McFarlane denies role on private contra funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan's national security adviser says no one on his staff ever acted "as a go-between" for private aid to Nicaraguan rebels, but three congressional committees plan inquiries into reports of such activities.

National security adviser Robert McFarlane gave his assurance there was no impropriety to Sens. Dave Durenberger, R-Minn., Senate Intelligence Committee chairman, and Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., the panel's vice chairman, during an hour-long meeting Thursday.

Durenberger said the panel still planned to look into published reports that Lt. Col. Oliver North, an NSC staff aide, had helped the Nicaraguan rebels raise money from outside sources and provided some military advice. The House Intelligence Committee and a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee are also examining the reports.

The Associated Press reported last

June that White House officials, including North, advised private groups that were trying in the spring of 1984 to set up fund-raising efforts to support the rebels fighting to oust Nicaragua's leftist government.

At that time, Congress was rejecting Reagan's request for more CIA aid to the rebels. But it was not until October 1984 that Congress imposed a strict ban against the CIA or any other U.S. agency "involved in intelligence ... irectly or indirectly" aiding the rebels.

The congressional committees are specifically investigating whether that provision, known as the Boland Amendment, was violated.

Durenberger and Leahy said McFarlane agreed that the congressional ban would have applied to the NSC staff. But the NSC adviser said Reagan had specifically directed the White House staff to comply with the prohibition, the senators said.

Based on the meeting with McFarlane, Durenberger said North did maintain contacts with Americans who wished to assist the rebels and with the rebels themselves.

Paraphrasing the administration's attitude on those contacts,

Durenberger said: "You can certainly do your best to keep (up) the morale of our friends — the Nicaraguan opposition — until we can change the position of the Congress."

Durenberger added that North

"did not deny responding to phone calls (from people who) would call and say, 'I'd like to ... help these guys out,' and he would say, in effect, 'you know who they are, but we can't tell you what to do.'"

In a statement, Durenberger and Leahy quoted McFarlane as saying: "No NSC staff member either personally assisted the (Nicaraguan) resistance or solicited outside assistance on their behalf. At no time did anyone act as a go-between or focal point for such aid."

At a news conference, Durenberger added that McFarlane had said that "neither he nor anyone else had in any way initiated the collecting of funds, the collecting of arms or had helped to channel any of these things in any specific direction."

This summer, Congress continued a ban on lethal military aid to the Nicaraguan rebels but approved $27 million in non-lethal aid and agreed to permit the CIA to share intelligence information with the rebels.

In another development, 17 House Democrats urged the Internal Revenue Service to review two tax-exempt groups that have raised money for anti-government Nicaraguans.

White says $1.4 billion water plan best the state can get AUSTIN (AP) — The $1.4 billion statewide water plan on this fall's ballot is the best environmentalists can hope for, so they should support it, Gov. Mark White says.

"It's a far better plan than none at all, and it's probably better than any we're likely to get in the future," White told his weekly news conference Thursday.

White also moved to head off possible opposition from the Texas Sierra Club, which was angered this week by his failure to choose one of its candidates for a seat on the Texas Water Commission.

"I was even contemplating joining the Sierra Club. If I were a member of the Sierra Club, I would be very, very reluctant to vote against this plan because of the protections that are built into it."

White said the water plan includes significant environmental safeguards, restrictions lacking in earlier proposals rejected by voters.

"It provides for protection of the bays and estuaries that no prior plan has," he said.

"It provides for water conservation plans to be in place in order to trigger funding for the cities' (projects). It makes more stringent the standards for all of the water projects. It provides irrigation conservation. All of those things, I think, are large steps forward that would induce or enhance the support that environmentalists should give to this plan."

The plan — actually two proposed constitutional amendments — must be approved by voters before it can take effect.

The first proposal would authorize $980 million in bonds for construction of reservoirs, treatment plants and pipelines, and extend $250 million of the state's credit to guarantee bonds issued by local governments. The second part would authorize $200 million in bonds for loans to farmers buying water-saving irrigation equipment.

But the Sierra Club, which will announce its position on the plan Monday, and others argue that the proposal leaves environmental protection open to considerable interpretation by the three-member water commission.

The National Audubon Society this week became the first major group to call for the plan's defeat, saying its environmental protection measures are too loose.

Sierra Club officials have said that group might also oppose the plan because White appointed Houston lawyer John O. Houchins to the water commission.

Defending the appointment of his former Baylor Law School classmate, White said he never promised to choose a Sierra Club candidate.

"I told them I would listen and I would appoint someone who was sensitive to the environmental concerns that they expressed. That's the commitment I made to them, and I kept that commitment," he said.

Houchins, White said, "will be able to determine from a common sense

Government says sanctions would hurt

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — The government says the U.S. Congress would hinder reform of apartheid and harm the black nations of southern Africa if it imposes economic sanctions on South Africa's white-minority government.

"If they undermine our economy, push up the temperature in the country, and polarize opinion — which will be the effects of sanctions — then they will inevitably be retarding the negotiating program" with black leaders, Deputy Foreign Minister Louis Nel told reporters Thursday.

Violence that has claimed 29 lives in the Cape Town area in nine days continued. Gangs of youths roamed mixed-race districts, stoning police and soldiers, who fired back with rubber bullets and live ammunition. No deaths were reported.

In Washington, the U.S. State Department accused the South African police of using "excessive force" and also criticized the recent call by the outlawed African National Congress for greater violence to fight white rule.

Spokesman Bernard Kalb said, "The use of excessive force has contributed to the increased level of violence. Violence in South Africa is at such a stage that use of force is unfortunately more and more common. These acts must stop."

More than 650 people have died in a year of protest against apartheid.

Texas unemployment slightly down from July

DALLAS (AP) — The unemployment rate for Texas was 7.1 percent for August, down slightly from July, but generally continuing what economists call a flat national trend of employment.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said today about 570,000 workers were unemployed in Texas last month out of a workforce of 8,001,000.

The August unemployment rate is 1.4 percent higher than the rate of 5.7 percent for August a year ago, said Nic Santangelo, chief of economic analysis with the bureau.

But he said Texas unemployment generally has hovered around the 7 percent level since February, and the state's pattern has been similar to the national trend.

"The unemployment rate has remained around 7 percent since February 1985, and has followed the national trend in flat employment," Santangelo said.

The July unemployment was 7.3 percent.

"What it really amounts to is the Texas labor market activity really showed little change during the month," the economist said.

He called the figures "rather typical for this time of year," because of the movement in the labor

DSG noted for cancer therapy program

Deaf Smith General Hospital is one of three area hospitals approved by the commission on cancer of the American College of Surgeons, who seek to assure the best in cancer therapy across America. The approvals program means that the local hospital has met the commission's requirements in its clinical programs for cancer therapy.

A tumor registry is also part of the approval requirements and involves recording the history of each cancer patient, cured or not. Follow-up examinations and rehabilitation of patients done in a systematic manner at specified times is a requisite of the commission's three-year certification.

Other area hospitals who are recipients of the certification are Northwest Texas Hospital and High Plains Baptist Hospital.

Austin grocery shoppers trying computer catalogs

AUSTIN (AP) — Grocery store shoppers in Austin are seeing something new, a refrigerator-sized machine that offers an electronically operated catalog of 3,000 brand-name items they can order on the spot.

The computer catalog is being test marketed by Safeway stores.

When customers touch the television-like screen, a young woman named Debbie appears, smiles warmly, and introduces herself and the Touch-n-Save shopping network.

The screen then shows a "warehouse directory" listing 24 departments from home appliances, cookware and telephones to camping equipment, luggage and watches.

There also are weekly specials and clearance sales.

Touch the screen again directly over the particular department, and all the items for sale in that department appear.

There are easy instructions every step of the way. Finally, the customer inserts a Visa or MasterCard to complete the transaction. Postage paid envelopes are available on a shelf just below the screen if a customer wants to pay by check or money order.

Safeway officials hope Touch-n-Save will be another merchandising vehicle that will bring more customers to its stores and allow the nation's largest grocery chain to stay one step ahead of the competition.

"It's another way of retailing," said Day Coyle, manager of industrial engineering for Safeway's Houston division, which includes Austin.

Dennis Green, district manager for Safeway stores in South Austin and San Marcos, said the electronic shopping network offers a way to build on the one-stop shopping concept that large grocery chains have been fostering in recent years.

Former roommate killed singer

CONROE, Texas (AP) — Financial problems with a cocaine dealer prompted a man to kill his former roommate, folk singer John Vandiver, according to Montgomery County Sheriff Joe Corley.

Vandiver allegedly supplied ex-roommate Tom Mathes, 31, with cocaine and gave him the name of his Florida source for the drug, Corley said Wednesday.

Vandiver, 39, and girlfriend Debra Davis, 32, were found shot to death in the singer's Magnolia home Feb. 21. Mathes and three other men are charged with murder in the slayings.

Corley said investigators believe Mathes had "financial troubles" with the Florida cocaine dealer he met through Vandiver and robbed the singer's house to pay the debt.

The sheriff said Mathes allegedly hired three men to help in the robbery.

Also charged with two counts of murder each in the slayings are: Cecil Covington, 21; Joe Makosky, 21; and Dennis Holland, 24.

Tax opposed despite debt

EL MATON, Texas (AP) — School board members in this Matagorda County community voted against raising the district's property tax rate even though the current rate will create a deficit.

Trustees of Tidehaven Independent School District, which encompasses a mostly agricultural area in the western section of the county, decided times are just too hard for farmers to raise taxes.

"I think we should try to leave it at 67 cents," Board president Jim Devant said of the rate at which the district has taxed its residents for the past three years. "Farmers are having a dickens of a time."

Tax Assessor and Collector Edith Hurta said during tax deliberations Wednesday that keeping the 67-cent rate would leave the district about $27,000 short of the $1.7 million budget needed for the 1985-86 fiscal year.

However, she said, the district may be able to make up the deficit by collecting $100,000 in delinquent taxes that were never paid on a 5-year-old chemical pipeline in the district.

Arlington polishes image

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Arlington recently distributed a publication that refers to City Manager Bill Kirchoff as its "chief executive officer," to the city council as its "board of directors" and to the city's 230,000 residents as "stockholders."

Printed on heavy white paper and including three-color charts and pictures highlighting photogenic staffers, the 20-page, $14,500 publication often mirrors a business report.

In step with Kirchoff's aim to portray the city as the municipal equivalent of IBM or Nissan, the Arlington government compiled its first "annual report."

On page one, for example, of "Performance Report: Corporate City Arlington," there is a message from the manager with a photo of Kirchoff in a conservative gray suit, white shirt and tie.

"The Arlington city government is structured and operated like a private corporation," Kirchoff's message reads. "We make no apologies for that. We are running the city like a business. The parallels are very clear."

Earlier this year, city spokeswoman Barbara Burke instructed some council members how to look their best at televised meetings. Her message: look corporate.

"What we're trying to do is get away from a good ol' boy image — not that we were ever that way, but we want to show we have a corporate type of government," said Gene Randall, who heads the public information office.

Unlike most annual reports, which target stockholders, Arlington's report is aimed at increasing economic development and for use in obtaining bond ratings, Randall said.

"Dallas does it; many cities have these kinds of publications. They're not novel," Kirchoff said.

Single gay act can risk AIDS

ATLANTA (AP) — Men who have sex even once with another male pose a risk of carrying the AIDS virus, according to officials of the government and the American Red Cross, who urge those men not to donate blood.

The Food and Drug Administration recommended Thursday that any man who has engaged in sex with another man in the past eight years not give blood — even men "who may have had only a single contact, and who do not consider themselves homosexual or bisexual."

And Dr. Gerald Sandler, vice president of the American Red Cross, said evidence indicated that there was "some undefined risk that a single sex act between two males may infect the susceptible individual, and he in turn may be capable of transmitting infection through his blood."

12 arrested in money scheme

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Twelve employees of one of the country's major banks were arrested Thursday in connection with an alleged $5.5 million scheme to speculate illegally in U.S. dollars, the Attorney General's Office said.

The government news agency Notimex said the defendants who worked at the main office of the Banco Internacional gained 125 million pesos, or about $350,000 at current exchange rates, through the alleged scheme.

Felipe Flores, a spokesman for the Attorney General's Office, confirmed the news agency report and said the scheme involved purchase and sale of $5.5 million. He called it a crime against the nation.

According to the Notimex account, the defendants made 150 transactions, starting in October, to acquire dollars at preferential rates and then profit personally by their sale. The transactions ranged from $30,000 to $150,000, representing a movement of $5.5 million.

The defendants, it said, used the account and letterhead of the telecommunications department to acquire dollars at preferential rates for commercial transactions. Rates are higher for private citizens.

Among those arrested, according to Notimex, was Juan Manuel Aramburu Gonzalez, a department director at the bank's main office. It said he was the principal defendant.

The Attorney General's Office charged the defendants with bribery, abuse of their duties, improper use of official documents and criminal association. The bank is a government institution.

The peso currency has weakened in recent years, making the holding of U.S. dollars more attractive.

Diet and cancer linked, experts say

HOUSTON (AP) — At least 900,000 cancer cases will be diagnosed this year and 500,000 people will die, with about 65 percent of the deaths due to smoking and dietary patterns, an expert on the disease told a conference on cancer.

"We're dealing with an extremely complex subject. But overwhelming evidence indicates that proper attention to dietary guidelines — and they are not difficult to follow — can lower the incidents of major forms of cancer," said Sidney Weinhouse, a biochemistry professor of the Philadelphia-based Fels Research Institute.

"What we inflict upon ourselves is more important than what is inflicted upon us," Weinhouse said.

Experts gathered in Houston on Thursday for the Second National Conference on Diet, Nutrition and Cancer, sponsored by the American Cancer Society, to discuss state-of-the-art research on how diet affects the disease, Weinhouse said.

Researchers stressed that people who wanted to avoid cancer should avoid obesity, overeating, high-fat diets, high use of alcohol and salt-cured, smoked food. Cancer-preventive measures included eating high-fiber food and green vegetables and yellow citrus fruits.

Ernst Wynder of the American Health Foundation of New York said the biggest hurdle to overcome is educating Americans.

"Most of us believe this will never happen to us," he said.

Wynder said education must begin with children in schools, then move on to the public at large. The food industry also must become involved, he said.

Mass-produced white bread, for example, "is a disaster area," he said.

Wynder said fast-food chains must be encouraged to serve lower-fat hamburgers, wheat buns and promote salad bars.

"I hope the fast-food chains can be brought to set the patterns for our children," he said.

The dietary changes suggested by health experts are not drastic, said Sushma Palmer of the National Academy of Sciences in Washington.

"These are gradual changes and they are possible," she said.

Modern society and its comfortable living styles also contribute to dietary problems because people just don't engage in as much physical activity, according to David Kritchevsky, associate director of Philadelphia's Wistar Institute of Anatomy and Biology.

"In most cases, we have a lot of food. It tastes good and we enjoy it," he said. "But we don't work hard."

Gay minister resigns from Waco church

WACO, Texas (AP) — The pastor of the 2,200-member Highland Baptist Church of Waco has resigned after telling the congregation he has been involved in homosexual activity.

The Rev. Don Crossland, 45, pastor of the church since 1974, offered his resignation during a meeting Sunday night and read a statement Wednesday night to church members explaining the circumstances.

The church is affiliated with the Southern Baptist denomination.

"The reason I went before the church is because I desired to stop running from my problem," Crossland said in a telephone interview Thursday with the Waco Tribune-Herald.

"I wanted to be helped and healed. I knew they would not condone my sin, but help me find wholeness and pray for me. I have a deep sorrow for those I have offended and for the embarrassment I've caused Highland," said Crossland, who is married.

According to a statement released by church leaders, Crossland resigned his pastorate seven years ago and received counseling following a homosexual relationship.

Crossland was rehired four months later, but evidence presented last week to the church's deacons showed that he "has continued in the lifestyle in which he engaged seven years ago," the church statement said.

The Rev. Chris Hayward, administrative pastor of the church, described the reaction of the congregation to the revelations as "very much shocked."

Church officials said Crossland indicated he was involved in a homosexual affair 2½ years ago that lasted for more than a year and in another homosexual relationship last month.

Both of the other men involved with Crossland are members of Highland Baptist Church, Hayward said.

and mothers work, and they don't have as much time as they need to shop," Green said. "The grocery business has tried to make it a one-stop shopping concept and offer as many conveniences to the customer as we can."

Safeway bought the Touch-n-Save equipment from CompuSave Corp., a California company that manufactures the machines. All the products like General Electric appliances, Seiko watches, Panasonic televisions, and Samsonite luggage are being sold through the CompuSave warehouse and distribution system, and Safeway gets a share of the profits.

An electronic message running across the front of the machine says savings can range from 25 to 50 percent off retail prices.

KPAN to expand AM broadcast time

Hereford radio station KPAN begins nighttime AM operations today, just in time for the opening of the Hereford Whiteface football season. It is the first time the station will broadcast AM at night since the station went on the air in 1948.

The new hours are the result of a recent agreement between the United States and Canada. Previously, several frequencies in the AM spectrum were designated "daytime-only" in the United States, to prevent interference with nighttime Canadian broadcasts.

Station manager Buddy Peeler said he was happy the new agreement was finally approved. Peeler

At Texas Tech

Experts on family to speak

Three national experts on the family will speak at a distinguished lecture series Monday at the Texas Tech University Home Economics Building, Room 111.

Steve Tyler, Ph.D., a widely known linguist and anthropologist, will speak at 1 p.m. on "The Family in the Post-Modern World." H. Charles Fishman, M.D., a family therapist will speak at 3 p.m. on "Family Album in the Social Sciences."

The free lectures are open to the public.

Tyler has taught at the University of California, Berkeley, Stanford University, Syracuse University, Tulane University and Rice University. He has conducted field research in South India and is the author of numerous scholarly papers and books, including "India: An Anthropological Perspective," "Cognitive Anthropology," and "The Said and the Unsaid: Mind, Meaning, and Culture."

Fishman served as director of the Family Therapy Training Center at the Philadelphia Child Guidance Clinic and is presently the medical director and vice president of Diversified Health Services and a faculty member of the University of Pennsylvania. His books include "Family Therapy Techniques," "Evolving Models for Family Change" and "Coming of Age in the Family." Maranhao is a critical theorist who has taught at Harvard University, Universidade Federal do Rio de Janeiro and Rice University. He has studied a variety of communities, including the fishing villages of the Ceara Coast of Brazil, and Russian and Portuguese immigrants in New England. His most recent book is "Socratic Dialogues and Therapeutic Discourse: A Cultural Critique," which contrasts psychoanalytic and family therapy traditions.

Men's Doubles Champions

championship match Thursday. Manning and Knabe defeated Jerry Brock and Paul Smith to win the tournament.

Racquetball tournaments end

Two racquetball tournaments ended Thursday night at the Hereford and Vicinity YMCA, with Weldon Knabe and Darwin Manning winning the men's doubles tournament, and Linda Barnett and Brenda Reeh winning the women's doubles tournament.

Tournaments that will finish on Sunday are men's "A" singles, men's "B" singles, and women's singles.

Darwin Manning and Weldon Knabe defeated Jerry Brock and Paul Smith in the championship match of the men's doubles tournament. Earlier in the tournament, Manning and Knabe beat John Fuston and Kirk Proctor in the second round, and defeated John Slentz and A.T. Griffin in a semifinal match.

Brock and Smith won over Roger Eades and John Dominguez in the second round, and defeated Marc Williamson and David Bone in the semifinals.

In other matches in the men's doubles tournament, Fuston and Proctor beat Jeff O'Rand and Michael Dodson in the first round, David Alvarado and Jimmy Ramirez defeated Gerry Hollinger and Rex Lee in the first round, Slentz and Griffin won over Wayne Schrandt and Warner Lawson in the second round, and Williamson and Bone beat Alvarado and Ramirez in the second round.

Linda Barnett and Brenda Reeh claimed the women's doubles tournament championship by defeating Nena Veazey and Cindy Fields in the title match. In the semifinals, Barnett and Reeh beat Lorraine Sandoval and Ann Bowes.

Veazey and Fields won in the semifinals by defeating Karen Payne and Judy Neumayer.

In other action in the women's doubles tournament, Sandoval and Bowes scored a victory over April Swanson and Colleen Myers in a first-round match.

Herd JV grills Amarillo

The Hereford High School junior varsity football teams, Maroon and White, combined their efforts Thursday to run over the Amarillo High junior varsity, 34-14, in Hereford.

Five games feature rank fueds

By BARRY WILNER AP Sports Writer

Five games featuring battles between ranked teams highlight the first extensive Saturday of college football action, with defending national champion Brigham Young facing its sternest test in more than a year.

The eighth-ranked Cougars, who beat Boston College 28-14 in the Kickoff Classic last week, oppose No. 20 UCLA in a night game.

"UCLA, no question about it, is going to be sky-high going into this game," said BYU Coach LaVell Edwards. The last time the teams met, BYU won 37-35 at UCLA in 1983, the third victory in the Cougars' 25-game winning streak, the longest in the nation. "UCLA has a magic ring to it. UCLA just kind of represents a standard of excellence."

Brigham Young, known as a factory for quarterbacks, is led by Robbie Bosco, who threw for 508 yards and three touchdowns against Boston College.

UCLA finished 9-3 and third in the Pacific 10 last year.

In other games matching ranked teams, No. 17 Florida State visits No. 10 Nebraska; No. 6 Southern California is at No. 11 Illinois; No. 7 Maryland entertains No. 19 Penn State, and No. 16 Oklahoma State travels to No. 12 Washington.

Next week's schedule has the Maroon junior varsity playing at Clovis on Thursday at 7 p.m., and the White junior varsity playing at home against Caprock at 4:30 p.m.

Hereford held a 13-7 halftime lead in defeating Amarillo Thursday.

In the first quarter, HHS fullback Bobby Medina scored with a 30-yard touchdown run, and Paul Maes kicked the extra point. Medina scored again in the second quarter, with a 20-yard run.

Hereford quarterback Chris Bullard completed a touchdown pass to wingback James Hernandez for a third quarter score. Bullard then passed to wingback Shaun Moore for the extra points, giving Hereford a 21-7 lead.

In the fourth quarter, quarterback Raymond Romo completed a three-yard touchdown pass to tight end Kyle Streun. Maes' extra point made it 28 points for Hereford.

Hereford's final touchdown of the game was scored when Hernandez caught a 40-yard touchdown pass from Bullard.

Key defensive efforts, reported by Coach Eddie Richardson, included fumble recoveries by Edward Martinez, Donnie Rieves, and Arthur Jimenez.

Information about your changing telephone service from Gary Stevens, Manager-Community Relations

We've got the Sesquicentennial covered

If you would agree that Ma Ferguson was a famous Texan or that Jose Antonio Navarro brought in the first Texas oil well, you may need a Lone Star history refresher course.

We will have many opportunities to review our state's proud past during 1986, when we celebrate the 150-year birthday, or sesquicentennial, of Texas.

By the way, as history buffs know, Ma Ferguson was the first and only woman governor of Texas and was elected in 1925. In 1836, Jose Antonio Navarro was one of two native-born Hispanic Texans to sign the Texas Declaration of Independence, which he helped draft, and was later elected to the Texas Republic's Senate.

Ma Ferguson and Jose Antonio Navarro, along with other famous Texans and symbols of our state's heritage, will be featured on the cover of about nine million Southwestern Bell phone directories for 1986. To commemorate our state's 150-year birthday, Southwestern Bell Telephone recently conducted a statewide art contest for the Sesquicentennial year directories. We received more than 500 entries.

Statewide contest winner announced

And the winner is... Bill Hall of Arlington. Hall's colorful montage displays the rich texture of Texas. After much head-scratching, the six judges selected Hall's work as the best of many excellent entries.

At the end of 1985, Houston and Austin will be the first cities to receive new directories with the special artwork covers. Then, throughout 1986, the Sesquicentennial directories will be distributed to Southwestern Bell Telephone customers in more than 150 Texas cities.

Delivery of these special directories is just one event Texans may look forward to in 1986. Southwestern Bell Telephone will present a sneak preview of one major statewide Sesquicentennial activity at our exhibit at this year's State Fair of Texas, October 3-20 in Dallas. Hope some of you can pay a visit to our exhibit in the Grand Place (formerly called Women's Building) at Fair Park.

New toll-free service aids Hispanics

Southwestern Bell Telephone recently inaugurated a trial of an important new service for our Spanish-speaking customers throughout the state.

It is a toll-free number to give customers an opportunity to obtain general information and assistance from Spanish-speaking employees. If a customer needs specific information about an account, a bureau employee will call the customer's business office — with the customer on the line — and serve as an interpreter, if necessary.

The Spanish Service Bureau's toll-free number is 1-800-592-7726. If you forget the number, you can get it from an 800 Directory Assistance operator (1-800-555-1212).

Our business offices throughout Texas have always tried to help Spanish-speaking customers as much as possible. Sometimes, however, Spanish-speaking employees were not available. Now, we have specially trained employees dedicated to helping those who call the toll-free bureau.

Also to provide help for our Spanish-speaking customers, we have translated several booklets, including our popular series of Tele-Help (Tele-Ayuda) booklets, into Spanish. Those booklets cover such subjects as establishing local telephone service, using the telephone to make your home more secure, installing home telephone wiring and handling annoying phone calls. To order a Tele-Help booklet, in English or Spanish, customers may call this toll-free number: 1-800-325-2686, extension 86.

Although these booklets answer many questions, sometimes customers need the personal help of our employees. Meeting the telecommunications needs of all our customers is why we're in business. We are hopeful that the new Spanish Service Bureau will help us reach our goal of complete customer satisfaction.

White Sox fire burns Rangers

By BEN WALKER AP Sports Writer
Chicago White Sox pitcher Joel Davis knew his teammates had to break out of their recent hitting slump sooner or later — it was just a question of when.

Luckily for Davis, he was on the mound Thursday night when the Chicago fire kindled and his White Sox belted 16 hits to burn the Texas Rangers 11-4 in American League action.

"I knew it was going to happen sooner or later," said Davis, 2-2. "I'm just glad it happened when I was pitching."

The White Sox blew the game open with four runs in the second and six runs in the third to stake Davis to an easy victory.

"I felt I had real good control," Davis said. "I was getting my breaking ball over the plate. I hung two pitches and paid the price for it (two home runs)."

Harold Baines led the way for Chicago hitters with four hits, including a three-run homer in the third. He ended the night with four RBIs.

"We came out swinging the bat real good the first three innings," Baines said. "Tonight the ball fell where it should have."

For the Rangers and their fans, it was another night of disappointment from a team that has been in last place since April 24.

"The fans seem a little restless and I don't blame them," said Ranger Manager Bobby Valentine. "I appreciate them coming out to the ballpark."

"They are as frustrated as I am looking up at the scoreboard and seeing us down eight runs in the third inning," he said. "But someday this will be behind us, and they'll be able to say, 'Remember when...'"

The Rangers scored first with one run in the first inning when Wayne Tolleson singled with one out, stole second and scored one batter later on Gary Ward's single to right.

The White Sox retaliated with four runs in their half of the second. Ozzie Guillen singled Daryl Boston home and later scored on Rudy Law's double to right. Joel Skinner walked and then scored on Bryan Little's ground-out, and Baines singled Law home.

Chicago scored six more times in the third, chasing two Ranger pitchers in the process. The inning was highlighted by Baines' three-run homer, his 17th of the season, and a Guillen triple.

The Rangers got two runs back in the fourth on Don Slaught's two-run homer, his sixth of the season. Ward scored on the round tripper.

Oddibe McDowell, who leads the American League in rookie homers, hit his 17th home run of the season in the seventh to make the score 10-4.

The White Sox scored their last run in the eighth on a home run by Tim Lueck, who pinch-hit for Little. It was Lueck's fourth homer of the season.

"The pitcher hung a breaking ball and I hit it pretty good," Lueck said. "I didn't think it was going to be caught, so I was kind of running hard. But it went out."

Yankees 7, A's 3
The New York Yankees did not like what they saw on the scoreboard. Neither did the umpires.

Sure, the Yankees beat the Oakland A's 7-3 Thursday night for their sixth straight victory. But they did not like to see that Toronto had routed Minnesota 7-0, keeping the Blue Jays 2½ games ahead of New York in the American League East. And what the Yankees saw in the sixth inning bothered them even more.

In a close call at first base, Mike Davis of the A's was ruled safe by umpire Ken Kaiser. That set up a game-tying, three-run homer by Dwayne Murphy.

And as the Yankees came to bat to bat in the bottom of the sixth, the play in which pitcher Ed Whitson appeared to tag first base ahead of Davis was shown twice on the large scoreboard in right-center field.

The replays, one of them in slow motion, seemed to indicate the Yankees were right in their argument. The replays also prompted several fans at Yankee Stadium to throw objects at first base umpire Ken Kaiser.

At that point, crew chief Larry Barnett went into the New York dugout and threatened to pull the umpires off the field. Barnett said there was a league directive advising discretion on showing such controversial calls.

"I told Billy (Yankees Manager Martin) to knock it off and he said it's in the hands of George (team owner Steinbrenner)," Barnett said.

Countered Steinbrenner: "Call Bobby Brown (the American League president) and see what he thought of that call."

In other AL games, Kansas City beat Milwaukee 4-1, and Cleveland split a doubleheader with Boston, with the Red Sox winning the opener 13-6 before falling 9-5.

Blue Jays 7, Twins 0
Doyle Alexander shut down Minnesota on two hits while Lloyd Moseby triggered the offense by homering and driving in three runs.

The two-hitter matched Alexander's career low-hit game. The right-hander, who turned 35 on Wednesday, raised his record to 14-8 with his first shutout of the season.

Royals 4, Brewers 1
Omar Moreno, who was out of baseball last week, hit an inside-the-park home run in the first inning and then delivered a two-run triple that capped a tie-breaking, three-run eighth.

The victory moved Kansas City within one game of idle California in the AL West.

Red Sox 13-5, Indians 6-9
The doubleheader in Boston was delayed twice by rain, once for 30 minutes in the ninth inning of the first game and then again for almost 1½ hours in the sixth inning of the second game.

By the time both games ended, it was after 2 a.m. and about 150 fans were left in the stands.

Tony Bernazard's pinch-hit, three-run double keyed a four-run sixth inning that put Cleveland ahead for good at 6-4 in the nightcap.

In the opener, Dwight Evans hit two home runs to power the Red Sox. Evans, Rice and Mike Easler each drove in three runs for Boston.

Says Knepper

Astros didn't choke for win

By Associated Press

The Pittsburgh Pirates and the Houston Astros aren't exactly front-runners in the National League pennant chase, but Astros pitcher Bob Knepper says that in some ways, that's not all bad.

"The five years I've been here, we have always played better with no pressure on us," Knepper said after the Astros edged Pittsburgh 4-3 Thursday night. "I'm not saying that we choked, but we just don't seem to rise to the occasion and there's a difference."

Even though the victory was the eighth in the last nine games for the Astros, the team is 64-68 and still 14½ games behind the National League West leader, the Los Angeles Dodgers.

And hapless Pittsburgh, 42-89, has lost 19 of its 20 last road games and is 13-51 overall on the road.

"We're doing now what we should have done all year long. I guess we're just loose," said Dave Smith, who recorded his 21st save for the Astros.

Smith came in during the ninth inning after Knepper, 12-10, went eight-plus innings to collect his 47th victory with Houston and tie Dave Roberts as the team's all-time winningest left-handed pitcher.

Bob Walk, 1-2, was the loser, going seven innings and allowing all four Astros runs on five hits.

Outfielder Mike Brown, who joined the Pirates recently in a trade with the California Angels, continued his hot hitting with a double, a single and two RBIs.

Glenn Davis and Jerry Mumphrey drove in two runs for Houston. Pittsburgh took a 2-0 lead in the first on singles by R.J. Reynolds and Johnny Ray and a two-run double by Mike Brown.

Houston moved ahead 3-2 in their half of the first against Walk. A single by Craig Reynolds and walks to Denny Walling and Jose Cruz loaded the bases. Reynolds scored on Mumphrey's infield grounder and Davis' two-run single.

The Pirates tied it in the second when Tony Pena led off with a double, stole third and scored on Knepper's wild pitch.

The Astros went ahead 4-3 in the third as Walling singled, went to third on a single by Cruz and came home on Mumphrey's sacrifice fly.

Cardinals 6, Cubs 1

ST. LOUIS (AP) — When Tito Landrum came to bat with two men on in the fifth inning, he knew that he might not get a chance to hit.

In St. Louis Cardinals Manager Whitey Herzog's scheme of things, the right-handed-hitting Landrum, despite an average hovering around the .300 mark, plays only against left-handed pitchers. So when Cubs Manager Jim Frey decided to stick with rookie left-hander Steve Engel despite trailing 3-1, Landrum had his reprieve and responded by belting a three-run homer that led St. Louis to a 6-1 victory Thursday night.

In addition to his fourth home run of the year, Landrum added a single and stole his first base of the campaign as the Cardinals beat Chicago for the ninth time in 11 games.

Danny Cox, 15-8, hurled a two-hitter for St. Louis, while Willie McGee and newcomer Cesar Cedeño had three hits apiece. McGee, the league's leading hitter, raised his average to .368.

Ann Landers

Don't be impetuous

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife and I went to high school together in the '50s. A month or so after a big July Fourth weekend she whispered the magic words, "I'm pregnant." So, like all jerks of that era, I married her. I figured on getting out later but our son was retarded and I just couldn't leave.

So what happens now? My life is more than half over and I'm an unfulfilled, middle-aged man. I was never able to do the things I wanted to do because I was stuck in a business owned by my in-laws. I suspect my wife feels as trapped as I do.

I did grow to care for her and the boy, but I can't help but wonder what I missed because of one reckless night. By the way, I was not her "first," but she was mine. I've had a few minor affairs over the years and one that was serious, but I couldn't marry the woman because of circumstances.

Let this be a lesson to your impetuous readers. Think of the long-term consequences before you jump in the sack. I wish I had. - DAYDREAMING IN COLORADO

DEAR COLORADO: Thanks for sharing your story. I'm sure you have made a great many young people stop and think today—and some older ones, too.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This has been a problem throughout our daughter's teen year and it is still gong on. We buy "Mary" lovely clothes because she enjoys being well-dressed and has excellent taste. All Mary's girlfriends ask to borrow her clothes. "June" wants a handbag for the weekend. "Ruth" borrowed her new sneakers and a hooded jacket. Often after visiting in our home they walk out wearing these borrowed items.

My complaint: These girls never return anything. I've telephoned their mothers and they say they don't know anything about it. So I end up driving several miles to get my daughter's clothes back. Almost always they are soiled, ripped and out of shape.

I have talked to Mary about this many times. She says she can't refuse because her friends put her on the spot. It doesn't seem to matter that blouses, jackets, jewelry, jeans, etc., are personal items and they cost a lot of money. Do you have a solution?--PERPLEXED IN VIRGINIA

DEAR PERP: The solution is obvious. Tell Mary she is getting nothing new unless she promises—no more lending. Mary can then tell her friends when they ask, "Sorry, my mother has lowered the boom. I can't lend anything to anybody. I promised."

One of the misconceptions about epilepsy is that it is a disease, according to the Epilepsy Institute.

In fact, the institute says, epilepsy is a condition of disturbed electrical activity in the brain. The most common cause of epilepsy is a head injury which damages the brain. Each year, 540,000 Americans suffer head injuries and some 20,000 of them will develop persistent epileptic seizures as a result, the institute reports.
