Langehennig resigns city council post

Hereford City Commissioner Terry Langehennig has resigned his post, clearing the way for him to apply for the position of city attorney.

Langehennig submitted his resignation in a letter dated Tuesday, Aug. 6. He said the city attorney's position "presents a professional opportunity to me to contribute to the city, and I am interested in applying to the City Commission in order to be considered for the position."

In the letter to Mayor Tom LeGate and the remaining City Commissioners, Langehennig said he did not think "it would be proper for this matter to be considered by the Commission with me as a sitting Commissioner."

Langehennig, a practicing attorney, was appointed to the at-large Place 5 seat on the Hereford City Commission in February 1989 to fill an unexpired term.

In May 1990, he was elected to a full 2-year term in Place 5.

The resignation, said Langehennig, is "effective immediately."

Langehennig spent his early life at Fredericksburg and earned his law degree from the University of Houston. He came to Hereford in 1976.

He and his wife, Tina, are parents of three children, a seven-year-old and a set of three-year-old twins.

Langehennig said he would submit his qualifications to the City Commission for consideration for appointment as city attorney.

The vacancy in the legal position occurred with the resignation of Earnest Langley, who had served for 37 years. His last meeting with the commission was Monday evening.

The City Commission also will have the responsibility of appointing a replacement for Langehennig for the at-large seat.

Late run boosts vote total

Absentee voting in Saturday's elections accelerated early this week, before the 5 p.m. Tuesday deadline.

Deaf Smith County Clerk David Ruland reports a total of 170 absentee ballots cast in the Constitutional amendment and County Election District elections.

More than 100 voters took advantage of the absentee voting period Monday and Tuesday. Deaf Smith County lists approximately 8,200 eligible voters.

Voters will decide on two Constitutional amendments in statewide elections Saturday.

In separate but concurrent voting, issues related to the newly-formed County Education Districts will be decided.

One of the amendments authorizes a CED board to exercise local option taxing exemptions.

The other amendment will allow the Texas Higher Education Agency to sell bonds to provide college student loans.

Voters in Deaf Smith County will decide whether the CED board may offer certain exemptions. The vote will not mandate the exemptions but will give the CED authority to grant the discounts on property value.

The county is responsible for the Constitutional amendment election. School districts conduct the CED voting.

However, Deaf Smith County and Hereford Independent School District agreed to hold joint elections for the convenience of voters. Walcott ISD is conducting the CED election for residents of the district.

DSGH hears plan from St. Mary's

Directors of Deaf Smith County Hospital District formally approved the 1991-92 budget of $5.57 million and adopted a tax rate of 22 cents per $100 valuation during a special meeting Tuesday night at Hereford Community Center.

The board had presented the budget and the proposed tax rate at a public hearing the previous week. The tax rate represents an increase of 67 percent over the current 13.2-cent rate.

The adoption of the tax rate and budget took about five minutes, then the board heard a presentation from St. Mary's of the Plains Hospital in Lubbock concerning a management affiliation contract proposal. Approximately 70 people attended the board meeting, which was moved from the hospital to the Community Center.

Richard Pope, vice president of regional services for St. Mary's, took charge of the presentation and introduced a number of staff personnel to explain various aspects of the proposal.

The presentation also included testimonials from the hospital board chairman of Snyder and Seminole and a recommendation from the administrator from the Denver City hospital. Pope introduced 13 staff members who came to Hereford for the presentation.

The proposal for a two-year contract was very similar to one presented by officials from Methodist Hospital about 10 days ago. The St. Mary's proposal included these points:

--St. Mary's would provide the administrator at the approval of the DSGH board and assume contractual obligations of the present administrator. They would also provide an interim CEO and controller.

--All services of St. Mary's would be free in the first year of the contract; the second year would be based on a monthly billing tied to employees' hourly wages.

--St. Mary's would select and employ a controller, subject to board approval, who would be the chief accounting and financial officer of DSGH.

--St. Mary's would help recruit physicians and make available up to $30,000 for expenses during the contract term.

--St. Mary's would perform an analysis of DSGH's service area, facility usage, potential feeder systems and other aspects, with the goal of establishing a strategic plan to meet the needs of the future.

--Provide group purchasing and volume discounts available to St. Mary's.

--St. Mary's will perform an operational audit and make recommendations.

--St. Mary's would provide programs to enhance employee pride, morale, professionalism and efficiency.

--St. Mary's would provide physician continuing medical services and board education services.

Raymond Schroeder, hospital board president, said the board hoped to make a decision on the two affiliation proposals by Aug. 20.

"The contract proposals are very similar and it appears we will have a tough time in making a choice," he stated.

St. Mary's provides management direction for a county-owned facility in Snyder, as well as the Crosbyton Clinic. It also has affiliation agreements with Seminole Memorial Hospital, Yoakum County Hospital in Denver City, and South Plains Clinic in Amherst.

The Snyder Hospital board chairman reported that St. Mary's had worked with the board and the county with a teamwork philosophy and had been a great help in turning around the financial situation there. The Snyder hospital has contracted with the new prison there for hospital services, and with the Snyder and Amarillo prisons for providing medicine and drugs.

The Snyder board chairman, an elder in the Church of Christ, said he was "apprehensive" at first about the religious aspect of the affiliation. "But, should anyone have that concern, I assure you that is no problem," he said.

The Seminole board chairman said St. Mary's had provided them with "invaluable" assistance at no cost the first year. This included the employment of a new administrator, recruiting a new doctor and doing a community survey.

With services provided for the first year at no cost, a question was asked from the audience on what will St. Mary's get out of the affiliation. Pope responded by saying: "We hope to develop a loyalty so that we will gain patients needing health care at our hospital, but we realize we have to earn that loyalty."

He added that the number one value at St. Mary's is "dignity of persons." He concluded that a turn-around would not be easy and would not happen overnight.

All seven hospital board members were present for the meeting--Schroeder, Dr. Randal Vinther, John Perrin, Stan Fry Jr., Boyd Foster, Mal Manchee and Craig Smith. A large number of Deaf Smith General staff members were also on hand.

Many of those attending the meeting adjourned to an ice cream social being sponsored for the medical community in the game room of the Community Center.

Lewis rounds barrel

Debbie Lewis of Hereford rounds a barrel during a jackpot barrel race held Tuesday at the Hereford Riders Club Arena. The event helped kick off the Town and Country Jubilee on Tuesday, which included a style show and ice cream social among the day's events. The Jubilee will kick into high gear with events on Friday and Saturday.

Governor says lottery won't cure state ills

AUSTIN (AP) - Texans shouldn't view a lottery as a cure-all for the state's fiscal ills, Gov. Ann Richards says. Taxes still could go up.

"I thought one of the reasons it was important to pass (a lottery bill) is to take away the misconception that someone has that as long as the lottery is out there, then all your problems are solved," Richards said Tuesday.

Lawmakers are struggling to write a 1992-93 state budget in the face of a $4.8 billion deficit.

After rejecting lottery eight times since 1983, the Texas House on Monday endorsed a proposed constitutional amendment to allow the gambling game.

A Senate committee hearing was postponed until Thursday, however, by a lottery opponent. And the current 30-day special session ends Tuesday.

But even if lottery is approved by the Senate and by voters in November, it likely wouldn't begin operating until next summer, according to comptroller's office forecasts.

The game would raise an estimated $450 million for the 1993 budget year, then about $1 billion annually after that.

"It really means more to us in the next (1994-95) biennium than it does this one (1992-93)," Richards said Tuesday.

RICHARDS

Richards, a strong lottery backer who was thwarted on the issue during the Legislature's regular session, went on television Sunday night to urge Texas voters to lobby their lawmakers for lottery.

In that address, the governor said: "The choice is simple. Either we have a huge tax bill or we approve a lottery. That's what it comes down to."

On Tuesday, Richards said her TV address didn't conflict with the possibility of additional taxes.

"There's never been any misleading on anyone's part," she told an impromptu news conference.

News Digest

World/National

WASHINGTON - The Federal Reserve's latest credit easing move, an immediate hit on Wall Street, will eventually result in lower consumer and business borrowing costs, but the timing of those benefits is not certain, economists contend.

WASHINGTON - A federal advisory panel on AIDS says the government should drop its opposition to needle exchange programs that let drug addicts swap used syringes for clean ones.

NEW YORK - Harry Reasoner, the snowy-haired newsmen who brought dry wit to "60 Minutes" and was paired unhappily with Barbara Walters in the 1970s as half of network TV's first male-female evening anchor team, has died at 68.

WASHINGTON - West Virginia Sen. Jay Rockefeller's on-again, off-again, on-again flirtation with a 1992 presidential run is apparently off for good.

WASHINGTON - The rules are being readied for Chapter 2 of a lottery that only Uncle Sam could organize. It costs virtually nothing to enter and offers dream-come-true prizes to 40,000 winners.

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia - A new unconditional cease-fire proclaimed by Yugoslavia's federal presidency raises hopes for peace in secessionist Croatia, but fighting continues even as the cease-fire announcement is made.

ALBANY, Ga. - It's so ugly and dirty, farmers call it corn smut. But when the fungus swells yellow corn kernels into a gray mass, Cristina Arnold licks her lips - and sees dollar signs in the rediscovery of an ancient delicacy.

Texas

AUSTIN - State leaders said work would continue on a tax increase to pay for state services, after the House passed a $30 million tax bill that doesn't come close to funding its own two-year spending proposal.

AUSTIN - A proposed state lottery was dealt a setback by an anti-gambling legislator who says he will try to talk the measure to death if it reaches the full Senate.

EDINBURG - Even if the state adjusts its census count, it won't necessarily have more accurate figures for drawing up new voting boundaries as is charged by opponents, a demographer says.

SAN ANTONIO - Biologists say a decline of grasslands in the American West is partly because of cattle grazing but that other natural and human factors also are to blame.

AUSTIN - Heartwise - the cereal removed by state officials from store shelves because they said it was mislabeled and made false health claims - may soon reappear as Fiberwise.

HALTOM CITY - The former police chief of a Fort Worth suburb who allegedly organized an outlaw squad to rob drug dealers in their homes has been arrested after he rushed into a Haltom City home filled with Texas Rangers.

SAN ANTONIO - San Antonio Police almost issued their first citation for violating the city's new curfew to a leader of a student group battling the new ordinance.

SPACE CENTER - Atlantis' astronauts today were woken up an hour early to adjust their body clocks and get started on a sixth day of experiments - including setting a fire inside the shuttle cabin.

MERTZON - Another school board has decided not to join a local county education district until the constitutionality of the new taxing districts is decided in court.

ORLANDO - Pathologists are trying to determine the cause of death of a pregnant killer whale, one of the performers at Sea World Florida. Kenau, about 16 years old, died while being treated early Tuesday, said officials at the Orlando marine park.

UNIVERSITY PARK - Neighbors of a wealthy man accused of killing a newspaper carrier say he was "kind of weird," leading them to suspect he had mental problems.

TOKYO - The Houston Symphony winds up a seven-concert tour of three major Japanese cities tonight, completing the second annual Pacific Music Festival.

Humans bear blame for grassland decline

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Biologists say a decline of grasslands in the American West is partly because of cattle grazing but that other natural and human factors also are to blame.

"Grazing perhaps is being attacked ... not quite wrongly, but at least out of perspective," said Martin Vavra, a range scientist at Oregon State University.

Vavra and other researchers discussed the issue during a symposium Tuesday at the American Institute of Biological Sciences annual meeting. The scientists said climate, wild animals, humans and a lack of natural fires also may account for the ecological changes.

Air pollution and increased water usage have affected the land in the West, said Vavra.

Environmental groups and others have criticized the use of federal lands for cattle grazing as harmful to the ecosystem. Private ranchers pay the government per animal unit for grazing privileges in certain areas.

European descendants began settling the West in the 1800s. Cattle replaced bison as the predominant herbivores, and settlers began farming land that had never before been cultivated.

William Laurenroth, a range scientist at Colorado State University who has studied grazing on the Great Plains, said its effects depend on the specific site where cattle have been. The driest areas have been changed the least by grazing, he said.

"In many cases fire was a natural part of ecosystems. It helped reduce the encroachment of woody species like sagebrush and juniper," Vavra said. "But we took fire out of the system. Smoky the Bear has worked a perfect dialogue, a perfect brainwashing on the American people that fire is always bad. But fire is a natural part of our system."

Stephen Archer, a researcher at Texas A&M University, said the displacement of grasslands and savannas with woody plants in parts of the Southwest appears to coincide with livestock grazing.

Kiwanis win international award

Veteran TV newsmen dies

NEW YORK (AP) - Harry Reasoner, the snowy-haired newsmen who lent dry wit to "60 Minutes" and was paired unhappily with Barbara Walters in the 1970s in network television's first male-female evening anchor team, has died at 68.

Reasoner died Tuesday at Norwalk Hospital in Norwalk, Conn., where he had been hospitalized since June 11. Doctors had removed a blood clot from his brain, and he also suffered from pneumonia.

Reasoner joined CBS in New York in 1956 and became known for his light touch with the news and a warm, self-effacing style. He was a three-time Emmy winner and in 1968 became an original member of the "60 Minutes" lineup along with Mike Wallace.

CBS interrupted its prime-time programming to announce his death. "Reasoner was a journalist who we all envied," anchorman Dan Rather said. "His style, his ability to see through what the real story is. All of us at CBS will miss him."

Reasoner left CBS in 1970 to be co-anchor of "The ABC Evening News" with Howard K. Smith. In 1975, Walters was hired for $1 million a year as his co-anchor, and an angry Reasoner reportedly threatened to quit. He returned to CBS in 1978.

During the three-year collaboration, there often were signs of what viewers took as tension between Walters and Reasoner.

One evening after a piece on Henry Kissinger, Walters commented, "You know, Harry, Kissinger didn't do too badly as a sex symbol in Washington."

"Well, you'd know more about that than I would," Reasoner replied.

Walters said Tuesday: "Harry and I had our differences many, many years ago but they were never personal and they never lingered. His death saddens us all. He was a superb journalist and a gentle and humorous man."

On May 19, during his 15th season with "60 Minutes," Reasoner, whose white hair, broad nose and jowly grin were well known to viewers, stepped down to become "editor emeritus."

"60 Minutes" newsmen Morley Safer said Reasoner demonstrated to journalists "that it is possible to excel while not being an egotistical fool." Howard Stringer, president of the CBS Broadcast Group, said, "Harry Reasoner was one of the gentle giants of broadcast journalism."

A native of Dakota City, Iowa, Reasoner studied journalism at Stanford University and the University of Minnesota.

He was drafted into the Army in 1942 and served until 1946. Also in the 1940s, he worked as a rewrite man and drama critic for the now-defunct Minneapolis Times.

After two years as a Northwest Airlines publicist, he returned to news writing in 1950 at radio station WCCO in Minneapolis, a CBS affiliate. In 1951, he joined the U.S. Information Service and worked in Manila for three years.

He asked CBS for a job and was told to get some TV experience, so he returned to Minneapolis in 1954 as news director for KEYD (later KMSP) until the network hired him in New York.

He also was co-host of the network's morning show "Calendar" from 1961 to 1963, was anchor of "The CBS Sunday News" from 1963 to 1970 and worked on the network's "CBS Reports" documentaries and many news specials.

Reasoner won three Emmys, in 1974, 1981 and 1983, CBS said.

His first and only novel, "Tell Me About Women," was published in 1946. His collected essays, "The Reasoner Report," were published in 1966 and his memoir, "Before the Colors Fade," came out in 1981.

Survivors include his wife, Lois, of Westport, Conn., and two sons and five daughters from his first marriage, to Kathleen Carroll Reasoner, who died in 1986.

Adjusted census won't help

EDINBURG, Texas (AP) - Even if the state adjusts its census count, it won't necessarily have more accurate figures for drawing up new voting boundaries as is charged by opponents, a demographer says.

The 1990 census undercounted thousands of Texans, particularly minorities, but it is still the best source for reapportioning the state's voting districts, said Steve Murdoch, chief demographer for the Texas State Data Center.

"One can certainly adjust the data but that does not mean that we will have data that will be defensible," Murdoch said Tuesday, adding that the only accurate adjustments are figures being withheld by the U.S. Census Bureau.

"We must use the 1990 census counts at this point," he said.

Murdoch was the first defense witness to testify at a preliminary injunction hearing for a lawsuit that is pitting South Texas residents against the state. The hearing is scheduled to end today.

The suit, filed by residents who say they were not counted in the census, contends that new voting boundaries approved by the Legislature are discriminatory.

Because some 500,000 to 600,000 Texans were missed in the census, the voting districts drawn up this year have been skewed in such a way as to dilute minority voting strength, the suit says.

Attorneys for the plaintiffs are petitioning 332nd District Judge Mario E. Ramirez to issue an injunction that would force legislators to accept adjusted census data and to draw up new redistricting maps.

The state's contends, meanwhile, that no one has been harmed by the revamped districts because they have not been approved on the federal level. They are not effective until then.

The state also is participating in a suit aimed at getting the federal government to release adjusted census figures.

Murdoch said those figures are the most accurate population count available and dismissed the plaintiffs' arguments that other methods of amending the census would be accurate.

"I do not believe it is possible to come up with a set of figures that is equitable for all groups of people" using other methods, he said.

"I hope that the state of Texas will be able to get that adjusted data," added Murdoch, acknowledging that minorities were undercounted last year.

Immigrants to register for lottery

WASHINGTON (AP) - The rules are being readied for Chapter 2 of a lottery that only Uncle Sam could organize. It costs virtually nothing to enter and offers dream-come-true prizes to 40,000 winners.

Americans can't play, and it helps to be Irish. Others will need even more luck o' the Irish.

The action is expected to begin next month when people in or from three dozen favored foreign countries, including illegal aliens already in the United States, get a no-hassle chance at becoming American citizens.

A similar "lottery" was held in 1986, and Congress liked the idea so much it authorized another one.

In some ways, the term lottery is a misnomer because the applications will be granted in chronological order, not at random, and with special weighting for the Irish.

Still, the State Department has not come up with a better word, and there is a strong element of luck involved, pegged to the U.S. Postal Service and the mails worldwide.

Here's how it will work:

Officials will designate a particular post office in the Washington area to receive the applications, all of which must be mailed. Postmarks don't count; arrival time is everything. Applications that arrive before the official date will be disqualified. After that, immigrant visas will be issued to the first 40,000 qualified applicants.

The last time around, the post office was swamped with 1.4 million applications, and that number may be exceeded this time. As before, there is no limit on the number of applications anyone can submit.

The legislation that set in motion the lottery makes no pretenses about equality of opportunity. The legislation demands that 16,000, or 40 percent of the 40,000 winners, be of Irish descent.

The forces behind the program, mostly members of the powerful Irish-American caucus on Capitol Hill, had one goal in mind: helping the large numbers of Irish who have overstayed their visas because there are so few jobs back home.

Before 1965, Ireland produced the third highest total of legal immigrants to the United States. But no longer. Most changes in immigration law over the past generation have tended to benefit Hispanics and other non-European applicants.

Under a 1987 amnesty, all undocumented aliens who arrived before Jan. 1, 1982, were given immigrant visas giving them permanent residence status. But most Irish did not qualify because they arrived after that deadline.

"They can't get jobs, they can't get a driver's license or open a bank account," says Tom Barker, an aide to Rep. Brian Donnelly, D-Mass., chief sponsor of the 1986 lottery that also benefited West Europeans, particularly the Irish.

The new lottery is different from the one in 1986. This time, applicants must present in writing a guarantee of an offer of a job from an employer.

SBI offers services to area businesses

The Small Business Institute is in operation at West Texas State University for the fall semester.

Sponsored by the U.S. Small Business Administration, the institute offers a variety of services, performed by seniors or graduate students, for area businesses.

The SBI program gives students an opportunity to apply skills learned in college to a business environment. The students perform such tasks as market research, advertising studies, recordkeeping and paperwork analyses.

Client businesses are being selected, says Walter Fronstin, district director in the Lubbock SBA office. Businesses are accepted on a first-come, first-served basis.

Applications should be directed to Ben Neely, SBI director at WTSU, or to the Lubbock SBA office.

Neely may be reached at (806) 656-2495. The Lubbock SBA office number is (806) 743-7462.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: As a child and teen-ager, I was sexually molested by my father. When he came to my room at night, I pretended to be asleep. I was so afraid of him I couldn't tell anybody for fear of what he might do. My mother knew, but she wasn't strong enough to confront him either. We just didn't talk about it. Two days after I graduated from high school, I moved out.

At that time, I despised my father. I am an adult now and have worked through my anger. We live in the same town and I have a better relationship with my parents than I ever thought possible. Now, my problem: I have two daughters. They love to stay overnight at Grandma and Grandpa's house. They are getting older and I am becoming worried. I don't let the girls stay overnight nearly as often as they would like, nor as often as they are invited. I've said "no" a lot this last year and the girls haven't complained. I think they have lost interest and prefer slumber parties with their girlfriends, which is just fine with me.

I don't want to withhold the children from my parents. They all love each other so much. But I don't want my father to touch them.

Of course my husband doesn't know about any of this. He gets along well with my parents. If he knew, it would be the end of the relationship.

Is it safe to assume that my father has changed after 30 years? Should I confront him? Should I talk to my mother about it? Should I be vague about the reason if my parents become persistent and simply say no to all overnight visits? I trust you. -- An Uneasy Mother

DEAR UNEASY: Do NOT permit your daughters to spend the night under the same roof with your father under any circumstances. I fail to understand why you took such a risk when they were younger. Since your mother did nothing to protect you, it's safe to assume that she wouldn't protect them either.

I find it quite remarkable that you have such a loving relationship with your parents. My hat is off to your therapist. If your parents should become persistent in their requests that the girls sleep over, it would be perfectly all right to spell out for them the reason you will not permit it. Once you give them chapter and verse, I assure you, they will stop asking.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is in response to "N.J. Reader and Carrier" who outlined the negatives of being a newspaper delivery person. I'd like to tell you about the way we do it, which eliminates a lot of problems.

Subscribers to The Newton Kansan pay the newspaper office in advance and a local "paper boy" or "paper girl" picks up the papers at a drop-off point and delivers them. The Wichita newspaper has the same system.

When this system is used, the carriers are spared the job of going around to collect and they are assured that every paper they deliver will be paid for.

I don't understand why every newspaper in the country doesn't use this delivery system. Maybe you can suggest it the next time someone writes to complain. -- M.L., Newton, Kan.

DEAR M.L.: Thanks for enlightening me. What you have described sounds so totally sensible that I, like you, cannot understand why all newspapers aren't delivered this way. Perhaps some subscribers would prefer not to pay for their papers in advance, but if the system were implemented, they would have no other choice.

Lonesome? Take charge of your life and turn it around. Write for Ann Landers' new booklet, "How to Make Friends and Stop Being Lonely." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.15 (this includes postage and handling) to: Friends, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. ## Try summer classic: lemonade

By BEVERLY BUNDY
Fort Worth Star-Telegram
FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Lemonade speaks of childhood summers, evenings when we tucked our dirty bare feet under tanned legs and swung on the porch.

It was the ending to days of playing in sprinklers, informal camps set up by neighborhood teen-agers and conning money for the ice cream truck.

The melting ice cubes and tart-sour goodness slipped down our throats, leaving flecks of lemon pulp to stick between our teeth.

Lemonade didn't come from cans then, nor did it come from a pouch of dry mix. Mom made it; that was the best part.

Lemonade is an American summer classic. Like Adirondack chairs, Top-Siders and ice cream freezers, lemonade has become our contribution to sultry days. We didn't invent it, but we've made it our own.

The Europeans fell in love with lemons when the Crusaders brought them home from the wars. Adding the juice to water became a flourishing industry, particularly in France, where "limonadiers" had to monopoly on selling sweetened lemonade. But then technology reared its ugly head and carbonated water was developed. Lemonade got bubbles and is still bottled that way in Europe. On the other side of the ocean, we were busy coming up with Coca-Cola and Dr Pepper. Lemonade escaped the bottling plant.

Making lemonade at home is a simple proposition, and you won't even need a can opener. You can use the same juicer that first came in vogue in the 1897 Sears Roebuck catalog - that ribbed juicer that every turn-of-the-century kitchen included.

If you'd like to add a new-age touch, pop whole lemons into the microwave for 15 seconds. The short zap will break down the fibers, making them easier to juice. If you want to make pink lemonade, add grenadine, the pomegranate syrup that gives a tequila sunrise its rosy glow.

BETTY'S CLASSIC: For this classic recipe we went to a classic cookbook, the out-of-print "Betty Crocker's Picture Cook Book, 1956 edition.

LEMONADE
Serves 6-8
1 cup sugar
1 cup water
Rind of 2 lemons cut in pieces
1 cup fresh lemon juice
4 cups water

Combine first three ingredients in saucepan. Stir over low heat until sugar is dissolved. Boil about 1 minute. Strain; discard rind and cool. Add lemon juice and ice water and pour over ice into pitcher or tall glasses.

SMOOTHER: This recipe, changed up with the addition of orange juice to smooth out the tartness of lemon, is from "Mary Emmerling's American Country Cooking" (Potter, $35).

SECRET RECIPE LEMONADE
Serves 10-12
12 large lemons
1 orange
Superfine sugar
Ice

Wash fruit. Halve and remove seeds. Squeeze juice and add juice plus the squeezed fruit to large pitcher. Chill until serving time.

Add a generous amount of ice cubes to pitcher and stir to dilute lemonade. Or add 5 to 6 cups of cold water or seltzer and pour into ice-filled glasses. Serve with sugar on the side so each person can sweeten to taste.

SOUTHWEST VERSION: The following is from "Savory Southwest" by Judy Hille Walker, (Northland Publishing, $12.95).

HONEYDEW LEMONADE
Yields 8 cups
Rind of 2 lemons, removed in strips with a vegetable peeler
1 cup fresh lemon juice
3/4 cup sugar
1 honeydew melon (about 3 1/2 pounds, seed and rind removed, cut into 1-inch cubes (about 6 cups))

2 cups cold water
2 cups ice cubes
Thin lemon slices, for garnish
Mint leaves, for garnish

Combine first 3 three ingredients in saucepan. Bring to boil over medium heat, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Boil for about 5 minutes. Pour syrup through a sieve set over a bowl and let it cool.

Puree melon in blender or food processor. Force puree through a fine sieve set over a bowl. Combine syrup, puree and 2 cups cold water in an attractive pitcher. Stir well.

Just before serving, stir in 2 cups ice cubes and garnish with lemon slices and mint sprigs.

SUGAR-FREE LEMONADE
Yields 4 cups
2/3 cup fresh lemon juice
3-13 cups water
Artificial sweetener equivalent to 1/2 cup sugar
Combine and refrigerate. Chill and serve over ice.

Wedding anniversary planned

All friends and relatives of Charlotte and Roy Calvert are invited to attend a reception Sunday, Aug. 11, from 2-5 p.m. at the Bayside Baptist Church in Ingleside, Texas.

The event will honor the couple's 65th wedding anniversary. No gifts are requested.

Hosting the reception will be the Fruitful Hands of the Bayside Baptist Church Sunday school class.

Before retiring, Roy had farmed in the Hereford area and Charlotte had taught school in the Hereford Independent School system.

The church is located on Highway 1069 and Woodhaven in Ingleside.

Beef Fajita Cook-off scheduled Aug. 9-10

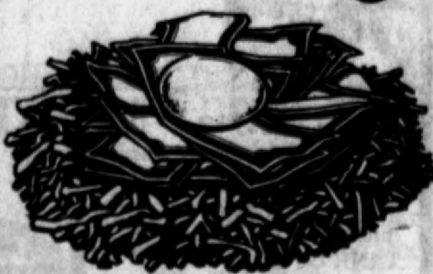

The Hereford CattleWomen will be sponsoring the Beef Fajita Cook-off Friday and Saturday. The event, to be staged at Veteran's Park, is being held in conjunction with the annual Town 'n' Country Jubilee Celebration.

Contestants are required to cook 5 lbs. of beef and the person who entered the contest must be the chef. Judges will taste samples of all the beef fajitas entered and award a prize of $150 to the first place winner. Second place winner will get $100 followed by $50 for third place. The public is invited to taste the culinary delicacies at 7 p.m. The award for showmanship will be originality and appearance of booth.

Proceeds from the cook-off will be used for beef promotion. The CattleWomen organization was formed to help promote beef and its healthful aspects.

Lewis wins barrel racing; Trotter, Paul take roping

Team roping and barrel racing competitions were held Tuesday at the Hereford Riders Arena in conjunction with the Hereford Town and Country Jubilee.

Debbie Lewis won the open division of the barrel races with a time of 17.06. In the $300 novice division—in which the horse must not have won more than $300—Jennifer Smith won in 17.06. In the junior division (14 years and under), 8-year-old Miranda Schroeder captured the title with a time of 18.21.

Only one place per division was paid in barrel racing, while three places were paid in both team roping divisions.

Johnny Trotter and Ray Paul roped three head in 28.49 seconds, winning the No. 6 division—the more skilled division—which had 62 participants. Jesse Valdez and Justin Hogue were second at 32.33, and David Hill and Bobby Jones 32.65.

Will Ramiro and Cloudy Meason roped their three head in 31.96 to top the field of 45 in the No. 4 division. None of the other teams managed to rope three head, so it went to the best times on two head. Cameron Burrus and Howard Williams roped two head in 29.72 for second place, and Mushy Shipp and Justin Hogue had a time of 34.04 for third.

Handley rips fans for booing Simms

By The Associated Press

Ray Handley says the only person who is going to choose the New York Giants' starting quarterback is Ray Handley. Not the Giants fans.

A rather miffed Handley on Tuesday ripped the fans for booing Phil Simms for throwing away a third-down pass near the goal line in Monday night's 23-17 exhibition victory over the Buffalo Bills.

"I'd like to give the New York fans more credit than that," Handley said in reviewing the team's performance in his first game as coach. "Phil has never called plays for this team other than in the two-minute drill, and his two-minute is pretty good."

Handley said the bad play was his call.

Unfortunately for Simms, he took the blame from fans, who apparently have decided not to give him a chance in his much ballyhooed battle for the starting quarterback job with Jeff Hostetler.

Most of the 76,121 fans at Giants Stadium Monday night gave Hostetler a standing ovation when he entered the game. Simms, the Giants' starter since 1984, got a lukewarm cheer.

While Handley continues to mull his quarterback problem, Bears coach Mike Ditka must be wondering what happened to his offense, which has scored 13 points in two exhibition games.

"We're going to have a good offense, and we're going to have a good passing game, regardless of what anybody thinks," Jim Harbaugh, the Bears' starting quarterback, said.

Chicago's offense got a big shot in the arm Tuesday evening with the signing of veteran placekicker Kevin Butler, who came to terms on a three-year contract after missing three weeks of training camp. Terms of the agreement were not disclosed.

Butler holds the NFL record for most consecutive field goals with 24 and owns 13 other Bear records in his six seasons as a pro. Last season, he kicked 26 of 37 field goals for 114 points.

The exhibition season continues tonight when the Denver Broncos play the San Francisco 49ers at Candlestick Park.

In other news Tuesday:

- Wide receiver Randal Hill, Miami's first-round draft pick, ended a 26-day holdout by agreeing to a three-year contract estimated at $2.1 million.
- Wide receiver Jeff Graham, Pittsburgh's second-round draft choice who ended a 24-day holdout Saturday, aggravated a leg injury in his first practice. Wide receivers coach Dwain Painter said it was uncertain how long the pulled quadriceps muscle would keep Graham out of action.
- Cincinnati strong safety David Fulcher said he will play in Saturday's game against Philadelphia despite a hip bruise sustained in the Bengals' exhibition opener last week.
- Veteran tight end Lin Dawson, trying to make Detroit's roster after being released by the New England Patriots last season, was waived. Dawson, in his 10th year out of North Carolina State, did not catch a pass in Detroit's two exhibition games.
- Green Bay Packers coach Lindy Infante said he won't lose any sleep if holdout placekicker Chris Jacke doesn't report and the team has to go with rookie free agent Brad Daluiso.
- The Jets waived free-agent linebacker Dannie Lockett, the co-defensive MVP of the World League of American Football champion London Monarchs. Lockett missed the initial 10 workouts of training camp due to whiplash suffered after he totaled a brand new car on June 29 following a high-speed chase with police near his Fort Valley, Ga., home.

CFA beats FTC

WASHINGTON (AP) - A coalition of universities and ABC-TV won the opening round in a dispute with the Federal Trade Commission that challenges the way big-time college sports deals with the television networks.

But the battle is far from over. An FTC administrative law judge on Tuesday dismissed an agency staff complaint charging that a five-year, $215 million television contract that gives ABC Sports exclusive rights to most college football games amounts to a restraint of trade.

Administrative Law Judge James Timony concluded that the federal agency has no jurisdiction over the agreement because, he said, colleges and universities are not considered profit-making "corporations" over which the agency has legal responsibility.

The College Football Association, which represents 66 universities and colleges, and Capitol Cities-ABC Inc. signed the contract last year, replacing a four-year agreement between CFA and CBS-TV that expired after last season.

Tech grid captains ready to lead

By CHIP BROWN
Associated Press Writer
LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - The senior captains on Texas Tech's football team have learned a valuable lesson about leadership over the last couple seasons.

Two years ago, the Red Raiders, led by an inspirational group of seniors, stormed to a 9-3 record and a victory in the All-American Bowl.

Last year, Tech stumbled through a 4-7 season plagued by inconsistency.

"Two years ago the seniors took control of the team. They didn't put up with any bad attitudes," said Tech co-captain Rodney Blackshear, who led the Southwest Conference in receiving yards (973) in 1990.

"Then last year everyone kind of sat around living off the fame thinking that it would just come naturally. But now we realize we have to step up and work our tails off to be successful."

More than 75 players put themselves through voluntary workouts during the summer and there have been extra wind sprints for everybody. The seniors have grabbed the team by the throat and have mandated that no slacking off will be tolerated.

Co-captain Matt Wingo, who anchors the defense at middle linebacker, said "the seniors want to go out with a bang."

"We are not just talking about a winning record," Wingo said. "We are talking about cotton."

And he doesn't mean the white fluffy stuff growing on about three million acres surrounding Lubbock.

The experts pick Tech to finish in the middle of the pack in the SWC this year. But the players are sure the talent is there to make a run for Dallas on Jan. 1.

"The talent is there, the unity is there and the work ethic is there," said senior quarterback Jamie Gill.

"It just has to come together in the first few games to get the ball rolling."

Tech returns eight starters on offense, including super talent at most all the skill positions.

Gill, who was nominated "most likely to suffer an injury walking to practice" by one publication, will attempt to stay healthy after finishing only four of seven starts last year due to knee, jaw and finger injuries.

Tech coach Spike Dykes has said Gill and sophomore quarterback Robert Hall, who each threw for more than 1,000 yards last year, will both see action "every Saturday."

Blackshear will be joined by slippery sophomore Lloyd Hill at wide receiver. And Anthony Lynn, a 6-foot-3, 210-pound senior, will share duty with sophomore speedster Donald Marshall at the I-back position.

"Offensively, we have a chance to be a great football team," Dykes said. "I think these guys will really blossom this year."

Dykes says the defense, which returns five starters, is the team's question mark.

The Red Raiders yielded 32 points and 420 yards per game in 1990. And they will depend on junior college transfers and some unseasoned underclassmen to fill voids in the trenches and in the defensive backfield.

In order to utilize the team's speed and better defend against the onslaught of run-and-shoot offenses in the SWC, Dykes switched from a 4-3 to a 3-4 defense this spring.

Tech's kicking game received a much needed boost when punter Mark Bounds transferred to Lubbock from West Texas State.

Bounds led all punters in NCAA Division II last year with an average of 46.3 yards per punt.

But the Red Raiders greatest improvement from last year may be their schedule.

Tech opened last season on the road at Ohio State and battled five teams ranked in the Top 25, including a mid-season walloping at the hands of Miami.

This year the Raiders play five of their first seven games at home with a non-conference schedule that includes Fullerton State, Oregon and Wyoming.

"The thing we have to do this season is try to get on a roll," Dykes said. "If we can get off to a good start and get some confidence by stringing a few wins in a row, we have a heckuva chance to be competitive in the conference race in October and November."

Cubans keeping most Pan Am medals

HAVANA (AP) - This is a first for the Cubans, and they're coming in first all over the place.

Cuba owns the 11th Pan American Games, the largest international sports soiree ever held on this island, and that's bad news for the rest of the Americas.

Through four days of competition, the Cubans amassed 51 total medals, 33 of them gold, distancing the U.S. collection of 41 medals, only 12 of which were gold. Canada was third, but so far back no one was counting.

George Steinbrenner, a new U.S. Olympic Committee member, is mad, and you can ask Dave Winfield what that means. U.S. athletes have more excuses than a pickpocket in a lockup, and their coaches shrug it off as a bad day at the OK Corral.

"Their peaking has been primarily for the Pan American Games," U.S. men's track coach Joe Vigil said of the Cubans. "And they will try to do even better because this is their show."

With Cuban President Fidel Castro and his ministers watching, this is a good time and place for the Cubans to do well, and it's apparent that the Pan American Games have taken on a new meaning for them.

"The people have inspired me to prepare for getting a gold medal," said Ana Quirot, who set a Pan Am record of 49.61 seconds when she won the 400 meters Monday. "I consider this the greatest event ... because never has my country had an event like this one."

Cuba's track stars led the early medals rout. In the first three days of track and field, the Cubans won eight golds, two silvers and three bronze. The United States, meanwhile, had one gold, six silvers and five bronze.

Cubans also were dominating fencing and weightlifting, the Cuban baseball team was a considerable favorite to add another gold - adding a no-hitter by Jorge Valdes and four more home runs Tuesday in a 14-0, seven-inning rout of Canada - and the powerful Cuban boxing team wasn't even scheduled to throw a punch in anger until today.

Three U.S. boxers - Bradley Martinez, Denard Trapp and Sanson Pouha - were paired against Cubans in the first round, although none were scheduled to fight today.

While the U.S. baseball team, which beat Mexico 12-4 for its second victory of the games, is an underdog to Cuba, there are some glints of gold for America.

The heavily favored U.S. women's basketball team already had clinched a spot in the medal round when the men advanced on Tuesday with an 87-81 victory over Argentina.

The U.S. men aren't exactly dusting the credenza with anybody, but they did clinch a berth in the quarterfinals. And team captain Christian Laettner says he and his teammates are comfortable with the way they're playing.

"I think we felt in control, just as we had in the first two wins," said Laettner, who had 15 points. "We show our youth and international inexperience, and that's what we have to work on."

The U.S. team left for Miami immediately after its victory and will work out in private before returning to Cuba for its quarterfinal game Friday night against the Bahamas.

U.S. wrestlers, some of the best in the world, went 20-for-20 in their qualifying matches Tuesday, and Americans have swept all three diving events so far.

"As a team, we need to let everyone know right off the bat that we're here to wrestle and to win," U.S. 136(-pound wrestler Issac Anderson of Albany, N.Y., said. "I think we sent that message today."

The diving was a U.S.-Cuba showdown, one of the few that Americans have won. Mark Lenzi of Fredericksburg, Va., beat Cuban Abel Ramirez on his last dive in the 1-meter springboard event.

Earlier, Americans won the men's and women's 3-meter springboard events.

The U.S. women got a taste of gold Tuesday night in gymnastics, edging the Cubans.

And then there's the young gunner from El Monte, Calif., with the scary name and the even scarier fastball. Debbie Doom has thrown two perfect games in women's softball, and the Cubans are calling her "La Supersonica." She struck out 17, including 10 in a row in one stretch, against Nicaragua for a 5-0 victory.

Rockets re-sign four coaches

HOUSTON (AP) - The Houston Rockets, coming off a franchise-best 52-win season, extended the contracts of three assistant coaches and their strength coach, the team announced Tuesday.

Assistant coaches Carroll Dawson, John Killilea and Rudy Tomjanovich signed multi-year extensions, as did strength coach Robert Barr.

Dawson has been a Rockets assistant since 1980.

Tomjanovich, entering his ninth season as a coach, has been with the Rockets since 1970 as a player, scout and coach. He is the team's second all-time career scorer.

Killilea has begun his third year as an assistant focusing on scouting pro and college teams. He has been in the NBA for 17 years.

Barr is entering his eighth season as the Rockets' strength and conditioning coach.

Pirates extend lead in East; Astros keep rolling

By The Associated Press
Randy Tomlin has little trouble beating New York even when they're not slumping. Doing it with the Mets falling apart was easy.
Tomlin remained perfect in four career decisions against New York by pitching a four-hitter Tuesday night, giving the Pittsburgh Pirates a 3-1 victory and handing the reeling Mets their seventh straight loss.
The Pirates won their second in a row following an eight-game losing streak as they increased their lead in the National League East to 7 1/2 games over the muddling Mets - the farthest New York has been from the top since June 1990.
"We weren't going to panic when we were losing," Tomlin said. "We're too good for that."
Tomlin (7-4) beat the Mets for the third time in as many starts this year. New York has just 13 hits and four earned runs in 23 innings against him.
Tomlin's career record is just 11-3, but he's 4-0 against the Mets. This time, he struck out four, walked two and allowed only one hit after Gregg Jefferies' one-out double in the fourth.

Lloyd McClendon gave Tomlin all the support he needed with a two-run homer in the second off Sid Fernandez (0-2).
Astros 6, Padres 1
Houston, the NL's hottest team, made it nine straight wins as Casey Candaele had three hits and drove in two runs.
Rookie Darryl Kile (5-6) allowed one run and five hits in 7 1-3 innings. He walked four and struck out seven. Al Osuna earned his eighth save with 1 2-3 innings of scoreless relief.
Adam Peterson (3-4) was the loser, allowing up four runs on seven hits in four innings.
Braves 10, Giants 6
Terry Pendleton had the biggest night of his biggest season with four hits, including two homers, four runs scored and four RBIs.
Pendleton hit a three-run homer in a four-run first off Paul McClellan

(2-1) and added a solo shot in the third for only the second two-homer game of his eight-year career. Ron Gant added a three-run shot.
Jim Clancy (1-3), acquired last week from Houston, pitched four scoreless innings of relief for the win.
Dodgers 5, Reds 2
Los Angeles ended its road blues by returning to an old formula - hit homers and give the ball to Orel Hershiser. Darryl Strawberry and Lenny Harris hit two-run homers and Hershiser allowed one run in six innings.
Hershiser (4-2) allowed just one run and five hits over six innings for his first victory since July 6 as he continues his comeback from shoulder surgery. Strawberry hit his third homer in five games and 16th of the season in the fourth off Kip Gross (4-3). Harris connected an inning later.
Cardinals 7, Expos 6
Tom Pagnozzi scored from third base on Montreal's second error of the 10th inning and fifth of the game, capping St. Louis' comeback from a 6-1 deficit.

Pagnozzi scored when first baseman Larry Walker booted Ray Lankford's grounder with the bases loaded and one out. Shortstop Bret Barberie earlier muffed pinch-hitter Milt Thompson's potential double-play grounder.
Scott Terry (3-1), the last of four St. Louis pitchers, retired nine straight batters for the victory. Barry Jones (3-8) was the loser.
Phillies 6, Cubs 2
Dale Murphy's 11th-inning grand slam gave Philadelphia its seventh straight victory.
Lenny Dykstra, whose ninth-inning homer tied the game, started his average back to .351.

He was near the top in runs scored with 80, total bases with 237, and extra-base hits with 52.
Thanks to heavy off-season work in the weight room, Palmeiro has a career-high 18 homers with more than two months left in the season.
Robson said work in the weight room means "you're going to maintain stamina longer. Rafael has stamina."
"Can he win the batting title?"
"He's got to stay away from the 0-for-15s because those will burn him," Robson said. "Good hitters will go 1-for-5, but he's got to avoid long slumps."
Palmeiro's current average is the highest ever for a Ranger this late in the season.
"I just visualize my at-bats and it's fun playing baseball when you get into that groove, that zone where you see the ball well," he said. "I just try to stay in that groove because you know sooner or later the mini-slumps will come."
When Cleveland's Eric King put the collar on Palmeiro Monday night, the inning against Les Lancaster (7-5) by drawing a walk and Darren Daulton singled him to third. Lancaster struck out Wes Chamberlain, then intentionally walked John Kruk to load the bases before Murphy drove his 14th homer of the season and fifth grand slam of his career over the center field fence.

Ex-Cub Mitch Williams (4-3) pitched one inning for the win.
breaking a 15-game hitting streak, Palmeiro was so upset he didn't want to talk about it.
"He's a perfectionist," Robson said. "All great hitters are."
The greatest threat to Palmeiro winning the batting title could come from one of his own teammates, Julio Franco, who was hitting .332 after Monday night's game.
"I hope Rafael and Julio battle down to the end," Robson said. "I think that will be great race. But there are a lot of great hitters in the league and it's still early. Come September we'll see."

Fisk leads White Sox in 14-5 Yankee-pasting

By The Associated Press
The Chicago White Sox didn't move any closer to first place, but Carlton Fisk took another step toward a place in the Hall of Fame.
Fisk drove in four runs, including two with his 362nd career homer to move ahead of Joe DiMaggio into 39th on the all-time list, as Chicago rallied from a five-run, first-inning deficit to beat New York 14-5 Tuesday night.
The White Sox remained 3 1/2 games behind first-place Minnesota in American League West. The Twins beat the California Angels 7-4.
"I didn't think much about it and didn't realize it until the fans called me back," Fisk said.
It was Fisk's eighth homer of the season and his 200th as the all-time White Sox leader.
"It means I've played a long time, I've played well, I'm old and I hope to continue playing well," said the 43-year-old Fisk. "I'm just glad I didn't have to face Alvaro Espinoza."
Espinoza, the Yankees' shortstop, came in to finish up the eighth in which the Sox sent 11 batters to the plate.

Trailing 5-0, the White Sox tied it with five runs in the fourth as Mike Huff tripled in a pair and scored on a sacrifice fly by Robin Ventura before Fisk singled in two runs.
The White Sox broke the tie in the fifth when Dan Pasqua doubled, went to third on a sacrifice and scored on Joey Cora's suicide squeeze.
Donn Pall (5-1) was the winner and reliever Tim Leary (4-9) took the loss after replacing starter Greg Cadaret.
Blue Jays 2, Tigers 1
Jimmy Key (12-6) and three relievers combined on a five-hitter.
Joe Carter had an RBI single and John Olerud a sacrifice fly in the first inning to give the Blue Jays the lead off former Toronto pitcher John Cerutti (1-4).
Duane Ward pitched one inning and Tom Henke got the last three outs for his 24th save in 24 opportunities, setting a major league record.
Twins 7, Angels 4
Willie Banks won his first major league start and Chili Davis hit a two-run homer against his former teammates.
Banks struck out eight, walked two and allowed six hits in six innings, including an RBI single and two-run double by Wally Joyner. Mark Guthrie pitched one inning and Steve Bedrosian got the last six outs for his sixth save, allowing a pinch homer to Max Venable in the ninth.

All the runs came off Chuck Finley (14-6), who allowed nine hits in eight innings.
Athletics 3, Mariners 0
Mike Moore pitched 6 1-3 scoreless innings in his first start back from the disabled list while Jose Canseco and Dave Henderson hit home runs.
Joe Klink, Eric Show, Rick Honeycutt and Dennis Eckersley combined for the final 2 2-3 innings of scoreless relief. Eckersley got the last out for his major league-leading 30th save.
Rick DeLucia (9-7) took the loss.
Rangers 10, Indians 8
Rafael Palmeiro, the major league's leading hitter at .351, had four singles to pace a 17-hit attack.
The Rangers broke a 7-7 tie with a three-run seventh inning off loser Mike York (1-4), including RBI singles by Steve Buechele and Gary Pettis.
Kenny Rogers (7-7) pitched one inning for the victory and Jeff Russell got the last four outs for his 21st save. Russell gave up Albert Belle's 18th homer in the ninth.
Orioles 13, Brewers 5
Mike Devereaux drove in four runs and hot-hitting Chris Hoiles had three doubles.
The Orioles had 15 hits - including seven for extra bases.
Jim Hunter dropped to 0-5.
Dave Johnson (2-3) gave up five runs and 10 hits in six innings.
Royals 6, Red Sox 0
Mike Boddicker pitched six-hit ball for seven innings.
Boddicker (9-7), who left Boston to sign as a free agent with Kansas City, beat the Red Sox for the second time this year. Storm Davis, the third Royals pitcher, got the last two outs.
The Royals scored two runs each in the first and second innings off Mike Gardiner (3-6).

Palmeiro eyeing batting title

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - Rangers coach Dave Lopes said it best about Rafael Palmeiro when he said the Texas Rangers first baseman "could hit in a room without any lights."
Palmeiro is definitely hitting lights out with perhaps the sweetest swing in the big leagues, aside from old Mississippi State teammate Will Clark of the San Francisco Giants.
Palmeiro led the major leagues with 191 hits last year and is on pace for 250 this season as his quick bat spews out line drives to all fields.
"When he's hot, he just gives pitchers fits because they don't know how to pitch to him," Texas hitting instructor Tom Robson said. "He's not a dead-guess hitter. He'll hit an inside pitch whether it's a fastball or a slider. He'll take an outside pitch to the opposite field."
Palmeiro went 40-for-85 after the All-Star break to raise his average from .319 to a league-leading .351 before 1-for-5 and 0-for-4 games on Sunday and Monday lowered him to .345.
He was back in gear Tuesday night, with four hits in five at-bats as Texas beat Cleveland 10-8, to raise

Rangers' Arnsberg on DL

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - Righthander Brad Arnsberg has been placed on the 15-day disabled list because of inflammation in his right elbow, the Texas Rangers announced Tuesday.
The move is retroactive to Aug. 2, so he will be eligible to return Aug. 17, the club said.
Arnsberg has appeared in three games since coming off the DL July 28. He reinjured the elbow Aug. 1 in Chicago.
Arnsberg underwent arthroscopic surgery May 8 and is 0-1 with an 8.38 ERA in nine games this season.
The Rangers recalled righthander Gerald Alexander from Oklahoma City to replace Arnsberg on the roster. Alexander spent most of the year with Texas before being optioned July 28 to the 89ers.
Alexander made one start with Oklahoma, losing Aug. 1 at Buffalo. He's 4-1 this season with a 3.77 ERA in 24 games, including eight starts.
In 55 games with Miami last season, Davis, 24, averaged 18.1 minutes with 5.5 points and 4.8 rebounds.

Mavs sign forward Davis

DALLAS (AP) - Unrestricted free agent Terry Davis, who played the past two seasons for the Miami Heat, has signed a two-year contract with the Dallas Mavericks, team officials said.
Davis, a 6-10, 236-pound forward, played for the Mavericks in the Southern California Summer Pro Basketball League, averaging 15.5 points and 9.5 rebounds in six games.
In 55 games with Miami last season, Davis, 24, averaged 18.1 minutes with 5.5 points and 4.8 rebounds.

UTEP responds to NCAA

EL PASO, Texas (AP) - Texas-El Paso admits boosters gave players rides, athletes made long-distance calls on school phones and coaches made some illegal recruiting visits in a response to an NCAA investigation of the basketball program.
Those admissions and several others were made in UTEP's 61-page response to 13 rules violations alleged by the NCAA, which was released Tuesday to reporters.
Although the university agreed it broke some rules, it also said it did not find widespread wrongdoing in the Miners program coached by Don Haskins.
"We do have some allegations we have admitted to and are trying to take corrective procedures on. We're not totally innocent," UTEP athletic director Brad Hovious said.
"The hearing itself will be to go over each charge, give the circumstances in which the rule was broken due to lack of knowledge, not due to any plan of breaking rules, or something like that."
The university has a hearing tentatively scheduled Sept. 27 before the NCAA's Committee on Infractions. A preliminary meeting with NCAA staff is scheduled for early September to go over the response.
The NCAA spent more than a year investigating UTEP's basketball program after reports surfaced that boosters provided players with luxury cars during 1987-88 and that some athletes received favors from fans.
The NCAA found 13 rules violations and, as a result, UTEP conducted its own internal investigation. The school's investigation led to the firing of assistant coaches Rus Bradburd and Greg Lackey. Both have been told their contracts will not be renewed when they expire at the end of the month.

Hovious said the university is reluctant to say how many violations it is admitting because many of the allegations are multifaceted. In the report, the university often agrees with only portions of the allegations.
For example, UTEP admitted players made $1,136 in long-distance calls on athletic department phones.
But the school said it could not confirm that 30-year UTEP coach Don Haskins, Bradburd and Lackey and former assistant coach Nate Archibald knew the athletes were placing long distance calls.
One of the more serious allegations was that Bradburd lied to the NCAA. In its report, the university said it didn't know whether Bradburd lied but questioned his inability to recall whether he did certain things.
"That's something I think Rus has to answer for himself," said Richard Adauto III, a university lawyer who conducted the school's investigation.
Adauto said the NCAA has requested Bradburd and Lackey attend the NCAA hearing.
UTEP president Diana Natalicio has ordered Haskins to improve the basketball program's attention to academics and compliance with NCAA rules, the report says.
Haskins, who said the investigation hasn't made him think about retiring, said he has told the president that the coaching staff is doing its best.

UN warned from hostage negotiations

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - Grenades exploded outside a U.N. office in Beirut today and a previously unknown group said it staged the attack to underline its insistence that Western hostages be swapped for Arab detainees held by Israel.

The attack came a day after the pro-Iranian Shiite Muslim kidnappers of two American hostages said they would send a "special envoy" to the U.N. secretary-general in 48 hours in a bid to end the hostage crisis.

Police said three rocket-propelled grenades exploded in the air near the offices of the U.N. Development Program in Beirut's Shiite Muslim district of Bir Hassan shortly after midnight. No casualties or damage were reported.

An anonymous caller to a Western news agency claimed responsibility on behalf of the "Organization for the Defense of the Prisoners' Rights."

"We totally reject the expected deal for the release of an American and a British hostage at a time our brethren remain in prisons in Israel and the West," the caller said in Arabic.

Hundreds of Arabs have been detained by Israel, including more than 300 mostly Shiite Muslims held by an Israeli-sponsored militia in southern Lebanon.

Israel says it would exchange the detainees for seven Israeli servicemen missing in Lebanon since its 1982 invasion of Lebanon.

The caller said the U.N. secretary-general should not get involved in the hostage issue.

In its statement Tuesday, the Islamic Jihad did not identify the envoy it said would be carrying an "extremely important message" to Perez de Cuellar. It did not elaborate or identify the envoy.

The Islamic Jihad abducted Americans Terry Anderson and Thomas Sutherland in 1985. Its announcement was accompanied by a photograph of Anderson.

Perez de Cuellar said in New York on Tuesday that he had not been contacted by Islamic Jihad, but was willing to meet any emissary.

Thirteen Westerners, including six Americans, are missing in Lebanon and believed held captive.

The longest held is Anderson. His sister, Peggy Say, said the State Department notified families of American captives on Monday of a possible hostage release. In addition, the Tehran Times reported Tuesday that an American and a British hostage might be freed by the end of the week.

Mrs. Say said the United States had reports through diplomatic channels of a forthcoming release of an American and a Briton.

"I think a report like this one is the cruelest treatment of the hostages' families," she said from her home in Cadiz, Ky. "It is part hope, part joy for whatever family is going to get their loved one back, but incredible agony for each family to wait and wonder."

Kit Sutherland, Sutherland's daughter, said in Fort Collins, Colo., that she was heartened by the Islamic Jihad statement.

However, she said: "We've seen all this before."

President Bush refused to raise any hopes. "All this public attention to it, which comes in cycles - I do not want to make any statement of any kind that would contribute to the concern of the families involved," he said. "So we'll leave it there. If something happens, so much the better."

Anderson, 43, chief Middle East correspondent for The Associated Press, was abducted on March 16, 1985, Sutherland, 60, of Fort Collins, Colo., dean of agriculture at the American University of Beirut, was kidnapped June 9, 1985.

In addition to the six Americans missing in Lebanon, four Britons, two West Germans and an Italian are believed to be held captive, most by Shiite militants linked to Hezbollah, or Party of God, which is backed by Iran.

Icelanders read more books per capita than any other people in the world.

Iraq admits testing biological weapons

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) - Iraq has admitted that it experimented with anthrax, one of the most deadly known poisons, as part of a biological weapons research program, a U.N. inspector says.

David Kelly, leader of a 28-member biological warfare inspection team, said Tuesday that the Iraqis also had conducted research with botulin toxin.

investigated so far was "not inconsistent with that capability."

Under the terms of the U.N. cease-fire resolution that ended the Persian Gulf War, Iraq must fully disclose its capability to produce nuclear, chemical and biological weapons. If they exist, they must be destroyed, along with Iraq's ballistic missiles.

Baghdad newspapers quoted an unidentified Foreign Ministry spokesman as saying Iraqi authorities presented the U.N. biological inspection team with "all information and fully cooperated with the team to facilitate its mission."

Cooperation is an issue because Iraq was less than candid with the first nuclear inspection teams. It was learned through piecemeal disclosures that the country had a program to enrich uranium and had produced a small amount of plutonium.

President Bush and other Western leaders reacted angrily. Bush threatened to attack Iraq again if it did not disclose all its nuclear secrets.

The fourth U.N. nuclear inspection team is in the midst of a two-week visit.

Texas folklife display

The Hereford Fiestas Patrias Committee and Lupe Castillo are sponsoring a Texas Folklife display that is funded in part by the Texas Commission on the Arts at the Deaf Smith County Library. The exhibit documents the traditional home and community devotional arts practiced by Catholic Texas Mexicans. The exhibit highlights the domains of devotion (the home altar and the capilla or yard shrine) that are associated with personal prayer. Composed variously of saints' altars and shrines each are individually distinct, yet mark a tradition which is widespread and generations old within the Mexican American community in Texas.

Maine is the only state in the United States whose name has one syllable.

Home reference materials help improve literacy

Home reference materials, such as encyclopedias, dictionaries and resource libraries, can help children and young adults become culturally literate in today's information-based society.

"A child who has an encyclopedia, a dictionary and plenty of reading materials around the home seems to do better in school than one who doesn't have these resources," says nationally known reading expert, author and consultant Dr. Alvin Granowsky, World Book-Childcraft vice president of school and library services. "Reading only in school and not being able to look up interesting facts about what you've read is like studying music in school but never practicing at home in the evening. You don't learn."

To help people select the appropriate books for their home libraries, World Book, Incorporated, one of the world's leading publishers of educational reference materials, has put together these guidelines for selecting an encyclopedia and related reference books:

Do you have children who need help with homework and preparing reports? Or do you and your family just want to satisfy your curiosity on diverse subjects? Or both? Your encyclopedia should satisfy the needs of every family member—and spark their interest to learn more.

Is the encyclopedia appropriate to age(s) of the user(s)? Is the encyclopedia written on a level that the user will understand now and that will still be useful in five to 10 years? If not chances are your children won't use the books now, and your family will outgrow them.

Consider a school-readiness program for young children: a children's resource library as youngsters approach and enter school; and a comprehensive, easy-to-use encyclopedia that will help parents answer children's many questions and fulfill children's reference needs as they continue through school.

An ideal encyclopedia should feature extensive cross-references at the end of articles to direct the user to related articles. The index also should be clear and comprehensive. Superior sets offer study questions and subject outlines to help students learn the most from each article.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I'm sure it has been 20 years since my daughter has had red meat. I have read that there are eight essential amino acids found in red meat. Over the last 10 years she seems to have an aversion to anything not bought in a health food store, a habit she can ill afford. Soon she may go into the change and I wonder what remedies the health food faddists will sell her on. She seems to live on food supplements and vitamins.

Some years ago she had a bout with bulimia until she realized what it was doing to her teeth, but she is still very concerned with her weight though she is very thin. Could you make some suggestions for a proper diet for her?

DEAR READER: She is apt to do what she wants to, but the diet you describe is not good. You cannot replace a healthy diet with vitamins and food supplements. Lean red meats are fine and they are rich in heme iron, which is one of the best sources of iron. They do contain all the essential amino acids that your body needs. But you can also get these from poultry and fish, although they are not quite as high in heme iron. She should have at least two servings from the meat group each day which can be fish or poultry. Incidentally not all fish and poultry is low in fat. In the poultry group she could use skinned chicken breasts, which are very low in fat, and are as good a source of complete protein as she can get from expensive protein supplements.

I must admit to being distressed with the food industry for selling breasts which include the ribs and back area which are not low in fat. The white meat is the low fat part of poultry and dark meat has about twice as much fat.

She should also be consuming sufficient milk or dairy products or she may come up short on calcium which will make her more likely to dental and skeletal problems later.

Ask her to read Special Report 90, Balance Your Diet for Health for some guidance about her dietary needs. Others who want this report can send $3 with a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/90, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077. Try to encourage her to get her vitamins from a variety of fresh fruits, vegetables and cereals.

DEAR DR. LAMB: Why would a 65-year-old male who has never had any kind of allergy suddenly become allergic to milk? After using milk or milk products, I get little white pimples between my nose and upper lip. It is painful to shave and very unsightly. It takes about three days to clear the situation.

Even products containing hydrolyzed protein, such as some brands of tuna cause the reaction. I learned the manufacturers had used casein as the base for their hydrolyzed protein.

I believe milk and milk products are almost essential to good health. DEAR READER: It is not unusual to develop allergies to substances as you get older despite not having had any allergies before. If your reaction really is an allergy, the best course is to avoid all milk and milk products. You may be able to use a milk substitute, provided it does not contain the same protein in it that causes your milk allergy. You might try some of the soybean milk and cream substitutes or certain products used for babies who are allergic to milk. Otherwise, you need to take calcium supplements and you can get complete protein from the meat, fish and poultry foods. A milk allergy is to the protein in milk and that is different from lactose intolerance caused by a lack of lactase enzyme that causes many people to be intolerant to milk.

DEAR DR. LAMB: My son is 51 years old and has had diabetes since he was 32. He takes two insulin injections a day. I believe he is an alcoholic. One never sees him when he appears to be under the influence of alcohol. However, he has several drinks of vodka in the evening, and when he and his lady friend go out, he has more drinks.

Many times in the early morning hours, about 4 a.m., he will have a bad insulin reaction. He always says that his doctor says, "whatever you are doing, keep it up, because you are the healthiest diabetic I have." This gives him an excuse to keep drinking. Other than drinking, he takes care of himself beautifully. Your comments would be appreciated.

DEAR READER: Diabetes and alcohol are bad companions. I am not surprised that he has had severe insulin reactions. The metabolism of alcohol uses up an enzyme in the liver essential for the conversion of amino acids from proteins into glucose. Many diabetics depend on the conversion of amino acids to glucose to keep their glucose level up. Without that action, the usual dose of insulin may cause an attack of hypoglycemia, which is what an insulin reaction is.

Also, drinking large amounts of alcohol may affect the liver and metabolism in other ways, causing an excess of incompletely metabolized fatty acids called ketones. Their accumulation can lead to diabetic acidosis, which is also dangerous.

Have your son read Special Report 89, Diabetes: The Sweet Sickness, which I'm sending you. Others who want this report can send $3 with a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/89, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077.

Long ago, I learned not to always accept what I've been told a doctor told his patient. There may have been a misinterpretation. I wonder if your son's doctor really knows he drinks that much alcohol. I would guess not.

Also, I would recommend that your son get some help for his alcohol habit. He can consult the yellow pages for names of organizations that can and will help. He needs to know that diabetics often become impotent and that alcoholics also often become impotent. The combination could seriously affect his social life.

Professional city women look at life on the farm

By ROBERT LEE ZIMMER
Associated Press Writer
CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Professional women are leaving their banks, law offices and medical clinics this summer to walk through corn fields and cattle barns.

Later, the farm women who are their hosts are going to town to spend a day on the job with these bankers, lawyers, doctors and other professionals.

The Illinois Farm Bureau exchange is designed to remedy one of the ironies of the Midwest: farms and cities are separated by only a few miles, but often they are worlds apart.

"This is a person-to-person opportunity to share details of their jobs, their lifestyles and their concerns," said Ellen Culver, director of family activities at the Bloomington-based Farm Bureau.

"We want the (city) women to learn about modern agriculture, and we want the farm women to see what the professional women in town are involved in," Culver said.

It is the first year for the adopt-a-professional program. About 30 farm women across the state have invited professional women from nearby cities to come to the country and see how food is produced.

Jan Wassmann of Waterman showed newspaper publisher Kathy Siebrasse and radio station manager Dianne Leifheit, both from nearby DeKalb, her family's 1,100-acre cattle and grain farm.

"My main goal was to let them see how involved many women are in the farming operation - marketing grain, planting and harvesting," said Wassmann. "We also wanted them to know that farming is a big business involving large sums of money and a lot of risk along with the rewards."

She invited two neighbors to describe how they sell grain and how they help their husbands drive the tractors and haul commodities to market.

"The most interesting thing to me was how you get rid of these products, whether they are beef, pork or grain," Leifheit said. "The marketing is so sophisticated and the timing of sales is critical."

Some of the farm women also wanted to clear up some misconceptions about agriculture.

"We are really concerned about pesticides and are cutting back, using as little as we can," said Dee Stierwalt of Sadorus in Champaign County.

Stierwalt, whose family farms 2,300 acres and raises cattle, gave Parkland College President Zelema Harris a look at her garden and served fresh vegetables and beef produced on the farm.

Harris drove a tractor to a nearby field and Bob Stierwalt pulled off an ear of corn and showed her how pollination takes place.

Attorney Sharon Costa of Mount Vernon was looking forward to her visit to a farm near Centralia.

"I don't know much - I recognize corn but I'm a little shaky on beans," Costa said. "I think it's a good idea to find out what the other guy is doing - you create sympathy and understanding."

She said she hoped to take her farm host, Mary Jane Corners, with her to court during the city visit to show her how the legal process works.

Dr. Shehnaz Ansari, who specializes in family practice and psychology in Pittsfield, said she hoped to learn more about farming since many of her patients have farm backgrounds. She also recently bought some farmland.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Doris Day is suing The Globe for $25 million over a story that said the actress has turned into a disheveled semi-recluse who forages in trash cans for food for her dogs.

"People need to know that tabloids like The Globe are really cheating and deceiving the public," the actress said Tuesday. "Many people, unfortunately, believe the lies these people print."

The supermarket tabloid ran a cover story July 23 headlined: "Doris Day, 67, Lives Like a Bag Lady."

It described Day, who lives in Carmel, as becoming "an eccentric, semi-recluse who some nights wanders the streets looking like a bag lady."

Special recipes from the "Texas Reporter Cookbook"

These recipes were taken from the Texas Country Reporter Cookbook available at the Hereford Brand.

WESTERN-STYLE SPAGHETTI

- 1 cup chopped onion
- 1 1/2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 bell pepper, chopped
- 4 tablespoons oil or drippings
- 1 1/2 pounds ground meat
- 1 1/2 cans tomato sauce
- 2 cups water
- 3 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 10-ounce package spaghetti cooked
- 2 cups grated sharp cheddar cheese

Lightly brown onion, garlic and bell pepper in hot oil. Add meat, stirring until it is no longer pink. Add tomato sauce, water and seasonings. Simmer 40 minutes. Place cooked spaghetti in casserole dish, cover with meat mixture, then top with cheese. Bake at 350 degrees until cheese melts.

MEXICAN MEAT WITH CORNBREAD TOPPING

- 1 pound ground beef
- 1 tablespoon cooking oil
- 2 cups cooked rice
- 1 16-ounce can tomatoes, undrained
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon chili powder
- 4 tablespoons grated onion
- 1 cup cornbread mix

Cook meat in oil until browned. Add rice, tomatoes, salt, pepper, chili powder and onion. Mix well, breaking tomatoes and meat into small pieces. Cook until thoroughly heated and liquid is absorbed. Prepare cornbread mix according to directions on package and pour batter over meat mixture. Bake at 425 degrees for 25 minutes or until cornbread is done. Add a small amount of water to meat mixture before baking if necessary. Serves six.

TEXAS RED BEANS AND RICE

- 2 pounds red kidney beans
- 8 smoked ham hocks
- 1 4 1/2 ounce bottle smoke sauce
- 3 tablespoons chili powder
- 1 tablespoon pepper
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 4 tablespoons onion flakes
- 1 to 2 tablespoons ground cumin dash of cayenne powder
- 2 cups uncooked rice
- 4 cups water

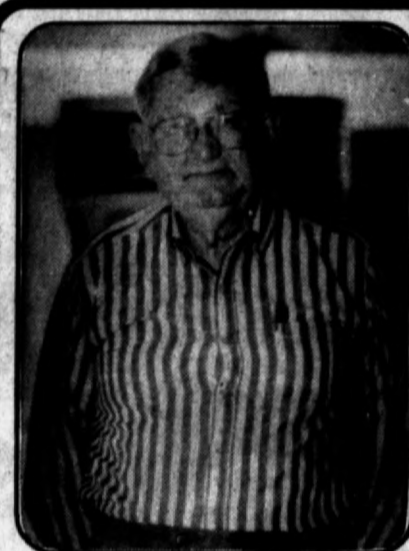

Soak beans overnight. Cook beans with ham hocks and spices for at least 6 hours over medium heat or until meat falls away from the bone. Remove bones and hamskin. Add a little water to thin beans if necessary. Cook rice about 45 minutes or until done. Mix with beans and serve.

Let us show you a Texas you've never seen before.

- All 172 pages in full color
- Each page measures a large 15 x 11 inches
- Presents the entire state in stunning detail
- Appendices and specialty maps of many different features

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.

This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 284,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.

What they're saying about "The Roads of Texas"

"When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS... you'll wonder how you ever travelled the state without it."
Texas Highways Magazine
