayhawks' victory string at 10.

No. 2 Ohio St. 73, Illinois 64

Ohio State, coming off an emotional victory over Indiana, got 14 points from Treg Lee and made seven free throws in the final minute to beat Illinois at Champaign.

No. 18 St. John's 77, No. 5 Syracuse 72

Malik Sealy scored 23 points to lead St. John's. The Redmen had to hold off a late 3-point barrage by the Orangemen.

No. 7 Duke 72, N. Carolina State 65

Christian Laettner scored 11 of the first 19 second-half points for Duke as the Blue Devils' defense shut down high-scoring North Carolina State.

Cincinnati 86, No. 11 Southern Mississippi 72

Herb Jones scored 27 points and Lou Banks had 23 as Cincinnati used superior inside quickness to beat Southern Mississippi by 14 points, the Golden Eagles' most lopsided loss of the season.

Vanderbilt 98, No. 12 Kentucky 87

Bruce Elder and Kevin Anglin combined for 15 points during an 18-2 Vanderbilt surge in the second half to propel the Commodores.

Missouri 97, No. 14 Nebraska 71

Doug Smith scored 22 points and became Missouri's leading career rebounder.

His five rebounds in the first half gave him 985, one more than Steve Stipanovich had in a four-year career.

No. 19 LSU 89, Mississippi 78

Shaquille O'Neal scored 38 points and keyed a decisive second-half spree as LSU won its fifth straight Southeastern Conference game.

The visiting Tigers got most of their points from inside, scoring 56 in the paint.

No. 21 Mississippi State 81, Florida 67

Greg Carter scored 21 points and Tony Watts 18 off the bench as Mississippi State rolled past Florida.

No. 22 Pittsburgh 78, No. 25 Georgetown 65

Sean Miller scored 18 of his 21 points in the second half as Pittsburgh gained sole possession of second place in the Big East. The Panthers trail league-leading Syracuse by a game.

Pistons' stifling defense makes up for injuries

By The Associated Press

While injuries continue to play havoc with Detroit's consistency on offense, the Pistons continue to win games with defense.

The defending NBA champions, 9-4 since Isiah Thomas was sidelined after wrist surgery, beat the Atlanta Hawks 97-89 on Wednesday night, the 17th time this season the Pistons have held the opposition under 90 points.

Not surprisingly, the Pistons are 17-0 in those games.

Coach Chuck Daly's problems with Thomas out have been compounded by John Salley's back problems. Against Atlanta, James Edwards and Dennis Rodman both got in early foul trouble.

"We're surviving. That's all you can say," Daly said. "A lot of guys are playing hard minutes. It may take its toll down the road. We'll just have to wait and see."

But Joe Dumars scored 25 points in 37 minutes, Bill Laimbeer had 19 points and 14 rebounds in 43 minutes and Vinnie Johnson had 14 points in 45 minutes for the Pistons.

"Billy played really hard minutes," Daly said. "He and Joe Dumars both played well. I'd like to find Billy some relief, but it's just hard to do right now."

The Hawks, who snapped an eight-game road losing streak Tuesday night when they beat the New York Knicks 110-102, were held to 39 percent shooting by Detroit, now 23-4 at home.

Detroit, trailing 37-35 at halftime, got six points each from Laimbeer and Dumars in a 19-4 third-quarter spurt that saw the Pistons go from a seven-point deficit to a 60-52 lead. Detroit led by as many as 12 points in the fourth quarter.

Dominique Wilkins led Atlanta with 19 points and John Battle had 16.

Suns 113, Clippers 93

Phoenix took control with a 26-6 second-half burst, turning a six-point deficit into a 14-point lead at Los Angeles.

Tom Chambers had 26 points and 11 rebounds and Dan Majerle scored 24 points for the Suns, while Ron Harper led the Clippers with 26 points.

Harper gave the Clippers their largest lead of the second half, 73-67, with 6:14 left in the third period. Phoenix outscored Los Angeles 18-4 in the rest of the quarter, which ended with the Suns ahead 85-77.

Cavaliers 118, Kings 104

Cleveland handed Sacramento its 21st straight road loss as Brad Daugherty scored 10 of his 24 points in the pivotal third quarter.

The Kings fell to an NBA-worst 1-24 on the road despite a career-high 41 points from Antoine Carr.

The Cavaliers led 54-47 at halftime, but Sacramento got within five on Rory Sparrow's layup with 7:20 left in the third quarter. Cleveland responded with a 14-2 run for a 79-62 advantage with 3:41 left in the period.

Pacers 122, Magic 120 OT

Detlef Schrempf's reverse layup with one second left in overtime enabled Indiana to win.

Reggie Miller scored 34 points and Chuck Person had 29 for the Pacers. Nick Anderson led the Magic with 25 points.

Person's 3-pointer tied the game

120-120 with 1:05 left in overtime. After an exchange of turnovers, Orlando turned the ball over on a shot-clock violation with 3.5 seconds left, setting up Schrempf's game-winner.

Warriors 108, Timberwolves 105

Tim Hardaway, who nearly let the shot-clock run out, hit a desperation 3-pointer with 2.9 seconds left.

The Warriors made only one of their first 11 3-point attempts, but Hardaway, who scored 14 of his 23 points in the fourth quarter, made two in the final 1:18.

Minnesota coach Bill Musselman put 6-foot-6 forward Richard Coffey in the game with 22 seconds left to guard the 6-0 Hardaway. Watching the game clock instead of the shot clock, Hardaway barely avoided a violation with his 25-footer that broke a 105-105 tie.

Mitch Richmond led the Warriors with 25 points.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband, I'll call him Jerry, loves to dance. He's a good dancer, I'll give him that, and I am just fair, but his behavior on the dance floor is just terrible. He has been humiliating me for 16 years.

The minute the music starts, Jerry drags me onto the floor. Never mind if I am in a conversation with the person next to me, he pulls me out of my chair and says, "C'mon, let's dance." Within two minutes his eyes are scanning the premises, looking for a good dancer. The minute he spots one he grabs her and pushes me into the arms of her partner. I keep hoping some guy will punch him out but it has never happened. Meag-while I end up with some victim who is two heads shorter than I am, is half smashed and has no interest in dancing with me.

I don't mind if Jerry wants to dance with another woman, but I wish he would ask her before the music starts and let me visit or watch. Am I a "lousy sport" as he claims? Please let me hear from you. -- Toledo

DEAR TOLEDO: Tell Jerry the next time he does it, you will sit down and leave the intruded-on male without a partner. Then do it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am writing to you in the hope of helping thousands of people who think they are going crazy, feel frightened and helpless, and don't know what is wrong. I was once one of them. The symptoms and severity vary, but the pain for all victims is horrible.

I am referring to Obsessive-Compulsive Disorder or O.C.D. Here are the symptoms: repeated hand washing because they don't feel clean; checking sometimes 10, 20 or 30 times to make sure something is closed, filled, disconnected or left the "correct" way; fearing that you might harm or kill someone when you are carrying a sharp object; feeling terrified that you have hit someone on the road or done something wrong and waiting to be apprehended; constantly worrying that you have cancer, AIDS or other devastating diseases.

The worst part of O.C.D. is that most people who have it function quite normally, hiding the obsessions and compulsions from friends, family and co-workers while suffering their own private hell. It's agony to know that the door really is locked and your hands are clean, but you can't stop checking and washing.

Obsessive-compulsive behavior can be caused by many factors, including environment, upbringing and a low level of serotonin in the brain. Treatment includes various drugs, behavior therapy and support groups to ease the suffering. Obsessive-compulsives are like alcoholics. They are born with the problem and can never get rid of it, but they can learn how to control it. Please, Ann, print my letter. Sometimes knowing there are others who share your problem reduces the feelings of helplessness and encourages you to get help. -- Long Island

DEAR LONG ISLAND: Thank you for a letter that is sure to make a great many O.C.D. sufferers feel less alone. There is medication available, however, I refrain from mentioning drugs by name. A competent physician who is up on the current medical literature will know about them.

For more information, you can contact the Obsessive Compulsive Foundation, a national support group, at P.O. Box 9573, New Haven, Conn. 06535.

What can you give the person who has everything? Ann Landers' new booklet, "Gems," is ideal for a nightstand or coffee table. "Gems" is a collection of Ann Landers' most requested poems and essays. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.85 (this includes postage and handling) to: Gems, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. (In Canada, send $5.87.)

Churches topic of recent LAE Study Club program

Louise Kinsey presented a program on Hereford churches when members of La Afflatus Estudio Club met Tuesday, Feb. 19, at K-Bob's Steak House with Marie Harris serving as hostess.

Following the chosen course of study by the club, "A Fresh Look At Our Community", Kinsey explained that there are currently 52 churches listed on the church page of The Hereford Brand. She said that the First Presbyterian Church was the first organized church in Deaf Smith County and that the congregation is now celebrating its centennial year.

She also spoke on the changes in the worship habits over the years and emphasized that new churches are being organized to suit individual religious beliefs. The speaker was very complimentary of local residents for their devotion shown at the numerous churches.

Emily Suggs conducted the business meeting and Aileen Montgomery led the club collect. Roll call was answered by members giving a topic of their choosing such as news stories, jokes, etc.

Refreshments were served by K-Bob's to Della Stagner, Lydia Hopson, Etoile Manning, Virginia Beasley, Mary Williamson, Pet Ott, Kinsey, Suggs, Montgomery and Harris.

The next meeting will be at 3 p.m. March 5 with Beasley serving as hostess. Stagner will give the program on youth activities.

Some legislators work for the middle class

At last: protection for the middle-class! After years of help for the very rich and the very poor, some people in Washington are finally taking action to help the middle-class by protecting our property values and the safety of our schools and neighborhoods, as well as by working to keep taxes lower.

One way they're doing that is by working to defeat legislation that would lead to more mortgage foreclosures nationwide. They're fighting the National Affordable Housing Act, which would let the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) guarantee mortgages for lower income people for more expensive homes--up to 95 percent of the cost of homes that exceed $200,000.

That would make an already bad situation--the FHA loses over $1 million a day in its mortgage insurance program--even worse, by encouraging lower income people to take on a much bigger burden than many of them can really afford.

That's the view of National People's Action, a grassroots coalition of community groups that feels the National Affordable Housing Act will lead to more foreclosures, more homes that will sell for below market value--lowering the prices of neighboring homes--as well as more boarded up and abandoned homes, which also lower property values and make neighborhoods undesirable.

As neighborhood property values decline, so do the quality and safety of neighborhood schools. Also, the more people who lose their homes because of the FHA program, the more taxes will have to be raised for social programs to support the homeless, experts agree.

You can help support what legislators are doing to protect the middle-class by writing them at the U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510 and the House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515. No street address is necessary.

Betty Crocker's Cooking Tips

Q. What kind of container do you recommend for marinating meats and poultry? S.F., Pullman, Wash.

A. Choose a glass, stainless steel or plastic container. Or use a heavy plastic bag. Pottery or metals other than stainless steel don't work because they react with the vinegar or lemon juice in the marinade.

Q. My cream pie recipe doesn't fill the pie crust I use. Can I successfully double the recipe? J.D., Porterville, Calif.

A. Yes, just double all ingredients and follow the same instructions. Fill pie shell as desired and pour remaining cream into dessert dishes for a snack

A worker honeybee collects enough nectar in his lifetime to make about 1/10 of a pound of honey.

CLASSIFIED ADS
 Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	.15	3.00
2 days per word	.26	5.20
3 days per word	.37	7.40
4 days per word	.48	9.60
5 days per word	.59	11.80

If you run ads in five consecutive issues with NO changes, you get the same ad in the Reach 4 More free. The regular charge for that ad would be $4.00.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY
 Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines—those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing, all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch; $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALS
 Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS
 Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

Social Security

Q. I just received in the mail my Personal Earnings and Benefit Estimate Statement. The total earnings my employer reported for one of those years is incorrect, according to the information I have in my records. How do I get it corrected?

A. Contact Social Security and report the discrepancy. They will investigate the matter. Since you claim that your employer reported an incorrect earnings amount for you, you should submit proof of the earnings you received. Some proofs you can use are: your W-2 for that year, pay envelopes or pay slips containing the earnings amounts, a signed statement from your employer giving the corrected amount, or personal records of your wages.

Q. What are "Medicare carriers," and what do they do?

A. Medicare carriers are private insurance organizations that assist the Federal government in processing Medicare claims and payments. Carriers handle the medical insurance part of Medicare, which covers doctors services, outpatient hospital care, diagnostic tests, durable medical equipment, ambulance services, and many other health services and supplies not covered by Medicare hospital insurance. Hospital insurance claims are handled by other entities called "intermediaries."

It takes more than blind luck to pin down the right home.

Sure, you could go on stumbling through the housing market. Running into dead ends and getting cornered with too little information.

Or you could nail down that new home the easy way. By consulting an experienced real estate agent.

An agent can point out options you may have missed. Get you inside interesting homes that you may never have seen otherwise. Even do a lot of the groundwork, so you don't have to.

Likewise researching financing packages. Checking through the multiple-listing service for homes that fit your needs -- and your pocketbook. Negotiating with the seller. And arranging for inspections. He or she will even be there at closing.

So instead of forging ahead without knowing what's out there, get some help from an expert. A real estate agent.

Inside The Hereford Brand, you'll find both qualified agents and valuable information about home buying. Everyday, the real estate classifieds list many properties and agents. And The Brand's Sunday housing section examine the latest market trends and housing opportunities.

With the right guide, hitting your mark can be child's play.
