Snow, ice blanket cripples Panhandle

Classes for local students were cancelled again today as the severe winter of 1983 kept its icy grip on the Hereford area. Students are enjoying an extended vacation due to the snowfall which had covered the area and chilly gusts of wind which have made driving hazardous at best as the snow has drifted across thoroughfares. City police closed off 15th street to the west of its intersection with Hwy 385 Tuesday.

Hereford Independent School District Assistant Superintendent Larry Wartes said that this winter "has been the worst one since I've been here." Wartes, who has lived in Hereford for some 15 years, said that the three days already missed by students this year is the most in quite a while. "I would say that Hereford students have only missed a handful of days in the past 10 years," Wartes said. "And, three of those days have come this year."

According to KPAN radio, the area's official weather station, Hereford received a total of six inches of snow Monday and Tuesday, with an accumulation of precipitation of .67 of an inch. The station did not have the January snowfall totals figured yet.

Wartes said that the State Commissioner of Education will make the final decision as to whether the local school system will have to make up the missed days at the end of the school year. "The commissioner will let us know, but I'd suspect that he won't make a hasty decision because it looks like we might miss even more days farther down the line," Wartes said. "The law says we have to be in school so many days a year, but maybe we'll get a disaster declaration and get some clemency."

Gunfire crackles again

Strike violence spreads

Violence spread today in a strike by independent truckers that has left one Teamsters Union driver dead, 27 people injured, and more than 260 trucks damaged by bullets, rocks and firebombs. As the shutdown called by the Independent Truckers Association entered its third day, gunfire crackled again in several areas, with four truckers wounded by snipers during the night in Ohio and one driver beaten in Connecticut. Marvin Hickman, the leader of Ohio's striking owner-operators, blamed the violence on "sickos" and "perverts." At least 124 trucks have been hit by gunfire and 143 have been damaged by rocks, bricks or other objects in at least 29 states. The vandalism has been the heaviest in Pennsylvania, Michigan and Ohio.

Police in Pennsylvania say there have been more than 147 strike-related incidents, with 36 trucks hit by gunfire, 87 damaged by rocks and two cases of arson. A 14-year-old girl who suffered a fractured skull when a brick bounced off a truck into the family car was one of eight people injured in the Pennsylvania violence. In Michigan, 13 trucks have been damaged in about 40 incidents of vandalism sabotage and arson. Police said the violence has been the worst along a stretch of Interstate 75 between Toledo and Detroit.

At least 35 trucks have been damaged by rocks and bricks in Ohio. A group of about 300 truckers jammed a union hall in Fremont, Ohio, today with many claiming the violence was not the work of strikers. "If it's drivers, it's less than 10 percent of them," said Luther Whitaker, 43, of Oak Harbor. "What happens is, people get drunk up or smoked up and it makes them feel like a big man to shoot at somebody." In Connecticut, police in Southington said a trucker who had pulled onto a shoulder of Interstate 84 to rest was treated at a hospital after he was beaten by two men early today.

Chamber banquet moved to March 3

The annual Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Banquet has made it through some wintry nights in the past, but C of C officials decided Tuesday afternoon not to take any chances with this week's weather. The annual banquet has been postponed until March 3. The event was scheduled Thursday night at the Bull Barn, but because of question marks in connection with the guest speaker and other out-of-town guests, the catering service, and the attendance, the date was changed. President Bob Sims announced Tuesday afternoon that the executive committee of the board had discussed the situation and made the decision to move the date to March 3.

Bert V. Massey of Brownwood, an attorney and land title company officer, will still be the principal speaker. The past president of the Texas Land Title Association, Massey is well known throughout the state as an after-dinner speaker. Highlights of the traditional event will also include the presentation of the "Citizen of the Year," and the recognition of new officers and directors. Tickets for the banquet, priced at $10 each, are on sale at the chamber office and are also available from members of the Hustler organization and from chamber officers.

Dr. Robert Berry, Extension plant pathologist, will begin the programs with information on sugar beet rot. Dr. James Leser, entomologist, will discuss insect identification and control at 9:45 a.m. Irrigation and management will be the topic of Leon New, Extension engineer, at 10:45 a.m.

At 11:15, Larry Hedrick and Berkely Shofner of Mobay Chemical Co. will tell about research on Furadan and Bayleton. Steve Winter of the USDA research center in Bushland will conclude the morning session with a presentation on sugar beet general research. Markwart will speak after a catered barbecue lunch.

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says your hometown is the place where people wonder how you got as far as you have.

"Good grief," said the 98-pound worker, "that big foreman makes me so mad that I feel like punching him again!" "Again?" asked the unbelieving co-worker. "Yeah," said the little guy, "I felt like it yesterday, too."

It's one of the worst winters on record, according to old timers, and two wintry blasts in the past 10 days have played havoc with the social and business calendar. Two of the community's largest banquets - the Sugar Beet Banquet and the C of C Banquet - were postponed because of the weather. The weather also closed school, caused many club and organizational meetings to be changed, and brought business activity to a standstill. Although there was not as much snowfall this time as the previous weekend, the high wind probably made traffic conditions even worse. The Brand's Tuesday edition was not delivered by city carriers because of the adverse weather, and those on the city routes were scheduled to receive two papers today.

Charles Hoover, manager of Southwest Feed Yard, reported he had kept track of the snowfall in January and there was just seven days when snow was not on the ground. Several old timers claim it's the worst winter since 1918! Panhandle ranchers and feed yard operators could be the people most affected by the adverse weather. The big danger to cattle is the stress the cold weather puts on them. The worst problem for ranchers is feeding cattle, or rescuing them from the snow. Feedyard pens had not dried out from the last snow, then rain preceded the snowfall in this current storm. The rain got the cattle wet, then the snow and sub-freezing temperatures compounded the problems. To make matters worse, another storm is predicted for Friday or Saturday!

The growers' annual banquet will be Feb. 19 at 7 p.m. in the Bull Barn. Extension agent Juston McBride will moderate the morning Sugar Beet Conference and Bill Cleavinger will take over at 1 p.m. for an update on the beet industry by American Sugar Beet Growers executive vice president Luther Markwart. The annual membership meeting of the Texas-New Mexico growers will begin at 2 p.m. Registration is at 9 a.m.

Winter Wonderland

Another wintry blast of snow covered the Hereford area and the Texas Panhandle Monday and Tuesday, leaving six inches of snow here and more to the north. Accompanied by a strong wind, the storm paralyzed many activities in the area but left some beautiful winter scenes like the one pictured. KPAN Radio reported .67 of an inch of moisture from the snowfall. Weather forecasts called for more snow Friday or Saturday.

Totaled Out

The driver of a Datsun totaled in a collision just west of Hereford about 3:30 p.m. Tuesday refused treatment and rode from the scene in a private vehicle, according to rescue team reports.

Details of the accident, which involved a pickup, were unavailable from the local Department of Public Safety which worked the accident.

Beet meeting, banquet re-set

The Texas-New Mexico Sugar Beet Growers annual meeting, postponed from last month due to snow, will be held in conjunction with the Texas Agriculture Extension Service's Sugar Beet Conference next Tuesday at the Hereford Community Center. The growers' annual banquet will be Feb. 19 at 7 p.m. in the Bull Barn. Extension agent Juston McBride will moderate the morning Sugar Beet Conference and Bill Cleavinger will take over at 1 p.m. for an update on the beet industry by American Sugar Beet Growers executive vice president Luther Markwart. Marketbasket survey shows steady prices

Supermarket prices have remained relatively stable for much of the past year. The U.S. Department of Agriculture says food prices alone rose by 4 percent in 1982 and are expected to increase by between 3 percent and 6 percent in 1983. Most of the increases in food prices have been due to higher marketing costs - things like transportation, labor, packaging, etc. - rather than to higher prices for farm commodities, the USDA says, and the pattern is expected to continue in the coming year. Only one item - eggs - changed price during January in a majority of the cities surveyed by the AP. The price of a dozen eggs (See BASKET, Page 2A)

Solons working on jobs bill

WASHINGTON (AP) - Over the objections of President Reagan, Republican and Democratic congressional leaders are working on public works jobs programs to lower the nation's 10.8 percent unemployment rate. "With 14 million people out of work - the highest number in history - it is time for a combined program of relief, recovery and reconstruction," House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., said Tuesday. Similar efforts were underway in the Republican-controlled Senate, where Majority Leader Howard Baker said he is examining "opportunities and options" for an emergency jobs bill likely to be one of the first items on the agenda of the 98th Congress. The president's $848.5 billion budget for fiscal 1984 submitted Monday includes proposals for some jobs, mainly funds for training and extending unemployment benefits. But it contains almost no direct federal money for hiring the jobless. The president's three chief economic advisers said Tuesday that the only way to significantly reduce unemployment is to encourage an end to the recession by reducing the federal deficit. "By far, the best thing we can do is to have a healthy recovery," said Martin Feldstein, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers in testimony before the House Appropriations Committee. David Stockman, director of the Office of Management and Budget, said Reagan's (See JOBS, Page 2A)

Ann Landers

Courtesy not appreciated

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please tell me why "today's woman" becomes angry and upset when a man attempts to be courteous.

I have always considered myself a well-mannered guy — wouldn't want to be anything else. I think women are terrific, beautiful, wonderful and equal to men in every way. But I've been put in my place so many times when I've tried to be polite that I have just about given up.

Example: A secretary in our office dropped some papers. When I started to pick them up, she shouted, "I can do that! Don't make me out to be so helpless."

I held the door open for a woman I didn't know (in a department store). She gave me an icy stare and said, "Do I look too weak to open a door for myself?"

I offered my seat on a bus to a young lady who looked pregnant. (Maybe she was just plump.) Her response was, "I'd rather stand."

Is this new breed of female trying to tell us we are insulting them by being courteous? What are your thoughts on the subject? — Ultimately Sincere In Y.Y.

DEAR ULT: Keep on doing the things that seem right to you. Ignore the bimbos who don't appreciate small courtesies. To put it bluntly, don't let the tough cookies make a clod out of you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am boiling over the statement that the Air Force spends $12.6 million per year for private pet service by veterinarians. What nonsense!

Having put in 23 years in the armed forces I happen to know that every base with a mess hall, in all branches of the Department of Defense, requires that all meat be inspected by veterinarians at the supply points. The meat is then distributed to the various units of the military.

This is where the taxpayers' dollars go, and I'm sure you will agree it is a legitimate expenditure.

All services performed on privately owned animals must be paid for by the owners. Please set the record straight. — Respectfully, M-Sgt. Donald J. Leibforth (USAF, Ret.), Clover, S.C.

DEAR M-S: I received several letters from members of the armed services, including one from Brig. Gen. Richard F. Abel, director of public affairs, U.S. Air Force, saying the same thing. (P.S. I'm glad you're in Clover.)

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I went with Hank for three years. Swell guy. He decided he needed to devote full time to his book, so he quit his job and moved in with me. His savings ran out quite some time ago and I have been his sole support.

My mother tells me I am a fool, that a 35-year-old man with self-respect wouldn't let himself be "kept." I love him and want to get married but he says he isn't ready for a full commitment. Please give me some advice. (P.S. Don't tell me to throw him out. I can't do it.) — J.N. In Conn.

DEAR CONN: OK. Don't throw him out. Let him continue to live with you until he finishes the Great American Novel. Pay his bills and see to it that he has all the privileges and comforts of a husband. When he is ready for a "full commitment," it will probably be to somebody else.

These are the requirements in the proper placement of trees to be used in landscaping.

The speaker also said that planting trees can cut winter heating costs and summer cooling costs by as much as 30 percent.

Members placed orders for black walnut trees, a project of the National Arbor Day Foundation.

During the next meeting scheduled Feb. 4 in the home of Mrs. White, 535 Willow Lane, Mrs. Wayne Porter, life judge, will present a program on the study of the oriental floral designs.

Texas Commission approves awards

AUSTIN -- Hugo V. Neuhaus, Jr., chairman, Texas Commission on the Arts, announced today that TCA has approved $929,874 in awards for fall financial assistance, 1982-83 Touring Arts program, and 1982-83 Artists-in-Education residencies.

A total of $474,210 was approved for fall financial assistance awards to Texas arts organizations for 1982-83 arts projects. Funds were distributed among 31 Texas cities.

Funding requests for the September 1 deadline were more than three times the amount of money the Commission had available to award and nearly a million dollars in requests could not be funded. Because of the keen competition for funds, most grants are made at 25-75 percent of the amount requested.

In a continuing attempt to increase TCA funding to ethnic minorities, the commission chose to fund all minority applications at the full amount recommended by the respective review panel. (An exception was made for two grants which were eligible for funds through the Arts Council of San Antonio.) A total of $108,493 was awarded to minority arts organizations, which represents 23 percent of the total fall financial assistance awards.

In addition to fall financial assistance awards, TCA makes awards of up to 50 percent of the company or artist fee to nonprofit organizations who present events on TCA's Touring Arts program. For the 1982-83 touring season, a total of $360,439 was awarded to presentors of over 100 events in 57 Texas cities.

Artists-in-Education residencies, funded through a program established by the National Endowment for the Arts, will receive $95,225 for the 1982-83 school year. TCA is underwriting 34 artist residencies in 23 Texas cities.

Artists from varied disciplines will work directly with students and teachers to develop basic skills of self-expression through the arts. Sponsors of a TCA assisted AID residency can be school districts, Education Service Centers, nonprofit organizations, government entities, museums and arts councils.

Defense attorney claims Smalley duped

DALLAS (AP) — A defense attorney for British arms dealer Ian Smalley contends his client was duped into believing he was participating in a White House plot to secretly ship arms to Iran during the hostage crisis.

Smalley was indicted last fall on charges he conspired to ship tanks from the United States to Iran and anti-tank missiles to Iraq while the two countries were at war. The indictment also contends Smalley acted as an unregistered foreign agent.

Defense attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes of Houston said in opening arguments Tuesday that two other arms dealers convinced Smalley the U.S. wanted to secretly ship the arms.

Haynes said the U.S. wanted Iran to have arms to counter a threat for its northern neighbor, the Soviet Union.

He said two other international arms dealers who served as informants against Smalley — Gary Howard and Ronald Tucker — actually set him up for a trap. "He (Smalley) believed Tucker and Howard were covert agents of the United States," Haynes told the federal court jury.

The government is seeking to prove Smalley offered to provide fraudulent paperwork that would have allowed the shipment of 100 M-48 tanks to Iran and 8,300 anti-tank missiles called to Iraq in 1981 and 1982.

Court records show most of the government's case against Smalley is built around 80 to 85 hours of tape recordings made during a 15-month investigation by U.S. Customs agents.

The government claims Smalley told the informants he could produce phony documents showing the weapons were being purchased by friendly foreign governments and that those governments promised not to transfer the weapons to any other country without the permission of the U.S. State Department.

U.S. Attorney James A. Rolfe said the phony documents showed the tanks were headed for the United Arab Emirates and the missiles were to go to Jordan. Once they left the United States, Rolfe said, the weapons were to have been diverted to their actual destinations.

Smalley has readily admitted international arms sales have helped make him a multimillionaire. But the wealthy Briton denies he has taken his business beyond the law.

The 42-year-old Smalley describes his arms business as "amoral and apolitical."

"I know there are already too many clichés in this, but really, if I didn't do it, somebody else would," he told the Dallas Times Herald before the trial.

"I drill a little oil, raise a little beef — I'm just a good ol' boy. I'm really not a Bluebeard," he said.

The arms sales and Smalley's other business dealings have made him rich enough to live anywhere he wants to, and Smalley maintains a number of foreign residences. He prefers the role of rich Texas cattleman, however, and spends much of his time on a 2,000-acre ranch southwest of here.

He owns two ties and no suits and explains: "When people do business with me, they do it my way or not at all."

For four months, however, Smalley has done business the way of the criminal justice system, which required him to check in regularly with authorities at the Dallas federal courthouse and to remain in Dallas until his trial.

Under those provisions, he was released on $100,000 bond, with his $1.5 million ranch as security, after he was indicted last fall.

If convicted, Smalley could be sentenced to a maximum 70 years in prison and fines totaling $61,000.

Rolfe accused Smalley of violating the U.S. Neutrality Act. He claimed Smalley conspired with two other men to sell the military equipment to warring Iran and Iraq, used phony export certificates and failed to register as an agent of a foreign country.

Investigators had been watching Smalley since early 1981, when state and local officials began probing his business dealings.

The indictments and affidavits contend Smalley suggested bribing one government official to ensure the operation's success, explained to an undercover officer how to bribe civil servants and military personnel, told a government informant to pay a Texas Department of Public Safety officer $100,000 to "keep his people in line" and described how he used a pseudonym to gain access to the U.S. Army installation at Anniston, Ala., where the tanks were stored.

Smalley also has been charged in Britain with illegally selling 60 tank engines to Iran.

Smalley, born in Leicester, England, began his business career in his father's plastics manufacturing company. But he broke away to buy and sell his own business ventures.

Prosecutors concede Smalley's charming style and British accent probably will go in his favor during the trial, which is expected to last five weeks.

A jury of eight men and four women was selected Monday to hear the case.

U.S. District Judge Robert M. Hill denied numerous pretrial motions from the defense team, but did agree to invalidate a government warrant that agents used to search Smalley's hotel room in Dallas last September.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Political smiles and handshakes were out front last week when two presidential hopefuls visited Texas looking for support.

Behind the scenes, Texas legislators went quietly about the business of getting through the winding battle over gubernatorial appointments.

Former Vice President Walter Mondale flew Thursday to San Antonio, meeting with South Texas business and political Democrats and picking up presidential endorsements, including that of the city's Mayor Henry Cisneros. One source who attended closed meetings reported Mondale had "locked up" the city's support. Others mentioned Cisneros as a vice presidential possibility.

Meanwhile, former astronaut Ohio Senator John Glenn paid his second visit to Texas in three weeks, addressing a joint session of the Legislature and showcasing the endorsement of Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby. Hobby's support helps Glenn in Houston, and, insiders say, boosts Texas Sen. Lloyd Bentsen's chances for the vice president slot.

Glenn, who was the first American to orbit the Earth, told legislators "the full blown tragedy" of the U.S. economy was now the fault of Reaganomics.

"Down in Flames"

Texas Gov. Mark White remained neutral in the presidential sweepstakes, and also on the dispute in the Senate whether to confirm or "bust" Texas Supreme Court Justice Jack Pope.

Pope, a Democrat and highly respected jurist, was appointed by former Gov. Bill Clements shortly after Clements' defeat and over the objections of 14 senators. Those senators now want to "bust" Pope and let White pick his replacement, which many of them hope will be former Atty. Gen. John White.

Those senators wouldn't mind confirming Pope if he would publicly commit to retiring before his term ends in two years so that White may pick his successor.

The 69-year-old Pope, who retired once from his Associate Justice seat, refused to make deals. "Win or lose, the independence of the judiciary from politics needs to be re-established," he said. "If I go out, I'm gonna go down in flames," Pope said.

Elected Utilities?

White said he will ask the Legislature to pass a law allowing Texans to elect members to the Public Utility Commission. He apparently will seek at-large elections of commission members who currently are appointed by him.

He also appointed an Austin lawyer, Rafael Quintanilla, as head of the Texas Department of Community Affairs. Quintanilla in 1978 took over Gov. Dolph Briscoe's troubled migrant affairs office, ironing out prior mismanagements and winning respect for his administrative skills.

The Attorney General

New Atty. Gen. Jim Mattox, never one to shy away from controversial issues, announced he will issue an opinion soon on whether three Tarrant County justices of the peace can legally refuse to perform interracial marriages.

Texas law at one time provided criminal penalties for interracial marriages, but a 1966 U.S. Supreme Court ruling struck down all such state laws.

Mattox also said a Feb. 12 special election involving Democrat-turned-Republican Phil Gramm may be illegal because it does not give Democrats enough time to prepare. A lawsuit has been filed to delay the election, and Gov. White has been approached to change the election date set by former Gov. Clements before he left office last three weeks ago.

Any delay is believed to help leading Democrat contender Dan Kubiak and nine other challengers overtake Gramm.

The Senate

The Senate gave preliminary approval to legislation banning "lame duck" appointments, and is expected to send the measure to the House sometime this week.

The Senate also passed bills to force parents to put their small children in car safety seats and to let judges continue to lock up mental patients on an emergency basis.

The car seat bill provides a $50 ticket to parents who don't safety seat their children under age four. The ticket can be dismissed if parents buy a car seat within 10 days of violation.

The House

In the House, Speaker Gib Lewis of Fort Worth said he wants to avoid considering the controversial issue of congressional redistricting because it divides legislators.

But Lewis did support a plan to increase Texas automobile license fees by as much as $500 million a year for highways.

The plan would base the fees on a car's value, rather than its weight. That would mean a new $10,000 car weighing 4,000 pounds would jump fees from $25.50 to $156. a year.

A bizarre accident occurred last week when new Speaker Pro Tem Hugo Berlanga of Fort Worth filled in at the podium for his first time. The gavel head flew off its handle and hit Rep. Anita Hill, R-Garland, in the head.

Ironically, Mrs. Hill had just walked up to the podium to kid with Berlanga about a supposedly male chauvinist comment. As she walked away, the flying gavel caught her about 12 feet away. A stunned Berlanga was later kidded by legislators, especially Republicans who said they have "too few on the floor already."

Senators put limits on appointments

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas senators have sent to the House their solution to the recent bitter controversy over former Gov. Bill Clements making appointments that incoming Gov. Mark White thought he should make.

"No one has ever found any way to take politics out of politics," said Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin, sponsor of the legislation. "I think most of us have agreed to this."

Doggett said his bill, which passed 27-1 Tuesday, would provide that all appointments to state commissions and boards end on Feb. 1, not between Nov. 1 and Jan. 16 as they do now. A governor who lost the November general election would be prohibited from making most appointments after Nov. 1.

Only Sen. John Leedom, R-Dallas, voted against the proposal.

"This bill is like whistling in the wind," Leedom said.

"If we put appointments into the political arena like this, we are going to lose a group of people who would like to serve the state."

An amendment was adopted, by unanimous vote, to expand the bill by prohibiting any governor who got defeated in a party primary, in May or June, from making appointments.

A special provision in the bill said a lame-duck governor could make a temporary appointment if a vacancy occurred in a state or district office between Oct. 1 and Nov. 1 because of the death of an officeholder. The appointment could last only until Feb. 1.

In tenth century Wales, if a husband and wife separated and they owned only one cat, HE got it.

SMU rallies to down Longhorns

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Longhorns thought they might have their second Southwest Conference basketball victory in sight, but it slipped away.

After leading Southern Methodist through most of the first half Tuesday night, Texas fell behind 30-26 at the half. It was still close, 34-30, 3½ minutes into the second half.

Then the bottom fell out. Jon Koncak and Carl Wright ignited a rally that gave the Mustangs 15 of the next 17 points for a 49-32 lead, and SMU eased in for a 73-64 victory.

SMU improved its record to 12-7 for the season and a 4-4 league record, good for fifth place in the Southwest Conference at the halfway mark. Texas fell to 7-13 and 1-7, eighth place.

In the only SWC games scheduled for tonight, eighth-ranked Houston and ninth-ranked Arkansas are expected to keep rolling before hometown crowds.

Houston, 16-2 and 7-0, entertains Baylor, 10-8 and 2-5, while Arkansas hosts Rice, 6-11 and 0-7.

Texas is down to four scholarship players and six walk-ons. The Longhorns lost starter James Booker for the season after hand surgery Monday.

First-year coach Bob Weltlich said Texas' problems Tuesday night against SMU were a combination of its thin ranks and its inability to cash in on fast breaks.

"Unfortunately, we're not going to make some plays because we just don't have the guys who know how to make them. And that's tough," Weltlich said.

"Even with all the turnovers we had against their press, we handled it pretty well up to a point. It still came down to us not converting the times we got a 2-on-1 or 3-on-2 break."

SMU coach Dave Bliss, who fields three freshmen on the floor most of the time, complimented Weltlich's young team.

"I thought Texas played really well considering its limitations. They outlasted us all night long. We played pretty well, and I'm just glad to get out of Austin with a win."

Weltlich and Bliss both were assistant coaches under Indiana's Bobby Knight. They are longtime friends, with each serving as the other's best man.

Koncak started SMU's decisive streak that broke the game open. He hit a three-point play on a lay-up and foul shot and tipped in another two points. Wright scored on a dunk, followed by two free throws.

Two other Mustangs added two points each during the stretch, while UT's Mitch Parrish managed a 20-foot jumper for the Longhorns' only score.

Bill Wendlandt led Texas with 21 points. David Piehler scored 16 for SMU and Koncak finished with 13.

Texas' biggest man, the 6-7 Wendlandt, picked up his third foul and went to the bench with 4:46 left in the first half and Texas leading 22-18. Without Wendlandt, the Longhorns could not handle SMU's full-court press.

The Mustangs grabbed three steals and scored 12 points while holding Texas to four points before intermission.

Whiteface games on hold again

HHS boys basketball coach Bobby Decker has reported that the Hereford boys' and girls' games against Amarillo High have been put on hold once again due to the ice-packed roads between here and Amarillo.

Hereford's teams were to have played the Sandies Tuesday evening, but the severe weather cancelled the opportunity. The teams were to have played this afternoon, but the weather put the dampers on that move as well.

Decker said that the games will be played Thursday, again, weather permitting. He said that the girls' game would probably be moved up to 3 p.m., with the boys' game to follow the fem clash.

Bills elevate Q-back coach

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. (AP) — Kay Stephenson may have won his job as head coach of the Buffalo Bills with a very simple remark.

"I do pass, Mr. Wilson, on first downs," he told Bills owner Ralph Wilson during his job interview.

"That was a big plus with me," Wilson said. "A very big plus."

The announcement that Stephenson would be elevated from quarterback coach to head coach was made at a Tuesday news conference during which Stephenson vowed: "We're going to be sound; we're going to be a solid team."

At 38, Stephenson becomes the youngest head coach in the NFL.

He replaces Chuck Knox, who resigned last week to take the head coaching job with the Seattle Seahawks. Knox brought Stephenson here from the Los Angeles Rams coaching staff in 1978 after Knox left the Rams head coaching job to come to Buffalo.

Wilson said he talked with several candidates for head coach, including Tom Catlin, the Bills' defensive coordinator, and Marv Levy, former head coach of the Kansas City Chiefs.

The owner said he reached his decision Monday afternoon. He indicated his decision hinged on Stephenson's knowledge of the Bills' system and players.

"I'll tell you it's a tough decision," Wilson said. "The other two men were well qualified, so I had to sit down and think about it."

Stephenson, a Bills quarterback briefly in 1968, said the first thing he wants to do is talk to as many of the Bills players as possible. The team has had player problems, including contract holdouts during much of the 1982 season by star running back Joe Cribbs and wide receiver Jerry Butler.

Cribbs, his dispute with the front office still unsettled, has said he wants to be traded if the Bills won't renegotiate his contract.

The Bills also have about 15 players who become free agents this year. That makes them eligible to try to negotiate deals with other teams, although Buffalo would have first crack at trying to sign them. Several players also have expressed disappointment that Knox will no longer be coaching in Buffalo.

"I'm optimistic that Joe Cribbs is going to be in our lineup," Stephenson said. "He's an excellent, excellent football player. He adds versatility. You can move him out of the backfield, and he's almost like a wide receiver out there."

"I don't think there's going to be a morale problem with our players. I think these guys are going to take this and run with it."

Henning named Falcon's coach

SUWANEE, Ga. (AP) — Dan Henning says he plans to do the things he thinks he does best — coach, teach and prepare game plans.

Henning became the sixth coach in the history of the Atlanta Falcons Tuesday when the Super Bowl champion Washington Redskins' top assistant agreed to a multiyear contract believed to be worth $150,000 annually.

"I like to coach, I like to teach, I like to deal with the players, I like to structure the game plan," Henning said. "I think I'm good at these things, and I'm going to try to keep the outside areas from interfering with the things I do best."

The 40-year-old Henning, who served as assistant head coach and offensive coordinator under Joe Gibbs at Washington, succeeds Leeman Bennett, the most successful coach in the history of the Atlanta franchise with an overall 47-44 record and three playoff appearances in six seasons. Bennett was fired Jan. 14.

The Falcons had interviewed four National Football League assistant coaches for the job, with Henning being last on the list because NFL rules do not allow contact with a coach on another team until his season has been completed.

The Redskins beat Miami in the Super Bowl Sunday and Henning agreed to terms while flying from Los Angeles to Atlanta in a private jet Monday night with club owner Rankin Smith, Executive Vice President Eddie LeBaron and General Manager Tom Braatz.

LeBaron said Henning was the team's top choice "and he made it simple" by accepting immediately.

"I felt like this was the best available job and I had made up my mind that if it was offered to me and the situation was to my liking, that I would accept it," Henning said.

Henning also was being courted by two other NFL teams, the Kansas City Chiefs and the Los Angeles Rams.

Falcons officials earlier had interviewed assistant coaches John Mackovic of the Dallas Cowboys, Joe Walton of the New York Jets and Lindy Infante of the Cincinnati Bengals.

Henning said his first priority would be to hire a staff. He said he had some in mind, but mentioned no names.

"I'm looking for people I can work with and can work with the players," he said.

It will be the first head coaching job for Henning, who has served as an assistant coach at Florida State and Virginia Tech in college ball and with the Jets, Redskins and Miami Dolphins in the NFL.

Bulls race to 53-point margin over Houston, 129-76

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD AP Sports Writer

With a 16-31 record, the Chicago Bulls have not had much to laugh about this season. Until they beat the Houston Rockets by 53 points. "Tonight was a laugh. Not only because of the score, but because it was the first time in several weeks that we really had fun," said Orlando Woolridge, who scored 17 points and was one of eight Bulls in double figures in their 129-76 victory Tuesday night.

Only eight games in National Basketball Association history have been decided by more points. With a 61-point lead at 126-65, the Bulls had a chance to match or surpass the NBA record victory margin of 63 held by the Los Angeles Lakers, who beat Golden State 162-99 on March 19, 1972.

They had to settle for handing the Rockets their worst loss ever. Previously, Houston fell to Baltimore by 42 points on March 1, 1968.

In other NBA games, New Jersey defeated Indiana 120-111, Philadelphia outscored Denver 133-124. Atlanta held off Cleveland 93-84 and Milwaukee beat Portland 115-99.

The Rockets-Bulls game was comparatively close for awhile. Houston led 25-24 after one quarter and still had some chance of winning although trailing 56-40 at the half.

Then with 3:21 left in the third quarter, Chicago hit the first of 23 consecutive points. When the score reached 101-54, with 8:45 remaining in the game, they had eclipsed the Chicago mark of 19 straight points set on Dec. 8, 1977, against Portland.

The Rockets are only 8-37 this season, but Houston Coach Del Harris had been encouraged when they won two of their previous three outings.

Dwight Jones led Chicago in scoring with 19 points. In addition to Woolridge's 17, David Greenwood had 16, Mark Olberding 15, Reggie Theus and Quintin Dailey 14 apiece, Dave Corzine 12 and Rod Higgins 10.

The previous largest point differential in the NBA this season was Portland's 129-79 triumph over Cleveland on Nov. 21.

defeat in 23 home games.

The Bucks took control of the game with a 13-4 spurt in the last 3½ minutes of the second quarter to take a 65-54 halftime lead. The Trail Blazers fell behind by as many as 15 points in the third quarter before narrowing the deficit to 75-71, but a 19-3 spurt by Milwaukee turned the game into a runaway. Calvin Natt led Portland with 22 points.

Nets 120, Pacers 111
Albert King and Otis Birdsong scored 27 points apiece and Darwin Cook added 22 points while hitting 10 of 13 shots from the field as New Jersey held off Indiana. A layup by King gave the Nets a 95-77 lead with 10:31 left in the game, but the Pacers scored 36 points in the final period to trim the deficit to 115-111. New Jersey then scored the last five points of the game to salvage the victory.

Herb Williams and Clark Kellogg led the Pacers with 27 and 25 points, respectively. Billy Knight had 13 of his 17 points in the fourth quarter to lead Indiana's short-lived rally.

Hawks 93, Cavaliers 84
Atlanta's Eddie Johnson defused a late Cleveland rally with 11 of his 19 points in the final three minutes.

The Hawks led 69-59 early in the fourth quarter, but the Cavaliers scored eight straight points to cut the deficit to two with 9:53 to play.

Cleveland still trailed only 79-77 later in the period, but Mike Glenn's free throw and field goal and Johnson's scoring binge kept the Cavs from getting closer.

World Free led all scorers with 24 points for Cleveland, while Rory Sparrow paced Atlanta with 21.

Pitt upsets highly-ranked St. John's; LSU tops Florida by 78-69

By KEN RAPPOFORT AP Sports Writer

Since joining the powerful Big East Conference for the first time this season, the Pitt Panthers have been trying to prove they belong there.

It has taken them some time to do it — but Tuesday night's 72-71 basketball victory over fifth-ranked St. John's should give their status a lift.

"You have to prove it on the court and they proved it tonight," St. John's Coach Lou Carnesecca said after his Redmen squandered an eight-point first-half lead, then lost when Pitt guard Billy Culbertson sank six free throws in the final 1:57.

Pitt, 10-4, had won only twice in seven previous Big East games, and had been blown out in its only other contests against nationally-ranked teams, Villanova and Syracuse.

"The victory certainly meant more than any game since I've been at Pitt," said Panther Coach Roy Chipman. "We beat a great team and a great coach in the toughest league in the country."

"We proved tonight that we can beat one of the great teams in the country in our place. Our fans were great. They were worth eight or nine points to us. We had a Big East crowd tonight."

A sellout crowd of 6,180 attended the game at the Pitt Field House.

Clyde Vaughan, the Big East's top scorer, and sophomore Andre Williams each scored 24 points to lead the Panthers, who sank 28 of 35 free throws to 11 of 15 for St. John's. Williams was 10 for 10 and Vaughan was 10 for 11 from the foul line.

Williams had scored only one point in 44 minutes of playing time in Pitt's 59-53, double-overtime victory over Providence last Saturday night.

"We wanted to get him (Williams) involved in the offense more," Chipman said.

Culbertson clinched the victory by sinking the front end of a 1-and-1 with seven seconds to go to lift the Panthers to a 73-69 lead. St. John's, 18-2 overall, lost for the second time in nine Big East games.

Elsewhere, Terry Teachout scored 16 points and Duquesne hit 20 of 30 foul shots to beat Dayton 58-55. While Dayton outscored Duquesne from the floor 24-19, the Flyers only had nine foul shots, hitting seven of them.

"Our kids kept their poise down the stretch," said Duquesne Coach Jim Satalin. "Dayton shot terribly. If they had shot better, you would see a different story."

Dayton Coach Don Donohue: "At the end we tried to go after them but they hit the crucial foul shots."

Karl Racine sank two free throws with two seconds remaining to give Penn a 41-39 victory over Princeton. The Quakers held the ball the final two minutes until Princeton forward Craig Robinson fouled Racine.

Leonard Mitchell blocked two shots, stole three passes and scored seven points in a 17-4 scoring spurt that sent Louisiana State on its way to a 78-69 victory over Florida. That first-half scoring spurt, which lasted just seven minutes, took LSU from a 10-10 tie to a 27-14 advantage.

LSU used another spurt in the second half to roar out to a 24-point lead, then had to fight off a Florida rally.

Florida Coach Norm Sloan couldn't even find solace in his team's rally in the closing minutes.

"I wasn't happy about anything," he said. "My attitude on the ball game, from our point of view, was just 'Forget it.' It was just one of those games. There's no explanation for it. Those things just happen to you. They played very well."

Kenny Powell's layup with 46 seconds left in the third overtime period lifted Seton Hall to a 71-69 victory over Columbia. Powell scored after teammate Marvin Morris' jump shot tied the score at 69 with 2:21 left in the third overtime session.

Morris' layup with 1:10 left in the second half tied the score at 59, sending the game into overtime.

Mexico big grain buyer

Mexico may be the largest customer of U.S. grain sorghum this year. Purchases as high as 3.8 million metric tons (150 million bushels) are expected by a sorghum sales team which has just concluded a series of seminars and conferences with Mexican Livestock and poultry producers.

The team, led by Ma bry Foreman president of Grain Sorghum Producers Association and GSPA executive director Elbert Harp, report that Mexico needs 7 million metric tons of feed grain per year to sustain their livestock industry. Only 3 mm. of feed grain (mostly sorghum) was produced there last year. Breeding herds are now being slaughtered because of grain shortages.

"The demand is definitely there," Harp said. "but the devaluation of the peso has made all foreign goods very expensive in Mexico and the Mexican government will limit imports to the bare minimum. Actual sales will depend on a continued favorable price relationship."

Mexico suffered a drought in 1982 which resulted in a poor grain crop and, at the same time, emptied reservoirs which were needed for irrigation of the '83 crop. This water shortage, coupled with short supplies of planting seed, points to a poorer than average crop this year.

The GSPA market development team worked mainly with the swine industry. Dr. Don Orr, swine specialist at Texas Tech University, and the team conducted sorghum nutrition seminars for swine producers in La Piedad, Tepetitlan and Querataro.

This area, located west of Mexico City, is the center of swine production in Mexico where some farrow-to-finish operations have as many as 200,000 head, making them some of the largest in the world.

In the same area can be found some of the worlds largest poultry farms. The GSPA team held one conference with poultry producers. They viewed many large farms. One cage layer operation has one million birds at the present time.

The market for Mexico's meat and egg producers is Mexico City. By some estimates, Mexico's capital now has 15 million inhabitants making it the world's largest metropolis.

"Mexico has serious economic problems," Harp explained. "They owe an $80 billion foreign debt and the Mexican government is placing great emphasis on its repayment. They, will however, provide basic food products for the people. Imports of large amounts of grain will be necessary, at least until summer harvest begins."

The establishment and development of sorghum markets in Mexico is a part of the continuing activities of Grain Sorghum Producers Association and U.S. Feed Grains Council. Sorghum checkoff programs in Kansas, Nebraska and The Texas High Plains provide funds for much of this work.

Road work approved in county

AMARILLO — Work on a 16.5 mile section of Interstate Highway 40 in Deaf Smith and Oldham Counties is included in the 1983-1984 Federal-Aid Interstate Rehabilitation Program approved recently by the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission.

The section extends from 7 of a mile west of Farm to Market Road 2858 in Oldham County west to the New Mexico state line.

The program authorizes $2.2 million for additional surfacing on this roadway section in addition to the adjustment of guard fence and culverts for improved safety along this portion of IH 40.

Statewide, the program provides $196.6 million to rehabilitate nearly 500 miles of Interstate routes in Texas. Portions of all Interstates in Texas will receive some rehabilitation work. The more than 40 separate projects call for repair ranging from reconditioning surfaces to adjusting guard fences and culverts.

Mark Goode, Engineer-Director of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation (DHT), said the projects in the new program would be 90 percent federally financed.

FIC Bank loaned $2.5 billion to farmers in '82

AUSTIN — In 1982 the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Texas loaned $2.5 billion to Texas farmers and ranchers through 30 Production Credit Associations (PCAs) and 17 Other Financing Institutions (OFI's) in the state.

James A. Rogers, president of FICB, noted the figure was down slightly from the 1981 volume of $2.6 billion due to adverse weather and economic trends in agriculture. Number of borrowers served also was down to 17,316 from 17,366.

"It is hard to dispute the fact that in 1982 Texas agriculture took some of its hardest blows since the Great Depression," says Rogers.

Rogers continued, "There are no quick fixes or easy solutions to the adversity dealt to those in Texas agriculture. But we are working hard to continue providing constructive credit that farmers and ranchers expect and need."

In some cases Farm Credit has tightened their credit policies and are counseling ag producers on an individual basis," he says. "We want to support farmers and ranchers every way we can. However, we do not feel it is in their best interest to extend credit for operations that are obviously getting further and further in debt with no chance of getting out. There are situations where it is better to advise a potential borrower to salvage what he can rather than go further in debt."

Rogers believes the Payment In Kind (PIK) program will buy time for some people to make needed adjustments and to reduce inventories. Other farm policy must be developed to move agriculture back to a sound financial basis.

Production Credit Associations have been a source of agricultural loans since 1933. Nationally they serve the credit needs of more than 380,000 farmers, ranchers and commercial fishermen, with more than $22 billion in loans outstanding.

Farm prices up; still lowest since Depression

WASHINGTON (AP) — The farm price of some important commodities rose in January, enough to push up the government's overall index for the first time in four months.

The Agriculture Department said Monday that overall prices averaged 0.8 percent higher than they did in December. But the January index still was 3 percent below a year ago.

Further, the January increase failed to budge the historic "parity" ratio from its lowest reading since the Depression years of the early 1930s.

According to USDA records, the monthly price index has been below year-earlier levels in 17 of the last 18 months.

Commodity prices generally have been depressed because of huge grain harvests the past two years, along with lagging consumer demand for meat, poultry and dairy products.

In a related development Monday, Agriculture Secretary John R. Block told Congress he plans to reduce wheat and corn price support loan rates in 1984 to put the supports in line with reduced inflation and to make sure U.S. grain will move easily on the market.

Block has been urging farmers to sign up in the administration's new payment-in-kind program to reduce 1983 acreages of wheat, corn, sorghum, cotton and rice. Under PIK, an eligible farmer would get free surplus commodities for cutting back acreages.

Looking at the current situation, the price report said that higher prices for cattle, hogs, corn, broilers and calves were mostly responsible for the January price index increase.

However, lower prices for Visitors to Capitol can view find

AUSTIN — Visitors to the Capitol in mid-February can view the ancient skeletal remains recently discovered north of Austin.

The find by State Department of Highways and Public Transportation (DHT) archeologists will be displayed Feb. 8-12 in the rotunda.

The Archeology Section, part of DHT's Highway Design Division, is arranging the show in response to hundreds of citizen inquiries and requests to view the bones. Many student groups viewing the exhibit will combine a tour of the Capitol while the Legislature is in session.

Dr. Frank Weir, head of the Archeology Section, said the display would be made up of the skull portion of the remains, projectile points and other artifacts found at the site. A photo display will accompany the materials. A display of the entire skeleton is not possible because of the fragility of some of the bones.

The skeletal remains were removed from the excavation site on Jan. 7, and department archeologists have since been examining them in a laboratory. Although exact dating of the bones will have to await carbon-14 tests, which will take a few more weeks, Dr. Weir estimates they are more than 9,000 years old.

The site was doubly unusual due to the abundance of artifacts found which indicate continuous habitation of the area for a 7,000-year period.

Rabbits are rarely found deep in forests. They prefer places where bushes or clumps of tall grass are available for hiding.

strawberries, eggs, apples, tomatoes and sweet corn partially offset the gains for the other commodities.

Prices paid by farmers to meet expenses, meanwhile, rose 0.6 percent during the month and averaged 1.9 percent more than a year ago.

Weaker commodity prices have helped dampen consumer food prices, which rose 4 percent in 1982, the smallest annual increase in six years. Department economists say the 1983 gain may also be held to about 4 percent.

The overall increase in the price index was the first rise since last September. In 1982, the monthly average rose in five months, declined in four and held steady in three, the latest report showed.

According to the preliminary figures for January, which are based mostly on midmonth averages, the index for meat animals was up 3.4 percent from December, averaging 8.6 percent above a year earlier.

Fruit prices were down 10 percent from December, with lower prices for strawberries and apples accounting for most of the drop. The index was down 6.3 percent from January 1982.

Vegetable prices dropped 5.2 percent from December, with tomatoes and sweet corn leading the way. The index was 40 percent below a year ago.

Farm prices in January averaged 128 percent of a 1977 base-price average used for comparison, according to the preliminary figures. The December index was 127 percent.

The January parity ratio was 54 percent, the same as in December. According to USDA records, that was the lowest since the indicator also averaged 54 percent in April 1933, one of the worst years of the Depression. It sagged to 57 percent last winter and has hovered near that mark since.

At 100 percent, the indicator would theoretically mean that farmers have the same buying power they had in 1910-14. For example, the average actual price of corn in January was $2.32 a bushel, according to the preliminary figures. Although up 6 cents from December, it still was only 46 percent of the December parity price of $5.04 a bushel.

The report also said:

—Cattle averaged $54.70 per 100 pounds of live weight nationally compared to $52.50 in December and $53.60 a year earlier. These are averages for all types of cattle sold as beef.

—Hogs averaged $54.90 per 100 pounds compared to $53.60 in December and $43.40 a year ago.

—Corn, at $2.32 a bushel, compared to $2.26 in December and $2.54 a bushel a year ago.

—Wheat prices at the farm, according to the preliminary figures, averaged $3.54 a bushel, compared to $3.51 in December and $3.78 year ago.

—Rice averaged $8.09 per 100 pounds, compared to $8.06 in December and $9.34 in January of last year.

—Soybeans were $5.56 a bushel against $5.46 a bushel in December and $6.13 a bushel a year ago.

—Upland cotton was 56.6 cents a pound on a national average compared to 57.3 cents in December and 50.3 cents a year ago.

—Eggs were 52.6 cents a dozen compared to 55.4 in December and 63.5 a year ago.

Here is a comparison of January parity values with the preliminary average prices received by farmers in January and the final figures for December for some commodities. Prices in wheat, corn, oats and soybeans are dollars per bushel. Rice, sorghum grain, beef cattle, hogs and lambs are dollars per 100 pounds. Wholesale milk, live broilers and upland cotton are dollars per pound. Baled hay is dollars per ton and oranges are dollars per box.

Bomber brings boom to Abilene

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — The arrival of the Air Force's new B-1 bomber here in 1985 will be preceded by a housing and retail boom that will give a "tremendous" boost to the local economy, city officials say.

Basing the B-1 at Dyess Air Force Base here is expected to create jobs for 510 military personnel and 20 civilians and require $8.4 million worth of construction beginning this fall, Pentagon officials said in announcing the basing plan Monday in Washington.

"The economic repercussions will be tremendous," said Abilene Mayor Elbert E. Hall.

"We have already had people in here checking on requirements to construct housing units in that area (near Dyess) based on the announcement," city Building Inspections Director Bob Fowler said Tuesday.

"It has generated a lot of excitement already. I wouldn't be surprised if the announcement would encourage some expanded retail growth," he said.

Congress will receive a request for B-1 funds later this month in the 1984 military construction budget.

Rep. Charles Stenholm, whose district includes Dyess, said he was "elated" by the Pentagon's decision, but added, "We've got to get the damn plane funded first."

Local military and civilian leaders began their push to bring the manned bomber to the base almost seven years ago. Plans for the B-1 were canceled by the Carter administration and reinstated by President Reagan on a year-by-year basis.

"We're quite thrilled that actually a lot of hard work over many, many years is going to pay off," said Fred Lee Hughes, Chamber of Commerce Military Affairs Committee chairman.

Rockwell International Corp. received more than $1.7 billion Monday in Air Force contracts for the first year of production on the bombers.

"We're delighted ... and we feel like the work done in the past was helpful in the assignment of the B-1B here," said Oliver Howard, former mayor and former military affairs committee chairman.

"This is such a dynamic program that it will have to include technological support from industries involving aircraft," Howard said, when asked about the possibility of related industries being drawn to Abilene.

Frona Industries reports increases in sales, earnings

FRIONA — Frona Industries, Inc., has reported substantial increases for the first six months of its 1983 fiscal year as net earnings doubled and sales were up 22 percent.

For the first half ended Dec. 31, 1982, the Company had net earnings of $2 million, or 94 cents per share, on sales of $126 million, compared with net earnings of $1 million, or 46 cents per share, on sales of $103 million in the same period of fiscal 1982.

"A favorable cost-price relationship on the sale of Company-owned cattle and higher feedyard occupancy contributed to operating profit gains in all our major business segments, with the exception of Meat Processing and Distribution," said Ron Davenport, chairman, president and chief executive officer.

"This trend was established in the first quarter and continued through our second quarter," he explained.

Second quarter net earnings of $761,000 or 36 cents per share, on sales of $64.4 million compared with net earnings of $433,000 or 19 cents per share, on sales of $50.7 million in the second quarter of fiscal 1982.

During the first half of the year, the Company sold 48 percent more cattle or 58,000 head versus 39,000 head. The average sales price per hundred weight was about 5 percent lower than in the first half of fiscal 1982, but this was more than offset by an 8 percent decline in the average cost of sales per hundredweight, resulting from the lower cost of purchasing and fattening cattle. Company-owned cattle accounted for 33 percent of total corporate operating profits.

Other major business segments which showed improved operating profits when compared to the first half of last year included Commercial Feeds, 72 percent increase; Animal Health Supplies, 37 percent; Custom Feeding, 25 percent, and Grain, 14 percent.

"More cattle on feed in the Company's feedyards and at other feedyards in our operating area was instrumental in these operating profit and overall sales increases," said Davenport.

The average number of cattle on feed in the Company's feedyards was 27 percent higher on a second quarter comparison for the two fiscal years.

Operating profits from Meat Processing and Distribution operations in the first half were curtailed due to a lower profit margin resulting from a lower than normal cost-price relationship for the hamburger meat the Company provides to more than 770 Wendy's Old Fashioned Hamburger Restaurants in 15 states. This segment, which contributed 10 percent of corporate operating profits, registered a decline of 43 percent when compared to operating profits in the first half of the previous year. Actual pounds of hamburger meat processed 12 percent higher (30.1 million pounds) and the average number of restaurants served was 742, a 15 percent gain. "The increase in feedyard occupancy and a measure of stability in profit margins for cattle and most of our other operations provides a cautiously optimistic outlook for the Company," said Davenport.

Weed control conference set

LUBBOCK — Chemical control of toxic and injurious plants is among the topics to be discussed at the 10th annual Brush and Weed Control Conference Thursday and Friday at the South Park Inn in Lubbock.

Sponsored by the Texas Tech University Department of Range and Wildlife Management and the New Mexico State University

Cooperative Extension Service, the conference will begin at 7:30 a.m. Thursday with registration. Informal discussions on Friday will begin at 8:30 a.m.

Nine papers will be presented at the Thursday meeting and include work by brush and weed control specialists from New Mexico State University, Elanco Products Co., Texas Agricultural Experiment Stations, Union Carbide and Texas Tech.

Topics the papers cover include chemical control of big sagebrush; range management following sand shinnery oak control; economic appraisals of brush control; cost-effectiveness of brush control — a rancher's viewpoint; and effects of Tordon pellets on pinon-juniper, cholla and snakeweed.

Also, creosotebush control and forage response; pricing and marketing a herbicide; carbohydrate trends in broom snakeweed; and chemical control of toxic and injurious plants.

Time to take seriously a news bulletin: When — or if — they ever interrupt a commercial to issue it.

Jeremy Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Myers, showed the reserve grand champion steer at the Hereford Young Farmers Junior Livestock Show last week. Myers exhibited through the Deaf Smith 4-H.

Government rests in trial of agent

HOUSTON (AP)—Defense testimony begins today and may last the rest of the week in the federal trial of former CIA agent Edwin Wilson, charged with illegally shipping more than 21 tons of explosives from here to Libya.

Herald Fahringer, one of Wilson's lawyers, said the defense presentation should conclude by the end of the week, indicating the jury may receive the case by the weekend.

The defense is expected to present witnesses supporting its contention that Wilson was working for the CIA in October 1977 when 42,470 pounds of the plastic explosive C-4 was shipped by air from Houston to Tripoli, Libya.

The defense contends Wilson was not on the CIA payroll because he was in a "deep cover" role and was expected to earn money selling arms to the Libyans.

Testimony began last Friday and the government presented 12 witnesses before resting Tuesday afternoon.

Jerome S. Brower, a California explosives manufacturer, testified he bought the explosives for shipment to Libya after Wilson deposited $588,000 in a Swiss bank account.

Brower said he bought the explosives from three plants, had it transferred from boxes to more than 800 five-gallon cans, and then shipped it to Houston. Brower also testified Wilson told him he had made between $6 million and $7 million in a seven-year stay in Libya.

Rick Rowland, a shipping dock worker, testified he helped handle the shipment of five-gallon cans. Rowland said a fork lift punctured one of the cans and he discovered they contained a "white putty like material." He said he opened one can and found a gray mudlike material in a five-inch layer on top.

Reginald Slocombe, a shipping executive for a company owned by Wilson, said Wilson asked him to help arrange the transportation of the 21 tons of C-4 explosives. Slocombe testified it was decided the explosives would be carried on shipping documents as drilling mud, a substance used by oil companies to lubricate drill bits while drilling wells.

Ed Frazier, another shipping executive who worked in Houston for Wilson's company, Around The World Shipping, testified he received a tape in which Slocombe instructed him about the explosives shipment.

In the tape, played for the jury, Slocombe said the shipment was "stuff called C-4 and it's not supposed to be exported. So this becomes a very hot shipment."

The tape also instructed Frazier to "do whatever has to be done as clandestinely as possible" and that "Ed," later identified as Wilson, "said there's a small fortune involved profit-wise."

John Heath, a retired Army demolitions expert, said he roomed with Wilson in Libya for months and used part of the C-4 to train Libyans in bomb-making. Heath testified that he watched Libyan workers wash away the drilling mud that covered the C-4 in each of the five-gallon containers.

Heath also told of a telephone conversation with Wilson during which Wilson said that if he talked with a federal prosecutor, both Heath and the prosecutor would be killed.

"He told me he could not advise me because it would be obstruction of justice, but if I talked to (Larry) Barcella, he was dead and so was I," Heath testified. The former Army expert said the conversation took place while he was in Libya and Wilson was in a New York jail.

Senate committee approves ban on coated bullets

AUSTIN (AP) — Senate committee members have approved a bill banning Teflon-coated ammunition — bullets that make it pointless to for policemen to wear bullet-proof vests.

The Senate Jurisprudence Committee voted 9-0 Tuesday to send Sen. Lloyd Doggett's bill to the full senate.

The committee also voted Tuesday to recommend approval of a bill funding neighborhood dispute centers. Several centers in Texas, funded privately, have been successful in solving arguments among neighbors and reducing court cases.

Doggett, D-Austin, said police call the Teflon-coated ammunition "cop-killer bullets."

Ballistics tests run by the Austin Police showed bullet-proof vests stopped non-coated rounds, but the Teflon bullets went through the 18-layer vest and halfway through a telephone book behind the vest.

Austin Police Chief Frank Dyson testified that larger caliber coated bullets penetrated three phone books behind the vest.

The Teflon-coated bullet also penetrates metal, making it dangerous to officers using a car door for protection in a gun battle, Dyson said.

Travis County Sheriff's Department Lt. Charles Littleton said the coated bullets make the protective vests almost worthless.

"You might as well not have one," he said.

There were no witnesses testifying against the bill, but committee members differed on its wording.

Sen. Buster Brown, R-Lake Jackson, offered a bill adding a ban on large caliber non-coated bullets. The committee, however, voted 9-0 in favor of an amended version of Doggett's bill.

In an 8-0 vote, the committee approved the neighborhood dispute center bill, sponsored by Doggett and Oscar Mauzy, D-Dallas. The measure gives county commissioners the power to establish such centers, which would be funded through a $5 fee added to civil court cases.

Dallas, Houston, Austin and Fort Worth already have such centers, funded through private foundations.

Man charged in shooting

CORSICANA, Texas (AP) — Parishioners hid under pews after a man opened fire in a church here, shooting one teen-ager in the back of the head and spraying other shots toward the altar, police said.

Gary Wayne Willingham, 29, of Corsicana was charged Monday with attempted murder after he allegedly barged into the Corsicana Full Gospel Church Sunday and began firing a .22-caliber rifle. Steven Sykes, 19, was shot once in the head when he tried to shove aside the gunman's .22-caliber rifle, witnesses told police.

Police Sgt. J.L. Palos said Willingham was trying to find his ex-girlfriend when he burst through the front door during a Sunday night musical service at the church.

After shooting Sykes, police said, the gunman fired wildly at the girlfriend's 13-year-old daughter, who stumbled while running down the church's center aisle.

Vote delayed on Clements' nominees

AUSTIN (AP) — A lawyer who has been "rocking the boat" at the Texas Water Commission and an engineering consultant who "felt the impulse to do something useful" by joining the state welfare board apparently need more Senate votes to be confirmed.

The Senate Nominations Committee on Tuesday postponed a vote on the year-old appointments of John Stover of Lufkin to the commission and James Conner of Marshall to the Board on Human Resources.

Both men are holdover appointments from Texas' first Republican administration in over 100 years, which might be one reason they are having difficulty getting enough votes for confirmation in the predominantly Democratic Senate.

In postponing a vote, however, the subcommittee gave Stover and Conner additional time to persuade senators to confirm them.

Sen. Roy Blake, D-Nacogdoches, read 14 charges from an anonymous "smear sheet" on Stover and asked him to respond to each charge.

The sheet accused Stover of seldom if ever working more than three days a week, opposing solid waste disposal facilities, exhibiting "undue concern" about trace elements in water discharges from coal-fired steam electrich generating plants, and voting to deny a water authority's request to transfer water from one basin to another.

The sheet said Stover had questioned the validity of fees charged by "reputable engineering firms," abused lawyers who appeared before the commission, and verbally abused the editor of the Austin American-Statesman because his newspaper was not delivered.

Blake said opposition to Stover had arisen because his questions were "rocking the boat."

"As one person said, maybe we appointed someone who is overqualified," Blake added. "He's asking questions no one else has asked."

Blake said he did not know who had distributed the "smear sheet," but he mentioned an Austin lawyer specializing in water matters.

Stover responded that he was on the job full time, that he was "extremely concerned" about the disposal of hazardous waste, that a massive fish kill had occurred in East Texas — possibly because of the trace elements in water discharges — and that there was no evidence showing the water to be transferred from basin to basin was surplus.

He also said he was "rather proud" of questioning high engineering fees in water projects, had demanded "straight answers" from lawyers to his questions but did not consider himself "abusive to anyone" and had not talked to the editor about his newspaper not being delivered. He said he had a nice conversation with the editor's secretary, "and the next day I got my paper."

Blake told reporters 12 to 14 of the 31 senators had been against Stover's appointment, but at least three had changed their minds. As few as 11 senators can block an appointment.

"He (Stover) was an excellent witness for himself," said Blake. "It's looking better."

Conner testified he had sold a summer home in California, where he rested each year as a result of a heart attack, studied the "origins of charity" and been tutored by welfare employees for four months in preparation for becoming a member of the Board of Human Resources.

He said he had pledged to former Gov. Bill Clements, who appointed him, that he would spend as much as 25 percent of his time on the part-time job.

In response to a question from Sen. Carlos Truan, Conner said the state is spending 14 percent of its total budget "to cure the ills of society" and "that's getting close to the ceiling."

Truan, D-Corpus Christi, said Texas had a low rate of welfare abuse, and Conner responded, "One damn case is too many."

Conner said Texas might be 49th of the 50 states in Aid to Families with Dependent Children, but it was No. 1 in many areas — health care, commodity distribution to the poor and central office management.

Asked which programs he thought were overfunded, Conner again mentioned utility payments for the poor.

He said foster care payments should be raised from $7 a day — "I'm embarrassed by it" — to $10, and more money should be spent in other ways to take care of abused and neglected children.

"I find that I do have certain priorities in the matter of welfare, and I adhere to the ancient cry of 'Women and Children First' though in these modern times it may be sexist to say it," Conner said.

Conner also said in health care the state is being billed for professional help at the rate of $40 an hour when patients often are cared for by untrained personnel, who earn $7 an hour.

At the request of subcommittee chairman Ed Howard, D-Texas, the subcommittee withheld a vote, perhaps for as long as two weeks.

Cataract questions

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm 63 years old, semi-retired and in excellent health except for cataracts in both eyes. My doctor suggested surgery. My vision is deteriorating very fast. I've had numerous lens corrections in the past three years. They last about three to four months and I need a change again.

The doctor suggested I could go three ways: 1) thick glasses, 2) "soft" cataract lenses or 3) the implant method. He suggested the implant.

Needless to say I'm concerned. Any information or suggestions you might have will be appreciated.

DEAR READER — Life is a series of choices and on such highly technical decisions you need expert advice from an eye doctor familiar with your case to make the right choice.

The first point to settle for certain is whether your deteriorating eyesight is from the changes in your lenses, the cataracts or other eye disease. If you have disease of the retinal screen at the back of the eye, removing the cataracts may not be the whole answer.

The thick glasses cause the greatest distortion of images. That will create some problems. The contact lenses, soft or hard, cause very little distortion because they are directly on the eye. That works better for people who can use them. The implants eliminate the problem of regular care that goes with contact lenses.

I'm encouraged by some of the newer advances with long-wear soft contact lenses. And there will be continued improvements in these. The amount of regular care is greatly diminished with these and may well be within the time frame of regular visits to your doctor so he can manage them for you. There are some disadvantages to lenses on the eyes in relation to various activities.

You could go the contact lens route counting on continued improved products. But later, if you then wanted an implanted lens inside the eye, you would have to have another operation.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have been having some electrolysis work done on my upper lip. This has been going on for nine years. Now I have noticed that my upper lip, between my nose and lip, looks white all the time. I feel it has something to do with the veins because, when I overexert in hot weather and my face flushes, my face is red all over except that portion of my upper lip.

The electrolysis operator has never encountered this before and does not know why it happened. I have friends who had this work done without the change in skin color.

What causes this and is it something to be concerned about?

DEAR READER — It is tempting, but often a mistake, to think something you have done or are doing causes changes that occur at the same time. But your change in skin pigmentation may have nothing to do with your electrolysis at all. It could be vitiligo, loss of skin pigment.

Or it could be scarring from the electrolysis which might imply loss of small veins. You should see a dermatologist so he could look at it and see. If it is vitiligo he may wish to treat it, if you are concerned about the change.

Interferon reported effective against cancer

HOUSTON (AP) — Kidney cancer, an incurable and invariably fatal disease, has been shown for the first time to be sensitive to treatment by human interferon, according to a research team here.

In a paper published today in the February issue of "Cancer Research," a group of doctors at The University of Texas M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute reported that 12 of 19 kidney cancer patients experienced favorable results from massive injections of interferon.

The patients all had cancer that had originated in the kidneys and then spread to the lungs, bone or liver, or to all three. "A significant number" of the patients experienced a reduction in the size of tumors, or a halt in tumor growth or spread as a result of injections of interferon, according to Dr. Jordan U. Gutterman, leader of the M.D. Anderson research team.

The findings do not mean the disease can now be cured, said Gutterman. "But, he noted, "This is an important advance for this type of tumor. We have more work to do, but we now have a foot in the door."

Only kidney tumors that had spread to the lungs were analyzed in the published study, but Gutterman said that later, unpublished studies show kidney tumors spread to the bone and liver also responded to the interferon therapy.

Gutterman said kidney cancer originates in a kidney and then metastasizes, or spreads, to other organs. It causes about 8,500 deaths annually and the American Cancer Society projects there will be 18,200 new cases of this type of cancer in 1983. Most patients die within two years of a diagnosis.

The disease is considered incurable and invariably fatal, said Gutterman, since it is resistant to chemotherapy, radiation and other traditional types of treatment.

Treatment begins with the surgical removal of the affected kidney, the primary cancer site. The problem then is to control the cancer colonies in the other organs. The 19 patients were given daily doses of three million units of human leukocyte interferon. Researchers then used chest X-rays to monitor the effect on the lung tumors.

There was a 50 percent or greater reduction in the size of the tumors and no new tumors found in five of the patients. Two patients showed a tumor reduction of 25 to 50 percent.

Three of the patients showed a 50 percent or greater reduction in some tumors, but a growth in others. The disease remained stable, with little or no growth in tumor size, in two of the patients.

The interferon therapy apparently had no effect on the size, growth or spread of tumors in seven of the patients.

Interferon injections continued in each of the patients as long as improvement was shown, and one patient received the injections daily throughout the year-long study.

Side effects, said Gutterman, were minor and transitory.

Interferon is a protein the body produces naturally in response to a viral infection. It has been made artificially, but the compound used in the M.D. Anderson study was extracted from human white blood cells.

Some other diseases, notably chronic leukemia and cancers of the breast, lymph glands and bone, have been found to be sensitive to interferon.

Cinnamon is actually the bark of an aromatic laurel tree.

Colored sugars

DEAR POLLY — Is it possible to make colored sugar at home? — TERRY

DEAR TERRY — CINDY, a Minnesota reader, does it all the time. She sent me this Pointer for Christmas cookie bakers, but since I didn't receive it in time to print before the holidays, I'm glad to have the opportunity to pass it along now. Cindy advises:

"Take approximately one ounce of sugar for each color desired and put into separate dishes. Add two to three drops of food coloring to each dish of sugar and stir with a toothpick. If the sugar is too moist, add a little more sugar until the colored sugar is dry and granular. Store in airtight containers or in clean shaker-top spice jars. This is easy and saves about 59 cents an ounce over purchased colored sugar."

Thanks, Cindy, for helping both Terry and me out today! — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — To prevent windows from steaming up, wipe with a little liquid dishwashing detergent squirted on a dry towel. — CONNIE

DEAR POLLY — When making a cake from scratch when you don't have cake flour, use all-purpose flour, but decrease each cup by two tablespoons. Add two tablespoons cornstarch for each cup of flour called for in the recipe.

You can substitute add as much as four tablespoons flour for to each box of powdered sugar called for in cake icing recipes. This gives a thicker icing which I prefer, and stretches the sugar. It's especially helpful if you've used all your sugar and still need to add some to get a thick consistency. — FLORENCE

DEAR POLLY — Do you hate to step out of the tub or shower into a cool bathroom? Dry off while standing in the tub before opening the curtains. You won't be as cold when you come out. — MRS. B.

DEAR POLLY — Different patterns ordered from newspapers often come in identical envelopes. To identify them, I cut and save the picture of the pattern from the newspaper when I order it, then paste the picture on the envelope when I receive that pattern. — J.B.

WOW! HE EVEN STOPPED THE WIND!

Jesus asked, "How can I describe the Kingdom of God? What story shall I use to illustrate it? It is like a tiny mustard seed! Though this is one of the smallest of seeds, yet it grows to become one of the largest of plants, with long branches where birds can build their nests and be sheltered."

He used many such illustrations to teach the people. In fact, he taught only by illustrations in his public teaching, but afterwards, when he was alone with his disciples, he would explain his meaning to them.

As evening fell, Jesus said to his disciples, "Let's cross to the other side of the lake." So they took him just as he was and started out, leaving the crowds behind (though other boats followed). But soon a terrible storm arose. High waves began to break into the boat until it was nearly full of water and about to sink. Jesus was asleep at the back of the boat with his head on a cushion. Frantically they awakened him, shouting, "Teacher, don't you even care that we are all about to drown?"

Then he rebuked the wind and said to the sea, "Quiet down!" And the wind fell, and there was a great calm!

And he asked them, "Why were you so fearful? Don't you even yet have confidence in me?"

And they were filled with awe and said among themselves, "Who is this man, that even the winds and seas obey him?" (Mark 4:30-41)
