Experts contend SS bailout won't be enough

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pension experts say the Social Security system is in more trouble than a $168 billion bailout plan can cure — an argument which may be backed up by revised government figures.

The House Ways and Means Committee and its subcommittee on Social Security ended seven days of hearings Wednesday on the rescue plan drafted by the National Commission on Social Security Reform.

After receiving a revised forecast from the Social Security Administration on the system's outlook for the rest of this decade, the subcommittee will begin drafting legislation next week.

Rep. J.J. Pickle, D-Texas, the subcommittee chairman, said that after taking testimony from more than 120 witnesses he was "pleased that so far no major national organization and no major national figure has come out against the package."

"However, various organizations have protested certain parts of the plan, "which is understandable," Pickle said in an interview.

"But no one has said, 'Don't pass a bill unless our needs are met,'" he added.

Some groups have complained that the House is moving too quickly on the rescue plan submitted to Congress late last month. House leaders have acknowledged that quick action is necessary to keep opponents from building up pressure against the measure. In addition, the government has said the system will be broke after June.

Pickle said that once the subcommittee begins drafting the legislation, "we'll move fast."

One issue the legislators must consider is whether the package goes far enough.

Several witnesses before the subcommittee on Wednesday warned that calculations on Social Security's debts did not tell the full extent of the system's problems.

Israeli public opinion split

JERUSALEM (AP) — The Israeli Cabinet meets for the third time today to try to resolve Defense Minister Ariel Sharon's future in the government after a special inquiry found him responsible in the Beirut massacre.

Public opinion on Sharon's fate was divided, and demonstrations for and against him erupted here Wednesday and in Tel Aviv.

A high government official said Wednesday that most Cabinet ministers favored the commission's recommendation that Sharon be ousted and eventually would ask for his resignation.

But Israel Television said the Cabinet, which failed to reach any decisions in emergency meetings Tuesday and Wednesday, would accept the panel's recommendation today.

The government official, who refused to be identified, said Sharon proposed that the Cabinet ask for his resignation and told the ministers to ignore the commission's suggestions for punishing military officers criticized in the report.

News reports in advance of the meeting today said Prime Minister Menachem Begin, admonished by the panel for failing to pay enough attention to the situation in the refugee camps, was considered likely to resign and call for early elections.

In its findings released Tuesday, the commission said that Sharon should leave his post for allowing Lebanese Christian militiamen into the Sabra and Chatilla camps where between 700 and 800 Palestinian refugees were killed Sept. 16-18.

It urged that Maj. Gen. Yehoshua Saguy, chief of military intelligence, be fired, and said the military chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Raphael Eytan, would have been recommended for dismissal were it not for his retirement this April.

The report also said the United States could bear part of the blame for the slaughter because it refused to persuade the Lebanese army to mop up Palestinian refugee camps.

Israel Television reported that a member of the three-man commission, Supreme Court Justice Aharon Barak, received a death threat from a telephone caller who said he "did not deserve to live." No other details were given.

Several news reports quoted Sharon as refusing to quit and insisting Prime Minister Menachem Begin would have to fire him.

More than 1,000 protesters gathered in front of the building where the Cabinet

Capitol needs better fire protection system

AUSTIN (AP) — The state attorney general and the local fire chief don't agree on the use of the word "firetrap" to describe the Capitol, but both say the 95-year-old building needs a better fire protection system in the aftermath of a fatal blaze.

"I would hope that in any renovation that's done we would try to protect ourselves somewhat better," Attorney General Jim Mattox told reporters after he walked through the charred remains of the lieutenant governor's apartment Wednesday.

"Let's hope a fire doesn't start right now, because we are sitting in the middle of a firetrap," Mattox said.

Acting Fire Chief Brady Pool said that as he sees it, "A 'firetrap' is a place where a fire could start and spread so quickly you could get burned up before you could get out or even get to an exit.

"The Capitol is a fire hazard or a fire potential, but I don't consider it a firetrap," he said.

Pool has said Sunday's pre-dawn fire, which killed a guest staying overnight in the apartment, could have started from an electrical short, such as in a television, or from smoking materials. His department's investigation was still under way.

Mattox said he began his own investigation into the cause in case Texas gets sued — or decides to sue someone for product liability "such as for a defective TV set or perhaps an alarm system."

ABA endorses new insanity standard

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — John W. Hinckley Jr., who shot President Reagan and three other men, probably would have been found guilty under a new insanity standard endorsed by the American Bar Association, a legal expert says.

The new policy, backed by the Reagan administration and adopted by the ABA's House of Delegates on Wednesday, says a criminal defendant will be judged insane only if he or she was "unable to appreciate the wrongfulness of his or her conduct at the time of the alleged offense."

Hinckley was found innocent by reason of insanity. The criterion used in his trial — and used in most states — permits such a verdict if a jury decides that a defendant was unable to control himself even though he knew what he was doing was wrong.

"It's my opinion that under this (new) test Hinckley would have been convicted," said Bruce J. Ennis Jr. of Washington, D.C., who headed an ABA panel that drafted the measure.

The ABA's 387 delegates, by voice vote, decided to recommend eliminating the so-called "irresistible impulse" defense. Some members said it was a recognition that the outcry over Hinckley's acquittal could not be ignored.

Support group formed for area foster families

A foster parent told the Deaf Smith County Child Welfare Board Wednesday that a support group has been formed in a three-county area to give encouragement among the families who take in children.

Janice Matthews said the Tri-County Foster Parent Association, which includes Castro, Deaf Smith and Parmer Counties will help the families by giving a vent for problems, such as coping with giving up a foster child. Her husband, Eddie, is president of the association.

"We also need more contacts for supplies we might trade," she said, explaining that families may have baby furniture to swap around.

The association represents 14 foster families, four of which are in Deaf Smith County.

Mrs. Matthews was invited by the board to give a firsthand report on foster homes.

Beth Igal, a Child Placement Worker III, told the board that Cindy Burnam, who has a degree in criminal justice, has joined the county staff as a Child Placement Worker I.

Father Charles Threewit, chairman, appointed Bill McCarley as vice chairman of the board and named Avis White to serve with Beverly Jayroe on the regional council.

The board reviewed and approved the $1,252 in expenditures for January. The county budgeted $8,500 to the Child Welfare Board in October for the year. State reimbursements and other sources also assist the entity.

Carolyn Johnson reported that the Deaf Smith County Hospital has three infant breathing machines available to rent.

The board voted to have its regular meetings on the Wednesdays after the first Monday of each month.

Board members present were, McCarley, White, Johnson, Lavon Nieman and Louise Walker. Beverly Jayroe was absent.

Guests were Igal, Matthews, Earlene Cook, Judge Glen Nelson, Ira Purdy, a foster home developer, and Bill Hold, a supervisor for the Dept. of Human Resources.

Iranians being smuggled into America by 'droves'

LAREDO, Texas (AP) — Iranians fleeing the wrath of the Islamic government are being smuggled into the United States through Texas in "droves" via an underground pipeline leading from Pakistan to Madrid and into Mexico, a federal prosecutor says.

Assistant U.S. Attorney David Almaraz detailed the pipeline's operations Wednesday after the indictment of two men charged with conspiring to smuggle illegal aliens into the United States.

Mehdi Kalafchi and Mohammad Kalafchi, named in an indictment Wednesday, were being held without bond at the Webb County Detention Center here, along with a person they are accused of smuggling, Almaraz said. He did not say if the two Kalafchis are related.

Almaraz also said he believes Iranian "death squads" are looking for the people operating the underground pipeline.

A U.S. State Department employee at the Iranian desk in Washington, who asked not to be identified, told the Laredo News that Almaraz' comments "make sense."

Almaraz said the Iranians pay $10,000 apiece to be smuggled into Pakistan, and then flown to Madrid.

"I've seen that figure used as the cost of getting somebody out," the state department employee said. "The elements of the story make sense."

Almaraz said the smugglers wait in Nuevo Laredo for a "patero," or guide, to get them across the Rio Grande.

"Apparently the quality of life in Iran is not as great as their leaders would have us believe since we are having droves of people fleeing the country and winding up in Mexico," he said.

"These Iranians were apparently not allowed to come into the U.S. — not even

Plans for Jubilee already surfacing

With snow and ice still on the ground as the result of the frigid breath of Old Man Winter, some thoughts to the summer are already surfacing this week as the Hereford Town & Country Jubilee Steering Committee began in earnest to plan for that event next August.

Heading up the third celebration this year are Sallie Strain and Charles Lyles, co-chairpersons. The Jubilee has been moved from the latter part of August to the first week of the month this year, mainly to accommodate merchants and mothers getting ready for the opening of school. The event will be held Aug. 6-13 this year.

According to the committee "a program of activity similar to the first two years is being planned, plus some new surprises and happenings," and they urge individuals and organizations planning to participate with a booth, parade float, exhibit, or performance to reserve a spot now.

"The steering committee welcomes any new ideas, great imaginations, and 21st century concepts," Mrs. Strain said. "Just as the name implies, the Town & Country Jubilee is for the enjoyment of all of us, and in any sport the players have the most fun."

The steering committee named chairpersons for many of the various activities at their meeting this week. Penny Reinart will head up the county fair, while Travis Shields will be in charge of the rodeo. Other chairpersons and their committees include the following:

Margaret Formby, National Cowgirl Hall of Fame; Homer Garrison and Margie Daniels, senior citizens; Jolene Bledsoe, fine arts; Jim Ward and Hawk Kreig, parade; Bill Johnson, park events; Jerry Hodges, performing arts; and Garth Thomas, publicity.

Also, Raul Guerrero, Maria Garcia, and Mrs. Alfredo Barrera, representatives of the Mexican-American Community; and Bob Sims, Olivia Denning, and Mike Carr, chamber of commerce representatives.

Welfare Board Members

Sunken ship had 'number of problems'

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — A Panamanian-registered freighter resting on the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico is an old ship with a "number of problems," a Coast Guard port captain says.

The 259-foot Eaglescliffe, laden with 3,500 tons of grain, sank about two miles northeast of Galveston Island's north jetty early Wednesday, two days after springing a leak in a starboard hold.

Stormy weather hindered salvage plans Wednesday, but the 19 crewmen, the ship's captain and a pet dog were safely rescued from the boat the day before, officials said.

Coast Guard officials in Corpus Christi said they were familiar with the Eaglescliffe.

"She had been in a number of times and had a number of problems. She was just an old vessel," Coast Guard Port Captain Gerald Hinson told the Corpus Christi Caller-Times.

The freighter ran aground on the south jetty at Port Aransas in February 1979, blocking the Corpus Christi Ship Channel for two days, Hinson said. The ship had lost its steering and was driven by high winds into the jetty, where rocks pierced the engine room, he said.

Later that year, the ship was rescued while listing dangerously en route to Mexico, about 200 miles east of Corpus Christi, he said.

Crewmen discovered a crack Monday in the starboard side, said Petty Officer Don Hope. Water leaking into the ship could not be pumped out because the milo was absorbing it, Hope said.

The cause of the crack was unknown, he said.

Officers say suspect dealt fairly in bargain

HOUSTON (AP) — Two Colorado law enforcement officers have testified the man accused of masterminding a $15 million bomb-extortion scheme against Gulf Oil Chemicals Co. acted in "good faith" when he traded information about the plot for his wife's release.

FBI agent Brian Jovick said John Marvin McBride talked at length about the scheme and "basically lived up to the agreement."

Michael Bell, an undersheriff with the Durango County Sheriff's Department, also said Wednesday he believed law enforcement officers "got what we bargained for."

McBride's common-law wife, Jill Renee Bird, was promised immunity from prosecution and released Oct. 5, two days after the bargain was struck.

However, Texas authorities withdrew the agreement, contending McBride reneged on the deal, and Ms. Bird was indicted a month later.

The officers' testimony came in a hearing on 40 pretrial motions in case against the couple and three others accused of threatening to blow up Gulf's largest chemical refinery unless they were paid $15 million.

Also charged in 12-count indictments are Michael Allen Worth, 34; Timothy K. Justice, 30; and Theodore Duane McKinney, 45. All five suspects are from Durango, Colo.

City officials say water crisis over

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — Water service in this North Texas city was back to normal after workers filled a reservoir that almost emptied when a control panel short circuited.

City officials asked the city's industries and about 150,000 people to curtail water usage last weekend after the short circuit shut off pumps Saturday at the city's main water supply, Lake Arrowhead.

Pumps at Lake Kickapoo, a backup supply 25 miles to the southwest, were shut down for routine maintenance at the time.

The water shortage became so critical Tuesday that residents were asked to cut consumption by 80 percent to 90 percent.

Jerry Gross, acting public utilities director, said Wednesday that the city's staging reservoir was filled to within a foot of the top and that the city could resume unrestricted water use.

Chief accused of 'big city tactics' resigns

MARLIN, Texas (AP) — A Central Texas police chief accused of using "big city tactics" in this small community has resigned amid complaints that he enforced the law too zealously, a city official says.

City Manager A.C. Johnson said Police Chief Bill Gravelly quickly offered to quit Wednesday after he was told of a "multitude" of problems in the police department discussed by city council members the night before.

Six other officers, about half the city's police force, quit with him, KCEM-TV reported Wednesday.

Gravelly, 43, spent most of Wednesday testifying before a Falls County grand jury investigating the shooting of a burglary suspect. The man was shot Sunday — allegedly by Marlin policeman Carl Sheddlock.

Critics of Gravelly said the shooting was an example of police brutality under the chief.

Police said the suspect pulled a pocketknife on them after they chased him from a restaurant.

Anatomy of a bureaucracy

President Reagan's budget proposes $58 billion in cuts in projected federal spending over the next five years.

Yet, even with those cuts, spending for such things as welfare, Social Security, Medicare and so forth will increase another $14.2 billion.

Is the growth of government hopelessly malignant? HUD, Housing and Urban Development, merged with the FHA in 1965. The FHA had been one of the few government departments which showed a profit — until then.

Anti-E.T. lives on

LOS ANGELES (AP) — E.T., the leathery little movie star, should get lost in space for good, say two men who are sick and tired of seeing his face on everything from snack trays to underwear.

Ron Deutsch, 23, and his partner, Tom Clement, 26, decided to manufacture "I hate E.T." T-shirts to protest the hoopla surrounding the extra-terrestrial star of Universal's hit movie.

"I don't know how any kid could love E.T.," Deutsch said Wednesday. "He's scaly and an ugly creature. If I were a kid, I would have nightmares over him rather than sweet dreams."

He and Clement advertised the T-shirts last December in "Rolling Stone" magazine. They received more than 200 orders before Universal Studios heard about the shirts.

Universal sent a telegram warning that selling the shirts would be unfair competition and infringement of the studio's copyright.

a continuing drain. The objective, decent housing for low-income Americans, was a noble enough objective — but it became a social and fiscal fiasco.

Like many government agencies, HUD never did have leadership appropriate to the mission.

Dr. Robert Weaver came from academia. George Romney knew something about cars, nothing about housing.

Jim Lynn was an attorney — as were successors Carla Hills, Patricia Harris, Sam Pierce.

The notable exception, Moon Landreau, as mayor of New Orleans, he was experienced in urban housing management; significantly he was the most effective of HUD's several administrators.

Yet, the system intended to eradicate slums created slums — in Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, Los Angeles, New York.

Dutifully, each campaigner for the Presidency has visited the notorious Charlotte Street slum in the South Bronx and pronounced it "deplorable," "inexcusable": "I'll fix that!" he said. But none did.

Under the infamous 235 program there was no end to the horror stories of welfare people — suddenly "home owners" — utterly lacking in talent, tools or interest in home maintenance — wrecking and looting the premises and leaving taxpayers holding the mortgage.

While 235 has been phased out, more than half of HUD's budget still goes for so-called "social programs." Local housing authorities remain subsidized by HUD.

And HUD's legal obligation to favor minorities has resulted in HUD actually soliciting minorities — for employment, as contractors and as occupants of public housing.

Whatever the social jurisdiction, the result is inefficiency, extravagance and frequently fraud.

However Congress' partisans may construe economies to be "unfair to poor people," the facts are that this and others of these well-intentioned "aid" efforts have proved failures and perpetuating them is a favor to nobody.

When you hear the President propose helping states supervise job training instead of letting CETA do it — it's because CETA was tried and couldn't do it!

When he asks that legal services for the poor be provided by states, it's because the Federal Legal Services Corporation has been a $24 million-a-year featherbed for board members.

Any politician knows the news cameras will converge on him if he condemns the administration for ignoring poor people — but when all of us — including our poor — are drowning in red ink, that's a cheap shot.

Dogcatcher frees condemned dogs

ROSENBERG, Texas (AP) — A suspended dogcatcher who says he "went off the deep end" after killing 11 dogs in one afternoon says he wasn't thinking clearly when he freed three condemned mongrels.

"What I did was wrong, I know that. If I don't want to see a dog destroyed, I'll do my damndest to find him a home. You can bet on that," said Dan Barnshaw.

"I just wasn't thinking clearly that day. It was a bad day all the way around," he said Wednesday.

Barnshaw, who let the animals out of his truck a mile from town last week, ended up having to kill two of the dogs later the same day because someone saw him release the animals and notified police. The third dog never was recaptured.

"This one particular dog was black and ginger and those are the same colors as mine," said Barnshaw, referring to his Doberman pinscher named Dobie.

Barnshaw was suspended without pay Tuesday and placed on six months probation.

Police Chief Dwayne Sparks said he understood what Barnshaw did.

"We're lucky to have someone in this job who likes animals. I don't think I could kill dogs myself. I guess Dan had just reached the saturation point in killing," Sparks said.

Barnshaw said he had kept the three mongrels a day longer than the 72 hours the rules of his job allow because he hoped to find homes for them. He said it was the first time he had ever freed animals he was supposed to kill.

He said that as far as he knew, the alarm system protecting the three-bedroom suite worked, but the problem was "the fire spread so fast."

"I think we can set up all kinds of detecting devices but when a fire can move as rapidly as that one moved and be as hard to put out as that one was to put out, I think it's pretty evident that you're lucky that the entire building did not burn," he said.

He cited multiple ceilings, countless air passageways and the lack of an interior sprinkler system in the domed statehouse.

"You're in a very old building with tremendous draft problems," he said.

visiting — and so, to circumvent that, they are flying from all parts of the world into Mexico, where they are admitted," the prosecutor said.

"From Mexico they decide to take their chances and join thousands of Mexican citizens who are looking for a better life in the United States," he said.

It is uncertain which part of Pakistan the Iranians are

He said he already had shot two dogs and killed nine others by injection, and could not stand to execute the three remaining in the kennel. So Barnshaw said he loaded the animals in his truck and drove outside this town 30 miles southwest of Houston.

"I opened the cage" on the back of the truck, Barnshaw recalled. "I said, 'Get out of here.' That's all. I had a sigh of relief when this happened."

The dogs bounded out of the truck, and Barnshaw said they knew they were being liberated.

"It's funny what an animal can sense," he said. Shortly afterward, he said, he was ordered to go pick up the animals again. He said he found two, including the dog that reminded him of Dobie, but could not locate the third.

"They were very easy to catch," he said of the two. "They came back to me."

Barnshaw said killing the pair was doubly difficult after he had freed them earlier.

"But I just said, 'Well, it has to be done,'" he said. "It was better to do this than to have them running wild and turning into a vicious type of animal."

He said he was sorry he had failed to do his job.

"I went off the deep end, I guess," said Barnshaw, who has a mongrel in addition to Dobie. "I don't know what it was. I love animals. I love my work. I know what has to be done."

Felony theft charges filed

Felony theft charges have been filed on Grady Brown Jr., a convenience store clerk, for taking money from the register.

Hereford police report that the Allsup's employee is charged with theft of approximately $200.

Other thefts reported to police Wednesday were:

—Of a $250 air conditioner from 708 Knight.

—Wheel covers from a vehicle at Shirley School. Value was set at $50.

—A shoplifting incident at Taylor and Sons grocery store where a girl tried to take $2.74 worth of items.

Police also arrested one person on a city warrant, issued 11 citations and checked a minor accident.

Bullock holds checks

AUSTIN, Tex. — State Comptroller Bob Bullock said this week he has $1.5 million worth of state checks he can't give to the people they're made out to because these people owe money to the state.

"The law says I can't issue a state check to anyone indebted to the state and I intend to collect every penny due before I turn loose of this money," Bullock said.

About 71 percent of the 5,000 checks Bullock is holding can't be sent to the payees because they are behind in their sales or franchise taxes. If these delinquent taxpayers would pay their overdue taxes, Bullock would release checks worth $899,000.

Bullock said there's almost $630,000 frozen because people haven't repaid loans obtained under the Hinson-Hazelwood and National Direct Student Loan programs.

"There are 101 retired state employees who have a total of $40,448 coming to them if they'll pay up," Bullock continued.

There's also $516,019 due 866 retired teachers and $31,089 due 67 state employees.

He said $5.3 million owed Texas has been collected since 1978 when the law became effective.

St. John's turns back Hoyas, 75-69

By BOB GREENE AP Sports Writer

It was a battle in more ways than one when seventh-ranked St. John's beat back No. 14 Georgetown.

"It's a great game for us to win," said St. John's Coach Lou Carnesecca, whose Redmen took a 75-69 Big East Conference victory Wednesday night. "We've got our edge back. You can never rest against Georgetown. They come at you in waves."

The game also included two bench-clearing incidents. In the first, Georgetown's David Wingate pushed St. John's Billy Goodwin, who was ejected when he took a punch at Wingate.

The benches emptied again moments later when Georgetown's Michael Jackson ran into Kevin Williams on a rebound attempt.

"I like what I saw in my kids tonight," Carnesecca said. "They showed a lot of guts. After a good start, everything went against them. In the second half, they took control."

In other games involving Top Twenty teams, sixth-ranked Houston crushed Southern Methodist 85-68, No. 11 Louisville clobbered Tulane 73-56 and No. 15 Syracuse rolled over Uta 99-71.

Chris Mullen scored 25 points — 16 in the second half — as St. John's, 20-2 overall and 9-2 in the Big East, downed Georgetown for the second time this season. Georgetown's record dropped to 16-6 overall and 6-3 in the conference despite center Patrick Ewing's 21 points and 13 rebounds.

The Redmen were trailing 49-45 with 16:37 left in the game when they ran off a 14-3 spurt, holding Georgetown scoreless from the field in a nine-minute span.

Top Twenty

Making a bid for their first Southwest Conference basketball title, the Houston Cougars overwhelmed Southern Methodist behind a 26-point performance by forward Michael Young — 20 in the second half.

"Young really hurt us in the stretch when they pulled away," said SMU Coach Dave Bliss. "Once Houston gets the lead, they make it tough on you. They have the experience to know how to deal with it."

Houston is now 19-2 overall and 10-0 in league play.

Scotter McCray scored 15 points and his brother, Rodney, added 14 to lead Louisville as the Cardinals increased their season record to 20-3. The victory also gave Louisville an 8-0 Metro Conference mark.

The Cardinals jumped out to a 10-2 lead, had a 35-22 margin at halftime and enjoyed leads of up to 21 points in the second half.

Leo Rautins scored a career-high 27 points to lead Syracuse over Uta in a non-conference game. Johnathan Carter led the losers with 27 points.

Unranked Teams

Loyola of Maryland, paced by Kevin House's 24 points, posted its first victory of the season, defeating Baltimore 82-75. The Greyhounds had lost their first 17 games and the victory ended the longest losing streak of the season by a Division I team.

Wayman Tisdale scored 20 points, including a game-winning bank shot with one second left, to lead Oklahoma to a 64-62 Big Eight victory over Kansas State.

DePaul's 83-82 victory over Evansville came on Bernard Randolph's two free throws with 10 seconds left, while Keith Smith hit two free throws with eight seconds remaining to boost San Diego State past Utah 63-61.

SMU, Aggies bag SWC's biggest sack of schoolboy grid recruits

By DENNE H. FREEMAN AP Sports Writer

Texas A&M Coach Jackie Sherrill and Southern Methodist Coach Bobby Collins haven't been around the Southwest Conference long, but they proved Wednesday they can recruit.

Cotton Bowl champion Southern Methodist and Sherrill's Texas Aggies bagged the league's biggest sack of schoolboy football bluechips on national signing day, with 2,000-yard running back Jeff Atkins making Collins' day complete.

SMU landed four Parade Magazine High School All-Americans, including Fort Worth Eastern Hills' Atkins, who signed late in the day after worrying Collins and his coaches half to death.

"To put one of his caliber on our class at the end of the day, makes this an excellent year," Collins said.

"He kind of topped it off. We had to be concerned because we hadn't talked to him since Sunday. We didn't know what to expect but we continued to believe he was coming until he told us otherwise."

Collins added "No doubt winning the Southwest Conference and playing in the Cotton Bowl was a big plus. It kept us in the news. I am very happy. We helped ourselves in areas we needed."

The Aggies landed the top two quarterbacks in Texas in Jay Hess of Eastland and Craig Stump of Port Arthur Jefferson. Hess and Stump made every national bluechip list.

SMU signed defensive lineman Terrance Mann of Detroit Cooley (Michigan) High School, tight end Albert Reese of Temple, and linebacker David Stanley of Angleton, first team schoolboy All-Americans, and then finally Atkins.

Also signing with SMU were Class 5A all-state fullback-linebacker Jerry Ball of champion Beaumont West Brook, and bluechip running back-wide receiver Ron Morris of Cooper.

Texas did score by signing Edwin Simmons, the highly sought running back from Hawkins, and stealing James Lott, a bluechip defensive back from Refugio, away from the Mustangs.

Simmons rushed for 2,935 yards and 38 touchdowns last year.

"I decided in late January that I wanted to go to Texas," said Simmons. "The coaches are low key and won't holler at you. ... They've also got an offensive line that is awesome."

Texas A&M also went out of state, signing all-state defensive end Rod Saddler of Columbus, Ga., and the top running back in Louisiana, Keith Woodside of Vidalia.

Lineman Jay Fuller of Conroe, courted by most schools in the nation and a solid bluechip, joined the Aggies. Woodside had 2,000 yards rushing despite missing two games with injuries.

Running back Rod Bernstine of Bryan, who rushed for more than 1,000 yards and was on the Dallas Times Herald and Texas Football Magazine bluechip list, also went with A&M.

"The key was that we had a whole year to organize and put our recruiting policies into operation," said a pleased Sherrill. "Our recruiting has been very good. These additions should get us going in the right direction."

Coach Grant Teaff's Baylor Bears landed some big linemen, including bluechip all-stater Mike Davis of Brownwood and Parade Magazine All-American Joel Porter of Arkadelphia, Ark. Porter was heavily courted by Notre Dame.

Texas Tech landed a highly sought blue chipper, all-state linebacker Brad Hastings of Arlington Bowie.

Meeting slated

Coaches, and prospective coaches for the Hereford Broncho League are urged to attend a meeting next Tuesday (Feb. 15) at 7:30 p.m. in the Hereford State Bank's coffee room, according to league president Bill Watts.

The league is for boys, ages 9 through 12. Plans for the upcoming season will be discussed.

Walton leading candidate for Jets head coaching job

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Walton, passed over by the Kansas City Chiefs and Atlanta Falcons, was expected to find a National Football League head coaching job right at home.

The offensive coordinator of the New York Jets is considered the leading candidate to replace Walt Michaels, who retired as head coach of the Jets in a surprise move Wednesday.

"I have spent 32 years in this game and I have enjoyed them all," Michaels said in a prepared statement. "But in that time I have never taken a vacation and never spent enough time with my family. Now I think it is time that I should."

The resignation, which caught the players by surprise, made the Jets the eighth NFL team to lose a coach since the start of the 1982 season, with Seattle changing head coaches twice.

"I am proud to say that I leave a much better team than the one I took over six years ago," Michaels said in his statement. "The Jets are a team that I am proud to have personally chosen and developed."

The move came amid speculation that Michaels was forced to resign by Jets President Jim Kensil.

A source close to the Jets' front office said the hierarchy in the club felt Walton was the coach of New York's future and was concerned about the possibility of losing him to another club as head coach.

Chiles fires ticket staff

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Texas Rangers owner Eddie Chiles, faced with lagging ticket sales, has fired marketing director Jim Medick and his staff, a newspaper has learned.

Chiles would not confirm the report Wednesday, but he did say he was bothered by the club's season ticket sales are running more than a 1,000 behind last year with opening day less than two months away.

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram said Chiles had hired Larry Schmittou, president of the Nashville Sounds minor league baseball club, as the team's new director of marketing.

Smallest field in years

Hawaiian Open begins today

HONOLULU (AP) — The $325,000 Hawaiian Open was to start today with a less-than-full complement of players, marking the first time in many years the PGA Tour had failed to fill the field for one of its events.

Three more players — Jim Thorpe, Tom Shaw and Bill Calfee — withdrew from the tournament Wednesday, leaving the event with 141 participants, three less than standard starting field of 144.

"I can't remember," Jack Tuthill, Tournament Director for the PGA Tour said when asked the last previous time a Tour event had gone with a short field. "Maybe '61. I don't know," said Tuthill, who has been on the Tour staff since 1960.

Thorpe and Shaw both told tournament officials by telephone they had injuries and would not be able to compete. Calfee, listed as the ninth alternate, did not come to Hawaii.

Nine players withdrew earlier in the week and the complete list of alternates was exhausted. When Thorpe, Shaw and Calfee pulled out, the tournament was forced to go with a short field.

"I think you'll see it happen at some other places," said former U.S. Open champ Hubert Green. He pointed to a regulation, which came into effect this year with the advent of the all-exempt Tour, requiring players to commit for a tournament no later than the Tuesday of the preceding week.

"It's human nature," Green said. "If you're not sure whether you want to play in a tournament, you go ahead and commit, then make up your mind later on and withdraw if you want to."

Veteran Dave Eichelberger agreed.

"It's that early commitment deadline," he said. "Absolutely. That's what you have to do if you're not sure. I've committed for everything already."

Ed Sneed had a slightly different view, but also attributed the unusual situation of a short field to the all-exempt tour.

"There's the expense involved in coming here," Sneed said. "And, there's the all-exempt tour. Before, if a non-exempt player was in the field, he'd be here. Now, those players are exempt. They can pick their spots."

They don't have to play just because they're in the field. And a lot of those players chose not to come because of the expense."

Arnold Palmer, who had one of his better performances in years with a title-challenge at Los Angeles last month, defending champion Wayne Levi and Gil Morgan, winner of the first two tournaments on the 1983 schedule, are among the leading players who are chasing a $58,500 first prize.

Other standouts include former Hawaiian Open winners Hale Irwin, Ben Crenshaw, Bruce Lietzke and Andy Bean.

Portions of the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday will be televised nationally by NBC.

7 former champs in Sarasota meet

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — All seven former champions of the $175,000 Sarasota Classic were back to attempt to become the first two-time winner of the Ladies Professional Golf Association event.

It's the eighth year for the 72-hole event, which was to start today. Former champions Kathy Whitworth, Judy Rankin, Nancy Lopez, Sally Little, JoAnne Carner, Amy Alcott and Beth Daniel are in the field.

A week-old record for the largest field to enter an LPGA event should be tied with 133 players scheduled to tee off.

Cleveland St. 82-82 winner over Akron?

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland State University seems to have defeated the University of Akron 82-82.

In the record books, the score of Tuesday night's game reads Cleveland State 83, Akron 82.

But a review of the game has shown that Cleveland State was mistakenly awarded an extra point in the first half of the contest, and that proved to be the margin of victory when the Vikings' Lee Reed scored on a desperation shot at the buzzer.

"I honestly don't know," said Cleveland State sports information director Merle Levin when asked why the error was not caught. "I can't give you an answer because I don't know."

"It was just one of those things that got by everybody," said Akron sports information director Ken McDonald. "Usually I check the book at the half, but Coach (Bob Rupert) wanted it. When we came back, we came back late, so I just wrote down what was there."

"I have to take the blame for this. In 20 years, that's the first time it's ever happened to me."

There were also 133 entries for last week's Elizabeth Arden Classic, won by Lopez, and 132 for the season-opening Mazda Classic of Deer Creek two weeks ago.

The star-studded field, ready to test the 6,124-yard Bent Tree Golf and Racquet Club course, includes 88 of the tour's top 100 money winners from a year ago.

Jan Stephenson, ranked 10th on the money-winners list in 1982, is the only Top 10 player missing from the field.

Whitworth, the all-time leading winner on the tour with 83 victories, won the inaugural tournament in 1976 while Lopez, who won her 26th tournament last weekend, recorded her first career triumph here in 1978.

Daniel, runner-up to Pat Bradley in the Mazda Classic, is the defending champion. She has played well here since winning the LPGA Qualifying School event on the course in 1979. She has played in the Sarasota Classic four times and finished in the top 10 each time.

This winner Sunday will receive $26,250. The 26-year-old Lopez, who has career earnings of $976,660, needs only $23,340 to become the tour's youngest $ million winner.

Happy Helpers hold mother-daughter tea

The Happy Helpers Blue Birds from Northwest School held a mother-daughter tea Monday afternoon at St. Thomas Episcopal Church. The tea was a special event to honor the girls' mothers.

Tea, coffee, punch, and an assortment of cookies were served. Each Blue Bird honored her mother with a silk rose.

meeting, plans were finalized for the annual Valentine's Tea to be held for local doctors, their wives, and other guests. It has been scheduled from 2:30-4 p.m. Sunday at the Community Center.

Gwen London read the minutes of the previous meeting and Lupe Cerda gave the treasurer's report. She advised the group that the auxiliary had enough funds available to purchase four more lounge chairs for hospital patients' rooms.

The auxiliary will continue to host the newly formed Better Breathing Club. The next meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Feb. 24 in the Heritage Room of Deaf Smith County Library.

Mention was also made concerning the club's Membership Tea planned for the near future.

Other members present were Nell Cullpepper, Olga Harris, Juanita Bennett, Etoile Manning, Theda Seiver, Dorothy Betzen, Jane White, Grace Covington, Olivia Brown, Helen Brown, Baxter London and guest, LeRoy Williamson.

Spain presents home safety program

Jay Spain, Hereford fire marshal, and his son, David, training captain from the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department, presented an informative program on home fire safety to members of the Ladies Auxiliary to VFW Post 4818 Monday evening.

They gave a slide presentation showing pictures taken at three recent Hereford fires.

A chili supper preceded the meeting, and members of the VFW as well as auxiliary members enjoyed the special program.

During the business meeting, with Doris Wilson presiding, Helen Bishop read an article about the Texas family living in the VFW National Home in Eaton Rapids, Mich. Members adopted the three girls to do special things for throughout the year.

Rose Goheen, safety chairman, reported that she would have someone from Southwestern Public Service Company at the next meeting to give a program on electrical safety in the home.

Marie Goheen announced that the Mid-Winter Round

Up will be held in Austin Jan. 21-22.

The Auxiliary decided to send a love gift to one of its members, Bessie Saulcy, whose health forced her to move away to be with members of her family.

Others present were Doris Coffin, Betty Boggs, Essie Martin, Edith Richardson, Sadie Shaw, and Marta Williams.

Military Muster

Airman Joseph A. Betzen, son of John L. and Florine M. Betzen of 511 Ave. F, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force avionics communications systems course at Keesler Air Force Base, Miss.

Graduates of the 20-week course learned how to install and repair airborne communications equipment, and earned credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

Betzen will now serve with the 479th Aircraft Generation Squadron at Holloman Air Force Base, N.M. He is a 1982 graduate of Hereford High School.

1983 CATHOLIC SCHOOLS WEEK

During this week, Feb. 6-12, Catholic schools across the country are taking time out to celebrate their existence and the people who make them possible. St. Anthony's School is joining with a program that follows the theme of Catholic Schools Week for 1983:

"In God We Trust... and Teach."

The theme is an expression of human dependence upon the Creator and of the further need for passing a recognition of that dependence to young people. The theme also recognizes the freedom that makes Catholic education possible.

The Newspaper BIBLE

WHEN GOD GETS ANGRY

Then the fifth angel blew his trumpet and I saw one who was fallen to earth from heaven, and to him was given the key to the bottomless pit. When he opened it, smoke poured out as though from some huge furnace, and the sun and air were darkened by the smoke. Then locusts came from the smoke and descended onto the earth and were given power to sting like scorpions. They were told not to hurt the grass or plants or trees, but to attack those people who did not have the mark of God on their foreheads. They were not to kill them, but to torture them for five months with agony like the pain of scorpion stings. In those days men will try to kill themselves but won't be able to—death will not come. They will long to die—but death will flee away! The locusts looked like horses armored for battle. They had what looked like golden crowns on their heads, and their faces looked like men's. Their hair was long like women's, and their teeth were those of lions. They wore breastplates that seemed to be of iron, and their wings roared like an army of chariots rushing into battle. They had stinging tails like scorpions, and their power to hurt, given to them for five months, was in their tails. Their king is the Prince of the bottomless pit whose name in Hebrew is Abaddon, and in Greek, Apollyon, and in English, the Destroyer. (Revelation 9:1-11)

RATINGS BATTLE — CBS is about to revamp its prime-time programming slate by offering several more new series than were originally set to air. The effort is designed to stave off attempts by ABC to chip away at the network's ratings lead. With "M*A*S*H" about to sign off, CBS must scramble to find entertaining programs. Moreover, "Private Benjamin," "Square Pegs" and "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers" are all due to go on hiatus, either permanently or for a short period of time. CBS' already-announced second-season series are "The Mississippi" with Ralph Waite, "Wizards and Warriors" featuring Jeff Conaway, and "Johnny Blue," starring Glenn Ford. The newly announced programs include "Goodnight Beantown," "ACE CRAWFORD, privatey" and "Gun Shy." "Goodnight Beantown" will feature Bill Bixby and Marlette Hartley as hosts of a local TV news show who dislike each other. "Ace Crawford" will star Tim Conway as a bumbling private eye, while "Gun Shy" features Geoff Lewis and Tim Thomerson as a couple of inept outlaws. Hoping to bolster its ratings, ABC is adding extra hours to "Winds of War," its "novel for television," which debuts this week. The Australian saga "The Thorn Birds," in order to cash in on higher ratings. Last-place NBC has made substantial progress to beef up its programming. They are no longer considered to be the laughing-stock of the TV industry. TIMERMAN DRAMA — NBC is airing a two-hour movie based on "Prisoner Without a Name," the book by Argentinean publisher-activist Jacobo Timerman. Roy Scheider and Liv Ullman will star in the drama, which may air before the current TV season ends in April.

CHAD FITZGERALD
...displays Valentine cake

By SANDY PANKEY
Staff Writer

It's not enough that he attends school, is involved in various school activities and recently acquired a part in the one act school play for contest...he bakes and decorates cakes for not only his family and friends but as a money-making project.

Chad Fitzgerald, a 15-year-old sophomore at Hereford High School, really became serious about cake decorating in November.

"While I was growing up, I stayed after school with my grandmother. I remember seeing her bake a tiered anniversary cake and decorating it with lots of yellow roses cascading down the sides. I was really fascinated by her skill," Chad recalls.

"When I was 12 years old, I asked her to show me how to decorate cakes, but it wasn't until around Thanksgiving that I got seriously involved in it."

Chad's mother, Peggy Fitzgerald, is receptionist at Deaf Smith General Hospital, and would take many of his culinary creations to work. That more or less started the ball rolling. People began to take notice and began placing orders.

Chad averages baking one cake every couple of weeks. He has a variety of cake molds including Santa Claus, Cookie Monster, Donald Duck, heart-shaped pans, Mickey Mouse, round tier and flower pedal tier cake pans and Strawberry Shortcake molds.

Most of his baking and decorating is done in the evenings and it takes approximately one and a half hours to trim the average cake.

"The most difficult cakes to decorate are those for customers that haven't an idea as to what they want on them," explains Chad.

"I enjoy cooking and baking and since my mother works, it also helps her out."

Chad is currently serving as vice-president of the sophomore class, plays trumpet in the HHS band and is a Key Club member.

He has one brother, Winston Short, and a sister, Greta Phommyvong, both of Amarillo.

Two of Chad's favorite cookie recipes are those for chocolate chip and no-bake oatmeal cookies.

CHOCOLATE CHIP COOKIES

- 1/2 cup Crisco
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 1/4 cup brown sugar
- 1 egg
- 1/2 tsp. vanilla
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1 Tbsp. water
- 1 1/4 cup flour
- 1/2 tsp. soda
- 1 (7 or 8 oz.) pkg. chocolate chips
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts

Cream together the Crisco, sugar, egg, vanilla, salt and water. Sift together the flour and soda and add to the cream mixture. Mix thoroughly.

Add chocolate chips and nuts. Mix.

Drop by spoonful two inches apart on a greased cookie sheet. Bake at 350 degrees for about 20 minutes or until done.

NO BAKE OATMEAL COOKIES

- 2 cups sugar
- 1/2 cup cocoa
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/2 cup butter
- 3 cups oatmeal

Boil mixture for 1 minute and add oatmeal.

Skunk

That unpleasant aroma of a skunk comes from an oily liquid which the skunk uses as a defense against enemies. This oil, is known as "mercaptan," and is stored in the two scent glands under the animal's tail. The skunk does not like the smell either; it tries not to get the offensive liquid on its own fur.

Reception for Darlene Stovall set Saturday

An informal welcome-home reception for Darlene Stovall will be held at 6:30 p.m. Saturday at the First Assembly of God, 15th and Avenue F. Friends and acquaintances are invited.

Miss Stovall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Stovall, has been in Houston undergoing medical treatment since late summer. She will be coming home Friday.

"Everyone has been awfully good to her, and we would like for her to see those who have helped and remembered her while she was in the hospital," said her father.

Compton named to honor list

Karen Ann Compton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kerr, has been named to the Dean's Honor List at the University of Texas at Austin for the 1967 fall semester.

A sophomore in the school of business, she attained a 4.0 grade point average for the fall semester.

Sorry about this, but you'll have to wait till May to blame ill luck on Friday the 13th.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Thursday, Feb. 10, the 41st day of 1967. There are 324 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On Feb. 10, 1763, France ceded Canada to England as the Treaty of Paris was signed, ending the French and Indian War.

On this date:

In 1828, South American revolutionary leader Simon Bolivar became ruler of Colombia.

In 1846, members of the Mormon faith began an exodus to the West from Illinois.

In 1962, the Soviet Union exchanged captured American U-2 pilot Gary Powers for a Soviet spy held by the United States.

In 1964, the House of Representatives passed the Civil Rights Act.

Ten years ago: U.S. envoy Henry Kissinger arrived in Hanoi to discuss America's postwar relations with North Vietnam.

Five years ago: Angry coal miners stormed into a United Mine Workers bargaining council meeting in Washington, blocking a council vote on a proposed settlement of the 9-week coal strike.

One year ago: Federal Reserve Board chairman Paul Volcker said the central bank would continue a tight monetary policy to fight inflation.

Today's birthdays: Opera singer Leontyne Price is 56.

Thought for today: "Nothing can harm a good man, either in life or death." — Socrates, Greek philosopher (469 B.C.-399 B.C.)

Ann Landers

Figures just averages

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When I listen to the women talk in the beauty shop, I think I must be undersexed or terribly cheated. My husband and I have been married for 15 years. We are in our middle 40s and our sex life is very quiet compared with the women I hear. Are there any figures on this subject? Please look around, Ann. — I Need To Know In Minnesota

POLLY'S POINTERS

Polly Fisher

Cleaning kitchen chairs

DEAR POLLY — What can I do to my pine kitchen chairs that have become very sticky where they are handled? Any help will be greatly appreciated. — MYRTLENE
DEAR MYRTLENE — I'm sure all those chairs need a good cleaning wherever they've become sticky. First try gently washing with a mild detergent in warm water. Rinse quickly and dry thoroughly. If that doesn't do the trick, make a mixture of three tablespoons linseed oil, two tablespoons turpentine and one quart hot water, and use it to wash the furniture with a soft cloth, wiping dry with a fresh cloth when clean. Polish if necessary to protect the finish and restore the gloss. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Here's a suggestion for people who are tired of the sloppiness and cost of cat litter. Lay a thick pad of newspaper on the bottom of the litter box, then tear enough thin strips of newspaper to fill the box. This shredded paper controls odor very well and is much neater than ordinary litter. If your cat is very used to ordinary litter, place some newspaper strips on top of the litter for a few weeks so they get used to using the newspaper. However, my 12-year-old cat switched without hesitation. — MRS. L.W.

DEAR POLLY — My daughter told me of a wonderful way to keep the room humidifier clean and sweet smelling: add one to two tablespoons liquid fabric softener to the full water tank. I used only this all last winter and the humidifier needed very little cleaning. — E.L.B.

DEAR POLLY — Here's an easy way to get brazil nuts out of the shell. Spread the nuts in a shallow pan, place in a cold oven, then heat for 20 minutes at 350 degrees. Cool, crack, and see how easy you can remove the nuts from the shell. Happy Pointers! — D.L.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

To staple, or not

DEAR DR. LAMB — My friends and I were watching a TV program about stapling off a portion of the stomach so the person can only eat approximately three to four ounces of food at a time and therefore lose about eight pounds a month. The one side effects that a lady had was that if she ate too much she would vomit. This seems to us a minor side effect. I am 100 pounds overweight. I have tried everything to lose weight and always wind up getting sick on a diet. I've also been diagnosed as a borderline diabetic. There is a history of heart disease in my family. All of my grandparents and parents were heavy. My grandmother weighed more than 300 pounds. I have arthritis and a sister has osteoporosis with a spine like powder and bones that break like fine china. I weigh 238 and am 5-feet-6, age 49. I am willing to try anything, including this surgery, if you give the OK. Any information would be appreciated.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 22-year-old male in good health except for one thing. I have little hard lumps or knots on my penis. One is under the head and the other two are in the folds of my uncircumcised skin. They look like warts. Is it possible? They have been there for about a month now and give me no problems except for my sex life. Women don't like it. I don't think it's VD or herpes because the sores aren't open and I don't think they are filled with pus. They are kind of hard. There is no itching, discharge or pain. This is very, very depressing. Please help. Would it hurt to try Compound W in case it is warts?

DEAR DR. LAMB — Compound W is used for warts but indeed it might hurt — or smart somewhat — if used in such a delicate area. You need to find out first what you have. It is a good bet that you do have warts. They do occur in that location and are a bit different from ordinary warts. Specialized treatment, considering the location, is usually indicated. Canadian geese migrate in a wedge, or V-shape formation for two reasons. The eyes of geese are on the sides of their heads, so it can see the other geese more easily while flying in a "V" formation. This arrangement also gives each bird room to flap its long wings, which span up to five feet.

Caller may have 'Overstated' complaint

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — An anonymous caller who threatened to poison Lake Livingston may have "overstated" his complaint that a stretch of shoreline was being polluted with garbage, authorities say. The caller apparently was upset because refrigerators, hot water heaters and other refuse was being dumped into the lake near Glen Haven Estates subdivision, said John F. Jadosich, a spokesman for the Trinity River Authority. The same day, a caller made a similar complaint, but included the threat to put non-specified poisons into the lake, Jadosich said Wednesday. "There is no question that it was a threat and we are still responding as if it was a real threat. But it is possible that the fellow overstated his case in making the second complaint," Jadosich said. "This just reinforces our belief that it was a hoax," he said. Grady Manis, assistant manager of authority's regional office, said water samples were being analyzed Wednesday and that lake water would not be pumped into Livingston and Huntsville systems until tests were completed. Those two towns switched to well water because of the poisoning threat. Huntsville and Livingston, as well as some small water districts in the area, normally use water from Lake Livingston, which covers a 56-square mile area of Southeast Texas. Manis said officials of separate agency offices were relieved when they compared notes on their Tuesday phone calls. A caller complained to the agency's Lake Livingston office Tuesday morning, saying trash had been dumped in the lake, Manis said. On Tuesday afternoon, he said, a caller to the Huntsville office threatened to dump poison in the same part of the lake.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter about the New Jersey baby parade sparked a sore spot in my experience as a minister. I am troubled when people insist that a tiny tot be a flower girl or a ring-bearer in a wedding service. This sometimes forces a small child to perform for the gratification of adults in a way that may be very difficult for him or her. I have seen children frightened to the point of hysteria when forced to walk down the aisle. It adds nothing but stress and confusion to a wedding which otherwise would be sacred and meaningful. And who knows the extent of psychological trauma it may cause the child.

DEAR PERPLEXED: You would not believe the names I have been called for taking a stand against flower girls and ring-bearers. Thank you for your supportive comments. Your second complaint is one I know a good deal about, since I do some lecturing myself. Here's how I deal with crying babies or very young children who talk out loud when I am on the platform: I pause for a very long moment. Then I give the parent two minutes to silence or remove the child. If the noise doesn't stop, I say, "Will you please take the little one out? It is unfair to the audience to allow this disturbance to continue. Thank you very much."
