Britain ousts 25 Soviets

LONDON (AP) — Acting on information supplied by a top KGB defector, Britain today ordered 25 purported Soviet spies to leave the country in the biggest such expulsion in 14 years.

The Foreign Office said that in ordering out the six accredited diplomats and 19 business officials, journalists and embassy workers, it was going on the word of Oleg A. Gordievski, the chief operative in Britain of the KGB, the Soviet spy agency and secret police.

It said Gordievski, 46, posted in London since 1982 and officially listed as a Soviet Embassy counselor, had defected saying he

Accused of being spies

"wishes to become a citizen of a democratic country and live in a free society." He was given political asylum, it said, without revealing when he defected.

A Foreign Office statement said Gordievski was "in a position to know full details of Soviet intelligence activities and personnel in this country."

The Foreign Office dispensed with the usual diplomatic language and bluntly accused the 25 of spying. It gave them three weeks to leave Britain.

It said it summoned the Soviet charge d'affaires, Lev A. Parchine, and told him "that a significant number of Soviet representatives in London have been engaging in intelligence activities which are of course totally incompatible with their status and declared tasks."

It did not spell out their alleged actions but said "the nature and scale of the activities are completely unacceptable."

Parchine's response was not known and the Soviet Embassy said no one was available to comment.

It was the biggest single expulsion by Britain since 1971, when Britain threw out 105 Soviet diplomats and officials for alleged spying. Last April five Soviets were ordered to leave because of purported espionage activities.

In 1983, France expelled 47 Soviets who were believed engaged in espionage.

The deportees range from three embassy men holding the senior rank of first secretary to representatives of Soviet trade organizations and journalists of the state-controlled press, news agencies and radio.

The Foreign Office statement called the expulsions an act of national security which would not impair British efforts to run "a realistic dialogue" with the Kremlin and "contribute to mutual confidence between East and West."

But a Foreign Office spokesman, who insisted on not being identified, warned that Britain would "take an extremely serious view" of any retaliatory expulsion of British personnel in Moscow.

The Foreign Office said the diplomats expelled included First Secretaries Yuri V. Ejoy, Vyacheslav Kalitin and Boris Korchagin; Second Secretary Valeri G. Tokar; Third Secretary Anatoly Meretkov, and Dimitriy Vasilyev, an attache in the technical maintenance department.

Among those deported who did not hold diplomatic status were three embassy employees, seven people attached to the Soviet trade mission, the deputy manager of the Razno purchasing agency, and an employee of Moscow's Narodny Bank.

Others were two employees of global organizations — the International Cocoa Organization and the International Wheat Council — and five news media employees representing the official news agencies Tass and Novosti, Radio Moscow and the newspapers Socialist Industry and Komsomolskaya Pravda.

Presidential committee recommends South African 'pass laws' be dropped

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — A committee of the white-minority government took a dramatic step toward reforming apartheid today by suggesting that "pass laws" barring blacks from white areas be scrapped.

The 40-year-old laws "as applied at present are discriminatory and are in conflict with basic human rights," said a report by the President's Council Committee for Constitutional Affairs, which was made available to The Associated Press.

The committee's wishes will almost certainly be backed by President P.W. Botha, who appoints members of the council. To take effect, the reforms must be passed by Parliament, where Botha's ruling National Party controls 125 of the 178 seats.

No dates were recommended for the pass laws to end, and police today said they would still arrest any black who lacked documents necessary to be in a white area.

It was the second official move in two days to dismantle features of apartheid, the government's racial discrimination policies.

On Wednesday, Botha abandoned his party's long-held policy denying South African citizenship to blacks in so-called tribal homelands. The policy aimed at eventually isolating all of South Africa's 24 million blacks in homelands, and maintaining 87 percent of the country for the 5 million whites.

The government announced today that it was banning the Sept. 16 issue of Newsweek magazine, meaning it is illegal to sell the publication but not possess it.

The move came a day after one of the magazine's reporters, Ray Wilkinson, was served with a deportation order for coverage that the government said advocated "violence on the street." Newsweek said in New York that its reports from South Africa attempt to treat all sides fairly.

Police reported two new deaths in rioting overnight.

A police spokesman said a black policeman killed a man who was in a crowd stoning the policeman's house, and police officers firing shotguns and handguns killed a female member of a mob attacking a second private home.

These were among a dozen reports of anti-apartheid disturbances around Cape Town, police said. Most of the rest of the nation appeared quiet.

More than 700 people have been killed in 13 months of black mob violence and anti-apartheid rioting.

The report from the President's Council said South Africa should replace the pass laws with a national plan for orderly urbanization.

Lots of Tamales

Women of San Jose Catholic Church have spent many hours preparing tamales to be sold at the Fiesta Patrias celebration to be held this weekend. The tamales can be purchased at the Fiesta Patrias dances, one held on Friday at 8 p.m. at the San Jose Church hall featuring the crowning of the queen, and the big celebration dance to be held on Saturday at the DeBryun Warehouse one block east of the big bull barn.

Cocaine bust in Dallas yields 3 kilos

DALLAS (AP) — Members of a joint city-federal task force seized cocaine with a street value of about $500,000 worth of cocaine and were rounding up persons named in sealed indictments returned at the end of an 18-month investigation.

Taking part in the investigation were four federal agencies and Dallas police, authorities said.

U.S. Attorney Marvin Collins of the Northern District of Texas did not name the 15 persons named in sealed indictments, but he said Wednesday seven were in custody and the others were to be rounded up. He did not identify any of them and said authorities would ask that all of them be held without bond.

It was necessary, Collins said, to hold them without bond because they might flee and they posed a danger to the community.

Of the first group arrested early Wednesday, four claimed U.S. citizenship, one was from Mexico and one was from Cuba. One of those in custody was already in prison on a charge that Collins declined to reveal.

Officers seized about three kilos (about six pounds) of cocaine Wednesday as they arrested persons named in the indictments, according to Lt. Dave Davis of the Dallas Police narcotics division.

Rainy Reflections

Over two inches of rain doused Hereford Wednesday night with more than three inches reported in the Easter area. More rain is in the forecast for today and the temperature should reach the upper 80's. (Brand photo by Shawn Cockrum)

Reagan touts tax overhaul plan to senior citizens group

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — President Reagan, invoking his own age and approaching retirement, promoted his tax overhaul program to senior citizens today as a way to better the lives of their children and grandchildren.

If Congress approves his program,

Reagan said, younger Americans would keep more of their incomes through lower taxes, find more jobs in a healthy economy and benefit from a rising standard of living.

"Isn't that what we want for our children and grandchildren?" he asked.

Speaking to the Senior Citizens Forum on Tax Reform, the 74-year-old president commented, "You and I have much in common. We've lived out a great part of our lives." But, now, he told his audience, he needs their help in winning congressional approval for his program.

Warning that "special interests" are fighting his proposals, Reagan said that preserving tax shelters and loopholes now in the tax laws would "make the rest of us pay for the special treatment that they and their big-money clients receive."

"If you're going to out-flank those special interests and get this tax reform passed, a certain senior citizen is going to need your help — a fella named Ronald Reagan," the president said.

He also charged that present deductions had failed to keep up with inflation.

"The tax code has in effect made it more and more expensive to care for older parents or give children the good upbringing and education they deserve," he said.

The president also repeated his pledge to the senior citizens "that nothing in our tax plan would affect your Social Security checks in any way — period."

The president derided an unnamed "prominent national figure" for saying that his tax plan would hurt the middle class. "If I may use a word that people our age will remember, balderdash," Reagan said.

He was apparently referring to remarks over the weekend by New York Gov. Mario Cuomo, a Democrat, that the Reagan tax plan would be "devastating to the middle class" because it says to the middle class that "with one hand we want you to reach down and help us lift the poor. ... And, with the other, we want you to boost the rich."

Reagan maintained that "our fair share tax plan includes relief for millions of the needy. Under our plan the poor, and all blind, elderly or

Heavy rain halts dry spell

It finally rained! Area farmers have a little better outlook on life after waiting-out an 11-day dry spell. The last rain recorded in Hereford was Aug. 24 when the city received a tenth of an inch.

Thunderstorms moved in from the west around 7 p.m. and dumped 3.50 inches at Easter. Dawn had the next highest amount of rain in the area with three inches.

Summerfield reported 2.30 inches; Milo Center, 2.25; Ford, 2.10; and Bootleg, 1.30.

Arson being investigated

The Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department responded to a possible arson north of Dawn yesterday, and officers are investigating reports of a juvenile harrasing another juvenile at the labor camp here in Hereford.

One arrested on traffic violations

Police arrested one individual last night on charges of a traffic violation and no proof of insurance.

A burglary was reported at Hereford Concrete, a front door window was broken and $54 was taken. Two water hoses were reported stolen from Rivera Produce yesterday.

Express back on track at P.O.

Express mail is back on track at the Hereford Post Office, it was reported Wednesday. Express mail put in the post office by 2:30 p.m. can now make good connection to most parts of the U.S.

The post office has had a problem for about a week in making the airline connections in Amarillo, but the problem has been solved.

— Orthodox faith survives —

GRABARKA, Poland (AP) — In 1710, an Eastern Orthodox prophet led his plague-stricken village to this spot where it found health and salvation from miraculous spring-fed waters.

The faithful have returned to Grabarka, a hamlet 15 miles from the Soviet border, each summer since then in an annual pilgrimage to one of the Polish Orthodox Church's holiest shrines.

As many as 100,000 people take part in the pilgrimage each year in a living testament to the continuity of the Polish Orthodox faith, which has survived "Russification" campaigns during the 19th century Russian partition of Poland, the losses of millions of believers in Polish lands annexed by the Soviet Union after World War II and a distrustful Roman Catholic Church that considers itself the sole guardian of Polish nationalism.

With 800,000 believers, it remains the second-largest faith in Poland after Catholicism. Nearly 98 percent of the country's 37 million people are Catholic.

The pilgrimage centers on a hill covered with beech trees and dotted with spring-fed streams. Atop the hill is a one-story wooden church filled with painted icons and surrounded by thousands of wooden crosses planted in the ground by pilgrims who carry them to the shrine each year.

The pilgrimage combines elements of folk mysticism with religious fanaticism. Thousands of people from all over Poland took part in the 18-hour ritual Aug. 18, many of them spending all night on the hill in prayer and meditation.

Elderly women, their heads covered with babushkas, silently crawled on their knees around the church, expressing "their faith through misery," as one Orthodox bishop explained.

Men leading delegations of believers carried six-foot-tall crucifixes up the hill after journeys that took some of them days by foot.

At the foot of the hill, pilgrims washed their feet and shoes in the springs, mindful of the healing powers of the waters that legend has it saved villagers from a cholera plague in 1710.

More than two-thirds of the church's members are of Ukrainian, Byelorussian and Russian descent; Masses are said either in Russian or Old Church Slavonic, a Russian derivative.

The Polish church maintains its autonomy from the Russian Orthodox faith in the neighboring Soviet Union. Both splintered from the original Eastern Orthodox Church that developed in Constantinople in the 13th century after the schism with Rome.

The Orthodox faith, with 123 million followers worldwide, retains many elements of Catholicism, although its priests may marry and it rejects the jurisdiction of the pope in religious matters.

On hand for the pilgrimage this year was Filaret Varhomeev, the Russian Orthodox Church's foreign minister and metropolitan of Minsk and Byelorussia, part of Poland before World War II. The Polish church lost about 4.5 million believers after World War II when the Soviet Union annexed parts of eastern Poland, the heart of the Orthodox faith. Only two of the 18 seminaries operated by the church before the war remain on Polish territory. One is in Grabarka.

Consecrating an altar at a restored 900-year-old church in nearby Drohiczyn earlier in the day, Metropolitan Filaret said he carried "best wishes" from Patriarch Pimen of Moscow, leader of the Russian church, and said the two churches should learn to "love each other in faith."

The Polish church would seemingly oppose any threat to its autonomy from Moscow. "We are completely sovereign, completely independent," said Bazyl Doroszkiewicz, metropolitan of Warsaw and patriarch of the Polish church, in an interview at his Warsaw residence a few days before the pilgrimage.

The church's image problem among Catholics is compounded by its generally supportive stance toward Poland's communist government. Its leadership opposed the popular Solidarity free trade union movement in 1980-81. The Catholic church embraced Solidarity and gave it refuge.

"Many people dislike us for our loyal attitude to the authorities," Archbishop Bazyl said. "But we don't get involved in politics. Our activity is directed at building God's kingdom."

Cleaning House

Johnnie Turrentine and Sylvia Castillo have been shining the Black House all week to prepare for a reception Sunday honoring the retiring and the new executive directors of the Deaf Smith County Museum. The public is invited to the affair from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m. Sunday at the Black House. Lois Gilliland, retiring after 11 years as director, gave her duties to Juanita Phillips earlier this month.

PASS LAWS

South Africa's solution to urban overcrowding has been to allow whites to settle anywhere they wanted while regulating the numbers of blacks near the urban areas.

The report said more money should be spent in developing black townships, and allowances should be made for "informal" black settlements, or squatter camps that ring white areas.

"Blacks should themselves be involved in the development of the proposed urbanization strategy," the report said.

Botha said last month that the influx laws, applied to the 11 million blacks living in "white" South Africa, were unworkable.

Wilkinson, 41, a Briton on temporary assignment in South Africa for Newsweek, was arrested at his Cape Town hotel room Tuesday evening by police and taken to Johannesburg to be flown out of the country, said a colleague, Peter Youngusband.

The home affairs minister, Stoffel Botha, said Wednesday that a Newsweek article entitled "The Young Lions," about black anti-apartheid unrest, involved "selective reporting, half-truths and false innuendo." Wilkinson had a joint byline on the article.

Botha charged that the article advocated "violence on the street as a necessary element for the revolution," encouraged sabotage, and maintained that it was too late for racial reconciliation and that the outlawed African National Congress guerrilla movement was "not radical enough."

T.V. show to tell Perot tale

DALLAS (AP) — Next month, an actor will play the part of a famous Texas billionaire for a television mini-series on just one of the Texan's many famous exploits.

Although no names for the leading role have been announced, H. Ross Perot will be portrayed in a five-hour mini-series based on the book, "On Wings of Eagles."

Filming will begin Oct. 10, according to Perot and NBC.

The project is based on the best-selling book by Ken Follett about Perot and the late Col. Bull Simon's rescue of Electronic Data Systems Corp. employees from an Iranian jail in 1978.

The story was to be a motion picture, but will instead be a two-part television program on NBC next spring, a network spokesman said.

Perot is the billionaire founder and chairman of Dallas-based EDS. He has been a consultant on the program.

But publicity surrounding the conservative businessman had boosted him to national prominence long before any television show.

He sold his company last summer to General Motors Corp., bought a copy of the Magna Carta last fall, attempted to move the Museum of the American Indian from New York to Dallas this summer and recently won the Winston Churchill Award.

The mini-series will be shot in Mexico to simulate the terrain in Iran. The idea of making a movie was dropped when scriptwriters said they couldn't squeeze the story of the rescue into 90 minutes, Perot said.

Club Lends Support

Jim Ward of the Whiteface Kiwanis, left, presents Alva Lee Peeler a check for the Hereford Big Brothers-Big Sisters. Peeler, director of BB-BS, said the Golden Friendship donation will support one sibling match for one year. The BB-BS is currently in a fund-raising drive.

U.W. film presented

A film and a program on the United Way campaign were presented to Hereford Lions Club members Wednesday by Mike Carr and Lloyd Ames.

A film featuring John Madden, "Be a Winner, the United Way", was shown at the club meeting, and Carr pointed out that the United Way agencies are sometimes taken for granted. "Everyone is helped either directly or indirectly by these agencies," Carr said.

In other business at the weekly luncheon meeting, President Donald Hicks recognized Weldon Dickson and Stan Fry as "Lions of the Month" and presented each man with a plaque.

The local United Way campaign started Monday and is scheduled to end Nov. 2. This year's goal is $130,625—only a two percent increase over last year. The 10 participating agencies are: YMCA, Hereford Senior Citizens, Camp Fire, Inc., Big Brothers-Big Sisters, Boy Scouts, Red Cross, Salvation Army, Family Services Center, Children's Rehabilitation Center, and the High Plains Epilepsy Association.

Lions Honored Here

Weldon Dickson, left, and Stan Fry were recognized Wednesday as "Lions of the Month" for August. President Donald Hicks, rear, presented plaques to the two Lions for their participation and leadership in club projects. Hicks also presented a weekly fund-raising check to the American Heart Association.

REAGAN

disabled Americans living in poverty would be completely removed from federal income tax roles."

Reagan's plan would reduce tax rates from 14 to three — of 15, 25

35 percent — raise the personal exemption and limit or eliminate several deductions and credits. Overall, the White House says, 78 percent of Americans would pay less or the same tax that they pay now.

But many of Reagan's own fellow Republicans have warned him that unless he also deals with the nation's $150 billion trade deficit and the push in Congress for protectionist legislation, his wish to produce a tax overhaul by year's end may be impossible.

On Wednesday, Reagan appealed for Republican unity in the face of such warnings at a White House meeting with top GOP congressional leaders.

Teen dance to be held

The parents of 1986 Hereford High School seniors are sponsoring a teen dance from 9 a.m. until 12 midnight Saturday at the Roger Williams' barn off the Dimmitt highway.

Area high school and college students are invited to come and dance to the music by Power Project.

The price of admittance of $4 a person or $7 a couple will go into a fund which will help defer the cost of decorations and refreshments for the senior class prom. Soft drinks will also be on sale during the dance.

Future fund raising projects sponsored by the senior parents are being planned and they will be announced at a later date.

Snake dance to curl

A snake dance will curl down Main Street tonight at the weekly football pep rally.

Meeting at 8:30 p.m. at the Chamber of Commerce, everybody will form a line to march down main to First National Bank.

The Herd travels to Amarillo to face the Palo Duro Dons on Friday night.

Harsh spotlight shines on Farm Credit System

NEW YORK (AP) — The problems of American agriculture have turned a harsh spotlight on the large but little-known network of financial agencies that makes up the Farm Credit System.

The imposing names of the 12 Federal Land Banks, the 12 Federal Intermediate Credit Banks, and the 13 Banks for Cooperatives, of course, are well known to people who make their living from farming. The system is the source of more than one-third of all loans made to farmers.

The names are familiar as well to private investing institutions, state and local governments, and more than a few individual investors who own bonds known as "federal agency securities" issued by the system to raise the money for those loans.

For most of its history, however, many other denizens of the nation's cities and suburbs scarcely knew of the Farm Credit System's existence, much less how it worked or the possible problems it might face.

That is changing now, to many people's chagrin, as front-page headlines tell of what the system's top regulatory official describes as "the most severe crisis since the Depression" facing it.

To a large extent, analysts say, the Farm Credit System's problems coincide with those of many individual farmers, who are caught in a web of massive debt, declining land values and prices for farm products that have fallen far short of the expectations raised in the inflationary 1970s.

When big borrowers get into trouble, so do their lenders. Donald Wilkinson, governor of the Farm Credit Administration, a government agency that regulates the system, declared last week that parts of the network might have to be liquidated in 18 months to two years if the farm economy's problems keep getting worse. Some other observers say the moment of truth may come even sooner.

Those are unsettling words to investors in securities issued by the system, which — though not guaranteed by the government in the same way that Treasury bonds, bills and notes are — have long been considered almost as safe and solid as Treasury securities.

But the situation is not just a problem for farmers and bankers, warns Tad Piper, chief executive officer of Piper, Jaffray & Hopwood, a Minneapolis-based investment firm that has devoted a lot of study to the subject.

"The fortunes of farmers penetrate deeply into the nation's economic infrastructure," Piper said in a letter accompanying a detailed report by the firm's analysts.

So far, the Reagan administration has indicated its reluctance to rush in to the kind of rescue effort Wilkinson and others have been calling for. Nevertheless, many analysts argue that the stakes are too high for the government to let the situation get much worse.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:
On behalf of Bud to Blossom Garden Club, I would like to express deepest appreciation for the tremendous community cooperation received during Phase 1 of Project "Operation Wildflower."

We would like to thank the following for generous contributions: Hereford State Bank, Noon Kiwanis, First National Bank, Kiwanis Breakfast Club, Plains Insurance, Lone Star Insurance, Dorothy Renfro, Tonya and Dale Kleuskens, Seed Tec, Arrowhead Mills, George Warner Seed Co., Hereford Garden Club, and Alpha Iota Mu.

Thanks also to everyone who patronized our arts and crafts booth during the Town & Country Jubilee; to the 4th-grade students at Bluebonnet School who entered the poster contest; to KPAN for letting us "air" our project on two occasions; to Mike

Carr and the C of C office girls for their support and encouragement; to the Girls-In-Action at Avenue Baptist, and to The Hereford Brand for excellent coverage throughout the summer.

Because of such support, we will be real contenders for the National Council of State Garden Club's award for the most outstanding civic achievement project. Thanks so much.

Thirty-one pounds have been ordered for planting at the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame and other spot locations including: Hereford Senior Citizens Center alleyway, the YMCA, the Hereford Garden Center, the chamber of commerce frontage, E.B. Black House, eight school flower beds, and others.

Mrs. Joe C. Spann
President,

Cars, Cars and More Cars

Joe Martin Lozoya has been chosen as displayer of the month at Deaf Smith County Library. The 10-year-old has 159 hot wheels in his collection that he began approximately a year-and-a-half ago. His exhibit features Army, speed and antique cars.

Nutritional needs of older adults studied

Research is now being done that will lead to more complete answers about the nutritional needs of older adults, says Dr. Alice Hunt, a nutritionist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

"But much is already known that can help older adults stay well-nourished during the later years," she adds.

Hunt says it's known that older adults need the same nutrients as they did when they were younger. The amount of calories they need, however, is usually reduced as they become less active.

Other nutrient needs may be increased, Hunt points out. For example, the post-menopausal women may need more than the Recommended Dietary Allowance (RDA) of 800 milligrams of calcium.

"No nutrient can slow the aging process," states the specialist. "Research has not identified any vitamin or mineral which can prolong life, prevent cosmetic changes such as hair loss or skin wrinkling, or protect from diseases like arthritis, cancer or heart disease."

Hunt notes that taking a supplement with no more than the RDA for each vitamin or mineral usually will not be harmful for older adults. But taking large doses of some vitamins and minerals can be toxic, interfere with the absorption of other nutrients or block the action of certain medications.

"Growing evidence suggests that the way a person eats throughout life influences the chances of developing such health problems as heart disease, cancer, osteoporosis and diabetes," the specialist says. "If a person has inherited tendencies toward developing certain diseases, good nutrition may also help to slow down the process of development."

Hunt stresses that eating a variety of nutritious foods is one of the keys to a long, healthy and productive life. To get needed nutrients, she says to choose foods from the basic food groups, including milk and cheese; meats, poultry, fish and beans; vegetables and fruits, and breads and cereals.

Military fashion

Military men have put their mark on men's fashions: Eisenhower (jacket), Blucher (boot), Cardigan (sweater), Raglan (coat) and Wellington (boot). In the early 19th century the Duke of Wellington, fresh from his triumphs over Napoleon, appeared in public in trousers, thus hastening the departure of silk hose and breeches.

Violin students present program

Elizabeth Crider's Suzuki violin students presented a program of western medleys when members of Hereford Music Study Club met Monday at Deaf Smith County Library.

The students, who were accompanied by Cheryl Betzen playing the piano, also danced the Virginia Reel. Following the program, the meeting was called to order by President Jo Ella Cansler. All ladies joined together for the club collect and the memorial song, "Bless Us, O God" was sung for Margaret Lyons who died last month in a car wreck.

During the brief business meeting, thank yous were read from Mae McCracken and Violet Reinauer and appreciation was extended to Ann Meyer for the help she gave at the junior music festival.

Kay Lynn Caviness distributed new yearbooks and it was announced that this year's course of study will be composers of the American musical theater from 1900-66. The text is the world of musical comedy.

Members were reminded of the District I Fall Conference scheduled Nov. 9 in Borger. Richard Kidwell, former superintendent of music for Amarillo schools, will be the guest speaker.

Rinda Gilbert was recommended and voted as a new member and Aleane West was recognized as a special guest. Also, Frances Parker was reinstated as a member.

The next meeting was scheduled Oct. 14 in the home of Linda Reinauer. Also, the past president's luncheon is planned at noon Sept. 26 at the Hereford Country Club with Jan Walser presiding.

Ruth Allison led the invocation for the meeting Monday.

There were 22 members present.

Free entertainment scheduled at fair

The 1985 Amarillo Tri State Fair will again provide fairgoers with an exciting bill of free entertainment each day during the six-day event, Sept. 16-21.

A new musical act on the outdoor stage this year will be the Two For The Show Trio. The trio is versatile in their vocal numbers and instruments, including keyboards, guitar and banjo. Their repertoire of music and fun involves a wide range of modern sounds that feature the finest in close harmony and over forty crazy pantomimes of Spike Jones and Ray Stevens material.

The Paradise Country Band will also appear daily on the outdoor stage, courtesy of R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company. The band has played for many of the major fairs across the country and has an unique but authentic country style.

Joey Matheson, ventriloquist and acrobat, has also been booked throughout the fair as a free act. Matheson has performed at many shopping centers and special promotions throughout the area.

Two For The Show Trio will perform at 7:15 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. daily; Paradise Country Band at 5:45 p.m. and 8 p.m. each day, and Joey Matheson at 6:30 p.m. and 8:45 p.m. daily. The Bill Phillips Puppet Show will perform four times daily and is designed especially for the young folks.

Ann Landers

Many readers agree

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please print this letter. There are so many people who need to see it. I am the mother of four beautiful healthy daughters. I couldn't be happier or more proud. When I became pregnant with my fourth child nearly every person I met said, "Trying for the boy, I see."

I love children and I'm a good mother. I never cared if I had a boy or a girl. Only an idiot would have a baby just because she wanted one sex or another.

I could barely remain civil when some insensitive clod said in front of the girls, "Maybe four will be a charm. Hope you get that boy!" It made the girls feel as if they had been a disappointment. Nothing could be further from the truth.

After my fourth daughter was born the comments from my friends made me furious. Their calls sounded more like condolences than congratulations. I was amazed at the number of ignoramuses who asked, "Are you going to try again?"

To all you idiots: My husband and I are thrilled to have four beautiful, healthy children and we don't care what sex they are. If you can't share in our joy, please keep your mouth shut.—ALL GIRLS AND WE'RE THRILLED

DEAR THRILLED: My mother had four girls and told us repeatedly that she never hoped for a boy. In fact she regretted not having had a couple more girls.

There's an old saying, "A son is a son till he takes a wife. A daughter is a daughter all of her life." Many readers have written to say this is true.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Two years ago my father died a slow, miserable death from alcoholism. I feel guilty because I felt no remorse when he died. Not only was he an embarrassment to me but he had become very abusive to mom.

I began seeing a man who was very much like my father. He looked like him and had a way of intimidating people and at the same time was totally charming. The man, John X., was married. He kept saying he loved me, that he wanted to leave his wife and marry me, but he couldn't bear to lose his little boy.

He begged me to be patient and promised that everything would work out fine.

Well, what worked out is that I got pregnant—and so did his wife.

I was desperate. Eighteen years old and pregnant! So I went to bed with another guy, told him I was pregnant later, and that the baby was his.

I married the fellow to save face. It was only supposed to be temporary, but now I hope it lasts 60 years. He is a dream come true—sweet, sensitive, helpful, loving and everything I don't deserve.

The baby looks so much like her father it kills me because I'm still torching for John. I want to see him and can't seem to talk myself out of it.

I know how lucky I am to have such a great husband. So why can't I let go?

I can't talk to anyone I know about this and I can't afford a psychiatrist. My husband is too good a man to hurt. I need to clear my head of a lot of guilt. What shall I do? This isn't a made-up letter. It's my life.—TALLAHASSEE

DEAR TALL: Talk to a clergyman or a counselor. Also there are mental health professionals available at reasonable rates. Family Services is excellent. Look in the phone book. Please get some help before you louse up your life. Your Daddy problem still is unresolved.

What's the story on pot, cocaine, LSD, PCP, downers, speed? Can you handle them if you're careful? Send for Ann Landers' all-new booklet, "The Lowdown on Dope." For each booklet ordered, send $2.00, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (39 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11998, Chicago 01111.

Kingdom Seekers assemble

Members of Kingdom Seekers Sunday School class met Tuesday in the Southwestern Public Service Reddy Room for their first meeting of the new club year.

Fannie Townsend gave the opening prayer and Coy Tice, hostess, gave a devotional thought entitled "Out In The Fields With God!"

During the meeting, members held an auction of homemade items with Rosie Wall serving as auctioneer. Proceeds will go into the class benevolence fund.

The closing prayer was led by Juanita Houle.

The October meeting will be held in the home of Shirley Brown.

Others attending Irma Bain, Maxine Coleman, Trudy Gray, Brown, Thelma Carroll and Pauline Landers.

Ever wonder why a drink is called a cocktail? One legend traces the origin of the word to the Revolutionary War and a New England tavern run by Betsy Flanagan, where American officers gathered and complained to her about a prosperous Tory who lived nearby.

One night she served the officers a drink of rum and fruit juice—each cup decorated with a tall feather plucked from the Tory's prize rooster. When she told where the feathers came from, the Americans shouted their praise of the drink, as did a French volunteer who said, "Vive le coq's tail."

Bag lunches can be nutritious

For economy and convenience, it's hard to beat the humble sack lunch. But unless the sack lunch provides at least one-third of your daily food needs, it may not do much for you nutritionally, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service specialist.

According to nutritionist Marilyn Haggard, a sack lunch should contain two to three ounces of meat or other protein food; a cup of milk or plain yogurt or two thin slices of cheese; one or two slices of bread or a serving of cereal and a serving of fruit or vegetables to meet this nutritional requirement.

"Including vitamin C rich and deep green or yellow vegetables in lunches helps to round out these frequently neglected nutrients, although these foods can also be provided in morning or evening meals," she says.

"Many children — and adults — think that a sack lunch has to have sweets and fats to be satisfying," Haggard notes. "But if you pack these foods, remember that they're a concentrated source of calories that should be consumed in small amounts."

Potato chips, lots of dressing on sandwiches or salads, soft drinks and candy bars can quickly add many calories with few minerals and vitamins, explains the specialist.

For both economy and good nutrition, the best food buy for school children is probably the lunch served at school, Haggard advises. But if parents carry sack lunches too, it may be just as convenient to pack them for the whole family at once.

A variety of lunch meats, prepared spreads, snack foods and even sandwiches are available for instant lunch packing. But because pre-packaged individual servings of foods are more expensive, it can sometimes cost more to pack a sack lunch than to eat in a restaurant, notes the specialist.

Freezing sandwiches ahead can save total preparation time. All breads keep good quality in a freezer, but some usual sandwich ingredients should not be used in frozen sandwiches, Haggard says.

Raw vegetables, whites of hard-cooked eggs and mayonnaise do not keep good quality when frozen.

Vegetables lose their crispness, cooked egg whites become tough, and mayonnaise and jellies have a tendency to soak into bread and make it soggy. Instead, she suggests using butter or margarine as a spread on sandwiches for freezing.

Jobs seminar Sept. 20-21

Career Fair '85, a two-day jobs seminar, will be Sept. 20-21 at the Amarillo Hilton Inn.

Texas State Technical Institute, in conjunction with the Golden Spread Chapter of the Data Processing Management Association (DPMA), is sponsoring the Regional Data Processing Career Fair.

Employee recruiters from numerous companies throughout the state will conduct interviews both days.

TSTI computer science technology instructors will present seminars on "Creating Winning Resumes," "Psyche for Success" and "Survival Skills for the Interview." They will also have an Apple Macintosh with LaserWriter available to produce resumes for a $5 fee.

"The fair is open to individuals in computer-related fields who are looking either for their first job or for career advancement," said Dave Johnson, computer science instructor at TSTI.

"Individuals may either 'drop in' on the ongoing interviews or attend the entire career fair, which would be especially helpful for individuals seeking their first job."

The free fair will begin at 9:30 a.m. each day. TSTI will host a hospitality suite for recruiters, DPMA members and fair participants from 5 to 7 p.m. Sept. 20.

Public Notice
Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, in accordance with an order of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice that on August 20, 1985, the Company filed tariffs which propose revisions to the Joint User Tariffs and implementation of Shared Tenant Services Tariffs.
If the tariffs are approved by the Public Utility Commission, the Company will grandfather existing customers to the Joint User Tariffs and totally withdraw the Joint User Tariffs one year after the date of approval of the proposed tariff revisions, with one exception. Even after the one year period, existing single-line customers subscribing to Joint User Tariffs may continue their service under certain conditions.
Also, if the tariffs are approved, the provision of shared tenant services will require partitioned switching equipment.
No new rates are being proposed in the aforementioned tariffs. As a result of the partitioning of switching equipment, some existing customers may require additional PBX trunks. If so, the Company's revenues may increase. The Company is unable, at this time, to estimate the additional revenues, if any, which would result therefrom.
The Commission received these tariffs as Docket 6450 and a prehearing conference will be held at 10:00 A.M., Monday, September 23, 1985, at the Commission's offices at 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, in Austin, Texas.
Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. Motions to intervene should be filed with the Commission on or before 4:00 P.M., Friday, September 20, 1985. A request to intervene, participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223, or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221, teletypewriter for the deaf.

Aviso Público
De conformidad con una orden de la Comisión de Servicios Públicos de Texas, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company anuncia el registro de nuevas tarifas, las cuales proponen ciertas modificaciones de las Tarifas para Usuarios Mancomunados (Joint User Tariffs) y la implementación de Tarifas para Servicios Compartidos por Inquilinos (Shared Tenant Services Tariffs).
De aprobar la Comisión tales tarifas, la Compañía mantendrá vigentes los acuerdos con usuarios actuales en lo que respecta a Tarifas para Usuarios Mancomunados, pero discontinuará tales tarifas a partir del primer aniversario de la fecha en que se aprueben las nuevas tarifas. Sin embargo, existe una excepción; aún después de tal aniversario, los clientes con líneas sencillas que actualmente cuentan con el servicio para Usuarios Mancomunados podrán seguir con tal servicio sujeto a ciertas condiciones.
De aprobarse las nuevas tarifas, las disposiciones correspondientes a los Servicios Compartidos por Inquilinos requerirán el uso de conmutadores separados.
Las citadas tarifas no proponen nuevas cuotas. Sin embargo, es posible que debido a la separación de equipos de conmutación, algunos clientes actuales requerirán nuevos troncales PBX. De ser así, los ingresos de la Compañía podrían aumentar. En la actualidad, la Compañía no puede determinar el monto de ingresos adicionales que resultarían de tales tarifas.
La Comisión ha registrado este asunto bajo el Docket 6450. Se llevará a cabo una audiencia preliminar para discutir todo asunto relacionado con el Servicio Compartido por Inquilinos el lunes 23 de septiembre de 1985, a las 10:00 de la mañana, en las oficinas de la Comisión, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, en Austin, Texas.
Toda persona que desee intervenir o participar en el presente proceso debe notificar a la Comisión lo antes posible. Las solicitudes de intervención deberán presentarse ante la Comisión antes del viernes 20 de septiembre de 1985 a las 4:00 de la tarde. Las solicitudes de intervención, participación o información deben dirigirse a: Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Para obtener mayor información debe llamar a Public Utility Commission, Consumer Affairs Division, (512) 458-0223, o (512) 458-0227, o al (512) 458-0221 si requiere teletipo para personas con impedimentos de audición.

Hereford ranked 85th in Harris ratings this week

Despite a 26-13 loss to San Angelo Central in the season opener last Friday night, the Hereford Whitefaces moved up in the Harris Rating System class AAAAA rankings, although it was a small advance.

Hereford was ranked 89th in the preseason Harris rankings with a power rating of 163 points. This week, the Herd is ranked 85th with a power rating of 164 points.

San Angelo Central, ranked third in the preseason ratings, dropped to fifth place this week. Odessa Permian and Midland Lee remained the top two teams, and Conroe and Houston Yates moved ahead of San Angelo Central.

HHS volleyball coach notes great improvement in team

Hereford High School's varsity volleyball team is making much improvement this season, although it cannot be seen in the won-loss record or game scores, reports head coach Brenda Reeh.

The HHS varsity lost to Dumas last Saturday 15-3, 15-6, and fell to Caprock 15-7, 15-2 on Tuesday night. Both matches were played on the road.

In junior varsity action, Hereford lost to Dumas 15-9, 15-6 and lost to Caprock 15-0, 15-9.

"I don't think the scores reflected the way we played," Coach Reeh said.

"Tricia Kahlich had her best match of the season against Caprock, as well as Emma Gonzales.

"We're trying to not necessarily concentrate on the scores, but on improvement. We feel we've made a great improvement since last month.

"The improvement they've made is great, since many of them had not played volleyball before last month. "The girls are motivated because

Whitefaces to battle Palo Duro Dons in District 3-5A opener Friday night

By GARY CHRISTENSEN
Sports Editor

Eliminating turnovers and cutting down on penalties are major aims of the Hereford High School varsity football team this week as it prepares for its first District 3-5A game of the year, against Palo Duro.

Kickoff for Friday's game is 8 p.m. at Dick Bivins Stadium in Amarillo. The Herd played three quarters of football against San Angelo Central last Friday, only to have things fall through in the fourth quarter as San Angelo Central recorded a 26-13 win.

Palo Duro is coming off a 31-14 victory over Clovis, N.M., a team that Hereford will play on Oct. 11 in Clovis. Palo Duro moved up from 32nd to 29th in the state class AAAAA rankings, according to the Harris Rating System.

Hereford, meanwhile, is 85th in the rankings, compared to 89th in the preseason poll.

"We probably were our own worst enemy in the San Angelo Central game in that we fumbled twice, threw three interceptions, and were penalized seven times," said Jerry Taylor, HHS head coach.

"We have to work diligently at eliminating penalties and eliminating turnovers," he adds.

When asked about San Angelo Central's No. 3 ranking in the preseason poll, Taylor said, "I thought San Angelo Central had a good football team. They were closer to being as good as last year than I thought they would be.

"I feel they are as good as they were last year. I don't know if they're the third best team in the state, but there's no doubt in my mind that they're a good football team.

"They're kicking game was better than ours. We'll have to make some changes this week."

Last season, Hereford and Palo Duro tied for second in District 3-5A, both with 6-2 records, but Palo Duro went into the playoffs since the Dons defeated the Whitefaces.

Palo Duro has 11 starters from the 1984 season back this year, and 18 lettermen in all. Palo Duro's strengths include a big defensive team, including tackles weighing 262 pounds and 248 pounds. Taylor notes that the smallest player in Palo Duro's offensive line is 208 pounds.

Among the returning starters on offense for the Dons is quarterback Cal Hero, a senior.

Palo Duro's running game is based in senior fullback Ernie Williams, and senior tailback Earl Pettis. Leading receivers include split end Ernie Gutierrez and tight end Richard Owens, both seniors.

Coach Taylor said his Hereford players have a good attitude early in the season.

"I thought our people played with a lot of intensity, played diligently and went to San Angelo to win," Taylor said.

"If we had followed through with what we did the first three quarters, we would have put them away, but we didn't. We came out of the game with a good self-image," he continues.

"Palo Duro is probably as good a team as San Angelo Central, but they are a lot quicker. We'll need a super effort on our part against Palo Duro.

"We were fairly pleased with the way our people played at San Angelo. Our younger people played especially well, sophomores Tim Long, Robby Collier, Michael Phibbs and Marcus Brown.

"I was extremely pleased with our defense last week. Going into the game I felt uncomfortable, but as the game went on, I felt our defense was really coming around.

"Freddie Gamboa, Patrick Phibbs and Rodney Torres are all playing well. Adam Olivarez at defensive tackle also played well.

"I was pleased with Allen Dudding's running with the ball at fullback.

"I was also pleased with our passing game, although we should have caught more passes. Other than the interceptions, I thought our quarterbacks threw the ball well," Taylor said.

The Herd quarterbacks, Stefan

Hacker and Todd Shire, combined to complete 15 of 25 passes for 209 yards. Hacker completed 11 of 20 for 135 yards, and Shire completed four of five for 74 yards.

Eight different Hereford players caught passes, led by Bobby Baker with four receptions for 55 yards. Mark Artho caught three passes, and Jimmy Hazzard and Doug Watts each caught two passes.

A player who missed last Friday's game, Curtis Cotten, will be out of the Herd lineup for a few games, Taylor noted.

Cotten was in the hospital late last week, having his neck operated on because of an infection there. Cotten was out of the hospital on Monday, back in school Tuesday, but will not play for about three weeks.

There were 70 games in the 1984 National Football League season, involving 27 different quarterbacks, in which the passer accounted for at least 300 yards.

Landry says team's attitude is better

By DENNE H. FREEMAN AP Sports Writer
IRVING, Texas (AP) — Dallas Coach Tom Landry has a good example from last year to keep his team from getting the big head after Monday night's 30-point victory over the Washington Redskins.

Dallas opened with a 20-13 victory over the Los Angeles Rams on a Monday night, then were blasted 28-7 the next week by the New York Giants.

"That's a good example of what can happen if you don't get up for the second game on the schedule and I plan to use that example," said Landry. "Losing to the Giants turned out to be the game that knocked us out of the playoffs."

The Cowboys were still euphoric Tuesday after a 44-14 victory over the Redskins.

"It feels great to win a game like that," said Landry. "Anytime you beat Washington with a performance like we had, it's a big victory."

Landry then said with a chuckle at his weekly press luncheon, "I'm sure we've awakened everyone on our schedule for the next few weeks."

He said a big difference between last year and this year is that Dallas played a Monday night game on the West Coast then had to travel the next Sunday to the East Coast.

"That kills you," Landry said. "At least this time we opened at home and Detroit is close to our time zone. It's not going to be as bad."

The Cowboys intercepted Washington quarterback Joe Theismann five times and had a total of seven turnovers.

"I'm really surprised," said Landry. "It's hard to believe we beat them like that. It was one of the best victories we have had. Our secondary was tremendous. They had great anticipation."

Landry added, "I'm sure we'll be fit in practice this week."

Asked what the game told him about his team, Landry said, "I'm still not sure just where we are. Who could predict what happened Monday night?"

The Cowboys opened as four-point favorites over the Lions.

"Detroit looks good to me on film," said Landry. "They won a big game over Atlanta. It will be tough."

Landry said the attitude is much different on the 1985 Dallas team than it was last season.

"I could predict we were going to play well because I felt we've had a good climate to operate in since training camp," Landry said. "This team seems to be together."

"A victory like the one we had over Washington is a result of it (togetherness). If you have it, then things like this happen."

Scores both runs in 2-0 win over San Diego

Rose gets hit No. 4,192, breaks Cobb's record

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pete Rose passed Ty Cobb with a record-setting single to culminate 23 years of gritty determination, then christened the historic moment with his first tears as a baseball player.

Rose lined a first-inning single Wednesday night off San Diego's Eric Show to hustle past Cobb and put him alone atop baseball's all-time hit list with 4,192. The sharp line drive, a trademark of Rose's storied career, also touched off an emotional celebration that left him alone at first base, wiping away tears with his batting glove.

The Cincinnati Reds' player-manager has cried only one other time as an adult — at the death of his father Harry, the man he idolizes and credits for his hard-nosed style.

"I was doing all right, then I looked up and started thinking about my father," Rose said. "I saw him up there and right behind him was Ty Cobb — right BEHIND him. Regardless of what you think, he (Cobb) is up there."

"That's the only time I've ever cried on a baseball field."

The single was the first of several bold strokes by the 44-year-old Rose as he led the Reds to a 2-0 victory over the Padres before an uproarious crowd of 47,237 in his hometown.

Appropriately, it came 57 years to the day of Cobb's last plate appearance — a pinch-hit at-bat for the Philadelphia A's.

After going 0-for-4 before another capacity crowd at Riverfront Stadium the night before, Rose told himself to relax Wednesday and do what he does best — have fun playing baseball.

"I was just much more relaxed today," Rose said. "I just could tell I was going to get a hit. I approached the game differently. I didn't want to put everybody through another 0-for-4."

He ended that possibility on the fourth delivery from Show, a right-hander. With a blimp hovering above, the crowd screaming his name and flashbulbs popping all around, Rose cleanly lined a 2-1 slider toward left-center field.

From the instant it left his black Mizuno bat with an authoritative "crack," there was no doubt. He had THE HIT.

"It's like it was meant to be," said first base umpire Ed Montague. "It was like watching something from the movie, 'The Natural.' It was just meant to be."

Rose rounded first base as left fielder Carmelo Martinez retrieved the ball on one hop. Rose characteristically clapped his hands once and traded hand slaps with first base coach Tommy Helms.

Confetti and fireworks filled the air as 15-year-old Pete Rose Jr. led a parade of Reds to congratulate Rose while the stadium rocked with chants of "Pete, Pete!" Show walked over to shake his hand.

"It is the greatest moment in baseball history," said Reds first baseman Tony Perez, a close friend who shared the moment with a hug. "When I got there I said, 'It's about time.' Then Davey (Concepcion) and I picked him up. He was crying; I'd never seen him cry before. I cried, too."

Reds owner Marge Schott hugged Rose and waved a new Corvette onto the field, a gift for baseball's greatest hit producer. The ovation went on even after Rose's teammates left the field, lasting seven minutes.

Rose got teary recalling the moment long after the game had ended.

"I'm not smart enough to have the words to really describe my feelings," Rose said. "I didn't know what to do. I felt like a man looking for a hole to jump into. I was looking for someone to talk to."

"That was the first time I was ever on a baseball field and didn't know what to do. I can't explain my feelings. I've never had feelings like that before."

Rose said "It was like somebody wrote the script and I was playing the part. I was doing all right, then I sort of looked up and started to think about my father. I saw him up there, and right behind him was Ty Cobb."

That was when the tears came, tears that relieved the tension and emotion of the moment, tears that sent Rose over to lean on Helms' shoulder and brought Pete Jr. back on the field to support his father.

"That's the only time I ever cried on a baseball field," Rose said. He had cried only one other time in his life he said. "When my father died."

He got an on-field call after the game from President Reagan, who assured him: "Your reputation and legacy are secure. It will be a long time before anyone is standing in the spot where you're standing now."

Rose's 4,192nd hit was his 3,162nd single. Rose knew how to react when he got the hit. He dashed hard down the first base line as the capacity Riverfront Stadium crown erupted in a frenzy rarely heard in these parts since the glory days of the Big Red Machine.

He would add a triple later for his No. 4,193 and he would score both of his team's runs in a 2-0 victory over San Diego. But this night would be remembered for Pete Rose's trademark—a line-drive single, the single that broke the record.

Fawn Rose, who has been intently watching her father's exploits, was both delighted and somewhat somber after the momentous occasion.

"It was a wonderful feeling to know my father achieved the record he has strived for all his life. I got chills and cried," said the 20-year-old pre-med student Wednesday night at Franklin College in Columbus.

"It's sort of a big letdown too, now that it's over."

But the rest of the Rose contingent was happy and exhausted.

"I'm just so happy," said LaVerne Noeth, his mother. "He was crying. He doesn't show it, but he can be an emotional person."

"We're very happy, it's just wonderful," said wife Carol Rose with her young son Tyler in a baby walker.

"I just love him. It's wonderful," said Dave Rose, Pete's younger brother, with tears streaming down his cheeks.

Pete Rose stroked hit No. 4,192 in the town where he was born and played most of his 23 years in baseball. His triple in the seventh inning was hit into the left field corner, and he later scored on a sacrifice fly.

Hit No. 4,192 was his 95th of the season, highlighting from the beginning by a day-by-day countdown of the biggest record chase since Henry Aaron passed Babe Ruth in career home runs in 1974.

San Diego pitcher Eric Show, the victim of Rose's record hit, apparently was angrier over a subsequent single by Dave Parker and got into an altercation over it with leftfielder Carmelo Martinez.

The two players argued and nearly came to blows in the Padres' dugout, said Martinez, because Show felt the leftfielder should have caught Parker's ball in the third inning.

With the left-handed Parker at the plate, Martinez was shading toward the spot where Rose's hit No. 4,192 had fallen.

"Parker's a pull hitter," Martinez said. "I played him in left center. I had no chance for the ball."

Rose, who was on first base after walking, reached third on the hit and scored the game's first run a moment later on a force play.

When Martinez walked into the dugout, he overheard Show and pitching coach Galen Clasco talking. Show, who pitched seven innings, dressed and left the ballpark before reporters could talk to him, but Martinez said he heard the pitcher say that Parker's ball should have been caught.

"I think Galen was getting on him," Martinez said. "I don't think he knew I was there and could hear him. He said I should have had the ball. When I went back in the field, I said to myself, I've got to talk to him after the game."

But he didn't wait that long. When the Padres came in from the field after the fourth inning, Martinez confronted the pitcher.

"I said, 'You got anything to say, tell me. Anytime you got anything to say, I'm here,'" Martinez said. "He said, 'What are you talking about?'"

"I said, 'You know, and he said, 'Do something about it, really mad and I tried to do something about it.' Pitcher Dave Dravecky intervened, preventing a fight."

"It happened," Martinez said. "I hope it never happens again. You've got to stay together and think about personal things after the season, if he talks to me, I'll talk to him."

"Somebody had to say something. I was the one tonight. I didn't think he was that kind of person."

Because he left the park early, Show wasn't available for comment on the altercation with Martinez or on Rose's record-breaking hit.

"Maybe he felt more guilty," Martinez said. "Maybe he wanted me to catch Rose's ball, too."

Ways with Wine

by David Hutchins

GET THEE TO A DOKTOR

Bernkastel is unquestionably the most renowned wine town of the Mosel River region of Germany. The fame of this fairy tale village is derived from the Doktor vineyard which produces some of the most elegant and expensive white wines in the world. Bernkasteler Doktor has a richness and intensity that few German wines can match. The vineyard had three original owners, the Dr. Thanisch family, the Lauerburg family and Deinhard and Company. Each makes superb wine and it is useless to rank one above another. Any one of their names on a label can be used as a guide to quality in the Mosel.

German, French and American wines and one of the latest selections of domestic and imported beer are available at THE STORE. We are also very proud of our staff who are always anxious to answer any of your questions about wines...when or how to serve them. Stop by 400 N. 25 Mile, 364-7802 and look us over. Mon.-Sat. 10-9, use our drive up door until midnight for beer and wine, on Sun. only beer and wine is available from 12-12.

One of the most appropriate words used to describe a Mosel wine is 'neachy.'

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—State officials and business leaders have initiated their campaign to get voters to pass the Texas Water Plan, two of the proposed constitutional amendments on the November ballot.

Headed by the top legislative leadership, the campaign plans to spend $1.25 million selling the statewide water plan.

Already it reports total pledges of $300,000, including $100,000 pledged by dynamic Dallas businessman H. Ross Perot.

The campaign, the Water for Texas Future Committee, has former Texas Secretary of State John Fainter as treasurer.

The top three Republican gubernatorial prospects, Bill Clements, Kent Hance and Tom Loeffler have all endorsed the plan.

So have top Democrats, Gov. Mark White, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Gib Lewis.

Still a question mark on endorsement are the environmental groups which have defeated past water plans. And right now many of them are disappointed with Gov. White.

Former Roommate

Last week White named his old Baylor Law School roommate to the Texas Water Commission, and the environmentalists immediately criticized his choice of a person with no background in water issues.

White picked John Houchins, now a Houston lawyer, to the three-member commission. Houchins was touted as a neutral choice between environmentalists and water development proponents.

If anything, White has continued his trend of giving appointments to long-time friends whom he can trust on key votes.

But the choice did not placate the environmentalists and one key group, the 20,000-member Audubon Society, immediately announced its opposition to the water plan's passage because it does not protect coastal bays and estuaries. And the Sierra Club said it was "back to square one" on whether to endorse the plan.

Defends Choice

White defended his choice, saying it "doesn't take a whole lot of experience to determine if water is dirty or clean." White said Houchins also does not bring any built-in enemies among competing environmentalists and water developers.

Houchins replaces Lee Biggart, whose term expired in August. Biggart, a Dallas attorney, was appointed by former Gov. Clements.

Houston Key

Since the statewide voter turnout is expected to be low, around 800,000, the strong opposition of the environmentalists, if it materializes, could be enough to defeat the plan.

In fact, Fainter believes some 30-40 percent of the total vote could come from Harris County, where the Houston mayor's race is hot enough to generate a higher turnout.

But White is from Houston, Hobby is from Houston, Houchins is from Houston, as is Fainter. And Houston has an interest in the water plan's provisions to control flooding.

The top two mayoral candidates have endorsed the amendments, and if Houston is to again be the key, passage looks good.

Hughes Fortune

Texas ended its eight-year legal fight with California and the estate of reclusive billionaire Howard Hughes last week when the state received $25 million, the second half of the $50 million settlement negotiated last year.

Texas had pursued inheritance tax claims when Hughes died, and the case went to the U.S. supreme court three times.

The complicated case is "wrapped up," said Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox.

Hughes was born in Texas, and the state claimed that although he rented or borrowed residences in other states in his lifetime, he always was a Texan and his estate was subject to an 18 percent inheritance tax.

Hunting Season

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department last week approved higher fees for use of state parks and shortened the duck-hunting season because of fewer birds.

The fee increase was necessary to cover a $897,000 revenue shortage. The daily $2 per car entrance fee was not touched, but overnight rates were raised by $2 for primitive camping sites to $8 for cabins. Agency experts predicted fewer ducks because of dry weather conditions and loss of nesting habitats.

Class supper scheduled

The annual Hereford High School senior class supper is scheduled from 5-7:30 p.m. Sept. 20 in the HHS cafeteria.

Tickets are priced at $4 for adults and $3 for children 10 and under.

Money raised goes to finance senior activities including the spring banquet.

Tickets may be reserved by calling any senior. For more information call Stefan Hacker, senior class president.

Animal collector has traveled the world for his menagerie

By CATHY KIRKHAM Kerrville Daily Times

KERRVILLE, Texas (AP) — When Earl Turner pulls his jeep laden with crates of vegetables, chicken and fish onto his ranch south of Kerrville, it doesn't mean the family is having a feast.

It's just an ordinary weekly shopping trip for his more than 30 exotic animals.

Turner, 42, said while feeding his reptiles, birds and mammals costs twice as much as feeding his six-member family, he's doing what he's always wanted to do — collect animals.

"If I didn't do this, I'd probably be just like everybody else," he said.

"I'd go hunting, fishing or spend time on the beach — but I'd be miserable."

Like a real-life "Indiana Jones," Turner has traveled worldwide battling cobras and collecting animals, pre-Columbian artifacts and ancient skulls.

Recounting a brush with a giant cobra, Turner said he wrestled the almost 18-foot-long serpent with a broom before capturing it.

Turner carries scars of bites from a brown recluse spider and four poisonous snakes as souvenirs from trips to remote regions and from caring for his unconventional animals at home.

The family's refrigerator is stocked with king cobra antivenin "in case of emergencies," he said.

Holding a degree in zoology, Turner has worked as curator for the Fort Worth and Tulsa, Okla., zoos and has helped gather information for two recent reptile books.

He also teaches biology, chemistry and physics in Leakey and his wife Ann teaches in Kerrville.

The Turners hope some day to create a natural history educational center for the public as a non-commercial venture showing animals in their natural habitat.

But for now, Turner just keeps building his inventory.

A giant snapping turtle lives in a bathtub-sized basin in the yard and rare reptiles from the U.S., Australia, Asia and South America are housed in a separate building.

A three-generation North American rattlesnake family occupies six aquariums across a shelf.

"I don't loan many animals out because they're like books or money — you rarely get them back," he said.

Turner said he has little respect for municipally operated zoos based on several bad past experiences he had working with them.

"Politics and low wages — they get people to care for extremely rare animals who know nothing about them," he said. "I've loaned healthy animals to zoos and collectors and they've died a week later."

Calling reptiles "the forgotten animals," Turner said he's especially fascinated by tortoises, turtles and snakes because there has been so little research done on them.

"Zoos get Galapagos tortoises when they're already big and then figure their life expectancy is 100 or so years," he said. Tortoises don't become sexually mature until they're about 20, he said.

Reproduction in captivity, allowing observation from birth, has occurred only seven times in the world — once in Texas.

Turner is the successful Texas breeder.

Three five-inch baby Galapagos tortoises bask under a heat lamp in an aquarium near the Turner's kitchen.

Turner has an adult female and three more baby tortoises loaned to a zoo he trusts — the Gladys Porter Zoo in Brownsville.

The rest of the tortoise family is outside.

Two females and one male 300-pound Galapagos saunter to the fence of their dog-run-like pen to greet visitors.

Turner said he hopes to learn more through the years about these ancient, mysterious creatures that probably will outlive him and his family.

Singers specialize in Congressional parodies

WASHINGTON (AP) — By day, they toil in congressional offices. By night, they poke fun at the very institution that gives them work — official Washington.

Hill staffers who call themselves "The Capitol Steps" use musical satire to lampoon politicians, government waste and congressional silliness. The lyrics to one of their songs, set to the tune of "Who Will Buy?," jab at Pentagon overcharges:

"Who will buy my wonderful hamper? Help to build our nation's defense. It's on sale for ten thousand dollars.

At Hechinger's it's fifteen cents."

The music began in 1981, when Elaine Newport and Bill Strauss, then working for then-Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., were planning an office Christmas party. Looking around for entertainment, they figured that if actors can be politicians, politicians can be actors. They put on a show, which was so well-received they were asked to perform at other parties.

"It snowballed. Like so many things on Capitol Hill, it just kept going and going and now it's out of control," said Newport.

The Capitol Steps perform a few times a month in public and frequently do banquets and conventions, for groups of all political persuasions. Most of the eight-member cast are Republicans. But they say their humor is strictly bipartisan since they make fun of everyone.

A parody of "Send in the Clowns" depicts Vice President George Bush savoring his re-election and contemplating his future.

"Can I run again? It's so fun to win.

Can I run against Fritz one more time? I'll pulverize him! He must have a clone. Please send in his clone!"

Since political humor can have a short shelf life, the cast is always trying to update the material. "I remember the day Andropov died. You wake up and think — gee, I'm worried about the fate of the Western world but what I'm really worried about is what rhymes with Gorbachev?" said Newport.

The Capitol Steps have one number that probably won't be outdated anytime soon. Using "Tomorrow," they deliver an ode to the federal deficit.

"My budget will be elastic. Never pay with cash when you have plastic. From today I'll borrow. I'll borrow. I'll mortgage tomorrow And pay back another day."

Members doubt they can parody their part-time parody into full-time work, but they have released an album and they enjoy the moonlighting. "It's just your typical office party that got out of control," said Newport. "We're the third longest-running party on Capitol Hill."
