Pennsylvanian Bikers Have Dog Horror Stories

By SANDY PANKEY
Staff Writer
Ghost stories are a great source of entertainment for children on windy, stormy nights but "dog horror" stories are the ones told by cross-country bikers. Fred and Tanya Richter of Annville, Pa., who began their bike tour June 16 from Pennsylvania and hope to reach their destination of Oceanside Calif., by Aug. 20, say that the major problem they have encountered on the journey is dogs. "Kentucky dogs are the worst. They seem to weigh a ton and the stories get wilder the more you come in contact with them," laughs Richter. The Richters were seen at the Post Office here Wednesday afternoon donning headgear and mounting their touring bikes which were completely equipped for a long adventure.

Richter, 39, serves as principal at Lebanon School District in Pennsylvania and his wife is a substitute art teacher there. The couple have two children; a 14-year-old daughter and 10 year-old son.

Because of the unpredictable West Texas winds that the couple is not accustomed to, they start riding as early as 4:30 a.m. and stop around noon to spend the night. "Once we hit this part of the country, the wind was really a hindrance. Riding in the early morning hours in this part of the county is just much more practical. Besides, if we stop around noon, it gives us time to enjoy the sights," explains Richter. "It's also a little discouraging for long distances in these wide-open spaces. The ride was pretty easy from Amarillo to Canyon because you can see business establishments along the way which helps psyche you up. The next town seems much closer," says Richter. "But the ride from Dawn to Hereford seemed to take forever, miles and miles of open fields." The Richters average approximately 60 miles a day depending on the terrain and wind conditions. On the way into Hereford, the couple stopped at the Hereford Feed Yard, where they were quite impressed by the operations. "Perhaps it's an ordinary sight for people in this part of the country, but we were really excited," continued Richter. "We have not met any insurmountable obstacles on our trip thus far," says Ms. Richter. "I hurt my knee and we had to delay our trip for a couple of days, and we missed running into a tornado in western Missouri by 72 hours but with all things con-

Sarpalius Named To Delegation

AMARILLO -- State Senator Bill Sarpalius has agreed to be the Panhandle spokesman for a delegation advocating a better highway system in that part of the state.

The Amarillo Chamber of Commerce Highway Committee is sponsoring an area wide meeting tonight to include legislators, county judges, mayors, bankers and C of C directors. The meeting, to be held at 6:30 p.m. at the Big Texas Steak Ranch in Amarillo, will include forming a coalition of the leaders to present the appeal to the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission this fall.

Kids, Inc. Selling Spuds

In order to help raise funds to defray the costs of sending the various All-Star teams to tournaments, Deaf Smith County Kids, Inc. is taking advantage of the generosity of a local vegetable packer. E.C. Reinaur had donated several hundred pounds of No. 1 potatoes in 20-lb. sacks for Kids, Inc. to sell. The spuds will be on sale for $6 a sack at the baseball complex beginning at 6:30

Bank Officials Say

Little Hope Held for State's Unemployed

By LAURA RICHARDSON
Associated Press Writer
DALLAS (AP) — Texas' recovery from the current recession will trail the rest of the nation, and unemployed people will have to "bite the bullet," officials of the Federal Reserve Bank here say. Interest rates and unemployment will stay high in Texas, says Dallas bank

President Robert H. Boykin, because the Federal Reserve plans to let the nation's money supply grow at the same slow 2 1/4 percent to 5 1/2 percent rate in 1983 as in 1982. National unemployment is estimated at 9.8 percent, and Texas' June figures were 7.7 percent. Texas unemployment has "climbed appreciably, mainly in manufacturing," Boykin said Wednesday. And he said the Fed does not expect to see a significant drop in the near future. "Our basic goal is to reduce inflation," Boykin said, adding that the fairness of a trade of lower inflation for higher unemployment "depends on your perspective, where you are and where you fit into the economy."

"Looking at the long term ... we are setting a base — in spite of all the difficulties, and we're not insensitive — for real economic growth," he said. "We are all going to have to bite the bullet. Some are going to have to more than others as we make the necessary adjustments." Gov. Bill Clements told an Austin news conference Wednesday that he is "sympathetic" to the plight of the unemployed. "I started out as a very poor boy in the middle of the Depression and I understand what it is to be without a job and have to work under those kind of circumstances and be looking for work," said Clements, a millionaire oilman.

"In the Dallas-Fort Worth general community our electronics industries are suffering and it wasn't helped any by the Braniff situation. I'm very sympathetic to this kind of thing," said Clements. "While we do have some soft spots, overall our Texas economy is very strong," Clements said. "As a matter of fact there's no question whatsoever about it — we in Texas have the strongest economy of any state in the nation today. We are a bright spot."

Bank officials also said Texas' economy is relatively healthy, although they said the state now is more vulnerable to national economic woes than in the past because of deregulation of oil, and great economic diversification. "When the energy industry was regulated, it was divorced from the cyclic problems. We could depend on a stable oil and gas sector, so that when the rest of the country had a recession you could hardly notice it here," said Joe Burns, senior vice president and economist at the bank. "Our buffer is diminished now. "We have become more sophisticated, and that's certainly better on an ongoing basis. But in the short term, we are more sensitive to business cycles," he said. "That's the cost of becoming more sophisticated. Nothing is an unqualified blessing." Texas will not lead the country in a future recovery, the bank officials said. Boykin said Texas' recovery will begin three to six months behind a national upturn. "We came into the downturn later so it's not unreasonable to expect that we would come out of it later," he said. "Our advantages will not be as great in the future as we become more integrated into

House Backs Reagan MX, C-5 Production

WASHINGTON (AP) — Disregarding what their Senate counterparts did more than two months ago, members of the House are standing by President Reagan on two major undertakings in his defense program. In a session that stretched from late morning to mid-evening Wednesday, the House ratified the president's plan to begin production of the MX strategic missile and a new generation of Lockheed C-5 cargo planes.

The developments came as the House worked slowly through a $177.1 billion defense authorization bill for the fiscal year starting Oct. 1. Among the items likely to be considered today was an effort to remove $54 million for production of a new type of nerve gas weapon. Sponsors voiced optimism that they could win that fight.

Challengers to Reagan's MX and cargo plane programs had less success. By 212-209, the House voted to earmark $1.14 billion for production of the first nine MX missiles, as Reagan wanted, while putting a temporary hold on $260 million of those funds until the administration makes a decision in December on how to base the weapon. Last fall, the administration rejected former President Carter's "shell game" plan to shuttle 200 missiles among 4,600 shelters in western states. It now appears to be leaning toward a "dense pack" base of 100 missiles in super-hardened silos placed only about 1,800 feet apart. Reps. Nicholas Mavroules, D-Mass., and Beverly Byron, D-Md., offered an amendment to delete all of the production money, as the Senate had done in May. They argued that it made no sense to proceed while the basing question remains open. But the House instead voted on, and passed, the substitute offered by Rep. Samuel Stratton, D-N.Y. Stratton and others said a slowdown of the MX program would undermine U.S.

negotiators at the Strategic Arms Reduction Talks with the Soviet Union. Later, Reagan stressed the same theme in a statement at which he expressed gratification with the House vote. The president presumably also was pleased with the House's 289-127 rejection of an amendment that would have scrapped his plan to begin production of 50 long-range C-5B cargo planes and substitute commercial Boeing 747 jumbo jets. The vote also marked a victory for a lobbying campaign by Lockheed and the Pentagon that intensified after Boeing supporters staged a successful floor fight in the Senate on behalf of the 747. Description of Bomb Suspect Received

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard says it has a full description of one of the Irish Republican Army guerrillas wanted for the park bombings that killed nine British soldiers. The Yard planned a reconstruction today in an attempt to find more witnesses. A police spokesman said the man was seen Tuesday morning parking a dark blue car in Hyde Park 30 minutes before it blew up as troops of the queen's Household Cavalry rode by. The man was not described. The vehicle carried a bomb packed with nails that exploded by remote control, killing three of the cavalymen. The troop was making its daily ride from its Knightsbridge barracks to the Horse Guards Parade for the Changing of the Guard. Scotland Yard said the reconstruction of events before the Hyde Park blast would include a dark blue Morris Marina like the death car. The second bombing two hours later killed six army musicians as the band of the Royal Green Jackets Regiment gave an open-air concert at Regent's Park. Police said it was a time bomb concealed under the bandstand's floorboards. Twenty-seven soldiers, two policemen and 21 civilians were wounded in the blasts, and seven of the cavalry horses were killed or had to be destroyed. The IRA, fighting to unite the British province of Northern Ireland with the Irish Republic, said it was responsible. Scotland Yard, warning there may be further IRA attacks, said the witness who saw the man parking the car is under police guard. "We want to hear, in the strictest confidence, from people who were either walking in either park, jogging or even from courting couples who may have been there the previous evening or on the morning of the explosions," said Cmdr. William Huckleby, head of Scotland

Plans Being Made For Dallas GOP Convention

DALLAS (AP) — Guy Calluud was surprised when someone reserved a table for four at his restaurant for six weeks. And he was even more surprised when the caller said the reservation at the chic Dallas restaurant was being made two years in advance. But city officials and Republican National Committee organizers already are scooping up restaurant tables, hotel rooms and chauffeured limousines in preparation for the 1984 Republican National Convention. Calluud and other Dallas merchants are savoring the thoughts of big-spending Republicans invading Dallas even though it is still two years until the opening gavel. Next week, Calluud said, he expects to close a deal on a Republican dinner party for 100. He would not identify his prized foursome because "they asked me not to say their name." RNC planners estimate that this will be a Texas-sized convention, with a small city of more than 25,000 people descending on "Big D." Dallas convention planner Charles Bass said he went to work as soon as President Ronald Reagan expressed an interest in Dallas in a letter to Gov. Bill Clements last January. Bass, who is vice president of a Chamber of Commerce group called the Convention and Visitors' Bureau, reserved every hotel room he could find in Dallas County, and some more in neighboring Tarrant County. In all, Bass made reservations for 28,000 rooms at 123 hotels. Several city fathers are trying to create a new slogan for the city during the convention.

Simpson Appointed To Salon Network

State Representative Bob Simpson has been appointed by House Speaker Bill Clayton to serve on the newly-created "State Legislators Network" of the Southern Legislative Conference of the Council of State Governments. The "Network" is being initiated to improve communication with the southern Congressional delegation on issues which directly affect the sun belt area. Representative Simpson will be serving as a contact point when relevant issues affecting southern states surface. "I am extremely pleased to have the opportunity to represent the people of the Panhandle on this panel," Simpson said. "I hope we can assure that the views and needs of our very productive people will be effectively voiced when legislation affecting the states is debated in Washington." The Southern Legislative Conference is a part of the nationwide Council of State Governments, and is composed of 50 southern states and Puerto Rico. Its purpose is to improve legislative effectiveness on all issues affecting the southern United States.

Soviet Ends Fast In 51st Day

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet hunger striker Sergei Petrov said he ended his protest fast for an exit visa on the 51st day today, deciding he did not want to put his American wife, relatives and friends through further pain.

"I decided to stop. No one forced me. I took broth this morning," the 29-year-old free-lance photographer told The Associated Press by telephone from his Moscow apartment.

Petrov's wife, the former Virginia Hurt Johnson of Roanoke, Va., departed Moscow on Wednesday after a four-day stay on a 10-day visitor's visa. The 24-year-old woman said she had failed to convince him to end the protest.

Petrov earlier vowed to fast to the death unless he was allowed to join his wife in the United States. As of Wednesday he had lost 51.7 pounds and weighed 123 pounds. He described himself as too weak to leave his apartment.

Soviet authorities say he was assigned to a scientific facility and therefore cannot emigrate because he might reveal state secrets to a foreign power. Petrov has said he was never exposed to classified information.

The couple met while Mrs. Petrov was a Russian student in Moscow. They married in February 1981 and have a 25-month-old daughter.

Supreme Court Turns Down Request From Candidates

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Three Socialist Workers Party members who want to be independent candidates for Congress have lost their court fight for places on the November ballot in Texas.

The Texas Supreme Court on Wednesday rejected the would-be candidates' request to force Secretary of State David Dean to include them on the general election ballot.

Lee Oleson, Shirley Pena and Gary Trabue are members of the Socialist Workers Party, but sought independent status on the ballot because it is easier than trying to qualify the party.

Oleson, a 37-year-old machinist, wants to run in the 5th congressional district in Dallas. Ms. Pena, a 25-year-old garment worker, wants to challenge U.S. Rep. Henry Gonzalez, D-San Antonio.

Texas 2nd Largest Savings And Loan Group Up For Sale

DALLAS (AP) — Owners of First Texas Savings and Loan Association, the state's second largest thrift institution, say they plan to sell the $2.1 billion firm.

Beneficial Corp. officials said Wednesday they are negotiating with several parties about selling First Texas, but declined to elaborate on the offers they have received.

Beneficial wants to sell First Texas because it "just doesn't fit our picture," said company spokesman Clifford W. Snyder.

Last year, First Texas, which has 87 offices in 39 Texas cities, recorded $21.3 million net loss that had "some bearing" on Beneficial's decision to sell the Dallas-based company, Snyder said.

Beneficial predicts that First Texas will finish with a "very substantial" net loss this year.

Selectively We Forgive

Five years ago the expression "health food" was an anathema to medical scientists.

Vitamin supplements were generally construed to be at best a waste and at worst a racket.

Nutritional science was never taught in traditional medical schools.

The change began with Dr. Linus Pauling's enthusiasm for vitamin C.

One by one, physicians of incontrovertible stature began to relate inadequate nutrition to both physical and emotional ills and, conversely, to consider nutrition a factor in the prevention of disease.

The health food faddists — so recently considered "quacks" — on June 16, 1982, received official ordination as medical scientists.

The respected National Academy of Sciences recommended control diet as a possible preventive for cancer.

The Academy reported that "diet appears to play a role in most common cancers" and said that "Americans may reduce their risks by eating less fats and less salt-cured foods and more vegetables and grains."

Such visionaries as Ellen White, at long last, have been vindicated.

A scientific committee of the Academy's National Research Council hears guestimates that diet could be responsible for up to 40 percent of cancers in men and 60 percent of cancers in women.

With every emerging discipline there is a tendency to unbridled enthusiasm.

The yet-fledgling practice of medicine has benefited from chemistry, psychiatry, surgery, electricity and physio-therapy.

Each, in turn, was imagined by some to be a panacea. None was.

So we are yet in the learning stage of nutritional science. There are and will be diverse views of what's good for you and what's not.

But the present best judgment of this august Academy is:

--Drink alcohol only in moderation. Particularly combined with cigarette smoking it increases the risk of stomach and lung cancer.
--Eat less food high in any kind of fats, saturated or unsaturated.

--Eat more fruits, vegetables and whole-grain cereals.
--Eat very little salt-pickled, salt-cured or smoked foods.

The academy committee also notes that vitamins A and C really do appear to reduce your susceptibility to cancer.

These guidelines will be reviewed every five years.

Credit Unions Suffer Heavy Loss

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seventeen credit unions invested so heavily in Oklahoma's failed Penn Square Bank that their insured deposits amounted to more than their official net worth, according to data federal regulators provided Congress.

In one case, a credit union with a net worth of about $750,000 had roughly $4.5 million in deposits in the bank, the National Credit Union Administration has told the House subcommittee on commerce, consumer and monetary affairs. The credit union, which was not specifically identified by committee officials, had assets of approximately $85 million at the end of last year.

The limit on insured deposits is $100,000.

Another credit union had some $9.2 million in uninsured deposits against a net worth of roughly $1.5 million, the data indicated. Its assets were $170 million. The net worth and asset figures were from the end of last year.

The uninsured deposits will become a claim against the receivership of the failed bank and ascertain how much of the uninsured deposits the credit unions will get back. But regulators believe the institutions are strong enough to handle any losses and they won't have to dip into the credit union insurance fund.

However, the chairman of the House panel that oversees regulation of credit unions says efforts are needed to make certain the institutions diversify to protect their investments.

In all, 11 credit unions had uninsured deposits in the bank in excess of 15 percent of their net worth, and the deposits of four were greater than 250 percent of their net worth. Two of those were running at 600 percent and 612 percent of their net worth, the data provided by the regulators indicated.

Federal regulators have said 132 federally insured credit unions from around the country had a total of $104.1 million in deposits in the Oklahoma City bank over the insurance cap of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

The bank was closed July 5 by the comptroller of the currency and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. was appointed as receiver.

Meanwhile, the cost of bad loan that three major banks bought from the failed Penn Square bank could total $390 million, bank officials say.

Net worth is generally defined as an institution's assets minus its liabilities. But the term is not commonly used by credit unions, which are financial cooperatives owned by their members.

For the information supplied to the subcommittee, the credit union administration used, for comparison, an institution's reserves — money legally required to be set aside from earnings — and undivided earnings — money left over after reserves are met and operating expenses and dividends paid.

The credit union agency has not made public the names of the credit unions affected by the Penn Square collapse or the amount each had in uninsured deposits.

Unindicted Co-Conspirator Pleads Guilty, To Testify

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — An air cargo manager has agreed to testify against former CIA agent Edwin Wilson and two others accused of illegally exporting 20 tons of high explosives to Libya, prosecutors say.

Edison Frazier was named as an unindicted co-conspirator by the grand jury that indicted Wilson, California attorney Edward Bloom and Donald Thresher of Houston, but he was charged in a federal criminal information.

In a plea bargain agreement, Frazier, 49, agreed to testify as a government witness and pleaded guilty to conspiring to present false shipping export documents, to export explosives without a State Department license and to transporting forbidden explosives by air cargo.

U.S. District Judge Hugh Gibson on Wednesday sentenced Frazier, an air cargo manager for the Canadian freight forwarding firm Around World Shipping and Chartering Co., to five years probation.

Wilson, 54, was arrested in New York last month on an April 1980 warrant accusing him of illegally exporting explosives, conspiring to kill a Libyan dissident and establishing a training camp for Libyan terrorists. He is being held at an undisclosed location on $20 million bond.

A bench warrant has been issued for Bloom, 73, of Pomona, Calif., who was accused of buying the explosives. Bond was set at $10,000.

Thresher, a Houston freight handling company owner, surrendered to authorities Wednesday in Houston. U.S. Magistrate Ray McQuary reduced Thresher's bond from $10,000 to $2,000 and scheduled a July 28 arraignment.

Thresher posted bond and was freed Wednesday afternoon.

Wilson, Thresher and Bloom were indicted Monday for allegedly buying 42,700 pounds of the plastic explosive C-4 in 1977, and then exporting the explosive in unmarked barrels they told customs officials contained drilling mud.

Houston and Oklahoma City. "We expected calls early but we never expected calls this early," she said.

Executives of the three major television networks said they have already gone to work scouting the city and reserving vantage points for microwave dishes and other communications equipment.

ABC News production vice president Robert Siegenthaler said ABC has already evaluated hotels and begun a search for apartments to rent for the summer.

"We had a guy take one foray through Dallas for a general overview of the market and there's going to be another trip to select apartments," Siegenthaler said. ABC rented about 60 apartments for crews at the 1980 GOP convention in Detroit.

Joe Angotti, NBC's executive producer for special broadcasts, said his network is searching for a place to locate its morning program "Today."

Among other things, CBS is looking for 300 to 400 parking spaces, said Travis Lynn, who is coordinating convention planning in the networks' Dallas bureau.

"Since Dallas has been chosen so soon, we're well ahead of the game," said ABC's Siegenthaler. "Things go on at a more leisurely pace."

Angotti said one sore spot for the networks is a move by the city to charge news organizations for the space they use in the massive convention center.

Bass said the surcharge is needed to cover utilities costs from June 11, when some news groups will set up offices one floor below the convention hall, until Aug. 24, when the whole thing is over.

"There is no precedent for that with any city or any political party ever," said Angotti, who, along with other network executives, will meet in New York with Dallas Assistant City Manager Levi Davis next month.

"Dallas is strictly a pay as you go city," Davis said. "Detroit gave their convention center for $1. We just don't do business that way in Dallas."

Senators Joining Forces To Fight Cigarette Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tobacco-state senators are joining forces to fight a proposal that would hit America's 55 million smokers by doubling the federal tax on cigarettes.

"This is a regressive tax that applies to the poor the same (rate) as it does to those who can afford to pay it," cautioned Sen. Walter D. Huddleston, D-Ky.

"An obvious injustice," added Sen. Wendell Ford, D-Ky. He urged the Senate to strip from a catch-all tax-increase bill a provision boosting the cigarette tax to 16 cents a pack.

But as the Senate worked its way through a stack of amendments on the Republican-written bill, it seemed clear that the higher cigarette tax — which would raise $5 billion over the next three years — would pass.

Senate leaders hoped to complete action today on the bill, the largest tax increase in history.

It would boost a variety of taxes, mainly on businesses and high-income investors, by $99 billion over the next three years and cut spending for Medicare and Medicaid health care programs and for aid to the needy by about $17.5 billion.

The package is aimed at reducing the federal deficit so that the government will have to claim less of the nation's available credit. The result, sponsors hope, will be lower interest rates that will lead to a revitalized economy.

The Democratic-controlled House Ways and Means Committee, meeting behind closed doors, is beginning work on its version of the tax cut. House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill said Wednesday that he expects the panel to have no trouble writing a bill but is not certain the House will pass any tax increase in this election year.

The taxation of cigarettes could affect about as many people as any part of the Senate bill, although the impact would be less than $30 a year on the pack-a-day smoker.

The federal cigarette tax has not been raised since 1951, noted Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., manager of the bill. He added that doubling the tax might discourage some teen-agers from starting the smoking habit.

Huddleston agreed on both

"We are continuing to mount a guard in the same fashion as that of the last 300 years," Col. Andrew Parker-Bowles, the commanding officer of the regiment, said on Wednesday. "It will take more than a cowardly attack like yesterday to stop us doing our duty."

The Changing of the Guard ceremony, one of London's biggest tourist attractions, While police hunted the bombers, Home Secretary William Whitelaw told lawmakers in Parliament he was thoroughly shaking up the security system at Buckingham Palace because of the invasion of Queen Elizabeth's bedroom by an apparently mentally unstable vagabond.

Whitelaw, whose ministry is in charge of the police, said there is now a police guard outside the 56-year-old

Ms. Richter runs approximately six miles a day when not biking, with her farthest distance being 15 miles.

Although the couple did much running in preparing for their trip, which they began planning in February, they also began bicycling as much as possible.

Ms. Richter started riding her bike to and from work and used it for running any small errands. Once or twice a week they would ride approximately 75 miles.

In summing up their excursion so far, both agreed that it has been definitely worth the effort.

"I think what was really instrumental in us deciding to take this trip was the fact that all my friends were telling me that once I hit 40 years of age, it would be downhill all the way," laughs Richter.

"Well, I refuse to let the mid-life crisis hit me just yet."

Dogs

want it and eating lots of peanut butter and jelly sandwiches, can be hard. It all depends on one's frame of mind. Actually, when Tanya and I get tired of eating peanut butter - jelly sandwiches, we just switch to jelly-peanut butter sandwiches."

In packing, the Richters decided to load up their bikes with the typical camping gear including a small cook stove, a tent, sleeping bags, pots and pans and a few canned goods. They also decided they needed long underwear and wool socks.

As the trip progressed the stove was the first to go. It was just too heavy to carry. The average weight of their gear is approximately 40 to 45 pounds per bike.

The next items discarded were the long underwear and wool socks. "We began feeling rather silly with these things once we hit the 90 degree weather," smiles Ms. Richter.

The Richters made sure they could complete the Huckleberry Finn-ish adventure physically. Richter has Keeping close family ties and being actively involved with her children are both important facets in Pam Wagner's life.

She and her husband, David, a Hereford police officer, have three children: D.J., age six; Sarah, age five; and one year old Mitchell. The family resides at 410 W. Third.

"I wish I could say I had a variety of interesting hobbies but actually any hobby I have now revolves around my children. I haven't time for anything else," states Ms. Wagner.

"I help my son collect bottle caps, play dolls with Sarah and I'm constantly following my youngest one around."

One major outside interest Ms. Wagner is involved in serving as treasurer of Wesley United Methodist Church Women. Her husband serves on the board of directors of the Big Brothers-Big Sisters Organization and has in the past served as a big brother.

Ms. Wagner, the former Pam Adams, and her husband recently served as hosts to the Adams family '82 Getherin'. Relatives from Mississippi, Tennessee and the Dallas area spent six days in their home.

With approximately 35 people as guests, Ms. Wagner spent over seven months preparing for the big event.

"I came from a very close knit family and through the years we have tried to keep intact the family traditions that have been established. Until this summer, all of my family has gathered at Holmes County State Park in Durant, Miss. for our get-togethers," says Ms. Wagner.

"This was the ninth annual 'Getherin' as we call it. My relatives felt like since David and I had always traveled to Mississippi that it was time for them to come to Texas. Many of them have never been further west than Dallas."

"When I first began planning the reunion, I sent letters to each of the relatives explaining to them what sites would be interesting to see and what activities would be available to them."

"I also enclosed brochures explaining the production of the musical, melodrama 'Texas' and a list of the week's menus," continued Ms. Wagner.

"I began my grocery shopping months in advance. I purchased all of my food in bulk when it was on sale. Also, each family member paid $3 per day to help with the cost of the meals."

"My family was very impressed with the Hereford area and its climate. It is so hot and humid during the summer months in Mississippi that they were pleasantly surprised to find our weather so accommodating."

During their reunion, the family visited the Cowgirl Hall of Fame, The Casa Ramirez Tortilla Factory, Deaf Smith County Historical Museum, toured farms and the Western Feed Yard where they saw how cattle are branded.

They also enjoyed "Texas" and spent the day exploring Palo Duro Canyon. "Hereford residents tend to take for granted the facilities that we do have available here. Take for instance the feedlots. Most of us have never stopped to think how really interesting it is to those who have never seen one in operation," explains Ms. Wagner.

"My family was also very impressed by the friendliness of the Hereford people. They visited at length with Oli Larson, an area pioneer resident. "He gave my three elderly aunts walking canes that he had constructed from cactus wood."

Ms. Wagner was born in Sunflower, Miss. and was reared in Licksillet, Miss. where her parents still reside.

She moved to Hereford with her parents and attended fourth through sixth grades before moving back to Mississippi. She moved once again to Hereford where she graduated from Hereford High School in 1972.

"When I was growing up, my family didn't have many material things. Of course, we always had an abundance of love. I have always known the importance of economizing and try to stretch the dollar wherever I can," says Ms. Wagner.

She and her husband have their own garden in which they grow zucchini squash, turnip greens, tomatoes, spinach, lettuce and okra. She home cans at the end of the summer, which greatly cuts the cost of the family's grocery bill.

"I go through the paper on Sunday and Thursday and make a list of the sales and buy in bulk what I need," explains Ms. Wagner.

Besides being economical, Ms. Wagner says she prepares casseroles for many meals.

"With the hours David works, it would be very impractical to try to fix a meal of meat and potatoes and have to reheat them. Casseroles are thrifty, easy and taste good reheated."

One of the family's favorite dishes is Turkey or Chicken Enchilada Casserole. Also, she bakes a Poor Man's Cake. She obtained the recipe from a very unique cookbook belonging to her mother-in-law, Mrs. Lest Wagner.

"This cookbook is probably 40 years old. Much of the terminology consist of a pinch of this and a dash of that. It's by no means modernized but everything I have tried has been very good," recalls Ms. Wagner.

CHICKEN OR TURKEY ENCHILADA CASSEROLE
Sauce:
1/2 cup oil in deep pan add small amount of flour and brown

In 1 cup hot water add 1 Tbs. chili powder and 1 tsp. each of salt and garlic powder. More or less can be added for taste.

Add to flour mixture and cook until thick. More water can be added for desired thickness.

2 cups baked and cooked chicken or turkey
1 medium onion (diced)
2 cups grated cheddar cheese
1/2 pkg. corn tortillas
1 cup ranch or pinto beans

Add chicken, beans and onion to enchilada sauce.

In large casserole dish, layer sauce, mixture then tortillas and cheese until dish is full. Top with additional cheese.

Cook at 350 degrees for 40 minutes or until bubbly in the middle. This dish can also be cooked in a microwave oven on high for approximately 12 minutes.

POOR MAN'S CAKE
Cook for 20 minutes, 1 cup raisins and 2 cups water down to 1 cup juice. While hot, add 1 rounded Tbs. lard and 2 tsp. soda together with juice.

When cooked, add 1 cup sugar, 2 cups flour sifted, with 1 tsp. cinnamon, 1 tsp. nut meg, one third tsp. cloves, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. lemon or vanilla flavoring, 1/2 cup nut meats.

Dredge raisins with flour and mix. Bake 45 minutes in moderate oven. Ice with powdered sugar. This recipe may be doubled and baked in an angel food pan. Fruit of different kinds may be added to make your favorite cake.

Ann Landers

Prayer, Faith Work Miracles

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 48 years old, married and have four children - all wonderful - and a beautiful grandchild.

I have been a flasher since I was a young boy. I always knew it was wrong and have tried to get over the habit for a long time. I saw several doctors for counseling but none of them could help me. I stopped going to church nine years ago when my wife and I separated.

On Feb. 27 something made me go back to church and take communion. I became very emotional during communion and began to cry like a baby. That experience changed my life. Since then I have had no desire to flash. I feel born again. My good wife and I are back together and we have never been happier.

Every week I go to the shrine and pray for all the flashers to put God and the Blessed Virgin Mary in their lives and free themselves of the loathsome habit.

I am writing to you because I want to tell your millions of readers prayer and faith can work miracles when all else fails. I am living proof. A Former Flasher From The Bronx.

DEAR F.F.: You told them in a very forceful way. Thank you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is in response to the letter from a reader who wanted to know why women insist on wearing slacks or jeans during the day and party pants at night. The writer said, "Don't women realize there is nothing sexier than a beautiful leg? Why do you dumb ladies insist on covering your best feature?"

Now I want to pose a question: Why do men insist on wearing trousers? In Scotland, where I was born and raised, I enjoyed the family get-togethers where the men wore kilts. I also played in a marching band where kilts were part of the uniform. Kilts provide more freedom, are less binding and sexier than trousers. So, Ann Landers, I am tossing that question right back into the teeth of the man who wrote. It seems to me that "skirts" make a lot of sense for both men and women. - No Double Standard In Burlington, Vt.

DEAR N.D.S.: It does seem reasonable that kilts would be more comfortable than trousers, especially in the summer. Also, no neckties would be a welcome release, as well as no belts or shoelaces. Maybe both sexes should wear knee-length smocks and sandals. I wonder how that would grab the garment industry!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You told the lady from Bakersfield who said the world was going sex-crazy that you had to scrape the mold off her letter to print it. Well, I'm another square, so scrape the mold off mine, too. I agree, a good sexual relationship is important, but a well-kept home and nourishing meals are important, too. Kinky sex, dope and illegitimate kids are all over the place. I blame the media, TV, porno movies and dirty magazines. What my grandchildren hear from my daughter and son-in-law would put you under.

Your letter to Bakersfield just added fuel to the fire. My kids will probably send you a medal. Thanks for nothing. - Moldy Square From Colton, Calif.

DEAR MOLDY COLTON: Wipe the foam off your mouth and reread the letter. "Bake" wants to keep women barefoot, pregnant and in the kitchen so they will be too tired for sex. You like that concept?

Regional Hearing On Aging Slated

Residents of the Hereford area will have a first-hand chance to hear about regional programs for the elderly during a hearing scheduled for Tuesday, July 27, from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Swisher County Senior Citizens Center at Tulsa.

The hearings are being held in five area towns to acquaint citizens with the Panhandle Area Agency on Aging's operating plans for 1983. The budget year for the agency begins Oct. 1 of this year and runs through Sept. 30 of 1983.

The hearings are required by the Texas Department on Aging so that private citizens can comment on the Panhandle Agency's three year plan, now entering its third year.

The agency receives $762,487 from the state aging department. Over $578 thousand of that goes directly into services in the region. The remainder is used to finance administration of the programs.

These types of programs are funded in conjunction with senior citizen centers: transportation, information and referral, homemaker services, emergency response system, adult day care, legal services and congregate and home delivered nutrition services.

Like all other state and federally-funded programs, the aging appropriations are being cut for the upcoming year. This year's $762,487 is off $25 thousand from last year's appropriation.

There are 57,080 Panhandle citizens over the age of 60. The PAAA programs are used for about 8,000 people in the area.

Women's Scholarship Applications Available

WTSU - Applications are available for the Shell Funds for Women's Careers Scholarship which will be awarded for the 1982 fall semester by the Returning Student Program at West Texas University.

The applications must be completed and returned to the Returning Student Center before Friday, Aug. 6.

Applicants must be members of Women Involved in New Goals, (WINGS), a WTSU organization designed for women students who are 23 years of age and older; and must be majoring in business or technology at WTSU.

The Shell Funds for Women's Careers Scholarship was established at WTSU with a grant in 1977 from the Shell Companies Foundation Inc. and the Shell Funds for Women's Careers.

A committee selects the scholarship recipient. The Returning Student Center is located in the WTSU Student Union Building.

Today In History

By The Associated Press Today is Thursday, July 22, the 203rd day of 1982. There are 162 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On July 22, 1933, American aviator Wiley Post completed the first solo airplane flight around the world.

On this date: In 1934, federal agents in Chicago shot and killed gangster John Dillinger.

In 1943, allied forces captured Palermo, Sicily, during World War II.

In 1971, the last U.S. infantry units were pulled out of South Vietnam's northern border area.

In 1978, India's former Prime Minister Indira Gandhi was charged with conspiracy and criminal misconduct for allegedly forcing businessmen to aid her political campaign.

Ten years ago: President Richard Nixon ended months of speculation by announcing he wanted Vice President Spiro Agnew as his re-election running mate.

Five years ago: Egypt bombed and strafed a major air base in Libya in the second day of warfare between the two countries.

One year ago: The attempted assassin of Pope John Paul II, Mehmet Ali Agca, was found guilty by a court in Rome and sentenced to life in prison.

Today's birthdays: Rose Kennedy is 92. Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas is 59.

14-15 Year Olds Win Title; Both Major Teams Victorious

Deaf Smith County Kids, Inc. All-Star baseball teams continued an astonishing streak of superiority on the post-season trail Wednesday evening, with the local 14-15 year-old Babe Ruth stars earning a trip to Lamesa as they claimed the District 2 title, and both area Major League all-star teams notching wins over Dimmitt opponents.

The Babe Ruth stars ran their playoff record to 4-0 with a 9-3 win over Muleshoe at the district tourney in Dimmitt. Mike Scott gained his second win in the playoffs as he limited Muleshoe to five hits while striking out 11. Stefan Hacker's three-run homerun in the bottom of the sixth iced the game away for Hereford, which found itself trailing 3-1 after three innings. Hacker finished with two hits in the game, while Rodney Torres led the team with three safeties in four trips to the plates. Chad Stephan, Sammy Suarez, and Kurt Simon also had two hits each for the winners.

The win put the Hereford stars into the next step of the playoffs in Lamesa next week, where they will face the District 5 winner, unknown at this time, in the first round of play.

Also in Dimmitt Wednesday night, the two local Major League all-star teams won, setting up an all-Hereford match tonight. The Hereford Blues defeated their Dimmitt foe 8-5, while the Yellow's rolled to a 19-6 win.

The two local teams will fight it out at 7:30 this evening, immediately after the two Dimmitt teams face each other in an elimination match.

On the local scene, the Mustang League District

Tournaments continue, with the local Green team trying for a sweep over the local Blue team after notching a 17-7 win Tuesday in the American League playoffs.

And, the Reds will face Dimmitt in the National League division, with each team having defeated the local Blue squad in that bracket.

In Graham, the Herford 13 year-old Babe Ruth All-Stars face Lubbock at 5:30 p.m. today as they continue their playoff action. The younger Ruthers are 2-0 in that tournament.

Carner, Haynie Holding Own

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — JoAnne Carner, at age 43, and Sandra Haynie, 39, are more than holding their own against the younger golfers they're competing against in this week's U.S. Women's Open.

"We work harder," said Carner, who went into today's first round seeking her third Open title.

"People are always talking about the younger players coming up. But I don't think it's the younger players who are coming up now — it's the older ones who are coming up," said Nancy Lopez, at 25, part of the younger crowd in women's golf.

Carner didn't turn pro until she was 31, but she now ranks as the top all-time money winner in women's golf, with $1.2 million including $174,588 this year.

Haynie has come back spectacularly after dropping off the pro tour five years ago. She played a full tournament schedule last year and won $94,124, and this season she's No. 2 in winnings with $188,161.

"She wasn't enjoying it, so she retired. Now she's enjoying it. I wish she'd retire again," said Kathy Postlewait, the 31-year-old who stands 11th among this year's tour money winners.

'Senor Sack' Back in Saddle

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Two Texas Tech football players suspended from the team during spring will be reinstated this fall, Tech Coach Jerry Moore says.

Senior Gabriel Rivera and sophomore Mark Rothblatt were suspended for breaking team rules, which Moore declined to specify at a news conference Tuesday where he said he was reinstating the players.

"They made a mistake and as far as I am concerned, they have paid for it," said Moore. "I have kept up with their activities through the spring and summer — they have lived up to our end of the bargain.

"He (Rivera) was embarrassed about it and so was I. But in the long run, the maturity he gained from this will make him a better person and better player."

Rivera, nicknamed "Senor Sack," and Rothblatt are expected to rejoin the team when fall practice begins Aug. 18.

Both players worked hard this summer on their physical conditioning, Moore said. Rivera has lost 10 pounds and weighs 270, his lowest weight since entering Tech, Moore said.

"At this point, the important thing for them to do is re-establish themselves with our players and fans," the coach said.

Cumpton All-Star Coach Nominee

Hereford's Don Cumpton was selected as the all-star coach nominee in the Region 1 meeting of the Texas High School Coaches association Wednesday in Houston.

Each region selects football and basketball coaches as nominees for the all-star games, and the general membership then elects one of the nominees. Cumpton guided the Whitefaces to a 13-1 record the past season before losing in the semi-finals. His teams are 21-3 over the past two seasons.

The Region 1 coaches picked Morton's Tony Mauldin as their nominee for the all-star basketball coach.

Butch Henderson of Borger was elected director-elect from the region, while former Whitefacer Mike Wartes of Denver City was named as the alternate director.

Region 1 provided both the football and basketball coaches for the all-star games this year — Greg Sherwood of Plainview and Keith Kitchens of Shallowater.

Kitchens, North Aim At Offsetting South Height

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — Bay City's Ivan Pettitt and LaMarque's Alvin Franklin already have been fitted to fill the uniforms of departed basketball stars Ricky Pierce at Rice University and Rob Williams at the University of Houston.

But they'd prefer to wear their own jerseys and make their own reputations.

"I just want to be myself and do the best that I can," said Pettitt, speaking for the two players who will compete for the South in tonight's Texas High School Coaches Association All-Star basketball game. "I don't plan on trying to replace Ricky Pierce."

Pettitt, who will attend Rice this fall, has been compared favorably to Pierce, the nation's No. 2 collegiate scorer last season and a No. 1 NBA draft choice.

Franklin, who will start at the other guard for the South, hopes to fill the void left by the departure of Houston's Rob Williams, also a first round pro draftee.

The pair will combine their talents tonight against North All-Stars, led by Kennan DeBose of Killeen.

Despite an emphasis all week on defense, both head coaches are predicting another free-scoring contest.

"We want to give the kids a chance to run and show what they can do, we just don't want to look sloppy and ridiculous," said North Coach Keith Kitchens.

South Coach Donnie Victorick has led Snook to three consecutive state Class A titles using a slow-down patterned offense, but he won't try to hold back the tempo tonight.

"We're going to concentrate on defense but we're going to look for the fast break," Victorick said. "I hope it doesn't turn into a hully-gully game."

Pettitt led Bay City into the state playoffs the past two years, averaging 21.4 points last season. Franklin, a deadly outside shooter, pumped in 28 points per game last season.

"I expect it will be a tight game and I don't think either team will be favored by much," Franklin said.

DuBose, a 6-5 postman who will attend the University of Arkansas, averaged 27.2 points last season when he scored 30 or more points in 16 games and was held below 20 points only three times. "We are the underdogs but we'll be OK if we keep to our plan of working it inside," DeBose said. "It'll be a close ball game."

DuBose will be joined in the North's starting lineup by Brian Essary, North Mesquite, Charles Young, Tyler Lee, Tim Ford, Grafrod and Darryn Shearmire of Archer City.

Johnny Mumphrey, Gladewater Sabine, Gary Heyland, San Antonio Churchill and

Edwin Mitchell, Diboll or Jimmie Gilbert, Huntsville, will also start for the South.

The South leads the series 19-17, including last year's 100-99 victory in Dallas.

Byerly Setting Some High Goals

HOUSTON (AP) — Newton's Anthony Byerly has set only one goal for his collegiate career at the University of Texas, but it's a whooper.

"The Heisman Trophy is about the only goal I've set going into college and that's a long range goal," said Byerly, who will play for the South football All-Stars Friday night in the Texas High School Coaches Association Coaching School game in the Astrodome.

"I feel if I can stay healthy, I have a chance at it. Right now, I just want to learn the offense and contribute in any way I can."

Byerly gained 6,598 yards during his high school career at the Class 3A school, the seventh best total ever, but he realizes the yards will come tougher in the collegiate ranks.

"I think they will be gunning for me because of what I did in high school and because I am the rookie on the block," Byerly said. "That's just something you have to accept."

Byerly has worked in a warehouse loading beer trucks this summer to help develop his upper body and has worked on his legs with weights.

Now he's ready to test his conditioning.

"I'll use this game to find out where I stand," Byerly said. "It will help me to evaluate myself and see what I need to work on the rest of the summer."

Byerly will be joined on the South squad by Baylor-bound quarterback Tom Muecke, running back Jimmie Hawkins of San Antonio Holmes and tight end Ty Allert of Austin LBJ.

Bay City Coach Ron Mills will coach the South and Plainview's Greg Sherwood will direct the North. The North All-Stars include defensive back Egypt Allen of Dallas South Oak Cliff, Andrews quarterback Keith Brooks and tight ends Al Pawelek of Houston Jersey Village and T.J. Turner of Lufkin.

"I'm pleased with the way things are coming together," Sherwood said.

Owners Reportedly Favoring 'Lockout'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Football League Management Council's meeting with the NFL Players Association continues amid published reports that the owners will lock out the players prior to the regular-season openers if contract negotiations do not go well.

A majority of the owners favor a lockout. The Washington Post reported today.

It quoted an unidentified source as saying: "We have learned by what happened to baseball... By letting the baseball players have part of a season, the baseball owners allowed them to build up money to prepare for a strike. If we let them go three or four games and then have a strike, we'll be, in reality, funding a strike, too."

Jack Donlan, executive director of the Management Council, declined to comment on how many owners favor a lockout.

But, according to the Post, Dolan did say that a "lockout is a possibility because the owners are concerned about the undermining effects of a strike."

Ed Garvey, executive director of the players association, was quoted as saying, "The scenario is that, prior to a lockout, they would place on the table an offer they'll label their take-it-or-leave-it-package. The lockout would force us to take it."

Two other issues have been raised in recent weeks in addition to the traditional contract bargaining of basic wages, working conditions and pensions — drug-testing and individual player negotiations.

Meanwhile, it was learned that NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle and baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, as well as the players unions, met this week with members of the House Select Committee on Narcotics Abuse and Control.

Rozelle and Kuhn met for about an hour each on Tuesday and the representatives of the players' association got together with committee members on Wednesday.

Earlier this week, the NFL owners said they won't sign a collective-bargaining agreement without a provision for drug testing.

If drug testing was the only issue remaining, Donlan was asked Tuesday, would the owners refuse to sign a new contract. "That's correct. That's true. That would be a stumbling block," he said.

Garvey called the owner's stand "a public-relations ploy," and said it never would come down to being the turning point in achieving a new agreement.

The union has opposed drug testing, calling it dehumanizing and an invasion of the players' privacy and has filed unfair labor-practice charges against Denver and Miami, teams that have spot-checked players for drugs.

The council also wants to the two sides to conduct negotiations on behalf of unsigned rookies and veterans. The proposal that was to be presented at today's meeting would cover approximately 30 players who failed to sign before the collective-bargaining agreement expired Thursday. Under the terms of the last agreement, the union is the sole bargaining agent for the players.

Stargel Homer Lifts Bucs, 3-2

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD AP Sports Writer

Willie Stargel, in the final months of his brilliant career with the Pittsburgh Pirates, would like to write his own farewell scripts for fans around the National League.

Stargel, playing his last game in Cincinnati's River Stadium, blasted his third pinch-hit homer of the season in the eighth inning Wednesday night to lift the Pirates to a 3-2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. The defeat spoiled the debut of new Reds Manager Russ Nixon, who replaced the fired John McNamara.

"If you could sit down and say just how you'd like to do it, this is the kind of thing you would like to do in every ball park," the 41-year-old Stargel said. "But it doesn't always work out that way. In (his last appearance in) Houston, I struck out twice."

Stargel's homer, the 47th of his career, tied him with Stan Musial for 14th place on the all-time list.

"It's ironic because Stan Musial was one of my childhood idols," Stargel said. "Stan the Man, there's just no ending to how wonderful a person he is."

In other NL games, Houston edged Chicago 2-1. New York belted San Francisco 6-2. St. Louis blanked Atlanta 8-0. Philadelphia defeated San Diego 7-1 and Montreal trimmed Los Angeles 4-1 in 11 innings.

Stargel's homer off Tom Hume, 2-6, handed the Reds their sixth straight loss and their 21st in 25 games.

Hume relieved Reds starter Bob Shirley, who gave up two runs and four hits in the first seven innings, including a homer by Dale Berra and Tony Pena's RBI double.

Cincinnati's runs came in on Paul Householder's two-run homer in the fourth off Larry McWilliams, 6-4, who hurled seven innings and allowed six hits.

In the eighth, Pirates Manager Chuck Tanner called on Stargel, who has batted only 43 times this season and has no homers aside from his pinch-hit blasts, to hit for McWilliams.

After Stargel connected, Kent Tekulve retired the last six Reds batters for his 15th save and his third in as many nights.

Cardinals 8, Braves 0

St. Louis right-hander Steve Mura, staked to a 7-0 lead after two innings, coasted to victory with a five-hitter over Atlanta, throwing 89 fastballs among his 102 pitches.

Mura, 7-7, in hurling his second career shutout, allowed no hits and one walk in the final 51-3 innings.

George Hendrick drove in three runs with a triple and a single to lead the Cardinals' attack. Darrell Porter added two RBI doubles and Keith Hernandez capped a two-run double for St. Louis.

Phillies 7, Padres 1

Mike Schmidt, Bob Dernier and Bo Diaz slugged home runs to back the eight-hit pitching of Dick Ruthven as Philadelphia bombed San Diego.

Schmidt hit a three-run homer and Dernier and Diaz added two-run blasts as the Phillies handed rookie Tim Lollar only his fourth loss in 14 decisions.

Astros 2, Cubs 1

Nolan Ryan and two relievers held Chicago in check and Houston took advantage of Allen Ripley's wildness to beat the Cubs.

Ryan, 10-9, pitched five shutout innings, allowing three hits before leaving the game because of a sore hip.

Brewers Resume Batting Attack

By BRUCE LOWITT Associated Press Writer

The Milwaukee Brewers decided to resume swinging at baseballs instead of the Minnesota Twins and wound up putting plenty of punch back in their attack.

The Brewers had lost two in a row and four of their past five games against Minnesota and, on Tuesday night, had engaged in a bench-clearing melee.

On Wednesday night they put all thoughts of fisticuffs out of their minds, and put a few baseballs over the fences at the Metrodome. Don Money hit two homers and Ben Oglivie belted a grand slam in their 10-4 romp.

In other American League games it was Chicago 9, Detroit 3 in 12 innings; Seattle 6, New York 5, also in 12; Kansas City 9, Toronto 7; Baltimore 8, California 7; Oakland 6, Cleveland 4, and, in a twilight doubleheader, Texas 6, Boston 3 in 12 in the opener and Boston 6, Texas 1 in the nightcap.

White Sox 9, Tigers 3

Greg Luzinski of the White Sox must have been thinking: "Fool me once, shame on you; fool me twice, shame on me," as he faced Detroit reliever Dave Tobik in the 12th inning.

"Tobik threw me a fastball the first time I faced him and got away with it," Luzinski said. "He threw it again and got it out over the plate. I haven't been swinging the bat well and he had every right to think he'd get away with it again."

He didn't. Luzinski launched it for his 12th homer, triggering Chicago's six-run 12th inning. Rudy Law had a two-run single in that burst and Tom Paciorek hit two earlier homers.

Mariners 6, Yankees 5

Former Yankee Bobby

Brown scored Seattle's winning run on Manny Castillo's grounder — but it was Dave Winfield's grounder that ended the game which had Bill Bergesch, a Yankee vice president, hopping mad. He said videotape replays showed the umpires blew the call.

"...Dave Winfield was safe at first. There is no question of that. It was a bad call," Bergesch said. "This crew cost us the game tonight."

"We will take the tape tomorrow to American League President Lee MacPhail to show how we were the victims of bad umpiring. We are aware that it will not make any great difference but it is important for the league president to see the tapes so that the level of play in our league can be improved."

Royals 9, Blue Jays 7

Willie Wilson gets around for Kansas City. Around the bases. Fast. In his five years in the majors he's hit 12 home runs — nine of them inside the park. The Blue Jays are the latest victims. Wilson drove in four runs in the game, two of them with his shot past diving left fielder Leon Roberts.

"I can't do it every day, but it's fun to do every now and then," said Wilson.

Rangers 6-1, Red Sox 3-6

Texas halted a seven-game skid as Jim Sundberg and Dave Hostetler drove in two runs apiece in the opener against Boston, then Mike Torrez silenced the Rangers for the third consecutive time this season, allowing just two hits while striking out seven in eight innings.

Philadelphia bombed San Diego.

Schmidt hit a three-run homer and Dernier and Diaz added two-run blasts as the Phillies handed rookie Tim Lollar only his fourth loss in 14 decisions.

Astros 2, Cubs 1

Nolan Ryan and two relievers held Chicago in check and Houston took advantage of Allen Ripley's wildness to beat the Cubs.

Ryan, 10-9, pitched five shutout innings, allowing three hits before leaving the game because of a sore hip.

Reds Axe McNamara; Nixon New Manager

By JOE KAY AP Sports Writer

CINCINNATI (AP) — Russ Nixon, elevated to his first major league managing job, says his top priority is to spice up the Cincinnati Reds' style of play.

"I think we're very uninteresting," said Nixon, 47, named Wednesday to replace John McNamara as manager. "I think people will come to see us if we go out there a little cocky and interesting."

Cincinnati was beaten by the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2 Wednesday night in Nixon's debut.

Reds President Dick Wagner didn't mention whether he, too, found the team boring Wednesday when he fired McNamara. But Wagner made no secret that he wasn't pleased that the club with the best record in the major leagues in 1981 has the second-worst record this year.

"The bottom line in this case is that I feel we are a better ballclub than our record of 34 and 58 indicates," Wagner said, in announcing McNamara's firing. "We have 70 games remaining in the season, and our work is cut out for us. I'm not going to say much more than that."

McNamara, 50, led the club to the NL West title in 1979, his first year in Cincinnati after taking over for Sparky Anderson. The club finished third and second the next two years. The flop this year followed an off-season overhaul by Wagner that changed starters at five positions and sent George Foster, Ken Griffey, Dave Collins and Ray Knight to other clubs.

The new-look Reds — built with an emphasis on speed, pitching and defense — never panned out, and McNamara ended up constantly shuffling his lineup to find a winning combination.

The Reds' lack of run production and power persisted, and the team has not been able to win more than three straight games this season.

"We didn't put a winning ballclub on the field, and I'm responsible for that, too, maybe more so than other people," said third baseman Johnny Bench, batting just .227.

"It's not been a good, productive year for several people. When you lose, the end result is there are a lot of people to blame," Bench said. "The guy who gets most of the blame is usually the man in charge on the field."

"I think Mac felt it (the firing) was coming, that it was not too far away during the last few days."

McNamara would not talk to reporters Wednesday. He is the third major league manager fired this season, along with Milwaukee's Buck Rodgers and the New York Yankees' Bob Lemon.

"A manager is only as good as his players," said Anderson, manager of the Detroit Tigers. "He's a kind of a watchdog. He has to have control over his club, but he can't win ballgames. This is no black mark against John McNamara."

Nixon, who has spent 12 years in the Reds' organization as minor league manager and a third base coach, is considered more of a disciplinarian than the soft-spoken McNamara. He promised a more wide-open style of baseball.

Sanchez Stops Ring Newcomer

NEW YORK (AP) — "I am a boxer, not a street fighter," says Salvador Sanchez. But the World Boxing Council featherweight champion needed more than boxing ability and experience to beat Azumah Nelson.

He also needed street-fighter toughness.

Nelson, a 24-year-old from Ghana, went into the fight Wednesday night at Madison Square Garden with only 13 pro fights. As a substitute for the injured Mario Miranda, the WBC's top-ranked contender, he brought with him the gimmick nickname of "The Terrible Terror."

The nickname drew snickers and the 5-foot-5 Nelson was quickly dubbed "Half Nelson." That drew laughs.

But it was cheers not laughter that Nelson got from the Garden crowd.

Nelson wasn't Sanchez' toughest fight, according to the champion from Mexico. But he was plenty tough.

Sanchez badly hurt Nelson with a left hook in the seventh round. Then, during an exchange of punches, he dropped Nelson for a five-count.

Nelson also was shaken several times in the eight and ninth rounds and had a two-stitch cut ripped in his upper lip.

"The referee was too late in stopping the fight," said Sanchez. "He should have done it earlier. Nelson was swallowing blood."

It would have saved a lot of wear and tear on the champion if referee Tony Perez had stopped the fight in one of those rounds.

But he didn't stop it until only 1:11 remained in the match, and by then Nelson had battled back with constant pressure and several solid left hooks. He outpunched Sanchez in several exchanges in rounds 11 through 14.

"I thought I was winning the fight, but in the 15th I wanted to knock him out," said Nelson.

He was winning the fight at the end of the 14th round 132-131 on the card of judge Al Ried. The other two judges favored Sanchez — Tony Castellano 135-131 and Arite Aidaia 134-131. If the fight had gone the distance, Sanchez should have gotten at least a two-point margin in the 15th and would have carried Reid's card also.

The AP had Sanchez leading 133-132 after the 14th.

About midway through the 15th round, Sanchez sent Nelson backward with a left hook to the jaw, then followed with a left-right, left-right that dropped the challenger. Nelson arose at five, took a mandatory eight-count and retreated. Sanchez followed, landed a barrage of head punches, and Perez stopped the fight.

"There was no question about the referee stopping the fight," said Nelson, who in tasting defeat for the first time as a pro, gained a lot of respect. He now is 13-1 after 50-2 amateur career.

"I think Mac felt it (the firing) was coming, that it was not too far away during the last few days."

McNamara would not talk to reporters Wednesday. He is the third major league manager fired this season, along with Milwaukee's Buck Rodgers and the New York Yankees' Bob Lemon.

FAME

Ed Marinaro

MARINARO SAUCE — Ed Marinaro, the ex-NFL star now in "Hill Street Blues," has been added to the cast of "Born Beautiful," a TV movie that NBC will air later this year. Marinaro will play Doug Trainer, a professional photographer who has a chance meeting with a top model (Erin Gray) and agrees to share his expertise when he learns she is attempting to venture into that field. Lori Singer ("Fame") also stars.

ROYAL FLUSH II — "Charles and Diana: A Royal Love Story," the dramatization of the romance between Britain's Prince Charles and Lady Diana, will air on ABC during the 1982-83 season. Prince Charles will be played by David Robb, who appeared in PBS' "The Flame Trees of Thika," while Caroline Bliss, a member of the Bristol Repertory, will portray Lady Di. The film is being shot entirely on location in England.

Ask Kate

Talia Shire

Tales of Talia
By Kate Woods
This is a little confusing, but I know Talia Shire is the sister or wife of someone famous. Is she Sylvester Stallone's sister, maybe?
Playing Mrs. Rocky is as close as Shire has even been to Stallone. The famous brother you're thinking of is director Francis Ford Coppola, who gave Talia her first big break as Connie Corleone in "The Godfather." Her ex-husband, composer David Shire, might also fall under the famous husband heading. And while we're at it, you might as well know that she's now married to a fairly famous producer, Jack Schwartzman, and expecting an as yet unknown baby in late autumn.

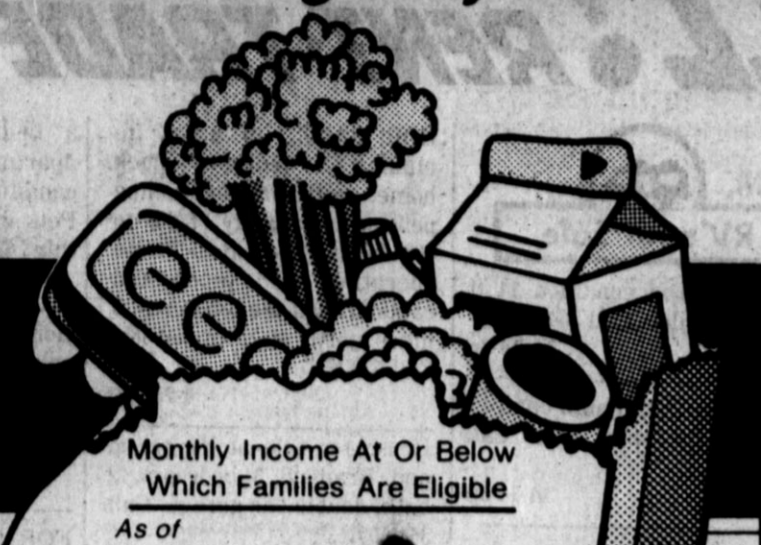

TERRI AND SONNY — In one of the early re-runs of "The Sonny and Cher Comedy Hour," I thought I saw Terri Garr of "Close Encounters of the Third Kind." Was she a dancer on the show? By the way, how is Sonny's new marriage holding up? Any kids yet?
Terri Garr was a regular on the series during the '73-'74 season, but she was mostly used in comedy routines, not as a dancer. Steve Martin was also a regular on the show in its early days. As for the team of Sonny Bono and Suzy Coleho, it seems to be holding up quite well. Professionally, the two of them are currently working on "Airplane II." On the home front, there are no little supporting players on the horizon.

HANNAH RINSE — I was quite taken by Daryl Hannah in "Paper Dolls." Please tell me when I'll see more of her.
Miss Hannah has not as yet signed for the ABC series, but you can get a quick Hannah fix in "Blade Runner." The actress plays a footnote (in more ways than one) replicant in the futuristic thriller.

"Ask Kate" welcomes all questions pertaining to television and show business personalities, but because of the volume of mail involved, personal replies are not possible.

Income eligibility for the federal food stamp program went up 10 percent July 1 to reflect the increased cost of living. Under the new guidelines, mandated by 1981 budget legislation, a family of four is now eligible to participate if gross monthly income does not exceed $1,008. Income limits are set at 30 percent above the Office of Management and Budget's poverty lines for various household sizes. The Agriculture Department says it does not expect the higher limits to result in a significantly larger number of participants in the food stamp program, currently some 22.7 million people.

Watt Opens Most Of U.S. Coast For Oil Drilling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Interior Secretary James Watt, ignoring outcries from environmentalists, is putting into effect a program that offers virtually the entire U.S. coast for oil and gas drilling over the next five years.

Under the program Watt adopted Wednesday, 1 billion acres off the U.S. mainland and Alaska will be considered for leasing in 41 sales starting next month and ending in June 1987.

Watt said his five-year plan was designed to "enhance the national security, provide jobs and protect the environment while making America less dependent on foreign oil sources."

Critics accused the interior secretary of running roughshod over objections from affected states and adopting a plan that will jeopardize fragile coastal areas.

The Natural Resources Defense Council, an environmental group, said it was filing suit today to stop the plan in court and congressional critics said they would introduce a resolution in Congress to have the program overturned.

Watt called those attacks "political posturing." He said he expected to be sued also by the states of California and Alaska, but he predicted the courts and Congress would uphold his plan.

"They (members of Congress) recognize it as a wise and balanced program that is needed," Watt said Wednesday night in an appearance on PBS's "MacNeil-Lehrer" program.

The five-year plan replaces one drawn up by the Carter administration which, instead of making 1 billion acres available for leasing, would have offered about 55 million acres.

Watt greatly expanded the effort by making entire offshore planning areas available for leasing. The planning areas range in size from 8 million acres to 133 million acres. In the past, lease sales have covered about 2 million acres.

While entire planning areas will be made available for leasing, the actual lease sales will cover smaller areas that are nominated by industry and approved by the Interior Department.

Watt said he hopes to actually lease between 5 million and 12 million acres annually. The most offshore acreage ever leased before was 2.2 million acres last year.

Environmentalists have said the amount of acreage being considered is too large and will make it impossible for the government to adequately assess environmental dangers.

"The program still offers 1 billion acres over a very short period of time. There is no way Secretary Watt can assure adequate protection of the marine and coastal resources," said Francis Beinecke, an attorney for the Natural Resources Defense Council.

Rep. Edward Markey, D-Mass., the leader of the congressional attempt to get the plan overturned, said Watt's program "lacks any sense of compromise, lacks any concern for the environment and lacks any appreciation for the impact on affected coastal states."

amounts of melanin. These people tan quicker and easier than those with fair skin.

Most dermatologists believe the risk of developing skin cancer from ultraviolet radiation — from the sun, sunlamps or tanning salons — exists whether one is sunburned or suntanned. But people who freckle or sunburn easily are particularly susceptible.

Still, not more than two percent of all types of skin cancer are fatal. Although skin cancer seldom develops in people under 20, its incidence increases gradually with age and peaks at about 75.

Simple precautions will limit the sun's potentially harmful effects:

—Avoid sunbathing around noon. The sun is strongest and most harmful from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

—Use a sunscreen regularly. Some of the most effective ones contain para-aminobenzoic acid (PABA). Other effective sunscreen ingredients include titanium dioxide and benzophenone.

Re-apply the lotion every two hours or after swimming or perspiring heavily.

Tanning Takes Toll

Our skin takes a beating. We scrape it, scratch it, cut it and bruise it accidentally but regularly. Worse yet, some of us even try to bake it.

The main problem with trying to get the perfect tan is that the sun damages the skin, according to the Texas Medical Association.

Some damage may be immediate — burning, blistering, skin rashes or eruptions, and eye injury. Later damage can include skin that sags and wrinkles prematurely. Finally, excessive exposure to the sun increases a person's chances of developing skin cancer.

The sun affects each person's skin differently. The main factor is the amount of melanin — a naturally occurring skin pigment — that the individual's system produces. Darker skin indicates larger

First Host Of 'Today' Show Commits Suicide

SWARTHMORE, Pa. (AP) — Dave Garroway, who first brought the "Today" show into America's homes at breakfast, created new stars for the young television medium but then found his own in eclipse, friends said after his suicide at age 69.

"He remarked to me once, 'Nobody wants me anymore. I'm old show, old hat. Nobody cares for old Dave anymore,'" recalled Frank Blair, who broadcast the news for years on "Today."

Garroway, who killed himself Wednesday with a shotgun blast to the head, left "Today" in 1961 and never achieved the same success. His last TV appearance came earlier this year on a retrospective for the show's 30th anniversary.

His son, Michael, said Garroway once recalled. "It was a marvelous seat to sit in. In heart surgery and 'we believe that he unfortunately succumbed to the traumatic effects of his illness.'"

Garroway was found dead in a hallway in his ranch-style home in this Philadelphia suburb. The Delaware County coroner ruled the death a suicide. No funeral arrangements were announced.

Garroway's gentle, relaxed manner and his wry sense of humor — including appearances with a chimpanzee, J. Fred Muggs — helped point the way for the future of television when he inaugurated "Today" in 1952. Millions learned to recognize his horn-rimmed spectacles and bow ties and remember his singular sign-off: "Peace."

"I loved doing it," Garroway once recalled. "It was a marvelous seat to sit in. In 10 years, I must have talked to 12,500 exciting people."

"More than anything else I remember his ability to communicate with an audience," said Barbara Walters, who was hired by Garroway as a writer. "I don't think there is anyone else in our business who could do it the way Dave Garroway did."

Garroway was "very, very disappointed that his career kind of came to a halt," said Blair.

"He never again had the same success," noted Ms. Walters.

John Chancellor, who succeeded Garroway as "Today" host in 1961, said Garroway had an "extraordinary impact" on the future of TV.

"In the earliest days, people didn't know whether TV was going to be radio with pictures or vaudeville," Chancellor said. "Ed Sullivan went the vaudeville route on Sunday nights, while Garroway was able to reach through the screen with a new way of broadcasting."

"He became a household word all over the country simply by being himself — intelligent, curious, sympathetic," said Reuben Frank, himself a TV pioneer and now president of NBC's news division.

Garroway was born July 13, 1913, in Schenectady, N.Y. He worked as a lab assistant at Harvard University and flopped as a piston ring salesman, then broke in as a $16-a-week NBC page and enrolled in the network's announcer training school, later landing a job as special events director at Pittsburgh's KDKA.

That launched a career seen, heard and loved by millions. He spawned television's hordes of talk-show hosts such as Steve Allen, the late Ernie Kovacs, David Frost, Dick Cavett, Jack Parr, and Johnny Carson.

After Garroway's return from Navy service in World War II, he moved to NBC's Chicago affiliate, WMAQ, with a free-wheeling show called "Garroway at Large." That success landed him in New York in 1952 at the start of "Today."

Nine years later, in 1961, a heavy work schedule, coupled with the death of his second wife, Pamela, from an overdose of barbiturates, led to his retirement. His first marriage, to a college sweetheart, ended in divorce in 1945.

Garroway was proud of the stars he had discovered or made famous, including singers Sarah Vaughan and Connie Russell, and comedians Cliff Norton, Jonathan Winters and Phyllis Diller.

A decade after retiring from "Today," Garroway tried to return to television with a CBS-TV show titled "The CBS Newcomers," but it failed to catch on.

Garroway, an amateur astronomer, married again in 1980, to Sarah Lee Lippincott, emeritus professor of astronomy at Swarthmore College and director of the Sproul Observatory. She declined to comment on his death.

Game Boosts ABC To Top Of Charts

NEW YORK (AP) — The All-Star baseball game attracted a quarter of the potential TV audience for ABC, and that helped boost the network to first place in the weekly prime-time ratings race, according to figures from the A.C. Nielsen Co.

ABC's No. 1 finish for the week ending July 18 halted a three-week run by CBS as the dominant network in prime time. CBS, nonetheless, had eight of the 10 highest-rated programs in the period.

The difference was in the comparatively large audience for the baseball classic. The rating for the program was 25, to 18.8 for the runnerup show, "The Jeffersons" on CBS.

Nielsen says that means in an average minute of the ballgame, 25 percent of the nation's homes with TV were tuned to ABC.

That contributed to ABC's rating for the week of 13.9 to 13.3 for CBS and 10.4 for NBC. The networks say that means in an average minute of prime time, 13.9 percent of the country's TV-equipped homes were tuned to ABC.

NBC now has been No. 3 in the ratings competition seven weeks in a row.

CBS' "M-A-S-H," the top-rated show the last three weeks, finished sixth. NBC's "Hill Street Blues," No. 10, was the only other non-CBS program among the 10 highest-rated.

Only three programs among the Top 20 had not been broadcast before, including the All-Star game and the pre-game show, which tied for 15th place. An episode of "House Calls" on CBS, in fifth place, was the only other original program in the group, while the TV premiere of "The Last Remake of Beau Geste," on NBC, finished 46th.

A "Closeup" news special on ABC, "Vietnam Requiem," was a moderate success in the ratings — No.

33 — while a CBS News production, "Walter Cronkite's Universe," finished 54th.

NBC had four of the five lowest-rated shows. "Nashville Palace" on NBC was No. 59, followed by ABC's "Code Red" and three more

NBC programs — "Here's Boomer," "Willard Scott's Circus" and an original episode of "Lewis and Clark."

Here are the week's 10 highest-rated shows:

Auxiliary Members Vote To Decorate Float For Jubilee

Members of the Ladies Auxiliary to VFW Post 4818 voted to decorate a float for the Town and Country Jubilee during their meeting Monday night. The meeting was conducted by Doris Wilson, new Auxiliary president.

Committees were named as follows: Dora Lea Howell and Sadie Shaw, telephone; Erma Murphey, Essie Martin, and Edith Richardson, decorating; Marta Williams, Doris Coffin, and Mabel Yocum, food; and Maysie Heath, chairman of coffee for senior citizens.

Marie Goheen past District 13 president, reported on the state convention held in Dallas in June. Those attending from District 13 were District Commander Emerson Harradan and Cal Stephens from Canyon.

Also, Lonnie and Ethel Black and Gabriele Fleming from Littlefield; new District 13 President Florene Leinen from Dimmitt; and Marie and Tommy Goheen from Hereford.

Erma Murphey reported on the Women's Forum board meeting and informed the Auxiliary that it will be hosting the April 25 meeting with Summerfield Study Club and Sugar Works Cake Decorating Club.

Other members present were Ann Walker, Ruth Stethem, Rose Goheen, and Mmes. Coffin, Williams, Martin, Heath, Richardson, Howell, and Yocum.

The next meeting will be at 8 p.m. Aug. 2, with a covered dish supper preceding the meeting at 7:30 p.m.

Removing blanket wires

DEAR POLLY - I have an electric blanket that doesn't heat anymore. I would like to take the coils out so it could be used just plain. Can you tell me how? - MRS. J.B.J.
DEAR MRS. J.B.J. - Actually, you could leave the coils or wires in the blanket and continue to use it as a regular blanket. As long as it is not plugged in or connected to any source of electricity, this poses no hazard really. You may want to cut off the electrical cord or control cords. However the blanket may be softer and nicer to use if you do take the wires out. To do this, just snip a tiny hole in several places where the wires are located - along the foot on the underside of the blanket where it won't be noticeable. Then try to pull the wires out through the hole. If they snag or won't pull all the way out in any one place, clip off as much as you can pull out and move to the next spot. The holes can be quickly mended. If the blanket fabric is washable, you now have a washable, dryable, lightweight covering perfect for cool nights. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - Whenever I put pictures in my photo album, I place the negatives in an envelope that I have glued or taped to the inside of the album's back cover. If someone wants a print, I know exactly where the negative is. - CINDY

DEAR POLLY - I have several braided rugs that were falling apart because of broken threads. I rewove them with fishing line and they are still holding together after years more of wear. - JOAN

DEAR POLLY - To save on cooking fuel or electricity, I've found that fish can be wrapped in foil and cooked in the same boiling water with potatoes or other vegetables. It can be seasoned before wrapping in foil or after cooking, as desired. - THELMA

DEAR POLLY - Rubbing alcohol or ginger ale will dissolve suntan oil off your eyeglasses or sunglasses. Soothe away sunburn with apple cider vinegar, a wet teabag or a paste of baking soda and water. - MRS. C.L.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Digging grave with his teeth?

DEAR DR. LAMB - I've got a real problem with my husband. He is 20 to 30 pounds overweight and simply will not cut down on what he eats. When I try to serve light meals he just goes to the store and buys some bologna or other cold cuts, some milk and comes home and eats it. He says he just doesn't feel right if his stomach is empty. I say he is digging his grave with his teeth.

It is obvious that I am not going to satisfy him with just a salad and a bowl of soup. He says that if I don't serve meat he will just have to get something to eat elsewhere. Do you have any suggestions?

DEAR READER - Many people have trouble losing weight because they do not feel satisfied with small meals. But you don't need to eat small meals to cut down on calories. How many calories are in the food you eat depends a lot on how the food is prepared. I call it kitchen power, not willpower.

If he really likes to eat a lot start him off with a large bowl of light soup or consommé, but go easy on the salt. Avoid the cream soups or those that contain fat. Keep in mind that your goal is to eliminate all the excess fat and sweets you can. That is where the calories are.

Follow that with a leafy salad with a low-calorie salad dressing. You can make your own with a little oil and vinegar and spices but avoid those high-calorie dressings.

Then serve him lean meat with all the fat removed or baked or broiled chicken with the skin removed. Don't fry. For vegetables serve him plenty of the low-calorie items such as green beans or cabbage without added butter or sauces. Finally, if he must have a dessert serve him fresh fruit.

There are lots of hidden fats, such as those in breakfast rolls, commercial mixes and toppings.

DEAR DR. LAMB - Like the boy described in one of your columns, I also had warts that kept returning in spite of surgery, over-the-counter drugs and various treatments. A friend suggested that I place a piece of aspirin on the wart and cover it with a wet Band-Aid and continue to do so until the wart deteriorated and finally disappeared.

It has been several years now since I treated my last wart. I realize everyone's system is different, but I hope this suggestion might be of some help to that young man you wrote about.

DEAR READER - Thank you for your thoughtfulness. Aspirin is acetylsalicylic acid. That is the same ingredient found in salicylic acid plasters that I mentioned in the column you read. There are several preparations that contain salicylic acid such as Duofilm. It will destroy or debulk wart tissue. Even if it doesn't cure difficult warts it may debulk them to the point that freezing with liquid nitrogen will then be successful.

AUSTIN - Under the 1981 tax laws, all income earners are now eligible to open an Individual Retirement Account.

reliable and certain mode of investment of your savings, or a more risky investment plan.

Banks, savings and loans, mutual funds, insurance companies, credit unions, and brokerage houses offer a wide variety of IRA plans.

The IRA tax shelter does not last forever, however, since your savings will be taxed as you withdraw the funds upon retirement. Every dollar withdrawn will be taxed as ordinary income. But since you most likely will be in a lower tax bracket upon retirement, the bite the IRS takes then should be smaller. Once you reach age 59 1/2, you can tap any or all of your IRA cash. Should any withdrawal of funds be made prior to age 59 1/2, a 10% penalty is assessed against the account holder.

An IRA lets you accumulate money for retirement, while saving on taxes now. The law allows an income earner to deduct from taxable income the amount deposited into an IRA, up to a maximum of $2,000 per year ($4,000 where both spouses work, $2,250 where only one spouse works). Before you plunge into the IRA market, things you should consider are:

Despite the law's penalty for premature withdrawal, you are not required to keep your money in the same IRA from the time you open the account until you reach age 59 1/2.

1. Whether the financial institution offering the IRA insures your savings accumulated in the account. Most banks and savings and loans will insure your savings up to a certain amount. On the other hand some mutual funds offer no such protection.

Obtain as much information as you can on any plan you are seriously considering, including the reputation of the financial institution. If you feel that any financial institution has misrepresented an IRA plan, please contact your nearest Consumer Protection Office for information on how to file a complaint.

2. The interest rate being offered and the way it is calculated. Some rates are compounded daily, while others are compounded quarterly. The method could make a difference of thousands of dollars over a 20 to 30 year period.

3. Whether the financial institution has chosen a more

Short Supply Of Jobs Leaves Migrant Workers Stranded

SALEMBURG, N.C. (AP) — The migrant workers at Billy Tim's camp had little to do after rain muddled the dusty front yard and rotted peppers in the field. They just waited for work — something officials say has been unusually scarce this year.

State officials estimate that approximately 27,000 migrants are expected in North Carolina this year to pick tobacco, peppers, cucumbers and sweet potatoes. Many of them will not find jobs.

How many is not known, because only workers who register at camps are counted, says the federally funded Farmworkers Legal Services which provides legal help for migrants.

Authorities say the number of jobs has been reduced by too much rain in the eastern part of the state and freecrops in the west. Earlier this year, the state's peach crop was devastated when late spring frosts covered a five-county area of the southern Piedmont region.

Steve Adams, assistant supervisor of North Carolina's rural manpower program, a division of the state Employment Security Commission, said the state has warned migrants not to come to North Carolina because there was no work.

"We tried to tell them, but nothing stopped them," Adams said.

At Tim's camp near Fayetteville, men, women and babies waited last week on the house porch for the sun. One man pulled the last smoke from a cigarette; another picked up beer cans. The television blared inside and flies buzzed over rotting garbage left for a soon-to-be-eaten goat.

Some of the people said they came to Tim's labor camp because they could find no other work. It was through Tim that they hoped to get jobs at some of the surrounding farms. Now some have no money to leave.

Billy Ray Brown, a 44-year-old former welder waiting at Tim's for work, said he turned to migrant labor when construction jobs got scarce in his hometown of Tampa, Fla.

"I been down here five weeks and got one paycheck," he said, using that $60 check to buy groceries. Brown said the food was stolen, so he and his 47-year-old wife, Patricia, moved to Tim's with all their belongings — two pairs of jeans, a T-shirt, a work shirt and a cap.

"We been all the way to Tennessee looking for work," Mrs. Brown said. "We started out gathering oranges and grapefruit (in Florida), which the cold hurt. We went to Tennessee cause we were told there were jobs there. We walked 28 miles today...to get here."

For the Browns, the camp is a refuge. Thirty people live for free in three weathered plank houses. Families get their own room while singles bunk together, some on mattresses on the floor. Almost everyone shares the bathroom and eats out of the main kitchen. They pay $40 a person each week for the camp food.

One evening meal last week consisted of pork, potatoes and cabbage. Occasionally they have chicken necks, along with rice and beans. Tim's daughter, Joy, said people are allowed to eat whatever they pay or not.

"If they ain't working we still got to feed them," she said. "If they walk out owing us something we won't stop them. It's their loss, not ours."

Tim's brother, Joe, said he has 70 employees, for whom work is sporadic.

"The rain has stopped us from working steady," he said. "A lot of people are going from camp to camp (looking for steadier work). You need work to survive."

Survival is what drove several Mexican workers from two plank houses and a mobile home located just a few miles down the same corn-and tobacco-lined road. The migrants worked for farmer Earl Matthews but they left at the end of June when the market for cucumbers dried up.

"This is the worst I've ever seen for these people," Matthews said, explaining that the rain brought an unusually early and plentiful cucumber crop. He said pickle manufacturers filled their storage tanks before he harvested all of his crop.

"They were willing to work and all of a sudden there was no market," Matthews said. "I told them the market is gone and I can't afford to put (them) in the field."

Melvinia Brewington of the Migrant and Seasonal Farmworkers Association says the economy and bad weather has forced some farmers out of business, further reducing the number of jobs available.

"A lot of these big growers have gone bankrupt and the jobs just aren't there," she said.

Martin Boone, who works with migrants for a local Catholic Church, said this year has been especially tough on the workers.

He said migrants have difficulty finding work when there is too much rain, too much to pick or too little to pick.

He said this season has combined all of those elements.

"For most people, you just end up waiting," he said.

Members Of House Standing Behind Reagan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Disregarding what their Senate counterparts did more than two months ago, members of the House are standing by President Reagan on two major undertakings in his defense program.

In a session that stretched from late morning to mid-evening Wednesday, the House ratified the president's plan to begin production of the MX strategic missile and a new generation of Lockheed C-5 cargo planes.

The developments came as the House worked slowly through a $17.1 billion defense authorization bill for the fiscal year starting Oct. 1.

Among the items likely to be considered today was an effort to remove $54 million for production of a new type of nerve gas weapon. Sponsors voiced optimism that they could win that fight.

Challengers to Reagan's MX and cargo plane programs had less success.

By 212-209, the House voted to earmark $1.14 billion for production of the first nine MX missiles, as Reagan wanted, while putting a temporary hold on $260 million of those funds until the administration makes a decision in December on how to base the weapon.

Last fall, the administration rejected former President Carter's "shell game" plan to shuttle 200 missiles among 4,600 shelters in western states. It now appears to be leaning toward a "dense pack" base of 100 missiles in super-hardened silos placed only about 1,800 feet apart.

Reps. Nicholas Mavroules, D-Mass., and Beverly Byron,

D-Md., offered an amendment to delete all of the production money, as the Senate had done in May.

"Nothing is so aggravating as calmness," Wilde

Unemployment Rates at Mid-Year

SOURCE: Labor Department

NEA/Moffitt Cecil

The unemployment rate held stubbornly at 9.5 percent of the national work force in the Labor Department's seasonally adjusted figures for June. The rate was the same as for May, but 2.1 percent higher than a year ago. Black teens as usual showed the highest joblessness rate — 52.6 percent compared to 40.9 percent in June of 1981. Among major industries, construction was worst hit — 19.2 percent, up 3.1 percent over the previous year.

Chancellor Says US Has World Economic Responsibility

HOUSTON (AP) — There is a great danger the world will sink into a deep economic depression if the United States and other nations do not soon control their "exorbitant budgetary deficits," says West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt.

Heavy budgetary deficits, particularly by the United States, are driving up interest rates to "unprecedented heights" and causing a decline in investments and a rise in unemployment, Schmidt told a Chamber of Commerce luncheon Wednesday.

"If we do not stop allowing this fatal downward spiral to continue, there is a great danger of the recession leading to a world economic depression," with consequences as serious as the depression of the 1930s, he said.

He said "one of the dominating factors of the world economic situation" is that the U.S. budget deficit has risen from $26 billion in 1978 to more than $100 billion.

"Here lies the responsibility which a national economy like that of the United States, which is so decisive for the world economy, must recognize and live up to," said Schmidt.

The West German chancellor gently chided Americans for ideas about his country's position in the conflict between the West and the East. He labeled as "cliche concepts" the beliefs that West Germany is not lifting its fair share of the NATO defense, or that West Germany is edging toward neutrality.
