Toledo Strikers Less Spirited In Attacks

TOLEDO (AP)—A crowd of 1,500 strikers and sympathizers, bringing more bricks and assorted missiles, gathered at the plant of the Electric Auto-Lite Company at noon Friday and reopened a bombardment of buildings and National Guardsmen which already had cost the lives of two men. Guardsmen made no attempt to break up the crowd as bricks and chunks of concrete came hurtling toward the building. The attack was aimless and less spirited than the fighting Thursday which led to hand-to-hand fighting and finally, bullets. Militiamen had their bayonets fixed, but didn't use them.

1000 Witness Graduation Exercises

Eighty-seven rural school seventh grade students were graduated into high school here Friday morning. More than 1,000 people crowded into the spacious municipal auditorium to witness the annual commencement exercises. Cecil C. Collins, who delivered the commencement address, advised the students to study, to think, and to accept wise counsel. He told them that they were faced with a splendid opportunity in high school of developing will power and natural ability and endowments. To do this, he said, it is imperative that the student have a worthy ambition. Then he must specialize and work to develop his desire. He must plan wisely. He must protect his health by temperance and common sense that he may be fit to work. These, Collins said, were the attributes of material success. "It is possible," he warned, "to succeed materially and yet be an absolute failure." He then reminded them of their moral obligations to self, others, nations, and to the Creator. Diplomas were presented by Mrs. Pauline C. Brigham, county superintendent. Each graduate was announced by Walker Bailey, Center Point principal. Invocation and benediction were pronounced by Rev. C. A. Bickley, pastor of the First Methodist church. Ola Leech of Soath was proclaimed valedictorian with a total of 622 points out of a possible 740. Chester Maxwell of Richland was salutatorian with 623 5/10 points. Each was presented with a fountain pen in recognition of their work. Others scoring more than 600 points were Bob Smith of Vincent 619, Ollie Fay Robison of R-Bar with 618, and Ella Ruth Thomas of Moore with 602. At noon the students, teachers and patrons flocked to the city park to hold their annual fall day picnic. Concluding the rural school rally, a program of varied entertainment was offered beginning at 2:30 p. m. from the Municipal Auditorium.

Many Attend Barbecue At Country Club

Approximately 250 attended the stag barbecue at Big Spring Country club, tendered by the club in honor of visiting golfers at the tenth annual tournament of the West Texas Golf association. The affair was staged following ending of qualifying rounds. Committee in charge was L. W. Croft, chairman; Cecil Wason, Steve D. Ford, Harry Lees and J. Y. Robb. The barbecue-pits had previously been enlarged to care for the large amount of baby beef. Over 400 pounds was used. The committeemen outdid themselves in preparing the barbecue and everyone present was high in their praise of the affair. Following the barbecue, the golfers assembled in the club house, where the Calcutta pool was started. C. W. Cunningham, president of the local club, officially welcomed the golfers to Big Spring and said Big Spring and her citizenship was proud to have the opportunity to entertain the association tournament. "We hope all of you succeed, and if there is anything we can do to make your stay pleasant while in the city, just let us know," said Mr. Cunningham. Pennos Metcalf of San Angelo, supervised the auctioning of the 22 players, and did a real job of it. He announced the schedule of play for Friday, Saturday and Sunday. A dance complimenting visiting golfers will be given at Hotel Settle beginning tonight at 9 p. m. All golfers registered in the tournament will be admitted free. Others coming to the dance will be charged $1.25 per couple and $1.25 per stag.

WASHINGTON BY GEORGE DURNO

WHY—Saturday June 16 looks to be another zero hour for President Roosevelt and his National Recovery Administration. Sufficient activity has been noted in the opposite trenches already to have the White House (shock troops standing by for a major attack. At midnight that day the licensing provision of the Industrial Recovery Act expires and the administration loses its major punitive weapon for code enforcement. Democratic strategists chose not to ask congress to renew it for fear the whole NRA organization would be opened up to intensive debate and possible disruption. Although he has never resorted to it this provision empowered the president in any industrial crisis to license an industry and deny all plans the right to operate that fall to observe Blue Eagle rules one hundred per cent. Industrialists have chafed under threat of the licensing provision. They were pretty certain Mr. Roosevelt wouldn't resort to it but the possibility was always there. Now word comes in from the licensing points that would indicate a lot of concerted non-thumbing may be in prospect once the provision's life expires. The New York

Tourney Favorites Have Tough Sledding Charlie Quails, Ace Post Golfer, Defeats Medalist

Young Philpeco Golf Star Loses To Veteran After Hard Luck On 13th, 14th And 15th Holes

J. T. Hammett, the 17 year old sun tanned youth from Rising Star who paced the field in qualifying with a brilliant 67, was ousted in the first round of match play today in the championship tournament of the West Texas Golf Association here.

Charlie Quails, veteran Post linksman, won over the young Philpeco golf star 1 up. Sub-par golf by Quails was too much for Hammett after he hit a streak of hard luck and lost the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth holes.

Four former West Texas titlists were in the championship flight. Carnes Wilson, diminutive Abilene youngster who won the tournament in '33 at Wichita Falls; Jimmy Phillips, Ranger, winner in '32; Charles Quails of Post, the golfing postmaster who won the title in '31; and N. C. Bussey, Lubbock, winner in '29.

Phillips Wins Jimmy Phillips, the crack Ranger golfer, took his first match from Gih Faircloth of Ranger, 4 and 3. Phillips was made the favorite in Calcutta pool when he drew 3175. He qualified with a fine 68, one stroke above medalist.

For the first time in the history of the West Texas tournament a 76 was required to make the championship flight.

A light rain Thursday afternoon, not enough to stop play, put the course in fine shape. However, it caused a few players to qualify with higher scores than they would have otherwise.

Match play got under way at 6 o'clock this morning. Play in the championship flight was started at 9:30.

Competition Keen Indications were this afternoon that there would be numerous upsets in the favorite ranks. Competition has been keener than in any previous tourney.

A crowd-fest was necessary to see that BRISTOW! Obie Bristow, a personification of the unique and sensational, widdled his clubs barely well enough to eliminate Buddy Wheeler, Paducah, 1 up Friday morning in the West Texas Golf Tournament, but he stole the show nevertheless.

The colorful Big Spring high school coach had two caddies Friday. One carried his bags and another a new camping chair.

Between strokes Bristow rested in his chair, erased any mental hazards by reading intently a detective magazine.

Complete championship pairings: Four 76's made the flight, Ben Coslin of Colorado with a 76, was eliminated on the first hole.

Three local players, Theron Hicks, Obie Bristow and Shirley Robbins made the championship flight. Bristow and Hicks won their first match. Robbins had not completed his match early in the afternoon.

First round results posted at 2 o'clock Thursday. Championship Flight Upper bracket: Carnes Wilson, Abilene, defeated N. C. Bussey, Lubbock, 3 and 2; H. Young, Lubbock, defeated Joe Hill, Lubbock, 2 and 1; H. H. Vaughn, Ranger, won over E. C. Nix, Colorado, 2 up; Roy Howard, Lubbock, took G. A. Crowell, Abilene, 5 and 4; Jimmy Phillips, Ranger, won over Gih Faircloth, Ranger, 4 and 3; Theron Hicks, Big Spring, defeated F. A. Finberg, Lubbock, 5 and 3; J. Neal, Odessa, defeated W. Barry, Lubbock, 6 and 5; Obie Bristow, Big Spring, won over Buddy Wheeler, Paducah, 1 up.

Lower bracket: Charles Quails, Post, defeated J. T. Hammett, Rising Star, 1 up; J. C. Southworth, Sweetwater, won from Buddy Raines, Abilene, 7 and 6; B. Holmes, Lubbock, won over Buster Parrish, Spur, 6 and 4.

Hawkins 7 and 6; Jim Isbell defeated F. Barron 4 and 3; D. P. Watt ousted Toke Taylor 6 and 5; D. A. Keithley lost to L. E. Bailey 1 up; J. C. Mattox defeated W. D. Cornelison 4 and 2.

Cosden Reinforced For Dallas Tilt

Manager Adds New Players To Line-Up

Veterans And Tiger Stars Recruited For Double Header

By HANK HART With strength added to their ranks, the Cosden Oilers will play a double header here Sunday in an attempt to increase their mediocre league standing and add to their reputation when they take on the strong T & P line direct from the General Offices in Dallas.

As the Oilers have never had a third baseman of any merit, Albert Garcia, hot corner specialist of the local Tigers, has been acquired and will take his place in Sunday's games. Garcia, as well as being able to stand up under the beatings of the enemies, is also a hard man to keep off the sacks. Albert seems at his best in a pinch. Fierro, ace mitterman for the Mexicans, is also among the ranks of Henninger. Fierro, one of the best in this section of the country at handling the two ways, will divide time with Pat Patton, regular backstop for the Cosdenites.

The Oilers will encounter Coltex in the league game, beginning at 2 o'clock. The Howard county boys need this victory and the Henninger boys should stop their playing around and step on the field determined to win. The boys from Mitchell county experienced little difficulty in defeating Ackery, the team which has plattered two defeats on the Oilers, but the home town lads should have learned to play for victory by this time.

Immediately after the league encounter, the Cosdenites will take the field against Dallas. The T & P team, which will arrive in town Sunday at 7:30 a. m. will have a large following, and the Oilers should expect the best opposition they will have this season.

It is as yet undecided as to who will take the mound for the Oilers, but several appear in good condition in case they are called. Pap Payne will probably start one game. Payne, despite the defeat of last Sunday, was in the fine form as he whiffed 15 of the Dawson county lads. "Poosh" Ed Up Prepper, Martin has been held in readiness and it is possible that he may work one of the games. Pepper seems to have completely recovered from his illness of several weeks ago and should be on hand when called.

"Iron Man" Baker, who is a clean Golden leaguer, is at Houston so around and may see some work although it is doubtful he will start either of the games. It is hoped Res Resley will return for Sunday's battles. Resley won his first start of the season against the Mexican Tigers but has been transferred since that unofficial game and has not worked with the Oilers since his opening battle.

Dutch Moxley, ace center fielder, should be in uniform by Sunday. Dutch was sorely missed in the Oilers' last encounter and will add considerable strength to the Cosdenites. Moxley was laid low when his foot became infected and has not been in the last several games of the Oilers. Dutch, after a slow start, hit his stride and has rounded into one of the best players under Henninger's banner.

Chet Fowler, former Texas League ace, and Sam Sain are also expected to be in uniform. Neither of these boys were able to take the field against Ackery and Manager Spike found it hard to replace them.

It is hoped Big Spring will form a rousing welcome for the T & P team which will journey over 300 miles to play the Oilers. Cosden will probably offer them every thing but victory.

Personally Speaking

Dr. Charles T. Ball, Philadelphia, Pa., passed through Big Spring yesterday, spending a few hours with Woodie W. Smith and family. Dr. Ball will be engaged in a revival meeting on South Texas the next ten days, before returning to the east. He is one of America's great Bible teachers, and president of Eastern university, Philadelphia.

Mrs. Emily Higgs of Breckenridge is spending the week with her daughter, Mrs. Bill O'Neal, en route to Colorado Springs, Colo., where she plans to spend the summer.

J. T. Thornton, Jr. of Austin is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Thornton.

Mrs. Virginia Peden-Deter plans to leave this evening for Abilene to spend a few days with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. James P. Peden, before joining Mr. Deter in Waco.

Don Anderson, Jr. left Thursday evening for Waynesville, Tenn., to spend the summer months with his parents.

Mrs. Jess Slaughter and children left Friday morning for Elkhardt to visit with Mrs. Slaughter's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davis have returned from Dallas where Mrs. Davis received medical attention at a clinic.

Friendship Class Entertains With Evening Outing

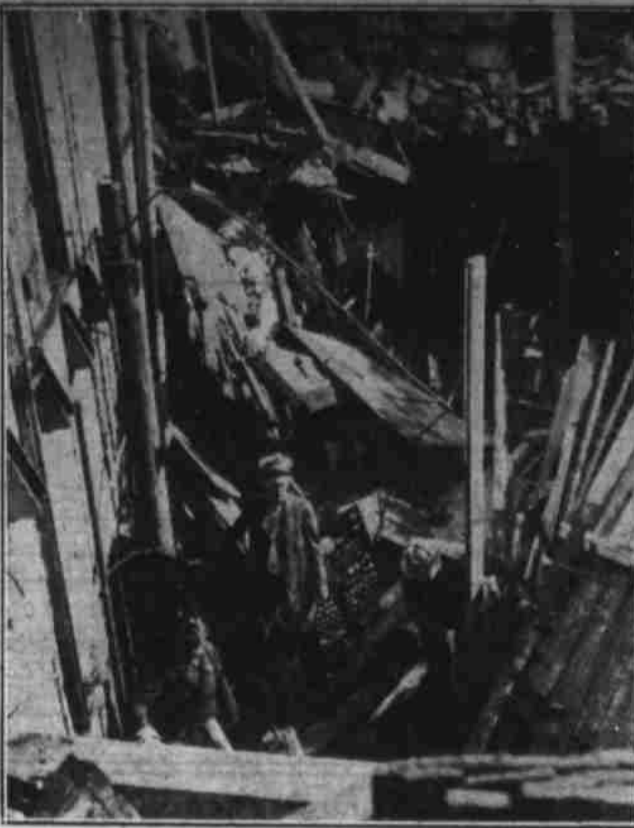

Members of the Friendship Sunday school class of the First Baptist church entertained their husbands and children with a picnic in the city park Thursday evening.

Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bode, Mrs. Larson Lloyd, Mrs. R. I. Weatherford, Mrs. Vernon Mason, Mrs. J. W. Phillips, Jr., Mrs. Hendricks, Mrs. Standfield and Mrs. E. T. Smith. Mrs. Robert Pysatt, teacher, was unable to attend. A group of children also enjoyed the picnic.

DOCTORS ADMIRE THIS LAXATIVE

To banish headaches, dizziness and other constitutional ills doctors regularly prescribe the laxative ingredient used in Feen-a-mint, the modern, pleasant-tasting, chewing gum laxative. Feen-a-mint acts more promptly, thoroughly, and satisfactorily, for it is gently released into the intestines by chewing, thus giving a "full" more natural action. Feen-a-mint is pleasant to take, but contains no richness to upset the stomach or diet. Feen-a-mint is the modern development from old-fashioned, unpleasant-tasting, habit-forming, bowel-abusing laxatives. Does not interfere with duties. "Delay" is dangerous—chew Feen-a-mint for constipation. 15c and 25c at druggists.

TODAY and TOMORROW

By WALTER LIPPMANN
Concerning Words

One of the persistent difficulties in discussion is that we have only a very simple vocabulary to describe enormously complicated meanings. There are not enough words in current use to allow us to make one word signify one thing and one thing only. As a result we all carry around with us a small collection of words which we produce whenever we can not think of the right word or are too lazy to make the effort to say just what we really do mean. A friend of mine, who takes a kind of angry pleasure collecting these omnibus words, says that in business the champion among the words which are applied to almost everything and therefore mean almost nothing is "proposition," and he cites as the recordbreaker for all time the example of the patent lawyer who was trying to tell a judge about a new invention. "It is," said the lawyer, "a round rubber proposition; your honor and you put the baby in the middle of it."

The other day, for example, parliamentary government was suspended in Bulgaria, and some sort of dictatorship, based on the army established. This was described as a "Fascist revolution." Yet the reports from Sofia had nothing to say about a Fascist movement in Bulgaria, nothing about the rise of a popular leader like Mussolini or Hitler, nothing about a Fascist army. Twenty years ago any one reading the report would have said that this was a military coup d'etat differing in no essential way from the kind of revolution which has occurred again and again in Latin America and in the Balkans. But at the moment it is the mode to call anything Fascist which is conservative and anti-democratic and so for the muddledment of our minds we now think of Bulgaria as having a government like Italy's. This lumping together under one name of two things which have only a partial resemblance then makes it very much more difficult to understand either of them.

Any one who wishes to protect himself against confusion of this sort has to be extremely suspicious of all blanket phrases and continually alert about breaking up the logical fallacies which they breed. The commonest fallacy is to assume that two things which are somewhat alike are essentially alike. The other day, for example, Mr. Mark Sullivan was trying to explain that in Administration circles there is a division of opinion about the NRA and in order to suggest what the division was about, he said that "speaking loosely, NRA works in the general direction of Fascism, the corporative state," whereas the opposition to NRA "works in the general direction of collectivism of the Russian type." This, it seems to me, is misleading to any one who is not thoroughly informed as to how "loosely" Mr. Sullivan is speaking.

Thus, for example, it is true that the NRA organization of industry by trade associations under codes somewhat resembles the corporative organization of Italian Fascism. But it is equally true that some of the Russian industries are organized as "trusts" which in some respects resemble our own trusts. Does that fact that some of the Russian organizations resemble ours mean that the Russians are building a capitalist order on American lines? It obviously does not, because the differences between the Russian trust and American trusts are much greater and more important than these resemblances. So it is with NRA and Fascism. There are resemblances, but the resemblances are insignificant as compared with the differences. Thus, for example, the American voters will elect a Congress next autumn that is to decide the future of NRA. This Italian voters will have no such choice. That is a difference so great that to overlook it is to overlook the essence of the matter.

The habit of trying to classify everything done in Washington as "Fascist" or as "Communist" is like trying to pack all one's belongings in two suitcases. There are lots of things, chairs, for example, that will not fit into any suitcase. There are some things that can not be kept in a suitcase, the cat, for example. There are things which ought not to be put in the same suitcase, a white hat and the goal scuttle. Yet in a discussion we are just as careless when we put under a word like Fascism things as diverse as the Bulgarian revolution, NRA and the Italian corporative state.

It might help us all to think more clearly if we decided to call it a day on the practice of trying to describe what is going on in Washington by giving it the name of something that is going on in Moscow or Rome. When we do this, the chances are that we know precious little about what is really going on in Moscow or Rome, and we are not likely to know more about Washington by saying that it is like something which we know very little about.

Garden Club

If lettuce is not the whole salad itself, it is at least the foundation and this supremacy is rightfully won for it is one of the most delicious of the leaf vegetables as well as one of the most healthful. A garden without lettuce in some form or other, is a rarity, indeed, but much too often the product is mediocre, or there isn't enough of it. This can be corrected by careful cultivation and succession crops.

Leaf lettuce is returning to fashion because its green leaves are rich in vitamin A. It is far and away the easiest to grow, and will produce edible leaves in a surprisingly short time. It is ideal for the home garden, because it must be picked just before consumption. It cannot stand days on the market, as the head lettuce can. Sow the seed at ten-day intervals for a long season. Plant in a spot which does not get too much sun.

Cos lettuce is the lazy man's delight, for it will produce the maximum quality leaves with the least effort. It is a type between the leaf and the head varieties, where the leaves tend to fold into a head, and may be aided in this by tying them in such a position. Like the rest of the lettuces, it is best during the early and cooler weather, but it is also excellent during the warmer season, when it will pull through the higher temperatures with amazing freshness.

All of the lettuces like a rich deep loam soil, with adequate moisture. Plant them in rows a foot to 18 inches apart, with 6 to 12 inches between the plants of the cos, and 3 to 5 inches between the leaf varieties.

In the case of head lettuce, more time and effort must be spent. It is first necessary to plant the seed in a box in the house a month before setting the seedlings out in the garden. Cool weather and fast growth is the secret of success with this delicious type, and when too much sun catches them, they are likely to run up to seed instead of heading. Keep the soil moist, and do not plant in a location that

ORIGINAL EDISON RECORD
CHARDON, O. (UP)—An original phonograph record of Thomas A. Edison's, into which he whispered the words, "Mary had a little lamb," is owned by Mrs. Mabel Wilcox here. The inventor said during his lifetime that the nursery words were the first spoken into the original model. The record resembles a flat piece of tin-foil.

Pigeon Bums Train Rides
BLOOM, Miss. (UP)—A gray-slate and brown mottled pigeon, possessed with the traveling instincts of the homing species, but the lazy traits of the barnyard fowl, daily bumps rides on trains between here and Gulfport. The pigeon waits until an afternoon train pulls out of the local station, overtakes it after a two-mile flight, and rides serenely on the engine tender. The feathery hobo returns on an early morning passenger.

MILKMEN FIGHT CHISELERS
CHICOPEE, Mass. (UP)—The chiselers in the milk business have got to be stopped somehow, so the Chicopee Milk Dealers' Association adopted this method: They loaded a truck with cases of milk, parked near an offending place, and sold milk at four cents a quart. They also had a banner on the machine, which read: "We'll beat the chiseler at his own game."

BIRD INVENTORY TAKEN
STOCKHOLM (UP)—An inventory of the bird fauna of Lake Takern, in the Swedish province of Ostergotland, now is being made. This lake, which is exceptionally shallow and filled with low, rush-covered islets, has for years been the home of thousands of wild birds. Dr. Folke Perman, who is making the inventory under the auspices of the Swedish Nature Preservation Society, estimates that there are from 25 to 30 different kinds of birds, totaling many tens of thousands.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN GOULD

After scanning some of the reports on what happened to them along the western front, I was prepared for almost anything upon paying the New York Giants a visit in their home dugout at the Polo Grounds.

Instead of finding the survivors crippled or wounded, crutches handy and Colonel Will Terry's head swathed in bandages, however, I discovered one and all in good spirits, good health and ready to swing right back into undisturbed action.

The belting around they got from the Pirates, Cardinals and Cubs may have taken some of the early cockiness out of the club but it has not affected its fighting spirit. From Col. Terry on down, they are now willing to concede that it's going to be tough, very tough to beat off these wild westerners but there's not the slightest doubt in the Giants' camp that they can repeat their pennant and world series victories.

For the reason that the club had what is quite commonly known as "guts", the Giants can not be counted out of the running this early in the season, despite their ragged defensive work and lack of consistent punch. They have had their share of bad breaks so far.

FEAR THE YOUNGER DEAN

As things stand so far in the National League, the Boston Braves can match the Giants defensively, and the three western contenders can show a much heavier batting punch than either of the two eastern clubs.

Terry's analysis is that pitching ultimately will decide and he is ready to match Hubbell, Schuchter, Fitzsimmons and Parmelee, if and when the latter is ready, against any other staff in the circuit.

Terry's worst fears about the Cardinals will be realized if young Paul Dean continues to rival the box work of his more famous brother, Dixie, and thereby assures the Red Birds four sturdy fingers—the Deans, Tex Carleton and Bill Hallahan—with Bill Walker and Jess Haines to fill back on.

Bill Lee, the sensational Chicago pitching rookie, is the same kind of a headache for the champions, supporting, as he has been doing, the superb pitching of Lon Warneke and Guy Bush.

Pirate pitching has not been so consistent, with Larry French slow to round into usual form and support the work of Swift, Birkhofer and Lucas.

Terry's last hope of plucking an emergency finger out of the hat, while Parmelee is on the shelf, seems to be young Alfred J. Smith, a scouthpaw from the sandlots of St. Louis. Smith was carried as a coach last season, for batting-practice tossing, but he showed Terry so much stuff he won a regular job.

HAL LOSES, BUT IS 'RIGHT'

It is an unusual circumstance when a losing game convinces a manager that one of his star pitchers is "right," but that's just what Hal Schumacher's 2-3 loss to Lon Warneke at Chicago did for Terry. "It was one of the toughest shades to lose I have ever pitched," Hal told me as he enjoyed the shade of the Giant dugout. "The Cubs were lucky to get their first run and when Terry's homer gave us a 2-1 lead going into the last half of the ninth, I horse down plenty. With one down, young Cammie was at bat and I worked him carefully to avoid the chance he would drive one into the rightfield stands. I said to myself 'if he hits anything, it will have to go to left field.' So I heaved a fast ball right where I wanted it and he hit it—over the left field fence. I got the next two but we lost the game in the tenth.

"I don't feel so bad about it, though, because my 'sinker' was doing the old daisy-dog for the first time this season and I think I'll be ready to go from now on."

ATTEND GRADUATION

COLORADO—Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Majors and daughter, Mrs. Merle Toler of Sweetwater, and Messrs. O. H. Majors, Sam Majors and E. M. Majors and families of Colorado were in Big Spring Tuesday evening to attend graduation exercises of the Big Spring high school. Miss Jimmie Lou Goldman, formerly of Colorado, was among the seniors to receive diplomas.

Step out into the SUNSHINE

How many days of your life are lost in feeling under par? How many hours which might be bright are dull and dispirited?

Half-hearted days are frequently due to common constipation. It clouds your waking hours, takes the sunshine out of living. Yet it can be overcome so easily by eating a delicious cereal.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's All-Bran provides "bulk" and vitamin B to aid elimination. All-Bran is also a fine source of iron.

The "bulk" in All-Bran is much like that in leafy vegetables. Isn't this "cereal way" pleasanter than risking patent medicines?

Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. With each meal, in chronic cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Serve All-Bran as a cereal or use in muffins, breads, omelets, etc. In the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

My Best SHOT

By BOB CAVAGNARO (Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, (AP)—The golf world may not know it, but Paul Runyan has changed the technique of his game. The results speak for themselves and carry a lesson to every "duffer."

For several years the slender shotmaker tried with varied success to equal his more rugged fellow pros in distance. The results hardly were worth the back-breaking effort the long shots required so Runyan decided to alter his game, exchanging power for accuracy.

"Two years ago I developed the technique of using a stronger club than each shot required and hitting the ball easily," Runyan said. "The change accounts for the improvement in my game."

Straight for the Pin!

The change is best illustrated by Runyan's play of the 170-yard 11th hole in the Charleston open last winter. The green opens up with a broad apron of about 30 feet and abruptly diminishes to a long, velvety strip 18 feet wide. In front there is a yawning trap 16 feet deep and to the rear is another sand pit almost as deep.

While many other players selected the less difficult method of approach by aiming for the apron, Runyan four times boldly played a No. 3 iron for the cup, three times landing inside of 10 feet from the pin and once plopping the ball in the far trap.

"The wind was blowing against the hole from left to right," he said, "and the green was lying a little that way. Instead of using a No. 4 iron, as most other boys did, I played a No. 3, teed the ball up high, played it into the wind and faded it a bit."

Gets Up—And In!

The first time the ball landed in the trap and Paul shed out a four. The second time he was nine feet from the cup on his tee shot and got down easily in two putts. The next time he laid the ball within two feet of the can and sank the putt for a birdie and on the final stroke, which he negotiated in 65 strokes, he missed another birdie, just missing a four-footer.

Runyan's altering of his long game has done-talied perfectly with his spectacular and deadly approaching and putting. He's worked hard on the new method and has got it down to the point where he has both confidence and consistency in it.

Sweden Builds Destroyers

GOTHENBURG (UP)—The first of a series of four destroyers for the Swedish Navy is being built here at the Gotaverken yards. When completed, the vessel will have a top speed of nearly 40 knots. A second destroyer will be built at the government navy yard at Karlskrona, in southern Sweden. The new submarines, of which one will be a torpedo-submarine, will also be constructed.

Roosevelt Praises Purpose of V.F.W. Buddy Poppy Sale

President Franklin D. Roosevelt urges all patriotic citizens to wear a Buddy Poppy on Memorial Day in a letter of endorsement addressed to Commander-in-Chief James E. Van Zandt of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States.

President Roosevelt pays a distinct tribute to the child welfare program of the V. F. W. and its efforts in behalf of disabled and needy veterans. His letter of approval follows:

"Every orphan deserves a chance for happiness equal to that enjoyed by the average American child. This opportunity is given to the orphans of veterans by the V. F. W. National Home at Baton Rouge, Michigan, maintained by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States.

"Proceeds from the annual sale of Buddy Poppies make possible the maintenance of this orphanage. Buddy Poppies also offer a source of employment and relief for needy and disabled veterans in their home communities. For these two very good reasons, we all should wear Buddy Poppies on Memorial Day."

Robin Battled Own Shadow

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (UP)—The long-known antipathy of the robin for his own shadow was demonstrated here when one of the red-breasted clan attacked his reflection in the door panel of the car owned by Charles H. Scully. Scully returned to his parked car to find the bird clawing and pecking at the shiny surface. So infuriated was the bird at the interruption of his battle that he flung himself several times at Scully.

The first thing to realize about pan-frying is, that properly and correctly done, it gives you a completely wholesome and digestible result. It's the poorly fried foods that have marred its spotless reputation. The object of frying is to seal up the "pores" or surface of the food, quickly, so that the natural flavors of the food will be retained inside, during cooking.

Correctly fried food is golden and crusty brown on the outside and thoroughly cooked on the inside, without any grease-soaking whatsoever.

How To Do It

To get a result like this, have the food in right condition for frying; have the correct size of pan; cook it long enough but not too long; and choose the frying agent carefully. Much depends on this choice of shortening—it should give you the results described above, it should prevent sticking to the pan and should have a "high smoking point" which merely means that it will not smoke when heated to a high temperature. Frying should be easy, and it should not be expensive. These considerations have prompted many modern cooks to use a modern domestic salad oil for frying, which can be poured right from the handy spout on the can and can be clarified and used again and again, as well as bought for a low price.

Foods fried should not be too moist on the surface nor too dry. This is why some foods which contain no natural oil of their own are often dipped in egg or milk or other coating.

Short-Cut Service

No woman need be told when she wants to serve something that will cook quickly. There are more occasions than space would permit listing. For these numerous occasions, some of these pan-fried good things will be found suitable. Note the frying directions with them.

Analysis Of What Men Like To Eat Is Found To Be A "Moot Question"

DO WOMEN COOK TO PLEASE MEN?

Do you cook to please a man? Oh come now, don't be timid about admitting that at least half of our culinary efforts are directed to the so-called sterner sex. It's a fact!

To obtain your life-partner's reaction just watch his face and his plate. Judging the male attitude by their verbal responses is not recommended. Your finest dish may bring forth a shower of compliments one day and the same dish elicit only a grunt another time. Some days he will beam with joy at the skill of "the little woman" and on a different occasion answer in the mood of the man who, in reply to his wife's query about the pie, retorted "you don't hear me kicking, do you?"

Various studies have been made of the masculine taste in food, but none have brought forth any rigid rules for the loving wife. A few facts, however, have been discovered, by observation, by the questionnaire route, and by watching them order at restaurants. Some of those which rated high in the analysis are given here. Try them on your own companion.

Fruit Bread

2 cups wholewheat flour
3 teasp. baking powder
1-2 teasp. soda
2-3 cup dark karo
2-3 cup hot water
1 cup white flour
1-2 teasp. salt
1-2 pkg. dates
1-4 cup sour milk
1 tbs. melted butter.
2 tbs. Imperial sugar.

Mix dry ingredients; add sliced dates. Mix karo, milk, water and butter. Combine mixture, beating well. Bake in oiled loaf pan or 12-ounce baking powder tins in moderate oven (325 degrees F.) for one hour or longer. Recipe makes 1 large or 4 small loaves.

New Fruit Jam

1-3 lb. dried apricots
4 cups cold water
1 cup Imperial sugar
1 pkg. dates
1-2 cup walnuts
Juice of 1 lemon

Wash the apricots, cover with 2 cups of cold water, let soak overnight. Add the dates (pitted) and 2 cups water. Cook until the fruit is very soft. Add the sugar and lemon juice, and simmer over low heat to the consistency of jam. Add chopped nuts and cook for 5 minutes. Store in sterilized jelly glasses. Cover with hot paraffin when cold. Fills 2 half pint jars of conserve.

Chili Loaf

1 cup canned peas
12 flake soda crackers (crumbled)
3-4 cup hot water
1 small onion, minced
1-2 cup brown Imperial sugar
1 tsp. poultry seasoning
1 tbs. parsley, chopped
1 large slice ham, raw
1 tsp. mustard
1-4 cup vinegar

Combine all ingredients except butter. Shape into a loaf and dot with butter. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 1 hour. Serve with tomato sauce, if portions.

MURDER AT MOCKING HOUSE

BY WALTER C. BROWN

 Further investigation was temporarily interrupted by the sounds of a new arrival at the house. Harper went out into the hall to find out who it was. A tall figure, wearing an enormous fur coat, strode toward him. "Dr. Ulrich?" he inquired.
 The tall man nodded curtly. "Are you Sergeant Harper?"
 The detective nodded. "Mrs. Dufresne is in her room. I'll go up with you."
 "What are all these policemen doing around here—and that ambulance outside?" Ulrich demanded.
 "We found the bodies of two men in the breakfast-room here, one the policeman from this district. The evidence seems to indiirty third-degree methods on her. I'll see that you answer for it."

 Harper pushed the restraining arm aside. "There's no use blustering around here, Doctor. This piece happens to be in the hands of the police and I am in charge. You will please confine your efforts to your patient. When that is done, I'll be glad to answer any questions about Mrs. Dufresne's accident."
 With an angry growl, Dr. Ulrich ran down the steps and seized the telephone. Harper returned to the breakfast-room where Carlin was once more absorbed in studying the mark on the wainscoting left by the spent bullet. The detective revolved slowly around that strange corpse in the chair, study-cate that they killed each other, but we haven't had time enough to go into the details."

 The doctor stopped dead in his tracks. His eyebrows arched in surprise. "So that was the 'little trouble' you mentioned over the telephone? Who is the other victim?"
 Harper shook his head. He had taken an instant dislike to the aggressive, patronizing manner of the medical man.
 The detective had left him and was half-way down the stairs, when Dr. Ulrich, coatless and with his shirt sleeves rolled up, came striding after him and seized him by the arm. "You damned clodhoppers!" he blazed, glaring down at Harper from the height of his seventy-odd inches. "What have you been doing to Mrs. Dufresne? If you've been trying any of your ing the body from all angles. A few minutes later Dr. Miller appeared. "Dr. Ulrich has sent for a nurse," he announced. "He says it will be best not to move Mrs. Dufresne."

 "What does he say about the cut?"
 "He thinks it can be healed without leaving a scar, but Mrs. Dufresne will have an uncomfortable time of it for a few days. She'll have to be fed through a tube and she won't be able to talk or move about. Any sudden jolt or movement of her jaws would open up the cut and undo all the work."
 "He warned me that she is not to be cross-examined or annoyed in any way. Why is he so hot under the collar? He seems to have an idea that we've been grilling her about this business."
 Harper frowned. "I've been wondering why he jumped to that conclusion so readily. At the moment I see no necessity for questioning Mrs. Dufresne about anything. I only hope that it turns out as he expects. I'm more than sorry it happened at all and I can't help feeling that I am partly to blame."
 "Nonsense," Dr. Miller declared. "It wasn't your fault."
 "All right, Doc, let's drop it. I'll have something to say about that later. Let's get on with this before there are any more delays. You've examined the bodies?"
 Dr. Miller nodded. "Superficially, of course, but I doubt that the autopsy'll tell us any more than we can see with the naked eye. Matter of form in a cut-and-dried case like this.

"Well, I want a complete post-mortem report just the same and an analysis of the stomach contents. It might be helpful to know when and what he had last eaten and the amount of alcohol consumed. Just a matter of record, Doc, is it possible that this could have been a double suicide, or

Electric Chair

Rigged Up To Rid Shoe Shop Of Rats

WICHITA FALLS (UP)—J. G. Groves, operator of a shoe shop here, has rigged up an "electric chair" to rid his shop of rats, and dead rodents proved that the device works.
 His trap consists of a wooden shelf with cheese at one end and metal plates at the other. The plates are wired with electricity, so that when a rat tries to run over them to reach the cheese he gets instant death instead.
 Groves said he found 15 dead rats on the shelf at one time.

half of this column has reported at least one firm doing a national business to be on the verge of revolt. Washington representatives of other important concerns are engaging in similarly menacing talk. President Roosevelt and General Johnson are preparing for action.

Position

Discussion, pro and con, of the Darrow report this week has done the situation no good. National support of NRA was built up originally by persuading John Citizen and his wife to trade only where the Blue Eagle flew. Naturally much of this trading is done in neighborhood stores.

administration bills have been reported out of senate committees in the last ten days but few of them are going to reach Mr. Roosevelt's desk for signature. An example is the set of amendments to the Agricultural Adjustment Act, favorably reported out by the senate Agriculture committee. Lawyers from the Young Liberal Group have worked long days and weeks whipping these amendments into shape. They would put teeth in the AAA where needed and correct various defects shown up by actual operation. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace would like very much to see them passed. Presumably so would the president. Administration senators say they would stir up so much debate that adjournment would be set back materially—so they go out the window for this session.

Exports—Two steamship companies on the Atlantic coast and one running out of Gulf ports are begging Trade Adviser George Peek to hurry up with trade deals. They must lay up ships and will soon face bankruptcy. Peek is temporarily paralyzed because of confusion over the Johnson bill forbidding dealings with defaulters. By implication some countries are defaulters under Attorney General Cummings' ruling although they do not owe anything to the U. S. government. The third federal export bank designed to deal with South America has not yet been organized.

Notes—A joint committee of congress may investigate and report next winter on President Roosevelt's social reform program. Joseph Choate, Alcohol Control chairman, says bootleg liquor is more plentiful than ever. Hitler and the Soviet government are getting confidential reports on the congressional probe of Nazi and Red propaganda. The house committee has pigeonholed the Ickes-Culler bill to communize Indiana.

NEW YORK BY JAMES McMULLIN Brawl—The Kilkenny brawl between NRA and Clarence Darrow's board wasn't as pleasing to local New Deal opponents as you might think. There were two reasons. First, the criticism points the wrong way. If carried to its logical conclusion it would deprive large industry of the honey that makes the codes palatable—virtual suspension of the law.

Second, the left wing assault on NRA has beaten the right wing to the punch. Public attention is focussed on the charge that big business gets too sweet a break from the codes. Conservatives have expected to use the plight of organized industry as a major talking point in this fall's campaign. They'll have a much tougher time working up a lather on this issue now that an attack from the opposite angle has been dramatized so vividly.

Clipped—At the same time the Darrow reports give the administration greater freedom to maneuver NRA policy. They can be used as background for shifts in favor of small business or to create a permanent Board of Review—or can be ignored entirely on the basis of the Johnson-Richberg rebuttals if that course is indicated by public reactions. Either way the government can draw on supporting evidence to back its stand. New York inquirers scoff at intimations that the Darrow material was an unwelcome surprise to the White House. They contend that the outcome was practically guaranteed by the personnel of the Darrow committee and diagnose the situation as a subtle administration stratagem to clip the wings of conservative opposition in advance. Abolition of the board now that it has served its purpose is seen as fitting; he picture confirming the democratic principle against Socialism and Fascism alike.

Landis—New Yorkers in close touch with Washington say that James M. Landis is the chief reason why the president openly supported the house proposal to have the Federal Trade commission exchange regulation against the senate plan for a new commission. Their story runs that Mr. Roosevelt strongly favors Landis to head the regulating body. He gets the job without argument of the trade commission is designated to administer the law. If named as chairman of a new commission he would probably face a stubborn confirmation fight in the senate—where the Wall Street campaign against him has left its mark. But local opposition still hopes to make hay out of the president's "affront" to the senate and the omission of Carter Glass from the conference committee. You'd be surprised at its tender solicitude for the senate's dignity and importance as expressed through Washington contact men.

Test—Sentiment is growing among Rock Exchange authorities for promoting a test case on the constitutionality of federal exchange regulation. You can expect to see such action brought by a member house or a listed corporation—not by the exchange itself—as soon as opportunity affords. The "liberal" element in exchange circles regards the proposed test as capping the pyramid of "cock-eyed public relations" and believes it can lead only to stiffer application of the law.

Japan—Local sources who know their Japan interpret the Okubo and Kuroda scandals as a maneuver fostered by the militarists with the object of overthrowing the coalition cabinet—hoping to grab the reins afterwards. They point out that venality among Japanese officials as far from rare. It's no simple matter to maintain western living standards on Japanese pay. The main issue focuses on renewed efforts by the militarists to unseat the moderates—who want to digest Manchukuo before seeking new worlds to conquer. The militarists are irked by the delay—largely because they fear it strengthens parliamentary government. To them politics is a filthy business to be abolished as thoroughly as possible. They crave a Japanese version of Fascism with the M-lado as silent dictator drawing power from Army and Navy. Japanese politics have been characterized by the growth of "splinter parties." Anybody with a bankroll could start one.

CLYDE BARROW SLAIN IN LOUISIANA

Clyde Barrow and his cigar-smoking gunman companion, Bonnie Parker (above), were shot and killed by Texas officers near Black Lake, La., as they disregarded a command to halt. The No. 1 desperado of the southwest and the Parker woman were riddled with bullets as they sped along a road at 85 miles an hour. The Texans had been on the trail of the notorious bandits for weeks. Casey Jones, matchmaker for the Twin C Sports club, has gone to Amarillo for a few days regarding reentry as an engineer in the Santa Fe Railway service.

A downtown location is being sought for the wrestling game here. The next wrestling match here will probably be about June 5.

If Casey Jones does not return as matchmaker, John McIntosh of El Paso will continue the same type of wrestling under some other Twin C appointee.

Decoration Day

WEEDS ago the advance guard of Spring crept stealthily upon us. Little by little the bedraggled patches of snow, the last defenders of winter's fortress, reluctantly surrendered. Then with a rush the conquering hosts of May came galloping over the hills with a bare of bugles and bravely flaunting banners. It's the age-old onslaught, the age-old miracle of the victory of eternal life. But always it presents itself anew, flashing with strange beauty, brimming over with inspiration. Decoration Day is a day of commemoration. Let us make it truly a day of decoration. First, let us trim the hours with garlands of friendly, happy thoughts. Let us take a lesson from Nature, tripping merrily in a new dress, embroidered gaily with bright flowers. A new dress for yourself, Mrs. United States. A new suit for you, Mr. America. New togs for Uncle Sam's little nieces and nephews. A new rug for the porch. Some comfortable wicker chairs with gay cretonne cushions. Let's brighten up—freshen up—put Winter completely out of our thinking. For inspiration look to the advertisements in this newspaper. They suggest scores of things you need, things you will enjoy, things of honest value sponsored by manufacturers and merchants on whose statements you can rely.

Busby Speaks On Brotherly And Godliness In Thursday Services

Sunday Services To Be Held In Auditorium Because Of Crowds

Owing to the increasing audiences at the Church of Christ, the leaders have secured the City Auditorium for the three services Sunday, 11 o'clock, 3 p. m. and 8:15 p. m.

Thursday morning Evangelist Busby, addressed the large audience on the subject of "Godliness" which means, obeying all of God's known laws, he said. He continued:

"Of all other things that might be said of a child of God, it must be said of him that he is godly. For the child should possess the characteristics of the parent in a measure at least.

"In this, we read from Paul's inspired pen these words: 'For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts we should live soberly, righteously and godly, in this present world.' Thus the grace of God teaches, and the Bible is that teaching and it teaches that men should live godly, in this world. The gospel of Christ to this age—so, the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ, teaches men to live godly and all who obey the gospel of Christ are living godly. And in our study of the 'seven graces' of Second Peter, first chapter, we can begin to understand the great admonition of inspiration, which says 'Add to your patience godliness.'

"A good government, among civilized men, is a wonderful aid in developing godly living; therefore, Paul wrote to Timothy, these wonderful words, 'Prayers, intercessions and giving of thanks, be made for all men; for Kings, and for all that are in authority; that we may lead a quiet and peaceable life in all godliness and honesty. For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Saviour.'

"For the better the civil government, the quieter the 'nids of citizens; and with quiet sober thinking, men can develop godliness with greater ease. Then Christian men should work for and pray for rulers, to that end; for without godliness developed, eternal happiness may be forfeited.

Again, Paul wrote, 'Exercise thyself rather unto godliness.' For he said, 'Godliness is profitable unto all things, having the promise of the life that now is and of that which is to come.' And again, 'Follow after righteousness, godliness, faith, love, patience, meekness. With this great array of admonitions from the great Apostle to the gentiles, we are led deeper into the fountain of eternal Truth, and there drink with immortal freshness the meaning of our text, written by the 'Chief Apostle Peter' when he says, 'Add godliness.'

Brotherly-kindness was the subject of the evening sermon and a filled auditorium, was indicative of the growing interest in this series of lessons, being brought by this speaker, whose ability as a gospel preacher, has led him from the Great Lakes to the Pacific and over the southland, in more than five hundred revival meetings with the Churches of Christ.

He said, without brotherly love, religion is a failure, its purpose is defeated and our Lord died in vain. For 'If we can not love our neighbor whom we have seen, how can we love God whom we have not seen?'

"Love suffereth long and is kind. 'Be kindly affectioned one to another. And be ye kind one to another, tender hearted, forgiving one another.' 'By love serve one another.' 'And this I pray that your love may abound yet more and more. With such an outburst of heavenly teaching on this great subject, of which these quotations are only a small portion, we are again led to appreciate the Holy Spirit's instruction when he says, through the inspired writer: 'And to your godliness, brotherly-kindness.' 'Pure religion and undefiled, before God and the Father is this, to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world.' was written by James, to the scattered tribes. But these truths ring down the centuries and fill the hearts and souls of God's children today, as they did when the message was new.

This old world, is in need of kindness, of sympathy, of unselfish love, among all classes and among all ages. What would our homes be without kindness and love? What would our town be without human kindness? What would life be without that highest expression of the human soul—love? Then let us love each other better—let us serve each other more.

Two persons confessed faith in Christ and a number rededicated themselves to the service of God Thursday.

Services 10 a. m. and 8:15 p. m. daily till next Wednesday evening, with three services at the City Auditorium Sunday. A welcome awaits all who will come.

Mrs. T. H. Barber Of Colorado Dies; Funeral Thursday

COLORADO—Funeral rites for Mrs. T. H. Barber were conducted Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Church of Christ with Minister J. D. Harvey officiating. Burial followed in the family plot at Odd Fellows cemetery.

Mrs. Barber, widow of the late Dr. T. H. Barber of Colorado, died at the family residence, 730 Locust, at 12:10 o'clock Thursday morning following a lingering illness. She returned to her residence here only a few weeks ago after her children had taken her to Dallas and other points in the hope of obtaining beneficial medical attention.

A native of Louisiana, Mrs. Barber had spent several years of her life in Texas, the last 14 of which she had resided in Colorado. Dr. Barber died here a year ago May 28. Surviving are two children, R. H. Barber and Mrs. G. A. Cole, both of Colorado, one brother, Bob Love of Moran and one sister, Mrs. Kate McGowan of Los Angeles, Cal. All these excepting Mrs. McGowan were present for the funeral services.

Active pall bearers were Chas. Farris, J. A. Sadler, Jim Williams, J. W. Watson, Floyd Quinney and Sam Andrews. Funeral arrangements were under the direction of Kiker and Son.

When one reaches the East Texas oil area—not the field, but the secondary business centers influenced by it—he feels almost in a different country, and certainly feels that the calendar rolls back to pre-depression days.

Witness Henderson, formerly a sleepy East Texas county seat town. Now as a visit to Henderson for a political meeting showed, it is a bustling place, overflowing with people and traffic, whose streets are jammed with cars, whose sidewalks, stores and public places are crowded with people all day long.

Certainly there is no evidence of a depression now or ever there. There are enough people in the little city to support the business of a place four times the size. Everybody is in a hurry. What is more, most everybody has money in his pockets, the product of the giant oil field activity.

One sees rather gradual, but definite and extensive permanent improvements going on. Rusk county and Henderson have paid off public debts whose bonds didn't mature until 1938. Schools are being modernized. The old-fashioned early Texas period courthouse has been torn down and its square dedicated to urgent traffic needs. Modern public buildings have been erected.

Chevrolet Sets New Production Record In U. S.

At a recent meeting of the dealers in the Dallas Zone, H. C. Howard, zone manager, made the following statement:

Starting at zero in January, with a car so new and so basically improved as to create a whole new series of major production problems, the Chevrolet Motor Company this year accomplished the almost incredible feat of eclipsing all other producers by the end of March.

Gaining momentum rapidly, stepping production up from a few units a day to more than 5,500 Chevrolets, passed all competitors, with the year but a few weeks old, completing March with its old rank as world's greatest builder of cars, a position it has occupied six of the last seven years.

Registration figures are not available so early as production totals, but those for March, now complete, show Chevrolet with a healthy lead over all other cars. In the truck field, Chevrolet's leadership was even more decisive, due to the fact that the new trucks were in production somewhat earlier. Registrations for Chevrolet trucks, for the year to date, have exceeded those of its three principal competitors combined.

Rural users have played a major role in bringing about Chevrolet's dominance, both in the passenger car field and in trucks. Replacement of worn-out cars and trucks on farms is going forward more rapidly this spring than for a long time past, Chevrolet dealers report, and it is significant fact that those who have owned Chevrolets are buying Chevrolets again.

TEXAS TOPICS
By Raymond Brooks

The return of former State Treasurer W. Gregory Hatcher to campaigning for a seat on the railroad commission has just been announced. Mr. Hatcher made an earlier, rather effective, but unsuccessful race, for the nomination against Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson and is now opposing Chairman Lon A. Smith.

Hatcher's experience in reaching state office was unusual. He was given an executive committee nomination for treasurer, to fill a vacancy on the ticket created when Commissioner Walter Spawm resigned both the office and the nomination. James E. Ferguson had a good deal to do with the selection, the executive committee of Mrs. Ferguson's first term having made the nomination.

Mr. Hatcher clashed with Ferguson before either had taken office and broken off diplomatic relations with the governor's dynasty. He rowed his own boat in complete independence, and was re-elected without Ferguson help. He was and is, a sturdy individualist.

A second phase of government activity for the improvement of housing facilities has been given a rather indefinite start on what may be a very large Texas program. Subordinate and maintenance homesites, designed to provide homes for families are well under way. The second step in the betterment of the existing houses, government aid for modernizing, repairing, renovating and improving residences occupied by owners. In Texas all this is separate from the slum reconstruction, housing, which is being undertaken in the very large cities and certain industrial centers.

When one reaches the East Texas oil area—not the field, but the secondary business centers influenced by it—he feels almost in a different country, and certainly feels that the calendar rolls back to pre-depression days.

Offices In State National Bank Building

this week for tearing down the "main building" of the University of Texas. It once was considered an architectural demonstration of Texas' zeal for higher education. Now it is looked upon as marred the campus, studied with modern buildings. On its site there will be a tower almost as high as the state capitol dome. The bids will be taken, sealed, to Galveston where the Regents are to meet May 31.

Not a penny of a $10,000 appropriation for martial law in 1934 has been spent. Adjutant-General Henry Hutchings hopes to go through the remainder of the year without martial law and be able to turn the entire $10,000 back into the state treasury.

Martial law in 1932 exhausted its appropriation. It took all the money a governor is allowed to use to supplement a legislative appropriation. It resulted in issuance of IOU's for national guard armory rent. A decision still is waited in the supreme court if a subsequent appropriation to pay these IOU's was valid.

Eleven men are running for governor—an office which some believe the state could abolish with little embarrassment. A movement has been started to abolish one exclusive power of the governor—pardoning.

Extradition matters could more appropriately, be handled by the court of criminal appeals; the secretary of state prepares many, and might as well issue more of the proclamations.

Two thirds of the legislature can pass laws regardless of a governor's veto. In those days of disputed policies, there is some contention that every law should require two-thirds vote. If that were made the rule, the governor's veto power would disappear.

Election of a governor is supposed to determine the public wish on policies. Stilled candidates so mix the issues that the voter must ballot against some of the things he favors to get a candidate who professes to be for other things.

A statute provides a way to put issues on primary election ballots. If adopted they become party pledges. It seldom is used. An effort to use this method of passing on repeal of state prohibition, was defeated at the last meeting of the state Democratic executive committee. The committee makes up the ballot June 11. A fresh effort for a referendum may be made then.

DETROIT, (UP)—A comparatively new treatment for lobar pneumonia, which has reduced the death rate from 41 to 13 per cent in San Francisco Hospital, according to reports, has proven successful here. The treatment, known as pneumothorax, consists of the injection of air under pressure between the chest wall and the pleura to collapse the affected portion of the lung, compelling rest and recuperation.
