WASHINGTON By George Burns

Battle—There may well be some hair-pulling when the Republican National Committee assemblies in Chicago on June 5 to elect a new chairman, succeeding Everett Sanders.

For want of better names, the "Back Room Boys" and the "White Collar Lads" are doing a lot of jockeying for position.

The "Back Room Boys" represent that faction in the G. O. P. which likes to pull wires only when the smoke is thickest in a hotel suite. The "White Collar Lads" might be catalogued as those who have more or less played ball with Herbert Hoover.

A fairly wide sentiment prevails under cover that the new Republican Chairman should not have any strings attached to him to Palo Alto. But you can put down a tidy bet that no one unacceptable to Herbert Hoover can be elected peacefully.

Each faction has its own iron in the fire and its own ideas of the best way to lead the Republican Party back to glory.

Both groups were working night and day to get Sanders out of the job. Both finally decided to let the matter drift until after this fair's elections when Sanders—who has been very ill—crossed them up by resigning voluntarily. His move really was quite embarrassing—and maybe he meant it to be that way.

Charles D. Hillis, of New York, and J. Henry Rotzback, of Connecticut will bear watching in directing strategy for the "Back Room Boys."

Senator Dan Hastings, of Del., and Rep. Chester Bolton, of Ohio, who are jointly running the Congressional committees, will have a balance-of-power word to say here and there.

Adjourning—Now that Washington's cherry blossoms have come and gone and spring fever very definitely in the air, the date of Congressional adjournment is a heavy topic in all quarters.

Senator Joe Robinson, of Ark., the majority leader, is whispering very much sub rosa to his friends that decks of Congress can be cleared in time to let the boys go home some time between May 24 and June 1.

The only trouble is, that "inside information" is known to everybody in the press galleries and therefore may well be hopeful propaganda.

Long—A Senate filibuster almost always a pretty deadly proposition from the standpoint of the listener.

Leave it to the Louisiana Kingfish, however, to put some semblance of life into this time-killing, procedure-disrupting parliamentary strategy.

Huey Long was holding the floor against all comers for no other reason than to force the administration to give the silver bloc a clean-cut vote. Here was the picture—

Senator Erickson, of Montana, slept peacefully in the rear of the chamber. Frazier, of North Dakota, and Keyes, of New Hampshire, conversed animatedly on the Republican side without being bothered at all by Long's stormy efforts.

Mealy, of W. Va., slumped down in a chair next to the Kingfish with head in hands waiting impatiently for a second's lull that would enable him to make a committee report and depart. The rest of the 98 seats were quiet empty.

But the galleries were fairly well filled. It was to them Huey played. He read from Pilgrim's Progress, quoted the Bible, waved his arms and shouted loudly about the working classes.

McKellar, of Tenn., inadvertently walked into the chamber, saw what was going on and walked out—but not before Long had announced a new Senator had come in and he would have to start all over again. Which he did every time a new face showed itself even

Report Barrow And Bonnie In Midland Today

MIDLAND (Sp.)—Clyde Barrow and his woman companion, Bonnie Parker, were believed to have passed here shortly before 5 o'clock Wednesday morning, according to Angelo Smeryl, proprietor of the Silver Grill Cafe, on the east highway.

Smeryl told officers here that a V-8 car drove up in front of his place early Wednesday, a man alighting from the car and walked into his place and asked for cigarettes. He noticed a striking resemblance between the man and Clyde Barrow. Paying for his cigarettes, the man started toward the car and as he approached the woman called to him and said: "Hurry, let's get going—we're already five minutes late."

Smeryl said he saw a gun in the man's hip pocket as he climbed into the car. The car headed west.

Elvern Ray, 7, Makes Effort To Aid Others

Two Brothers, Wading In Creek, Told By Father Of Deep Water FATHER SEIZED BY CRAMPS IN WATER

All Efforts To Resuscitate Body Of Boy Meet With Failure

Elvern Ray, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Ray, 15 miles north east of Big Spring, drowned in Wild Horse creek Wednesday 30 a. m. after a vain gesture of heroism in attempting to go to the aid of his father and an older brother.

His body was recovered from the creek by Joe Gilmore, who was ploughing in a nearby field but efforts to resuscitate him were futile. He was rushed to Big Spring for further aid, but all attempts to revive him failed.

Elvern and his brother, Eugene, 5, were wading in the creek when their father cautioned them that the stream was deep and told them to get out.

Before he had finished warning them, Eugene slipped beyond his depth. His father plunged to his aid but was stricken with cramps.

Elvern then tried to rescue his father and brother. He was drowned in the attempt.

Gilmore was attracted to the creek by cries and together with others recovered the body. Valiant efforts to administer artificial respiration met with failure.

The body was rushed to Big Spring, where a physician pronounced it dead.

Elvern is survived by his parents and two brothers, Eugene and Hoise. He also leaves his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Gray, and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bond of Big Spring Route 1.

Services will be held Thursday at 3 p. m. from the Salem church. Eberly Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Herald Clouters Drub Southern Ice For Loop Lead

Newsies Down Favorites By 12-10 Count

Score Knotted 8 To 8 By Ice Men In Fifth Inning

Grandpa Glenn's Herald Type Lice took the lead in the Big Spring Softball League Tuesday afternoon when they patted the highly touted Ice Men, 12 to 10.

It was the second league victory for the Newsmen, the Ice Men's Bible Class having been the first victims.

A fine second inning in which the Herald clouters batted around, accounted for eight runs to put the Type Lice far enough out front to stand the last inning pressure.

The Ice Men settled down to steady playing in the fifth frame, and sided by numerous Herald errors, knotted the score, 8 to 8.

Add One In Sixth
The Southern Ice men added one run in the sixth and the Herald four. The losers added only one tally in the first half of the seventh and the Heralders did not take their last time at bat.

Paul Madison, Herald 3rd sacker, and the big gun in the batting attack, got four hits out of four times at bat and scored two runs.

WOMEN'S LAXATIVE MUST DO THIS

Women, because of certain organic disturbances, need laxatives frequently. Fen-a-mint is the delicious tasting chewing gum laxative that contains a laxative ingredient regularly prescribed by physicians. You chew delicious Fen-a-mint, and this chewing distributes the laxative ingredient more evenly into the intestines, thus giving a "full," more natural action. Non-habit forming. Fen-a-mint never shocks nor irritates delicate organs. Don't suffer "laxative dread," take Fen-a-mint the first "dangerous day" that starts waste matter poison seeping into the system. Fen-a-mint contains no richness to upset stomach or diet or to get stale. "Delay" is dangerous—chew Fen-a-mint for constipation. 15c and 25c at druggists.

Prelim Grappler

Louis Kodrick, 147 pound little giant from Austria, will mix with Joe Fisher, San Angelo 154 pounder, in a 45 minute time limit scrap at the Casino Thursday. Fisher is anxious to rate here.

The box scores.

Kodrick To Meet Joe Fisher In Two Out Of Three Fall Prelim

Benny Wilson and Jimmy Murphy head the wrestling card at the Casino for tomorrow night.

Murphy, the "wild Irishman" in the main event, came near beating Yaqui Joe in Abilene last Friday before 1100 people. His style is different from Wilson's and he will have no time for clowning tactics against the Abilene boy.

Wilson made a lot of friends last week with his clean, hard, fast work and is out to flatten Murphy for a shot at main events in this section.

Benny, the clean and scientific bone-bender, will have all he can handle with the husky, rough and tricky Detroit.

The ring has been repaired with under bracing to tighten the ropes. Louis Kodrick of Austria, Europa's 147 pound wrestling challenger, will meet a good heavier boy in Joe Fisher. They go best two out of three falls with a 45 minute time limit. Recently at Abilene they squabbled to a twenty minute draw.

One hundred ring-side seats will be available at one dollar, two hundred general-admission seats at sixty-five cents, and youngsters under 14 will be admitted for twenty-five cents.

Advance ticket sale at Casadena and Mint Domino.

Varied Program Planned For Golfers

By HARRY JORDAN

The tenth will be the best! That's the slogan for the 10th annual tournament of the West Texas Golf Association to be held here May 24, 25, 26, 27. The members of the Big Spring Country Club will be the hosts to many out of town people coming from all parts of West Texas. This tourney is the first of its size and kind ever to be held in Big Spring, and seeking to obtain the right to hold it, Big Spring competed with many larger towns.

Many out of town players have been seen lately playing the Country Club course in preparation for the coming tournament. It is possible to qualify any time after Sunday, May 20th, up until Thursday, May 24th, and regular qualifying round will be held Thursday afternoon, May 24th.

New $300 Mower
The course is now being prepared so it will be in good condition by the 24th. The greens are being re-sanded, and sand is to be placed in all the traps. A new $300 mower has been purchased to keep the fairways in excellent condition. All country club members are going to be asked to enter, and any members of the municipal course who hold cards are eligible to enter. Among leading Big Spring players who will enter, are Shirley Robbins, Theron Hicks and Oble Bristol, who are expected to qualify for the championship flight.

Fred Stephens, secretary of the tournament, stated that a field of 200 was expected. Some of the leading golfers from out of town are: N. C. They're paid to be dissatisfied with telephone service
The scientists of Bell Telephone Laboratories, research unit of the Bell System, are paid to be dissatisfied with telephone service... to find better ways of furnishing it... to keep the cost of service low. Without their help, the men and women who give your telephone service here could not do their job so well.

Testing for decay with a pole prod...
Telephone poles last years longer because Bell Laboratories scientists have learned to make them "taste bad" to fungus growths which cause decay.
Millions of dollars are saved annually because these research workers found a substitute for the tiny platinum contact points in telephone equipment, that is cheaper, but does the job just as well.

Flying laboratory studying aircraft communication Researches of Bell Laboratories have made it possible to send your voice across continents and seas... have found the way to make a single long distance line transmit four different conversations at once... have through scores of inventions and improvements contributed to the clearness and quality of your local telephone service.

Speech restored by artificial larynx...
By-products of this search for better telephone methods have been the development of talking motion pictures, of public address systems for auditoriums and stadiums, of aids for the hard of hearing, and of an artificial larynx which restores speech to many persons who have lost their vocal cords by surgical operations.

FOR YOU... Good Service at Fair Cost
The economies and improvements resulting from the work of Bell Laboratories are devoted, not to swelling profits, but to holding the cost of good telephone service low.
This company, as one of the 24 operating companies of the Bell System, shares in the advantages from these developments. But the person who, ultimately, benefits most... is the telephone user.
This is a fundamental policy in the telephone service. Back of it is our feeling that in an organization planned like the telephone service for the long pull, what is best for the telephone user becomes in the end the course that will bring us the sounder, more certain success.

Speakers Use Varied Subjects At Tuesday's Rotary Luncheon; Many Members Attend Abilene Meeting

V. H. Fawcett and Omar Pittman were co-chairmen for Tuesday's Rotary luncheon at the Seton hall. The meeting was attended by a large number of Rotarians, notwithstanding many went to Abilene to attend the first district conference being held in that city May 7-9.

Two speakers, E. V. Spence and Judge James T. Brooks, were on the program. Band Complimented. Mr. Spence spoke to the club in the interest of the Municipal High School band, under direction of Mr. Conley, which organization had recently made a record at the band to the entire world. "Every one is aware that Japan, with her crowded population, is seeking domain for that ever-multiplying race. She sees China as its closest resort, and has declared to the world that she will stand pat on her Chinese policy. "Japan is offering real competition, as we all know, in world trade. Her low wages for labor enables workmen to produce goods for lower prices in world commerce, and this alone offers a problem for other nations. I am against war," said Judge Brooks, and it is my sincere hope that the United States will not be the first country to have to call the hand of Japan in her intended domination of the Far East and her continued rise in the domination of world trade.

"As for Rotarians this problem offers a real task for those in charge of international relations, and if it can be done through the activity of international relations in the way of friendly acts and deeds instead of war between nations, the world at large will be far better off."

Motorcade Announced
Plans were announced for the motorcade to San Angelo Tuesday, May 15. Every Rotarian was urged to join the motorcade, to leave from the Chamber of Commerce offices at 4:15 Tuesday, and remain in San Angelo for the day to attend the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention. One hundred cars for the motorcade are expected to make the trip. A parade will be staged in Angelo on arrival.

Museum Donations
Shine Phillips, on behalf of the West Texas Museum association, told club members that $150 was still lacking for the fund with which to purchase the painting by Mr. Cayley, which has been offered to the museum. "If this money is not raised the picture will be purchased by other parties, who are reported to have the sufficient amount of money ready to make the purchase," said Mr. Phillips. Members were urged to make a donation of $1 each to help in this worthy cause.

The Sandstorm
Copies of "The Sandstorm," official organ of the transient bureau were placed at the table of each Rotarian. This week's issue was dedicated to the local Rotary club. The paper carried an article "Rotary Entertainment," as follows:

"The Rotary club of Big Spring held its weekly luncheon in our dining room Tuesday, April 24th. The proceeds from the luncheon went partly to the Rotary club's crippled children's fund, and partly to the purchase of baseball equipment for the bureau. this June, in addition to allowing himself a 7 per cent dividend off the gate receipts. Baer owes a considerable share of his fighting rise to Dempsey's encouragement, but the life that goes with the footlights has cut rather deeply into the Californian's chances for real ring greatness. Each has developed so many side interests that the main objective has been side-tracked until it may be too late to achieve it. All of Baer's loud talk about finishing Carnera within four or five rounds won't bring down the man mountain from Italy or even cause him much apprehension. It will take not one but several solid smacks to Da Presm's lower molars to produce results calculated to bring the heavyweight title back to the United States. Having said his piece for the ballyhoo, it will behoove Baer to get down to the serious business of punch-tossing and Dempsey to whisper some useful words of advice.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAIN GOULD

When Jack Dempsey was in his fighting prime, under management of the man who piloted him to the world's heavyweight championship, Jack Kearns, the Mammas matter usually told would-be interviewers: "Let the fighting Doc do the talking for both of us."

Dempsey, if he entertained any literary ambitions or even read the daily papers to any extent, kept it a secret. After his first fight with Gene Tunney, who already was well known for his discrimination in reading matter and who quoted at length on literary topics, some one asked Dempsey what he thought of Shakespeare. To which Jack replied: "I'm sorry, but I have never had the pleasure of knowing the guy."

But perhaps the germ of the yearning was there, after all. Leaving the classics and biographical dissertations to his old pal, Dempsey has now blossomed forth as the editor of "Jack Dempsey's Fighting Magazine," a pulp product written for the fight fan and designed to reflect the old champion's opinions on current fistic affairs. It also seems he has bought himself an interest in the Gladewater, Tex., (p. 550) News, a bi-weekly newspaper.

JUST A QUESTION, JACK
If publisher or Editor Dempsey can be pinned down to one spot long enough to produce some copy, he should be able to add considerable to the literature of pugilism, past and present.

He's answered some of them before, of course, but here are a few questions the fans might like to have the old mauler answer personally:

What did Jimmy DeForest do to the bandages on your hands just before the fight, in which you won the title from Jess Willard at Toledo?

What was the hardest punch you ever took and what happened afterward?

Why did you take four rounds to kayo George Carpentier in the battle of Boyle's Thirty Acres in 1921?

Why did you decline Tex Rickard's offer for a third match with Gene Tunney?

In your experience as fighter, promoter and referee, name the six best fighters you have ever met or seen, in any division?

AND A LITTLE WORK, BAER
Dempsey will have something to tell the folks about if he succeeds in getting his eccentric protégé, Max Baer, into shape to beat Primo Carnera for the heavyweight crown there's one field that has been overlooked in most of the prophecies so far, and we might as well get in on it right now. It looks as if it ought to be a great year for vacations.

More people are at work, incomes are higher, business firms are doing better, and there is a lot more leisure-time. Add all this together, stir in a dash of hot weather, and you get a booming vacation season.

And in that connection it's worth pointing out that the people of the United States and Canada are exceedingly lucky when it comes to holidays. They have so many places to go, and the ways of getting there are so pleasant.

If you take your vacation in your own car, you have the world's finest net work of smooth, well-cared-for highways, studded with hotels, camping sites, garages and service stations.

If you go by rail, you have an almost limitless selection of fine trains and special vacation fares.

If you like to go on the water, there's a whole fleet of steamship lines traveling over an infinite variety of fresh- and salt-waterways.

But all this deals only with the mechanics of travel. It's where you go that counts most; and the North American continent seems to have been designed especially as a vacation ground.

Whatever direction you choose—whether you turn east, north, west, or south, or stay right in the middle—you can find pleasant scenery, good accommodations and hospitable people.

You can take the Maine coast or the rolling Ozarks, the Delaware

An ELECTRIC refrigerator makes a LOT of food cost LITTLE

You know of the CONVENI-ENCE of Electric refrigeration
... the safeguards it places around the HEALTH of your family... but don't overlook the ECONOMY of Electric refrigeration. Convenience and health come first, of course, but ELECTRIC refrigeration enables you to save a good portion of your food bill each week.

Here are a few ways you save with an electric refrigerator:

1. Take advantage of "special" on perishable foods and buy enough to last a week.
2. Buy in larger quantities when the signs say "10c-3 for 25c."
3. Make inexpensive frozen desserts.
4. Confine your refrigeration costs to just a few cents a day on your electric service bill.
5. For around $100 you can own a 1934 model electric refrigerator, and your electric refrigerator dealer will arrange terms to suit your convenience. Choose the make and size you want and then notice the many ways in which it saves you money.

And these are just a few of the savings. That half-bottle of milk, the left-overs from yesterday's dinner and other foods often thrown away because of spoilage are saved in an Electric refrigerator and can be made into appetizing dishes.

TOMORROW IS THE LAST DAY OF THE DAILY HERALD
ELECTRIC COOKING SCHOOL AND REFRIGERATOR SHOW.

Newest cooking methods and other useful kitchen hints will be explained Thursday at the Herald Electric Cooking School. This will be the last day of the cooking school, and if you have missed the first two days, you should make every effort to attend this final day to hear Mrs. Warren and see her cooking demonstrations, using an electric range.

You will be particularly interested in the automatic features of the electric range, the ease of cooking electrically, the uniform results obtained day after day because of the constant temperature, and above all, the time that can be saved by cooking electrically.

LAST FOOD LECTURE TO DEAL WITH VITAMIN-FILLED DISHES

Attendance Prize Arouses High Enthusiasm; Tomorrow's Numbers To Determine Winning Group

Interest ran high Wednesday in the attendance prize being awarded by the Daily Herald for the woman's organization having the largest number of registrations during the Herald Free Electrical School.

The attendance at Thursday's cooking school will decide which organization will win the prize.

So much good material was offered by Mrs. Warren during her portant subject of healthful foods, which will be her theme Thursday. This will be her last lecture. She will talk on salads and foods furnishing the necessary minerals, salts and vitamins for a nutritious diet.

During the hot months many vegetables and fresh fruits should be served, Mrs. Warren said. Heavy proteins are not needed. While one's system requires a certain amount of protein in the diet at all times for tissue repair, it does not call for the same quantity as in the winter.

Delicious salads may be made from vegetables that are not attractive in themselves but have such an abundance of vitamins and healthful qualities that the housekeeper can not afford to overlook them. These must be prepared to appeal to the family. Mrs. Warren will give many suggestions for the preparation of these homely vegetables.

Protein In Summer

Take this question of protein, continued Mrs. Warren. It is necessary to serve hot soups to obtain the high quality animal protein for body building that one must have at all times. Cold meats and cold meat salads meet the emergency admirably. Nothing is prettier than slices of several kinds of cold meats attractively arranged on a platter; what is more these meats can be purchased at a butcher's ready to serve. A fresh green vegetable should be included in the meal at least once a day.

Serving vegetables raw is a new theory. Mrs. Warren will discuss this at her Thursday's lecture, telling its advantages and how to serve vegetables in this manner.

Mrs. Anderson Is Honored At District Auxiliary Session

Mrs. E. W. Anderson captured an honor for Big Spring, the local American Legion Auxiliary and herself at the district meeting at Lubbock Tuesday, when she went up with four other Big Spring women to attend the one-day district session. She was elected vice-chairman of the new 19th Congressional district of the 164 women present, only she and one other were honored in this fashion.

Those attending the Auxiliary meeting were: Mrs. Fontaine Hair, president of the local chapter, Mrs. J. E. Payne, R. F. Bluhm, Sam McCombs and Anderson.

They motored to Lubbock yesterday morning, went direct to the auxiliary clubhouse where luncheon was served all visitors including the national president, Mrs. Wm. H. Bieser of Pittsburgh, Pa., the state president, Mrs. L. H. Haskin of Corpus Christi, the state secretary-treasurer, Mrs. C. J. Austin, of Austin and the heads of several state committees.

After the luncheon the national and state presidents addressed the meeting and matters of business were taken up. The session lasted only the one day.

The Legion members will go to Lubbock May 19 and 20 for a business meeting with the women who will have charge of the social part of the convention.

First Christian Revival Closes This Evening

Twenty-Seven Added To Church Since Meeting Began

Tonight will bring the close of the revival meeting at the First Christian church which has been in progress since April 29, under the leadership of Dr. J. Leslie Fennell. Twenty-seven have been added during this period, making a total of fifty since Easter Sunday, the majority of whom are adults and heads of families.

Dr. Fennell spoke last night on the subject, "Despite Not the Day of Small Things" and pleaded for a return to normalcy upon the basis of recognizing the supremacy of the Spirit of God in our living rather than enslaving ourselves to the mere "things" of earth which we have found during the last few years can slip from our grasp so easily.

Delegations were present last night from both Midland and Colorado. Dr. C. L. Root of Colorado gave two more of his soul-inspiring messages in song.

In order that Dr. Fennell may enjoy the fellowship of our people in the Bible school picnic, the date for that gathering has been changed from Monday of next week and will be held tomorrow evening. Every member of the Sunday school is urged to meet at the church at five o'clock and go to the park where the actual picnic will be enjoyed and a big basket lunch spread about seven o'clock.

Dr. Fennell's sermon for tonight will be "A New Deal for the Church" and everyone is urged to be present to hear this message, also to have part in the adoption of the excellent program of work for the church which will be presented and recommended by the board of officers of the church.

Mrs. Houser's Pupils To Present Numbers

Mrs. E. F. Houser will present her music pupils at a tournament performance at the high school auditorium Thursday evening for parents of the entrants.

Those playing will be Virginia Hilliard, Emily Stalcup, Geraldine McClellon, Mary Nell Edwards, Jacqueline Faw, Joe Nell Lay and Roselle Stephens.

The tournament is a preparatory performance for those who plan to go to Abilene to play for the district. Each entrant must play one selection from Bach, one sonata or sonatina, one romantic composition and one modern selection. They may add to this list all they wish. Some of Mrs. Houser's pupils have a repertoire that covers an hour of memory playing.

Mrs. Houser and Mrs. Bruce Frazier are entering Big Spring students in the tournament for the first year. Since they are beginners in this respect it is too much to hope that they will win in the district but they will be good material for next year's contest, say the teachers.

Announcements

Mrs. Clyde Thomas will speak before the Parliamentary Club Friday evening on legislative matters of interest to women. The club will meet at the Settles Hotel at 7:30.

Chapter 44
SURPRISE

It was nearing lunch time. The juror with the walrus mustache chewed on a twisted end of a cigarette. One of the others tapped at his pocket where the bulge of a tobacco can showed.

The very essence of her explanation seemed to reach the jury and Lampers realized it. He waited a moment, then said thoughtfully, "And of course a man with mail-bags couldn't hire a cook to prepare a luncheon?"

"No," retorted Judith quickly, "it's like corned beef and cabbage, you have to like it to cook it."

On the high roof, where she went with her party for lunch, Judith saw Mathile and Mrs. Bevins with Lampers. Again she was struck with the new beauty of the girl. She had doffed her grieving manner and was talking with animation.

Judith was not recalled to the stand after the luncheon hour. Instead, Mathile, again drooping with grief, took her place, was sworn, and eyes lowered, handkerchief gripped in apparently tense fingers, awaited Lampers's questions.

When they came they were voiced in low, tender tones. "Miss Bevins, the previous witness told us that your father used to visit her pent-house to find food your servants were unable to prepare satisfactorily. I know this is going to be extremely painful to you, but can you throw a little light on this? Why was he forced to go there?"

"I'd rather not tell, please," said Mathile.

"For your mother's sake, Miss Bevins?"

She looked up, eyes limpid with tears. "Doctor Almsright, whom we met on a cruise, made an examination of father, physically and mentally. He said if we wanted to keep him with us he must have no stimulants of any kind. For that reason we refused to give him tea, coffee and . . ."

"Yes, Miss Bevins, go on."

"Alcohol in any form."

"And did he go to Miss Lane's penthouse for tea and coffee?"

A low sob was the answer.

"Come now and brace up, those times when he returned at three and four in the morning, was he completely under the influence of liquor?"

"Sobs, unrestrained, muffled with lace-fringed handkerchiefs were the answer, heard below Judge Morgan's furious objection—"Misleading, calling for the witness's deduction."

Judith stared at Mathile Bevins in horror. How dare she intimate a thing like that of Big Tom Bevins!

"Of course," interposed Judge Morgan, "if Mr. Lampers wants to cross examine my witness before I have finished."

"I beg your pardon," came in surly tones.

The other two went unchallenged, nor did Lampers accept the privilege of cross-examination.

This completed, to Judith's amazement, Thomas Scoggins, senior, was introduced and told the true story of the oil well venture. Several dam workers appeared and said, that aside from outside interference, there had been no mutiny among the men and that Mrs. Dale had not attempted to "bloss" them, but had said from the first she was merely acting as Big Tom Bevins' secretary, carrying out his instructions.

Max Larson also testified, and one of the women, who told of Judith's attempts to make life comfortable for the workers' families.

Judith was amazed, overwhelmed, as one after the other took the stand. Their appearance came as a complete surprise and her manner proved it.

A "brace" of engineers testified to the soundness of the dam's position and construction.

"You don't wish to cross examine?" inquired Morgan in mock surprise.

"No," laughed Lampers good-naturedly, "they are too well coached."

"I challenge that statement," barked Morgan. "I can prove I have not spoken to a single witness, nor has anyone connected with this side addressed them, on the subject of the trial!"

Lampers did not ask for proof. He listened to Clia's spirited account of the "pent-house" with a crooked smile on his face, then as the hands of the clock began pointing to the closing hour, chewed thoughtfully on the end of a pencil as though what went on in the witness stand was of no value.

"And now," said Judge Morgan, "as my last witness I call Norman Dale, husband of Judith Dale, former partner of the firm of Dale, Lampers and Morrison."

That clarion went through the room like an electric charge. Reporters sprang from their seats and dashed to their telephones. Lampers sprang from his seat also, his face white and red and white by turn. Mathile's eyes widened and Judith—Judith quietly crumpled in her seat.

"He said he felt there would be an attempt made to break his will on the grounds of his being of unsound mind, and wished to prevent that."

"A senile psychosis," whispered Lampers in a stage whisper.

"No indeed," said the medical man, "he was ready with written proof to show us that his enemy's were already at work. From the proof, Mr. Lampers," continued the doctor, "he was wise in his precaution. I judge you wish to go no further into this proof?"

 Large Delegation Expected To Make Trip To WTCC In San Angelo

Big Spring high school golfers may take part in a tournament to be sponsored by the Lubbock high school soon. The meet will be annual affair.

Suspension of the rule limiting high school football schedule to ten games a season in event of a tie within the district was voted by delegates to the University of Texas Inter-scholastic League meeting at Austin last week.

The ten game rule made no provision for deciding the district winner in cases where two or more teams tied for the championship. The recommendation, if adopted by the league executive committee, would allow teams that tied for the district to play it off.

Members of the Texas High School Football Coaches association expressed belief that few schools would schedule ten games next fall, unless the rule was amended for fear they would end the season in a deadlock and would be barred under the ten game rule from playing a deciding contest.

What the department has never understood is why the coaches go to all the trouble every year of voting recommendations, etc. when the league moguls never pay any attention to them.

The softball league race promises to be a hot one with the Herald, Ice Men and Robinson teams battling for top honors. But you never can tell about that game, the upsets won't be long coming. The Herald team makes its next start Friday against the wishy-washy Kiwanis aggregation. (P. S.—Just a setup—for the Herald).

James Ripp Reported Worse At Lubbock

Mrs. A. M. Ripp left Wednesday morning for Lubbock after she was notified that condition of her son, James, had taken a turn for the worse Tuesday night.

James underwent a delicate nasal surgery Saturday. His condition is considered serious by the attending physician.

um that Mr. Winthrop Aldrich suggested Senator Fletcher's proposal to postpone the dissolution of security affiliates and the choice of private banks between deposit and security business is denied by sources who know Mr. Aldrich. They assert that he has not changed his views about private banks and affiliates and had nothing to do with the Fletcher idea. Reliable and normally well-posted New Yorkers who conveyed the contrary impression were in this case misled.

The Chase Bank itself has already complied fully with the provisions of the Banking Act of 1933 concerning security affiliates.

It remains true that passage of the Fletcher proposal—along with amendment of the Securities Act—will induce much better cooperation between Morgan interests and Washington with respect to long-term industrial financing. This applies also to commercial banks which follow the Morgan lead.

Directors—

New York banks which haven't yet reduced their directorate to 25 members and eliminated those in the security business aren't as worried as they were about losing valuable men. Their lawyers say there's nothing in the law to stop them from inviting ex-directors to sit in at meetings as advisers—not to prevent payment of fees for such expert advice.

Of course the ex-directors will not rate a vote. But as most directors' decisions at bank meetings are unanimous anyway that won't make much difference. Except for the Chase—which made sweeping changes some months ago—the affairs of New York banks will be mostly steered by the same people as before.

Shrinkage—

Wall Street complaints about the unfairness of Pecora's presentation of profit figures are still going strong. Friendly Senators have been urged to give the Stock Exchange a side of the case a big play when the Senate takes up the regulation bill.

Insiders concede it probably isn't correct to claim a full offset for the estimated shrinkage of $500,000,000 in seat values because many firms allowed for the shrinkage in submitting their reports. But they argue that any difference in that item would be more than made up by another omission—loss of brokerage house capital invested in security holdings over the last five years. This is figured between three and four hundred million dollars.

The boys also which Pecora had seen was clear to including the last four months of 1933 instead of stopping on August 31. Those were four months for brokers and would have reduced the profit figures for the year appreciably.

Pecora—

The wish may be father to the thought, but New Yorkers with good Washington contacts claim that Pecora won't be appointed to the securities regulation commission or any other federal post. They contend there's a lot of undercover antagonism to him in the Senate. It is hinted that this is the reason for his eagerness to get the job as counsel to the New York State lobby investigation.

Mead—
 Local aviation circles are encouraged by the friendly attitude of Chairman Mead of the House Post-office Committee. He has struck with the administration on air mail matters but has privately indicated

"A Bible and a Newspaper in every home"

—said Benjamin Franklin, whose death on April 17, 1790, we remember this week

IF YOU asked the founder of a great library system what reading matter you should place in your home, you might expect him to hand you a sizable list of books.

But old Ben Franklin, father of the free library system of our country, being a man to put things first, might have looked over the top of his glasses at you, and repeated "a Bible and a newspaper in every home."

Franklin himself was Printer and Publisher . . . and an advertising writer. He recognized, as you do, that good advertising is NEWS. Back in 1780, when a ship came to port with a consignment of India shawls and some merchants announced this in the newspaper, you may imagine that that item meant more to the ladies of the day than the usual chronicle of somebody's cow "lost, strayed or stolen."

An editor gathers up the news from all corners of the globe, just as a merchant gathers up his stock of goods. Then the story of both is carried in the newspaper. Both mean a great deal to every reader.

The Starter has been advanced by J. F. Hair, a San Antonio candidate for attorney general, that the state can recover enough land, illegally taken away from it, to pay its whole tax bill.

Sen. H. Brady Woodruff of Deatur has announced he will revise and reoffer the administrative code law in the senate, next time dividing it into sections so that part of it may be put on the books, even though other parts should fail.

survey, in which he participated.

Creation of a state police, and reorganizing the police functions by combining the ranger force, highway patrol, inspectors, game department wardens, and the like, will be proposed in a section of the administrative code bill by Sen. Woodruff.

This would cover all the proposals of the candidates for governor, toward creation of a central police agency.

Sen. Woodruff said his bill will propose a central identification and fingerprint bureau.

Another separate section he will offer, toward putting the administrative code into effect, he said, will be one putting all tax collections in the hands of one department, rather than 12 or 15, as at present.

Natural Gas

The Most Economical Fuel In Practical, Modern Use

Natural Gas gives you instant heat on cooking-top burners. It starts foods to cooking immediately when you set the utensil over the burner and turn on the flame.

In between the gentle simmer and the full flame, gas makes available an infinite number of cooking speeds. It can be regulated to the exact point that gives best results for every food.

All through the day, gas accommodates itself to the varying needs of the household. No other fuel provides heat so quickly, and no other fuel can be so precisely regulated to the hundreds of different cooking speeds that are needed for best results in cooking.

For so-called waterless cooking, foods can be prepared on the gas range with less water than with any other type of equipment.

For baking, for broiling, for frying, for every cooking need, gas is supreme, because it meets each special need with the correct graduation of heat that the housewife has found by experience to be most satisfactory.

Task Of Checking Bollworm Claims Has Been Finished By State Board; Payment Date Not Yet Established

The big task of checking claims with records has been completed by the Pink Bollworm Claim board, that organization has announced.

This, said a statement from the board composed of Fred W. Davis, Joe E. Edmondson, and J. A. Humphries, means the beginning of the end of the work of adjustment in its eight.

Due to many discrepancies, or lack of harmony between the claims and the records, the board is yet unable to advise as to when payments may begin since the board cannot anticipate when all replies or corrections will reach the office.

Work of tabulating all claims, addressing all claimants for the mailing of checks and the manner in which the checks are to be made out yet remains for the board to complete.

The board expressed the opinion that this work will proceed rapidly once the tedious task of first checking claims is ended.

An expression of thanks to claimants for patience and cooperation was voiced by the board, which asked that all who have been written for corrections to respond at the earliest possible time.

Due notice will be given as soon as the board learns the date payments are to begin.

formerly the wax kinds were in most demand.

The old orthodox way insisted on planting beans in hills, particularly the dwarf kinds. Now it is the usual and best practice to plant them in rows, thinning to from six to eight inches apart, and larger crops are gathered by giving each plant a better chance to develop than they have when planted in hills of from three to six plants.

Plant the beans about an inch deep.

Plant several rows at intervals of ten days or two weeks in succession, continuing up to the first of August.

The pole varieties yield more for space occupied, but they must be given support in the way of poles set when they are planted or frames upon which to twine. They are becoming more popular because of the fact that six hills of pole beans will yield even more than a 25-foot row of dwarf beans and have a longer season.
