Tornado, hail, heavy rain strikeBy JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

A tornado, high winds, heavy hail and a deluge struck Deaf Smith County early this morning.

At least 30 utility poles carrying lines for Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative were toppled. Many were snapped in two and hurled hundreds of feet into fields.

"We're getting everybody back into service," said Gene George of DSEC. "It just followed a pretty straight path from Simms straight to Dawn."

George said DSEC started receiving calls about 3:30 a.m. from west of Simms, with the last trouble call about 5:30 a.m. in the Dawn area

"There had to be a tornado," said Fire Marshall Jay Spain, the county's emergency coordinator. "There is no way straight winds could do all of this."

The likely tornado also strew huge center pivot sprinkler systems across fields like Legos, snapped trees and twisted farm machinery.

Pounding hail also hit, shredding crops to the ground.

Pat Reily of the Soil Conservation Service went to the storm area. The storm followed a narrow path from Simms, in the north-central part of the county to Dawn, near the southeast corner. He saw wheat that had been two feet tall and waiting for harvest shredded to nothing. Sugarbeets that were beginning to spread their huge green leaves were beaten to the ground. Corn plants that had been three to four feet tall were left three or four inches tall.

They were beaten and shredded by an onslaught of quarter-sized hail and flooding rains of three inches or more.

"We had 2.8 inches in our gauge, but the wind blew so hard when it hailed that I'm sure we got more rain than that," said Elsie Lloyd, who lives 28 miles northwest of Hereford in the Simms area.

"It started raining about 4 or so, and it rained awhile before it started to hail," she said. "Then it sounded like a roar and I thought it was time to go to the basement. It might have just been the hail, but Steve Bromman said he heard it to and thought it was a tornado. It could have been the roar from the hail, though--it was bad."

Crews from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation were out this morning trying to get water off the highways in the Simms and Milo Center areas. Water covered U.S. Highway 385 from Milo Center north for several hours this morning, and covered several farm-to-market roads.

"There are a bunch of rivers out there," said Eva McKnight of the Path of morning storm

A storm moved through Deaf Smith County this morning, spawning a tornado, dumping large hail and heavy rain. The worst part of the storm followed a path (shaded) from northwest of Simms through Milo Center and Dawn.

Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Office who lives in the area. "At Farmer's Corner you couldn't see the ground. Where the highway wasn't covered the bar ditches were full. It's a mess."

Spain said the National Weather Service in Amarillo was apparently caught unawares by the storm.

"The weather bureau called me about two 'til five," Spain said. "I think maybe this caught them by surprise and it sure caught us by surprise. The weathermen all said there wouldn't be anything else severe, but I there was."

In Hereford, only .02 inch of rain was recorded at KPAN.

There is a chance for more storms tonight and through the rest of the weekend.

3 men are sentenced

A defendant in 222nd District Court Thursday was sentenced to a pair of six-year prison terms and two other defendants were assessed probated terms. Each entered guilty, pleas to charges.

Judge David Wesley Gulley heard the pleas.

Charged with sexual assault of a child and burglary of a motor vehicle, Richard Fernandez, 19, will serve a six-year sentence on each charge in the Texas Department of Criminal Justice institutional division. The terms will be concurrent.

On conviction for felony driving while intoxicated, Laislado Perez, 39, received a five-year sentence, probated for five years and was fined $1,500.

A seven-year probated term was assessed Jamie Villarreal, 17, who was charged with burglary of a motor vehicle. He also must pay a $500 fine.

SACRILEGE!Protests lodged on new lottery ticket

DALLAS (AP) - Texas lottery officials said Thursday that they made a mistake by making the Lone Star flag a scratch-off symbol and will replace it with stars when the next 100 million tickets are printed.

"Somewhere around 1908 Texas hanged a man for desecrating the flag," collector Dave Pawson of Plano told The Dallas Morning News. "You've got the law broken three times on each ticket."

The design of the second instant game, "Texas Match Up," required players to scratch off the state flag to reveal dollar values. "Obviously there's nothing we can do about the 200 million tickets that we had printed," said lottery spokesman Steve Levine. "Our intentions were honorable," he said. "This entire ticket was intended to honor Texas symbols. You've got the bluebonnet, the mockingbird and the flag."

Under state law, defacing the state or American flag is a misdemeanor punishable by up to one year in prison.

Levine said that the lottery's attorneys said that the tickets were not illegal.

"However, we have obviously offended the sensitivities of some people who take these things very seriously," Levine said.

Perot offered Bush a job

WASHINGTON (AP) - Ross Perot wants to dump President Bush from his job, but Barbara Bush says the Texas billionaire once wanted to hire him.

The first lady's surprise disclosure was linked with sharp criticism of Perot, whose behavior she described as "bizarre" and "a little strange" in an interview with Barbara Walters being aired tonight on ABC News' "20/20."

President Bush, in the same interview, also criticized Perot, who leads in many polls in the race for the White House and has accused the Republican Party of "dirty tricks" in trying to end his still-undeclared candidacy.

On other subjects, Bush said he would not bar homosexuals from his Cabinet but supports their exclusion from the military.

He also said he would not back down from his opposition to abortion, although polls show a majority of Americans favor allowing a woman the right to have an abortion.

Mrs. Bush, meanwhile, joined the president in complaining about a supposed investigation of her sons by Perot - a charge vehemently denied by the Texas billionaire.

"I feel slightly violated," Mrs. Bush told Walters in the interview, conducted before Perot said he had not authorized any investigation of her children.

"In any case I think it's bizarre, you know, particularly for someone who did come and spend a day with us. And for someone who at one time, not too long ago, offered George a big job. Seems a little strange," she said.

Asked about the job offer, she said Bush "didn't even consider it. I think it was to head his oil company or something" in the late 1970s. Bush had his own oil company in Texas.

Perot's spokesman, Jim Squires, did not return two telephone calls about the reported offer.

Bush and Perot once were friendly but had a falling out in the late 1980s when Perot concluded that Bush was unwilling to make an all-out effort to determine the fate of Americans missing in action in Vietnam.

Perot did own an oil company in the late 1970s, Petrus Oil, and sold it to an Australian firm in 1988.

Bush also said in the interview, conducted Monday, that his reversal on his no-new-tax pledge was the biggest mistake of his presidency "because it undermined to some degree my credibility with the American people."

The president denied persistent rumors that Secretary of State James A. Baker III or Defense Secretary Dick Cheney would be recruited to run the White House staff.

"I don't think there's any chance of that at all ... that won't happen," said Bush, whose White House and re-election campaign have been plagued by disarray.

Perot, who is expected to run as an independent candidate against Bush, triggered a political furor May 29 when he told Walters he would not appoint homosexuals to certain Cabinet positions.

Memorial services were held on June 19 at Restland Memorial Chapel. While a resident of Hereford, Mr. Starr had served as exalted ruler of the Hereford Elks Lodge in the 1962-1963 term. He owned and operated Starr Lawn and Garden in Dallas for the last 12 years.

Survivors are his wife, Jean Starr; three daughters, Linda Moseley of The Colony, and Elizabeth Arnett and Deborah DuPont, both of Richardson; three brothers, Richard Starr of Marcola, Ore., and Bill Starr and Robert Starr, both of Vancouver, Wash., and seven grandchildren.

Juvenile early release considered

Overcrowded facilities prompt study of plan

HOUSTON (AP) - Crowded conditions at the Texas Youth Commission have authorities considering an early release plan for juvenile offenders similar to one set up for the state's adult criminals.

The state already has been forced to reduce the amount of time some juvenile offenders spend in commission facilities because of limited funds, said TYC spokesman Gary Fuchs. But he said steps still must be taken to allow releases when facilities become overburdened.

"I think this is so serious," Harris County Judge Jon Lindsay told The Houston Post. "We're going to wind up (operating) like the big jails over there."

A surging number of violent juvenile offenders, aggravated by financial woes, has triggered the crowding problem, Fuchs said. "We knew that would be controversial."

TYC would invoke the discharge procedures if commitments by counties are not substantially reduced or if the particular youth being committed does not meet standards passed recently by the Texas Juvenile Probation Commission board.

Those standards, which go into effect in September, include an "ideal commitment criteria" and county commitment performance targets.

A final decision is expected to be made by the TYC board by July 23. Counties are supposed to submit written responses to the proposal by July 10.

Harris County's juvenile board voted Wednesday to notify the state of its concern.

"You can't release your way out of an overcrowding problem," said Donald Lee, an aide to Lindsay.

"That's the lesson we learned from the adult system."

The early release of state convicts has been criticized as causing an increase in crime and jail crowding in Harris County.

In a letter to TYC Executive Director Ron Jackson, Teresa V. Ramirez, Harris County's executive director and chief juvenile probation officer, said discharging certain offenders will send a message that TYC is not the worst punishment they face.

As a result, the youths will try to fail in the more stringent local programs so they can be referred to TYC and eventually released, she wrote. She also warned that new intensive supervision programs in Harris County might be severely affected if the proposals are not changed.

Fuchs said fund shifts made during the last legislative session show lawmakers favor spending more on the juvenile probation system than the residential spots in the youth commission.

"The expectation was less youths would be committed to TYC," Fuchs said.

As a result, the TYC board said if a county sends more than a certain number of youths to the commission, another youth from that county will be released.

"We are going to have to look at significantly limiting the number of youth we receive," he said.

But Ms. Ramirez, who criticized the plan as a "quota" system, said the average juvenile from Harris County who is sent to TYC already has committed six to nine offenses. "A quota system disregards the discretion of the court," she said.

Proposal would ban consultant on paroles

AUSTIN (AP) - A legislator has proposed prohibiting state parole officials, once they leave their government jobs, from being paid to help prison inmates win early releases.

The measure unveiled Thursday by Sen. David Sibley followed Gov. Ann Richards' call for an investigation into allegations that paid consultants, including former parole board members, have improperly helped get inmates out of prison.

"I drafted this legislation to try to slam shut the 'revolving door' on members of the Board of Pardons and Paroles practicing before that board once they leave office," Sibley, R-Waco, said.

Sen. Ted Lyon, D-Rockwall, who has been investigating the pay-for-parole allegations, supports Sibley's legislative proposal, according to Lyon's aide Ellis Sandoz.

"Crime is not a partisan issue," Sandoz said. "I can assure you that Sen. Lyon has supported that, and in fact has proposed it before," he said.

Sibley repeated allegations that former death row inmate Kenneth McDuff paid a consultant as much as $25,000 to secure his release. But Sibley said he had no evidence to substantiate that claim.

Richards told a news conference Thursday that a consultant may have worked in the case of McDuff, who was convicted in 1966 in the deaths of three teen-agers but released from prison in 1989.

McDuff now is back in custody facing federal drug and firearms charges, and questioning about the kidnappings and slayings of at least seven women.

Sibley's legislation would ban any member or employee of the parole board from having any financial interest in the parole process of an eligible prisoner.

Parole consultants have defended their work in helping present the prisoner's case before parole officials.

Lions honored for service to club

Swift action expected to open files on assassination of JFK

WASHINGTON (AP) - Lawmakers are predicting swift passage of legislation to release documents relating to the assassination of President Kennedy after a Senate committee advanced the bill.

The Senate Governmental Affairs Committee, voting unanimously Thursday, became the third congressional panel to back the bill. Congressional leaders expect floor debate and relatively quick passage shortly after the July 4th recess.

The legislation establishes a review board to examine hundreds of thousands of Kennedy assassination documents and decide which ones to make public and which to keep secret.

The committee bowed to Bush administration objections and agreed to let the president appoint the review board. The initial proposal would have given that job to the federal appeals court. The committee's measure also strengthens the presumption that documents should be released unless there is a substantial reason not to do so.

"The bill passed today by the committee will get records released faster and reduce the bureaucracy involved in the original proposal," said Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio and the chairman of the committee.

"The bill does not authorize the government to conduct another investigation into the assassination of President Kennedy," Glenn said. "However, it will give the public a firsthand opportunity to become fully informed."

The House Governmental Affairs Committee earlier this month approved a similar bill allowing the president to appoint the review board. The House Judiciary Committee recommended allowing the courts to appoint the board, which would review executive branch documents. The FBI and the CIA have said they are reviewing and releasing JFK documents on their own, without the prompting of legislation.

Pressure to disclose all the government paperwork on the assassination grew in large part from the popular film, "JFK," which advanced a government conspiracy theory of the assassination and specifically criticized the withholding of documents.

Under the Senate committee's version of the bill, the president would appoint a five-member review board, which would include at least one historian and one attorney. The president would be required to consult with the American Historical Association, the organization of American Historians, the Society of American Archivists and the American Bar Association.

Agencies seeking to object to a review board decision to release documents would be required to receive presidential permission. The bill also prohibits government agencies from destroying JFK assassination documents.

Union unhappy but trains running

Congress enacts legislation; Bush signs within hour

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nation's railroads tried to get back on track today after a congressional back-to-work order ended a two-day shutdown that disrupted freight and long-distance passenger service.

Amtrak said it would put short-haul passenger trains back on the rails in quick order, but that cross-country and other long-distance trains might not be back to normal for two days.

The freight railroads said three quarters of their trains would be running in 24 hours and that full service would be restored within 48 hours.

But union leaders clearly were unhappy that President Bush signed the back-to-work legislation into law at 1:02 a.m. EDT today, less than an hour after Congress acted.

"I think Congress bowed to blackmail," said Jed Dodd, chief negotiator for the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees. "The railroad industry essentially held the Congress hostage to crush the collective bargaining rights of railroad employees."

But a Bush spokesman, Paul Clarke, said the arbitration law offers labor and management an opportunity to settle the issues between themselves.

"If that proves impossible, the bill also offers a fair way to resolve any impasse to keep the railroads and our economy moving," Clarke said.

The shutdown already had forced General Motors on Thursday to suspend production at four plants and sent other companies scrambling for trucks. The stoppage also idled commuters, the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus and haulers of fruits and vegetables.

The new law orders a 35-day negotiating period, and if those talks don't produce a settlement, an arbitrator would choose from among the last, best offers of both sides. Bush would have three days to accept or reject the settlement.

Some trains were expected to be running within two hours of the bill's signing, said Tom White, a spokesman for the Association of American Railroads.

"It's simply a matter of bringing in the people and moving the freight out of the yards," White said.

In Barstow, Calif., the Santa Fe Railway called all of its third shift workers back to their jobs late Thursday, said Ralph Rasmussen, president of the International Brotherhood of Firemen and Oilers local.

Sue Martin, a public affairs official for Amtrak, said trains would continue to run normally today on track Amtrak owns in the Northeast corridor between Boston and Baltimore.

But she said it would take some time to resume normal operations on the more than 23,000 miles of track the passenger line leases from railroads elsewhere in the country.

She said the delays would range from a few hours for many short-distance routes to 18 hours to 24 hours for long-distance trains.

As Congress deliberated Thursday, negotiations continued with at least some of the unions.

"We continued talking past midnight with the Maintenance of Way union," said Mrs. Martin, adding that talks were expected to continue. "We are certainly willing to continue negotiations with all three unions in order to reach a voluntary settlement."

Unions had threatened a strike at midnight Tuesday, but postponed a walkout for 48 hours while negotiations continued. However, when a machinists' union struck the CSX freight line, all freight carriers closed their systems, idling 200,000 workers nationwide. Most of them were not involved in the labor dispute.

Congress acted quickly Thursday night to end the walkout before it could seriously damage an already shaky economic recovery. The House approved the back-to-work measure 248-140; the Senate 87-6.

If planning to assist, please call the home at 1-352-5771 by Wednesday, July 8.

Protect your feet

Surgery can overcome immobility and pain. In fact, most foot surgery can be properly and safely performed in a podiatrist's office or clinic; if a procedure is more complex, it will be done in a hospital outpatient setting, or with a hospital stay that generally will not exceed three or four days.

According to experts at the American Podiatric Medical Association, correcting bunions and hammertoes, surgically treating nail problems, removing warts and soft tissue benign tumors, and tendon operations comprise the bulk of surgical treatments recommended by podiatrists. There's a growing number of surgeons who specialize in the less common and more complex rear foot and ankle procedures.

Nail problems are perhaps the most common reason for podiatric surgery. Correcting ingrown, or partially-ingrown, nails can be performed in a podiatrist's office or clinic. Fungal conditions, which complicate and often accompany ingrown nails, are also treatable there. And the treatment of both ailments are covered under Medicare and Medicaid.

The services of doctors of podiatric medicine are covered by most public and private insurance programs and many podiatrists accept their assignments.

Patients frequently ask about the use of lasers of surgery. They may be used in surgical procedures that involve soft tissues, such as wart removal and treating ingrown nails. Lasers are not, however, recommended for use in treating bone conditions, meaning that surgery on bunions, hammertoes, and heel spurs would not utilize the laser.

There has never been any country at every moment so virtuous and so wise that it has not sometimes needed to be saved from itself.

McEnroe edges Cash in exciting five sets

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) - One wears a knee brace and is losing his hair. The other spends almost as much time playing guitar as tennis. Both have wedding rings and small children.

But former champions John McEnroe and Pat Cash frolicked like a couple of teenagers Thursday on Centre Court, producing great tennis and high drama before McEnroe won in five sets.

And, for four hours, the unseeded veterans created the tension-filled tennis that has been in short supply at a Wimbledon tournament featuring few upsets and many lopsided matches.

McEnroe, a three-time Wimbledon champion, lost a pair of tiebreakers but rallied to defeat 1987 champion

Cash 6-7 (3-7), 6-4, 6-7 (1-7), 6-3, 6-2.

"I climbed off the ropes and was able to get a second wind. He had me on the ropes," McEnroe said. "We both played really hard. It was a great match."

Only five of the 32 seeded players - three women and two men - were eliminated in the first two rounds, an unusually low number for the quirky grass courts of Wimbledon.

Jim Courier, the top seed who hasn't lost a set since the quarterfinals of the French Open, defeated Byron Black 6-4, 6-1, 6-4 on Thursday, but fourth-seeded Boris Becker needed five sets to beat Martin Damm.

Becker, who's won three Wimbledon titles and reached three other finals in the last seven years, defeated the Czechoslovak 4-6, 6-4, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

Andre Agassi, the 12th seed, started slowly but defeated Eduardo Masso 4-6, 6-1, 6-3, 6-3. David Wheaton, the 16th seed, defeated American compatriot Todd Martin 6-3, 6-3, 6-7 (3-7), 6-3 and will face McEnroe in the third round.

Others advancing to the third round included No. 9 Guy Forget and No. 14 Wayne Ferreira. Petr Korda, the sixth seed, was eliminated by Jakob Hlasek in a marathon match that went to 16-14 in the final set.

Women's defending champion Steffi Graf cruised to a 6-1, 6-1 defeat of Marianne Werdel and nine-time champion Martina Navratilova finished off a 6-2, 3-6, 6-0 victory over Kimberly Po in a match that began Wednesday.

Gabriela Sabatini, the third seed who lost in the Wimbledon final to Graf last year, was a 6-2, 6-3 winner over Isabelle Demongeot.

Jennifer Capriati, seeded sixth, crushed fellow American Pam Shriver 6-2, 6-4 in a Centre-Court mismatch that was even more lopsided than the score.

Also advancing were No. 9 Manuela Maleeva-Fragniere, No. 11 Jana Novotna, No. 13 Zina Garrison and No. 16 Judith Wiesner.

Conchita Martinez, seeded eighth but a poor grass-court player, lost 6-3, 5-7, 6-4 to Natalia Zvereva.

McEnroe, 33, who won his last Grand Slam title in 1984, produced memories of his old brilliance against Cash - including drop shots, lobs and sharply angled volleys.

McEnroe, wearing a bright, red knee brace and a grimace when he missed shots, lost the tiebreakers but gradually regained control in the final two sets.

Cash is six years younger than McEnroe, but has played infrequently this year and fallen to 191st in the world. He said his lack of match experience made it emotionally difficult to finish off the match.

"You just get a bit sick of being a good loser, pushing the guys all the way and not beating them," said Cash, who still wears his trademark black-and-white checkered headband but now also ties his hair back in a sumo-like knot.

McEnroe and Cash, music-loving buddies who have jammed together on their guitars, had only met once before at Wimbledon - in 1984, when McEnroe defeated Cash in the semifinals on the way to his last Wimbledon title.

Eagles' Brown dies in car crash

BROOKSVILLE, Fla. (AP) - Friends and colleagues of Philadelphia Eagles star defensive lineman Jerome Brown say they will best remember him for his zany humor in the locker room and his kindness off the field.

Brown, 27, was killed Thursday when the sports car he was driving skidded out of control and flipped on a slippery road in his hometown, Brooksville police chief Ed Tinch said.

Brown's 12-year-old nephew also died in the single-car accident, Tinch said. The boy's name was not immediately released.

A witness who wouldn't give his name said Brown's car was demolished.

"He hit a palm tree when he left the shoulder of the road," the witness, identified only as a Brooksville man, told the Ocala Star-Banner. The car "rolled over and wound up against a light pole."

Brown, a powerful 6-foot-2, 295-pound tackle, anchored the Eagles' defensive line. He was voted to the Pro Bowl the past two seasons.

"This is a devastating loss to his family, his friends, his community and obviously to this football team," Eagles general manager Harry Gamble said. "He was warm and caring. He was a special person."

Known for his flamboyance, Brown symbolized the outlaw image of the Eagles during Buddy Ryan's tenure. He spent all of last season's training camp holding out for more money, but when he returned with a contract worth more than $1 million with incentives, he gave his new coach, Rich Kotite, a hug as he headed for the field for the team's first game.

The Eagles took Brown with the ninth pick overall in 1987 draft, after he came out of Miami as an All-American.

Brown was also known for his generosity. He volunteered to work with children in Philadelphia and started a football camp this year in his hometown.

"This football team is obviously devastated because of this loss," Kotite said. "Everybody who met him was touched. He certainly touched me. It hasn't quit sunken in yet."

Fellow tackle Mike Golic fought back tears.

"At this point you don't give a damn about football. We lost a great friend," Golic said. "His attitude was the attitude of the Eagles - trash-talking and hard-hitting. It went back all the way to Buddy Ryan."

Ryan, reached in Los Angeles, said the Eagles will miss Brown's leadership.

"He was the best defensive lineman in the league," Ryan said. "He wound them (the Eagles) up on game day."

Brown recorded 150 tackles and nine sacks last year. He had 547 tackles and 29 sacks in his six-year pro career.

A one-time prep All-American at Hernando High School in Brooksville, Brown remained active in local affairs despite maintaining a home in Cherry Hill, N.J., much of the year.

He helped raise money in 1988 for an 11-year-old girl who was in a coma after an automobile accident in Brooksville. Two years ago, he stood in defiance with others in the black community at a Ku Klux Klan rally in his hometown.

In the spring of 1990, Brown pulled a trucker from the cab of an overturned vehicle and then, on a night off from training camp, was at his New Jersey home when he saved a neighboring family by alerting them to a house fire.

This year, Brown gave $100 to each graduating senior at his church.

Cotton Bowl exec dead at 85

DALLAS (AP) - Field Scovell, considered the father of the Cotton Bowl and credited for bringing Notre Dame out of a 45-year bowl hiatus, was remembered as a kind man and "a positive influence on sports."

Scovell died early Thursday of prostate cancer. He was 85.

John Field Scovell II said his father "would be embarrassed" by the outpouring of support since his death.

"He'd want to know what's all this fuss about. He'd say 'You have something better to do than to worry about me,'" said Scovell, who added that his father thrived on his work in college football.

Scovell, a 1986 inductee into the Texas Sports Hall of Fame, spent 30 years as a member of the Cotton Bowl selection committee and served a stint as chairman of the game's board of directors.

"A lot of things were important to him, but none were more important. I think he took great pride in being known as Mr. Cotton Bowl," the younger Scovell said.

Cotton Bowl executive director Jim "Hoss" Brock said his longtime friend "ranks not only Mr. Cotton Bowl, but Mr. Bowl."

Scovell's close friends included coaching legends Darrell Royal, Joe Paterno and Paul "Bear" Bryant, a one-time coach at Scovell's alma mater, Texas A&M.

"I suspect he was one of the best-known people in the entire world of sports," said Kansas City Chiefs owner Lamar Hunt, a friend of Scovell's since the NFL franchise's days as the Dallas Texans.

"He was connected in every way with sports. He was a positive influence on sports in every direction," Hunt said.

Scovell's efforts led Notre Dame out of a 45-year bowl hiatus and to Dallas for the New Year's Day 1970 and 1971 games against the Texas Longhorns.

"Those two games - in my judgement - are really what put our game on the map," Brock said.

Brock called Scovell "the No. 1 sports ambassador for Dallas," and credited him with helping the city land the Cowboys, Rangers and PGA tournaments.

"We just lost a champion human being," Brock said.

Scovell served as a member of Dallas' school board, parks and recreations board and chaired the city's Chamber of Commerce Athletic Association.

He was born on March 1, 1907, in Wichita Falls. He starred as a high school athlete in the Dallas area and continued his playing career at Texas A&M, where he later was inducted into the Aggies' Hall of Fame.

Last December, Scovell and his wife, Mary, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. They have a daughter, Sue, and one son.

Family members said funeral services would be held Saturday in Dallas.

Ewing injures thumb

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) - There's no argument about who will start at center when the U.S. Dream Team makes its debut Sunday.

David Robinson wins the job by default.

Robinson became the only not-so-banged-up center on the roster when Patrick Ewing dislocated his right thumb in the team's practice Thursday in San Diego.

Robinson has his own thumb

Ewing injured his thumb when he took a pass from Magic Johnson and went up for a shot against Karl Malone.

"I was on a fast break and Magic threw me a pass and I went up for a layup," Ewing said. "I think it was Karl who came from behind and went for the block and got a piece of my hand and I hit it on the rim."

Twins falter in light of day

By The Associated Press

In the first game of their big series at Oakland, the Minnesota Twins were outclassed because they had to play outside.

The Twins, who fell three games behind first-place Oakland in the American League West, have a well-known dome advantage. Thursday was their first game outdoors in almost two weeks.

"We had a bad time in the field, we had a bad day," Minnesota manager Tom Kelly said. "Professional players are supposed to catch those balls that went for errors."

Two popups were dropped by third baseman Scott Leius.

"The first one I was disoriented; the second one I just dropped," Leius said. "We'd been playing indoors, and it took time to adjust to the sun and wind."

Nothing could help the Twins adjust to Mark McGwire, who hit his 25th homer following Carney Lansford's RBI double in the first inning off loser Bill Krueger (7-2).

"I didn't do my job," said Krueger, 0-4 lifetime against his former team. "You have to keep positive. You can't think one bloop hit will cost you a game."

Bob Welch (4-4) pitched in and out of trouble for seven innings and allowed one run and eight hits. The Twins put two runners on base in three innings against Welch, but got their only run on Brian Harper's leadoff homer in the fifth.

Dennis Eckersley pitched 1 1-3 innings for his 25th save this season and 29th straight over two seasons, an ongoing major-league record.

Rangers 5, Tigers 2

At Tiger Stadium, Kevin Brown became the American League's first 11-game winner with a four-hitter to beat Detroit. Ruben Sierra had four singles and scored twice for Texas.

Brown (11-4) pitched his fifth complete game, allowing two runs, with two walks and nine strikeouts.

Rookie Buddy Groom dropped to 0-2, allowing four runs and eight hits in four-plus innings.

Mariners 13, Angels 4

At the Kingdome, Ken Griffey Jr. returned to the lineup after a 15-game absence and hit the first of four Seattle homers as the Mariners broke a five-game losing streak.

Tino Martinez capped a seven-run second, a Mariners' season-high run total for an inning, with a three-run homer. Edgar Martinez and Dave Valle also homered.

Yankees 4, Royals 3

At Royals Stadium, Kevin Maas hit a three-run homer in the seventh inning off Mark Gubicza (7-5) to lift New York.

Andy Stankiewicz led off the seventh with a single and Mel Hall singled with two outs. Maas then worked the count to 3-2, fouled off four pitches and hit the 10th pitch into rightfield for his ninth home run.

Scott Sanderson (6-5) held the Royals to five hits in six innings before leaving with stiffness in his side. Steve Farr got the last three outs for his 12th save.

Winner Rich DeLucia (3-4) pitched six innings, giving up one earned run on eight hits. Julio Valera (4-6) gave up seven runs on five hits in 1 2-3 innings.

Brewers 1, Orioles 0

At County Stadium, Ricky Bones pitched eight shutout innings and Robin Yount drove in the only run with a sacrifice fly.

Bones (4-3) struck out two and walked two before giving way to Doug Henry with two runners on in the ninth. Henry struck out two and got a fly ball out to earn his 13th save in 15 chances. Rick Sutcliffe (9-6) took the loss.

Dodgers start home stand with 8-5 win

LOS ANGELES (AP) - One down and 21 to go.

The most critical 18 days of the Los Angeles Dodgers' season of underachievement began Thursday night with an 8-5 victory over the Houston Astros.

And while the defense appeared as suspect as it was in their just-concluded 1-10 road trip, the pitching of Ramon Martinez and the timely hitting of Lenny Harris and Jose Offerman were enough to overcome it.

"Things aren't impossible in this game," said Harris, who had a pair of RBI doubles against Houston's Jimmy Jones (3-1). "Anything can happen if you put your mind to it, play as hard as you can and don't worry about mistakes."

The only two mistakes the Dodgers made were Offerman's wild relay throw from shortstop on a potential double play grounder by Scooter Tucker in the second inning and a dropped foul pop by catcher Carlos Hernandez that led to one of Jeff Bagwell's four hits.

Both miscues led to unearned runs and increased the Dodgers' error total this season to 64 in 67 games, tops in the National League. The defensive horror show was prevalent in Dodgers' road trip, which included the last nine games of a 10-game losing streak - their longest since 1961.

The Dodgers feel they can make a 180-degree turn now they've returned to Dodger Stadium - where they are only one game over .500. The recent resurgence of the Pittsburgh Pirates gives them hope. "This has got to be a make-or-break homestand," Harris said.

The club-record 22-game homestand is a by-product of the LA riots which started Wednesday, April 29 and canceled games at Dodger Stadium through the weekend. The murderous stretch includes four doubleheaders in five days.

Martinez (4-4) was charged with four runs and eight hits over six-plus innings. He struck out four, walked three and threw 105 pitches in his first start in 11 days.

Offerman had a pair of RBI singles off Jones and Brett Butler added a two-run triple off Joe Boever.

Padres 8, Giants 0

At Jack Murphy Stadium, Bruce Hurst pitched a seven-hitter and struck out a season-high 11 as the San Diego sent San Francisco to its third straight shutout.

Gary Sheffield had three hits, including his 15th homer, and three RBIs for 53 on the season.

Hurst (7-5) topped his previous season best of eight strikeouts on April 22 against the Braves in recording his third shutout and fifth complete. Dave Righetti fell to 1-5, allowing six runs in 4 1-3 innings.

Cubs 9, Mets 2

At Shea Stadium, Greg Maddux, staked to a 7-0 lead before he threw his first pitch, pitched eight strong innings and drove in two runs.

Maddux (8-7) gave up two runs, six hits, struck out seven and walked one before giving way to Jim Bullinger in the ninth. He also hit RBI doubles in the first and third innings.

Chicago sent 11 batters to the plate in the first against Anthony Young (2-7), getting six hits and using two errors, a walk and a wild pitch to score seven runs.

Southwest Outdoors

with Mel Phillips

A month of rain and cold nights has devastated our cotton crops, but local lakes have finally caught some water. Lake White River is up five feet. After both Conchas and Ute were running over the spillways, even Meredith gained three feet. Lake MacKenzie and Lake Greenbelt benefited some two feet. That's good news because the gamefish have finished their spawn. All the newly-flooded brush should provide perfect cover and some great fishing in the years to come.

Flooding rivers mean that the catfish anglers are smiling. My favorite catfish bait comes from Mathes Bait (353-4961) in Amarillo. The odor is tolerable, and Mr. Whiskers loves to eat it. Catfishing is easy. Just find where the water is running into your favorite lake, put the bait on the bottom in about the 7 foot level and wait for the fun to begin.

Surprise of the Week--There's a new fishing lure called the Flying Lure. Unlike any other lure on the market, this modified gitzit actually swims away from the angler. I received a sample lure during the 1991 AFTMA Fishing Tackle Convention, but it took watching one of their late-night, 30-minute television commercials to convince me to really give it a proper test. Using eight-pound Magna Thin line on a Quantum SE3 spinning outfit, I worked the bluff walls and steep drop-offs at Lake MacKenzie near Silverton. Results included 20 largemouth bass between one and five pounds. The sad part of this story occurred at about 2 o'clock when something big (a striped?) devoured and broke off my last Flying Lure.

Congratulations to Canyon angler Jay Friemel for winning the Greenbelt Fun Tournament. Jay used both a Carolina rig and a split shot setup in order to catch a three-bass limit that weighed 5.21 pounds. His winnings included a trophy and $310--not bad for a three-hour fishing tournament that only costs a $20 entry fee.

Second place went to Don Midget with 4.92 pounds, and the third place winner was "Lucky" Jacky Ivy with 4.63 pounds. All anglers reported catching their fish in the newly-flooded shallow water. Overall, 45 anglers from nine towns braved the weather, and 17 brought keeper bass to the scales.

Best News of 1992--The bass fishermen at Lake Greenbelt are starting to practice more "catch and release." Hence, the fishing is rapidly improving. That is great news for all the anglers who are tired of driving out of state and down state. Remember: A bass is too valuable to be caught just once.

Mel Phillips is an avid hunter, a tournament fisherman and host of a Wednesday evening talk show on KGNC-radio (710 AM). He is also an award-winning member of the Texas Outdoor Writers Association.

Until 1934 a player leaving the game in college basketball could re-enter only once. The 10-second center line was introduced to college basketball in 1933.

Jackson will wear No. 24

DALLAS (AP) - Now that Jim Jackson has agreed not to wear Rolando Blackman's jersey number, he and the Dallas Mavericks must agree on some more important figures.

The Mavericks' No. 1 priority is to get their top pick signed and in training camp on time. Last year, Dallas' top pick, Doug Smith, didn't agree to terms until the eve of the regular-season opener, then developed slower than any other lottery pick.

Mavericks vice president Rick Sund said that had Smith been in camp from the start, "he would have been on everyone's all-rookie team."

Jackson, a 6-foot-5 shooting guard from Ohio State and the fourth pick in the NBA draft, is expected to command about $2.5 million a season.

The Mavericks freed up dollars and minutes for Jackson by trading Blackman to the New York Knicks for a 1995 first-round draft pick.

Jackson wanted to wear No. 22 like he had in college, but agreed Thursday to wear No. 24 instead. The Mavericks would like to someday retire No. 22, which Blackman wore for 11 seasons at Reunion Arena as he became the team's leading scorer.

"I think it's only fitting that one day they do retire that jersey and nobody wears it," Jackson said.

Jackson is a versatile guard who averaged 19.2 points in three college seasons. This year he was named Big Ten player of the year for the second straight season and was a consensus All-American. The Buckeyes were 53-10 in his last two seasons.

He turned around Ohio State's fortunes and will be asked to do the same for the Mavericks.

Victoria Delgado feted with bridal shower

Victoria Lynn Delgado, Aug. 1 bride-elect of Dagoverto G. Valdez, was honored with a bridal shower

June 20 in the home of Dolores Foster.

Greeting guests with the honoree were the prospective bridegroom's mother, Vickie Valdez, and the hostess, Dolores Foster.

Guests were registered by Elena Trevizo, the prospective groom's cousin. His sisters, Argelia and Violeta Valdez, served refreshments of assorted fruits, finger sandwiches and cookies.

The table was covered with a white linen cloth and decorated by a mauve silk bouquet surrounded by votive candles. Silver and crystal appointments were used.

Miss Delgado was presented a vacuum cleaner by the hostesses: Lupe Cerda, Janie Chavez, Linda Dominguez, Frances Farr, Carmen Flood, Faye King, Lorine Schwertner, Pat Simmacher, Elena Trevizo, Marian Yosten and Dolores Foster.

Bride-elect honored

A bridal shower was held for Victoria Lynn Delgado, Aug. 1 bride-elect of Dagoverto G. Valdez, June 20 in the home of Dolores Foster. Guests were welcomed by, from left, Dolores Foster, Victoria Delgado, and Vickie Valdez, the prospective groom's mother.

Avoid assault

While the bad news is the number and the rate of known assaults have risen over the past decade - up about 300,000, or some 30 percent since 1980 - the good news is the number of arrests for assault has risen even faster, in fact, it's doubled, and many correction experts say the rate of reporting is on the rise as well.

This is especially true, it's believed, in the case of assaults on women, children and avowed or supposed homosexuals. While years ago these people may have been reluctant to tell the police about such crimes against them, today's more open atmosphere has helped bring many child or spouse-abusers, "gay-bashers" and other criminals to justice.

Once imprisoned, the perpetrators of these crimes often face worse punishment from their fellow inmates than they do at the hands of the police. Child molesters, for example, are referred to as "short eyes" and, at best, shunned by other prisoners.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) - Fred Rogers of "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood" will be honored today by the Illinois State Bar Association.

The longtime host of PBS' show was chosen "because of his lifetime commitment to helping children," the Bar Association said in a news release Thursday.

The award caps the group's Year of the Child activities.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

FAITH IN THE PROPHETS

IN BIBLE TIMES THE PEOPLE HAD STEADFAST FAITH IN THE PROPHETS. THIS IS NOT HARD TO BELIEVE WHEN ONE REALIZES THAT THE PROPHETS HAD GREAT TRACK RECORDS. THE PEOPLE CAME TO BELIEVE THESE MEN WERE INFALLIBLE, AND THEY WERE NOT WRONG! FROM MOSES TO AMOS, TO JEREMIAH, AND THE MANY OTHERS, THE EVENTS THEY PROPHESED CAME TRUE. RICH AND POOR, ROYALTY AND PEASANT, ALL BELIEVED IN THEIR AUTHORITATIVE PROGNOSTICATIONS! SO MUCH SO THAT WHEN KING HEZEKIAH IS CONFRONTED BY THE ASSYRIAN THREAT TO JERUSALEM.....

.... THE FACT THAT ISAIAH HAS PROCLAIMED THAT JERUSALEM SHALL NOT BE HARMED....

...KEEPS KING HEZEKIAH'S FAITH REMAINING STRONG BECAUSE OF ISAIAH'S PROMISE AND WILL NOT GIVE IN TO THIS THREAT OF THE ASSYRIAN ARMY, EVEN AS HE WATCHES THEIR CAMPFIRES AT NIGHT FROM THE WALL OF HIS VENERABLE CITY!
