NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) - Kurdish rebels said today Saddam Hussein's loyalists used warplanes and helicopter gunships to attack civilians in an effort to crush a spreading rebellion. They claimed to drive soldiers from a key oil center.

Shiite Muslim leaders accused the Iraqi president's elite Republican Guard of damaging some of Islam's holiest shrines during clashes in southern Iraq on Thursday, two weeks after the cease-fire in the Persian Gulf War.

Since the allied offensive that crushed Saddam's army in Kuwait and seized a large portion of southern Iraq, Baghdad has been struggling to maintain control over numerous insurrections.

Jalal Talabani, head of the Patriotic Union of Kurdistan, said Iraqi troops rounded up residents from government-held parts of Kirkuk and then strafed them with helicopters. He claimed hundreds of people were killed or wounded.

The rebels claims have been impossible to confirm, because no Western reporters have been able to reach the fighting in recent days.

Talabani, who spoke to The Associated Press in Damascus, Syria, also claimed that the government used warplanes to attack protesters in other parts of Kurdistan. He said Iraqi forces set four oil wells ablaze before being forced out of eastern Kirkuk, a major oil center.

He said Dohuk province bordering Turkey "has been liberated" by the rebel forces fighting for autonomy from the central government.

President Bush on Thursday cautioned Iraq against using combat helicopters to crush internal unrest.

It was his second such warning in as many days.

Such action, he told a news conference on the Caribbean island of Martinique, "makes it very, very complicated" to arrange a permanent cease-fire.

Bush said U.S.-led allied troops, who control 20 percent of Iraq's territory following the Persian Gulf War, "are not going to be - all of them - out of there until there's a cease-fire, a formalized cease-fire."

A clandestine Kurdish radio station, monitored in London, claimed the Kurds have seized thousands of square miles of territory in Iraq. It invited journalists to inspect the damage caused by Saddam's troops.

The radio, "Voice of the People of Kurdistan," appealed for discipline. It asked people in rebel-held areas to obey the instructions of the Kurdistan Front in order to get public services working again. The Front is the umbrella organization of all Kurdish rebel groups.

Kurdish rebels had claimed they control roughly 75 percent of the mountainous area of Kurdistan in the north. They said they were battling for control of Mosul as well as Kirkuk, the region's largest cities.

Iranian radio reported that rebels killed an official of Iraq's ruling Baath Party and 18 other government officials during fighting in the northeastern Kurdish province of Sulaimaniyah.

Iran's official Islamic Republic News Agency said Iraqi rebels told it that Republican Guard artillery had damaged the golden domes over the shrines of Shiite imams Hussein and Abbas in Karbala.

agreement, not their differences, on the Middle East.

Mitterrand said the job of the 12,000 French troops in the Persian Gulf is done now that Iraq has been driven out of Kuwait. "We have not been asked to re-establish law and order within" Iraq, he said.

Bush said Iraq's use of combat helicopters to quash rebels violates the understanding allied and Iraqi generals reached in setting a temporary cease-fire.

That makes even harder the task of getting a permanent cease-fire, he said, and the U.S. troops won't pull out of southern Iraq until that can be arranged.

"I do not want to play into the hands of Iran and other countries that had suggested what we want is a permanent stationing of U.S. troops in the area. I want to bring them home," the president said. But, he added, "security arrangements" must first be in place.

Bush said he saw no chance of U.S. troops being drawn into a permanent peacekeeping role, as they have been for almost four decades in South Korea. "We are not going to permit this to drag on... a la Korea," he said.

Mitterrand, asked if he still viewed Arafat as the leader of the Palestinians, replied "It's for the Palestinians to answer that. Mr. Yasser Arafat remains to my knowledge the leader of the PLO and the PLO still appears as the representative organization."

But he said "other forces" are coming forward to speak for the Palestinians, including those whom Secretary of State James A. Baker III met with in Israel earlier this week.

Bush will stay in Bermuda until Sunday, then attend a homecoming celebration in Sumter, S.C., for troops returning from the gulf on his way back to Washington.

'Robin Hood' school plan likely

AUSTIN (AP) - Local property tax revenue likely will be shifted from wealthier to poorer school districts within 200 new taxing regions when a compromise school finance reform plan is developed, a key senator said.

"The more you listen to it, the fewer choices I see we have that are real practical choices," Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, said Thursday.

He heads a conference committee working on differences between House and Senate school funding plans. The bills were passed in response to a Texas Supreme Court order to equitably fund poor school districts.

"We're stuck with a shoot-from-the-hip court that shot and didn't necessarily hit the mark, we're stuck with an antiquated constitution, and we're stuck with modern-day problems in education," Parker said. "And we're faced with trying to find something that will wend its way in between all of those pitfalls."

The Supreme Court ruled unconstitutional the $14 billion-a-year school finance system, which relies on state aid, local property taxes and some federal money. Disparities in education funding among school districts are caused by differences in local property wealth.

The court gave lawmakers until April 1 to reform the system. Parker said the compromise plan likely will include 200 education taxing districts drawn largely along county lines.

A minimum local property tax rate will be set, and some local property tax revenue will be shifted from rich to poor school districts within the taxing districts.

The tax rate likely will be between the House's 60 cents per $100 valuation, climbing to 80 cents in four years, and the Senate's figures of 70 cents to $1, he said.

School districts could raise local property taxes higher to get additional money, which would be shared to ensure every district gets the same amount at a particular tax rate.

The conference committee also heard an analysis of a proposal to tax utilities and mineral assets statewide rather than leaving them in the local property tax base. The idea has been suggested by some as a way to get around the "Robin Hood" shifting of school districts' tax money.

But Parker said the idea wouldn't work. It still would mean redistribution of local property tax money to meet the court's requirements for equity, he said.

"It takes money from poor districts which has to be replaced. It converts wealthy districts into poor districts virtually overnight, and we then begin to have to help them more, so you don't really gain that much money by that kind of equation," he said.

If the conference committee approves a compromise bill, it would be sent to the House and Senate for approval.

Bush says action hurts cease-fire

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) - President Bush says Iraq's use of helicopters against rebel forces could delay a formal cease-fire in the Persian Gulf War. But he promises that U.S. forces in southern Iraq will not be dragged into a long-term, Korea-type peacekeeping role.

Bush was spending today relaxing on this resort island where he will complete his first round of postwar consultations with key allies on Saturday by meeting with British Prime Minister John Major.

Rainy weather forced Bush to put off plans for a morning round of golf. Some 250 U.S. sailors, airmen and their families from the Bermuda Naval Air Station stood in a downpour for more than an hour to greet the president on Thursday night before Air Force One arrived from Martinique.

Bush and French President Francois Mitterrand spent five hours together on that French Caribbean island reviewing the prospects for building a lasting peace in the Middle East in the aftermath of the Persian Gulf War with Iraq.

Bush began his five-day trip in Ottawa on Wednesday conferring with Canadian Prime Minister Brian Mulroney.

Bush said "a Palestinian state is not the answer" to Arab-Israeli differences and he took another slap at Yasser Arafat, chairman of the Palestine Liberation Organization. "He simply bet on the wrong horse" with his ardent support of Iraqi President Saddam Hussein, the president said.

Mitterrand said it was dangerous to deny a people "any form of identity," and reiterated his support for some form of statehood for the Palestinians.

But he and Bush both took pains to emphasize their points of Thrifths rack up big 1990 losses

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nation's savings and loans continued to pile up big losses in 1990, but analysts say lower interest rates and the government's program of closing and rescuing failed institutions could lead to improvement this year.

The 2,342 thrifths still outside government control at the end of the year lost $965 million in the final three months of 1990, the Office of Thrift Supervision said Thursday. For the entire year, private sector thrifths lost $2.41 billion.

The 1990 loss was down from $6.23 billion in 1989, largely because of the removal of 213 failed institutions by the government bailout agency, the Resolution Trust Corp.

However, losses rose 25 percent from the third to fourth quarters, even with the seizure of 39 insolvent S&Ls those months.

Also - and despite the removal of the worst thrifths - private-sector S&Ls' bad loans as a percentage of all loans rose through the year. The percentage of bad loans in S&L portfolios was 2.34 at the end of the year, compared with 2.03 at the end of the first quarter.

The industry as a whole has not earned money since 1986.

Economist Martin Regalia of the National Council of Savings Institutions said the latest data seem to show that the losses were connected with the economy and were not a reflection of huge thrift problems built up during the 1980s.

LA cops face indictment

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Four police officers were ordered to surrender today after their indictments in the beating of a motorist, a case that has prompted federal authorities to investigate police brutality nationwide.

At the same time Thursday, Police Chief Daryl Gates withstood continuing pressure to resign.

And Rodney King, the 25-year-old motorist whose beating was recorded by a bystander trying out a new video camera, was recovering from facial surgery. King, whose skull was broken in nine places, was in good condition, said Steve Lerman, a spokesman for King's attorney.

A Los Angeles County grand jury on Thursday indicted a sergeant and three officers on charges stemming from the March 3 beating, and they were told to surrender in court today, the Los Angeles Times reported.

King was clubbed, kicked, shocked with a stun gun and stomped during a traffic stop. National television programs showed the tape of the assault.

Another 11 officers at the scene of the beating may face department discipline or prosecution, the paper said, citing attorneys for the officers and an unnamed law enforcement source.

Officers named in the sealed indictments, according to the Times, are: Sgt. Stacey Koon, 40; Officers Ted Briseno, 38, and Laurence Powell, 28, and Timothy Wind, 30, a rookie still on probation. The charges were not disclosed.

A spokeswoman for Los Angeles County District Attorney Ira Reiner declined to comment on the report, but Reiner set a news conference for today to discuss the investigation.

In Washington, meanwhile, Attorney General Dick Thornburgh ordered the Civil Rights Division's inquiry into the incident widened to review all police brutality complaints to the Justice Department in the past six years.

Gates said he welcomes Thornburgh's review.

"Bring on his investigators. Look at what we've done," Gates said, referring to his administration of the 8,300-officer department. "I'm very proud of it."

Gates sat impassively at a routine Police Commission meeting Thursday where a crowd of about 400 people demanded he resign and a succession of community activists, civil rights leaders and elected officials, most from the black community, decried him. King is black.

The audience chanted, "Gates must go! Gates must go!"

Black leaders said their communities fear police.

"They don't know whether justice will be meted out, or whether a judge, jury and executioner is pulling up behind them" when they are stopped by a patrol car, state Assemblyman Curtis Tucker Jr., a Democrat from Inglewood, said at the meeting.

Gates said after the meeting he won't resign.

"I'm not going anywhere," he said, "Anyone who thinks I'm going to slink away is wrong."

Reception planned for Lt. Maeder

Lt. Gerald Maeder, husband of Hereford native Linda Maeder, will be honored at a program and reception Saturday at 2 p.m. at Sugarland Mall in Hereford.

Henry Reid, mall manager, said the mall plans to individually honor each serviceman as they return home from Operation Desert Storm in the Persian Gulf.

Other service personnel from Hereford have returned to the United States, but Maeder is the first to come back to Hereford. Reid said the program will last about one hour, and the public is invited to attend.

Plans are still being made by the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce to honor Deaf Smith County service personnel who served in the war sometime around Memorial Day.

Operation Heartshield is still taking orders for special "Welcome Home" signs suitable for display in yards, windows or other places.

FDA considers Alzheimer drug

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Food and Drug Administration is considering approving the first drug proposed for the treatment of Alzheimer's disease, even though the agency questioned research on the drug last January.

The drug, called tacrine or THA, has left a trail of controversy through more than five years of research and an FDA hearing was scheduled today to evaluate the results of new studies at 16 different university hospitals.

Sources familiar with the studies say THA has shown it can improve the thinking processes in some Alzheimer's patients, but, at the same time, the drug can pose a serious risk of liver damage if misused.

"It's going to be a close call," said a researcher who spoke on condition of anonymity. "It's really a question of tradeoffs."

Although THA may help the thinking processes of Alzheimer's patients, the researcher said, there is no evidence that it stops the disease process itself. In effect, he said, the drug treats only the symptoms of memory loss typical of the brain disease.

A study published by Dr. William K. Summers of Arcadia, Calif., in the New England Journal of Medicine in 1986 said THA was found to ease the Alzheimer's symptoms in 17 patients.

The report set off a demand for the drug, which is available overseas, and the government later banned its importation while clinical trials in this country were under way.

In January, the FDA published a sharply worded criticism of Summers' study, saying it "led many to believe that a major breakthrough had been made in the treatment of Alzheimer's."

The agency said an investigation "has revealed deficiencies of sufficient importance to raise major questions" about Summers' conclusions.

Furthermore, the FDA questioned whether THA actually relieved Alzheimer's symptoms and said any possible benefit from THA could be offset by the drug's tendency to cause liver damage.

Alzheimer's disease is the fourth leading cause of death among American adults, killing more than 100,000 annually. About 4 million the U.S. are thought to be afflicted.

The disease causes a slow deterioration of mental function, such as memory. Eventually patients lose control of body functions, become unable to care for themselves and then die. The disease process may take 20 years, causing an immense financial and emotional burden on families.

Researchers and pharmaceutical firms have been scrambling for years to find a drug to treat Alzheimer's, and THA is the first proposed for FDA approval for that specific use.

Warner-Lambert Co., parent firm of Parke-Davis, is seeking approval to market THA under the brand name Cognex.

Clinical trials have been under way at 16 university hospitals under the sponsorship of Warner-Lambert. At one point, the studies were halted when liver damage was detected in a number of patients. The trials resumed, however, when dosages were reduced.

The drug works by blocking the breakdown of acetylcholine, a neurotransmitter chemical in the brain. Such chemicals are essential for carrying signals between nerves in the brain.

Without acetylcholine, the brain stops working.

Normally, an acetylcholine molecule is used once. This works fine as long as the supply of neurotransmitters is ample. But studies show that in Alzheimer's patients, acetylcholine and a similar chemical, norepinephrine, are in short supply.

Some researchers believe the thinking process in Alzheimer's patients can be improved by preventing acetylcholine from being broken down, thus making the chemical available to the brain for repeated use. THA, according to some studies, does the job.

US troops' health threatened

WASHINGTON (AP) - The noxious fumes spewing from the burning oil wells of Kuwait could cause lingering health problems for American forces and Kuwaitis breathing the mucky air.

A U.S. military doctor in Kuwait said members of his unit were coughing continuously, complaining of sore throats and of nose and skin irritation from the sooty clouds blanketing the region.

Health experts say the Kuwaiti people, as well as the thousands of American troops in Kuwait and in southern Iraq, are being exposed to gases that could cause respiratory illness, stomach and skin disease, and possibly cancer.

The Bush administration was so concerned it sent a team of experts led by the Environmental Protection Agency to assess the health risks.

The group, which left for Kuwait last Saturday, is monitoring the types of gases being released into the air, their concentrations and the risk they pose to U.S. personnel, EPA spokesman John Kasper said.

The six or seven specialists will take up to three weeks to complete their measurements and will share the data with Kuwaiti officials if asked, Kasper said.

A group of senators also is heading to the region this week to study, among other things, the effects of the fires on the environment and on human health.

"Crude oil is dangerous, carcinogenic," said Sen. Max Baucus, D-Mont., chairman of the Senate subcommittee on environmental protection. "Prolonged exposure could lead to lung disease."

Military physicians with units in Kuwait have been warning senior commanders of the danger but feel their concerns are being ignored, one doctor said.

"They tell us, 'Let's get the job done, and the quicker we do that the sooner we can get out of here,'" said one doctor who asked that his name not be used.

He said among the petroleum-based chemicals known as hydrocarbons - being released into the air are benzene, xylene and toluene. All are considered to carry a serious cancer risk when breathed in high concentrations, health experts say.

The soot probably reflects the presence of tar and some hydrocarbons, "which will undeniably have human carcinogens in them," said Robert Frank, a professor of environmental health sciences at Johns Hopkins University.

Such particles can be so tiny that they invade the deepest recesses of the lungs, too small to be filtered out by the nose, he said.

"The effects of such exposure can be significant even in the short term" said Marc Schenker, an expert on environmental medicine at the University of California and for the American Lung Association.

Asthma and other respiratory diseases can result from breathing the fumes, and if any of the particles land on food and are ingested by humans, they can cause stomach disturbances and other illness, Schenker said.

But the fumes likely aren't cancer-causing unless people are exposed to them in high concentrations over a period of years, he said.

So far little is known about the concentrations of the gases, the size of the particles or the weather conditions that affect the flow of the toxins.

The world has never known so many uncontrolled oil fires concentrated in one place, and environmental health experts don't know how to assess the human toll.

Berlanga appeals contempt of court charge

AUSTIN (AP) - The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals will decide whether state Rep. Hugo Berlanga must turn over his business records to a special grand jury investigating alleged influence peddling at the Capitol.

Berlanga, D-Corpus Christi, appealed his contempt of court charge Thursday. The Court of Criminal Appeals did not indicate when it would consider the appeal.

Berlanga was found in contempt Wednesday and fined $500 by State District Judge Bob Perkins.

In the appeal, Berlanga's attorney J.A. "Tony" Canales of Corpus Christi said the contempt order is illegal because it penalizes Berlanga "for exercise of his constitutional right against self incrimination."

The grand jury is looking into dealings between Berlanga and the prominent San Antonio law firm of Heard, Goggan, Blair and Williams, whose relationship with lawmakers has been central to the investigation.

House Speaker Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth, was indicted by the grand jury in December on misdemeanor charges that he accepted a gift in the form of a tax payment from Heard, Goggan, Lewis has denied any wrongdoing. Berlanga is a key lieutenant of Lewis.

The speaker appointed Berlanga to the No. 2 position in the House in 1983, a post Berlanga held until last March. Currently, he is chairman of the powerful Calendars Committee that decides which bills reach the House for debate.

Berlanga was ordered by the grand jury to bring personal and business income tax records, and documents from Berlanga Business Consultants, Title USA, and Federal Civil Process

Inc. Judge Perkins said he couldn't force Berlanga to submit his income tax records, but maintained that the lawmaker must produce his business records.

Berlanga Business Consultants received a $20,000 fee from Federal Civil Process in 1988, according to an employee who worked for the legal process service company. Federal Civil Process did most of its business for the Heard, Goggan law firm.

In 1990, Berlanga was on the House committee that killed a bill that would have hurt Heard, Goggan's delinquent tax collection empire.

In his petition for Berlanga, Canales argues that Travis County District Attorney Ronnie Earle has offered the lawmaker limited immunity from prosecution in return for the documents. But, Canales said, Earle lacks authority under Texas law to offer the limited immunity, and that it does not protect Berlanga's constitutional rights.

Richards tours State Board of Insurance

AUSTIN (AP) - Gov. Ann Richards says she will visit New York next week to inspect their insurance regulation agency and compare with Texas'.

On Thursday, Richards took a whirlwind tour of the State Board of Insurance and said she wondered why more employees are needed to regulate insurance in Texas than New York.

"This (Texas) agency has 1,350 employees," Richards said after an hour-long visit. "The regulatory agency in New York has 800 employees. I want to know why it takes so many more people to do the job in Texas when it doesn't take that number in New York."

She said State Insurance Commissioner Phil Barnes said some staff reductions may be in order.

"I think this governmental agency is doing some functions that could be done by the private sector," Richards said without elaborating.

Richards said insurance reform was her No. 1 priority.

After taking office, she called for the resignations of former Gov. Bill Clements' appointees to the three-member Insurance Board, and she endorsed an insurance reform bill opposed by the insurance industry.

She said the state insurance agency has failed in protecting consumers from fraudulent insurance companies, and detecting financially troubled insurers.

Former chairman James Saxton resigned from the board, but Clements' other appointee Richard Reynolds has defied Richards' call to step down.

"The people of Texas are going to have a governmental agency that regulates in their behalf not in opposition to their interests," Richards said.

She said she is concerned that some insurance companies will fail this year.

"It is already so far down the tubes that there is nothing that we can do to immediately halt those failures that are on their way. I want to make sure that the insurance companies that are going to fail in this state are going to be kept to a minimum," she said.

According to the insurance agency, 19 insurance companies failed in Texas in both 1989 and 1990, and eight have failed during the current fiscal year.

Richards said that she and Barnes, and other insurance officials will visit New York's agency Monday.

Garage mechanics are required by law to be specially trained in truck wheel servicing.

PERTH, Scotland (AP) - Author and statesman Sir John Buchan, born here in 1875, became governor general of Canada.

Following Army intelligence work in World War I, he wrote "The 39 Steps" and biographies of Cromwell, Julius Caesar and Sir Walter Scott among 50 published books.

In 1935, as Baron Tweedsmuir, he was appointed Canada's governor general. During his term in office, he arranged the visit of the king and queen of England to America in 1939. He died in Montreal in 1940.

Bradley gives program on Mr. Berlin to study club

Marcella Bradley presented a program on Irving Berlin when members of Valeda Study Club met in her home recently.

The theme "The Life and Music of Irving Berlin" was preceded by roll call of each member's favorite Berlin song. White Christmas, God Bless America, and Always were the top favorites.

Bradley told of the personal life as well as the history of Irving Berlin. She gave the humorous and serious sides of his life.

She commented that Berlin left school at eight years of age. He could not read music and could play the piano only in one key, yet he composed over 3,000 pieces of music. One writer was reported as saying, "Mr. Berlin is a musical ignoramus, yet he was the most brilliant composer the world has ever known."

Members entered into a contest called "Name that Tune" and Joyce Ritter was the winner.

President Della Hutchins led the group in the club collect and Clovis Seago read the minutes. Big Brothers/Big Sisters and The Cowgirl Hall of Fame sent letters of appreciation for the clubs recent contributions.

Mary Dzuik was welcomed as a new member.

The meeting scheduled for March 30 was discussed and plans are being made to meet the following week. The members will be contacted when the date is firm.

Refreshments were served by Bradley to Juanita Brown, Juanita Coker, Frances Crume, Bettie Dickson, Betty Gilbert, Hutchins, Ritter, Seago, Margaret Zinzer and Dzuik.

Workshop begins Monday

The Deaf Smith County Genealogy Society will host the third in an on going series of genealogy workshops at the Hereford Community Center Game Room Monday at 7:30 p.m.

Sylvia Murray, genealogy instructor at Amarillo College, will speak on the resources in Arkansas and Tennessee. Beginning and experienced researchers will find something of value in the presentation. Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I love my husband but we have a problem that is destroying our marriage. We've been married six years and have two young children. I'm 28, and he's 34. He never was overly interested in sex but it's dwindling down to almost nothing. I used to think once a month was infrequent now it's twice a year and I'm becoming deeply depressed. My self-esteem is zero minus 10.

I'm pretty sure he isn't fooling around. He works very hard and I know and I know where he is at all times. And there is no chance that he is gay.

We are great friends and I know he loves me, but I feel rejected and inadequate and have no confidence in myself. When I get frustrated I say terrible things to him and then I regret it. He says I'm obsessed with sex "like the rest of America."

I hear about men who complain that their wives are cold potatoes but very seldom do I hear a woman say this about her husband. Therapy is over $100 a session in this area and we can't afford it. Please, Ann, help us.--Needing More Than a Hug in Conn.

Counselors and Therapists, 435 N. Michigan Ave., Suite 1717, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Last October, while traveling alone from Chicago to Virginia, I stopped overnight at a motel on the western edge of Pennsylvania. In the morning I continued my trip eastward. After picking up a toll ticket, I drove without stopping through the mountains in the rain and fog until I came to my exit.

I then discovered that I didn't have my handbag and couldn't pay to toll. The gentlemen at the toll gate were courteous and helpful. They called and verified that, indeed, my purse had been found in the dining area of the motel.

DEAR TRAVELER: Those folks will be more than amply repaid when they see your letter.

Lonesome? Take charge of your life and turn it around. Write for Ann Landers' new booklet, "How to Make Friends and Stop Being Lonely." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.15 (this includes postage and handling) to: Friends, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. (In Canada, send $5.05.)

Tips given for easy cleaning

Women spend 11 hours every week on household chores, according to a recent national survey conducted by the Good Housekeeping Institute. That's almost 600 hours a year!

Whether it's seasonal cleaning or routine daily chores, here are a few tips to help lessen the workload and make sure that the time spent cleaning is used wisely.

1. Set aside certain days and times to get the "big jobs" done -- windows, woodwork, polishing silver items, etc.

2. For every day cleaning, start at the top of the house and work done to the bottom floor.

3. Assemble a "cleaning caddy" of supplies that can be conveniently carried from room to room.

4. Use old T-shirts for dusting, newspapers for drying washed windows, old bath towels for cleaning furniture and floors, old bedsheets for shining brass and mirrors.

5. Simplify cleaning by using an all-natural, all-purpose cleaner to clean everything from walls and wood to linoleum and tile.

6. Straighten-up the room to be cleaned, first -- pillows on the couch, clothes hung in the closet -- then dust and vacuum.

7. Sweep-up loose dirt on floors before washing so it doesn't spread.

8. Wax shower doors after scrubbing away scum with a mildew-fighting spray cleaner to guard against repeat buildup.

9. Get into crevices and hard-to-reach corners with an old toothbrush.

10. Put on a favorite cassette tape, record, CD or radio station -- it makes cleaning go faster.

America's first attempt at putting a satellite into orbit blew up in 1957 on the launch pad at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

DEAR CONN.: Obviously your sex drive is a great deal stronger than your husband's, but I can tell you that twice a year for a man who is 34 is way below the national average.

You are not going to resolve this problem without outside help. If either of you has health insurance you may be able to use it to pay for several therapy sessions. Also, a psychiatrist isn't necessary. A well-trained counselor can do the job.

I urge you to make this investment. Save on something else. This problem must be resolved or you are going to become increasingly depressed and the marriage will disintegrate. For more information and referrals, contact the American Association of Sex Educators,

Ann, my life was in that purse -- my other keys, driver's license, credit cards, money and valuable personal papers, as well as dozens of "little things."

I couldn't decide whether or not I should turn around and drive five hours (two and a half each way) to get my purse, or trust the motel manager to return it. I bet on trust. Since I didn't even have 25 cents for a phone call, it was late in the day before I arrived home and could call and give instructions for returning the purse.

I was wondering if I would ever see my purse again, when sure enough, three days later it arrived with everything in it. I want to publicly thank the staff at Conley Inn in Mars, Pa. -- A Grateful Traveler, Oakton, Va.

Maroon JV tars Friona varsity

Hereford's Maroon junior varsity baseball team scored nine runs in the first inning en route to a 20-3 scalping of the Friona Chieftains Thursday at Whiteface Field.

The Herd also scored four times in the second inning and seven times in the fourth before the game was called by the 10-run rule in the middle of the fifth.

It was not pretty. The Herd was helped by 12 bases on balls handed out by pitchers Arturo Perez, Scott Houston and Cody Simons, and by seven errors committed by the Chieftain fielders behind them.

Friona's troubles Thursday are best illustrated by Whiteface Richard Sanderson's trips around the basepaths.

Sanderson scored four runs. He came home on errors twice and on wild pitches twice. He reached base twice on singles, but he also was walked twice.

His fourth time up, he reached on a two-base error by the left fielder, went to third on an error by the catcher, and scored on an error by the third baseman.

Sanderson's success wasn't entirely the Chieftains' fault; he helped by stealing five bases, half of the Herd's total.

The Herd would have scored in the fourth if not for a nice inning-ending play by Friona shortstop Blue Field, robbing Richard Rodriguez of an infield hit.

When the Chieftains were up to bat, they were mostly stymied by pitcher Andy Kalka.

Although Kalka is normally on the varsity, Maroons coach Bill Bridge said he pitched because he wasn't scheduled to pitch for the varsity this week, and he needed to get the work in to stay sharp. Also, he would be pitching against a varsity squad.

Kalka gave up two runs in the first on three straight singles and a sacrifice fly. He gave up another on a walk, a stolen base and a single, but settled down after that.

Kalka's totals were five hits—all singles—five walks and six strike-outs in five innings.

He also collected two hits, two stolen bases, two runs and an RBI. Despite Field's defense, Rodriguez had two hits, two stolen bases, two RBIs and scored three runs.

Right fielder Richard Wilbanks contributed three RBIs on a single and a ground-out.

The Maroons play Saturday after the varsity's game at Dalhart, which starts at 1 p.m. The White JV team is playing in the Lubbock JV tournament this weekend in Lubbock.

YMCA championship team

Cattle Town beat Spike Force 0-15, 15-1, 15-9 on March 11 to claim the YMCA's Co-ed "AA" volleyball championship. The players are from left, front, Vickie Copley, Cesar Vasquez and Lisa McLellan, and back, Tony Benavidez, Suzanne Gillespie and Gustavo Vasquez.

Netters triumph

The Hereford High School tennis team edged Amarillo High 10-7 in a scrimmage Thursday at Amarillo.

The team was led by the girls which had six of the 10 winners.

In doubles, Trisha Munoz and Robyn Sublett won their match 6-4 and 6-4, Teresa Baker and Gina Alley won 7-5 and 6-4, and Brenna and Bri Reinauer won 6-1 and 6-2.

In girls' singles, Baker won 6-1 and 6-2, Munoz won 9-8 and Sublett won 8-2. Those last two were "pro" sets, Coach Ed Coplen said, played because it was getting dark.

Two boys' doubles teams won: Torey Sellers and Randy Robbins, 7-6 and 6-1; and Brandon Flood and Jamie Kapka, 7-5, 2-6 and 6-2.

In boys' singles Robbins won 3-6, 6-3 and 6-4. Sellers won 3-6, 6-0 and 7-6.

"It was a real good scrimmage for us because Amarillo is so tough," Coplen said. "They really performed well."

Sherrod elected HMGA president

John Sherrod was elected president of the Hereford Men's Golf Association during a reorganization and planning meeting Thursday night at Hereford Country Club.

Joining Sherrod as new officers are Mel Charest as vice president and James McDowell Jr. and secretary-treasurer. Ken Roberts was elected as the group's representative on the City Golf Advisory Committee. Sherrod succeeds Dr. Rick Roden as president.

The association approved the installation of a new sign at John Pitman Municipal Golf Course. Joe Kerr, the past year's representative on the Golf Advisory Committee, made the proposal.

Kerr said the advisory committee made some progress during the year, and he feels the city budget will include installation of a new sprinkler system on the front nine. Sherrod expressed appreciation to Kerr for his service on the committee.

The group made plans for several tournaments during the 1991 season, including a second annual Night Tourney and a Double Couple Tournament. A member-guest scramble will be scheduled soon as part of a membership campaign.

Track meet schedule

Here is the complete schedule of events for the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Invitational girls' track meet to be held Saturday at Whiteface Field.

All field events begin at 9 a.m. The discus, high jump and long jump events will have the varsity going first, followed by junior varsity, while the shot and triple jump events will begin with the junior varsity.

UNLV gets started tonight

By The Associated Press

UNLV (30-0) is one of three top seeds in action tonight as the two-day first round of the tournament winds up. North Carolina (25-5) plays Northeastern (22-10) in the East Regional at Syracuse, N.Y., and Ohio State (25-3) opens against Towson State (19-10) in the Midwest at Dayton, Ohio.

Georgetown (18-12) faces another 12-game loser, Vanderbilt (17-12), in a late game in the West, Princeton (24-2) opposes Villanova (16-14) in the East, Wake Forest (18-10) plays Louisiana Tech (21-9) and Alabama (21-9) plays Murray (24-8) in the Southeast, and Georgia Tech (16-12) goes against DePaul (20-8) in the Midwest.

The early schedule had Mississippi State (20-8) against Eastern Michigan (24-6) and UCLA (23-8) against Penn State (20-10) in the East, Michigan State (18-10) against Wisconsin-Green Bay (24-6) and Utah (28-3) against South Alabama (22-8) in the West, top-seeded Arkansas (31-3) against Georgia State (16-14) and Arizona State (19-9) against Rutgers (19-9) in the Southeast, and St. John's (20-8) against Northern Illinois (25-5) and Texas (22-8) against St. Peter's (24-6).

East

Curtis Blair had 18 points and six assists to lead the Spiders (22-9) over Syracuse (26-6), which closed its season with first-round losses in the Big East Conference tournament and the NCAA. Richmond led throughout, but had a 10-point lead sliced to one with 32 seconds left. Eugene Burrough's two free throws with 21 seconds to go pushed it to 72-69 and Syracuse then misfired on two 3-pointers. All-American forward Billy Owens scored 22 for the Orangemen.

In other games, Byron Houston had 21 points and 17 rebounds as Oklahoma State beat New Mexico 67-54, Rodney Monroe and Chris Corchiani scored 25 points apiece in North Carolina State's 114-85 rout of Southern Mississippi, and Mik Kilgore scored 25 points as Temple eliminated Purdue 80-63.

Southeast

Fordham wins NIT game

By The Associated Press

Ignored by the NCAA playoff committee, the Fordham Rams are doing their best to get noticed in the National Invitation Tournament.

Thursday night, the Patriot League champions took their show on the road to beat South Florida 76-66 in a first-round NIT game.

"We were disappointed not to go to the NCAA, but we have a lot of respect for the NIT," Fordham's Dave Buckner said. "We hope to go back to New York and play in Madison Square Garden (site of the NIT's Final Four)."

Buckner jump-started the Rams' offense with his sixth 3-pointer and Fordham scored the last 15 points of the game to win the first-round matchup at South Florida's Sun Dome.

"It was very tough down the stretch," Fordham coach Nick Macarchuk said. "It was a good win. That was a good team we beat."

In other first-round games Thursday night, it was Oklahoma 111, Tulsa 86; Memphis State 82, Alabama-Birmingham 76; Arkansas

State 78, Rice 71; Southwest Missouri State 57, Coppin State 47, and Siena 90, Fairleigh Dickinson 85.

The NIT wraps up first-round play tonight as South Carolina (19-12) plays host to George Washington (19-11), Wyoming (19-11) plays host to Butler (18-10), Furman (20-8) is at West Virginia (16-13), and La Salle (19-9) plays at Massachusetts (17-11).

The NIT got underway Wednesday night. Providence went into double overtime to defeat James Madison 98-93, Wisconsin needed one OT to beat Bowling Green 87-79, Cincinnati beat Ball State 82-55, Colorado beat Michigan 71-64, Southern Illinois nipped Boise State 75-74 and Stanford turned back Houston 93-86.

MacLeod gets 700th win

By JOHN KREISER

AP Sports Writer

John MacLeod's 700th NBA coaching victory was worth the wait.

The New York Knicks should have made MacLeod's milestone easy - they led by nine points with 2:09 left in regulation. They blew that lead, though, and had to go two overtimes before finally beating the Miami Heat 125-121 Thursday night.

"I know other coaches who have been stuck on a milestone and needed five or six games to get it," said MacLeod, who became the eighth coach in NBA history to win 700 games. "I guess it can't be easy."

MacLeod, 700-646 in his 18th season as an NBA coach, saw the Knicks overcome a season-high 28 turnovers to improve their record to 32-32, the first time they've been at .500 since they were 6-6 on Nov. 27.

In other NBA games, it was Cleveland 103, Milwaukee 101; New Jersey 118, Detroit 110; Houston 119, Orlando 95; Denver 112, Minnesota 105; San Antonio 101, Golden State 99, and Indiana 107, Sacramento 103.

Salesman Confesses

Claims newspaper is best salesman

On Monday, Jules Wintner, owner of a local retail establishment, confessed his job as a salesman was obsolete due to the impact of newspaper advertising. Wintner, in an exclusive interview, said sales were made in the local paper instead of in the store.

"Sure, we get a chance for additional sales," Wintner commented, "but the newspaper has become our best salesman." Wintner reported that consumers name the local newspaper as their usual source of "Best Buy" information, 10 times more than radio or television. This conforms with a recent Consumer Data Service report that indicated 60% of the consumers seek "Best Buy" information from the newspaper versus only 6% for radio and 7% for television.

Wintner later remarked that because the newspaper is read by all Texans, regardless of income, his business was able to sell both upper end products as well as value priced items. "No matter what we're selling, we get good response in the newspaper," he said. "In fact, the more expensive the product, the better our response seems to be." This fact is substantiated in a survey by the Texas Newspaper Advertising Bureau that documented readership of the newspaper increases as income increases. In the survey, almost 75% of Texans with incomes exceeding $50,000 a year read

Salesman admits he "never had to sell anything" because of newspaper ads

"Our customers shop the newspaper. When they walk in the door, they already know what they want, they know the price and often have the ad with them."

the newspaper. Wintner admitted, "Used to be I had to really sell each customer, but now I'm just an order taker." Asked what he intended to do now that the newspaper was doing most of the selling, he replied, "Spend more in newspaper advertising than last year."

Southwest Outdoors

with Mel Phillips

Outdoor World '91 is now a memory, complete with large crowds and a vivid impression of Jimmy Houston ignoring his 30-minute limit per seminar. Oh Jimmy just can't talk for that short period of time. His talks were great; full of information and some very funny stories about Texans or Okies.

Lucky J.T. Hodges of north Randall County won the Saturday morning fishing trip with Jimmy. Too bad a windy cold front blew through and the morning bass trip ended up as a crappie lesson in the Boots N Jeans fishing dock at Lake Tanglewood.

The Tip of the Week is from the seminar of professional fisherman Ted Miller. He revealed something called "Slug-Go." In the air it looks like a hunk of banana peel, but in the water Slug-Go looks just like a wounded minnow. Several unknowns have placed high in national tournaments after using this "secret" bait. Check your local tackle store, because this new bait will catch fish—lots of fish.

One of the most popular tackle booths at the sportsman show was Chaparral Baits by Dennis Hoy of Clovis. His devil-claw plastic lure was selling like hotcakes, and several packs of pumpkin with green flakes are now in my tackle box.

Snow's Bait Store in Fritch revealed the flip-tail lizard by Honey Hole. This floating lizard is a dynamite springtime top water lure. If you don't have any, make sure that your fishing partner does, because top-water smallmouth and largemouth action is non-stop when the water hits 65 degrees. I would still rather catch one heart-stopping, head-shaking, water-splashing bass on topwater than five bass that do their fighting under water.

Special notice to all Lake Fork anglers: it now takes a bass in the 16-pound class to make the Texas top ten!

Fishing in Texas has never been better. It is a shame the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is getting ready to sock it to the hunters and fishermen by raising the cost of our licenses and proposing a 50 percent increase in boat registration fees. Fewer people hunt and fish now than 10 years ago. I wonder if increased costs are a factor?

It is high time that the phony urban environmentalists quit taking a free ride on the backs of the sportsmen of Texas. We pay the bills and then something like a non-endangered Concho garter snake stops a much needed lake in West Texas.

Enjoy our great outdoors with the family before the wackos take away our hunting and fishing in the name of "animal rights" and higher taxes for the politicians.

Helping people when the need is greatest!

Calcavecchia leads Nestle

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) - Mark Calcavecchia has a share of the lead in the golf tournament and a promise from his chiropractor.

"What happens if I start falling apart?" Calcavecchia asked his doctor last weekend on one of his frequent visits to get his shoulder and-or wrist and-or elbow popped back in place.

"I've got the weekend off. I'll come up and put you back together," Calcavecchia quoted Dr. Al Jarome as replying.

"I'll leave you a pass," Calcavecchia replied.

The medical man wasn't needed Thursday, however, as Calcavecchia kept all his parts in the right place and scored an eagle-3 in a round of 66 that gave him a tie with Donnie Hammond for the first-round lead in the Nestle Invitational.

"I'm taking next week off," Calcavecchia said. "Maybe that will help" the left shoulder-elbow-wrist injury he sustained in the Pebble Beach National Pro-Am when he caught a tree limb on his downswing. "It ripped up the ligaments in the wrist and traveled right on up the arm. I had some back pain for a while, too," he said.

As a result, he said, his shoulder, elbow and wrist have "popped out of place" several times, including last weekend.

"It doesn't bother me that much," shrugged Calcavecchia, who hasn't won since taking the 1989 British Open championship.

"I can honestly say I haven't thought about it (the injuries) on the golf course in the last few weeks.

"I just eat a lot" of non-prescription pain-killers "and keep going," he said.

Nick Faldo, who had elbow and wrist problems of his own during the off-season, opened his 1991 season with a bogey-free 67 that left him a single shot off the lead.

Faldo, generally considered the premier player in the world after his victories in the Masters and British Open last season, did not make a bogey and missed only three greens in his first start of the year.

At least part of the credit, he said, goes to added strength gained in a conditioning program designed to combat tendinitis in both wrists and both elbows.

"For a first round of the year, quite good," said Faldo, who missed a share of the lead only on a lipped-out, 4-foot birdie putt on the 13th hole.

As to the added strength, "I had a bit more tweak with the driver," the tall Englishman said.

He was tied at 5-under par on Arnold Palmer's Bay Hill course with Buddy Gardner and Clarence Rose.

Rocco Mediate, making his first start since winning the Doral Open two weeks ago, led a group at 68. Also at that figure were Mark O'Meara, Davis Love III, Andrew Magee, Don Pooley, Nolan Henke and Leonard Thompson.

Palmer, the 61-year-old host, matched par-72 in this event for the first time since 1984.

Robert Gamez, who won this event with a 7-iron shot that found the cup for an eagle-2 on the final hole last year, struggled to a 76 and must improve today if he is to qualify for the final two rounds.

Trevino looks to win Vantage

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Lee Trevino is competing for the first time in the PGA Senior Tour's Vantage tournament at The Dominion.

And as competition begins today, he's looking to add the $350,000 event to his long list of golfing victories.

"I won a tournament (in San Antonio) a few years back, and maybe I can do it again," said Trevino, whose last victory in San Antonio was the 1980 Texas Open.

Trevino, who finished the 1990 season with $1.2 million in earnings, pulled a back muscle last fall. That caused him to get off to a slow start in 1991.

"Actually, when I started this year, I was hitting the ball awful," Trevino said. But he went on to win his first tournament of the year in February at the Aetna Challenge in Naples, Fla.

"I feel like my game is coming around," he said. "I'm not playing with as much confidence as I did last year. But it will come. It's getting better all the time."

Trevino, winner of two U.S. Opens, two British Opens and two PGA Championships, turned 50 in 1989 and started playing Senior Tour events last year. This year, Trevino said, he plans to compete in 30 senior events and about 39 tournaments in all.

He said when he started on the senior circuit, there was a tremendous amount of pressure on him.

"I was supposed to win quickly and win as much as possible," he said.

Winning this weekend at The Dominion will mean dealing with undulation on the course's fast greens and keeping the ball below the hole so that putting is mostly uphill, Trevino said.

The winner of the 54-hole tournament receives $52,500.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

"SING UNTO THE LORD!"

THE BOOK OF PSALMS RECORDS THE ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY HYMNS WHICH WERE SUNG IN THE TEMPLE IN JERUSALEM. THE MEN WHO SANG THEM WERE ALL LEVITES, AS WERE THE PRIESTS....

PRIMARILY, THE CHORISTERS ARE LISTED AS SONS AND DESCENDANTS OF ASAPH, HEMAN, AND JEDUTHUN, CHARGED WITH THE RESPONSIBILITY OF CONDUCTING THE MUSIC AND SINGING DURING THE SERVICES HELD IN THE TEMPLE. HARPS, PSALTERIES, AND CYMBALS WERE THE INSTRUMENTS USED TO ACCOMPANY THE SINGERS AND, ALONG WITH HYMNS OF PRAISE, PRAYERS OF THANKSGIVING, AND PLEAS FOR DIVINE HELP AND FORGIVENESS, IT WAS EXPECTED THAT THE CHORISTERS WOULD ALSO PROPHECY IN SONG WHENEVER SUCH A NEED WAS DEEMED NECESSARY!

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: I think the manufacturers of athletic shoes should consider making the heels and possibly the soles of their shoes fluorescent.

Maybe joggers and bikers would have a better chance of being seen at night and fewer accidents would occur. — Rose Capitani, Staten Island, N.Y.

This is a good point. Some jogging shoes do come equipped with reflective tape.

Did you know that you can buy silver reflective tape sold in most major fabric stores that can be ironed or sewn on? You can place it around each leg or wrist of a jogging suit and 1/2-inch stripes can be placed across the back of jackets. It reflects brighter than a white shirt and makes you visible 1,000 feet away.

If you jog, walk or ride your bicycle at dusk or nighttime, don't become a statistic! According to the National Safety Council, in 1989 over 2,000 pedestrians were hit and killed in nighttime motor-vehicle accidents. — Heloise
