Commission break

Taking a break from their work session Saturday, members of the Hereford City Commission visited an open house in the fire department and climbed aboard a restored 1928 American LaFrance fire truck. In the driver's seat is Mike Watts, fire chief, with Jay Spain, fire marshal, in the other seat. Mayor

Bob Josserand stands at the running board, while Commissioners Carey Black, Wayne Winget, Roger Eades, Dennis Hicks, Silvana Juarez and Nancy Griego, City Manager Chester Nolen, City Attorney Terry Langehennig and City Secretary Terri Johnson are standing in the bed of the truck.

Commissioners meet Saturday, look at parks, parks and recreation dept.

Improving city parks was the focus Saturday of another in a series of City Commission work sessions designed to identify needs of the community. In addition to physical improvements in parks, the commission also looked at a proposal being made to Deaf Smith County and Hereford Independent School District to join in organizing a community-wide parks and recreation department. And, the commission reviewed the city's water improvement program and future garbage disposal plans. With the voluntary park assessment program of $1 on each water bill, the park improvement fund is approaching $100,000, which commissioners expect to use toward several projects, including:

- Installation of permanent restroom facilities in three parks.
 - Placement of picnic tables in several parks.
 - Possible construction of a picnic shelter in Dameron Park.
 - Overall beautification of park lands.
- During the park discussions, Mayor Bob Josserand suggested that the Hereford Beautification Alliance might be invited to provide expertise in planning such landscaping improvements as flower beds. He asked Commissioner Wayne Winget to continue serving on the HBA board, also. Since the commission shelved the plans to build a pavilion in Dameron Park because of the cost, Josserand said he believes "it is critical to show the people that their $1 donations will be used."

Commissioners asked for city staff to seek estimates on building permanent restroom facilities in Dameron, Veterans and 14th and I parks. Cost of permanent picnic tables, preferably concrete, also will be studied by the city's staff. And, a shelter that could be used for large groups will be investigated further, the commission decided. A metal and concrete structure was suggested. Available funds in the voluntary assessment program now amount to $96,188, contributed since 1991 by water customers of the City of Hereford. At the rate of increase of more than $3,000 per month, the fund will be more than $100,000 by the end of November. Both HISD and Deaf Smith County officials have agreed to consider a proposal to create a recreation organization to serve the community, Josserand reported. A committee of Commissioners Dennis Hicks and Silvana Juarez and City Manager Chester Nolen will prepare an outline on structure of such an organization. Commissioner Roger Eades said the goal of the organization should be to "help, not take over" programs of groups already operating in the community. The delay in implementation of rules on landfill operations affords the city more time to prepare a plan for collection of materials that still may be placed in a Type 4 landfill, Nolen said. Commissioner Carey Black suggested that a public education program should be initiated to help citizens with questions about disposing of garbage. He asked the city manager to determine savings if residents put Type 4 materials in a separate container than that used for garbage to be transported to the Amarillo landfill. Josserand requested that each commissioner talk to citizens about using dumpsters parked at the end of each block for grass clippings and other materials not classified as household waste. Commissioners will report on their findings at the next work session, set for 5 p.m. on Nov. 10. Nolen reported that the rating given the water revenue bonds the city will sell next week should result

NAFTA: more pain than gain?

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) - The North American Free Trade Agreement may cause more pain for workers than long-run economic benefits, said the chairman of a congressional delegation that toured Mexico. "There's a real question about whether we want to build up an economy based on a rather artificial industrial situation," Rep. John Conyers, D-Michigan, said Monday. Members of Conyers' House Committee on Government Operations spent the day touring sprawling industrial parks of mostly U.S.-owned "maquiladora" assembly plants in Matamoros, Mexico. The committee oversees some U.S. government purchasing related to international trade agreements. NAFTA, which is pending in Congress, would phase out trade barriers between the United States, Canada and Mexico over the next 15 years. Opponents argue it would make it easier for American companies to close their U.S. factories and set up more maquiladora-like factories in Mexico. Supporters say many U.S. jobs have been moving to Mexico and other countries anyway, and they argue that free trade will create new jobs in both countries because companies will have bigger markets to sell their products.

in a favorable interest rate. Plans for the water development program, he said, are moving rapidly. "We will have more water on line by next summer," Nolen said. Being planned are a new million-gallon storage tank, two wells in the Ogallala formation, one in the Santa Rosa and pipelines for moving water to storage facilities. The city manager also reported that he received an estimate of $10,750 for repair of tennis courts at two locations, Avenue I and 14th Street and Plains and Ironwood. Another firm also was asked for an estimate, he said. All members of the commission, including Mayor Josserand and Commissioners Eades, Black, Hicks, Juarez, Wayne Winget and Nancy Griego, attended Saturday's session.

Thefts from HHS lockers net jewelry, gym clothing

Hereford Police are investigating two cases of theft that occurred at Hereford High School and involve more than $1,000 worth of property. Chief David Wagner said officers were called to the high school on Monday in reference to the cases. In the first instance, a student left jewelry valued at $1,000 in an unsecured locker over the weekend, discovering the items missing on Monday morning. In the second case, a student left a purple gym bag, Reebok shoes and gym clothing in a locker that had no lock. The items, valued at $190, were discovered missing on Monday. Both thefts were believed to have occurred sometime between Friday and Monday. The investigation into the thefts is continuing.

District eyes ways toraise TAAS scores

By GARRY WESNER
Managing Editor

A letter of concern from the Texas Education Agency about test performance at two Hereford schools is simply a warning to the district to take action on the situation before the state agency has to step in.

That is a summary from HISD Superintendent Charles W. Greenawalt, who said Monday that the situation here is not like that being experienced in Amarillo.

The Hereford district last month received a letter from TEA expressing concern that the number of children passing the Texas Assessment of Academic Skills test at Bluebonnet Intermediate School and Hereford Junior High were below state standards.

The letter, from Linda G. Mora, senior director of the Division of Accreditation for TEA, said the district's accreditation status has not been lowered, nor have the two schools been rated as "low performing."

However, it went on, if Spring 1994 TAAS scores do not show improvement, then a rating of "low performing" will be entered and TEA will step in.

Five Amarillo schools have already been designated as low performing and are working with TEA to improve test scores.

On Monday, Greenawalt said that TEA's concerns here were over scores in one or more of four student populations (African-American, Hispanic, Anglo or economically disadvantaged).

The state requires 20 percent or more of students pass the TAAS test. However, Greenawalt said, Bluebonnet fell short in the economically disadvantaged category, with 18 percent passing, while the junior high had three population groups miss the 20 percent mark.

He said Spring 1993 score breakdowns show 11 percent of economically disadvantaged students passed the TAAS test at HJH, while 16 percent of Hispanic students and 17 percent of black students passed.

Under the letter of concern, TEA gave HISD until Oct. 30 to formulate plans to improve student test performance in these areas.

However, Greenawalt said, he may request an extension, since other school districts in Texas received notification from TEA about their school problems at the first of August.

Greenawalt's letter of concern from TEA is dated Aug. 24, but was not received by the district in its final form until Sept. 28.

Greenawalt said state media reported at the first of August that the two HISD campuses were on a list of schools to receive "low performing" ratings or to receive letters of concern about test scores.

However, he said, he checked with TEA and was informed that HISD was not among those to receive the letter.

Then, he said, a couple of weeks later he was contacted by TEA and told that the letter was supposed to have come after all and that Hereford was one of 14 districts statewide to receive delayed notification.

The letter arrived on Aug. 27, he said, but included notice that there was concern about the district's dropout rate.

Greenawalt said that was incorrect, as the dropout rate last year was 4.5 percent, below the state standard of 6 percent.

As a result, the letter was returned, corrected and mailed back to the district, arriving here on Sept. 28.

This means, Greenawalt said, the district has only a month to prepare the plan, rather than three months given to other districts.

Under TEA rules, a district receiving a letter of concern is required to do the following:

1. The board of trustees must conduct a public hearing to inform the community of the district's unacceptable performance, as well as explain improvements expected in the performance and sanctions that may be imposed by TEA if performance does not improve.

2. Campus improvement plans must be reviewed and revised to include specific performance objectives for the affected student populations. Improvement strategies and action plans for improving the performance of the affected student population groups must be created.

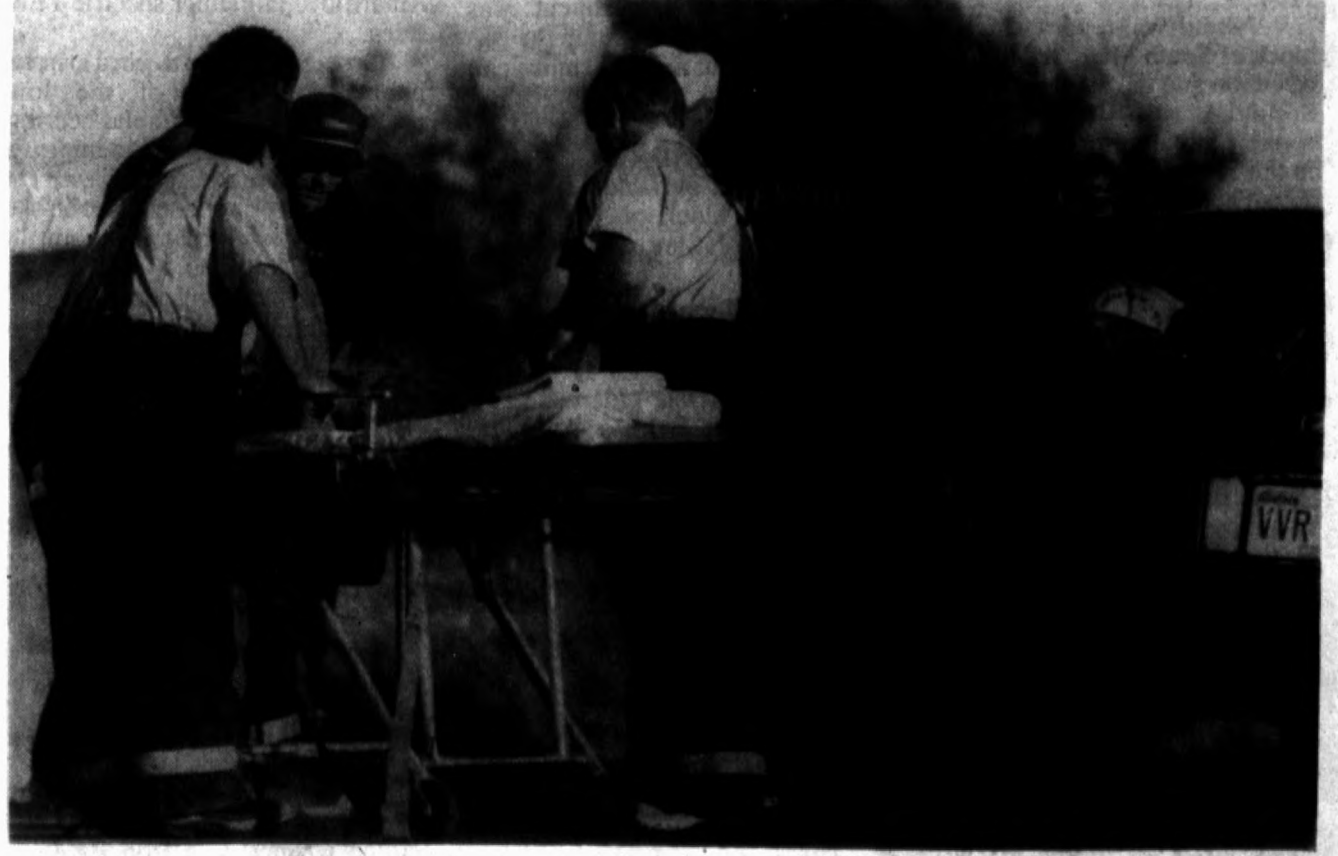

3. Those revised campus improvement plans must be submitted to Education Commissioner Lionel R. "Skip" Meno before Oct. 30.

The public hearing has been tentatively set for the board's regular Oct. 26 meeting.

At that time, Greenawalt said, campus improvement plans will be presented for approval, unless an extension is granted and the district has additional time to study the matter.

Greenawalt said the district has known about the low test scores at the

Yeltsin ventures out of country

TOKYO (AP) - Boris Yeltsin began his first excursion abroad since crushing a rebellion in Moscow last week by offering condolences today to the Japanese POWs who were forced to work in Siberia after World War II.

But the Russian president was not expected to be as conciliatory on Japan's claim to several Russian-held northern islands, another thorny issue from the past and one that has chilled relations between the two nations since the war.

Soviet authorities kept roughly 600,000 Japanese soldiers in Siberia for years of hard labor after the war ended. Historians believe tens of thousands of the Japanese prisoners died, and the last survivor was not allowed to return until 1956.

"I feel deep sorrow for the many Japanese who died on Russian soil," palace officials quoted Yeltsin as saying in a brief meeting with Emperor Akihito.

Though he did not specifically apologize for the treatment of the POWs by the Communist regime he helped overthrow, the Japanese media pronounced Yeltsin's condolences stronger than those voiced by former Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev in 1991.

Soon after his meeting with Akihito, Yeltsin began his first round of talks with Prime Minister Morihiro Hosokawa and his top economic advisors. Later in the day, Yeltsin was to address a gathering of business leaders and hold his first one-on-one with Hosokawa.

Hosokawa was expected to raise Japan's demands that Russia return

Gorbachev invited to U.S. to address GOP at fundraiser

WASHINGTON (AP) - Mikhail Gorbachev, who put the former Soviet Union on the road to democratic reform but never renounced communism, now is going to help Republican Senate candidates raise money.

Gorbachev is the featured attraction at a fund-raiser Nov. 4 for the National Republican Senatorial Committee, which works to elect GOP candidates to the Senate.

"It's sort of capitalism at its finest - using all available resources," Republican strategist Ann Stone said Monday. "It's either capitalism at its finest or its most bizarre."

Some high-powered Republicans said privately they found Gorbachev's attendance a bit odd because the former Communist Party leader tried to preserve the Soviet Union and never denounced communism. Ronald Reagan, hero to many Republicans, once called the Soviet Union the "Evil Empire," although Gorbachev was seen as a driving force to end those days.

The Senatorial Committee's chairman, Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, wrote in a fund-raising letter to Republican donors that Gorbachev now "travels the world, fostering communication and diplomacy among all nations."

Gorbachev is speaking to the "Inner Circle" of the Senatorial Committee - or Republicans who have paid at least a $1,000 initiation fee - as part of a series of speeches by former world leaders. Reagan and former British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher have done appearances to GOP donors, as well.

"I don't think there's anything strange about it," said Gary Koops, a spokesman for the Senatorial Committee. "It's all been focused on the changing world order."

Eddie Mahe, a Republican consultant, said big-money donors are so jaded, it's a coup to have an unusual speaker like Gorbachev.

"They've heard and met and had their picture taken with every political leader and celebrity in the country," Mahe said. "It's awfully hard to come up with something new and different that's an attraction."

David Hill, a Republican pollster for Senate candidates, said people who attend those kind of political gatherings like guests with differing opinions.

"They'll have a chance to ask if the Reagan military buildup really brought the Soviet Union to its knees," Hill said. "Now that would be worth the price of admission."

He added that if Gorbachev "makes Republicans open their wallets ... then that's a sign of a clever fund-raiser." Inviting liberal Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., would be OK if it brought in dollars, Hill said.

We would especially like to thank the Hereford Brand and KPAN for their help in publicizing the supper. Also, parents, sponsors, and Nancy Mitchell and the Junior High cafeteria staff--thank you all for your time, donations, and work in making our supper a great success.

Dear Editor:

Where were the Hereford fans going after the third quarter and continuing throughout the fourth quarter of the Hereford-Borger football game Friday night?

The weather was cool, but not unbearable. True, we were behind by 14 to 31 at the beginning of the fourth quarter, but there was a whole quarter left to play and anything can and does happen. Would the fans have left had the score been 31-14 in our favor? I think not!

The football team did not walk out at the end of the third quarter. They kept trying until the last buzzer sounded. I think that we, as Hereford Whiteface fans, need to support our teams--win or lose--until the last buzzer sounds.

Dear Editor:

I read in the Hereford Brand about the sheriff's deputy leaving a prisoner in the coffee shop while he went to the restroom, and the prisoner escaped.

I think the deputy should be fired. When I was in the Army, if you let your prisoner escape, you served out his term. I think the taxpayers should not have to pay for that kind of carelessness.

There's progress being made towards an AIDS vaccine

By ROGER J. BULGER, M.D.

Dr. Bulger is President of the Association of Academic Health Centers and a past President of the University of Texas Health Science Center at Houston.

The pattern of who contracts the AIDS virus and how is slowly changing in the United States. Although the large majority of AIDS victims are men, in 1992 the rate of increase among U.S. women was almost four times that of men. In addition, for the first time, the majority of cases among American women was attributed to heterosexual intercourse with an infected partner, rather than to intravenous drug use. World-wide, more than 75 percent of the cases are contracted through heterosexual intercourse.

Recently, researchers announced that they succeeded in protecting monkeys against vaginal exposure to an AIDS-like virus. These results hold promise for the development of a successful AIDS vaccine that could protect against all types of viral exposure.

Previously researchers had reported protecting monkeys against SIV, the virus that causes an AIDS-like disease in monkeys, if the exposure to the virus was through intravenous injection. However, these vaccines did not protect against vaginal exposure. To overcome this problem, a research team led by Dr. Preston A. Marx of the New Mexico Regional Primate Laboratory applied an innovative method to try and establish the body's defenses against the virus - they first injected tiny beads (500,000 of the beads would equal the size of a grain of salt) that contained inactivated virus into the hips of a group of monkeys. The beads slowly dissolved and released inactive virus, triggering the monkeys' defenses by again exposing them to inactive virus, this time either through their stomach or lungs.

Importantly, all six monkeys that received the double treatment of beads plus booster developed anti-SIV antibodies in their vaginal fluid. But would these antibodies protect against infection at that site? To test this, the researchers tried to infect these monkeys by introducing a high dose of active virus into the monkeys' vaginas.

Remarkably, five out of six monkeys that received the double treatment remained disease-free, while monkeys that received only one of the treatments, or none at all, become infected. Furthermore, the disease-free monkeys were exposed to the virus a second time, and three out of four monkeys again did not become infected.

Clearly, these results are preliminary and need to be extended before this type of vaccine can be tested in humans. Nevertheless, this creative approach may represent an important step towards developing an effective vaccine that can protect against all modes of viral transmission.

Hereford student honored

Henry Garza from Hereford has been named outstanding student in petroleum technology for October at South Plains College in Levelland.

Garza, 18, is the son of Charlie Palma and an honor student at SPC. He plans to work on an offshore rig after completing his studies in petroleum technology at SPC.

Outstanding students in the technical division are named each month by faculty based on academic achievement, participation in class and other criteria.

"We established this program to recognize the outstanding achievements of our technical students," said Frank Hunt, dean of the technical division. "They have done an excellent job in their studies and we want to congratulate them for their efforts."

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) - A group of mentally disabled British men got a royal boost for their 19,159-foot ascent up Mount Pokhalde when the Duchess of York arrived.

The former Sarah Ferguson arrived in Nepal Sunday to give moral support to the men. Their climb is sponsored by McIntyre Cre, a charitable organization that encourages disabled people to live as independently as possible.

Reporters were not allowed near the duchess. Diplomats said that was because she is on a private trip.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - Kathy Mattea says she learned firsthand about the heartbreak of AIDS when she learned an old boyfriend had died of the disease.

Mattea, honorary chairwoman of an AIDS walk this Sunday, said she found out her friend died through a message on her answering machine left by someone she didn't know.

"He couldn't even tell me (he had the disease). And it broke my heart," the country music star said Friday.

Mattea did not say when the man died or whether she was tested for the disease after she found out. She identified him only as Michael from Los Angeles.

Mattea has been involved in AIDS projects for several years.

Netters clinch regional berth

The Hereford High School tennis team clinched a berth in the Region 1-4A Tennis Tournament by sweeping Caprock 18-0 and by Borger beating Pampa, all on Saturday.

Hereford needed a win by Borger because Borger beat Hereford, then Hereford beat Pampa. A Pampa win Saturday would have created a messy three-way tie.

Hereford dispatched Caprock to keep up its chances. "We just went over there (Amarillo) and played well against Caprock," coach Ed Coplen said. "They knew what was on the line and went out and won the match."

It was thorough domination. Hereford won all 18 matches in the minimum two sets. Furthermore, Caprock won only 25 games to Hereford's 216. Hereford won seven of the matches 6-0, 6-0.

With Borger's win, the District 1-4A picture is clear. If Hereford, Pampa and Borger win Saturday, as expected, Borger will finish at 5-0 and go to regionals as champion, and Hereford will be 4-1 and go to regionals as runner-up. Pampa, at 3-2, will be left out.

In the event of a Hereford loss Saturday (against Dumas in Hereford), Hereford would still have the head to head advantage over Pampa.

Following are the results of the Caprock match.

BORGER II, HEREFORD 7

Girls' doubles--McWhorter/Weishaar def. Teague/Veahman, 6-0, 6-0; Reinauer/Robbins def. Rodriguez/Gossett, 6-0, 6-1; and Gamez/Sublett def. Bates/Trujillo, 6-0, 6-2.

Humberto Medina, 6-0, 6-0; Marcus Berend def. Barry Humber, 6-0, 6-0; and Scott Shaw def. Patrick Fogelson, 6-0, 6-3. Extra match: John Stevens def. Justin Clements, 8-1.

Boys' doubles--Jarecki/Vargas def. Lizama/Barbosa, 6-0, 6-1; Reinauer/Lockmiller def. Moore/Medina, 6-0, 6-2; and Berend/Stevens def. Humber/Fogelson, 6-1, 6-0.

Spikers pound Pampa, to host Dumas tonight

The Lady Whitefaces volleyball team overcame a momentarily strong performance by the Lady Harvesters to win a three-game match Saturday in Pampa.

Hereford won the first and third games easily--15-3 and 15-1, respectively--but Pampa overcame an 8-4 deficit to win the second game 15-11.

"Pampa started playing," Herd coach Brenda Reeh said. "Defensively, they picked up everything we hit at them. They showed why we were both tied for second (in District 1-4A) going into the match."

Hereford stepped up its play in the third game to put away the match, Reeh said.

"We blocked more aggressively. For the first couple of points, we had an ace and a couple of stuff blocks. Jessica Evers served consistently, and that helped us--she served the first 10 points (of the game)."

Evers served for 21 points in the match, including the first five points of both the first and second games. She recorded three aces.

Heather Hodges led the Herd with 12 kills, and Danielle Cornelius contributed nine kills and four solo stuffs.

Hereford, now 4-1 in district and 19-5 overall, could move into a tie for first place tonight with a win over Dumas, which is 5-0 and 18-6 after beating Randall Saturday. The Demonettes come to Whiteface Gym for a 6 p.m. junior varsity/varsity doubleheader.

The rivals split a pair of meetings in early-season tournaments, then Dumas beat Hereford 15-12, 15-12 in the first district match Sept. 25 in Dumas.

The Hereford JV, which beat Dumas in the first meeting, beat Pampa 15-7, 15-3 on Saturday. Tawana Drager served points 2-14 in the second game.

Cross country team shows improvement

The Hereford cross country team placed 10th out of 24 teams from all over West Texas in the Lubbock Invitational Cross Country Meet, held Saturday.

Hereford's Bethany Townsend finished seventh in a field of 178, running the two mile course in 12 minutes and 38 seconds.

The other Hereford girls were Michelle Garza, 61st in 13:46; Beth Weatherly, 69th in 13:56.4; Jamie Harrison, 70th in 13:56.9; and Rita Soto, 80th in 14:14.

Coach Martha Emerson continues to see improvement.

"This was a very tough meet and a very demanding course--it's the same place Region 1 will be run on Nov. 6," Emerson said. "We have consistently run well on this course over the years and Saturday was no exception. We are showing a lot of improvement, both girls and boys. I'm especially pleased that we are finally competing--not just running."

Emerson ran three boys in the varsity race, so they have no team score. In a field of about 175, Josh Pena finished 106th in 18:29 (three miles); Miguel Carrillo was 118th in 18:39; and Randy Sorenson was 154th in 19:26. Two boys ran in the junior varsity race: Adolfo San Miguel was 24th in 19:13 and Justin Criner was 39th in 20:09.

The Hereford JV girls came in seventh out of 39 teams. The Hereford individuals, with place and time: Karon Harder, 17th in 14:14; Becky Henderson, 48th in 14:50; Beverly Celaya, 57th in 15:04; Kris Daniel, 64th in 15:14; Asa Barrefelt, 71st in 15:21; and Anna Witkowski, 116th in 16:07.

San Angelo Central won the girls varsity team title with 55 points. Following Central were: Lubbock Coronado, 92; Randall, 165; Del Valle, 186; Amarillo High, 190; El Paso Burgess, 222; Frenship, 235; El Paso Hanks, 241; Borger, 244; Hereford, 263; and 14 other teams from 5A and 4A schools.

Perfect pass

Marybell Scroggins of the Hereford ninth grade B team concentrates on making a perfect pass. Her team beat Amarillo High Monday in Whiteface Gym.

HJH, freshmen spikers win 4 out of 6 matches

Hereford Junior High hosted six volleyball matches Monday, as the junior high teams won three out of four against Valleyview and the freshmen split a pair with Amarillo High.

The ninth grade A team lost a marathon thriller 15-5, 18-20, 15-10. The second game was the highlight, as Hereford fought back repeatedly and finally won.

The B team won easily, 15-6, 15-3. Annie Hoffman served for nine points and Raquel Villarreal served for eight.

The eighth grade A team beat Valleyview 15-8, 15-8 as Nichole Albracht and Holly Weishaar each served for seven points.

Both seventh grade teams won close matches after losing the first games. The A team won 8-15, 15-9, 15-13, getting five points each from Amanda Vallejo and Annie Keenan. The B team won 14-16, 15-10, 16-14, getting seven points from Mayra Olvera and six each from Sarah Matthews and Kristen Fangman.

Hereford's ninth grade teams won two matches on Saturday, when Yucca of Clovis, N.M. came to Hereford. The A team won 8-15, 15-13, 15-12 as Shonda Sossaman served for 17 points. The B team won 15-2, 12-15, 15-12 as Courtney Crawford served for 16.

Finally, the seventh grade teams hosted a tournament two weeks ago and found success there. The A team took third place, while the B team won the B division.

Soccer champions

The Milan Soccer Club of Hereford recently hosted and won the Championship Cup of the Northwest Texas Soccer League. Milan beat the Bovina Rayos 4-1, getting two goals each from Rigoberto Gallegos and Adrian Maltos. The team has also won the league championship and a tournament in Friona. Team members, gathered around their most recent trophy, are (front row, left to right) Luis Gallegos, Rigo Gallegos, Adan Tarin, Emilio Romero, (back) Javier Perez, Jose Luis Hernandez, Enrique Marquez, Gustavo Vasquez and Marco Romero. Not pictured are coach Emilio Romero Sr. and players Enrique Lara, Efrain Lara, Jaime Lara, Jaime Chaivira, Jaime Aguilera, Harvey Romero, Ulysses Martinez, Gilberto Vasquez, Adrian Maltos, Gerardo Camarillo, Hugo Reyes and Chava Gonzales.

Nunnally wins football contest

Pat Nunnally missed two games and took the top prize in last week's Hereford Brand Football Contest. He'll pick up $25 in Hereford Bucks for his efforts.

Jacquelyn Bezner claimed second place and $15 in Hereford Bucks by missing only three of the 25 games. Tim Corbett emerged from a pack of contestants who missed four games. Corbett correctly picked Borger in the tie-breaker game and came closest to the final score. He'll receive $10 in Hereford Bucks.

The 10 others who missed four were: Lloyd Olson, Joani Guyver, Violeta Valdez, Mal Manchee, Bernadette Kalka, Hap Caviness, Wayne Amstutz, Daniel Edwards, Cleta Weemes and Richard Dickson.

Look for the 25 games in the ads on pages 6 and 7 of this edition of the Brand, fill out the official entry blank (no copies) and bring it by the Brand office at 313 N. Lee Street.

As always, anyone who gets all 25 games plus the tie-breaker right wins $500 in Hereford Bucks.

Hereford youth place in rodeo

Four Hereford rodeo team members placed in several events Saturday at the Tri-State High School Rodeo Association event in Stinnett. Chasity Rickman placed in three events, including a win in breakaway roping with a time of 3.378 seconds. She also placed third in goat tying (10.497) and sixth in barrel racing (18.460). Justin Henderson took second in bareback riding with a score of 64, and he scored 67 points in bull riding, good for sixth place.

Misty Meyer was second in breakaway with a time of 4.359. Cloudy Kidd took fifth in ribbon roping in 12.229.

Famous Shirt

CLEVELAND (AP) - Pitcher Johnny Allen, a winner in the 1930s for the Cleveland Indians, didn't make it to the Hall of Fame but he did give the shirt off his back to the shrine in Cooperstown, N.Y.

In a game against the Boston Red Sox in 1938, Allen was ordered by umpire Bill McGowan to cut off the lower part of his dangling sweatshirt sleeve because it was bothering the Boston batters.

Allen not only refused but stalked off the mound into the clubhouse. He was fined for his show of temper and his sweatshirt was sent to the Hall of Fame.

Fall golf matches re-scheduled

The fall golf matches scheduled for Saturday in Borger were canceled. The boys, who were to play at Huber Country Club, will now play Oct. 23. The girls, who were to play at Phillips

Golf Course, will now play Oct. 30.

On this Saturday, the boys will play at Plainview CC, and the girls will play at Hidden Hills in Pampa.

Dykstra's 10th-inning shot gets series lead for Phils

ATLANTA (AP) - The Philadelphia Phillies are the dream of every factory and office team in the country, proving it ain't the punch that matters, it's the punch.

They're Len Dykstra spitting out tobacco juice, brown stains on his chin and shirt, hustling to the plate in the 10th inning Monday, getting the job done with a line-drive homer to beat the Atlanta Braves 4-3.

They're John Kruk, baseball's cross between Bluto and Belushi, thumping a double, driving in the first run in the first inning to point the Phillies toward their third victory in five games in the best-of-7 NL Playoffs.

They're Mitch Williams, the wildest and craziest of the bunch, skateboarding through the ninth-inning again, wiping out starter Curt Schilling's four-hit, 3-0 gem through 8 1-3, giving up the tying run and strutting away a grinning winner once more.

They're Pete Incaviglia going splat in left field and making the catch, tumbling over the bullpen fence chasing a foul ball, running madly to third on an error of his pop-up, doing anything it takes to win even if it's beyond his limit.

They're catcher Darren Daulton, slyly sticking out his foot to block the plate and prevent one run, scoring another of his own with a homer in the ninth that provided a crucial cushion.

They're rude, crude, funny and smart - and one victory away from a National League pennant and a visit to the World Series.

They don't have the elegant starting staff of the Braves, who can boast two Cy Young winners: Greg Maddux, set to go Wednesday, and Tom Glavine, ready for Game 7 if necessary.

Dykstra, whose ninth-inning homer gave the New York Mets a dramatic 6-5 playoff victory over Houston on the same date seven years ago, drove a 3-2 pitch from Mark Wohlers over the right-centerfield fence with one out in the 10th and quickly remembered 1986.

The Braves came into this season with a lofty 104 victories, seven more than the Phillies in the regular season. Then the Braves slapped the Phillies around in Games 2 and 3, reinforcing the perception that the two teams were on different levels. The Phillies resented that.

"There was a lot said about our club, that we weren't supposed to be on the same field with these guys," said manager Jim Fregosi, who promotes the Phillies' "us-against-them" attitude. "Well, we're a solid club, a good club. And I couldn't be prouder of these guys."

Schilling is pitching like the best.

He could be the first playoff MVP with an 0-0 record. He struck out 10 in the first game, nine on Monday, and both times he paved the way to victories.

"I can't say enough about the pitching from Danny Jackson and Curt Schilling these last two days," Dykstra said. "Those two guys are the reason we're going back to Philadelphia up 3-2. They both pitched their butts off."

Schilling breezed into the ninth but fell victim to his own mistake and one of his teammate's.

Schilling walked Blauser to lead off, then Kim Batiste, who replaced Dave Hollins in the eighth allegedly for defense, failed to come up with Ron Gant's grounder to third. That was it for Schilling.

"I gave everything I had after the seventh," Schilling said. "I was on adrenaline after that."

In came Williams, also an instant disaster in Games 1 and 4.

Fred McGriff singled on the first pitch to make it 3-1. David Justice's sacrifice fly to left pulled the Braves within a run.

Then Terry Pendleton lined a single to center, moving McGriff to second. Up came Francisco Cabrera. It was his two-run single off Stan Belinda with two outs in the ninth that won Game 7 and the pennant for the Braves last year against Pittsburgh.

Could it happen again?

Almost.

"I was just trying to hit the ball," Cabrera said. "I didn't have time to think about last year. If I had, I'd lose my concentration."

He bounced a two-hopper just past shortstop Kevin Stocker as McGriff scored the tying run and Pendleton sped to third. Mark Lemke - 5-for-10 in his career against Williams, including that drive Milt Thompson caught in front of the left field wall Sunday night - came up and missed the winning hit by about a yard - a drive to left that landed a few feet foul.

Oilers' seven turnovers start Buffalo stampede

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. (AP) - This time, it was the Houston Oilers who needed the comeback. The comeback never came.

Continuing a skid that started when they blew a 35-3 lead in losing to the Buffalo Bills in last season's playoffs, the Oilers fell apart again in a 35-7 loss to the Bills on Monday night.

Asked how he felt after the game, Warren Moon, benched for the second time this season, probably spoke for many Houston fans: "Thoroughly disgusted and very disappointed."

That's what a three-interception, three-sack, one-fumble performance will do to you. And those were just the misfortunes that befell Moon.

All told, the Oilers lost three fumbles, threw four interceptions and surrendered four sacks.

Combined with Houston's underachieving 1-3 start, it was the kind of abysmal effort that can get a coach fired. Not surprisingly, Jack Pardee deflected questions about his job security after the game.

"I'm worried about the team. That's my one worry," the embattled coach said. "I don't have control over anything else. We're not the team we have been. We've got a lot of work to get back to that."

Houston figured to be motivated to settle the score with the Bills, who beat the Oilers 41-38 in the greatest comeback - or the most colossal collapse - in NFL history last January.

Instead, the Bills (4-1) settled the outcome early with a 21-0 blitz in the second quarter.

Tied at 7-7 on touchdown catches by Buffalo's Don Beebe and Houston's Leonard Harris, the Bills started the second quarter with an 87-yard drive that ended when Andre Reed made a leaping, twisting catch in the end zone for a 24-yard touchdown.

Reed got free again on the Bills' next possession, took a Jim Kelly pass and then cut past several Oilers to trot into the end zone for a 39-yard touchdown score.

It was Buffalo's second-longest pass completion of the season and Reed said the Bills' willingness to throw deep made a big difference.

"I think the main key tonight was that we threw the ball long," he said. "We weren't doing that the first four games and the defenses kind of thought we couldn't go long."

Houston's third turnover of the game, a fumble by Haywood Jeffries that came at the end of a 26-yard reception, led to the Bills' third touchdown of the quarter.

Thurman Thomas, who had 24 carries for 92 yards, ran six times in a nine-play drive that ended when he burst through several missed tackles for the 7-yard touchdown that put the Bills up 28-7.

It was a dramatic explosion for a Buffalo offense that scored only one touchdown in each of its last three games.

"Our offense played well, but they got a big help from the defense," coach Marv Levy said. "They got seven takeaways and during the course of the game, that makes a heck of a difference."

"I think it was probably the best defense we've played since I've been here," said Bruce Smith.

On Sunday in the NFL, it was Chicago 17, Philadelphia 6; Kansas City 17, Cincinnati 15; Dallas 27, Indianapolis 3; Miami 24, Cleveland 14; New York Giants 41, Washington 7; Minnesota 15, Tampa Bay 0; Pittsburgh 16, San Diego 3; New England 23, Phoenix 21; Los Angeles Raiders 24, New York Jets 20; Green Bay 30, Denver 27.

Atlanta, New Orleans, San Francisco, Detroit, Seattle and the Los Angeles Rams were idle.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: I enjoy baking and make a pecan pie once in a while.

A friend gave me a lot of walnuts and I was wondering if I could use walnuts in place of pecans in my recipe. — Kelly Marge, Seguin, Texas

We checked with our local county extension agent, who we call a lot, and she said that walnuts will work just as well as the pecans, with a slight flavor difference. Let us know how it came out.

Enjoy! — Heloise

BEET COOKING
 Dear Heloise: After boiling beets, you never peel them. Simply run them under cold water and rub the skins off with your hands.

So easy and quick! — Mary Jane Frahm, St. Clair Shores, Mich.

NEW RECIPE
 Dear Heloise: When I am trying a new recipe clipped from a newspaper or magazine, I fasten it at eye level on my range hood with a decorative magnet.

It keeps it out of the way and away from sticky splashes. — Thelma Smith, Clifton, Pa.

New recipes are such fun to try! I have compiled a pamphlet chock-full of quick-and-easy homemade soup recipes. To receive a copy, please send $2 and a long, self-addressed, stamped (52 cents) envelope to: Heloise/Soup #10, P.O. Box 795001, San Antonio TX 78279-5001. — Heloise

PLASTIC POT SCRUBBER
 Dear Heloise: I keep my plastic pot scrubber in the dishwasher.

Every time I run the dishwasher the scrubber gets clean and smells fresh. — H. Cannon, Bishopville, S.C.

COOKING TOMATO SAUCE
 Dear Heloise: This hint might be an oldie that has been printed before, but I just retrieved it from long-term memory.

When I cook spaghetti sauce, it always bubbles up and creates a big mess on the top of my stove.

I remembered my mother's advice: Put a large metal spoon in the kettle while cooking and it won't splatter.

I use an 11-inch metal spoon. No more tomato spots all over the top of my stove. It works great! — Bonnie, Boone, Iowa

Just be sure not to grab that hot spoon with a bare hand. — Heloise

Dear Heloise: I'm interested in finding out the most effective and environmentally friendly method of sanitizing and washing cloth diapers. — Kathy Alfred, Owatonna, Minn.

For all you new mothers out there, here's a way of making a messy job a little bit easier.

First, when using cloth diapers, rinse thoroughly before putting them in a diaper pail. You can make up a pre-soak solution in the pail by partially filling it with a mild sudsy solution. Add 1 tablespoon of bleach for every gallon of water.

Then, about every other day, dump the diapers along with the solution into the washing machine and run them through the spin cycle to remove the liquid. Make sure not to overload the machine—a good number to put in is about 16 to 18 diapers at a time.

Wash the diapers in hot soapy water, and every two or three washings add the recommended amount of bleach to keep the diapers white. Run them through the rinse cycle twice and on the second rins-

Women's fitness topic of L'Allegra program

Kim Buckley presented the program, "Women's Fitness," when members of the L'Allegra Study Club met Thursday in the home of Suzanne Smith with Poppy Head serving as co-hostess.

Buckley emphasized that exercise is the most important part of a fitness plan and one needs to eat healthy and watch fat intake.

Sylvia Khuri reported on the progress of installing a gazebo on the grounds of the Hereford Regional Medical Center, and it was announced that the next meeting will be a workday for "Project Christmas Card."

Others in attendance were, Dee

Anne Trotter, Carmen Flood, Kitty Gault, Diane Hoelscher, Sandy Josseland, Barbara Kerr, Joyce Lomas, Mary Kay McQuigg, Shelly Moss, Micha Noland, Hilda Perales, Judy Wall and Jan Weishaar.

The first cherry trees for which Washington, D.C. is famous were planted there in 1912.

A chemical in coffee beans mean more availability of the right kind of blood when transfusions are needed, researchers have discovered. Others are working on a cure for malaria, using monkeys as models.

Women's health

As people grow older, they often begin to notice veins showing through the skin on their legs.

Some veins may be tiny, spider-like veins that appear on the thighs and behind the knees. These are quite common and not readily noticeable to others. Other veins may become twisted and swollen, causing unsightly bulges along the leg. These are called varicose veins.

Varicose veins occur when the valves in the veins, the vessels carrying blood back to the heart, become weakened or don't close properly. Because blood can flow backwards, it pools in the veins, causing swelling.

This condition tends to run in families, and it is more common among women than men. Obesity, pregnancy and physical inactivity, increase the risk of varicose veins as do wearing constricting garments, such as stockings with elastic tops, and sitting for long intervals with your legs crossed.

If you think you are at risk for varicose veins, especially if you are pregnant, try to take steps to eliminate unnecessary pressure on the leg veins. Avoid long periods of standing. When sitting, elevate your legs whenever possible, and try to get out of the habit of crossing your legs. Don't wear clothing that binds the legs. Get regular exercise—at least three times a week, and avoid gaining too much weight. You might also try wearing support stockings.

For women who already have varicose veins, support stockings work well for reducing swelling and keeping blood flowing. Many doctors recommend putting them on first thing in the morning and wearing them all day. Regular exercise and resting with your legs elevated also help promote circulation. Avoid excessive weight gain and placing undue pressure on your legs.

Varicose veins rarely cause any significant health problems. Occasionally, however, if blood flow to an area is so restricted that the skin becomes undernourished, ulcers may develop. If you have varicose veins, be sure to see your doctor if you notice any unusual patches of skin.

Several treatments are available to get rid of troubling or unattractive veins. Doctors can surgically remove varicosities in a procedure called "stripping." The remaining smaller veins take over the work of the removed vessels. Another type of treatment involves injecting a special solution into the veins that causes them to harden and shrivel away. Following either procedure, the leg must be wrapped until the inflammation subsides.

If you are concerned about varicose veins, talk with your doctor. He or she will be able to recommend a plan of healthy leg care.

New granules help control ticks carrying Lyme disease

The Environmental Protection Agency has approved the registration of Green Light Ticks Granules for control of deer ticks and other ticks which carry Lyme disease.

Lyme disease, which has afflicted over 25,000 Americans in 43 states, has become one of North America's most pressing public health concerns. Often called the "great imitator," it mimics other diseases and causes victims to develop symptoms that can include the flu, heart problems, facial paralysis, arthritis, and depression.

Diagnosis of Lyme disease is difficult because the only unique symptom--of the disease--a red, expanding lesion at the site of the bite--is absent in 30-40 percent of the cases.

To help prevent Lyme disease, extensive testing at the New Jersey State Department of Public Health and at New York Medical College shows that a single application of biodegradable Sevin Granules can provide over 95 percent control of deer tick nymphs on residential lawns.

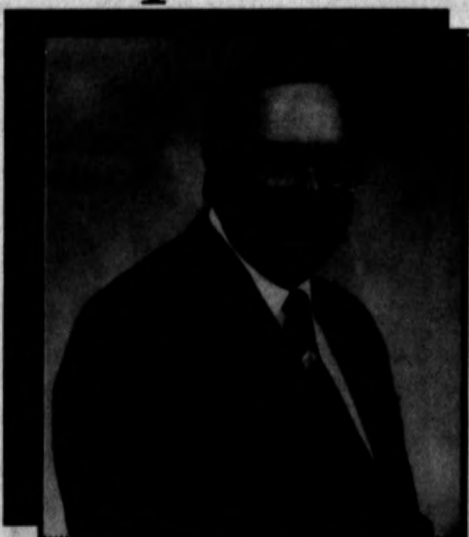

This data is particularly significant since a majority of Lyme disease transmissions occur during the summer and fall months when people's outdoor activities peak.

To reach harmful insects, the granules penetrate deeply into the soil, where they cannot be confused as a food source by birds and other wildlife, unlike corn cob bases. Water or irrigation releases the Sevin for immediate activity.

The true, strong and sound mind is the mind that can embrace equally great things and small.

Cover NailSlicks offers a palette of gorgeous new shades--in crams, frosts and sheers--that are excellent for fall.

Business Mirror Mutual fund market could be sad story

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—There is no indication at the moment that it will happen, but it probably could. It is the possibility that the soaring mutual fund market could become another sad story for investors.
It is anything but that now. Millions of investors are making far better returns on their money than they could find in their old savings certificates, and the industry is growing like no other in the financial world.
Almost any day a new calendar-year record for net sales will be announced, exceeding last year's record of $197.3 billion. At the end of August, the 1993 total already was at $182.5 billion, and assets totaled $1.9 trillion.
But as the numbers rise, so do the worries. The latter aren't always expressed publicly, because many of those who do the worrying are involved in the business and not anxious to see their own paychecks diminished.
The scenarios of how it could happen differ in details but not in the generality. They go something like this:
Mutual fund investments are considered long-term investments, but many of those who buy them are looking for short-term results,

HIGHLIGHTS

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison dismissed Washington, D.C. lawyer John Dowd last week, and Nov. 29 has been set as her trial date in state district court.
Hutchison has hired two Texas lawyers to defend her against the charges which allege wrongdoing during her tenure as Texas state treasurer.
Replacing Dowd are Houston attorney Dick DeGuerin and University of Texas law professor Michael Tigar. DeGuerin is to serve as Hutchison's lead counsel and Tigar will file legal briefs. Hutchison spokesman David Beckwith said the decision to hire Texas lawyers was made because the trial will be taking place in Texas.
DeGuerin was legal counsel to Branch Davidian cult leader David Koresh, who died April 19 in a fire that incinerated the cult's compound in Waco. Beckwith said Tigar will concentrate on "whether the legal process is being abused in a political way."
Hutchison is charged with three counts of official misconduct, one count of tampering with governmental records and one count of tampering with physical evidence. If convicted, she could serve up to 61 years in prison or jail and pay fines up to $43,000.
In addition to the Nov. 29 trial date in Travis County, an Oct. 18 deadline has been set for pretrial motions to be filed for a pretrial hearing scheduled for Oct. 28.
A Travis County grand jury indicted Hutchison and two former treasury department aides on Sept. 27 on criminal charges after an investigation that lasted more than three months. The aides have requested a separate trial and will be given a later court date.

School Lawsuit Under Way
When the fourth school finance lawsuit got under way in Austin last week, District Judge Scott McCown ruled that the suit will not be expanded to include whether Texas spends enough money on its public schools.
McCown said for now he would consider only equity issues: whether Texas fairly distributes more than $15 billion a year in state and local revenue to school districts.
He said he would wait until the end of the trial, which could last two to four weeks, to decide whether to convene a second trial on adequate funding.
In limiting the extent of the trial, McCown set aside a legal motion filed by the Texas Association of School Boards on behalf of 60 school districts of varying size and property wealth.
Both property-poor school districts and property-rich districts are challenging the legality of the new school finance law but for different reasons. Property-rich districts say the law is unconstitutional because it relies on local school property taxes, in essence creating a statewide property tax.
Greytok vs. Mauro
Marta Greytok, a Public Utility Commission member for the past six years, will seek the Republican nomination to challenge three-term Land Commissioner Garry Mauro, a Democrat.
She will face state Rep. Robert Eckles, R-Houston, who is stepping down from the Legislature, in the GOP primary.
Greytok called Mauro "part of the entrenched political class that has created so much hate for politics and distrust of government among the people."
She criticized Mauro, who headed President Clinton's campaign in Texas last year, for using state phones to do campaign work.

"He has turned the Texas Land Commission into an annex of the Clinton White House," Greytok said.
Mauro, first elected in 1982, is expected to seek re-election in 1994.
Caucus Funding Halted
A Texas House committee last week halted public funding of House legislative caucuses and recommended that the groups be barred from fund raising during a legislative session and be required to disclose expenditures and contributions.
"It had been perceived, rightly or wrongly, that caucuses are able to go outside the bounds of an elected official in their raising money and their expenditures, and we certainly do not agree with that," said Layton Black, D-Goldthwaite, chairman of the House Administration Committee.
Bustamante Sentenced
Former U.S. Rep. Albert Bustamante will appeal the federal influence-peddling conviction that drew him a 42-month prison sentence, his attorney announced.
"Absolutely, there will be an appeal," said A.L. Herndon, one member of the defense team that represented Bustamante on racketeering and bribery charges in July.
U.S. District Judge Ed Prado also ordered Bustamante to pay $55,100 in fines and court costs, and sentenced him to two years for a conviction for accepting an illegal gratuity.
Other Highlights
■ The Texas Supreme Court has upheld the state public higher education funding system by ruling it does not discriminate against Mexican Americans in South Texas. The decision overturns last year's ruling by state District Judge Ben Euresi Jr., who declared the system was unconstitutional.
■ Almost 18 percent of Texas' population lived below the poverty line last year — a rate significantly higher than the national average of 14.5 percent, the Census Bureau reported. Eight states, led by Louisiana and Mississippi, reported higher averages.

Panhandle property owners want decision on riverbed

AMARILLO, Texas (AP)—Some Panhandle property owners want a court decision on where the state can draw a riverbed's boundary line.
State officials say the public still owns the land where the Canadian River used to flow.
But landowners along a 37-mile strip argue that the land is theirs to the Canadian's edge, even though the river isn't as wide as before Sanford Dam was built in 1965.
The squabble has made little headway since the landowners asked a district court in Miami, Texas, to determine the boundary. An Oct. 19 trial date has been postponed.
"Our clients own down to the water, and they don't want to be deprived of that property," said Amarillo attorney Jody Sheets, who represents the landowners in a lawsuit filed in 1989.
"We continue to own the same riverbed as prior to construction of Sanford Dam," responds Rande Herrell, assistant Texas attorney general.
For years, the disputed land northeast of Amarillo has been used by the public for hunting and recreation.
The Texas Panhandle Recreation-alist Association, formed in 1989 to fight "the attempted grab of public domain land along the Canadian River riverbed," collected almost 8,000 signatures that year in supporting the state.
The plaintiffs — who include natural gas tycoon T. Boone Pickens — acknowledge the state of Texas owns the riverbed in Hutchinson and Roberts counties.
But the landowners say they've been deprived of thousands of acres since the gates of Sanford Dam were closed to form Lake Meredith. Court documents say the Canadian's flow began to drop, and thus the riverbed narrowed.
They say the boundary should be based upon the river's current shape.
State officials, meanwhile, say the boundary should remain based on the river's flow in its "natural state" — that is, the wider flow before the dam was built. Natural changes, such as erosion, are the only legal reasons to change the boundary of a riverbed, they say.

Drug czar lauds Texas plan

AUSTIN (AP) — President Clinton's drug czar says he's impressed with Texas' program for providing drug and alcohol treatment for prison inmates to help trim the number of repeat offenders.
"Texas is serving as a model of how to deal with treatment within the criminal justice system. It's something we need to do at all levels — federal as well as state as well as the local level," drug czar Lee Brown said.
Brown, former police chief in Houston and New York City, and Gov. Ann Richards both spoke to a Texans' War on Drugs conference Monday. Brown also visited the New Vision chemical dependency facility at Kyle, south of Austin, where prisoners receive drug treatment.
The state in 1991 decided to build some 14,000 prison beds for drug and alcohol treatment. About 2,600 of those currently are in operation, according to the governor's office.
Richards called the program the most extensive in the nation.
The governor said she told Brown that two elements are critical in winning the war on drugs.
"Education of young kids, and the earlier the better ... to make kids understand that this business of being drug-free is something to be terribly proud of," she said.
The second part, Richards said, was treating prisoners.
"We know that in New York State, they have a 70 percent success rate among the people that they have treated," she said.
"We're seeing an extraordinary change in behavior," she said.
In a speech to the meeting of anti-drug leaders, Brown said the Clinton administration's drug-fighting policy will be on a national scale.

EMERGENCY! THE DEVIL IS IN TROUBLE!
In 1682, 100 Quakers, led by William Penn, sailed for America.
Paul felt impelled by the Holy Spirit to go across to Greece before returning to Jerusalem. "And after that," he said, "I must go on to Rome!" He sent his two assistants, Timothy and Erastus, on ahead to Greece while he stayed awhile longer in Turkey.
But about that time, a big blowup developed in Ephesus concerning the Christians. It began with Demetrius, a silversmith who employed many craftsmen to manufacture silver shrines of the Greek goddess Diana. He called a meeting of his men, together with others employed in related trades, and addressed them as follows:
"Gentlemen, this business is our income. As you know so well from what you've seen and heard, this man Paul has persuaded many, many people that handmade gods aren't gods at all. As a result, our sales volume is going down! And this trend is evident not only here in Ephesus, but throughout the entire province! Of course, I am not only talking about the business aspects of this situation and our

How to survive cold season

It's that time of year again, when sniffles, sneezes and runny noses seem to visit your children on a regular basis. Children get two to three times as many colds as adults and they're more likely to catch cold in the winter.

To help your family have a healthier winter, follow these tips:

Colds are usually spread by the infected person through hand-to-hand contact with another person, or with objects such as toys, door knobs and telephones. To help break the cycle of transmission in your home, encourage thorough hand washing and treat commonly touched surfaces regularly with a disinfectant.

To help prevent viruses from spreading, teach your child to sneeze or cough into a tissue, use disposable paper cups in the bathroom, and make sure you wash your hands before and after caring for a sick child.

Children in day care may be exposed to germs that cause infectious diarrhea. To help prevent the germs from spreading in your home, encourage thorough hand washing and regularly disinfect areas where children play. Remember, baking soda, vinegar and ammonia clean but do not disinfect.

Starve a fever? No. Children with a fever should be fed because calories are being consumed rapidly at the higher body temperature. Never withhold liquids.

If you suspect an ear infection, call your child's pediatrician. Do not use eardrops unless your doctor recommends them.

HERMOSA BEACH, Calif. (AP) - Jason Priestly and the rest of the "Beverly Hills 90210" crowd will have to shoot their beach scenes in a new zip code after residents successfully sued for peace and quiet.

Hermosa Beach, about 15 miles from downtown Los Angeles, had allowed the show limited access to film segments in which characters rent a beach home during their freshman year in college.

After three shoots, residents sued, arguing the work disrupted the neighborhood. Torrance Superior Court Commissioner Abraham Gorenfeld said there are many miles of other seashores in California where the show could be filmed.

The legal decision this week brings big worries to Hollywood.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: My wife is 71 years old. About five years ago, she developed macular degeneration, and two years ago, glaucoma. She underwent laser surgery for the glaucoma two months ago. This lowered the pressure in her eye 2 or 3 points and the glaucoma appears to have stabilized. But her vision has deteriorated.

She is due to renew her driver's license later this year and her ophthalmologist is not certain she can pass the eye test. He also says he cannot prescribe any stronger lenses that will help her pass the test. Is there some way she can be helped to pass?

DEAR READER: It is sad but true that only so much can be done in the course of various diseases. At that point, one must accept the inevitable. The macula is a central point in the retina at the back of the eye where much of the rays of light are focused so you can see. There are specialized cells in this area which do tend to degenerate with age, a condition called dry macular degeneration. There is no way these cells can be regenerated.

Before someone reminds me about using lasers, that is for wet macular degeneration with the formation of new blood vessels that invade the macular area, not the dry degenerative type.

These cells degenerate in everyone, but in some it is more rapid than in others. At first vision begins to get fuzzy or fade. Letters may drop out when you read. Eyeglasses at that stage can sharpen the images and help, but if the condition progresses, a person loses the central vision, the ability to see things directly in front. That makes it dangerous to drive, and no matter how strong the eyeglasses are, they cannot compensate for all the cells that have degenerated.

I have explained macular degeneration in more detail in Special Issue 36-10, About Your Vision, which I'm sending you. Others who want this issue can send $3 with a stamped (52 cents), self-addressed, No. 10 envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/36-10, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077-5537.

Macular degeneration does not mean a person will be completely blind. The peripheral vision may be maintained for quite some time, but the loss of central vision means driving safely becomes impossible.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I am a 70-year-old female and I have to get up three or four times a night to urinate. Then I'm tired the next day. Is there anything I can do to eliminate getting up that often?

DEAR READER: The first step is to find out what is causing the problem, called nocturia. Is it because you are passing lots of urine or a reversal of the pattern of urination between night and day? One cause of nocturia is congestive heart failure. As the body accumulates more fluid, there is a reversal of the day-night urination cycle. In that case, treatment of congestive heart failure may help. The same is true if a large amount of fluid is retained from liver or kidney disease. A defect in the kidney filtering mechanism can cause it as well.

Add to the list uncontrolled sugar diabetes, which increases the amount of water consumed and the total amount of urine voided. An unrelated condition is diabetes insipidus, related to hormones from the pituitary gland. Are you taking diuretics? If so, your medication cycle may need to be changed. The bottom line is that an examination by your doctor is essential to determine the cause, and only then can a proper decision be made regarding what to do for you.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I am writing to see if you have a list of foods to avoid eating to prevent gas. I have been bothered by gas for sometime now. I take 50 mg of Tenormin and one Ecotrin a day because of a slight stroke I had.

The gas problem is very embarassing because I can pass gas by just walking. I try to hold it because I work in an office and serve people. I don't know what to do anymore.

DEAR READER: Gaseous distention is a very common problem. At least 10 percent of the population has discomfort from gas formation. Usually the problem is inability to digest some foods a person consumes. But it can also be an indication of an underlying disease. Gallbladder disease may be the cause. A decrease in available enzymes to digest food is often a factor. This includes disease of the pancreas. In addition to providing insulin, the pancreas produces a large amount of secretions emptied directly into the small intestine at the same point where bile enters from the liver. The secretions contain enzymes to enable digestion of carbohydrates, fats and proteins. Absence of these can cause a lot of gas. Enzyme replacement may help in some cases of gaseousness.

In other instances, there are no enzymes in the digestive tract to digest carbohydrates. A good example is the mature bean seed group. That includes soybeans and products made with soybeans (but not soybean oil). These products contain a triple sugar. Table sugar is a double sugar. We have enzymes to digest double sugars usually, but not triple sugars. That is why these foods cause gas. A recent product called Beano can be used to help digest these foods. But if you are allergic to penicillin you can't use it.

Trend for tresses is less dressy for the fall season

The time has come, hair care experts say, for a refreshing change of mane. After seasons of serious hairdressing, coifs are loosening up for fall.

According to the nine award-winning hair stylists from across the country who make up the Rave Fashion Design Team, the grungy-inspired straight and narrow has been the inspiration for the latest styles that have been cropping up for both long and short cuts.

Hair color and highlights are still popular across the country, especially soft highlights around the face and bright, playful shades.

The days of perming for style are gone. The major consensus across the country is to perm for support and body, rather than curl. Permed tresses are blown out for smoother, sleeker looks with lots of body and bounce. A tired perm can be revived with Rave Curl Booster.

Whatever style you select, you can get a powerful hold from gel. Another help can be from spray nutrients for a natural-looking hold that lasts and lets you comb through without disturbing the style.

Seen of the streets of fashionable places is the glossy wet look. One way to get it is with spray gel on wet hair. Once the hair is styled into place, it's protected from the humidity. A list misting of shine spray can control split ends and give hair an all-day glow.

The Design Team also offers these ideas for great looking hair:

-Adding color, especially highlights, can give hair extra shine for months at a time.

-Using conditioner under the dryer can also offer additional shine.

-Rinsing with cool water after shampooing can give hair a luminescent look.

-Diluted apple cider vinegar, applied to hair after conditioning, can remove most residue and leave hair shiny and clean.

Your hair dressing specialist can help you decide which of today's styles look best on you.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Alice Walker thinks Americans should be able to learn for themselves the truth about Cuba, despite a U.S. ban to visit the communist nation.

The famed writer lent her support Friday to a group of people, including her daughter, that plans to visit Cuba in defiance of the ban, lifted in the last 30 years only during the Carter administration.

"I feel we should be able to visit Cuba. They are our sisters and brothers," Walker said.

A group of 175 people from 25 states planned to go to Cuba this weekend to deliver medical supplies and try to persuade the government to end the ban. Walker, who has defied the ban in the past, was going herself this time.

Let us show you a Texas you've never seen before.

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.

This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 284,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.
