Crane death appears natural

MATAGORDA ISLAND, Texas (AP) — The death of a young whooping crane appears to have been natural, but scientists have not pinpointed what killed the rare bird, a spokesman for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service says.

Monday to count cranes, detected signals from a radio tracking device but could not see the bird.

On Tuesday, a search by ground found the remains, "consisting of some bones and feathers and the radio tracking device that had been on the bird since it was banded in Wood Buffalo National Park in the Northwest Territories of Canada," Smylie said.

Angry farmers
protest sale

SPRINGFIELD, Colo. (AP) — Angry farmers who tried to halt a farm foreclosure sale with an egg-throwing demonstration broken up by tear gas say they were protesting federal policies that hurt the agricultural industry.

Association of Lamar, Colo., said Wright was three years behind in his payments.

The American Agriculture Movement, which was founded in this southeast Colorado community five years ago and formed tractorcades to Washington to protest farm policies, organized Tuesday's protest, said Laurie Schroder of Campo, Colo., wife of another founder, Eugene Schroder.

Air Force apologizes

Crashed plane cleared from runway

AMARILLO, Texas AP — The Air Force has apologized to this Panhandle city for the inconvenience caused by the crash of a C-141 transport plane, which sat disabled on the Amarillo International Airport main runway for 23 hours and halted all major airline traffic.

They were practicing touch-and-go landings at the airport Monday evening when the landing gear malfunctioned, forcing the jet to crash land in form, said Don Johnson, spokesman for Oklahoma's Altus Air Force Base, where the plane was based.

The disabled plane forced the cancellation of 40 takeoffs and landings, and left 2,300 passengers stranded.

Planes weighing less than 33,000 pounds continued to use an auxiliary runway, said air traffic controller Larry Whisenant.

Ann Landers Can't fill parents' role

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I teach in a large day care center in Memphis. It is hard work, no prestige, modest pay, but I love kids and feel that I am performing a valuable community service.

The parents are another story. One mother told me her son is impossible to control. He has a bad temper, abuses his younger brothers and uses terrible language when he talks to her. She asked if I would mind spending some extra time to "straighten the kid out."

Last week another mother tried to leave her three-year-old at the center with the following instructions: "He has a cold and sore throat. Please call me if his temperature goes over 103 degrees, and keep him away from the other kids." She was furious when we refused to take the child. It meant losing a day's pay because she had to stay home from work to take care of him.

Yesterday a father brought in his daughter, half-hysterical and in tears. Her cat had been run over that morning. He promised her she could sit on my lap all day and make up for it.

Please, Ann, tell these moms and dads that we do all we can for their kids, but we aren't their parents and they shouldn't expect us to fill the role that is theirs. Thanks for listening. -- Johnny's Teacher.

DEAR TEACHER: This past year I have received a great many letters from day care center teachers and their assistants with similar complaints. It's time I printed one. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 22. My boyfriend is 24. He came here from another town, so I didn't know much about his background.

When we first started to date he talked an awful lot about his past - sex-wise ... mostly one-night stands. It made him sound awfully cheap. After two months of listening to that garbage I told him to shut up. He seemed hurt.

I wish he hadn't told me so much. It made me lose respect for him. Our relationship has gone downhill ever since. Please explain why a guy would do that. - More Than I Care To Know In N.J.

DEAR MORE: Your boyfriend obviously gets his jollies reciting the details of his purple past. He sounds adolescent, to say the least, and perverted in the bargain - not much of a candidate for the long haul, honey.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My fiancé was raised by his grandmother. We announced our engagement last week and went to her home to tell her first. I have seen the woman only four times and am frightfully uncomfortable in her presence. No way is she going to approve of me. I am the wrong religion, too thin, went to "inferior" schools, and my family background is "very ordinary."

I would do anything to win her over. My fiancé adores his grandmother, and he owes her a great deal. Please give me some advice, Ann. - Unacceptable In Vermont

DEAR VERMONT: Quit trying to butter up the baracuda and you'll come off much better. She may never find you acceptable but at least she'll know you are not a hypocrite.

All Home Satellite Systems Are Not Created Equal!

A "real deal" isn't always a good bargain!

There's a lot of hubbub and advertising hype around now days about TV earth stations with claims like the best, highest quality, lowest price etc. etc. You also see one company listing their antennas, others promoting their receivers, and still another pushing bits, parts, and pieces that add on to be in to make up a satellite receiving system.

If you're getting a bit confused, and who wouldn't be, consider these simple facts about a Birdview System.

1. It is a highly advanced but straightforward system, engineered and manufactured from the ground up, entirely by Birdview, as a totally matched system.
2. The antenna is a one-piece, 5' spun aluminum dish with a simple but very unique polar mount that sets on a single 6" pipe.
3. The use of a dual conversion LNC with crystal synthesis tuning, comparable in design and construction to commercial quality units, and enclosed in a solid weather proof housing.
4. The use of two low noise amplifiers that simplifies tuning and eliminates rotating devices usually found on other systems.
5. A small, compact receiver with 24 channel detente video tuning, variable audio tuning, LED digital readout built-in modulator, and source selection that operates as simply as your television set. Straight "1" channel selection, no fine tuning to adjust. Over 100 channels to select from sports, movies, news, weather, music, Spanish, children's, religious & drama.

6. The entire system may be purchased from a local authorized video retailer who is capable of installation and service.

7. The suggested retail price is only $3495 and the entire system is backed by a one year warranty from a single source.

What it all means is engineered quality, a superb picture, and a whole new world of television enjoyment at a price you can afford.

There are cheaper systems and more expensive ones, but there's only one Birdview. Check it out carefully, we think you'll agree that all Home Satellite Systems are NOT CREATED EQUAL.

HHS girls win, boys lose to Tascosa

By Les Giles
Sports Editor

AMARILLO—Just when it looked like Hereford's girls had been left for dead, trailing by 11 points early in the third quarter, Tascosa suddenly did an about-face enabling the Herd to escape with a five-point (50-45) victory here Tuesday night.

Hereford's boys, on the other hand, weren't so fortunate. Tascosa, a team blessed with a great amount of raw talent, used a solid third period to break open a tight game and toll to a 68-53 victory.

"I don't think we ran our offense one time in the second quarter," girls' coach Larry Sowers said afterward. "And, it showed."

"I'd have to say we were fortunate to come away with a win. We didn't play well, especially early, but they (Tascosa) didn't play well down on the stretch."

With 6:25 left in the third period, Tascosa enjoyed a 30-19 lead, and appeared headed to an easy victory. But, things went sour for the Rebel girls after that. At one stretch, Tascosa made only three of 15 field-goal attempts, and during that time Hereford went from that 11-point deficit to a nine-point (45-36) lead, with 3:30 to play in the contest.

Hereford scored the first points of the game with 4:15 left in the opening period, but Tascosa reeled off six straight points to take the lead, then outscored the Herd, 7-2, during the first minute and a half of the second stanza to grab a 13-4 lead.

Hereford finally took the lead (33-32) with 22 seconds left in the third period when Sherri Ellis grabbed an offensive rebound and put it back. But Tascosa's Marcia Mitchell hit a layup and Hereford's Barbara Brown hit the front end of a one-and-one foul situation to make it, 34-34, heading into the final quarter.

A basket by Ellis with 5:11 to play put Hereford in front, 38-36, before a three-point play by Angela Richburg with 4:42 to go made it, 41-36.

Then, buckets by Stephanie Foster and Ellis, following Tascosa turnovers, gave Hereford a 45-36 cushion with 3:30 to play, and the outcome didn't appear in as much doubt.

Tascosa did close within four points twice after that, but could get no closer as Foster and Brown dropped in free throws in the final 37 seconds to preserve the triumph.

For the game, Hereford was 18 of 58 from the field for 31 percent. Tascosa was 19 of 54 for 35 percent. The difference came from the charity stripe where Hereford was 14 of 23 (60.8 percent), compared to seven of 16 (43.7 percent) for Tascosa.

Ellis led Hereford, now 3-3 in district play and 5-5 overall, with 14 points and 14 rebounds. Sophomore Carla Alford and Richburg each added nine points. Mitchell led Tascosa, now 2-5 in league play and 3-10 overall, with 17 points. Vicky Lewis added 13 points and pulled down 10 rebounds.

Hereford's boys stayed close through the first two periods thanks to 55 percent (11 of 20) shooting from the field. But, in the second half Tascosa, now 3-2 in district action and 8-8 overall, used its superior size, strength and quickness to take command.

"We played as well as we could the first half," Bobby Decker said, "and still were behind by three (29-26) points."

"We can't play any better than we did the first half. But, in the second half they just dominated us. They controlled the boards, and they got a lot more shots, because they were able to hit the offensive end."

"I just find it hard to believe they are 8-8 on the season. There's a lot of raw talent there. I'd say they're the best team, talent-wise, we've played this season."

Tascosa's James Dawn, a 6-4 senior, led the assault with 27 points and 13 rebounds. He got 16 of those points in the second half, as well as eight rebounds.

Hereford, now 0-4 in district play and 5-11 overall, fell behind by nine points (27-18) with 2:03 left in the first half, but rallied to get within one (27-26) with 11 seconds to go, but a 24-footer by Dwayne Smith at the buzzer gave the Rebels a 29-26 edge.

With six minutes to play in the third period Hereford was down by three (33-30), but Tascosa scored the next six points and outscored the Herd, 13-5, during a 3½ minute span to open a 46-35 lead.

Later in the quarter Tascosa reeled off eight unanswered points to go up, 54-37, and the game was no longer in doubt.

Tascosa led by as many as 21 points in the final period, before emptying its bench and Hereford was able to close the gap somewhat in the final four minutes.

The Rebels were 26 of 65 from the field (40 percent), but only because they were two of 15 for the final period. Through three quarters they were 24 of 50 for 48 percent.

Hereford wound up hitting 22 of 45 for the game for 48.8 percent. Tascosa enjoyed a decisive 40-27 rebound edge. At the offensive end, the Rebels were in command, 21-7. Simply put, Tascosa took 20 more shots and hit four more.

From the line, the Rebels were 16 of 23, while Hereford was nine of 13.

Stadler defends Tucson Open title

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Craig Stadler defends his title in the $300,000 Joe Garagiola-Tucson Open this week, kicking off the new-look PGA Tour.

It's the first event on the expanded main Tour, a 43-tournament schedule that runs through the end of October with more than $15 million in total prize money.

Also on tap this year is a Seniors' Tour of some 20 tournaments, for players 50 years and older, and a new, 10-event Tournament Players Series. This series was set up to accommodate some of the men who failed to make the all-exempt main tour, along with some PGA club pros and some older touring pros in the 40-49 age bracket.

In all, more than $20 million is up for grabs in more than 70 tournaments. Exact figures are not available since some purses and some tournaments still are under negotiation.

The seniors and Tournament Players Series tours don't start for a couple of months, but the main Tour ushers in the new season Thursday with Stadler, Cal Peete, Lanny Wadkins and Bob Gilder topping a field of 144, none of whom had to qualify. The tournament is the first on the all-exempt tour, which this season has eliminated the Monday qualifying rounds.

Stadler used a victory in this event last year as a springboard to a season that included a Masters triumph and leading money-winning honors. He and Peete each won four times on the U.S. Tour in 1982, and Peete added two late-season triumphs in Japan.

Wadkins and Gilder, with three victories each, complete a quartet that accounted for 14 of the 44 titles on last year's American schedule.

While those four may have the more gaudy credentials, the men most likely to succeed on the flat, 6,797-yard, par-70 Randolph Park Municipal Park course include Johnny Miller and Bruce Lietzke.

Miller, who built his reputation as golf's Golden Boy of the 1970s around a domination of the desert events, has won this title four times and usually plays his best at the start of the season.

Lietzke, twice a winner here, also is a notorious fast-starter.

"I usually start out fresh and ready to go, and play my best at the start of the year," said Lietzke, the current Canadian Open titleholder.

Junior High roundup

Natalie Sims tossed in 16 points and Becky Curtis added 14 as LaPlata's 9th grade girls rolled past Plainview Blue, 61-48, Tuesday in junior high basketball action.

The victory raised LaPlata's record to 10-2 this season. They are 3-1 in district play.

LaPlata's other girls' teams didn't fare as well, however. The 8th grade dropped a 41-30 decision to fall to 0-4 in district and 1-6 overall, while the 7th grade lost, 35-17, to drop to 2-2 in league play and 4-4 overall.

Susie Kaika, Monica Devers and Leann Paetzold scored six points apiece to lead the LaPlata 8th grade. Kamille Martin led the 7th grade with four points.

Stanton's boys, meanwhile, managed one victory against the Plainview Red Tuesday. Kyle Streun scored 12 points to lead the 8th grade to a 37-31 victory. Plainview won the 9th grade contest, 57-37, and the 7th grade game, 37-29. Rodney Torres led Stanton's 9th grade with 13 points, while Marcus Brown had 12 for the 7th grade.

Plainview's Red team also won two of the three girls' games. Stanton's only win came in the 9th grade game, 33-28, as Donann Cummings and Whitney Drake fired in 11 points and Stephanie Ford added nine.

Plainview won the 8th grade game, 30-27 and the 7th grade clash 51-9. Bernice Ross led Stanton's 8th grade team with 14 points, while Crystal Ball had three for the 7th graders.

Rams fire Malavasi

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Los Angeles Rams owner Georgia Frontiere says she fired head coach Ray Malavasi, who guided the National Football League club to its only Super Bowl berth, "for the sake of our fans."

Malavasi, who coached the Rams into the Super Bowl in 1980, but who had two losing seasons, was relieved of his position Tuesday, confirming reports from early in the season that he was on his way out.

Mrs. Frontiere said in a prepared statement: "We are indebted to Ray for some fine seasons of football. He helped us into the playoffs three times, won two division

"I have a strong personal feeling of friendship for Ray. He is a fine and loyal person. However, I feel for the sake of our fans, it is time to make a change."

championships and coached our first Super Bowl team. Unfortunately, the results of the past two seasons have fallen short of our goal to give our fans a winning team.

Riddled by injuries, the Rams completed the strike-shortened season with a 2-7 record after going 6-10 in 1981. Malavasi had steered them to a record of 12-4 after becoming the head coach in 1978, then 9-7 in 1979 and 11-5 in 1980.

Chiefs fire Levy

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Empty seats probably had as much to do with Marv Levy's firing as all the losses his teams absorbed.

Owner Lamar Hunt said as much Tuesday while announcing that his Kansas City Chiefs would be looking for their fifth head coach since 1974.

"We aren't interested in playing in front of 12,000 fans, or 24,000," Hunt said. "We can't compete in the National Football League with the revenue generated from attendance like that."

The 11,902 who huddled in the cold Sunday for the Chiefs' season finale were a grim contrast to the noisy throughs that once packed Arrowhead Stadium. When the 78,097-seat facility opened in 1972, almost 70,000 season tickets had already been sold. There were five crowds greater than 78,000 that season, two years after the victory over Minnesota in Super Bowl IV.

Levy knew he might be in jeopardy after the fiercely pro-union Chiefs lost their first four post-strike games and finished 3-6.

"The news was not a total surprise to me because I could sense a feeling here," he said. "But it was still a shock when it came. We were already preparing hard for next season and the draft. I certainly plan to keep coaching and feel in my own heart I could do a good job in coaching."

Levy was fresh from guiding Montreal to a second straight Canadian Football League title when Hunt put him in charge in January, 1978. He inherited a talent-starved team, mostly the aging remnants of Hank Stram's 1970 Super Bowl champions, who had finished 2-12 the year before and cost first Paul Wiggins and then Tom Bettis their jobs.

The first year Levy was 4-12. Then steady improvement was notched with 7-9 and 8-8 years. The Chiefs went 6-2 the first half of the 1981 season, but collapsed to a 9-7 mark, nevertheless their first winning effort since 1972. Almost all criticism of Levy's teams centered on the offense.

Connors is Volvo favorite

NEW YORK (AP) — Top-seeded Jimmy Connors will have a tough road to travel if he is to capture the $400,000 Volvo Grand Prix Masters tennis tournament later this month.

The tournament, which will be staged at Madison Square Garden Jan. 18-23, features the top 12 players from the 1982 Grand Prix series, which connects 80 tournaments worldwide.

Connors, along with second-seeded Guillermo Vilas of Argentina, No. 3 Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia and No. 4 John McEnroe, received first-round byes.

French Davis Cup team. The bottom half of the draw features Vilas, McEnroe, French Open champion Mats Wilander of Sweden, Jose Luis Clerc of Argentina, Jose Higueras of Spain and Andres Gomez of Spain.

First-round pairings send into battle Krick and Denton, who played for the title of the Australian Open for the past two years; Gerulaitis and Noah; Wilander and Clerc; and Higueras and Gomez. The winner will collect $100,000.

Connors, who captured the 1982 Grand Prix bonus pool, will receive $600,000 for finishing first in the year-long series.

Cowboys announce 1983 NFL schedule

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys' 1983 regular season National Football League schedule shows home games against the Los Angeles Raiders, Tampa Bay Bucs, New Orleans Saints and Kansas City Chiefs in addition to foes in the National Conference East.

The Cowboys will hit the road to play Minnesota, San Francisco, San Diego and Seattle besides the NFC East.

The dates have yet to be released.

The first year Levy was 4-12. Then steady improvement was notched with 7-9 and 8-8 years. The Chiefs went 6-2 the first half of the 1981 season, but collapsed to a 9-7 mark, nevertheless their first winning effort since 1972. Almost all criticism of Levy's teams centered on the offense.

Oilers' schedule

76ers' Malone player of month

NEW YORK (AP) — Center Moses Malone of the Philadelphia 76ers and guard Larry Drew of the Kansas City Kings were named co-winners of the NBA's Player of the Month Award for December.

During December, Malone averaged 24.3 points and 16.3 rebounds in leading the 76ers to an 11-2 record.

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers will host five 1982 playoff teams on their 1983 National Football League schedule, the team has announced.

The Oilers, who finished out of the playoffs for the second straight year with a 1-8 record, will host playoff-bound Green Bay and Miami in addition to American Football Conference Central Division foes Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Cleveland. Other home games will be against Detroit, Kansas City and Denver.

Tampa Bay, Minnesota and the Los Angeles Raiders, all playoff teams this year, will highlight the Oilers' road schedule.

Other road games, in addition to division opponents, will include Buffalo and Baltimore.

Celtics finally wake up

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD
AP Sports Writer

The Boston Celtics didn't wake up until Coach Bill Fitch told them they were playing the role of the dead man at their own funeral.

The Houston Rockets, whose 4-27 record is the worst in the National Basketball Association, took a 43-26 lead over the Celtics with 5:47 left in first half Tuesday night. Three seconds later, Fitch called time out and gave his team a lecture.

"I told them, 'If you don't get some dirt off our faces, you can forget it, because they'll bury us,'" Fitch said. "That's what funerals are all about. We decided we had to make our run now."

The Celtics responded with a 16-2 spurt that cut the deficit to three points by halftime. Although the Rockets managed a 12-2 run in the first 6 1/2 minutes of the fourth quarter to take a six-point lead, the Celtics finally won their 24th game in 32 outings, 88-87.

"We were playing a game, but it wasn't our game," said Larry Bird, who had 22 points, 17 rebounds and eight assists for Boston.

In other NBA games, it was Phoenix 97, New York 85; San Antonio 104, Atlanta 95; Washington 92, Dallas 84; Chicago 147, Detroit 138 in double overtime; New Jersey 102, Milwaukee 95; Denver 137, Kansas City 121; Utah 100, Golden State 88; and Portland 119, Indiana 117.

Nets 102, Bucks 95
Darwin Cook and Buck Williams scored 22 points apiece as New Jersey set a club record with its sixth straight victory.

The Nets led 89-80 with 8:26 left after a basket by Cook, but the Bucks rallied to cut the deficit to 96-93 with 2:19 to go. But baskets by Darrell Dawkins and Williams put New Jersey back in control.

Spurs 104, Hawks 95
Mike Mitchell scored 29 points for San Antonio, including two consecutive baskets that started an 8-0 run by the Spurs in the final 2:48 against Atlanta.

The spurt extended a 94-91 lead into a 102-91 advantage for the Spurs with only 46 seconds remaining.

Artis Gilmore added 23 points for San Antonio, while Tom McMillen led the Hawks with 26.

Nuggets 137, Kings 121
Alex English scored 36 points and Kiki Vandeweghe 34 as Denver beat Kansas City without injured starting center Dan Issel.

The victory avenged a 44-point defeat to the Kings on Dec. 22. Ray Williams led Kansas City with 26 points.

Bulls 147, Pistons 138

Dave Corzine scored seven of his 11 points in the second overtime as Chicago snapped a three-game losing streak.

The Bulls had a two-point lead in regulation when Chicago's Orlando Woolridge was called for goaltending on a shot at the buzzer by Isiah Thomas, who scored 31 points for Detroit.

Vinnie Johnson, who led all scorers with 33 points for the Pistons, forced the second overtime when he hit a 15-footer with four seconds remaining in the first extra period.

Mark Olberding led the Bulls with 28 points.

Bullets 92, Mavericks 84
Rick Mahorn had 23 points and 16 rebounds to lead Washington over Dallas, which lost its fifth straight game.

The Mavericks opened the fourth quarter with a 9-1 spurt that gave them an 81-74 lead, but Washington scored 16 of the next 19 points for a 90-84 edge with 1:45 left.

Suns 97, Knicks 85

Larry Nance scored 21 points and Dennis Johnson 20 to carry Phoenix over New York, which lost for the first time in four games.

While Nance has averaged 21.5 points in his last five outings, it was only the sixth 20-point game of the season for Johnson, the Suns' leading scorer last year with a 19.5 average.

Bernard King led all scorers with 28 points for the Knicks, who cut a 19-point deficit to five in the second half, but then fell behind again when Phoenix scored the next 11 points.

Jazz 100, Warriors 88
Darrell Griffith scored 34 points and Utah held Golden State to 31 percent shooting in the first half and 39 percent for the game.

The Jazz jumped ahead 47-34 at halftime and led by as many as 24 points in the fourth quarter. Purvis Short was the only bright spot for the Warriors with 38 points.

Blazers 119, Pacers 117
Jim Paxson scored 13 of his 32 points in the fourth period and hit a 20-foot jumper with four seconds left to give Portland its fifth straight victory and 13th consecutive triumph at home.

Mychal Thompson's basket with 1:04 left gave the Trail Blazers a 117-115 lead, their first since early in the game. Two free throws by Indiana's Billy Knight tied it with 20 seconds remaining.

Because of mixup

Dorsett run impressive

DALLAS (AP) — Tony Dorsett's 99-yard touchdown run Monday night against the Minnesota Vikings — longest in National Football League history — was even more impressive than it looked because the Dallas Cowboys only had 10 men on the field.

And Dorsett wasn't supposed to get the ball. The computerized Cowboys had a mixup, partly because the loud crowd in the Metrodome made it difficult for fullback Ron Springs to hear the play.

Dallas backfield Coach Al Lavan said the play from the bench called for Springs to get the ball and try to punch it out away from the Cowboys' goal line.

"One player thought he heard Jayhawk called which means there is just one back in the backfield so Springs came out just before the ball was snapped," Lavan said.

NFL should consider Super Bowl tourney

By BERT ROSENTHAL AP Sports Writer

This season's expanded Super Bowl tournament, the result of the 57-day players' strike, is something the National Football League should seriously consider for the future, says William H. Sullivan Jr., president of the New England Patriots.

Sullivan's Patriots were one of the six beneficiaries of the NFL's decision to increase the number of playoff teams from 10 to 16 — eight each from the American and National conferences, instead of the customary five apiece.

The Pats, after a disastrous 2-14 record last season, rebounded for a 5-4 mark in the strike-shortened 1982 season and were one of the three "extra" AFC teams qualifying for the playoffs, which begin this weekend.

New England made it by beating the Buffalo Bills 30-19 last Sunday on the final weekend of the regular season.

"Although cynics may ridicule the whole thing (the playoff format), the honor or the opportunity of being in the playoffs has greatly lifted the spirits of our fans," said Sullivan. "Their reaction after the game was the most startling thing I've ever seen in all my years in sports."

"That one victory Sunday erased all the bad moments of our team's past for the fans. It was great, really great."

Sullivan said the team's ineffectiveness in recent years — the Patriots have not won a playoff game since 1963 — and its poor attendance prior to the strike were hurting the New England area.

"I think this particular section of the country is a little slower in having large attendance numbers unless the teams are in a pennant race," he said.

The system enabled most teams to remain in playoff contention for nearly the whole season. Going into the next-to-last weekend of the season, only three of the 28 NFL teams had been eliminated from the Super Bowl tournament, and heading into the final weekend, only six were out.

Under the past format, the three division champions and two "wild card" teams from each conference qualified for the playoffs. Using that system this season, first-place finishers Miami, Cincinnati and the Los Angeles Raiders would have qualified in the AFC, along with wild cards San Diego and Pittsburgh. In the NFC, it would have been champions Washington, Green Bay and Atlanta, plus Dallas and Minnesota.

It would have meant that

New England, the New York Jets and Cleveland would not have made it in the AFC, and St. Louis, Tampa Bay and Detroit would have been out in the NFC.

"Maybe, by accident we have stumbled onto something," Sullivan said. "For the long run, the more teams involved in the playoffs, the greater (fan) interest there is going to be."

"I would think that somebody smarter than I could come up with the best (playoff) format from both plans."

While Sullivan is highly in favor of increasing the number of teams in the playoffs, he appears to have very little support.

"Of the people I've talked to, there is very little sentiment for continuing the playoff format of this season," said Tex Schramm, president of the Dallas Cowboys and head of the NFL's Competition Committee.

"I think what they did (this season) was the best thing they could have done under the circumstances. It was an expediency, you could say. I think most clubs are in favor of going back to the previous format."

Presidents Jim Kensil of the Jets, Bing Devine of St. Louis and Art Modell of Cleveland agreed with Schramm.

"I think what was done this season was good only for this year," said Kensil. "It was fair and it served its purpose. But I would not want to see it in the future. There were too many teams in the playoffs. I don't think more than half your teams should be in the playoffs."

"Whatever was done this season was done under unusual circumstances," said Devine. "It (a regular-season NFL strike) never happened before and I hope it will never happen again. It (the playoff system) was done to meet a situation."

Allen only rookie named

Chargers, Jets dominate All-Pro selections

NEW YORK (AP) — The San Diego Chargers, with record-breaking quarterback Dan Fouts, and the New York Jets, paced by rushing leader Freeman McNeil, each placed four starters on The Associated Press 1982 All-Pro team.

Running back Marcus Allen of the Los Angeles Raiders was the only rookie named as a starter and rounded out the backfield for the team announced Tuesday.

Wide receiver Wes Chandler, tight end Kellen Winslow and guard Doug Wilkerson joined Fouts from San Diego, while tackle

Marvin Powell, center Joe Fields and defensive end Mark Gastineau were also named from the Jets.

San Diego also had three players named to the second team, while the Dallas Cowboys had a total of six players tabbed, including starting defensive end Ed Jones and defensive tackle Randy White. The Atlanta Falcons had five players honored, including starting guard R.C. Thielemann.

The American Conference had 17 starters and the National Conference had nine. The National Conference had 16 of the 26 players on the second team.

Fouts led the NFL by throwing for 2,889 yards to break his own record. Fouts, who has led the league four consecutive years in passing yardage, completed 204 of 330 passes for 17 touchdowns.

Winslow caught 54 passes for 721 yards and six touchdowns while Chandler had 49 receptions for a league-leading 1,032 yards and nine touchdowns. The other starting wide receiver was Dwight Clark of the San Francisco 49ers, who led the league with 60 catches for 913 yards and five TDs.

McNeil gained 786 yards on 151 carries and scored six touchdowns. Allen ran for 697 yards on 160 carries and a league-leading 11 rushing TDs.

Tackle Anthony Munoz of the Cincinnati Bengals was the other offensive starter.

First-team defensive players included tackle Doug English of the Detroit Lions, nose tackle Fred Smeries of the Buffalo Bills, outside linebackers Lawrence Taylor of the New York Giants and Ted Hendricks of the Los Angeles Raiders and inside linebacker Jack Lambert of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Also on starting defensive team were strong safety Donnie Shell of Pittsburgh, free safety Nolan Cromwell of the Los Angeles Rams and cornerbacks Mark Haynes of the Giants and Louis Breeden of Cincinnati.

The first-team specialists were place-kicker Mark Moseley of the Washington Redskins and punter Luke Prestridge and kick-returner Rick Upchurch, both of the Denver Broncos.

The second-team backfield consisted of Dallas quarterback Danny White and running back Tony Dorsett, along with Atlanta running back William Andrews. Other San Diego players on the second team were tackle Russ Washington, defensive tackle Gary "Big Hands" Johnson and safety Tim Fox.

No-shows abound

Strike toll continuing

By DAVE GOLDBERG AP Sports Writer

The 57-day day National Football League players' strike, which reduced regular season NFL attendance to a 12-year low, is taking its toll on ticket sales for the playoffs.

With the first game in the expanded 16-team playoffs only four days away, even such stalwart NFL cities as Dallas and Green Bay were reporting thousands of tickets still available for this weekend's games.

The Cowboys, who had sold out for 44 straight games until the first weekend after the strike, reported that more than 25,000 tickets were unsold for Sunday's game with Tampa Bay.

"I looked out at the ticket office today expecting to see long lines and all I saw was trees," Cowboys General Manager Tex Schramm said Tuesday.

In Green Bay, the Packers last failed to sell out in 1959, the late Vince Lombardi's first year as coach. But they reported about 20,000 tickets available for Saturday's game with St. Louis and little prospect they would all be sold by game time.

An Associated Press survey of no-shows and unsold tickets in the seven weeks of post-strike football found that NFL stadiums were, on the average, just over 76 percent full for the 98 games played.

The NFL counted no-shows — people who bought tickets but didn't bother to attend the game — at 11.6 percent this year compared to 6.7 in 1981. No shows for the post-strike period were 12.5 percent, according to the AP's figures.

The NFL put average per-game attendance for the full season at 53,000, with no-shows not included. Last season, average paid attendance was 60,745, an all-time record, with no-shows included in the tally.

The last time average paid attendance was less than 53,000 was 1970, the first year of division play following the merger of the NFL and the American Football League.

"There's no question the strike was the major factor in the dropoff," says Jim Hefernan, the league's director of public relations. "All we can hope for is that all the fans come back. We certainly hope they will."

King pardoned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Boxing promoter Don King was granted a pardon by Gov. James A. Rhodes for a first-degree manslaughter conviction.

King, of Cleveland, had been sentenced to one-to-20 years in prison for the 1966 death of Samuel Garrett. He was released on parole from the Marion Correctional Institute five years after the death and obtained a final release from parole supervision on Oct. 10, 1972.
